PROVIDENCE—The evening before that memorable and thrilling Harvard game, October 28 to be exact, our Providence Area Alumni Club gathered for a dinner meeting at the Faculty Club of Brown University.

This first meeting of the year featured Buck Shott and Mrs. Shott as our most welcome guests from the campus. Two new faces also graced our table—Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Lange (Nancy J. Hitchcock '50).

Buck enlightened us with the latest news from the three hundred acres plus a detailed account of the workings of the student recruitment program. Our Providence Club hopes to be actively participating on this program within the next few months.

Tentative plans were made for an afternoon meeting in February at the home of Sue Cady '55. This will be our annual celebration of Bucknell's birthday.

Farewells and promises of seeing each other at the February meeting ended the very pleasant evening.

JUNE STOTT MATTHEWS '47, Secretary

RICHMOND, VIRGINIA—On the eve of Thanksgiving the first meeting of Bucknellians from Southern Virginia was held at Wright's Town House in Richmond with Karl H. Stutzman '33 as chairman of the meeting. The group included a parent, Paul B. Carter and his student son, Robert Carter '56. Travelling the greatest distance for the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Stetler '13 of Weems, Va. After the dinner, Buck Shott, alumni secretary, discussed campus events and showed colored pictures of recent University activities. It was decided to continue the Alumni organization in Virginia under the chairmanship of Karl H. Stutzman '33.

SOUTH JERSEY—The Annual Birthday Dinner of the South Jersey Alumni Club will be held Saturday, February 4, 1956 at Glovers Caterers in Vineland.

All tickets will be sold in advance.

Our guest for this occasion is Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President of Bucknell University.

We hope to see all our South Jersey friends on February 4.

The last gathering of our Alumni was October 21 at the Barn of Silver Lake Inn. Everyone had a wonderful tiring time Square Dancing, and many folks had a great thrill sliding down the big sliding board.

Within the next few weeks you will receive information about the Dinner.

Send in your reservations early, and we'll see you on February 4th.

BETTY HEALD '54, Secretary

WESTCHESTER—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester celebrated its first dinner get-together on December 3 in the Ballroom of the Roger Smith Hotel in White Plains. Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, Vice President and Director of Development. Also guest of honor was Mrs. Amorita Sesinger Copeland '22, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Metropolitan New York. About thirty persons attended the meeting.

Dr. Ranck spoke to the group on plans for the Bucknell of tomorrow. He discussed the University's short and long range building development programs, its optimum enrollment, and its sources of income.

NECROLOGY

man for the Pennsylvania Railroad. He later worked with the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, the Mack Truck Company and with two contracting firms before accepting the position of township engineer at Abington.

He was a native of Philadelphia and in college was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was married to the former Alma Hinkle in 1928 and had three children, Charles, Nancy and David.

Oliver King was a member of several engineering societies as well as of the Reformed Church and the American Legion. He was eligible to the latter organization through a short term of service in World War I. He also belonged to several Masonic orders.

JAMES MARCENA WOOD, former science teacher and athletic coach in Pennsylvania schools, died October 22, 1955 in Presbyterian Hospital, Pittsburgh after a long illness. He was 54 years of age.

A track and basketball player at Bucknell, James Wood taught science and coached basketball at Berlin, from 1924 to 1929. His basketball team won the Somerset County championship in 1925. In 1929 he moved to Oakmont High School where he served in similar capacities. He retired from teaching in 1941 and joined the Edgewater Steel Company, with which he was associated at the time of his death.

James Wood was a leading member of the Oakmont Lodge of Elks and of the Knights of Malta and was a former secretary of the Oakmont Lions Club and of the Interscholastic Athletic Association of Pennsylvania.

Born in Dushore, in 1901, he married the former Vera Rhea in 1924 and is survived by her and a daughter, Mrs. Peggy Fouse of East Oakmont, as well as by his mother, Mrs. Ella M. Wood of Wilkingsburg.

He is buried in William Penn Memorial Cemetery.

LAURA ELIZABETH BELTZ CRABBE, from whom the University had not had word for some time, is reported to have died at Harrisburg on August 29, 1955.

Born in Harrisburg in 1912, Mrs. Crabbe was graduated from John Harris High School in that city and then majored in sociology at Bucknell. In college she was a member of the W. A. A., Y. W. C. A., Education Club and Alpha Chi Omega. She played field hockey and basketball and was a senior councillor.

Upon her graduation she became a social worker at Harrisburg and at the time of her marriage to Mr. Alfred G. Crabbe, was an assistant supervisor for the Dauphin County Board of Public Assistance. She was later promoted to the position of supervisor.

William Wilkinson of Rye, president of the club, announced that the next meeting will be the annual Bucknell Birthday Celebration, to be held in the Park-Sheraton in New York City on February 9. All the alumni clubs of metropolitan New York will combine for this event, which will feature an appearance of the Bucknell University Men's Glee Club and an address by Adm. E. M. Eller, director of engineering at Bucknell.

CLASS REPORTS

SO SORRY, OUR GREMLINS ARE SHOWING

Among the more than thirty-eight hundred names listed in the contributors section of the November, 1955 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, three errors in names have been discovered. We apologize to Mr. Walter S. Harley '87 for calling him Mr. Walker S. Harley, to Mr. Paul E. Fink '29 for changing his name to Mr. Paul E. King, and to Miss Jane E. Shrum '27 for using an unnecessary "c" in her last name. Any others?

Rev. G. Morgan Davis '98, on the front lawn of his home on the Pithlachascottee River, a half mile from the Gulf of Mexico at Port Richey, Fla.

Rev. Davis established his home in Florida in 1940 after a career as a Baptist minister in Ellwood City, and teacher in Franklin and Union City. Rev. Davis is in his 84th year and one morning, while assisting with the building of a new home at Jasmine Point, New Port Richey, he was visited by the Alumni Secretary.

We regret to inform you of the death of Mrs. Mary R. Border (Mary Rachel Rogers '91) on November 14.

Willis E. Maneval, professor emeritus of botany, University of Missouri, has been confined to hospital and convalescent home since Jan., 1954. His address is 213 W. Ash St., The Rictor Convalescent Home, Columbia, Mo.

Since retiring from teaching, Anna E. Noaker has been living at 124 East Broadway, Milton, Pa.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie B. Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Penna.

We sincerely regret to report the death of Jay F. Bond on Oct. 22. Jay had a deep interest in Bucknell. He probably visited the campus more frequently than any other member of our class. We shall miss his friendship and his interest in '03.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

It is with deep regret that we report the sudden death of Mrs. Leila Prescott McCain, wife of Donald R. McCain. On Oct. 12, she suffered a heart attack, and passed away in the Trenton Hospital Oct. 13.

★ 07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL

Hamilton, N. Y.

Earl Whitney is now a grandfather. The child's name is Karen Jo, daughter of Naomi and Lloyd Hadaway (Naomi Whitney '54). The Hadaways are living at Sooner Drive, Norman, Okla. Mr. Hadaway, having finished his military training, is now attending Oklahoma University.

It was good to see '07 once more on the Honor Roll in alumni giving, despite the years we ranked second among the classes of the past half-century in percentage of contributors, and first in the number of gifts in Memoriam. The continued high standing is chiefly due to the unflagging efforts of Mary Stanton Speicher. Let's cheer Mary on by an even larger participation this year. Bucknell is still far behind many colleges in alumni support of this kind.

Dr. Heber W. Youngken '09 H '34, research professor of pharmacognosy and botany, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, Boston, returned from the Plant Science Seminar at Gainesville, Fla. He presented a joint paper on "Observations on Ranwolfa Vomitoria Afz," a report on "Progress on Taxonomy and Genetics," and a Memorial to the late Professor Edmund N. Gathercoal. Chairman of The Edwin L. Newcomb Memorial Awards Committee of the American Foundation For Pharmaceutical Education, he presented the Newcomb Memorial Awards to two recipients. His son, Dr. Heber W. Youngken, Jr. '35, is, at present, Instructor in Pharmacognosy, University of Washington, Seattle. When so near, why, oh why, didn't you come to see us, Heber? Next time?

11 MR. W. NEL BAKER
Seven Brown St.
Lewisburg, Penna.

Although Dr. Frank G. Davis has reached Emeritus status on the Bucknell faculty, don't expect him to "retire." In fact, he has just recently been elected to these offices: (a) to the delegate assembly of the National Vocational Guidance Association, (b) to the delegate assembly of the Association of Guidance Directors, and (c) elected for two years to represent Pennsylvania in the Adult Education Association of the USA. These additional jobs will help to keep him busy, but not too busy to enjoy several rounds of golf weekly.

We regret to inform you of the death of Mr. Clarence Kaiser Pugh. He died in December of 1954. His last known address was 7325 Briar Road, Philadelphia.

The election is over, Princess Margaret has given her answer to Townsend, President Eisenhower has improved and gone to his home at Gettysburg, let us now think about some of our celebrities.

The Rev. Dr. J. H. Fleckenstine, pastor of Trinity E. U. B. Church, York, since 1939, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree by Albright College, Reading, in June. Jay was graduated with us in 1912 with a B.A. degree. He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the School of Theology of Susquehanna University and his Master of Sacred Theology from the Seminary at Napierville, Ill. He also attended Union Seminary, N. Y. and Princeton Seminary, Princeton, N. J. Other churches he has served include Bethany, Berwick; First Church, Williamsport; and St. Paul's, Lewisburg. Jay has one daughter, Betty Fleckenstine Minnich '41, York, and a grandson. Both Jay and Betty are active in the Bucknell York Alumni Club.

I received this note from a girl whom I don't know—have never seen:

Parker Road
Chester, N. J.

Dear Mrs. Houseknecht,

I am really a member of the Class of '49, but I have enjoyed reading your class news for the past few years, and thought I'd tell you about it. Even though I don't know the people you're describing, you make me wish I did!

To Edna Whittam Glover, we again extend thanks for news of Commencement. The Weavers were unable to attend. Members of our class registered were: John R. Criswell, Lewis F. Lyne, Marion Harman Hawkins, Jack and Ruth Rice, Mary Kunkle, Ellen Focht Richards, Florence Reimensnyder, Stanley Reitz and Edna Whittam Glover.

We were all sorry to hear of Dr. J. W. Rice's illness in September. He suffered a heart attack but has recovered satisfactorily and we hope has been fully restored to good health.

★ 15 REV. FREDERICK GRENINGER

Mrs. Myrna Hines (Myrna Strickler) has retired from teaching in the Mifflinburg Western Area Joint High School.

Reverend and Mrs. Edward Clark (Eva Thayer '22) had a thrilling trip to Scotland and England, where they attended the Baptist World Alliance, meeting in London July 16-22. Ed Clark was a leader of a group and they toured the Lake region made famous by Sir Walter Scott, parts of historic places in England and London and then a brief stay in Paris. The trip was made by air all the way. They were greatly inspired by the more than 8,000 delegates from all parts of the world.

Hello Folks: You should have been back for Homecoming. Glad to see Ralph Derr, Earle Pedigo, Brick Yon, and Coz Seemann. Think we were the only seven-teens back. I scanned the reunion board and couldn't find any others. Why don't you come? I saw many friends of other classes. That's almost as nice as seeing your own.

Forrest G. Walter, Milton musician and composer, has recently completed and published a Christmas Cantata for mixed chorus, Good Tidings of Joy. Mr. Walter has been associated with the field of music as a musician and composer since 1917.

Jim Case reports he's been with A T&T for nearly 40 years. Expects to retire in a couple of years and settle in Coral Gables where they'll be near their two little granddaughters (as they call them). Jim gets back to Lewisburg about once a month (married a Lewisburg girl, Margaret O'Brien) and says he has watched BU grow steadily. For the last 35 years, he has lived near John Hendren '19 and Ed Keogh '19 and they get together often and have many good times. John is on our Philadelphia Club Executive Committee and their crowd attends some of our dinners and dances.

Harry has also been active, along with a number of other members of our class, in the "Engineers for Bucknell" program.

Harry R. Warfel has co-authored, with Dr. Donald J. Lloyd of Wayne University, a new book, American English in Its Cultural Setting, to be published in February by Knopf.

★ 21 MRS. ELLWOOD DERR
(Sara M. Bernhardt)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Penna.

From the Duquesne University News we learn that Francis P. McDermott underwent a serious operation at Pittsburgh last spring and is now hale and hearty as ever.

We also learned that the Dukes credit Frank with having put their athletic program on a sound basis. It started back in the fall of 1924, when Frank went looking for a job in order to pay his way through law school. On the strength of his reputation as a football and baseball player at Bucknell, Frank was made assistant football coach at Duquesne Prep. The next year he moved up to head coach and director of athletics. During the time he was in law school, Frank added varsity tennis and track to the program, strengthened the basketball situation and created the Tri-State Conference. In 1927, with a law degree in his hand, Frank left Duquesne to return to Luzerne County and practice law. He later became city solicitor for Nanticoke.

22 MR. PHILIP C. CAMPBELL
R. D. 5
Danville, Penna.

Arthur F. Gardner, of Mifflinburg, was elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County. Did you see the swell job he did as chairman of the Bison Round-up at Homecoming?

While on a trip to Pinehurst, N. C. in October, we had the pleasure of visiting briefly with some classmates. (I give fair warning to each of you—if you happen to be in or near a town when we are traveling, you will receive a 'phone call from me! I am always searching for BUCKNELL news).

Our trip to daughter Janice Wilcox and family in Pittsburgh, gave me the opportunity to call Mildred Good Livingston, R. D. 1, Venetia, Pa. Later, we visited Milly in their beautiful new home and saw pictures of their married son and daughter—plus a picture of Milly and Bob taken when they were in Europe last Spring. Bob is chief electrical engineer with U. Mrs. Rena Henderson (Rena E. Anderson) is teaching in Liberty Joint High School, Liberty, Pa. This summer she traveled to the Canadian Rockies, Yellowstone, Salt Lake City, Omaha, etc.

In October Rev. Wilbur S. Sheriff became the new pastor of the First Baptist Church, Williamsport. Rev. Raymond G. Pierson '01 was interim pastor between June and October and is now in Florida.

29 MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market Street
Mifflinburg, Penna.

Editor's Note: The following class note, involving the Class Reporter, has been quietly inserted into its proper place).

Thelma J. Showalter, of Mifflinburg, was elected to the Union County Board of Commissioners by a wide margin in the recent general elections. Running on the Republican ticket, she polled 3,515 votes in a four-man race. Her running mate, Anthony Flavio, had a total of 3,880 votes, while the leading Democrat polled only 2,372 votes. In the primary held earlier in the fall, Miss Showalter and Flavio finished almost even in a 17-man contest.

NOLAN F. ZIEGLER

A letter from George Sandel brings us the following. "Harrisburg newspapers the day after election carried banner headlines 'Ziegler Elected Mayor'—That's our own Nolan. Only one other Bucknellian shares the honor and that's Neil Blaisdell '26, who wields a stout Republican stick in Honolulu.

"I am still at Milton Hershey School in Hershey and along with other jobs, I am adviser to our school publication which won first place award at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in New York last March, competing with big name private secondary schools in the nation."

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth Rohr)
396 Andrews Road
East Williston, N. Y.

May I take this opportunity to wish you all a Happy and Prosperous 1956. Won't you resolve to drop me a few lines so we can keep this column active and alive with news?

Homecoming was wonderful and the weather and Alumni turnout very good. Got a chance to say hello to Gardner Loughery, Nelson Wendt, A. Fay Beighley, Walt Geiger, and Wil Greulich of our class. Caught a fleeting glimpse of James Favino and his wife, Gladys Zarfos '35, at the football game. I probably missed others from our class but there are so many people at Homecoming that you can't possibly see everyone.

35 MRS. PAUL DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Gambrils, Md.

Dr. Robert Lindner is back in the news again, this time as the author of a movie, Rebel Without A Cause, or rather the author of the book on which the movie is based. As many of our classmates may remember, Bob spent several years as a psychologist at the Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary. It was during this period of his busy career that he gathered the material for what has now taken the form of Rebel Without A Cause. He became particularly interested in the life story of one inmate and even went so far as to make tape recordings of their conversations. The book was published in 1944 and has now been released as a movie by Warner Brothers.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lola Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St., Lewisburg, Penna.

Our busy class president, Charles Kottcamp, has just returned from an extended business trip to South America. Before his departure, he took time to set plans in motion for our 20th Reunion in June. Howard Clark will act as general chairman. He and Charles recently met in Philadelphia to outline further plans. Several committee chairmen have been appointed and their names will be announced later. Eric Stewart will edit the Reunion Book. Let's begin now to make plans to help make this reunion a great success by each one of us reserving June 9, 1956 for a trip to the campus.

★ 50 MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Jane Kreider)
614 Penn Street
New Bethlehem, Penna.

Major William H. Baumer, recently released after thirty-two months in a Red Chinese prison, married Elizabeth Gauger Woodland, of Milton, in November. Major Baumer is one of eleven survivors of the crew of a B-29 shot down in January, 1953.

Andrew W. Mathieson is in the Purchasing Division of Westinghouse, located at Gateway Center, Pittsburgh.

★ 51 MRS. GARRY E. BROWN
(Frances Wilkins)
Schoolcraft, Mich.

Ensign Herbert Zearfoss was recently promoted to the rank of Lieutenant, Junior Grade, in the Naval Security Group, Washington, D. C. Lt. Zearfoss has been with Naval Security for only a year and a half, having graduated from Officers Training School, Newport, R. I., in February, 1954. Before entering officers' training school he spent two years in Yale Law School.

On July 16, 1955, Janet Woods and a friend left on the S. S. Liberte for a trip to Europe. They visited London, Edinburgh, Munich, Innsbruck, Salzburg, Vienna, Florence, Rome, Lucerne, and Paris. They flew back to the States on August 26, 1955. They had such a marvelous time that they want to go back next summer. Good luck, Janet.

★ 52 MISS ELINOR L. CHILDS
74 Mt. Kemble Ave.
Morristown, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Weiser and daughter Victoria are now occupying their new home at Pennington-Ackors Cor. Rd., Pennington, N. J.

Peg Nippes and Kay Finley were married on July 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay J. Saphier '51 (Barbara A. Bernstein) welcomed a future Bucknellian, David Jay, into their home on September 12.

Sue Snyder was married to George Keck on August 30.

Barbara Zaun and Dr. Eugene Renkin were married on July 23. After receiving her master's degree in physiology from Mount Holyoke College, Barbara studied at Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons. She will continue studying at Johns Hopkins Medical School. Dr. Renkin is with the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md.

Ann L. Hahn and Thomas H. Easley '51 were married on October 15. They are now living in St. Davids, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith D. Law (Mary E. Mayhew) are the proud parents of their first son, Kevin James, born November 11. The Laws are living in Shrewsbury, Mass., where Keith is a sales engineer for the Aluminum Company of America.

★ 53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
391 Church St.,
Hasbrook Heights, N. J.

Lt. Woodard tells of talking with Lt. Robert L. George, U. S. A. F., just two weeks before the B-29 on which he was navigator crashed on training flight and the 13 men aboard given up as lost on September 8. At that time Bob talked of revisiting the campus, renewing old acquaintances, and his forthcoming marriage to a Bucknell undergraduate. His death occurred with startling suddenness and was an especial blow to all his Okinawa friends. Bob was the 1953 Class Treasurer and will be ever remembered for his enthusiasm and amiability. Memorial services were held in Beggs Chapel, Grace Methodist Church, Harrisburg on September 25.

BEG YOUR PARDON, PLEASE. Due to incorrect information received, it was stated in last month's report that Jane (Banker) and Greg Bowen were the parents of a baby girl. This is incorrect and we sincerely apologize for the mistake. The Bowen's are living at 2028 Yorkshire Ave., St. Paul, Minn. where Greg is working for Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.

The Roth's, Mollie (Brown) and Roger announce the birth of their second son Bradley John, born Oct. 1. Roger has been discharged from the Army, and will soon be joining the engineering research staff of Owens-Corning Fiberglas in Newark, Ohio.

★ 54 MISS DOROTHY M. DIORIO

A darling card from Joan (Groben) Duff, quote, "This is number 1 and the fun has just begun," keynotes the Alumni doings of '54. Strangely enough the ladies seem to be on stage. Bob and Joan (Groben) Duff had a daughter, Bonnie Alice, on Sept. 1.

Ladies day was also held in November for Marty and Dottie (Masemer) Carhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Gilmore (Nellie Mae Manning) announce the birth of a daughter, Barbara Elaine, on March 9.

Mr. Paul and Alice Jeanette Grove Leinbach became the parents of a daughter, Gretchen Ann, August 19. Paul is District Executive, Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Jack and Sally (Dietrich) Bailey wish me to announce first their marriage in June of '53, and then, in correct chronological order, the birth of their daughter, Sally Dorothy, on Dec. 31, 1954.

To take a stand against this Women's world are the two sons, David and Richard, of Jim and Sara (Reppert) Miller. It certainly was good to hear from "Rep." How many of you ladies remember that Kappa Sig serenade which we, as "frosh," audited from the roof of Larison in PJ's?

★ 55 MISS JANE E. JONES

Reed Altemus and Bill Stose are in the midst of their first year at Jefferson Medical College here in Philadelphia. What a shock to find Reed living right across the street at 1021 Clinton! Bill is commuting from his home in Narberth.

All sorts of congratulations go out to Dick Ellis for walking off with winner's laurels in Arthur Godfrey's TALENT SCOUT competition held in Miami during November.

Sue Kaiser is busy with an elementary grade in the Abington Township School District. Everything is perfect except that she can't cut classes for a long week end anymore.

Frank Klahre has joined the ranks of "cover boys" since his picture was featured on the cover of the October issue of Railroad Model Craftsman. He is in the training program of the Continental Insurance Co., New York City.

While milling through the crowd at the Army-Navy game, I saw Claire Marshall and Bonnie Walbridge who were both sure that Navy was going to win the traditional game. Alas! Claire is in advertising in New York, and Bonnie is teaching in the Clara Barton Elementary School in Philadelphia.

Class notes for the 34 classes marked (★) have been cut to fit ten pages of news into four pages of space. Blame Buck Shott; not your reporter. And look for a "bonus" of news in the Class Fund Manager's letter you will receive February 1.

Who's to pay the cost of education?

"WHATEVER the plan, there must be more support per person and per corporation. We'll all just have to dig a little deeper. In recent years, our bill for organized education in all categories has been running at less than 4% of the Gross National Product. With predicted growth in our national output, if we can increase only a little the percentage spent on education, our needs will be met.

"Under the Corporate Alumnus Program, the General Electric Educational and Charitable Fund matches up to $1,000 donated by employees to their alma maters. This concept is based upon the belief that the individual decisions of thousands will form a sound basis for widespread support of education... The responsibility of the alumni group is, I believe, to sell the idea that in a free economy in the long run it is desirable that the real cost of education be borne by the individual who gets the education and benefits from it."*

— PHILIP D. REED,
Chairman of the Board of Directors, General Electric Company

How far can our aid to education go?

"THIS approach (Corporate Alumnus Program) is only a start. But it is rooted in the recognition that you and I can't longer continue to run a progressive and productive school system on a charity basis. I will answer the question as to who should pay for a college education by offering the cold-nosed conclusion that in a free economy in the long run it both should be, and rightfully can be, the man who gets the education; and that should be made clear to him the day he starts to get it.

"Of course, we also favor business support, for business draws many of its ablest profit-making human resources from your institutions. We must examine such support, however, instance by instance, and never let it slide into any license to dictate policy or to restrict academic activities ably conceived by courageous and level-headed educators who are truly alert to both the challenges and the opportunities of the economy and the society in which they live."*

— HAROLD F. SMIDDY,
Vice President, Management Consultation Services, General Electric

What obligation does an alumnus have?

"Is it such a revolutionary idea that the real cost of education be borne by the individual who gets that education and benefits from it? Not necessarily across the barrel head, not necessarily all at once, and not necessarily even under certain sets of circumstances. But I submit that it is an unhealthy idea for an individual to expect society to pay his education bill, any more than to expect society to pay for his food, clothing, shelter, hospitalization, vacations, and ultimately for the education of his children and grandchildren, too.

"One of the first things that business babes in the education woods learned was that practically nobody pays the real cost of his education. One reason is that he is never asked to pay it. We have acknowledged that the organization of which an individual is a part shares the benefits, and we are willing to help pay the bill — but this is a joint undertaking."*

— KENNETH G. PATRICK,
Manager, Educational Relations, General Electric

Progress Is Our Most Important Product

GENERAL  ELECTRIC

The title of one of the popular songs suggests something for alumni to think about in 1956.

What about the year ahead? Just how “important can it be” to Bucknell, and to all of us interested in Bucknell? The answer, of course, is that 1956 can be mighty important!

For one thing, with the bulging high school population causing headaches for college admissions people, Bucknell will have increasing problems in freshman selection. Too few alumni realize the important public relations role they can play in aiding good selection. Many parents and high school students form important first impressions through Bucknell alumni in their communities. What you do—and what you say about your Alma Mater—can sometimes mean the difference between a good student deciding on Bucknell or some other college.

What’s more, many people “outside” the Bucknell family will look closely at the record of alumni giving. As more of us are represented in the Alumni Fund, Bucknell stands to get more grants and gifts from philanthropic foundations because they prefer to help institutions which have a good record of helping themselves.

Space doesn’t permit mentioning many other reasons why 1956 is an important year for alumni, but all in all, it presents quite a challenge for us especially in view of the splendid record of interest and service during 1955! The Alumni Fund reached a record of $33,820—and total alumni giving was well over $400,000! More alumni than ever before served the University through the Board of Directors, the Alumni Association, personal solicitation for the Alumni Fund, and at the local level in alumni club activities highlighted by receptions for incoming freshmen and high school contact committees.

A Happy New Year to Bucknell alumni everywhere!

Sincerely,

WILLIAM S. LIMING, President
General Alumni Association

What the Ford Foundation Gift to Bucknell Means to You as a Bucknell Alumnus

There was elation on the Bucknell campus when the Ford Foundation announced on Tuesday, December 13, 1955, that the University was to receive an endowment fund for faculty salaries in the amount of $538,100. Such a Christmas gift has not come to Bucknell for many long years. There was general agreement that the officials of the Ford Foundation had made a master stroke to help strengthen American education at its base—the quality of its teaching.

Earlier this year, Henry Ford II said, "Nowhere are the needs of the private colleges more apparent than in the matter of faculty salaries. Merely to restore professors' salaries to their 1939 purchasing power would require an average increase of at least 20%. Even this would not bring teachers in our private colleges to their economic position before World War II in relation to that of other professions and occupations. They have not begun to share the benefits of the expanded productive power of this nation, and the whole educational system suffers from this fact."

What will this grant really mean in the salary checks of Bucknell professors? Under the plan specified by the Ford Foundation, the college will receive the income on the endowed amount of $538,100 or $20,000 to $25,000 a year, the equivalent of about a 4% increase in salary. Since the teaching profession is already 20% below the 1939 level of purchasing power, it must be apparent to all—and to Bucknellians in particular—that even more must be done to bring these dedicated educators to the level of income they deserve.

Bucknellians can all be proud of the start made in this direction since the establishment of the Bucknell Alumni Fund in 1948. True, the fund was not established to contribute to faculty salaries directly, but every dollar of Alumni Annual Giving has released a dollar in the general budget for a variety of University services, including faculty salaries. For instance, Alumni Fund gifts of $33,000 last year, released that many dollars for the hundred and one services and supplies required to operate a University. If 50% or 60% of us had contributed last year, instead of the 21% on the roll of contributors, we would have been able to take further steps to close the gap that needs to be filled before college teachers reach the 1939 purchasing power.

In other words, the "big one-time" gift is not nearly so important to the University as a regular program of annual giving by a large percentage of our Alumni. We can't just "watch the Fords go by." We must instead steal a page from the advertising directory of another automobile company and pitch in with our Alumni dollars on the theory that, "When a better University is built, Bucknellians will build it."

Another angle worth considering is a comparison between the income to the University from the Bucknell Alumni Fund and the income from increased tuition fees, to become effective next September. It will require the gift of 60% of our 16,000 Bucknell Alumni to provide (at the present average contribution) just one half of the money that will be raised through tuition increases. Wouldn't it be fine to have 16,000 Bucknellians decide that they can provide the University with an amount at least equal to the tuition increases to be paid by 2,000 present Bucknell students? When it is remembered that every Alumnus was the beneficiary of a hidden scholarship provided by some past Bucknellian, is it too much to expect that we might meet this goal and in effect say to the Ford Foundation, "Thank you for raising faculty salaries 4%; now we Alumni, through our Alumni Annual Giving Fund, will boost salaries at least another 4%?"

The Cover Pictures

Early March is not exactly spring but we believe you will agree that the front and back cover pictures selected for this issue do show several familiar campus views to their best advantage. The front cover, the roadway in front of the Vaughan Literature Building, is supposed to lure you to the campus on Saturday, June 9, 1956. Won't you join us on that day when the Alumni parade gathers at this spot. Sunshine and cloud formation are guaranteed for the day (last year it rained).

On the back cover you are seated (dating no doubt) on the steps of the old library (now the Carnegie Building). In my day such activity (dating, that is) called for a swift paddling by the Senior Council. Come to think of it, it was just about early March that Aleshouckas (now Allen) and I got our paddling for dating Laura Smith and Angie Kissinger. So this picture recalls an anniversary for your editor.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON - - GREAT ATHLETE, SOLDIER AND CHRISTIAN GENTLEMAN

(EDITOR'S NOTE) Christy Mathewson, gone these thirty years, is still mentioned almost weekly on the sports pages of metropolitan daily papers. Nor is he forgotten on the Bucknell campus. We are pleased to present here the dedication address delivered by Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant '92 when Christy's portrait was unveiled at the Phi Gamma Delta House on Bucknell's Homecoming Day, November 5, 1953. In preparing his address "Andy" said, "I tried to spiritualize athletics for the religious encouragement of the present generation who seem to be in a more receptive mood."

THIRTY years ago many sent tributes of beautiful flowers to Christy's funeral, but many more offered widely published tributes to his character. In my address I shall try to weave them together into one great garland of praise to make fragrant his memory. His character was such a complex of so many good qualities as almost to elude complete analysis; so we shall know him better if I give you the added testimony of many who knew him as a friend. I am also including some personal observations to stimulate each one of us to ask the question: "What did Christy have in his realized philosophy of life that I need and want in my life?"

I shall not primarily try to eulogize his wonderful athletic accomplishments, but rather to emphasize his life philosophy and elements of character which made him great. I cannot hope to stimulate you to practice drop-kicking until you can make a goal from the 48-yard line or pitch baseball until you can master the fade-away curve, in two great sports that elevated Christy to the summit. But there are things in which you can emulate his noble example.

His Belief in God

THE first thing I note about Christy's life is that he believed in God and joined the church while here at Bucknell. Someone said, "Christy got religion and religion got him." It was not of the emotions only, but the threefold work of the Holy Spirit gave him right convictions concerning sin, righteousness and judgment. While a student I, too, received those convictions and as Jesus was the great Teacher, Preacher and Physician, I have tried to follow Him in those three professions. If any of you have not followed Christy's example let me counsel you to take this step which you will never regret. Give God the central place in your life.

A great cornerstone of our American Way of Life is the priority of religion in all things. Christy put first things first as did our Pilgrim and Puritan fathers and later forebears. He believed in the goodness of God and the friendliness of the universe. He believed that the laws of nature are the laws of God, and that the wisdom, power and goodness of God are manifest in the creation of men whose bodies are to be temples of the Holy Spirit. He made the care of his body a part of his religion.

Jesus in the Parable of the Talents says: "To him that hath shall be given and to him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath." It sounds strange if you do not note that Jesus is speaking of the use of talents. This is the law of muscle, money, mind and soul; extirpation through disuse. Christy kept his body, mind and spirit in good condition through activity.

His Christian Home

ANOTHER great cornerstone of our American way of life is the Christian family in which marriage is not only a fellowship of happiness but also a fellowship of service and sacrifice in the rearing of children. Our American family life is in contrast with that of old Mexico. When Cortez in 1519 came to conquer Mexico, no Spanish women were permitted to come along, only men and priests. The result was that Cortez seized an Indian princess to be his concubine and his soldiers followed his bad example and seized Indian maidens as concubines and with their venereal diseases poisoned the Indian life at its source and thus established a sort of barnyard morality down there. In contrast with that way of life our Puritan and Pilgrim fathers brought over their mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts and the Christian family life was established here.

Strict Sabbath Observance

CHRISTY was reared in a Christian family. He had a good mother who inculcated the strict religious requirements of her day. Among these was strict Sabbath observance during his boyhood days and when he entered professional baseball she asked him to promise not to play baseball on Sundays. I had the same strict Sabbath training. When my uncle Andy Wyant, after whom I was named, was home from college and got up early one Sunday morning to go to Sunday School and church, and finding no kindling in the wood box, went out to the wood pile to split some and was seen by two deacons, he was churched for working on Sunday and his church membership was suspended for three months.

That training had its influence on my life and I never played golf, tennis, bowling or other sports on Sunday. And strange to say I never studied my school books on Sunday during my entire university career. It was a day for religious study and activities. It seemed to work out well with me for notwithstanding time spent in tennis, football and other extra-curricular activities I managed to graduate summa cum laude with Phi Beta Kappa key later.

Christy kept his promise to his mother and never played baseball on Sunday during his entire career. Perhaps some Old Testament laws have a physiological basis and he was better physically and emotionally by resting from his game one day in seven.

His Mother's Influence

CHRISTY owed a great deal to his mother's teaching and example. Jesus had a good mother. It is not necessary to believe in her sinless perfection. She did not understand all her son's words and ways but she remembered them, "pondering them in her heart." She had her weakness and failing as when she took her lad up to Jerusalem and went home a day's journey before she missed him. She then returned and sought him with sorrowing heart until she found him.

Jesus grew in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man. How much he owed to his mother we do not know; but we do know that sons like Jesus will be possible only so long as we have mothers like Mary.

Lincoln had a great mother and said: "All I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother." Like Christy I also had a wonderful mother. She taught school at 19 and was especially interested in the education of her children who received 11 college and university degrees before she died in her ninety-fourth year. When I graduated from Bucknell in '92 and went home I told her that I was going to the new University of Chicago for my graduate work, she sadly said: "Oh my boy, you are going so far away; when will I ever see you again." I said: "Mother, I am going to see you every year as long as you live if I can possibly arrange it." I made 31 trips from Chicago, 31,000 miles, before she died, and she also came to see me in Chicago.

Divinely Called to Service

HIS mother planned that Christy should enter the ministry, but God had another plan for him. Every man's life is a plan of God. There is a divine call to every useful service. There is a divine call to each of you as well as for ministers. Christy Mathewson was evidently called of God to be a reformer in the world of athletics. It is sometimes overlooked that Christy made at Bucknell a greater reputation in football than in baseball. Walter Camp called him the greatest drop-kicker in America. Bucknell lacked in number of men and man power to compete with many other colleges in the rough ground tactics which still prevailed after my day. Christy took to the air as a drop-kicker of goals which counted for 5 points against a ground-goal of 4 points. He used his head and practiced drop-kicks hour after hour until his skill against Lehigh, Pennsylvania and West Point gave him a national reputation.

Football Needed Reformation

FROM my own experience I knew that early Bucknell football needed reformation. We were too poor to hire a coach and the coaches of other teams played on the teams against us. There was only one official referee to watch 22 men and rough tactics was the rule instead of the exception. Brawn was more in evidence than brains. Brutal physical contacts and injuries multiplied until the game was described as 11 prize fights going on at the same time. John L. Sullivan said: "I won't mix up in no football business. It's too rough. I'm willing to stand up and fight like a man, but when you try to pull me into a riot where everything from gouging to breaking of backs goes, you can bet your life I'd rather take my chance in a railroad accident or in something where there's a look-in."

Here Are Your Alumni Trustee Candidates – Please Vote in April

The Committee for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates presents for your action the names of three Alumni to be balloted upon in April 1956. We present the names, pictures and biographies of the proposed candidates. Early in April ballots will be mailed to all Alumni whose addresses are known to be correct. The return envelope will be a combination mailer, providing for the return of the ballot and a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Program—BUT YOU DO

NOT NEED TO CONTRIBUTE TO BE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE. The voter will open the envelope at an indicated place, mark the ballot by voting for ONE candidate, enclose a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Fund—if you have not made a gift since July 1, 1955 and feel inclined to do so—seal and mail it. No postage required. On receipt at the Alumni Office, the secrecy of the ballot will be maintained by separating the name and address of the voter from the ballot after which the ballot will be placed in a locked ballot box. Balloting will end on Tuesday, May 15, 1956. During the following week, a committee of Alumni will open the locked ballot box, tally the votes and certify the results to the Board of Trustees.

Please read the biographies and kindly retain this copy of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS for ready reference when you receive your ballot.

PLEASE SAVE THESE BIOGRAPHICAL RECORDS; YOU WILL NEED THEM WHEN YOU RECEIVE YOUR BALLOT IN APRIL

Please Vote in April

On Page 4 you will find the names, pictures and biographical records of the three candidates chosen to stand for election as Alumni Trustee to the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University. One is to be elected by the general alumni body in April for a term of five years.

The candidates were carefully chosen from a larger group of nominees suggested by local alumni clubs, class presidents, class reporters, fund managers, members of the Board of Directors and the Alumni Fund Committee, as well as former alumni trustees and former presidents of The General Alumni Association. Well over 500 Alumni were canvassed for suggestions. Furthermore, each issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS carried an outline of the procedure for nominating a candidate by petition.

After all suggested candidates have been listed the Alumni Office prepares a biographical record of each candidate. These records are examined and discussed by the nine-member Committee for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates, following which each committee member by secret ballot records first, second, third, fourth and fifth choices. By weighting the choices on all ballots the three top candidates emerge. The candidates with their pictures and biographical records, then appear in the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, and in April every Alumnus with a known address receives a postage-free ballot for voting. After studying the election procedures at scores of colleges, a committee of alumni have come to the conclusion that Bucknell's plan is as democratic as it can possibly be. Believe it or not, there are still some colleges where the alumni board selects one candidate and submits his name to the Trustees for approval and election!

Alumni now serving on the Board of Trustees through election of that body, but who were originally nominated for membership by The General Alumni Association, include: Dr. Harvey F. Smith '94, Robert L. Rooke '13, Dr. Mary B. Harris '94, Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Dr. Mary M. Wolfe '96, William R. White '26, and Andrew R. Mathieson '20.

Alumni now serving on the Board of Trustees, on nomination by The General Alumni Association, are: Dr. Arthur L. Brandon MA '27 (1956); Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15 (1957); Dr. Roy E. Nicodemus '25 (1958); John C. Decker, Esq. '36 (1959), and Dr. Franklin D. Jones '19 (1960). History has supplied ample evidence that the members of the Board of Trustees, from whatever source selected, serve not the Trustees, nor the Alumni Association, but the University, which is as it should be.

You are urged to exercise your prerogative to vote in a democratic election when you receive your ballot in April. Better study those biographical records now. The ballot mailing will be a "double-duty" envelope mailer, providing for the return of the voter's ballot and a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Program in one postage-free envelope. Alumni do not need to contribute to be eligible to vote—this combination mailing is planned to save postage and will result in considerable saving on the outgoing and return envelopes.

By the time a University accumulates 110 years of history it is evident that students of second, third, fourth or fifth generations of Alumni will appear on the campus each September. Such was again the case this year and a review of the applications filed by the Class of 1959 shows that 34 members of the freshman class have at least one parent who is a Bucknell Alumnus and that 11 come from families where both Mother and Father are Bucknellians. A total of 107 of the new students report close and distant relatives: mothers, 16; fathers, 29; great-grandmothers, 2; great-grandfathers, 2; grandmothers, 5; grandfathers, 4; aunts, 15; uncles, 32; sisters, 18; brothers, 22; cousins, 50. Even brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law are listed in some cases. Perhaps some freshman men and women forget or are unaware of the college attendance of their great-great-grandparents. One of the questions on the student application form asks specifically for the names of Bucknell relatives, but occasionally we find that freshmen forget to name even their Bucknell parents. Anyway, here's the list as revealed by student application records.

The question is often asked, "Which family tree has had the most sprouts at Bucknell?" Does anyone know? At last listing, the Slifer clan had counted 32—in five generations—with number 33 (David, son of Caryl '27 and Ken '26 Slifer) expected next year. Can any family top that record? All entries become the property of the sponsor and must include a family chart showing complete names, classes and family relationships.

Pearson and Howe Feature Third Newsmen's Conference

Bucknell held its third annual Newsmen's Conference February 8, 9, and 10.

Guest speakers included Drew Pearson, newspaper columnist and radio news analyst; Quincy Howe, ABC news analyst; M. V. Kamath, U. N. and U. S. correspondent for the Press Trust of India; Allen Morrison, New York editor of Ebony magazine; and Samuel Sharkey, NBC news editor.

The conference opened Wednesday, Feb. 8, with the showing of the film, "50 Years Before Your Eyes." This movie served as a background for the theme of the conference, "Where Do We Stand Today?"

At the Thursday afternoon session, faculty, administrators and students had an opportunity to "Meet the Press." All the other sessions were open to the public.

A panel discussion on "Where do we stand today with regard to reporting and editing in the American Press?", conducted by Mr. Kamath, Mr. Morrison, and Mr. Sharkey was featured at the Thursday evening meeting. Paul Gilmore, editor of the Williamsport Sun Gazette was the moderator.

At the Friday morning session, Mr. Morrisson spoke on "Where do we stand on Negro segregation in the United States today?" He was introduced by Robert C. Shaffer '56, Ridley Park.

At the second morning session, Mr. Sharkey and Mr. Kamath conducted a discussion. They were introduced by Sam Posner '56, Forest Hills, N. Y.

Miss Dolores Penza '56, Hammononton, N. J., presided at the Friday afternoon meeting. At that time Quincy Howe presented his predictions of the November election issues.

Bucknell's President, Dr. Merle M. Odgers opened the final session of the conference Friday evening with a welcome to the newsmen, local guests, and Bucknellians.

Harry Haddon, editor of the Sunbury Daily Item, presided over the meeting which was a discussion on the situation in Washington today by Drew Pearson and Quincy Howe. The session closed with an open discussion by the principals of the conference.

This year's Newsmen's Conference was planned by a committee of students, headed by co-chairmen Jean Wirths '56 and Mickey Karkus, with Albert Pierce of the sociology department as faculty chairman of the conference.

BUCKNELL'S ADMISSION PROGRAM

by

MERLE M. ODGERS, President

The so-called "tidal wave" of students which is threatening our colleges throughout the land is, of course, being felt on the Bucknell campus.

It is very encouraging to learn that the interest of many a prospective student who is interviewed for admission may be directly traced to an Alumnus who is often unaware that his or her own living example of a Bucknell education is a potent factor in the candidate's choice of a college.

The recommendations of Bucknell's "loyal rooters" are appreciated by the Registrar's Office but it should be borne in mind that admission is on a selective basis and that, despite pleas of loyal Alumni, parents, principals and friends, the University has an obligation to itself as an institution of higher learning, to its own Alumni, and to society in general, and therefore must decline certain applicants who are unprepared for college training. Only the Admissions Committee can appreciate the sorrow, the depression, and the uncertainty experienced by the unprepared applicant and by those interested in the applicant. Bucknell is sincere if it tells an unprepared candidate that it is in his own best interest that he is not included in the group selected for admission. Other candidates must be declined, even when their credentials promise success in college, because the number of qualified candidates for a course is greater than the number of available places. To help Alumni who have children or friends interested in attending Bucknell and to guide applicants in their preparation for college, we have asked Mr. George R. Faint, registrar and director of admissions, to provide the answers to the questions most frequently asked about admissions. These questions and answers follow:

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON ADMISSIONS

1. Q. Is there evidence that it will be more difficult to gain admission to college in the next few years?
A. Yes, to all colleges, Bucknell included.
2. Q. Why is this true?
A. Larger numbers are graduating from secondary schools, a higher percentage of secondary school graduates want to obtain collegiate instruction, and facilities of the colleges are not expanding as rapidly as the demand.
3. Q. What is the surest way to gain admission?
A. Since admission is competitive, every college—including Bucknell—seeks students whose records give promise of academic success. Therefore, the better an applicant's credentials: secondary school record, principal's recommendation, and scores on the tests of the College Entrance Examination Board, the better are his chances of acceptance.
4. Q. Is any preference shown to children of Alumni?
A. Yes, but only when academic and other qualifications are equally satisfactory.
5. Q. What is meant by a good academic record?
A. A student should rank in the upper two-fifths for best consideration; those in the third-fifth are less likely to qualify for acceptance; and the acceptance of those in the lower two-fifths is doubtful.
6. Q. Is it more difficult for women to be accepted than men?
A. Yes, at present, the women are more highly selected than men (as high as 92% are in the upper two-fifths), but within the next two or three years, the selection of men will be higher.
7. Q. How high must the scores on the tests of the College Entrance Examination Board be?
A. There is no precise cut-off score, but the median at present for women is above-average, and that for men approaches the average.
8. Q. When should application be made?
A. Preferably in the first half of the senior year of secondary school.
9. Q. When should the tests of the College Entrance Examination Board be taken?

- A. Preferably in March of the senior year, but they may be taken earlier, and divided into morning (Scholastic Aptitude or Verbal and Mathematics Aptitude) and afternoon sessions (three achievement tests).
10. Q. When are candidates notified about admission?
A. Around the first of May, and before May 15. Acceptance by the candidate is required on a common reply date (May 26 in 1956) set by over a hundred colleges.
11. Q. Are any special subjects required in secondary school?
A. No, but the best preparation is a college preparatory course, and for some degree programs, some prerequisites, such as mathematics, are necessary for engineering, science, and business students.
12. Q. How is the secondary record obtained?
A. The University registrar sends directly to the secondary school for a transcript of grades and a recommendation in February of the senior year or after the application is received.
13. Q. How are freshmen housed?
A. All freshman resident men and women are housed and boarded in residence halls of the University.
14. Q. How and when can information and forms be obtained?
A. Information will gladly be sent upon your request by the Registrar and Director of Admissions. This includes a leaflet about the admissions process, the forms necessary, and a booklet of information (which makes the catalogue unnecessary for prospective students), "Bucknell-in-Brief."
15. Q. What is the cost of attending Bucknell?
A. Effective in September, 1956, the annual comprehensive charge for freshman resident men and women will be $1,500, not including private music study, books and supplies, and personal items.
16. Q. Is scholarship aid available?
A. Yes, but endowed scholarship funds at Bucknell are very limited, so that only those with a specific financial need and who also have excellent secondary school records and College Board scores can be considered. Often national or local scholarships are more likely to be available. Work aid and loan funds are possible in the last three years in college. The financial need is cleared through the College Scholarship Service, that is, a subsidiary to the College Entrance Examination Board.
17. Q. Can Alumni help in securing students?
A. Yes, and many Bucknellians do give freely of their time to talk about Bucknell. Introductory leaflets with reply cards are available for you to give to young people, (used widely in visits to schools) Please understand you can help most by supplying information, but that admission cannot be assured because of your interest. Well qualified candidates who require no financial help are needed most, occasionally confidential information supplied to us may necessitate the

When the Dodgers finally downed the Yankees in last fall's World Series, a New York City daily screamed the headline—"This Is Next Year!" Well, this isn't next year as far as the Bucknell basketball team is concerned, but it could be that next year is just around the corner.

At late-January final examination time, with almost one-half of the 1955-56 court season completed, Coach Ben Kribbs' Bisons could list a number of accomplishments—achievements that made soothsayers of those who predicted considerable improvement in the caliber of Bucknell basketball this winter. With 11 of the campaign's 24 games in the record book, the Bisons could claim a 6-5 log and the following developments:

1. An upset 81-74 victory over Penn State in Davis Gymnasium that snapped a string of seven straight wins the Lions had run up against Bucknell.

2. A thrilling uphill 79-68 triumph over Gettysburg that saw the Bisons come back from a 17-point halftime deficit with a 51-point second half rally that included 17 consecutive markers.

3. More wins than any Bucknell basketball team had recorded in the past four years. Last winter's team won three games, the previous two entries four and three, respectively.

4. An opportunity of reaching their pre-season goal of an even split on the campaign.

Actually, the Bisons were outclassed in just three of their first 11 outings and each setback emphasized the one major weakness that Kribbs must still contend with—a lack of height. Hofstra, Lafayette and Muhlenberg, three of the East's better teams and three teams long on big men with ability, proved to be too difficult for Bucknell to cope with. The Bisons suffered narrow reversals at the hands of Colgate and Cortland in games that could have gone either way.

Bucknell's big men in scoring during the first half of the campaign were the little men—junior Marty Tannenbaum and soph John Strizzi. A 6-0 Hackensack, N. J. product, Tannenbaum was the leading Bison scorer at deadline time with a 16-point average. He had reached the 20-point mark in scoring on four occasions. Strizzi, a 5-9 performer from Farrell, Pa., was the Bucknell playmaker and had an average just under 10 points per game.

Five other players—four juniors and a sophomore—filled out Kribbs' first-line nucleus. They were 6-4 juniors John Beatty and Al Kenzie, 6-3 soph Skip Wieder, 6-1 junior co-captain Norm Voorhees and 6-0 junior Joe Baccelli. Voorhees and Wieder both came along rapidly after slow starts.

Unfortunately, the road to a 12-12 split on season's play appeared to be treacherous since the second half of the basketball schedule was definitely more difficult than the first. The Bisons had yet to play Temple and take part in re-matches with Lafayette, Muhlenberg, Hofstra, Penn State and Colgate.

Spring Sports Preview

To the recent college graduate, 'March' can mean but one thing. Pack your bag and head for Fort Dix or some other unromantic spot for a stint in the garb of Uncle Samuel. The undergraduate derives a different meaning from the word, however. To him, 'March' means dig out the glove, golf clubs, tennis rackets or spikes and prepare for the spring season that is lurking just around the corner.

At Bucknell's 300 acres all hands are in hope that the 1956 spring campaign will be as prosperous as its 1955 counterpart. A year ago the Bison baseball, track, tennis and golf teams posted a total of 32 victories against 25 setbacks, the best spring log recorded at Bucknell since World War II. The Bison athletes would like to equal that record this season.

BASEBALL

Coach Bill Lane's diamond performers split 20 decisions last spring and chalked up a 10-4 Middle Atlantic Conference record that was good for second place in the league standings. If the strong left arm of pitcher Don Richards has maintained its zip, the baseballers may be able to improve on that ledger this year.

Lane is afraid that batting punch, something his '55 outfit lacked, may be at a premium again, but looks for improved stick work from catcher and captain Rich McFarland, first baseman-outfielder Bob Whitehead, infielder Roy Rangnow and fly-chasers Chuck Sneath and Don Wain. Soph newcomers Larry Dempster and Jackie Brothers may add some offensive punch to the infield if they can beat out veterans Gene Zartman, Jim Hummel and Bruce Workman for regular jobs.

If the diamond campaign is to be a success, however, fire-baller Richards will have to match his brilliant junior season. The 170-pound Pittsburgh athlete copped seven of 10 decisions a year ago, struck out 140 batters and posted a gaudy 1.30 earned run average. His strikeout and ERA marks are new Bucknell standards.

TRACK

Bucknell's track team, which registered the best cinder season in the 60-year history of the sport at Bucknell last year, will put a seven-match dual and triangular meet winning string on the line when it opens a five-match card in late April.

Coach Bus Blum, who begins his 11th year as track coach, has a number of veteran competitors returning, including sprinter and captain Ed Burg, distance runners Art Saunders and Bill Campbell, hurdler Bill Lenker, middle distance runner Al Larrabee and field event specialists Bob Stevens, Norm Voorhees, Dick McCartney and Bill Benton.

The Bison mentor has high hopes for newcomer Jim Riker in the hurdles and Pete Schuerholz in the 880-yard run. Gridder Chuck Wagner, who sprinted the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds at Kiski Prep, may be a valuable addition to the squad.

TENNIS

Henry Peters, the gentleman who continually predicts disaster and engineers successful seasons, is again wearing a long face so the Bison tennis team can probably be counted upon for another campaign in the blue chips.

A year ago the netmen posted their fourth consecutive winning season by copping 10 of 18 matches. Gone from the '55 cast are captain Dick Wormser and Dick Richter, two of Peters' better performers, and Bob McInroy and Bob Harbaugh. John Pulizzi, captain Al Christenson, Art Hartwell, John Fincke and Jimmy Stewart are the principal returnees.

Pulizzi, a Williamsport youngster, set two new Bucknell tennis records as a sophomore last year by winning 12 matches in a row and a total of 16 out of 18 on the season. Chuck Siede and Bob Pindexter are the top soph prospects on the squad.

GOLF

If newcomers Phil Kreis and Ken Benson are available, the Bison golf team may be able to improve on its 1955 record of seven wins and seven losses. Captain Pete Straub is the only loss from last year's team and Kreis and Benson should be able to fill the breach.

The top returnees are captain Don Albee, Bob Miller, Jim Ladd, Dave Doane and Andy Horvat. George Daunon, a 1954 letterman, Bill Walliser and Stan Jackson will also be competing for berths.

1956 Football Schedule

Bucknell will play an eight-game 1956 football schedule that includes participation in the annual Chocolate Bowl in Hershey, according to a mid-January announcement by Athletic Director Albert E. Humphreys.

Harry Lawrence, who begins his 10th year as Bison head coach, will again be at the helm. Lawrence inked a new three-year pact in early December that will make him the dean of Bucknell football coaches relative to longevity. No other Bison grid leader has coached for longer than nine seasons.

The 1956 card lists one new opponent—the University of Buffalo, a home foe on Nov. 3. The Bisons and the Bulls last tangled in 1953. Bucknell will not meet Miami and Harvard, two 1955 opponents. Three home games are scheduled—Lehigh on Oct. 6, Lafayette on Oct. 20 and Buffalo. Bucknell will also be the home team at the Sept. 29 Chocolate Bowl with Gettysburg again supplying the opposition.

The eight-game schedule is the first of its kind at Bucknell since 1949. Humphreys stated that the University plans to return to its traditional nine-game card in 1957.

1956 Football Schedule

- Sept. 22—Albright Reading
- Sept. 29—Gettysburg (Chocolate Bowl) Hershey
- Oct. 6—Lehigh Dads' Day
- Oct. 13—Delaware at Newark, Del.
- Oct. 20—Lafayette Homecoming
- Oct. 27—Temple Philadelphia
- Nov. 3—Buffalo Home
- Nov. 10—Colgate Hamilton, N. Y.

Intramurals

On the intramural scene, Delta Upsilon has emerged as a 1955-56 powerhouse and must be considered a favorite to recapture the All-Year Trophy it surrendered to Phi Kappa Psi a year ago. The DUs were champions in 1952-53 and 1953-54.

In the five athletic divisions in which activity has been completed, Delta Upsilon has copped three championships. The DUs have won cross-country, soccer and wrestling. Sigma Alpha Epsilon was crowned handball champ, while Sigma Alpha Mu was victorious in tennis.

When I was captain at Chicago in 1893 and played Purdue, called "the boiler-makers", the game was so rough that they knocked out our backfield players and the prosecuting attorney came on the field and warned their players to stop their brutal tactics, otherwise the Tippecanoe grand jury was still in session and they would be indicted. We had no substitutes and Stagg asked the privilege of putting on a suit to play halfback. It was freely granted and Stagg played under my captaincy. At the Quarterback Club in Chicago I spoke to 1200 fans on "The Perils of Old-Time Football."

In 1894 Stagg took the first football team across the continent to defeat Stanford, with Herbert Hoover as football manager. Pardon me if I include the following panegyric of Chicago's first captain in the San Francisco press: "Wyant, the center, was a conspicuous character, strong as an ox and with the endurance of a mule, he pushed his way through the lines, scoring frequently yards of advantage for his team. He is considered the cleverest player on the team, tricky and sharp, using his head at all times. He has bucked more than successfully against opposing centers outweighing him by 40 pounds and few of them have been heard of who cared about taking another turn with him. Withal, Wyant has the reputation of being exceedingly even-tempered and of playing exceptionally clean football." (Italics mine).

Following the Stanford game on Christmas we played the Reliance Athletic Club on New Year's day. It was a typical game of professional football savagery. A cartoon showed Stagg kneeling in prayer for the safety of his men. The referee was their choice and when he outrageously called back a touchdown, Frank Herring, who afterwards coached at Bucknell and later at Notre Dame, looked the referee in the eye and said: "That was a cheesy deal you gave us." The referee slapped Frank in the face and Frank countered with his right and gave the referee a bloody nose. There was a threatened riot, but the decision was so "rotten" that the Club sent in another referee who did not even rule Frank out of the game. Stagg was needed as much to reform football as Christy was needed to reform baseball. In the early part of the century 20 colleges suspended football on account of its lack of sportsmanship.

A roaring flood covered the campus and damaged many fraternity houses and dorms. Activities reached a standstill as students rowed in and out of the houses and the girls entered dorms by step-ladders. An amateur radio station in East College was the only means of communication.

The Bucknell Review

In its most recent issue (December, 1955), The Bucknell Review steps out into the world. Bucknell's entry into the field of scholarly publications has, for the first time in its six-year history, opened its pages to contributors outside the Bucknell faculty. The editors have been fortunate to be able to grace this issue with articles by two eminent "foreign" scholars and by one regular contributor, Dr. P. Burwell Rogers, of the Bucknell English department.

The first piece in the December Review is "Benjamin Franklin and his Scientific Friends," the text of an address delivered at the dedication of the F. W. Olin Science Building by Dr. Leonard W. Labaree, Farnam Professor of History at Yale. Dr. Harold H. Watts, Professor of English at Purdue, contributes "Three Entities and Robert Frost"; and Dr. Rogers reports on his collection of five manuscripts of a Fifteenth Century "courtesy book," John Russell's The Boke of Nurture.

To mark its growth into adulthood, the Review appears in a new dress, a clean-looking brown and white cover that invites the potential reader to look inside.

In the article on Franklin, Dr. Labaree sets out to show that Franklin's contributions to science, though perhaps not of major importance when measured in terms of his additions to existing scientific knowledge, are highly significant when looked at in respect to their influence on the progress of his times. With an easy, unpedantic style that bodes good for the Franklin papers recently published under his editorship, Dr. Labaree first provides some background on the state of scientific investigation and publications in Franklin's day, then goes on to outline Franklin's enormous part in them: for example, his personal friendships and correspondence with almost all the noted scientists of Europe and America, and his founding of the American Philosophical Society. Dr. Labaree writes about Franklin with an aura of authoritativeness and with a desire to be interesting and readable, a desire amply realized here.

The three entities in Dr. Watts' essay on Frost are nature, man, and God; the author explores the relationships that exist among them as they are revealed in Frost's poetry. There are various ways of approaching the body of a poet's work, but Dr. Watts' approach would seem to be in keeping with Frost's own statements. Frost has said that his poems are dramatic—very much like talk, he has put it. Dr. Watts, therefore, proceeds justifiably on the premise that the poems are dramatic conversations between Frost (or man) and nature, which speaks to the poet through specific parts of its "process." The reader, then, becomes a sort of third, though silent, participant in the drama, discovering with Frost the degree to which man depends upon nature as a source of instruction about what man is and what he is not.

Although some of Dr. Watts' interpretations are open to question, there is evident throughout the article his ability to perceive order in a mass of poems. It is a commonplace, for example, to state that Frost is not a religious poet; Dr. Watts' explanation of why God has been excluded from Frost's "conversations" is convincing evidence of his extremely perceptive process of reading.

Dr. Rogers' study of The Boke of Nurture provides a glimpse of an interesting facet of life in a period long past. The courtesy book, a genre somewhat akin to our book of etiquette, set forth rules that governed good manners for such disparate groups of people as servants, children, or princes. John Russell's book, probably written shortly before 1446, gives the duties of serving men and the customs of service in upper class English homes of the time. What Dr. Rogers accomplishes in his comparison of the five existing manuscripts is to chart the differences among them and to establish the theory that four of the copies originated in a common source; the fifth copy, found in the Harleian manuscript, seems to have been drawn from another original, one describing a household much like the one in which Russell gained his information.

The three articles make up a varied but invariably interesting issue of The Bucknell Review.

Faculty News

Dr. Vincent H. Malstrom, assistant professor of geography and geology, has been appointed to work on a research project by the Foreign Field Research program of the Division of Earth Sciences of the National Research Council.

Dr. Malstrom will make a study of the regional geography of Iceland during the summer months.

Dr. Malstrom received his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Michigan and has done other graduate work at the University of Texas and the University of Oslo, Norway. He studied at the University of Oslo as a Fulbright grantee and fellow of the Social Science Research Council.

He has had several articles printed and is currently working on a series of textbooks for use in grade school.

Dr. Lewis E. Theiss, emeritus professor of journalism, is one of the contributors to a book that has been chosen as Pennsylvania's contribution to the personal library of President Dwight D. Eisenhower at his Gettysburg farm.

The book is "Pennsylvania Songs and Legends", published by the University of Pennsylvania Press, and Dr. Theiss's contribution is a section on the canals of the state.

George Korson, who was formerly associated with Bucknell, where he produced the folk festivals, compiled the chapter on coal mines.

Thirteen fields are covered in the book, which joins 47 other volumes contributed by the other states for the President's library. The Congressional Club of Washington made the selection of the books to be included.

Charles F. Conklin, of Bethany, W. Va., has been appointed associate professor of economics to succeed Dr. William N. Talmer, who left at the end of the first semester to enter the investment business in New York. Mr. Conklin was assistant professor of economics and business administration at Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va. Prior to assuming this position, he was assistant manager of a store in Warren, Ohio, a battalion staff officer and information and education officer with the Army, and had been affiliated with the J and L Steel Corporation, in Aliquippa.

A graduate of Waynesburg College and the University of Pittsburgh, Mr. Conklin is now working toward his Ph.D. at the University of Pittsburgh Summer School.

He has traveled extensively in the United States, England, Scotland, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland.

Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, professor of education at Bucknell, has been elected the 1956 vice president of the College and University Section of the Pennsylvania State Education Association of Higher Education.

Frank A. Hoffman '51, instructor of English has been appointed editor of a new journal to be devoted to Pennsylvania folklore. The appointment was made by Col. Henry Shoemaker, president of the Pennsylvania Folklore Society. The journal will be called Keystone Folklore Quarterly.

The American Nurses' Foundation, Inc. has awarded a grant of $4000.00 to Dr. Wendell I. Smith '46, of the Department of Psychology for an exploratory investigation of the psycho-social characteristics of the occupation of industrial nursing. This study will be made in industries located in Central Pennsylvania and will include an analysis of the requirements for industrial nursing as seen from the points of view of the supervisor, the community, the nurse, the union, and the employee.

Bucknell Receives $3,500 Grant From Esso

President Merle M. Odgers has announced that Bucknell has received a grant of $3,500 from the Esso Education Foundation.

The Standard Oil Company and several of its affiliates recently formed the Foundation to give financial aid to the nation's privately-owned colleges and universities in order that they might meet the ever higher standards of modern society.

Bucknell's gift of $3,500 was offered without restrictions except that it be used to help defray the operating expenses connected with undergraduate education.

Bucknell was one of 193 privately-supported colleges to receive a grant from the Foundation. Included were denominational, non-denominational, men's, women's and coeducational colleges and universities.

Fourteen Pennsylvania schools other than Bucknell received unrestricted grants.

turning away of prospects who may seem highly satisfactory to you.

18. Q. From where do most of our students come?
 - A. Primarily from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York, but usually 25 to 30 other states and 5 to 10 foreign countries are represented.
19. Q. What is the present enrollment?
 - A. In round figures: 1,300 men, 700 women or 2,000.
20. Q. What is the enrollment likely to be in 1956?
 - A. About the same as in 1955 or a bit less, as fewer freshmen can be accommodated than was possible in 1955.
21. Q. Are transfer students accepted?
 - A. Only if the previous work is above average, and there is room in the course sought. However, transfer is never easy, especially for young women, and increasingly difficult for men.

AMONG THE CLUBS

How Do You Say It?

The best Alumni Club invitations are the ones written by the Alumni Club officers themselves. It is always interesting to sit on the Alumni Secretary's side of the desk and see each new crop of Bucknell Birthday party invitations come in.

One of the best this year was prepared in the form of a poem for the Bucknell Birthday party held by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Providence, R. I. We suspect it is the work of Mrs. June Stott Matthews '47, secretary of the Providence Club. This is the way she said it:

This invitation is coming your way
In hopes you'll be able to save a Sunday,
And help all Bucknellians to celebrate
The birthday of B. U.—mark down the date!

The one we have chosen is February five.
The place where we'll meet is just a nice drive.
A breathtaking view of Narragansett Bay
Is guaranteed to all who join us that day.

Sue Cady's house is the place where we'll meet.
There will be coffee, ice cream and good cake to eat.
The time has been chosen—from three until five,
To twenty-six Briarcliff Avenue you'll drive.

Now to those of you who are still up a tree
As to where in the world this place can be,
Just follow directions to old Warwick Neck,
Sue's at the end—near the lighthouse, by heck!

Please don't disappoint us—we love a crowd
Who can join in the song overwhelmingly loud,
"Happy birthday to Bucknell," our Alma Mater
dear.

Any further questions? Your telephone is near.

Providence may not have the largest attendance (there are 62 Alumni in the Providence area) but it always has an enthusiastic group at its meeting.

Another unusual approach used by the Providence Club is to hold some of its meetings on the Brown University campus. This practice of meeting on college campuses might well be adopted by other Bucknell Alumni Clubs. Such arrangements generally provide a comfortable place to gather before dinner, a private dining room, a satisfactory dinner at a reasonable price, and plenty of elbow room for the gab-fest that follows. If your club would like to investigate the possibilities, why not contact the director of food services on the campus of your local college or university.

LONG ISLAND—Bucknellians from Long Island got together for a Christmas cheer party at Felice's Restaurant on December 26. We had about 75 attending and, since this was our first attempt at this kind of affair, we were well pleased with the turnout. Bucknellians young and old joined us. We gave the party at this time to help stimulate interest among our local Alumni and friends for the Hofstra Invitation Basketball Tournament which was to follow that week.

On February 9 we joined the three other metropolitan clubs for dinner and the Men's Glee Club Concert at the Park-Sheraton Hotel in New York. It was a big success and thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

HARRISBURG—The Bucknell Alumni Club held its first regular monthly dinner meeting of the New Year on Thursday, January 5, at the Y. M. C. A. Thirty Bucknellians and friends attended the meeting. Our newly-elected president, Betty Barnes, opened the meeting by asking Mr. Frank Williams to give the invocation.

After dinner, the secretary's minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Bruce Butt gave his informative report concerning the current activities of Bucknell Alumni.

The president then turned the meeting over to Mr. Frank Haas, program chairman, who introduced our speaker, Mr. Sterling G. McNees, chairman of the Central Business Council. Mr. McNees presented an enlightening discussion concerning the problems of Harrisburg's downtown traffic and its effect on the entire city.

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Association of Harrisburg was held on Thursday, Feb. 2, at the Y. M. C. A. Thirty Bucknellians and friends were present at the meeting which marked the 110th anniversary of the founding of Bucknell. William Schaffner '51, gave the invocation.

Bruce Butt '66, presented his report concerning the current activities of Alumni, and introduced the guests who were present.

Dr. Eugene Bertin '17, paid special tribute, on behalf of the entire club, to Bruce Butt and William Schaffner, two of our members who share February as their birthday month with Bucknell.

Our guest and speaker for the evening was Henry N. Peters '39, associate professor of physical education at Bucknell. Mr. Peters who was introduced by Francis B. Haas, Jr. '39, presented an informal discussion concerning the various phases of the present athletic program at Bucknell, as well as the general building program now being undertaken by the University. Questions were raised by members of the group and presented to Mr. Peters for further discussion.

CENTRAL INDIANA—Sickness, vacations, business, and one of the deepest snows in Indiana for many a year did not disturb nine loyal Bucknellians from gathering at McLaughner's Restaurant in Indianapolis on January 20 to celebrate Bucknell's 110th Birthday.

Under the chairmanship of Art Zimmerman '24, and with the active assistance of Mrs. W. Norman Ball (Dorothy W. Sauer '35), a review of Bucknell history and the showing of football movies and color slides of campus activities was enjoyed by those who attended.

There must be some time during the year when the 35 or 40 Bucknellians in Central Indiana would find it convenient to attend a Bucknell gathering in Indianapolis. After all, Indiana Bucknellians are not so different from Bucknellians in other states. Maybe spring or early summer is the ideal time. Anyway, we'll try again.

ST. PETERSBURG—A large number of Bucknellians from the St. Petersburg area gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Baillets on November 15. Guests of honor included Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shott from the campus who were formally inducted as members of THE LOYAL ORDER OF GREEN BENCH SITTERS. Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs.

Robert S. Birch. Mr. Birch, who was principal of the high school for boys in Reading, in the halcyon days when "Buck" Shott was a student there, is a loyal Princetonian but was cordially invited to celebrate with the Bucknellians of St. Petersburg.

The annual St. Petersburg Bucknell Club dinner was held on Feb. 4 at Stetson University Law School which was recently established in St. Petersburg.

Our president, Dr. Earl Edwards gave the invocation. We were glad to welcome Dr. John R. Neefe '36, and Mrs. Neefe as members. They have moved here with their four children and live at 6695 Eighth Ave. N. He is practicing medicine in town and works with Dr. Needles.

After a delicious dinner we were taken on an inspection tour of the grounds and buildings by one of the students. A new swimming pool was of special interest. Because of the many years of service given to Stetson by Dr. Hulley, we had a special interest in the growth of this school.

After relaxing in the lounge we heard messages from many of the old Bucknell graduates, many expressing regrets for inability to attend our dinner.

Of special interest was a fine letter from Clyde Hostetter of Winter Park, telling of his progress since leaving the hospital in New York. Mrs. Solier, who took her degree at Stetson while Dr. Hulley was there, told of her experiences at this school.

Our next meeting will be at the home of Miss Marjorie Montgomery, 4565 Dartmouth Ave. N on March 17th. It will be a covered dish luncheon at noon.

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO—For several hours on Friday evening, January 20, the Bucknell campus was in sharp focus from Ann Arbor, Michigan.

This surprise feat was performed by Dayton L. Ranck in the midst of twenty-four inspired Alumni at the Arthur Brandon residence. Television had no equal to the verbal report of our guest who came with his bag of student-faculty news and Bucknell developments. Nostalgia prevailed as Dayton Ranck recalled with keen memory, campus events and the whereabouts of old friends.

Newcomers present included Walter and Irene Guyer '39, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark '48, and Robert and Virginia Richardson '52. We were most pleased to see again Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fries '09, former faculty member.

May we express many thanks to the Brandons for their hospitality. Plans will be announced soon for the spring meeting. A fine dinner program is forthcoming for Alumni in Michigan-Toledo.

J. M. KINGSBURY '42,
Secretary-Treasurer

PHILADELPHIA—Chalk up another successful party for the Philadelphia Alumni Club Dinner at Kugler's, Friday, February 3. We enjoyed amusing stories by the Toastmaster, Romain C. Hassrick '06, entertaining songs by The Squires, an interesting and informative talk by Admiral Ernest Eller.

We are now looking forward to the Spring Dance, to be held Friday, May 25, at the Merion Tribute House, Merion, Penna. Put the date in your date book and plan to come and join the fun.

ALICE ROBERTS '24,
Secretary

BALTIMORE—Though rain or snow, sleet or hail the Bucknellians will come through! Again our Birthday meeting was given a wet reception of drenching rainfall! Despite the weather, which it seems is determined to effect our meetings, 36 wet but willing "party guests" gathered at the Hecht Brothers Roof Top Restaurant, February 6 at 8 o'clock. Our beautiful (and delicious) birthday cake served as the centerpiece and was later cut by Joan Christmas Bertolet '55, the youngest Alumnus. Beforehand though, we exchanged greetings and chatted with the old regulars and with several "new" old Alumni whom we hadn't seen for awhile (hope our next meeting brings out more of these people). Al Jodrey '52 obligingly took pictures while we enjoyed cake and coffee.

Our group readily agreed with President Ann Mussina '32, that seldom before has our club had a speaker that topped our guest of the evening, Mrs. Harry A. Price (Mary G. Saunders '26), newly appointed director of the Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing Service. Trends in Nursing during the last 100 years served as Mrs. Price's interesting topic and her account of the development, needs and comparison of nursing through the years was most enlightening. She stressed the importance of encouraging young people to enter the study of nursing.

George Phillips '32, led us in singing the Alma Mater on Bucknell's 110th Anniversary. May the words ring loudly and clearly 110 years from now!

DORIS W. THOMAS '49,
Secretary-Treasurer

NEW YORK CITY—The Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Metropolitan New York, Long Island, Northern New Jersey, and Westchester County joined in celebrating Bucknell's 110th Birthday with a dinner and concert at the Park Sheraton Hotel on February 9.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Amorita Sessinger Copeland '22, president of the Metropolitan Club, who ably served as chairman of the meeting introduced the guest of honor, Dr. James O. Wynn, vice president and general counsel of the Olin Foundation Inc. Admiral E. M. Eller (USN retired), director of engineering at Bucknell, spoke briefly on "Bucknell's Expanding Engineering Program." Mrs. Copeland also introduced Bucknell trustees Joseph D. Dent and William R. White and the presidents of the other clubs in the greater Metropolitan area, J. Dudley Waldner '46, of Northern New Jersey, Nelson E. Wendt '34, of Long Island and William M. Wilkinon '46, of Westchester. William S. Liming, president of the General Alumni Association and John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary, spoke briefly concerning Alumni affairs.

After the dinner and meeting, the approximately 150 Alumni and parents in attendance enjoyed a concert by the Bucknell University Men's Glee Club which was completing a week's tour of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

SOUTH JERSEY To celebrate Bucknell's 110th Birthday, the South Jersey Alumni Club held a dinner on February 4, 1956 at Glover's Caterers in Vineland, New Jersey.

Over 60 people attended and had a wonderful evening of fellowship.

Prizes were given for various questions asked. The non-Bucknellians won the most "gum drop candle" favor. That just shouldn't be!

Dr. Odger and Bob Rink '11 cut the two tiered Birthday cake.

NEW YORK LUNCHEONS

The regular monthly luncheons for Bucknellians in New York have been set for March 28, April 25, and May 23. Please note that the May luncheon has been moved up one week to avoid meeting on Memorial Day. Better make a note of the dates on your calendar and enjoy the companionship of other Bucknellians on these dates at 12:15 P. M. at the Hotel Shelburne, 37th and Lexington Avenue. Reservations for each luncheon will be received up to 11:45 A. M. of the day of the luncheon by calling Mrs. Amorita S. Copeland, Murray Hill 2-2505.

The South Jersey Club hopes that the future events will be as much fun as our Birthday dinner.

Watch for future notices.

BETTY HEALD '54,
Secretary

TRENTON—The annual birthday dinner of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Trenton was held February 3 at the Trenton Country Club, with 52 Alumni and guests in attendance.

President Bill Pebbles opened the meeting with a greeting and then introduced Dr. Emma Dillon '15, Trustee of the University, who gave the educational background of our guest of the evening, Dr. C. Willard Smith, head of the English Department.

Dr. Smith opened his remarks for the evening by relaying greetings from the University and telling a few humorous events that had happened to several of the present guests while under his supervision in school.

Dr. Smith then reported on the new buildings on the campus. He remarked on the need for a higher pay scale for teachers to prevent industry from obtaining all the top men and women in different fields, and taking them away from the teaching profession.

Dr. Smith read several poems to illustrate his points and also read a few selections from a book of poems composed by a recent Bucknell graduate.

After an enjoyable dinner and a fine talk by Dr. Smith, the meeting adjourned.

JOSEPH T. QUICK '38

UNION COUNTY—MILTON—About 75 Alumni and friends of Bucknell met at the Lewisburg Club for a dinner meeting, Wednesday, Feb. 8, to celebrate the 110th anniversary of the chartering of the University.

Following the dinner, election of officers for the ensuing year was held. Upon the report of Paul Showalter '31, chairman of the nominating committee, the following names were submitted and the persons named were unanimously elected: Arthur Gardner '22, Milflinburg, president; John S. Gold '18, Lewisburg, vice president; Herbert Gri e '18, Lewisburg, treasurer; and Mrs. William N. Frederick (Betty Kehler '36), Lewisburg, secretary.

Club president, Earle Moyer '28, presided. The invocation was given by Dr. Carl Millward '06, president of the Milton Club.

Guests at the speaker's table were President and Mrs. Merle M. Odgers and Alumni Secretary and Mr. John Shott. Both President Odgers and Secretary Shott gave brief talks.

Speaker of the evening was Admiral Ernest M. Eller, director of engineering at Bucknell, whose topic was "Bucknell's Expanding Engineering Program."

Group singing was enjoyed under the leadership of two Bucknell students, Kathryn Waltz and Jane Arnold. Decorations were in charge of Professor and Mrs. Anthony Krzywicki '48. (S. Faith Van Sise '46).

BOOK SHELF

ROBERT M. LINDNER '35.

Must You Conform?

Rinehart, N. Y., 1956

The science of personality becomes more minutely differentiated and more intricately organized year by year. In this vast wonderland—the study of personality—psycho-analysis has a prominent place. MUST YOU CONFORM?, like Lindner's previous books on personality, has a strong Freudian bias. This is a book which the reader will find rich in ideas and rewarding to read. It is a challenging, disturbing, at times, even saddening, presentation, for Dr. Lindner presents his ideas about the interaction of the individual and his society with a vigor and a sincerity which seem calculated to jolt the public out of smugness.

The book dedicated to P. L. Harriman of the Bucknell faculty, consists of a series of six essays, four of which were presented as The Hacker Foundation Lectures (Los Angeles) for 1954. The titles alone of the essays are indicative of the interesting reading awaiting those who are concerned about aspects of contemporary civilization. In the first essay, "The Mutiny of the Young," the author develops and provides some support for his thesis that, "... the brute fact of today is that our youth is no longer in rebellion, but in a condition of downright active and hostile mutiny." The essay entitled, "Political Creed and Character" is a very unusual bit of thinking on the personality types characterizing the fascist (psychopathic) and the communist (neurotic). The other essays, "Homosexuality and the Contemporary Scene," "The Instinct of Rebellion," "Must You Conform," and "Education for Maturity," contain many surprises.

If the reader is not familiar with Dr. Lindner's writing, a pleasant discovery awaits him for Dr. Lindner is that rare person—a clinician-theoretician who can write for the layman. In this collection of essays, will be found an admirable vocabulary, arresting contents and a coherence of emphasis.

Dear Sir:

In each of my two years at Bucknell I had a $50 scholarship. A modern mind cannot comprehend what an enormous sum $50 then was, especially to those of us who rarely saw $5 in one piece. A man in our class said one day, "I subscribe $3 a year to my church but since I never have that much money at one time, I give them 25¢ a month." The original $100 was repaid some years ago in an endowment drive, and in these annual Alumni contributions I have been trying to pay at the interest. This year's will a little more than cover the last of the interest at 6% simple interest. In the A. D. (ante depression) era the rate paid by all savings institutions in this part of the world was 3% per annum, compounded semi-annually. Using this rate I still owe about $100. Let's hope I live to pay it.

While material aid can be repaid, no one would think this discharges his debt to his alma mater. Who can measure the value of the training and the contact there with men great in every way? The impact of John Howard Harris can never be forgotten. He had the most rugged mind and strongest personality of any man I ever met. Another whose impress went deep was William Emmet Martin. Although his ideas were startling to us untutored provincials, he was the liberator of men's minds from dogmatism and superstition. One might go on to enumerate the whole faculty of my day.

Sincerely yours,

AN OLD GRAD OF 1901

Dear Sir:

I have just completed the December edition of THE BUCKNELL REVIEW and would like to take the opportunity of extending my compliments on what I found to be an interesting and intellectually satisfying bill of fare.

Professor Labaree's selection casts Franklin in, what is for me, a new light. No longer can he be considered a mere dabbler in the world of science for, Benjamin Franklin and His Scientific Friends reveals the man as a leader in the vanguard of eighteenth century science. My only objection to the otherwise excellent article lies in the fact that in my opinion the author has treated both Priestly and Lavoisier in a manner best described by the word cavalier.

The essay by Professor Watts was enlightening too and I found the allusion to Frost's poetry helpful. I will admit however to have found his style somewhat obfuscatory and felt that better organization was possible. Without attempting to gild the pedagoical lily, I thought that Dr. Cook's (Harold that is) treatment of poetic style which I remember from last year's BUCKNELL STUDIES was more succinct and better organized.

Dr. Rogers treatment of Russell was in my opinion enlightening, amusing and tastefully written. I'm particularly happy that such a delightful article was written by a member of the Bucknell faculty.

With warmest wishes for continued success,

Sincerely,

Kress Art Work at National Gallery Anniversary

An important group of 70 paintings and 24 pieces of sculpture, which has been acquired in the last five years by the late Mr. Samuel H. Kress and by Mr. Rush H. Kress and the Samuel H. Kress Foundation, has been sent to the National Gallery of Art in Washington on loan and will be placed on public exhibition on Sunday, March 18.

This exhibition has been arranged as part of the celebration of the Fifteenth Anniversary of the opening of the National Gallery of Art, which took place on March 17, 1941. Many of the works of art in this exhibition may later be offered to the Gallery as gifts, to become part of the Samuel H. Kress Collection.

In this group are many masterpieces of Italian art, such as the beautiful Madonna and Child by Ghirlandaio, two of Titian's greatest portraits, Doge Andrea Gritti, and Admiral Vincenzo Capello, Tintoretto's Conversion of St. Paul, and outstanding works by Veronese, and El Greco. Especially interesting is a ceiling painting by Titian, the only work of its kind outside of Venice. A room is being arranged so that this painting may be seen on a ceiling as originally intended.

The German paintings in the loan exhibition are no less extraordinary than the Italian. They include such rare Primitives as the Master of Saint Veronica and the Master of the Saint Bartholomew Altar, and later masters such as Baldung Grien, Cranach, and Holbein. The greatest of the German acquisitions, the Small Crucifixion by Mathis Grunewald is, from the point of view of rarity and emotional intensity, the outstanding German painting in America. A contemporary of Durer, Grunewald surpassed him in expressive power.

Especially notable are the French paintings. These include one of the two signed works by Francois Clouet. It has been thought to represent Diane de Poitiers in her bath. A curator of the Louvre has recently described this panel as "one of the chief masterpieces of French Art." There are also a number of remarkable paintings from the eighteenth century, among them Watteau's Ceres or Summer. Of the four paintings of the seasons which the youthful Watteau executed for the dining room of Pierre Crozat's mansion in Paris, this alone has survived. Two other decorative paintings of great beauty are the large canvasses by Fragonard, which are considered the most impressive compositions he ever attempted.

Remarkable also are four eighteenth-century French portraits. The earliest, by Nattier, is of the Baron de la Mosson, an amateur naturalist and a representative figure of the Age of Reason. It was shown in the Salon of 1746, and was judged Nattier's outstanding masterpiece in this, one of his most important exhibitions. The next in date is a portrait of the painter, Herbert Robert, by his friend, Fragonard. It is a gay, cheerful painting. Here there is no indication of the coming Revolution. When the Revolution came, it seems to have affected even human physiognomy, judging from another important Kress acquisition, David's portrait of his wife, who gazes at the spectator with hard and calculating eyes. David himself was the Talleyrand of painters. Nothing could be more flattering than his likeness of Napoleon, which was lent last summer by the Kress Foundation to the Paris exhibition, "Salute to France," and is one of the great masterpieces in the present exhibition. Curiously enough, the portrait was commissioned by a Scottish peer, the Duke of Hamilton.

In the field of sculpture the new Kress loans bring to this country one of the most important groups of Italian Gothic and Renaissance sculpture to cross the ocean. Outstanding are the Archangel Gabriel and the Virgin Annunciate by Nino Pisano, two life-size polychromed wood figures wonderfully preserved. Six smaller Gothic figures and a Renaissance relief by Benedetto da Maiano come from the Liechtenstein Collection. From a later period is a bronze candlestick in the form of a winged figure. It is attributed to Francesco di Giorgio and was formerly in the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin. Two busts by Alessandro Vittoria also come from a European museum, in this case the Kunsthistorisches Museum in Vienna. Another great masterpiece is the bust by Bernini from the Barberini Collection.

Another feature of the March 17th exhibition will be the new installation of the Dreyfus Bronze Collection, which was acquired by the Kress Foundation some years ago. This is one of the two largest collections in the world of Renaissance medals, plaquettes, and small bronzes. A very beautiful installation has been arranged in three rooms specially prepared for this exhibit on the ground floor.

As in the case of paintings, the Kress Foundation has acquired important French sculpture. There is a statue of Louis XIV by Martin Desjardins and busts of Monseigneur Le Grand Dauphin by Coysevox and the Duc de Bourgogne by an unknown French sculptor of the first half of the eighteenth century.

Outstanding is the portrait of Cagliostro by Houdon, a recent gift to the Gallery from the Kress Foundation and not heretofore exhibited. An engraving after the bust was used by Carlyle for his description of Cagliostro, who had, as the Scottish historian said, "the most perfect quack face produced by the eighteenth century."

Of the recent gifts from the Kress Foundation some were temporarily exhibited on loan in 1951; others have been acquired since that time and have never previously been shown at the Gallery. The latter numbering 13 gifts will be temporarily grouped together for the March exhibition in Gallery 41 before being permanently installed with the earlier donations in the Kress Collection. Included in this group are two famous Florentine paintings: a portrait by Botticelli of Giuliano de' Medici, in many ways his greatest portrait, and the Dreyfus Madonna which has been ascribed by many critics to Leonardo da Vinci. Another important work from the Kunsthistorisches Museum in Vienna Rebecca at the Well by Paolo Veronese, is also included. Other paintings not previously shown are by Cimabue, Paolo Veneziano, Altdorfer, Zurbaran, and Van Dyck.

Engineering Alumni Meet In New York

The organizational meeting of Bucknell engineers was held at the Engineer's Club in New York on Friday, January 13, with the following organization committee members in attendance: Admiral E. M. Eller, Earl M. Richards '13, Robert L. Rooke '13, Morris D. Hooven '20, Lester E. Lighton '20, Harry L. Nancarrow '20, T. Cortlandt Williams '20, Roy H. Landis '22, Donald O. Eschbach '25, John B. Miller '26, George W. Hart '27, R. Barlow Smith '27, Campbell Rutledge, Jr. '33, Frank E. Gerlitz '34, Joseph C. Duddy '37, M. E. Cook '43, and Eugene R. Levitt '44.

As the first order of business, the committee elected officers consisting of Lighton, chairman; Nancarrow, vice-chairman; Hooven, vice-chairman; Rooke, treasurer; and Miller, secretary.

Following the election, the group set up the objectives of the organization as, "The basic aim is to improve engineering education at Bucknell through Alumni review, advice, and assistance. Some broad goals to be considered are: increased faculty pay, improved curricula, improved facilities, expanded graduate study and research, increased fellowships and scholarships, improved relations with industry including more industry support, improved contacts with secondary schools, and stimulating interest in science and engineering and similar problems."

ORGANIZATION NAME SOUGHT

Since all Alumni should be given an opportunity to suggest the name for the engineering Alumni organization, an award of $100 cash, donated by Richards, Rooke, Nancarrow, and Williams will be offered as a prize to the person submitting the name considered by the judges to be most suitable.

Twelve operating committees with their chairmen thus far selected were set up as follows: Membership and Alumni Contacts, including Constitution and By-Laws, Rutledge; Improvement of Engineering Education, including Curricula, Faculty Graduate study, Hooven; Industry Relations, Richards; Fellowships, Schure; Finance, Rooke; Research, Landis and Smith; Public Relations and Publications, Levitt; Long Range Planning and Future Development, Hart; and these 4 committees established with chairmen still to be selected are: Facilities and Equipment, Secondary School Contacts, Scholarships, and Special Projects.

It was agreed by all that this new organization of Bucknell Engineering Alumni presents an excellent opportunity to serve Bucknell and industry. Strong support for the program can be given by individual Bucknellians anywhere and will be especially effective if two or more can work together, regardless of their geographic locations. Bucknell engineers were cordially invited to volunteer for work on the operating committees. Those interested should write to Prof. John B. Miller, secretary of the new organization, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Penna.

Theiss '02, In A New Writing Field

by JOHN H. "BUCK" SHOTT

Recently I interviewed Lew Theiss about his new writing venture, for after a man has written forty-five books and hundreds of magazine articles along given lines, it seems interesting that he should shift to another angle. But there is a reason. An old injury, sustained years ago in athletics, has become aggravated to the point where he no longer feels able to travel the country over, as for many years he did, in search of writing material. So, as he puts it, he must now get his material from his bookshelves, his collection of clippings, or his head.

This may necessitate an explanation. The outbreak of World War I found him living in his country home. But the magazines were no longer interested in his usual line of work. They wanted war stuff. So he shifted to gardening and horticulture, for the slogan of that war was "Food will win the war." Theiss was then operating his 130-acre farm, developing orchards and vineyards and gardens. He became an editor of the National War Garden Commission, was taken on by the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry as an experimenter, became garden editor for three magazines, including Good Housekeeping, and thus found himself launched in a new line of work. He has been at it ever since. But now he is looking at the future, and writing about food production from this new point of view.

As he said, "With our storage houses bulging with surplus foods, it may seem ridiculous to write about days of food shortage.

"If you follow population statistics, you will know that the Census Bureau figures show that our population is growing at a rate of 3,000,000 persons a year. We now have a population of 166,000,000 souls. If we continue at the present rate, in the next forty-five years we shall add 125,000,000 persons to our population, giving us a total population of 291,000,000. And feeding that number is quite different from feeding 166,000,000. To be sure, nobody can predict with certainty what our population will be forty-five years hence. But one thing is sure. All history shows that populations do increase continually, and where the people are best fed they increase the fastest. Many of our present Bucknell alumni will be about in the year 2,000 and they will know the truth about the matter. Also, they will want something to eat. All we can do now is to look at such facts as we have and act accordingly."

"Well, just what do you have in mind?" I asked.

"Simply this: To get folks aroused, especially farmers, lumbermen, and land owners generally, so that they will strive to maintain our agricultural resources at no less than their present level and to increase them if possible.

"In all sections of the nation there are areas—a vast acreage in all—of soil so farmed out that it has now been largely abandoned. That acreage is steadily increasing. Yet that soil can be reconditioned. The proposed soil bank plan should help here.

"But that isn't the only thing to consider. Water is equally important. As everybody knows, there is a growing shortage of water."

"That seems obvious," I said. "But how do you propose to increase the water supply?"

"I don't think that that can be done," was the reply. "But if we will conserve what we have, it will help incredibly."

"And how do you hope to bring that about?"

"By enlightening folks. A recent article of mine in the Pennsylvania Farmer was titled 'What Has Become of Our Water?', and the article was written to show that every cubic foot of soil lost through erosion is a cubic foot of original reservoir lost forever. For the earth is far more than merely so much agricultural space. It is the great reservoir. When nature made the earth, she obviously set it up on this plan: The winter snows and the spring rains were to provide water for the summer days when, if plants are to grow, they must have warm, dry weather, for plants cannot stand continuous rains. The enormous quantity of water needed by agriculture must be the water that is already in the ground. Nature puts it there in the spring and fits the earth to hold it. The frosts have loosened the ground so it will absorb enormous quantities of water. Nature covers the earth with mulch, which prevents evaporation and erosion, and she feeds the water to the farm lands through springs and brooks and rivers. That is, she did—until men upset the scheme. We cut the forests, denuded the mountains, burned up their covering of duff, farmed the humus out of our fields, so that now much of our land will scarcely absorb or hold water and there is far less land to hold water. So it runs off in destructive floods that have been growing worse and worse. Thus we lose both the water and the soil eroded by the floods."

"I'll agree about the floods, but what about this loss of soil you mention. Is it really as bad as you think?"

"If we can believe statistics of the soil scientists, we find that when the Pilgrims came ashore at Plymouth Rock, only three hundred years ago, we had an average of nine inches of topsoil. Today we have six. And much of that is depleted. So far as actual soil is concerned, the same scientists tell us that every year—and note that—every year—we now lose 200,000,000 tons of topsoil through erosion. Where does that put you in another century?"

"But aren't we taking steps to stop that—with strip farming, contour plowing, and so on?"

"We are, and it is the most hopeful thing that I can think of. But we still need to wake up. All intelligent farmers have no doubt regretted the loss of soil through erosion. What they have not realized, I think, is that they are losing reservoir capacity as well. What I am concerned about is to get everybody who owns land—farmers, lumbermen, manufacturers—to wake up to what lies ahead. Too many folks laugh when you talk about a food shortage and point to our present huge food surpluses.

"Well, Dr. Vannevar Bush pointed out the other day that the world's population is now 2,500,000,000 and that it is estimated that in fifty years it will be 5,000,000,000. His solution for the problem is to limit population. But how can you do that?"

"However, I do know that with an altered agriculture—which must include more tree crops as well as field plants, we can feed immensely more folks than we can now with our present system alone. With our mountains and rough areas covered with chestnuts, oak trees, honey locusts, and like crop trees, we can feed vast numbers directly with the tree crops or through meat fattened on the tree crops. The pioneers all fattened their hogs on acorns, turning the animals loose in the forest. Cattle fairly love the seed pods of the honey locust and will desert other food for it. And locust trees, being legumes, put nitrogen in the soil. So I'm writing about tree crops, too."

"Then you think we ought to start raising food on our mountains as well as in our lowlands?"

"Perhaps not now, but eventually. Meantime, we could be getting ready, feeling out the situation, as it were. Take Italy, for instance. As everybody knows, her greatest problem is to feed the population she has now—a population that grows by leaps and bounds. She couldn't do it if it were not for the chestnut trees that cover the mountain slopes for miles and sustain great numbers of people. Well, we've got plenty of mountain slopes ourselves, that you can't by any possibility farm. But you can raise lots of food on them just as the Italians do—through tree crops."

"I get your idea. But how do you propose to bring this about?"

"I never can. But if we can get folks to thinking about the matter, and particularly to experimenting a bit, perhaps by planting rows of nut trees along their fields, or the best sorts of acorns on rough areas and pasturing hogs there, or setting out honey locusts on steep slopes or rough ground and seeing how the cattle respond, the end result is certain. If things that I might write make folks think about these matters, the end result is certain, although it takes time to accomplish it.

"I am convinced that farming methods must change somewhat, for although our farmers produce good crops, some of their methods are harming the earth itself. If we can get folks to thinking about the matter, sooner or later solutions will be found. See how long it took for us to start strip farming and contour plowing, and the making of farm ponds. We may even have to make swamps instead of draining them. They are part of nature's plan for watering the earth. As I see it the more nearly we can duplicate nature's methods, the more successful we shall be. Organic gardening is a big step forward. We have a big problem. Before we can solve it, we've got to make folks realize that there is a problem. What better job could a fellow do than to set folks to thinking about these very vital matters?"

Bucknell to Receive Great Books of Western World

Bucknell's Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library will receive one of the 1,600 sets of the Great Books of the Western World being distributed by the American Library Association under a grant from the Old Dominion Foundation.

The celebrated 54-volume work, including the unique index, the Syntopicon, was produced by the Encyclopaedia Britannica in collaboration with the University of Chicago.

There is no finer place to meet classmates and friends than on the pages of the Alumni Fund Contributor List.

EMERITUS CLUB

BIRTHDAYS

A birthday is a fine old thing
A lot of joy it sure may bring.
The trouble is they come so fast,
Each one's supply can't ever last.
But what of that, if while we live
A cheerful spirit Life will give!
And that it will, if we are smart
And nobly act our proper part.
Anyhow we'll let them come,
And with it all have lots of fun.

Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg is serving his fifth year as President of the Tourist Club of Daytona Beach, Florida. This year, 15 entertainments, including musical programs, travelogues, operettas, etc., are offered for a season membership fee of $2.00. Other members of the Bucknell family on the officer staff of the Club are Mrs. Rivenburg, seventh vice president, and Raymond G. Pierson '01, who has served as treasurer for several terms.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mrs. Evelyn Booth Humeston, Nov. 22, 1955. She was the widow of Edwin Alden ("Hummy") Humeston, a graduate of the class of '99 and a prominent football player and teammate of Christy Mathewson. Mrs. Humeston is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Don L. Larrabee and Mrs. William M. Whitten, Jr. and two sons, E. Alden Humeston, Jr., and John Alden Humeston. A sister, two brothers, and five grandchildren also survive.

We are sorry to report the death of Mrs. Myrtle S. Holter (Myrtle Smith). Mrs. Holter was a graduate of Bucknell University with the class of 1895 and was a music teacher for many years.

We also regret to report the death of Miss Nettie Parkhurst. Miss Parkhurst majored in music when she attended Bucknell in '06.

We are saddened to hear of the untimely bereavement suffered by John C. Johnson '04 in the death of his wife, Inez, on Dec. 26, 1955 from a coronary thrombosis. The sympathy of classmates is extended to Johnny and his daughter, Dorothy.

Dr. A. R. E. Wyant rejoices in West Palm Beach, Fla. over the Ford gift of more than a half million dollars to Bucknell and is glad that he helped to earn some of it by driving a Model T in 1908 and now a Lincoln Cosmopolitan. He hopes that General Motors will also come across as he drove a Cadillac for ten years.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

We are glad to report that Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bliss Mackey, Montrose, made a trip through California recently and stopped at the Hylbert home.

This is all the news that we have at this time. We hope that when members of the 1905 Class come to California they all may find their way to the Hylbert Ranch. We live about 30 miles east of Los Angeles.

Classmates—Don't forget our 50th Class Reunion on Alumni Day Sat., June 9, 1956. If you have any worthwhile suggestions, write Carl L. Millward, 526 North Front St., Milton, or phone Carl at Milton 143-J.

Carl is in charge of class celebration affairs and will welcome your support.

We regret to inform you of the death of Rev. John W. Green. Rev. Green was a retired Baptist clergyman, living in Philadelphia. He is survived by his wife, a son, a sister, four brothers and a half-brother, to whom we convey our sincere sympathies.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
Colgate University
Hamilton, N. Y.

The Grim Reaper is still swinging his fateful scythe. Frank Smigelsky died Dec. 13, 1955 at his home in Syracuse, N. Y., aged 69, following a heart attack.

Following his graduation with us, Frank taught mathematics for some time in the high school of his native city, Mt. Carmel, then transferred to Oklahoma City. At the outbreak of World War I, he enlisted in the field artillery, being discharged at war's end with the rank of first lieutenant.

In 1922, he came to Syracuse as an instructor in mathematics. For more than ten years, he was head of his department there, then transferred to chairmanship of the department in Nottingham High. In World War II, he served as captain in the Air Corps, rising during the war to the rank of major.

He was a past president of the Syracuse Teachers Association and of the Schoolmasters Club; former exalted ruler in the B. P. O. E.; and a member of various Masonic bodies.

He is survived by his wife, Nora; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Adler, now residing in France; four brothers and three sisters; four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

The esteem in which he was held in Syracuse is shown by the following editorial published Dec. 15, 1955 in The Post-Standard of that city:

"Frank D. Smigelsky, who died Tuesday at his home, was one of the best known educators in New York State. He was noted not only by the breadth of his knowledge of his chosen field, mathematics, but also for his enthusiasm for teaching.

He served in both world wars, becoming a lieutenant of artillery in the first and a major of the Air Corps in the second. He came to Syracuse in 1922 and had lived here since, becoming in 1938 the first mathematics supervisor appointed by the Board of Education.

His success as a teacher and his devotion to the profession for many years set a high standard for his associates, both in Syracuse and throughout the state."

Your reporter authored an article "Another Footnote on Church-State," published in the Oct. 1, 1955, issue of School and Society.

The "Footnote" comments on what seems to be an unhistorical criticism by Fr. Thurston Davis, S. J., on Freeman Butts' interpretation of Thomas Jefferson's use of certain words in his discussion of the relations of church and state. The "Footnote" states: "It is a truism in the study of language that any utterance must be interpreted in the light of the usage of the time and of the person." In the writer's opinion Fr. Davis has fallen victim to the "single meaning fallacy" in his definition of certain words.

The Rev. Alfred M. Whitby died at Madelia, Minn., on Sept. 12, 1955, of a stroke. A letter from his widow expresses the gratitude of the family that his taking off was sudden, so that he did not suffer; although he had been in fair health to the end. He had known for years of a heart condition which might be fatal at any time.

In college "Parson", as he was generally known, was a member of the "East Wing" gang, the second and third floor boys, who grew to expect his coming heralded by "a joyful noise before the Lord", for he loved to sing.

Following graduation he attended Rochester Theological Seminary (now Colgate-Rochester Divinity School). From a pastorate at Blairsville he moved to the North Central area, where he was pastor of Baptist churches in South Dakota, Wyoming, Minnesota and Iowa, returning then to Minnesota.

In 1917 he married Mabel Fanning of Madelia, who, with three daughters, survives him. Unable to attend the 40th Reunion of the class, he wrote: "I have learned in forty years that the ideals and spirit of Jesus furnish the best program for personal and international life." His own life has surely earned the Master's words, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Charles Francis Potter took time off from a busy life to write your correspondent a budget of news. As usual, he is immersed in research preparatory to publishing a few books. He has two destined to appear in 1956, three on the way for 1957. He swears that he will be back for our 50th, however. (But we remember some previous resolutions, Charles Francis. We'll certainly sue for breach of promise if you don't make it this time.)

At the moment he is doing his home work (not at home, of course, but in the N. Y. C. libraries) on the Dead Sea Scrolls, on which he is now lecturing; recently he spoke on them before the Baltimore Ethical Society. One of the books scheduled for '57 will be a sequel to his Faiths, which has had a surprising popularity in Scotland, Australia and South Africa.

For once C. F. has included a lot of family news. His wife Clara has been quite ill for several months, but is, we hope, on the way to recovery. His son Richard lives in Marysville, California, busy with planning superhighways and problems of water supply in that area, while his painter wife, Betty, sells her canvases of that Lassen Peak region. Frank resigned as editor of seven trade magazines to go into the field which he thinks most important in industry—labor and management relations. After special study at Cornell he is now looking for a high level position in this field. Myron came out of the service after World War II affected by epilepsy grand mal but is now recovered and, Potterlike, is writing a book about his experience. He is now residing in the Adirondacks.

Why don't some of the rest of you lazy duffers write me a similar detail about yourselves and yours?

Winnie Dickson Hardgrove has recently completed a trip through Europe covering seven countries, also through the southern states of the U. S. Winnie expects to go to California and the Hawaiian Islands in June.

It is with regret that we inform you of the death of our classmate, Mrs. Edson J. Lawrence (Mait S. Cathrall) on Christmas day. After graduation, Mait taught in the public schools of Rockaway, N. J., for four years. She was known for her active work in church and women's club affairs in Bloomfield and Newark. Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Mrs. Otis Purdie, a brother, Dr. F. H. Cathrall '14, a sister, Mrs. Clarence Mitten (Derua B. Cathrall '19), a niece, Mrs. William S. Eaton (Nancy L. Cathrall '51) and three grandchildren. Her classmates and the Bucknell family extend deepest sympathy to the survivors.

John C. Bank retired on November 1, 1955 and is now busy adjusting to a life of leisure.

"A smile, a laugh,
Maybe a tear;
A dream, a hope—
Another year."

The New Year seems to have given us everything in the way of weather. It has been very generous with rain, snow, sleet and ice.

Had Christmas greetings from Florence, Muff and Alice Scott; Panline and Patsy Henderson; Helen and Roy Clark; Ruby Stuck O'Leary; Petrona and Frank Hean; Renee and Roy Mickle; Pearl and Frank Williams; Marita Rockey (Fred's widow); Alberta and Dave McNeal; Margaret Harter and Ez Rothmell; Olive and Matt Haggerty; Louise and Fred Sieber; Mary Weiser and Tom; the Buck Shotts; Helen and Vic Schmid; Lib and Red Lowther; and Fred Iglar.

Leone Havice Wallace writes: "I have been working for a firm of accountants in Cleveland. Will continue through January, then prepare to leave for Florida to stay until May. I am counting on seeing you in 1957. In the meantime may you have a happy and prosperous New Year."

This from Helen Ruth: "I must tell you that I always look forward to your news item. It is always very interesting. You wondered why I seemed to change my address frequently. To make a long story short, I have made my life work and interest the organization and running of school libraries. This interest began when I taught in New Orleans the first year I was out of college. I took up the work at Tulane University because there weren't any other subjects available. I started in Reading, then went to Mahanoy Twp. School. I taught in T. C. at Temple Summer School, also at the N. J. Library School at Ocean City in the summer. When I went to Trenton, I stayed a long time. Retired and am now in Jr. and Sr. High School of my home town, Oxford.

I couldn't get to class reunion in 1952 on account of my aging mother. I wanted to be with her as much as possible. She passed away in July of that year. I am looking forward to the next reunion."

Violet Wetterau Naumann writes: "I enjoyed your very realistic description of 'our college days'. Louis and I spent Christmas with Betty in Pittsburgh. It really is lovely with the family in different parts of the country. Here's to a good New Year to you and yours and a Happy Christmas."

Eva H. Apgar: "I am looking forward to our 45th Reunion, doesn't seem it is so near at hand. I hope everyone will look as well as at the 40th."

Merton Ogden: You are doing a swell job as class secretary, and the Ogden family wishes you the best Christmas holiday ever. I have no news for your column, but I promise to attend the next reunion—that is if I am still ambulatory by then and I plan to be. Seriously, '08-'12 were my best years and I didn't know it. Now I hope to go back to Lewisburg often and see the members of the class '12.

"Dear Maze, et ux? ? ?

This little card has been waiting for nearly a month to take its little trip. Somewhere I have your address, but too carefully hidden away. I found the first name of your husband, even the house number, but I couldn't send it to Mr. and Mrs. Maze—. I had not saved any Alumni magazines, grand as your literary offerings therein are. I'll be on hand in June 1957. Rip."

Art Waltz: "Your news items are 'tops'. Keep looking forward to each new number to get the low-down. See Fred Iglar often. Keep up your pep for our next reunion. Looking forward even though it's still 18 months away."

"You have no idea how many times I think of interesting items for your column, but there either isn't any pen or paper near, or there isn't any time to write the brilliant thoughts. We'll be looking forward to reading your next gems of wisdom and to seeing you at Commencement." Alberta and Cleveland Conner.

(Reporter's Note: I'm going to provide Alberta with a little kit in which to carry her tools. It certainly would help my column.)

"Happy New Year to you and all the members of our class still surviving."

Bob Meyer

I sometimes wonder if you folks know when our class reports go to the printer. We have five issues. The deadlines are: August 11, for September; October 6, for November; December 8, for January; February 2, for March; April 5, for May.

So when you read my Christmas news in March don't think "I'm off my rocker." I'm a little tottery under foot but I hope I'm still in my right mind. Write me your troubles, I don't have any.

13 MR. CHARLES L. SANDERS
76 Walnut Street
Mifflinburg, Penna.

Rev. John D. W. Fetter writes that he expects to retire June 30 after 40 years as Baptist University pastor at Cornell University. Rev. Fetter plans to remain in Ithaca and take on part-time responsibilities yet to be determined.

A reply letter from Marion E. Fischler your reporter wishes could be printed verbatim. Here is just a little of it. Telling of teaching experiences in N. Y., N. J., and Penna., in German, French, Spanish, Latin, English, and Mathematics, Marion writes: "Having an old-type certificate, I was certified to teach all of these things, and you would be surprised to know how many more. Whenever a class was left over in any department, it was always mine. I've always been so glad I couldn't sing." Referring to compensation, she says, "it is a feeling of security . . . should I get into difficulty any place east of the Mississippi River, some one would show up to rescue me and he would be one of my former students." For the past two years Marion has been employed by the Wellsboro Gazette, and has also been doing the Wellsboro correspondence for the Williamsport Sun-Gazette, and recently also for the Corning (N. Y.) Leader. In closing, "Should you and Mrs. Sanders again be in Wellsboro, either for the Institute or to see the pretty flowers that I grow." Marion's address is 56 Walnut Street, Wellsboro.

After retirement in 1952 from his position with the N. Y. Shipbuilding Corporation, Camden, N. J., George Campuzano lived for two years in Vero Beach, Fla., then returned north to Marlton, N. J., but in mid-January wrote as follows: "Here I am again in Florida. We have finally decided this is the place for us. I have a nice, small home in Meadow Lawn, which is part of St. Petersburg, and I think I will like it. I expect to see a lot of ball games here this spring." Address: 7465 15th St., North.

Yes, there were a few holiday greeting cards from classmates. You know it makes a person feel good 42 years after just to see a signature of a pal or gal of college days. It was pleasing to note too that L. Earl Jackson ("Deak," you know) and wife "had a superb vacation thrill: an air trip to Mexico City via Miami, Havana, Yucatan; four great weeks in Mexico City; home by way of El Paso and Carlsbad." The Jacksons seem very happy in their Prospect Park pasture. Then, too, Marwood Glover told of a jaunt to Florida, a conversation there with Forrest Dunkle, presumably by telephone; a visit of a few hours with Richard Bowling in Norfolk, Va., on the return journey. And so classmates of college days do get together. "Should auld acquaintance be forgot?" No, really No.

"Prexy Sal," Howard V. Fisher, reports that after stomach surgery of last June he is well on the way to a successful recovery. "I am careful about what I eat, eat less at a time and more often. Otherwise I would not know that I was subjected to surgery. I am looking forward to the Reunion next June and I hope it will be well attended." Howard's letter came from 105 Banana St., Tarpon Springs, Fla., where his mother and a sister now reside. His address on our class roster should now read 1319 Reading Blvd., Wyomissing.

Mary Kunkel writes in her nice reply to our request for news, "Registrar's Office has been moved to second floor of Roberts Hall. When the walls of the lounge get a coat of paint we will be ready for visitors. Alumni Office has been moved to the ground floor of East College. You will probably need a conducted tour to find folks the next time you come back. Drop in any time, we will be glad to see you."

From Ruth Hoffa Rice, "Have good news about Jack, the cardiograph yesterday showed decided improvement. The Doctor said he could go up to the Lab, several hours a day now and could teach one class next semester. Of course the scar is not entirely healed and he will need much rest even yet but he doesn't feel so restricted." This note is dated December 19, 1955 and we are all glad for the encouraging report.

From Florence Reimensnyder, "My news is nil. Mary's death from a 'Coronary' last March has left me without a rudder in life. I hope I get settled this spring. I am fairly well except for a cold." Our sincere sympathy to you, Florence, in your bereavement.

Frances McNall writes after more than a year of retirement, "I'm still too busy. However, I love it." Thanks Frances, but a few details, please. Mention must be made of a deserved honor in the dedication of the Oakmont Yearbook to Frances this past year. She was a long time adviser to the staff and brought honors to the high school many times.

From our Rabbi friend and classmate, S. H. Markowitz, "I spent last summer in Taxco, Mexico, studying the process of amalgamation of ancient Indian cultures. How the religion of many of the villages in Central Mexico, while nominally Catholic, has retained some, and in a few cases, many customs and practices whose origin can be traced back to pre-Christian times. I went there in order to learn something about the adaptive powers of primitive peoples. I don't think Bucknell Alumni are particularly interested in details of such a study. But I am glad to report that for the second time I am a grandfather. David Jeffrey Markowitz was born September 28th last. His mother took time out from her legal research at the University of Pennsylvania Law School to insure his safe arrival." On the contrary, your reporter finds your studies most interesting and I am sure many of the Alumni will agree.

Edna Whittam Glover reminds us of the flight of time and urges all who can to return to Lewisburg for Commencement June 8-11. Let us heed her advice.

The Stahler and Apgar Christmas greetings were received. They are well and happy.

Requests for information addressed to Wilma Knapp Morrow and Helen Waite Lawrence were returned. News of their whereabouts will be gratefully received.

16 Rev. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
144 W. 122th St.
New York, N. Y.

R. G. Davis plans to get back for the 40th Reunion. Lives at 17 Mitchell Drive, Pittsburgh, 28. Bringing his wife (Betty Redelin '17), a daughter (Betty Davis McVicker '39) and granddaughter (Kathy McVicker), a prospect for 1963. Has been in Pittsburgh for the past ten years.

Carrie Foresman Jones writes, "Your letter reminded me that I am getting old. Somehow for me that has been hastened by a paralytic stroke and for the last nine years, I have had to spend a lot of time learning to walk on 1½ feet and to work with one hand. . . . Phil is about to be retired after 40 years being dairy herd manager at Pennsylvania State University. We are both ready to have a motorized trailer and hit the road."

Mrs. Russel R. Stout (Olive Park), Lost Creek, W. Va., sent us a houndfinger of a letter which we will preserve for the Reunion. Says she hasn't been back since the fifth anniversary. Has five children all of whom are doing big things.

John R. Kurtz, 842 East Maple Ave., Pahrump, and Dr. Sam Davenport at 137 South Maple Ave., Kingston, answered our Christmas letter to the class with pictures of themselves and some interesting data. Sam is quite a Kiwanian with a 12 year perfect score for attendance. That beats his chapel record if our memory serves us correctly. He is an elder in the Methodist Church. It was 43 years ago this past Christmas that we went to the Student Volunteer Convention in Kansas City, Mo. Sam was recently elected a fellow in the National Industrial Medical Association. As for Kurtz, a testimonial dinner was tendered him May 6, 1954 after serving as Superintendent of Schools in Vandergrift. He also taught at Goddard in 1912-13.

Dayton Ranck has moved from 35 Market St., to 108 South 15th St. and will entertain us during the afternoon of the Reunion Day, Sat., June 9, 1956.

Does any one know the address of Mrs. Theresa Phillips (Theresa McCollum)? Last address was Route 3, Meshoppen.

Charles Eugene Tilton after a long and illustrious pastorate in Salem, N. J., moved to Waverly, Penna. where he is taking it easier. His wife, Mabel is doing some fine writing for Baptist periodicals. They have had two boys at Bucknell.

"Shorty" Snyder is still as somnambulent as ever. We never had a peep from him and his side-kick Bigler after our Christmas letter. And that goes for a lot of you GUYS and DOLLS of '16. Loosen up and send us some word for these columns.

Cecile McCollum of 17 Spruce St., Montrose, after graduating from the Music Department, began teaching piano in homes through the country during summer months. When schools began to teach instruments, pupils got instruction there. After teaching until 1939, she became an Avon representative, gradually giving up teaching.

Dear Helen and Eric:

Ever since THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS announced that Eric was to take over for Amy as our class reporter I've been thinking of all of you. This is just to tell you so. I'm sorry Amy, you are not tiptop and hope it is nothing serious. Both Fred and I are taking pills. Fred says he is going to raise snakeroot that makes Rauwolfia, or whatever it is, when we get up in Sussex County, N. J. He thinks he'll soon make a million since so many are taking it. And by the way, we hope to move up there this spring.

Eric, I'm glad you are taking over for Amy because I'm sure you will enjoy that touch with Bucknell. I always look for any news of our '16ers as soon as the magazine comes. And I do hope we can

ARE YOU?

Did you know that you may or may not be living? Dr. William Thompson, Jr. discovered he was both when he received his copy of the Class of 1925 Anniversary Book. Don't laugh. This could happen to you. Though this was not Dr. Thompson's work. It seems that in compiling the list of missing and gone for the Reunion Book, the clerk in haste to make the Reunion deadline, spotted the wrong card in the Bucknell Alumni Master Card file. And in the recheck against the Class Roster, the discrepancy was overlooked. Won't you please keep in touch with us frequently— noting all address changes? This won't be a guarantee against being bumped off, but it will help. And then the Alumni Fund office won't be jolted when a check comes in from someone apparently in another world. Thank.

work up a good Reunion this year. I am mentioning it to any I contact. It is such a satisfaction and joy to see old friends. At Homecoming I had a grand visit with Ruth and Al Hamlin. They hope to be at the Reunion.

By the way, Mary Jones Carlson had a new address on her Christmas card: 115 Gulfstream Rd., Palm Beach, Fla.

We visited our families during the Christmas season in Johnstown and Pittsburgh. That was fun.

Our summer at the cabin ended in a hurry when "old man Delaware" rose forty feet during the night. Caught three of us asleep and we walked through a corn field in water up to our waists. We got out too quickly to be frightened but were very thankful to reach high ground. So were the snakes, woodchucks and other animals who swam to safety along with us. The cabin stayed put but the furniture on the porches and outside was washed away and all on the first floor destroyed. So now we'll have a refurnishing job to do before the families come next summer. What an experience!

When we get to Sussex County none of you will be too far away and I hope you will come to see us. We'll let you know when and where.

Cecilia (Kitlowski) Starzynski's present address is 136 S. Market St., Nanticoke. Her son Teddy is a commander in the Navy. He returned last May from Japan to the U. S. Naval Hospital in Philadelphia.

Fred Brenner wrote as soon as he returned from Europe. His son, Fred Jr., has been a resident of Germany (at the request of Uncle Sam) for over a year. Fred Jr. accumulated leave and he and his Dad and Mother toured southern Germany and Switzerland. Then the seniors continued their trip through Austria, Italy and France. It was a wonderful trip and visit. While away, son Dick, handled the Brenner insurance business at Hollidaysburg, where Fred established his business in 1919. Fred Jr. '51 and Dick '49 are both in the business with their father.

Had the nicest letter from Ruth Barthold Gearhart who lives in Stroudsburg. She said the years at Bucknell seemed far away yet in the note received they seemed most vivid and near. Ruth tells us that since her husband's death she has been connected with the Children's Aid Society of Penna. on the local level as a case worker. She has found the work absorbing and rewarding as one can't grow old in a children's organization. Her daughter Joan graduated from the University of Vermont in 1949 and is married to William Hamilton of Newark, Del. Joan is assistant registrar of the University of Delaware, with which she has been connected since 1949. Son Pete graduated from Franklin and Marshall this year and while waiting out his draft status is employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the Sanitation Department. Ruth is happy to report that they escaped flood damage because they are situated on a hill. She is planning to return for our 40th.

Earl Grace just came out of the hospital after an operation so he hurriedly dropped me a note for my deadline. He spent two years overseas in World War I. Has two sons who have both served four years in the Air Corps. Since 1921 Earl has been in the automobile parts and accessories business. He used to be active in the American Legion. During World War II and the Korean War he gave two gallons of blood to the Red Cross. Last winter he had a nice chat with Irvin Sowers, the only one of our class Earl has seen since leaving school. He says his only spectacular achievements are 38 years of happily married life, two grown sons and three grandchildren. His hobby is growing flowers, iris and chrysanthemums being his specialties. Earl, I think that is pretty wonderful.

Raleigh Felton has two sons who are associated with him in the retail lumber and concrete business in South Boston, Va. They have three plants: So. Boston, Clarksville and So. Hill, Va. Last year Raleigh and Mrs. Felton travelled to South America via Delta Steamship Lines and had a very pleasant visit with Mr. Harry X. Kelly '13, MA '19, who is president of the lines. Harry lives in New Orleans, La. They had a wonderful time talking about Bucknell days. The Feltons have three grandchildren. Raleigh's hobby is fishing off the South Carolina coast where they have a summer home at Pawley's Island. In 1937-38, he was Commander of the American Legion, Dept. of Va. He and Mary were leaving the day after he wrote to me to spend a vacation in Florida. He is setting aside the date of our 40th Reunion in 1957.

An old Lewisburg pal, Jeanette Owens Fogarty, says they have moved to Florida permanently. Her husband, Tom, has been ill and they have decided to return to a warmer climate which seems to agree with him better. They have chosen Winter Park for their new home and like it very much. They have a large lot and boast of a dozen orange trees in their backyard. They may have seen some of us in February when they came to Philadelphia to attend their son's wedding.

Brick Yon has been ill but has recovered sufficiently to go to Florida to enjoy the sun and catch up on some relaxation. He is such a wonderful fellow. We all hope he will soon be his old self again.

Montoursville, Penna.

Dear Classmates of 1918:—Time again for another letter to you and about you. This time I guess it will have to be addressed to you since none of you were interested enough to answer my last plea for information. I am sure that some of you have some interesting items to give us—and I am also sure that not all of you are too modest to write about yourself, your interests and your families. So, please, do answer my letters. I have a brand new list of class members and I am sure you have been receiving my requests, because your addresses do not change.

I have been reading Dr. Lewis Theiss's history of Bucknell and I most certainly recommend it to one and all as most exciting. You acquire respect for your Alma Mater and its Founders that I am sure you never had before reading the book. It is tops.

Please, Classmates, come to my rescue.

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON

Lewisburg, Penna.

After 35 years of teaching in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 30 years of this time in teacher education, Dr. Thomas S. Heim is to have this semester off on sabbatical leave. Dr. and Mrs. Heim plan to make a 60-day tour of Europe during April and May. They hope to make it back for Commencement in June. At last year's Class Reunion "Tommy" was elected an officer in his class.

Dr. Heim began his teaching in the Williamsport school system and from there went to State Teachers' Colleges, the past number of years serving as head of the social studies department at West Chester State Teachers College.

Fellow Classmates:

Are you aware that we'll be celebrating our 35th in June? As a special feature we are planning a Reunion Book, with the assistance of the Alumni Office, containing facts about each of us. But,—it'll be up to you to send in the information about your family, your achievements and experiences, or whatever you'd like to tell us. Don't feel you're being egotistical about divulging your news because we want to know about you. Please send your data promptly when you get your questionnaire. You can help by doing your bit now. Please don't put it off!

22 MR. PHILIP C. CAMPBELL

Danville, Penna.

William J. Irvin, district manager in Trenton, N. J. for Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., has qualified for Israel Putnam, top category of the company's Honor Roll for sales representatives. Qualification is based on outstanding sales performance. Bill and his wife, the former Carol L. Maynard, live at 202 Hillcrest Ave., Trenton.

24 MRS. PAUL CUPP
(Louise Benschoff)
933 Muirfield Road,
Bryn Mawr, Penna.

Rev. Malcolm V. Mussina, 904 Louisa Street, Williamsport, was elected to the Williamsport school board in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Shaffer (Elma Streeter), 358 Pershing Drive, New Kensington, announce the marriage of their son, Charles '54 on December 26 to Shirley Hurst of Newport, Tenn. They plan to live in Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Horner (Mary C. Lape), 401 Linden Ave., Johnstown, announce the marriage of their son, Thomas, Jr. to Jacqueline Anderson of Colorado Springs. He is completing his college education at Kansas University on a football scholarship—has served his two years with "Uncle Sam" and had two years at William and Mary.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

I had a Christmas card from Mr. and Mrs. Brown Focht (Florence Utt). It was grand to hear from them, and to see their pictures taken on July 31 at 8:30 P. M. with four little Eskimo friends at Kotzebue, Alaska's oldest Eskimo village. It must have been a delightful trip.

By the way, Florence is helping to round up our group for the reunion June 9. We hope to see as many as can possibly attend. Remember what a marvelous time we had five years ago. In the meantime, drop me a line or two about what you are doing so that all of us can be up-to-date when we get together in Lewisburg.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Dear Classmates:

What a grand and glorious feeling to be able to start this chat with 23 responses from those of you who received a questionnaire from the Alumni Office! I almost feel as though I've hit the jackpot. Since I can't possibly include all of your answers this time, I'll list them in the order in which they were postmarked. So—please be patient. Don't let that keep the rest of you from writing.

The first note came from Virginia Scully White, who, with her husband, Jack, has been living at 3944 Fourth St., Riverside, Calif., for the past ten years. She writes that she and her husband had a part in starting the National Square Dance Association six years ago, having held the presidency, jointly, of the local association (40 clubs) for the past three years. Riverside, she writes, is about an hour's drive from Los Angeles or Palm Springs. Then came word from William Boben from Wilkes-Barre, who is chief surgeon at the Wyoming Valley Hospital, and the proud possessor of a 200-acre island off the coast of Florida! How about inviting us to hold our 50th Reunion on your island, Bill? If they gave us canes to use at our 25th Reunion you'll probably have to supply wheel chairs! Mary Konkle Koopman of 4435 Albermarle St., N. W., Washington, D. C., is the mother of two daughters and the wife of John Koopman. Her post college days, she writes, have been filled with family and civic duties. Harold Webber, of 127 Spruce St., Lewisburg, reports that both of his children are now married. How soon can we call you "Grandpa"? During these intervening years he has kept quite close at "home", having been associated with the Penna. R. R. and Penna. Department of Highways, and is now serving as personnel director and purchasing agent of the Lewisburg Furniture Co. He is also actively engaged as a member of the General Council of the Evangelical and Reformed Church Laymen's Group. James E. Sugden, formerly of Sunbury, has recently been appointed business development manager of the Penna. Power & Light Co., Schuylkill Division, and is now living in Pottsville. Betty Lawson writes that although she gets to visit Bucknell yearly from her Illinois home, it is in the summertime due to the fact that since 1939 she has been acting dean of women of Eastern Illinois State College since receiving her Ph.D. from New York University. Earl Gill, who has been living with his family in Lewisburg since 1939 where he is a member of the high school faculty, is presently serving as the president of the Kiwanis Club in Lewisburg. H. Rae Young, who lives with his family at 4511 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, writes that he is now the owner of the Central Business School at 323 Market St., Harrisburg, following 20 years spent as a teacher in Pennsylvania classrooms. Phoebe Bloomfield Lauderbaugh and Al Lauderbaugh, with their son Albert, live at 38 S. Wade Ave., Washington, Penna. Elizabeth Sherer Budihal of 524 Mahoning St., Lehighton, has been teaching Latin in the high school there since the death of her husband five years ago. We extend to you our deepest sympathy, Betty, at the loss of your husband. Helen McElravy Buzzell is living at 203 N. 4th St., Old Town, Maine, with her husband and daughter, Betty, who is now a sophomore at the University of Maine. Incidentally, her husband has been mayor of Old Town and has served on the governor's staff. As for Helen, household duties, Girl Scouts, and club duties have kept her out of mischief. And still there's news—but I'll just have to wait until the next issue of the ALUMNUS to give you a peep at it. I doubt whether the powers that be will print this much, but just send along the news, nevertheless! What doesn't get printed I'll tell you about at our 30th Reunion, which by the way, is just 10 months away!

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Penna.

Plan now to meet us on the campus June 9!

Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Snyder (Ruth Weidemann) have sent word to us of their intention to be present for the 25th Reunion in June.

Paul M. Showalter is serving his second term as District Attorney of Union County, having taken his oath of office January 2. Paul and Kitty (Kathryn Graham '33) live at 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, and have two sons, Paul, Jr. and Graham.

Watch for your letter from the Planning Committee for our 25th Reunion. When you get it, answer it promptly. The success of the event lies with you—and you—and YOU!

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
Allentown, N. J.

A daughter, Joann Charlotte, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. P. Coates on Dec. 20, 1955. They have two other children, both boys.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Penna.

Class, each of you, please do answer on the self-addressed card, my letter sent to you on January 19.

I am waiting for some news from you, Donald C. Lane of Branford, Conn. You promised to send me some early this year of 1956—remember?

Samuel Stern, who is living in Morristown, N. J., has recently been elected as director of the Morris Plains Savings & Loan Association.

It is with deep regret that we report the death of Mary Rhodes Cook, wife of Franklin Cook. Mrs. Cook, a graduate of Duke University, came to State College from her home in Chattanooga, Tenn. with her husband who is an associate professor at State College. She was employed there as home economics librarian and then as head of forestry library. She is survived by her mother, her husband, a sister, a brother, and one son, Franklin Rhodes Cook, to all of whom heartfelt sympathies are extended.

Harry J. Meyer is teacher of physics at Woodbridge High School, Woodbridge, N. J. He has been associated with this school system for the past 22 years. He married his wife, Pennie in 1940, and has two daughters—Pamela born in 1948 and Susan born in 1953. His residence is 390 New Brunswick Ave., Fords, N. J.

John Mohr, 1208 W. 38th St., Los Angeles 3E, Calif., says an item has been missed by the Alumni magazine although not by Time, Christian Science Monitor, nor Chicago Tribune. "Tommy (T. M.) Little '31, now of the University of California, Riverside has been one of two principal heroes in the fight for academic freedom at U. of Nevada, Reno, the principal issue being the right of the faculty to speak openly in defense of educational standards. A fragmentary account certainly not giving Tom his due" was contained in Russell Kirk's 'Academic Freedom', Regnery, 1955."

John also raises a pertinent question of a "Discussion on U. S. C. Senate Committee on Alarms and Budget raised a question in my mind on a couple of matters never broached in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS—What are current salary scales for professors at Bucknell? How is the Bucknell University Library coming along?"

From my good friend, Franklin Bower in Madison, Conn. comes a note that is very encouraging to your class reporter—"Jan, please believe me; none of us wants to let you down. We just get busy in the day-to-day routine; and then too, for many of us, things we may feel worth reporting never happen to us. Like me, for instance; no births, no deaths, no promotions, no divorces, no marriages in the family. I was back for the day of Homecoming in 1954 and was proud to see how the Alma Mater grows. Saw Joe Bellmeyer, the Cook boys, Sam Bernstein and a couple other classmates. Mrs. Bower, our two girls and I had a wonderful trip to Florida in October and that was exciting. Aside from that, the life of a country parson is my meat and drink." Wish Franklin were my parson—guess he is. He's the class's parson!

Ann M. Graybill writes, "My father died quite unexpectedly on Nov. 13, so I am spending more time at home with my mother at Clover-Nook, Refton, Penna. I practically commute to Philadelphia where I am still working as Program Director of the Christian Association at the University of Pennsylvania, at 3601 Locust Street. Bucknellians from the Class of 1933, telephone me at EV-1530."

Loren P. Bly, M.D. of Cuba, N. Y. has a son, Loren Lewis Bly, who plans to be in Bucknell this fall and a daughter who her father hopes will be there in 1970. He concludes "so I expect to be more than casually interested in Bucknell for a number of years. Best wishes." And best wishes to you, Doc.

Emily Buck Bell reports that she is kept very busy by four active children—ages from 11 to 1½ years. "We enjoy living in Vermont very much and so do the children."

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Believe it or not! I have heard from none of you these past three months other than signed Christmas cards. How can our class have news in every issue of the ALUMNUS if you don't cooperate? Please just send me a two-cent card with some pertinent information if only to let me know we're still a "living class."

I read in the Long Island Press, whose circulation is the largest in the metropolitan area, that Rev. Richard A. Curnow, of 241-14 Memphis Ave., Rosedale 22, L. I., N. Y., had been responsible for the Brotherhood and Inter-faith cooperation in that community. He opened his church to the Jewish residents there and with the help of other Protestant clergy the entire community is now working together with new residents and will continue to do so after they get their proposed Temple. What a good neighbor he must be and he's showing the Bucknell spirit as well as his Christian spirit.

My husband met and chatted with John B. Dempsey at the January Alumni meeting in the Chicago area. Bill reported that Jack looks wonderful and is very busy, as is his wife Anne Culbertson Dempsey '38 with their three youngsters, Dyanne, Claire and John. Wish I could have been there . . . haven't seen the Dempseys since 1949 at our 15th Reunion.

Don't forget Alumni Weekend in June and be sure to give to the Alumni Fund. For every two dollars you give, Mr. Rush Kress '00 will give an additional dollar.

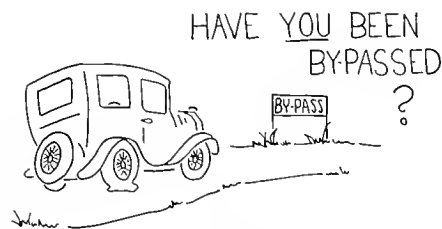

The Ford Foundation and the Esso Education Fund will certainly be more impressed with our fine Alma Mater if the Alumni Fund keeps growing. Perhaps even other great foundations will then be more willing to help us keep our University on top.

Dorothy M. Moody, who has spent the last few years teaching in Bridgeton, N. J., always find time to do some travelling. This past year, while on a trip to Europe, Dorothy attended School Affiliation Conference in Jergenheim an der Bergstrasse, Germany.

We were so sorry to hear about Mel and Jane LeMon's (Jane Orwig) automobile accident late in the summer. They were returning home from visiting Mel's family in Utah when their car was struck and completely demolished. Jane and Mel spent almost two weeks in the hospital. We had such a gay time with Jane at Reunion and the beautiful new car was such a help during that rainy week end. We certainly were sorry to hear of its untimely demise.

Marion Root Frank and Howard '36 have bought a lovely apartment building in Trenton. They moved into their own apartment during Reunion Week. Marion Have you been by-passed on opportunities to work for Bucknell? Perhaps you have never been contacted, or are hesitant to volunteer. No alumni group near you? We'll admit that our group chairmen are sometimes in a rut (a very pleasant rut with pleasant people) but we need many others to pitch in, so here is your chance right now to volunteer for any kind of job your Alma Mater has to offer. Perhaps one that you would like is filled at present—but are you sure that person isn't just holding it until a good replacement is found? So be frank and prompt—tell what you would like to do, and the Alumni Office will put you to work as soon as possible.

(Coupon to be cut and mailed)

Dear Buck:

I would like to be a loyal, enthusiastic, and ACTIVE Alumnus, so may I take this opportunity to volunteer for the following job:

- Fund worker
- Class reporter
- High School Contact Committee
- Alumni Welcoming Committee
- Publicity Committee

Name _____ Class _____

Address _____

and Howard enjoyed entertaining Paul and Peg Peters (Peg Weddell) and two darling boys. Marion reports that they were models of deportment, but a bit difficult to understand. We hope Peg and her family are back home after their long sea voyage and that they visit the States soon.

Eleanor Wermouth Henry is working in Ardmore, as a secretary at the Hood Chemical Co. She is my correspondent in Pennsylvania these days, and we keep in close touch so send her news if you can't remember my address. She often sees Bucknellians from the Philadelphia area.

I certainly would appreciate getting some news from members of the class—you can't be entirely snowed in for the winter. I am an extremely busy person this year and haven't time to ferret out the news. I am a core teacher at the local Jr. H. S. (Arundel), attend Johns Hopkins and take daughter Diane to the Peabody Conservatory for cello lessons. Besides that, I seem to have acquired the job of assistant scout leader for Diane's troop. Besides that, I cope with the wild life son Joe brings home, and have just gone through a week of funerals for a puppy and parakeet. We enjoy country living, but find ourselves busier than ever. I hope one of your New Year's resolutions stipulated more news for the class column. I have lost my vivid imagination and refuse to bore you further with personal news items.

Bobbie Duane (Mrs. James Matthews) '35 reports via her annual newsy Christmas card that her son, Dave, is attending St. Lawrence University, her husband's Alma Mater. Bobbie has been doing pastel portraits of her children and wears blue jeans constantly. (She is one of the few I know who can even get into them!) Husband Jim is working now at Republic Aircraft.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
124 S. Fifth St., Lewisburg, Penna.

Under the expert guidance of our Class President, Charles Kottcamp, our Reunion Chairman, Howard Clark, and our Reunion Book Editor, Eric Stewart, plans are taking shape rapidly for our 20th Reunion in June. Alumni Headquarters report that ours was the first of the reunion classes to supply both the questionnaire and the covering letter for the first mailing of the 1956 Reunion. Eric reports that the questionnaire returns are revealing some very interesting news of our class members.

Do you know who of our class are on TV every week, exhibit paintings in many cities, conduct archaeological studies in the Near East, and who is a rug manufacturer, using machines he invented???

These and many other interesting facts will be found in the '36 Reunion Book. If you have put your questionnaire away, get it in the mail today. We need it.

So far, the questionnaire received from the greatest distance was from Jane Phelan Jett from Mill Valley, Calif. Jane is busy helping to "build our nearly completed home and raise a family." As a Navy officer's wife, she is happy to settle down after years of trekking from coast to coast.

Some class members are asking about buying a Reunion Book if they cannot attend the Reunion. The book will be distributed at the Reunion in June. A few copies will be available after that date.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pluto (Irene Lewski) announce the birth of their second child, Patrica, born Nov. 8, 1955. Their daughter Charlene is now 4½ years of age.

Alberta Rutgers (Mrs. Irving Conover) '36 has a new daughter since our last report—Rachel, aged two. Bert and her husband now have a happy family of six children. Their address is 2233 Hanover St., Aurora, Colo. Bert's husband is an industrial engineer with Minneapolis-Honeywell and attends Denver University at night. She reports that they like Colorado very much.

Betty Sindle Clavell, San Juan, Puerto Rico and her children, Judy, 13 and Sandy, 8, are spending several months in Lewisburg with Betty's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. George Irland. Betty says that the children find life in Lewisburg quite different from that in San Juan. They have been enjoying ice skating on the Susquehanna.

37 MR. SIGMUND STOLER
215 Chestnut Street
Sunbury, Penna.

A thousand pardons to Walter R. Geier for the exaggerated report of his death in our January issue.

Thank goodness, Walt is a reader of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. As soon as he found his death reported, he wrote us as follows:

"In the January issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, you report what to me is an astounding fact—my death. Please believe that I still live quite happily with my wife and two daughters in Rocky Mount, N. C."

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Road
Wayne, Penna.

Thanks are due to Leonard O. Friedman for his work as class fund manager for our group during the past few years. You may have noticed that the fund letter this year was signed by Robert E. Smith, president of our class. We are happy to announce that beginning July 1, the duties of class fund manager will be performed by William H. Roberts, 1340 Putnam Ave., Plainfield, N. J. Let's all rally to support our class effort in the Alumni Fund.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrima)
Pattison, Texas

Spring will be just about to appear and the "Hill" will be covered with bluets as this bursts upon the scene. But as it is compiled, the tag ends of Christmas are just on their way out.

Christmas brought a flurry of cards and, as a result of the practically non-existent column last issue, the new year also produced some news-bearing mail.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Diblin and son have moved from Carlisle to Lewisburg. Joe is employed by Lycoming Division of AVCO in Williamsport and, at present, the family is making its home with Mrs. Diblin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Amiller.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Fisher had their second child, Cherry Lee, November 2, 1955.

I wish we could reproduce the clever Christmas card—silhouettes of the family featured—which was received from Les McDowell. Les spent two weeks at Newport this past summer, but the Navy school he attended was "so filled with talkative lawyers that (he) turned to Newport's antiques, and spent his spare time crawling through attics and cellars of Newport's old houses." He still belongs to the Chatham Navy unit and attends drills fortnightly. He is active in the Chatham Historical Society, and reads dozens of books on antiques. He and his wife, Janet—a Wilson alumna—and their daughters Heather, 11, and Sheila, 9, live at Fieldstone, 12 Edgehill Ave., Chatham, N. J. Les and Glenn Eshelman, who lives about a mile distant, can keep up a private little Sig Ep chapter, as they see each other often.

The Christmas card of the Tom Meyers '41 (Marion Phillips '43) was cheerfully embellished by a picture of their five pretty daughters. Following the signature of Marion and Tom: "Peggy, Kathy, and Mary say 'Me too'; Ruth and Naomi say 'Wee two'."

THE TOM MEYERS CHILDREN

The William Christians (Helen "Sandy" Sanders) have moved to 61 Broad St., Nanticoke.

Bob Stanton took time to dash off a welcome letter the day before he left for New York City. He assumed his position there as general manager of the American Manufacturing Co. on January 1. He has been with Jones and Laughlin, Wire Rope Division plant at Muncy since 1941. He will be missed in that community, I am sure, as he was, at the time he left, a member of the Muncy Joint School Board, an active member of the Muncy Baptist Church and on the Board of Deacons, director of the Baptist Sunday School orchestra, assistant Sunday School superintendent, and a teacher of the men's class and member of the senior choir. Bob is a past president of the Muncy Rotary Club. He is also a leader in the West Branch Supervisor's Club.

Two notes of sympathy:

To Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Green (Marion Reynolds '41), whose daughter, Ellen Elizabeth, 4½, died of cancer May 17, 1955. She leaves a brother, Richard, 8.

The death of Elizabeth Talley Decker '37, wife of John C. Decker '36, on August 6, 1955, of bulbar poliomyelitis, was especially upsetting personally, as the three of us had enjoyed dinner with the Deckers the last day we were in Pennsylvania.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean Steele)
1518 Westmoreland Ave.
Syracuse, N. Y.

Donald E. Wilson has been information officer for the U. S. Information agency in Denmark for two years. His address is c/o The American Embassy, Copenhagen, Denmark.

Charles L. (Pat) Pattison and family are living at 187 Princeton Ave., Corning, N. Y. He is quality control manager of the Corning Glass Works main plant. They have three children, Jean, 8; Chuck, 6, and Johnny, 4.

Walter Biddle is freight agent at Roaring Spring. He has been drum major of the Joffa Temple band of Altoona for the past ten years; and in 1955 was the Grand Royal Patron of the Order of the Amaranth of Penna. In 1941 Walt maried Lois Norton of Altoona, and they have a 7-year old son.

Don't forget our Reunion in June—15 years is a long, long time. Hope to see you all then!

43 MRS. EARLE E. BENTON
(Norene Bond)
130 Edingham Place
Westfield, N. J.

Dr. Gordon Brownell was sent to Geneva, Switzerland as a delegate to the "atoms for peace" congress. Dr. Brownell is at present head of the biophysics research department at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Dr. Brownell's paper and over 100 others on peaceful use of the atom will be published after the Geneva conference.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vanderbilt, Jr. '42 (Dorian Smith) bringing Alice Dorian on Feb. 8, 1955.

Earl P. Wickerham, Jr. has just returned from Puerto Rico and has been recently separated from the Army Medical Corps. Earl will practice ophthalmology in Pittsburgh for a short time. His new address is 217 Conestoga Rd., Pittsburgh.

Frederick W. Kettenacker received his Master of Arts degree from Syracuse University on September 16, 1955.

(Editor's Note) In a letter to Alumni Headquarters Norene reports that the past year has been a frantic one with "the arrival of my fourth little one." Congratulations Norene and Earle '40! Their other children are: Jeffrey, Susan, and Peter Craig.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Dr. Robert L. Gatski, acting superintendent of Danville State Hospital, has developed a new sleeping pill which, it is stated, provides a refreshing night's slumber with no hangover. Extensive experiments indicate that the sedative, a non-barbiturate, has an almost hypnotic effect, producing in 15 or 20 minutes natural sleep that lasts about eight hours.

In this age of tension and taut nerves with resultant recourse to barbiturates, Dr. Gatski may become a benefactor of millions of Americans.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Kleppinger (Dorothea Bittner) have become the parents of a daughter. Both Richard and Dorothea are practicing physicians.

The Edward Brennemans (Jeanne Beerler) announce the birth of Inda Mae, Nov., 1955. The baby joins two sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Wm. Runkle (Burnette Brown) had their first child, Dean Edward, Dec. 12, 1955.

New Addresses: Lt. and Mrs. Richard Gutekunst (Ann Fetterman), 207 Kelvin Pl., Ithaca, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alston (Estelle Howley), 220 So. Willow St., Kennett Square; Mr. and Mrs. Burr Williamson (Sylvia Cliffe), 37 Rankin Ave., Basking Ridge, N. J.

45 MRS. C. FRED MOORE
(Nancy Wochling)
112 Gillin Road
Ambler, Penna.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker (Helen Grim) have recently moved to 3049 E. Cortez, W. Covina, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Moore (Nancy Wochling) announce the arrival of their daughter, Paige Ellen on Dec. 28, 1955.

Tom Davison III, president of our Bucknell Alumni Club of South Florida, has joined the law firm of Padgett and Teasley First National Bank Building, Miami, Fla., where he handles the real estate and property division of the firm. Tom is already at work planning for a meeting in Miami for local and touring Bucknellians to be held during the Christmas holidays, 1956. Better make your Florida plans accordingly.

46 MRS. LELAND EWING
(Elizabeth Joann Wells)
31260 Westfield Ave.
Livonia, Mich.

(June 8-11)
Our 10th Reunion.
Let's all celebrate.
(Together!)

Dr. and Mrs. James Cowan (Gloria Whitman) have a temporary new address: Maple Grove Farm, Parkesburg R. D.

Births:

A son, Peter Axford to Mr. and Mrs. J. Dudley Waldner (Jean Newsom) on Sept. 24, 1955.

A son, Robin Nix, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Rapp (Alice Nix) on Sept. 19, 1955. The Rapps' new address is: 144 Pittsford Way, New Providence, N. J.

A son, James Robinson Miller II, to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Miller (Barbara Rock) on December 19, 1955. He joins sisters, Paige, 7, and Leigh, aged 4, at home on 13 Preston St., Huntington, L. I., N. Y.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Penna.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Herpst (Elma Zeigler '49), announce the birth of their daughter, Sally Louise, born April 9, 1955.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson ("Skip") Roberts (Jeane M. Morgenthal), have moved to Taunton Ridge Road, Newtown, Conn. The Roberts now have three children, Carole 5, Keith 3½, and Karen Lee 1. "Skip" is project engineer with Manning, Maxwell & Moore, Inc.'s Aircraft Division in Danbury.

Elizabeth Quinn Billings writes that she and her husband, Robert, and family have just moved to a large older home in New Shrewsbury, N. J. Their family includes Barbara 6, Bobby 4, George 3 months, and a dog named Lola.

Elizabeth reports that she and Bob see Dorace Miller Stubenvoll and Jack Yost '42, occasionally, also Nancy Grimm Derkacz and Derk '46, in church.

George M. Hess, Jr., Lycoming County district attorney, recently entered a law partnership with Robert C. Wise and Michael Casale, Sr. in Williamsport.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golithly)
954 Caldwell Avenue
Union, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mackey (Betty Waddington) announce the birth of their second son, and third child, David Waddington Mackey, born July 1, 1955. The Mackeys are living in Roseland, N. J.

Dr. Gilbert F. Norwood is currently engaged as resident in orthopedic surgery at the Robert Packer Hospital in Sayre. Dr. and Mrs. Norwood are the parents of two daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Baumbach (Mary Ellen Grove) are happy to announce the arrival of their son, Peter Grove Baumbach, born Aug. 18, 1955. Dick, a graduate of Syracuse '50 and Penn Dental School '54, is serving his two years in the Navy as an officer in the Dental Corps.

George H. Gass received his Ph.D. degree in physiology from Ohio State University on Dec. 16, 1955. Dr. Gass is now with the pharmacological division of the Food and Drug Administration, Washington, D. C., where, in addition to continuing his cancer research, he will be employed as an endocrinologist. He and Mrs. Gass (Dorothy Kinsey '46) and daughter, Nancy, reside at 3063 South Woodrow St., Arlington, Va.

Howard A. Van Dine, Jr. and his wife, the former Peggy Ryan '46, and their children, are back in Vermont again; their address now is 21 Lindenwood Drive, South Burlington, Vt. Peggy wrote that Howie is still with General Electric, and they would love to have visitors anytime. Thanks for your newsy letter, Peg—wish more people would write.

51 MRS. GARRY E. BROWN
(Frances Wilkins)
Schoolcraft, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Brown (Betty Hatch) are now living in New Haven, Conn., where Don is attending Yale Divinity School.

It is with pleasure that we announce the marriage of Martha L. Rowsey and Ernest Roscoe Anthis.

Ann Cooper Nixon and husband Jack announce the arrival of Patricia Ann, born January 9. As Ann says, "We didn't arrange to have her on V. P. Nixon's birthday, and we didn't name her Pat for his wife. It was just coincidence."

Memorial Scholarship Established

I. R. Smith, M.D. of Nanticoke has established THE MARJORIE BELL SMITH SCHOLARSHIP in memory of his wife, Marjorie Bell Smith of the Class of 1928. Marjorie, a member of Pi Beta Phi and C. E. A., graduated cum laude with the A.B. degree and taught in the high school at Nanticoke for several years prior to her marriage to Isaac R. Smith in 1932.

The income from the fund established by Dr. Smith will be awarded annually to a student who meets the academic requirements of Bucknell University for scholarship awards, due consideration being given to the element of need in each case. Although not required, Dr. Smith has suggested that the recipient be a major in the field of English language.

Summer School Teacher Dies

Death came on January 24 to Dr. D. Montfort Melchior, a popular teacher in the Bucknell summer school from 1923 until his retirement from the post in 1952. Besides his outstanding contribution to the educational program at the summer school sessions at Bucknell, he made significant community contribution as speaker and discussion leader on many worthwhile community programs. Along with Mrs. Melchior he was active in the religious program in Lewisburg and on the campus, and he was a regular speaker on vesper programs held under the Vesper Maple near the Vaughan Literature Building.

Dr. Melchior was graduated from Gettysburg College and received an honorary doctorate in pedagogy from Bucknell in 1929. Besides serving as professor of education in the Bucknell summer school sessions from their inception in 1923 until 1952, he was associated for 35 years as supervisor of high school instruction at Girard College.

Literally thousands of Bucknellians have come to know Dr. and Mrs. Melchior and we join them extending heartfelt sympathies to Mrs. Elizabeth Melchior, the widow; a son; a daughter, a brother and a sister.

CONTEST AFOOT

Since late last year there has been an important, unheralded race going on between the Classes of 1949 and 1955. In each class a number of assistant Class Fund managers have agreed to contact classmates on behalf of the Bucknell Alumni Fund and in honor of their respective classes. To be sure this snail's pace may develop into Swaps' stride before the Fund year ends on June 30—but in the Run for Bucknell's Alumni Support, the early distance gains count as much as the final tape break. Except for one mark, Pennants flown at Memorial Stadium for the Homecoming game October 20 with Lafayette will distinguish the classes which excel in number of participants, total contributions, and percentage of participation.

C'mon '49! Whoop 'er up '55! Where's the dark horse, maybe?

52 MISS ELINOR L. CHILDS
74 Mt. Kemble Ave.
Morristown, N. J.

Gordon K. Ely and Mary Lou Ilgen were married Jan. 1. Gordon is employed by Shively's Television Store in Millinburg.

An anonymous post card from Rochester, N. Y. brings news that two of our classmates have become mothers. Mr. and Mrs. James Gaidula '53 (Carol Brown) have a girl, Penny Lynn, born July 11, 1955. Jim is in his third year of medical school. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roberts (Lorraine Pettie) announce the birth of a son on Nov. 17, 1955. His name was not given, so maybe he was the anonymous writer of the card.

A letter from Mrs. John B. Keeley (Betts Hill) brings us up-to-date on the Keeleys. They now number four. Thomas Bernald arrived on December 4, 1955. They are living at 215 Varsity Avenue, Princeton, N. J. John is enrolled in graduate school at Princeton.

Shirley Hoop writes that she has been Mrs. William J. Rice since January 20, 1952. The parents of Deborah Ann, born May 20, 1953, Shirley and Bill live at 2205 State St., Saginaw, Mich.

During the Christmas holidays your reporter saw Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson (Joan Gibbons) who now live at 1120 N. Kensington St., Apt. 7, Arlington, Va. Jo is teaching mathematics while George is with The Congressional Quarterly.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Jepson, Jr. (Linnea J. Lindberg '54) have recently moved to 208 Elmwood Ave., Lincoln Park, Reading. Bob was discharged from the Navy as a Lt. (jg) on Dec. 1, 1955. He is now in the real estate, insurance and building business with his father.

Michael Reggia, 4600 Glenmere Rd., North Little Rock, Ark. is now a senior field engineer with Western Electric in Jacksonville, Ark.

Barbara Segelken, home for the holidays, found the Morristown air a bit chilly after almost a year with the Foreign Service in Mexico City. In the small world department Barbara has seen several Bucknellians who have passed through Mexico City in their travels. Among them were Barbara Haggerty '51, Joan Scheid '51, Lee Craig '52 and Jim Stanton '51.

Kenneth E. Peters and Ann Mackey were married on the 17th of Dec., 1955. Mrs. Peters is a graduate of Wellesley College. Ken is in the Sales Department of the Titanium Pigment Corporation, Boston. The couple is residing in Brookline, Mass.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
391 Church Street
Hastbrouck Heights, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eaton (Nancy Cathrall '51), announce the birth of a son, Gregory Cathrall Eaton, born Nov. 7, 1955. The proud grandfather is Dr. Friedman H. Cathrall '14.

George H. Lower finished his service hitch in Oct. 1955 and is now employed by E. I. duPont in Wilmington, Del. He is doing trade analysis in the film department.

Harvey Sheirr sends us word that he received his M.S. in journalism at Columbia University in 1954. He and his wife, the former Jacqueline Kesler, have one child, Allen Roberts, born June 29, 1955. The Sheirrs are living at 325 Fingerboard Rd., Staten Island 5, N. Y., where Harvey is stationed with the Army.

In Harrisburg recently, the Grace Methodist Church youth chapel was dedicated as the Robert Lee George Memorial Chapel. As was mentioned in an earlier issue, Lt. George was a member of the crew of a bomber which disappeared Sept. 8, 1955 in the Pacific Ocean. Lt. George was active in many youth activities at Grace Church while he attended high school.

Tom Force and Floramae Heuges were married in June, 1953, and are now the parents of a baby girl, Debra Lynn, born Oct. 17, 1955. Tom, at present, is a junior at Temple Medical School.

Bill Keay, his wife Marion and son William Hugh, born July 26, 1954, are New Jerseyites again living at 209 Maple, Wallington. Bill is employed by Underwood Co. in New York City.

Barbara Hunt Gurges and 1st. Lt. William H. Gurges, Jr. '54 announce the birth of a daughter, Lynne Kathryn, born July 14, 1955, at the Naval Hospital of Camp Lejeune, N. C. Bill is attached to the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, and their home address is 1602 Gloucester Circle, Tarawa Terrace, N. C. Congratulations!

Shirley (Reidinger) and Smokey Ostendarp are cheering for Williams College now where Smokey is coaching freshman football, lacrosse and wrestling. Smokey had an undefeated team in football including Wesleyan 43-6, and Amherst 52-0. The Ostendarps, and their one-year old Teresa, are living on Stetson Rd., Apt. J, Williamstown, Mass.

The news response from '54 has been wonderful! It has been so wonderful that almost every article I write finds itself in the upsetting predicament of having its end lopped off when printed—most likely due to my verbosity. I shall thus endeavor to be a true reporter in this issue and give you just the facts in brief.

The most recent '54 marriages include: Jo Anthony to John Shepley Schofield on Dec. 10, 1955; John Crossgrove to Alice Fowle on Dec. 3, 1955; Beverly Geake to Nickolas F. Muto on Dec. 27, 1955.

The new daughters to the '54 households of: Mr. and Mrs. James LeRoy Bevan; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Andrus; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lashbrook (Constance Corey), and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Pigg (Carol Colvin).

Two daughters are the present count for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Orlich (Maralyn Murphy).

Last but far from least, a son for Mr. and Mrs. Jim Egloff (Anne Lukens).

Serving Uncle Sam from our class we have: Mr. Don Husch and his new wife Peggy Taylor who are in Alaska; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carson (Marcia Ball) in Budingen, Germany, who entertained Barry Parker, stationed at Friedberg, during Thanksgiving vacation; Mr. and Mrs. L. Arthur Lees, Jr. (Suzanne Dieffenderfer '54) and son Robert stationed in Norfolk, Va.; Pvt. Ray C. Lapof who writes an information bulletin in Heidelberg, Germany where he is a staff writer at Headquarters, U. S. Army, Europe.

RAY C. LAPOF

In the career section Carl Robbins writes that he is now sales engineer for Stokes and Smith Co., a subsidiary of Food Machinery Co., in Philadelphia. A letter from Gretchen Hendricks states that she has realized her goal of becoming a bilingual secretary. She is secretary to the manager of Wyeth Laboratories and takes letters in Spanish and English.

Does it seem possible that the Class of '55 is now numbered among those reuning come June 9? At the risk of sounding like a circus barker may I say "Come one, come all! See for yourself the changes the first year has wrought."

Co-partners in a venture west, Laura Davis and Sally Haven have sent word across the continent that they are living at 1589 Garfield St., Denver 6, Colo. Laura is teaching English in Kepner Junior High School, and Sally is with United Air Lines.

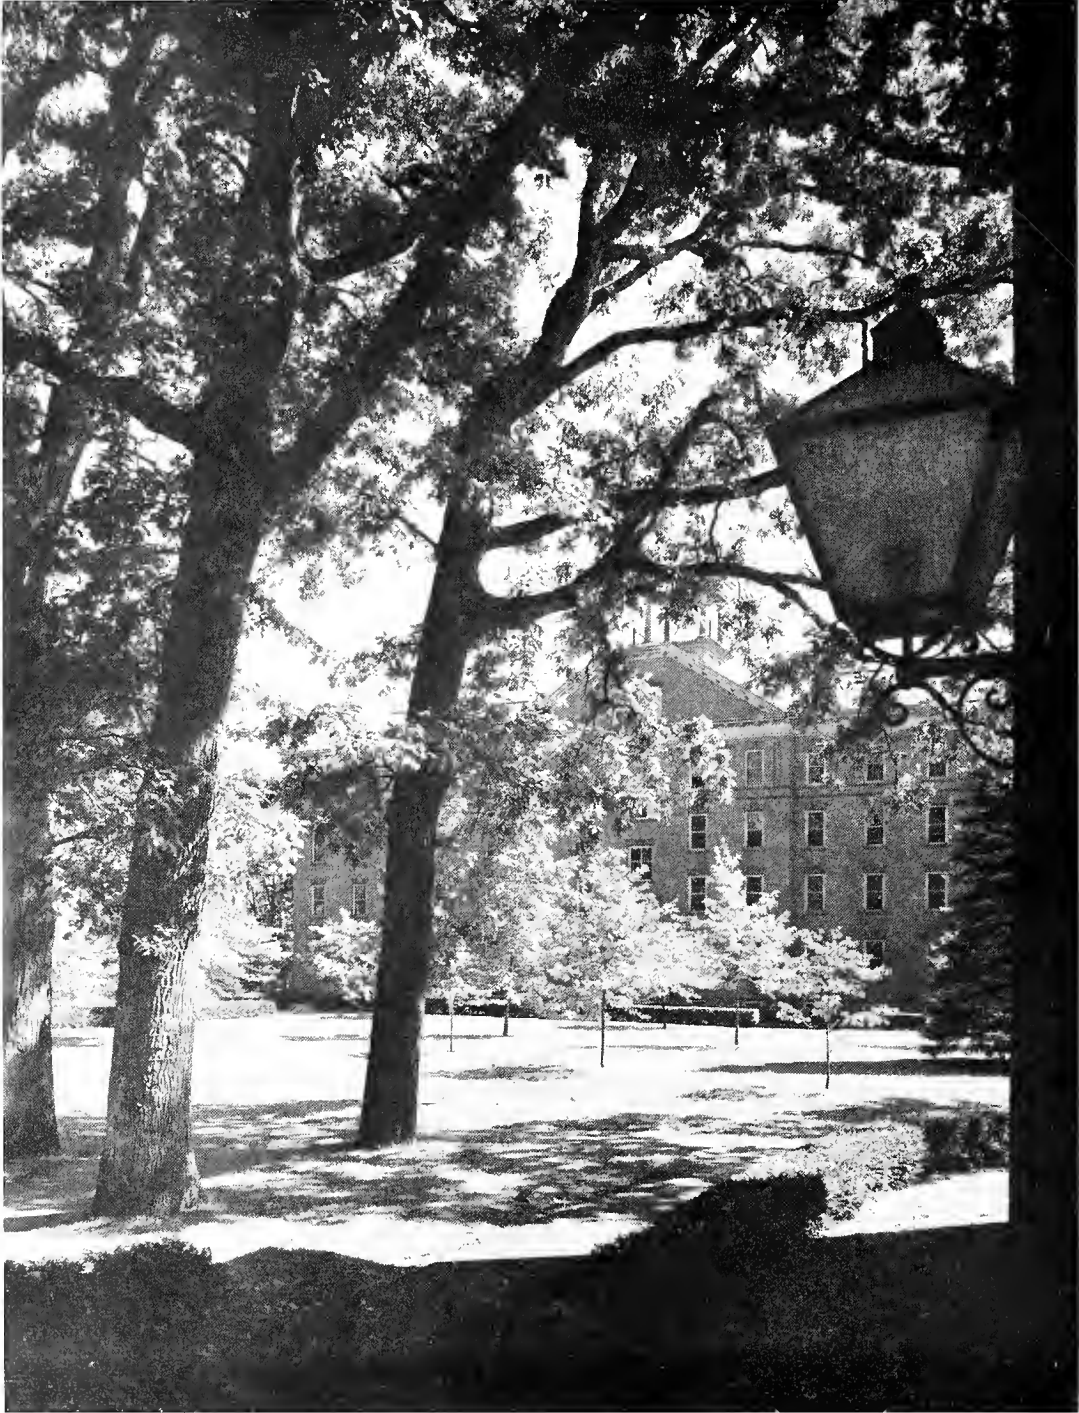

Cindy Doremus is dividing her time three ways: husband, Reed Porter, as of November 26, 1955; job, a training assistant with United States Rubber Company; Bucknell, secretary of the Long Island Alumni Club. If the men of the advertising profession are distinguished by their grey flannel suits, what applies to the women? Anyway, Lee Carnow has joined the ranks with Dickie-Raymond Inc. She and her husband, Stan Kramer, are living at 319 Broadway, Somerville, Mass.

There's no question as to who are the men who wear khaki, so here are the Bucknellians who graduated from the transportation officers basic course at Fort Eustis, Va., Dec. 13, with following assignments: Roy Gavert, Rick Johnson, Tom Sprague, Jeff Williams, all of Fort Eustis; Torr Potterton, New Orleans Port of Embarkation; and Bill Koelsch, N. Y. Port of Embarkation.

Tom King has completed his basic training and is now enrolled in the radio operators school at Fort Jackson, S. C. George Klauder is in Guided Missile School at Fort Hancock, N. J.

Barb Riegel writes from San Diego that "the best things in life are free" since she discovered the beauties of California. Though when not taking in the view, she's plunged into the field of public welfare.

Well, Gordon Gray put his old A.B. to work last month and came home $500 or so richer after a session on a TV quiz program.

Sipley '18 Adds to Library Collection

The Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library of Bucknell University was the recipient recently of the bound volumes of "Pennsylvania Arts and Sciences," for the years 1935 to 1940. This publication of The American Museum of Photography was edited by Dr. Louis Walton Sipley '18, MS '20.

These additions to the Bucknell treasure room are of particular interest to Alumni because they carry a number of pictures of the Bucknell campus and several writings by Bucknellians, notably an article on historic covered bridges by the late Nelson F. Davis, who served on Bucknell's Faculty for many years.

The University appreciates this gift of Dr. Sipley, a valuable addition to our collection of Bucknellians.

THE HILDRETHS SEE A KHEDA

by HORACE A. HILDRETH

Hildreth Road in Pakistan named for U. S. Ambassador Horace A. Hildreth, Bucknell President 1949-53, shown here with daughter, Katherine, and Mrs. Hildreth.

Here it is at 7:45 A. M. on the morning of February 2nd and I am dictating to Dassy on the promenade deck of a 150 foot houseboat anchored in the famous Sunderbans river forest area. I might say that we have all bathed and I have bathed and shaved. Beside us stand three motor tenders and a couple of small row boats.

On board this houseboat there are nine of us, all Americans, and each with room and bath tended by a Pakistani crew. Katherine and I have a magnificent suite of rooms with two baths, bedroom, sitting room and dressing room. Since I am the ranking officer I have designated myself admiral.

Today the nine of us head into the forest, which twice a day is put under water, led by forestry department officials and half of us will carry shotguns and half rifles. Those carrying rifles will try to shoot crocodiles, deer, with the remote chance of spotting a tiger. Though the region is one of the most famous in the world for tigers, they are very difficult to get. Those carrying shotguns will look for jungle fowl which is the fowl from which our domesticated hens originally came.

Roughly the schedule was that we would start out on tame elephants, three per elephant plus mahoot (the driver) and go to a place where a drive would be put on to push out jungle fowl with hopes of a deer coming by. The most exciting event occurred when an elephant herd of thirteen wild elephants paraded by one of the machans when the fifty to seventy-five native beaters started hollering.

Now to report the kheda or elephant roundup. In the first place it was about a twenty-mile jeep ride right into the jungle to get there. Several times, several of the probably twenty of the jeeps carrying the party with the soldiers and bearers (the soldiers for security, the bearers for help) got stuck but we finally got through. The elephants had already been captured in the stockade and consisted of fourteen elephants including one baby elephant about three weeks old which stood about three feet tall. There were also two other baby elephants or at least young elephants who stood no higher than a man's shoulder. Then there was one young tusker and one tuskless male who was the biggest of all. By the time we got there they were so angry at the young tusker for having led them into the stockade that they had trampled him to death and he lay there in the mud with the other elephants tramping over him.

The process of getting the elephants in the stockade is a delicate and time-consuming process. What happens is that scouts are sent out to locate the herd and then the scouts report which direction the herd seems to be going. When the scouts report, a large crew of men builds a circular stockade with a huge gate and entrance of the stockade. The stockade, of course, is built right on an elephant trail. When the stockade is built the scouts go out and gently start tapping trees so as to move the herd in the direction of the stockade. This has to be done with a nice sense of urgency without haste. By the time the herd gets to where the stockade is, the wings have all been camouflaged like the wings on a stage set so that as the wings narrow down there appears to be only one opening which is into the camouflaged stockade door into the stockade. Wild elephants are not used to pulling but only to pushing. Hence the stockade, which is perhaps twenty feet is buttressed on the outside but if the elephants were smart enough to pull they could pull the logs right in on them and collapse the stockade. At the end of the drive, when the elephants hesitate to go into the narrow walls, the drivers explode bombs and build fires behind them so to discourage them from turning around. After the gate closes behind the elephants, they are weakened for at least twenty-four hours by being given no food or water. Meanwhile, almost like human beings, they fight each other in their anger at being caught.

After being weakened the extraction of a wild elephant from the captured group occurs and then he is noosed. This was very exciting. By this time, outside the gate an additional corral has been built with a second gate. This corral is big enough for eight or ten elephants. Now the biggest tame elephant available who is supported by several other tame elephants, is put in the little corral facing the gate. The theory is when the gate is lifted, he will stop the wild elephants from rushing out and will go in and bat them around a bit in their weakened condition. Then when he has them sufficiently cowed, the tame one is supposed to let one of the wild elephants slip by through the gate into the corral where he will be surrounded by tame elephants and the attempt made to hobble his hind legs and get a noose over his neck. This time we were treated to a very thrilling sight because the whole wild herd stampeded together out the corral. The drivers on the tame elephants became frightened and scurried up onto the rungs of the wall but a couple of the mahoots on the tame elephants stuck to their job and jabbed away desperately with their spears. The pressure of the elephants was terrific and everyone expected the walls of the corral to give way and the wild elephants to break loose with possible loss of life and injury to some of the people, and in any event, weeks of work lost.

Finally the order was given to fire at the elephants and the wild elephants were shot in the forehead with number four shotgun. Beyond the gate of the corral was another tame elephant who was supposed to frighten the wild ones away. At last they got one of the wild elephants turned around and headed back into the stockade with spear jabbing and shooting and the rest of them followed, and then fortunately the tuskless male ducked back into the corral and the gate was shut.

ALUMNI AWARD PROGRAM MAY BE EXTENDED

For several years the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association and several committees of the board have been considering plans to extend the alumni award program which was adopted in June, 1951.

The original award, adopted in 1951, was given in recognition of "distinguished service to Bucknell University."

Thus, Alumni in only one category—those performing distinguished service to the University—could be honored through an alumni award. It was felt that the program should be expanded to include awards for service in at least two other categories, namely:

- (a) Meritorious achievement in the fields of industry, business, commerce, government, education, or in the profession in which the candidate is engaged.
- (b) Recognized contributions and service to fellow men through such media as religion, charity, art, science, or public welfare.

A committee headed by Clair G. Spangler and including P. Herbert Watson and Allen A. Rarig made a study of the practice of making alumni awards at 37 colleges and universities. After studying this report, the board of directors asked a committee of John F. Worth, chairman, Mrs. Florence U. Focht and Wilmer D. Gruelich to draw up by-law revisions covering the extension of alumni awards. This committee submitted its report to the board of directors on November 4, 1955, and after study by the board instructions were given the Alumni secretary to prepare the final draft for publication in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS and for consideration of the delegates at the Annual Assembly of The General Alumni Association on Saturday, June 9, 1956.

Since adoption or rejection of these changes in the by-laws must be voted upon by the delegates to the Annual Assembly in June, it is important that the delegates who represent the 65 Bucknell Alumni Clubs be instructed by the clubs themselves.

Consequently, individual alumni, it is hoped, will take the opportunity to study the revisions printed and express an opinion through his or her local Alumni Club.

The proposed revisions along with the present by-law regulations are printed side by side in the following columns to make it convenient to compare the present regulations with the proposed revision.

Present Provisions

ARTICLE XI — ALUMNI AWARDS

Section 1. There shall be an award known as "The Alumni Award for Distinguished Service to Bucknell University," conferment to be made by the President of the University at the Annual Alumni Luncheon during Commencement weekend.

Section 2. The purpose of the plan is to honor Bucknell men and women who have shown unselfish interest and loyalty and rendered outstanding service to the University and to the Association.

Section 3. The President of the Association shall appoint an Alumni Award Committee to select the recipient or recipients. The Committee, in its selection considerations, shall be guided by the following principles of eligibility:

(a) Except as otherwise specified in Section 4 of this Article, any living Alumnus, Alumna or former student of the University is eligible as a candidate for the award.

(b) The recipient shall have assisted in expanding the usefulness, influence and prestige of the University.

(c) The recipient shall have been instrumental in interesting good young men and women to attend Bucknell.

(d) The recipient shall have been willing, insofar as location and opportunities make it possible, to devote time and energy as Class Fund Manager, class correspondent, class officer, or worker in the special projects which the Association and the University sponsor from time to time.

(e) The recipient shall have a consistent record of supporting the University according to his or her means.

Suggested Revisions

Article XI — Alumni Awards

Section 1. There shall be a program of awards to Alumni known as the Bucknell University Alumni Awards for Distinguished Service, in recognition of meritorious achievement or distinguished service for the advancement or benefit of their chosen professions or fields of endeavors, for the general welfare of mankind, and for the furtherance of programs and purposes of their Alma Mater, Bucknell University.

Section 2. The awards shall be given not only to those Alumni who have acquired preeminence for their contributions and achievements but also, and more particularly, to those Alumni who have labored effectively to produce valuable contributions without public praise or compensating gain. Specifically, the awards, to be made annually by the President of the University at the Alumni Luncheon during Commencement weekend, shall total a maximum of three in number, one for each of the following:

(a) Meritorious achievement in the fields of industry, business, commerce, government, education, or in the profession in which the candidate is engaged;

(b) Recognized contributions and service to fellow men through such media as religion, charity, art, science, or public welfare; and

(c) Outstanding service, unselfish interest, and demonstrated loyalty to the University and to the Association.

Section 3. The awards for the first two categories cited in Section 2 a and b shall be in the form of bronze medals, with suitable inscription of reason for citation, the

The President's Annual Report

"The Report of the President for the Academic Year 1954-1955" is a 32-page booklet recently published by Dr. Merle M. Odgers for the Board of Trustees. It will be of interest to many Bucknellians.

The publication of the report at this time represents a departure from administrative tradition, but Dr. Odgers states that it seems wise to share with the great number of Bucknell's friends an account of our recent progress and aspirations for the future. The report does not attempt comprehensive coverage of the many-sided life of the University, but it does point up the board of trustees; the faculty; the new administration organizational setup; future enrollment; student life; the University plant; engineering education; the placement bureau; the summer school; the library; athletics; public relations; agenda; the Bucknell study; and allied activities.

In outlining the needs of the future, Dr. Odgers lists among Bucknell's assets its alumni body of more than 17,000 scattered throughout the world, and engaged in many businesses, trades and professions. He refers to the contributions they have made to the University through the Alumni Annual Giving program.

A committee of the trustees, recently appointed to study plans for development and fund raising, have set up immediate objectives as: a chapel-auditorium, additional endowment for faculty salaries, the front unit of Davis Gymnasium, a social science building, a women's dormitory, not necessarily in that order.

Improvements not in the foregoing group, which will find place in a long-range development plan, include, among others, the addition of a wing completing the Vaughan Literature Building, a student union, club rooms for faculty members, the remodeling of East College and West College, a second dormitory unit for freshman men.

The vision of Bucknell's future has been referred to as "a ten-million dollar plan." Dr. Odgers closes his report with the thought that the achievements of the last ten years augur well for its fulfillment.

A limited number of the reports are available for Alumni on a first come, first served basis. If you desire one, please write to Miss Trennie E. Eisley, Director of Public Relations, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania

Plan Freedom in America Competition At Bucknell

Two Freedom in American contests will be held at Bucknell, according to Rear Adm. Ernest M. Eller, U. S. N., retired, director of engineering.

The first contest was scheduled for this semester and ended May 1. A first prize of $100 and a second prize of $50 were given the students who submitted the best and second best papers dealing with some aspect of the origins of American liberty. Each paper submitted in the contest was required to consist of a minimum of 2,500 words.

In 1956-57, a first prize of $200 and a second prize of $100 will be given those students who submit the best and the second best papers dealing with the effects upon American life of the liberties that Americans enjoy. Each paper must be submitted before May 1, 1957, and must contain a minimum of 5,000 words.

All papers submitted were judged by a committee of three persons appointed by Dr. Odgers.

ALUMNI WEEKEND

June 9 already should be marked on your calendar for your annual trip to the Bucknell campus. This reminder is designed to fill in the details of the Reunion Weekend, urge you to begin planning the trip, and contacting your favorite classmates. Write, wire or phone them now so that your class and family reunion in Lewisburg will be complete.

Alumni Class Reunion parties are concentrated on Saturday, June 9, but the entire weekend will be filled with activities that have been planned by energetic reunion committees in each of the reunion classes.

The Emeritus Club group which includes all classes that have celebrated 50 or more years since graduation, gathers on the campus every year and this year is planning a special welcoming ceremony to induct its newest members, the Class of 1906, into the Emeritus Club.

Other classes holding regular 5-year reunions include the Class of 1906 (Golden Anniversary), the Class of 1911, the Class of 1916, the Class of 1921, the Class of 1926, the Class of 1931 (Silver Anniversary), Class of 1936, Class of 1941, Class of 1946, Class of 1951, and the first reunion of the Class of 1955. The Class of 1956, our youngest alumni group, will also share in the reunion celebration.

The Perennials Will Be Here

But no matter what class you graduated with, Alumni Reunion Day provides festivities for all Alumni of non-reunion classes as well. The growing number of perennials who come back every year will find many interesting and enjoyable programs. Officers of next year reunion classes (those whose numerals end in "2" and "7") are especially invited to be on campus for Alumni Weekend this year to observe the program in action and thus be in a better position to plan for their own reunion in June, 1957.

New Dorm Open

One of the highlights of the Reunion Weekend will be the use of the new James S. Swartz Hall for housing visitors. This year it will be possible to assign each reuniting class to a specific floor in the dormitories. Housing the whole class together will add immeasurably to the fun of the reunion. Furthermore, through the registry to be maintained at the registration desks, it will be possible to learn the whereabouts of each Alumnus assigned to dormitories on the hill. For this reason it is essential that everyone stop at the Carnegie Library lounge (old library building) to register as soon as they reach the campus.

Welcome Back Party

The Bison, next to the old Sigma Chi House, now Seventh Street House, will be open Friday night for the convenience of classmates arriving before the Saturday sessions begin. This favorite eating place of undergraduates will be turned over to Alumni for the evening. It's the ideal spot to meet the early arrivals. No formal party program is planned—just a good place to meet the gang and to continue the hull sessions of 20 or 30 years ago.

The Program of Activities

A glance at the full schedule included in this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNI'S will convince you that Saturday, June 9 will be a busy day. Beginning with the Bison Club Breakfast, to which everybody (men, women, and children) is welcomed, to the last "Good Night, Ladies" of the jamboree entertainment sounds like a tight schedule. Actually, there will be many opportunities during the day to relax and enjoy the fellowship of classmates.

Following the Bison Club Breakfast all Alumni, whether or not they are delegates, are urged to attend the short annual business session of The General Alumni Association to be held in the new F. W. Olin Science Building at 9:30 a. m. At 10:30 a. m. reunioners will meet in their assigned rooms

AMONG THE CLUBS

BELLEFONTE-DUBOIS—Bucknellians in Centre and Clearfield Counties celebrated the 110th anniversary of the granting of Bucknell's charter at a dinner held in the Philips Hotel, Philipsburg, on February 16.

William G. Jones '29, president of the Bellefonte Club was in charge of the meeting. After a delicious dinner, John H. Shott, Alumni secretary, spoke to the group on "The Lass Look." A door prize was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Beahm MA '48, Aaronsburg, for having travelled the greatest distance to attend the meeting.

Plans for a summer picnic to entertain freshman students and their parents were discussed.

BUCKNELL BAPTISTS IN SEATTLE—Bucknell Baptist ministers and their friends as well as Bucknell Alumni residing in the Seattle area are cordially invited to attend a luncheon to be held during the American Baptist Convention on Thursday, June 21, in the Gold Room of the Hotel Edmund Meany, East 45th and Brooklyn in Seattle. Tickets for the luncheon must be bought 24 hours before the luncheon date and will be available at the banquet desk in the Convention Hall. Plans are being made to have a campus representative attend the luncheon. It is hoped that Bucknell Alumni permanently situated in Seattle will avail themselves of this opportunity of meeting with the Bucknell Baptist visitors who will be converging on Seattle from all directions during the convention scheduled from June 15 to 22.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA — The Bucknell Alumni Club of California-Northern, held a Birthday Dinner in honor of the University at the Coit-Ramsey Hotel, Oakland, on February 7. Thirty-one persons attended and enjoyed a good dinner, interspersed by Bucknell songs played by Janet (Caul) Ferreira '52, and sung by the assembled Bucknellians.

After dinner, Harry H. Pierson '28, was introduced by the toastmaster and de facto president of the club, Harry Hartzell '08, and gave a talk on the events leading up to the foundation of Bucknell and to the changing of the name of the institution from that of "The University at Lewisburg." George Mattis told a Pennsylvania Dutch joke.

There was discussion of the problem of finding agreement on the meeting dates and site. It was finally voted by a large majority that the club hold quarterly dinners, alternating between Oakland and San Francisco (or between the East Bay and San Francisco-Peninsula area). The next meeting will be a picnic at the country home of the Hartzells.

This decision was made in the belief that quarterly dinners would attract many more people, as this one did, than would monthly luncheons.

HARRY H. PIERSON '28

CHAMBERSBURG—The Alumni Club of the South-Central District of Pennsylvania gathered at a dinner meeting at College Inn, Chambersburg, on Feb. 23 to celebrate our alma mater's birthday. Twenty alumni and friends were present to hear Dr. C. Herschel Jones of the political science department speak.

Dr. Jones brought us up-to-date on the changes in the physical appearance of the campus, student and faculty changes and educational programs and advances at Bucknell.

New officers were elected as follows:

president, Sara Louise Slaughenhaup Madison '41; vice president, Dr. Lois Henneberger '43; treasurer, Daniel Davis '22; secretary, Dorothy Blix Meminger '38.

A social hour preceded the dinner and meeting. Everyone spent a very enjoyable evening and the one regret was that more alumni of the district were unable to attend.

DOROTHY BLIX MEMINGER '38, Secretary

CHICAGO—The Chicago Alumni Association had the pleasure of meeting Mr. William Liming '33, president of the General Alumni Association, for the first time on January 6. Mr. and Mrs. Luther O. Carlisle, our co-presidents, held an informal gathering at their home in La-Grange, Illinois to welcome Bill to Chicago.

We all enjoyed the hospitality of our hosts and making new acquaintances. Those attending were: Anne and Jack Dempsey '38 and '34; Lois and Bush Fullerton '47; Jean and Hank Puff '46; Tom and Carolyn Morris '00; Elinor and Rolf Zimmerman '32; William S. Liming '33; Kitty and Lou Carlisle '33; Joan and Chuck Hott '51 and '48.

JOAN AND CHUCK HOTT, Secretaries

HARRISBURG—Thirty-eight Bucknellians and friends attended the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Association of Harrisburg on Thursday, March 1, at the Y. M. C. A. The meeting was opened with the invocation by Rev. Bennett.

The secretary's minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer reported a balance of $35.10 in the treasury.

Bruce Butt reported on the current news of Bucknell Alumni. Bruce also introduced our visitors, Mrs. Weston and her two daughters from New Bloomfield.

The president then turned the meeting over to Bill Focht, our program chairman for the evening. Bill introduced our speaker, Mr. Amos Snyder, of the Dauphin National Bank. Mr. Snyder discussed for us the timely subject of "Flying Saucers." The discussion proved to be both enlightening and most interesting. Following Mr. Snyder's presentation, questions were raised by members of the club and were skillfully answered by our speaker.

The meeting was adjourned following the discussion period.

NORMA GOTWALT '52, Secretary

LANCASTER—To celebrate Bucknell's 110th birthday, the Lancaster Alumni Club held a dinner on Feb. 9, at Dissinger's Old Mill Hotel with 20 members and guests in attendance.

Preceding the dinner a brief business meeting was conducted. The members voted that the incumbent officers be retained: Donald Betty '51, president; Ted Simpson '52, secretary; and Bill Reitz '51, treasurer.

Professor Donald Ohl of the mathematics department at Bucknell was the guest speaker. He gave an interesting review of the past and present situation on campus. A brief question and answer period followed Dr. Ohl's talk.

BILL REITZ '51, Treasurer

LOCK HAVEN—The Lock Haven (Clinton County) Alumni Club celebrated Bucknell's 110th birthday on Saturday, February 25, with a dinner meeting at the Hotel Fallon in Lock Haven. Twenty-one Bucknellians and friends were present.

John H. Shott, Alumni secretary, was guest of honor and speaker, his topic, "The Lass Look," spotlighted four of the principal problems on American campuses today and related each of them particularly to the Bucknell campus. Mr. Shott also showed some beautiful colored pictures of the campus and Alumni activities on the campus.

Officers were elected for the coming year. They are: President, Lucile G. Scullen '26; Vice president, Frank S. Knights '34, and Secretary-Treasurer, Gloria H. Miller '44. Two delegates, Dominic Zanella '33 and Dr. David C. Ulmer '30, were elected to the Annual Assembly of The General Alumni Association in June; also two alternates, Mrs. G. Wesley Pedlow, Jr. (Marian E. Pursley '37) and Robert L. Hulsizer '21.

GLORIA HAGGERTY MILLER '44,

PROVIDENCE—Bright sunshine, a lovely home and a beautiful view of Narragansett Bay provided the backdrop for our Providence Area Alumni Club birthday party on Feb. 5. Sue Cady '55 and her parents opened their lovely home to us for the 110th birthday celebration of our Alma Mater.

We were happy to see two new faces in our group, Robert deGroot '52 and his wife Nancy. They are now living in Groton, Conn.

After an hour or so of chatting about Bucknell and watching the interesting scenes provided by the vast expanse of the bay, the birthday cake was cut and ice cream and coffee were served.

The club decided to hold its annual picnic this summer and John Wilbur '48 again invited us aboard his cabin cruiser for a ride on the bay. With this to look forward to our picnic should be a great success.

JUNE STOTT MATTHEWS '47, Secretary

READING—The Reading Alumni Club embarked on a new way of celebrating the birthday of our dear old Alma Mater. After due consideration, we decided to dispense with any club business at the Birthday Party and hold a purely social Dinner-Dance on February 18 at the Wyoming Club in Reading from 7 p. m. to 1 a. m.

I am delighted to report that our Dinner-Dance was a tremendous success. The true "college spirit" prevailed as one hundred and nine Alumni and guests dined and danced under the huge Bucknell banner which was used as the center of decorations. Wes Fisher's Trio provided the music for dancing, and all Alumni were thrilled to hear the Bucknell songs included in the musical program. We were also happy to have John Shott, Alumni secretary, and his lovely wife among the Bucknell celebrities who attended. I am sure I speak for everyone present when I say, "A grand time was had by all." In fact, all who were present are already looking forward to our next Bucknell Birthday Party.

BETTY KEIM KETNER '43, Secretary

ROCKY MOUNTAINS—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell (Ruth Graham '38) entertained at their home in Englewood, Colorado on February 5 in honor of Bucknell's 110th birthday.

A chicken dinner preceded the meeting. John Rishel '15, genial club president, showed campus films.

Others present: Mr. and Mrs. Irving Conover (Alberta Rutgers '36) from Aurora, Colorado; Philip Russell '48, a teacher in the Denver school system, well-known in this area for his work with handicapped children; Dr. David Graham, a retired missionary and an active church leader.

ETHEL HUTCHINS LOBEL '33, Secretary

ST. PETERSBURG—The Bucknell Club of St. Petersburg met for a covered dish luncheon on March 17 with Marjorie Montgomery at 4565 Dartmouth Ave., N. There were 24 present. We welcomed Gilbert Lyte '09 and Mrs. Lyte who have purchased a home at 761 68th Ave., S.

Dick Stauffer '06 with Mrs. Stauffer also will be residents. They have purchased a home at 17405 1st Street East, Reddington Shores. Dick retired as vice president of the International Shoe Company.

George Street '10 with Mrs. Street and his brother Reginald Street; Mildred Cathers with Mrs. Duncan as her guest; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey '29 from Pittsburgh also attended. Each one of these told of interesting activities. Clyde Bailey recounted especially his work for the Alumni Fund. Mrs. Bailey's grandmother Hannah Bloom Lemon attended the Institute back in 1861.

The next meeting was a picnic at Lake Maggiore on April 28.

RUTH S. PORTER '05, Secretary

WASHINGTON—Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, vice president and director of development was the honored guest and speaker at the Birthday Dinner of the Washington Alumni Club held at the Stone House Inn, Silver Spring, Md., on February 8. The first slice of the huge birthday cake was given to Dr. Ranck. John B. Smiley '05 received the second slice in honor of his being the earliest graduate present, and the other 36 members and guests were served in turn. John Worth '37, program chairman, introduced Dr. Ranck, who gave us an enlightening picture of Bucknell today and of hopes and plans for the future.

New business included the appointment of a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for next year. These will be voted on at the meeting to be held in Washington about May 23. Our president, Marie Carstater '28, announced that three of our members, Don Hopkins '42, John Worth '37 and Mary Mare '27 have indicated willingness to represent Bucknell at the "college night" program held at various local high schools. Other volunteers for this service were requested.

Mr. Smiley brought up the matter of accommodations in Lewisburg for returning Alumni. In the discussion which followed, he gave background and figures on motel operation. It was moved by John Worth and seconded by Gene Carstater '26 that the considerable interest of our group be expressed to the Alumni Association and University thought on the matter be determined.

MARIE HELWIG CARSTATER '28, President

SUNBURY—The Bucknell Alumni Club of the Sunbury area met February 27 in the Cypress Room of the Hotel Neff. Thirty-eight members and guests were in attendance.

Dr. William H. Coleman, vice president and dean of the college at Bucknell, addressed the group on the subject "Bucknell, Present and Future." He predicted that Bucknell will continue to forge ahead as a center of higher education, described the new building program and cited the constant effort being made to improve all phases of University life and study.

Alumni Secretary, John H. Shott '22, greeted the members and introduced the speaker.

Dr. John I. Woodruff '90, professor emeritus of Susquehanna University and a graduate of Bucknell, Class of 1890 was honored by the group.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: Willard Zimmerman '37, president; Anne Louise Becker '36, vice president; Helen Barrow '42, secretary; Sigmund Stoler '36, treasurer.

WILMINGTON—The Wilmington Alumni Club met for dinner February 24 at the University Club in Wilmington to celebrate the 110th anniversary of the granting of the charter to Bucknell.

We were very pleased to have 23 in attendance including Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Wright and Mr. William L. Hyden, parents of two present students at the University.

Although we have met before during the past years, we are proud to say that we can now call ourselves an official club as we voted to organize formally with our present committee elected to office for one year. Officers are Herbert A. Leshar '39, president; Ray M. Campbell, Jr. '41, vice president and Nancy E. Tatnall '51, secretary-treasurer.

Hal '41 and Jean Memmert Kerstetter '43 will represent the Wilmington Club at the annual assembly of the General Alumni Association on campus June 9 with Dr. Lester Whitney '41 and Joan Davidson Whitney '40 acting as alternates.

We were honored to have Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of Bucknell's department

THE PHILADELPHIA PARTY

—Adm. E. M. Eller, director of engineering; Romain C. Hassrick '06, toastmaster; and Dr. Joseph W. Henderson '08, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Football Coach Harry Lawrence wonders just exactly what he has done to bring on the wrath of the weatherman. Bucknell completed its 1955 grid season, in a blizzard, against Delaware last Nov. 19 and—lo and behold—when 1956 spring practice time rolled around on March 16, snow was again on hand to greet Lawrence and his charges. Pictured above (left to right) are quarterbacks Jim Stewart, of Wayne, Pa., and Terry Fetterman, of East Greenville, Pa., who indicated to line Coach Bill Wrabley that it was time for snowballs, not footballs.

Football

In late March, when the Bucknell soccer field finally removed itself from the quagmire classification and once more allowed cleated brogans to trot hither and yon without need of water wings, Harry Lawrence and his eager Bison gridiron candidates got busy with spring football practice.

A good time was had by all, and especially by Lawrence, a gentleman who had little to be jolly about during the major part of the 1955 pigskin campaign.

In the backfield, where triple-threat veteran quarterback Jimmy Stewart will be the pivotal character, Lawrence will work with a predominantly junior cast. Senior Stewart, a regular for the past two seasons, will handle the kicking and passing and should provide a steadying influence. Junior Terry Fetterman is in reserve.

At the fullback post, senior Don Koppes should be a more than adequate replacement for the graduating Bob (Thunderbird) Ford. The Basking Ridge, N. J. lad was the No. 2 Bison ball-carrier a year ago, despite the fact that he saw action as Ford's substitute. He has good speed. Transfer student Ted DuPuy, a much-talked-of performer, will keep Koppes on his toes.

A number of good junior speedsters should take up the slack felt by the loss of Bob Sierer and Dick McCartney at the halfback slots. Bob Fitzsimmons, Jackie Brothers and Chuck Wagner all move well to the outside and Fitzsimmons, a 180-pounder, hits the line with the best. Wagner, injured a great deal last fall, has run the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds. Brothers, a little guy, is probably the most illusive of the backfield candidates.

Bob Hershock, another pile-driver, is available at halfback and Lawrence hopes that Bill Ross, a '54 letterman who the coach calls a "natural athlete," will also be free for duty.

On the whole, the Bison team should be an experienced one. Besides the 12 returning lettermen, Lawrence also has 11 additional fellows who saw service with the varsity squad a year ago. Ten or more sophomores should round out a well-balanced grid array quite unlike the '55 combo that opened its campaign with a dearth of experienced performers and a lack of balance.

Spring Sports

Bucknell's four spring sports entries—baseball, tennis, golf and track—lifted the lid on their 1956 seasons in April without benefit of extended practice of the outdoor nature. Weather is always a stumbling block for the four squads concerned, but this spring's March snowstorms and their aftermaths, made things particularly rough for the Bison athletes.

BASEBALL

Bill Lane, who began his 11th term as Bucknell diamond leader, used an all-veteran combination in early contests since he had little opportunity to examine his newcomers in near-game conditions prior to the April 7 opener with Dickinson.

Don Richards, the hard-throwing lefty who will be the key to Bucknell success throughout the campaign, had hefty team captain Rich McFarland as his battery-mate, and juniors Chuck Sneath and Bill Burns and senior Don Wain made up the outfield. An all-senior infield was made up of Bob Whitehead on first, Bruce Workman at second, Jim Hummel at third and Gene Zartman as short-stop.

The pre-season hurling efforts of junior griddler Paul Manning had impressed Lane and the big righthander could claim the No. 2 spot on the pitching staff. Shortstop Jackie Brothers, another griddler, and third baseman-outfielder Larry Dempster looked good at the plate in the abbreviated practice sessions, indicating that the veterans would have to do a little hitting or be relegated to the bench.

TENNIS

John Pulizzi, last year's sophomore sensation, had earned the No. 1 spot on the tennis squad as Hank Peters led his netmen into a 19-game slate, also against Dickinson. The coach, with only three other lettermen available, was in hopes that vet Jim Stewart would be ready to step in quickly after the close of football practice.

Peters' pre-season seedings, excluding Mr. Stewart, had Pulizzi in the top spot, followed by soph Chuck Siede, junior John Fincke, captain and senior Al Christenson and junior Ben Hollander. Senior Roger Schwartz and sophomore Bill Scott were battling for the final spot.

In the doubles category, Peters opened with Pulizzi and Siede, Fincke and Christenson and Hollander and Schwartz.

GOLF

Harold Evans' golfers were probably injured the most by the inclement weather, since indoor golf drills were out of the question. The Bucknell coach encouraged his charges to get to the links as often as possible during the one-week Easter vacation, since the University Golf Course was not playable in March.

At the season's outset, Evans lined up his team behind four veterans—captain Don Albee, Bob Miller, Andy Horvat and Dave Doane—and was hopeful that three newcomers—junior Stan Jackson and Bill Walliser and soph Ken Bensen—and 1954 letterman George Damman would round out an adequate array.

TRACK

Only the thinclads could sit back and relax during the snowy, rainy month of March. A late—April opening date allowed Coach Bus Blum to bring his candidates along slowly and at press time the April 21 curtain-raiser was still a thing of the future.

The Bison goal was, of course, to extend the seven-match victory skein that began in 1954 and ran through the undefeated 1955 season. Blum indicated that a number of squad positions had to be filled, but hoped that some of his veteran performers, such as sprinter and captain Ed Burg and miler Art Saunders would be able to carry the team during the early portion of the campaign.

New Swimming Coach

Robert A. Latour, former Albany (N. Y.) Academy swimming coach and a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and Springfield College, has been named as Bucknell's new swimming coach, Athletic Director Albert E. Humphreys announced recently.

The 30-year-old former prep school coach will begin his duties at Bucknell in September. Humphreys stated that Latour will be a member of the physical education staff and also will assist with freshman football.

Latour received an A.B. degree from Ohio Wesleyan in 1949 and an M.A. from Springfield last June. Both degrees are in physical education. He is married and an army veteran.

The new Bucknellian was teacher and swim coach at Albany Academy from 1950 through 1954. He turned out four successive New York State prep school swimming championship teams during that period and saw 15 of his men named to the All-American prep school team. Latour has been swimming coach, baseball coach and assistant football coach at Bethlehem Central School, Delmar, N. Y. since 1954.

AMOS K. DEIBLER, ESQ. '99 DIES

Amos K. Deibler, Esq., 86, former district attorney of Northumberland County and for 48 years a practicing attorney, died on November 16, 1955, following an illness of eleven months.

After his graduation from Bucknell he served as principal of the Turbotville High School for several years. He read law in the office of the Hon. C. B. Witmer, Sunbury, and was admitted to the Northumberland County Bar in June, 1901. In 1902 he opened a law office in Shamokin, where he continued to practice until his retirement in 1932. He served as district attorney of Northumberland County from 1908-1912.

On Dec. 8, 1954, he suffered severe burns at his home in Selinsgrove R. D. 1, when his clothing caught fire from a match dropped while he was lighting his pipe. He never fully recovered from the accident.

Upon the occasion of his 80th birthday he was tendered an informal surprise birthday party at his home, by his daughter Mrs. Isabel Deibler Rice. Guests included jurists, county and federal court officials, members of the press and business men. A large delegation of students and faculty from Bucknell attended the party. Among the Bucknell group was Prof. William G. Owens, then 92 years of age, who had been one of Attorney Deibler's teachers at Bucknell, and members of the Delta Sigma fraternity, of which he was co-founder in 1899. Ernest Thompson, president of Delta Sigma, presented him a gift on behalf of the fraternity and a fraternity recognition pin. At the time of his death he was the oldest living member of the Bucknell Chapter of Delta Sigma, now Delta Upsilon.

JOHN S. STEPHENS '01 DIES

John Storer Stephens, a member of one of Bucknell's oldest and largest families, died suddenly on Feb. 14, at his home in Palo Alto, Calif.

He was a son of Rev. Leroy Stephens '68 and Mary Hakes Stephens. His father, a prominent educator, minister, and Bucknell trustee, died in 1922. He had played a prominent part in Bucknell history. When Lee's army invaded Gettysburg, he was among the ten students who enlisted, along with President Loomis, in the defense of the Commonwealth. He later became president of Western Pennsylvania Classical and Scientific Institute at Mt. Pleasant, from which Bucknell drew many students. When the institute was discontinued, Bucknell received over $64,000 from the estate. The money was set aside as the Leroy Stephens Mount Pleasant Institute Endowment and Scholarship Fund. Stephens House on Sixth Street, which serves as a dormitory for girls, was named for him. John's mother had been a teacher of Latin and science at the Seminary after the Civil War.

He was born Dec. 19, 1879 in the parsonage of the First Baptist Church at Mt. Pleasant. When he was 16 his family moved to Lewisburg. He graduated from the Academy in 1897 and entered college the next fall. While a student he joined the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, and graduated cum laude in 1901.

Anxious to see the world, he and a friend worked their way to Canada and went from there to England on a cattle boat. They joined the Buffalo Bill show which was playing in England at the time. This experience was packed full of excitement, and John kept people entertained for years with his tales of those Buffalo Bill shows.

Returning to the States, he began a 20-year career as salesman for the American Lead Pencil Co., in New York. This work took him to all parts of the country. It was on one of these trips that he met Sadie Lee Golden of Harrisonburg, Va., whom he married, moving with her and their small son to Palo Alto in 1912, where they have lived ever since.

In 1921 he joined the firm of Schwabacher and Co., investment brokers, with whom he remained until his death.

He attended his 50th class reunion in 1951, after which all the members of the Stephens family had a reunion on the Bucknell campus.

In 1952 he and his wife planned a vacation trip to Alaska which almost ended in disaster. They sailed on the Canadian Pacific's 6,000-ton Princess Kathleen, queen of the Alaskan lines. At 3:15 one morning, when they were only 18 miles from Juneau, there was a violent shock and sound of grinding metal. People were thrown from their bunks and warning was issued over the loud speakers to abandon ship. The Kathleen had steamed onto shore on a high ledge of the Alaskan mainland. In its Sept. 22, 1952, issue, Life magazine carried pictures of the sinking of this boat. The Stephens, along with all other passengers lost all their belongings. They were happy to return to Palo Alto and replenish their wardrobes.

Last fall they flew east to visit friends and relatives. After visiting in New York, Richmond, Washington, Pittsburgh and St. Petersburg, John made a trip to Mt. Pleasant to visit his boyhood friends.

In addition to his civic interests and his contributions to the community, John had played a large part in the planning and building of the beautiful First Baptist Church in Palo Alto. He was a Mason and had served as city councilman.

Surviving are his widow and three children: John S. Jr. of Time-Life, New York; Robert of Palo Alto; and Mrs. David Thompson of Sonoma, Calif.; one brother, Albert W. Stephens '96; and three sisters, Gertrude S. Downs '99; Elizabeth S. Rounner '18; and Ruth S. Porter '05. Another brother and three sisters preceded him in death: Woodward Stephens '96; Mary S. Morgan '99; Alif Stephens '04, and Anna Stephens '03.

H. WALTER HOLTER '24, FORMER BUCKNELL REGISTRAR, SUCCUMBS

Bucknellians will learn with deep regret of the death of Henry Walter Holter, 61, former registrar of Bucknell, on March 16 at his home, 205 South Thirteenth St., Lewisburg, after several years of declining health.

A native of Howard, Penna., he was a graduate of Howard High School. Prior to his entrance as a student at Bucknell in 1920, he had attended Central State Normal School and had been an elementary teacher for four years and an elementary school principal for three years. During his student days he earned his way by working in the Alumni office and during his senior year he was assistant editor of the Bucknell Alumni Monthly, now THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Besides this large burden of work, he held many student offices and was graduated, cum laude, in 1924. He was an active member of the SAE fraternity. Immediately following graduation, he was appointed assistant registrar, to replace Theron Clark. In 1925 he was named registrar and held this position until he retired in 1946 because of ill health. After a partial recovery of his health, he became director of the visual aids library at Bucknell and served in this capacity for several years.

During his years of declining health his chief hobby had been stamp collecting. He was a charter member of the West Branch Stamp Club organized in 1939 for the exchange and sale of stamps by philatelists of the area. He was a Mason and had served eight years as secretary of the Lewisburg Lions Club. He was an active member of Beaver Memorial Methodist Church in Lewisburg.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Sarah M. Lehman Holter, and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Holter Kwasnoi '52, wife of Martin Kwasnoi '52, of Elizabeth, N. J.

Walter was the brother of Cameron B. Holter '21 and an uncle of Margaret Holter '24 and Donald C. Holter '50.

In a statement to Mr. Holter's colleagues at Bucknell, President Odgers stated: "His quiet and gentlemanly efficiency marked him as a most valued officer of the University administration."

DR. ROBERT LINDNER, PSYCHOANALYST, DIES AT 41

Dr. Robert M. Lindner, Bucknell alumnus, prominent psychologist-psychoanalyst and author, died Feb. 27 at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore of a heart ailment. He was 41 years old.

Dr. Lindner's death came as a shock to thousands of Bucknellians. He was a member of the Class of 1935, and returned to the campus last May as speaker at the annual banquet of the Bucknell chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

He was born in New York City in 1914 and was educated in the public schools of that city. He received his M.A. degree in psychology at Cornell University in 1935 where he later earned a Ph.D.

In 1938 he became associated with the New Jersey State Department of Institutions and Agencies. From there he went to the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg as a psychologist. It was while serving in this capacity that he took the case history of a criminal psychopath which supplied the material for his book Rebel Without A Cause, written in 1944. Last year Warner Brothers produced a motion picture about juvenile delinquency under that title that won several Oscar Awards. He became chief of the Psychiatric-Psychological Division at the Lewisburg institution.

Dr. Lindner served in World War II as an officer of the United States Public Health Service. Thereafter he entered private psychoanalytical practice in Baltimore. He had also served as chief consultant for the Maryland Board of Corrections.

He was author of more than 90 essays, articles and reviews in the field of criminology, hypnoanalysis, psychoanalysis, and clinical psychology, as well as editor of Contemporary Criminal Hygiene (1946), The Handbook of Correctional Psychology (1947), and Explorations in Psychoanalysis (1953). His books include Rebel Without A Cause (1944); Stone Walls and Men (1946); Prescription For Rebellion (1952), and The Fifty Minute Hour (1955). His latest book, which was published in January, Must You Conform?, was dedicated to Dr. P. L. Harriman of the Bucknell faculty and was reviewed in the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

In 1954, together with Albert Einstein and Justice William O. Douglas, Dr. Lindner was awarded the Accepted Fellowship

Christy Mathewson - - Great Athlete, Soldier and Christian Gentleman

A Christian College Training

A THIRD cornerstone of our American Way of Life is the Christian college which recognizes that the only really good education is the education of a good man. Who is more dangerous than a devil? An educated devil. A good education is the discipline of a man's body, mind and spirit. Christy was indefatigable in his practice of pitching ball and drop-kicks. Stagg once paid me the compliment of saying that I never missed a practice. Perhaps that was the reason why I was able to play 98 inter-collegiate games without being retired by injury from a single game. Christy had everything needed for a great baseball player: strength, intelligence, courage, willingness and tranquillity of mind. As a college man he was in great demand as a speaker for boys' clubs and college gatherings. Christy revolutionized baseball by fidelity to his ideals. It was the quality of his mind and heart rather than the skill of his arm and fingers that gave him his eminence. He was an example of integrity of character and high ideals. He was an expert and a Christian athlete also.

Christy had humility, but he also had plenty of self-confidence which is needed for any kind of success in life. He also had enough common sense and good judgment to know that there is a world of difference between a rational self-esteem and a ridiculous self-conceit. Christy had a record of honesty, cleanness and courage. As manager of the Cincinnati team, he denounced one of his players as a tool of gamblers in the White Sox scandal. His was a magnetic personality and while some players have been the idols of their city, Christy was the idol of the nation.

A Man of Versatility

HE WAS a versatile man, a leader in varied sports, fullback in football, baseball pitcher, center in basketball, played the bass horn in the band, member of the glee club, freshman class historian, member of Euepia Literary Society and senior class president. His college record was clean in every respect. He was a good student, a remarkable athlete, a favorite socially and was clean morally. He exemplified Christ's command: "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven." Good example is more needed than precept or preaching. At the end of his junior year he became a member of the N. Y. Giants and as a Major League pitcher won 372 games for them. He had the remarkable record of pitching 3 games against the Philadelphia Athletics in one week without letting them score a single run. Christy Mathewson is remembered for what he has done. His accomplishments have thrilled millions of people.

Activities Develop Character

THE world will not soon forget what he did for them by his triumphant accomplishments. But few may have considered what athletics did for him. There is an invisible emanation that rises up from work or play and builds itself into our character and character is immortal. In our philosophy of life we must note what athletics can do for a man with Christy's spirit. On my family monument in Chicago I had this text engraved: "Let them rest from their toil for what they have done will go with them." Those qualities of character, developed by honest work and praiseworthy sports, are a part of our life for time and eternity. The past is forever ours. My father was not a college man, but he used his brains and knew that honest work develops honest character, when he showed me, a boy of 10, how to dig around the stumps so grain would grow and found me doing shoddy work by "cut and cover" and he gave me his only whipping for not doing work as well as I knew how. Shoddy work develops shoddy character. I still bless him for that discipline. It helped me in my work as student, teacher, minister and physician. I have found that the highest satisfaction in life comes from the way we do our work rather than for the kind of work we do. That was Christy's life philosophy and practice. We will do well to follow his example.

While Christy was almost idolized by the boys and young men of his generation I do not hold him up as a perfect example. There has been only one perfect man. Jesus was the ideal man and the more a man becomes like Him the more of a man he is. He not only shows us what to be but He helps us to be it. Follow Christy only as he followed the Man of Galilee.

A Generous Man

I HAVE not time to hold up each of the high qualities of his character for our emulation, but I do want to mention his generosity. Like Albert Schweitzer he was a versatile man and had dramatic and musical ability. When he became nationally known, the theatres sought his services during the winter and he was given a part in a travelling theatrical show. He received a good salary and was very popular. When he played in Chicago scores of boys were at the theatre to see him. He loved boys and arranged with the manager to pass them in and charge to his account. It was noised about and the boys became still more numerous and at the end of the week he had scarcely enough left to pay his hotel bill. His autographed baseballs were in much demand and he had a trunk full of autographed balls shipped to each town where he played which were sold and the proceeds given to charity.

I was interested in this activity because I was vice president of the Chicago Dramatic Society and played the part of Lincoln in Drinkwater's play in Sinai Temple and as a result, was asked to take part in a great pageant of the centennial history of Illinois in the Auditorium Theatre which seated 4,000. I was asked to be Lincoln in the Inaugural Ball scene and was professionally made-up to be the "spittin' image" of Lincoln—just as tall and skinny and handsome—and when I appeared on the stage with the members of my cabinet and their wives and the young people to dance the minuet, an orchestra of 40 pieces struck up "Hail to the Chief." That Saturday matinee and night performance cleared $11,000 for the Soldiers' Recreation Fund. The scene was also repeated under the auspices of the Princeton Foundation in 10 city parks with attendance of 5,000 to 15,000.

War Hero and Tragedy

CHRISTY was with the N. Y. Giants 16 years and became the greatest pitcher of his time. He was a hero on the ball field, but a greater hero on the field of life. He was greater than his game. He loved his sport and his profession, but he loved his country more. His manhood took him to France as captain of a gas division where he was poisoned by German mustard gas which resulted in a tubercular infection. This was the great tragedy of his life.

He returned to the land he loved, went to Saranac Lake Hospital where for five years he battled the great white plague. His wife was his cheerleader and nurse, at his side day and night. He wanted her near him always and she wanted to be near him. He fully realized the gravity of his condition and having made all preparations for death, made a long uphill struggle for life. Any man of ordinary make-up would have gone by the end of the first six months, as prognosticated by his physicians, but Christy was more than ordinary. It was alone his strength of character, his unflinching courage and confidence that kept him alive as long as he did live. If he was great as he stood forth in the noonday of his power, still on the upward curve, he was greater as he passed down into the valley of the shadows. He was courageous to the last and when finally he gave up the battle and smilingly arranged for his burial near the Bucknell campus, he said to his beloved wife: "Now Jane, I suppose you will have to go out and have a good cry. Don't make it a long one. It cannot be helped." For his country he paid the last full measure of devotion in his 45th year.

He had an only son, whom to know personally was to love as a fraternity brother. In his field of service as a Colonel of the Air Force he too had what seemed an untimely death.

Tragedy Turned Into Blessing

WE ALL may have to meet some tragedy in life. I had to meet tragedy in the death of my only son, born in the same year as Christy's son. My wife was pregnant while I was in the medical school and I put her under the care of the best obstetrician in Chicago. An infection of impetigo contagiosa broke out in this Lying-in Hospital near the college and 3 infants died and my son was one of them. I had never lost a single case in childbirth during my practice, with sometimes 2 or 3 babies in one night. It was hard for me to reconcile myself with the thought that his short life of 18 days would be nothing to the world. So in the Twenties when we were all earning good money, I decided to establish at the Chicago Y. M. C. A., (which I joined at Bucknell in 1887) and of which I am now the oldest member, a Memorial Fund for character building work of the boys and girls of Chicago. So in 1929 I went to the Secretary and told him my purpose to give $500 or more each year as long as I lived, until the fund would represent as many dollars as I received for 4 years as a teacher and 16 years as a pastor. The Secretary clapped me on the shoulder and said: "Doctor, we are praying for you to live 100 years." I have been waiting around to see if those prayers will be answered. The boys and girls of Chicago are being saved by disciplined character-building activities.

Last December I was asked to give the dedicatory address in a $2,000,000 Washington Park Y. M. C. A. building in the midst of 250,000 Negroes, where the Youth Lobby has a memorial plaque in memory of my son. It serves the vital needs of a large community for dormitory, athletic, civic and religious activities.

Finally, let me express my belief that Christy very likely knows what is going on in his fraternity house tonight. Moses and Elias met Christ on the Transfiguration Mount. One had died about 1500 years before and the other did not die but was translated about 900 years before; yet they found each other in heaven and were there on the Mount talking with Christ about contemporary happenings.

is taken out of the stockade by following the method described above. Once all of the wild elephants are out of the stockade, another attempt is made to drive in some wild elephants in order to take advantage of the stockade already built and the crew being assembled in the kheda camp. At the time we were there the kheda had already cost about twenty thousand rupees which is astonishingly small by our standards as that is only about $4,000. The price of perhaps a five-year old elephant, trained only in the rudiments of work, would be about two thousand rupees delivered in Chittagong which is a sixty-mile walk from where the elephant was captured. A fully trained elephant at the port of Chittagong would be worth about four thousand rupees or $1,000.

Up to now I have neglected to speak in detail about the little three-week old baby elephant. Well, in the stockade which was pretty well filled by fifteen elephants with just room enough left to mull around the circular stockade, the little baby elephant scurried around beneath the bellies and feet of the older elephants. Every once in a while it would get stepped on or buffeted and squealed like a stuck pig. This baby elephant still had a lot of hair left on it and was constantly trying to get little sustenance from its mother. Apparently the baby elephant had an older brother because the mother elephant and a small male elephant would constantly try to ward off the rest of the herd and protect the baby elephant. Perhaps most touching of all was when Lalbahadur, the big bull tusk domestic elephant who was about forty years old, stood outside the gate jabbing those who came near with his tusks, the most defiant one of all the wild elephants was the mother of the baby elephant supported by the baby elephant's brother who stood in the forefront ready to fight to the death to protect the baby elephant from Lalbahadur. Interestingly enough it is often the female elephant, sometimes an old grandmother, who is the general commanding officer of a captured herd of wild elephants and will organize the effort to resist.

After returning to Chittagong, which took all day by jeep, we flew to Jessore the next morning and then jeeped to Khulna on the Ganges River. Here we boarded a fine two-storied houseboat that would sleep thirteen people in staterooms. I was able to invite six of the American staff and colony to join us on the river trip down to the famous Sunderbans delta forest land. This is very wild jungle land which abounds in game including tigers, deer and crocodile. For four months of the year it is completely under water and the deer stand waist high in water night and day. Then the waters recede and fall into their channels. During the rainy season snakes are very abundant also.

In these river channels there are both alligator and crocodile with the crocodile more common. The best time to hunt crocodile is in December when the water is cold and the skies are clear. This combination induces the crocodiles to climb up on the muddy river banks at low tide and sun themselves. Often they snooze with their great mouths open as wide as six feet and the birds come around and pick their teeth for them while they sleep. Unfortunately beginning this first week of February, the water had warmed up and the skies had clouded over so we had only two hours of sunshine each day. Nonetheless, with one of the sixty-foot boats on one bank and the other on the opposite bank, the group saw four crocodiles. One of them slithered into the water before we even had time to grab our guns, but we did get shots at the other three. They are amazingly difficult to see as they are exactly the color of mud banks and it takes a sharp eye to distinguish them even if you are as close as fifty to seventy-five yards. They seldom go far from water and move into the water where they are lost, you have to hit them in a vulnerable spot such as the eyes or just back of the head. We did not succeed in stopping any we saw from getting into the water though we think some of our bullets hit them.

When we pulled out of Delhi in our Embassy plane, there was a sudden queer noise, and before we knew it almost, we were back at New Delhi. Examinations showed a new cylinder was required in one of the engines so Dassy, Mummy and I took the Pakistan International Airlines back to Karachi where we arrived safe and sound but cold because that line had no heater in its cabin, and flying at nine thousand feet even above the desert was very cold. Thus ended another interesting trip.

Now began the most dangerous task of tying or hobbling the wild elephant. The wild elephant was fed bundles of bamboo and held in on all sides by tame elephants, and then a very brave man got down on the ground and worked ropes around the wild elephant's legs just like hobbling a camel or horse. After his hind legs were hobbled, the rope connecting the hobble to the two hind legs was run through the stockade and hitches taken around some of the buttressing poles.

Then began the delicate and difficult task of getting a noose around the elephant's neck. This rope was as big as a ship's hawser. Again and again they tried to slip this hawser over the elephant's head and trunk but the makna (tuskless male) would seize it in his mouth and work his trunk under the noose and get it back over his head. Finally success was achieved and there was the first elephant hobbled and noosed. The makna would be left there overnight and then, hobbled and noosed, would be led a quarter of a mile away to a cleared place with water in it so he could drink and then the long laborious process of training commenced. This takes several months and the principal method used is to have the wild elephant placed between two tame elephants and then the tame elephants perform according to command and the wild elephant eventually learns what he is supposed to do on a given order.

Each day or two another wild elephant

THE VIRGINIA LANDS OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

(Editor's note—The following resume of the 34-page brochure, prepared by Dr. J. Orin Oliphant, professor of history at Bucknell University, and Mr. John T. Shirley '09, trustee of Bucknell University, is just a brief review of this significant episode in the history of Bucknell University. A limited number of copies are available on a first come, first served basis. Alumni desiring a copy of the brochure should write to Miss Trennie E. Easley, director of public relations, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Penna.)

The authors of this historical sketch have endeavored to present the story of a significant episode in the history of Bucknell University at the request of the University Trustees, from whom they have received the fullest co-operation. They have been given access to the extant records of the transaction about which they have written, and they have used these records to the best of their ability. Every statement of fact that they have made is sustained either by documentary evidence or by the oral testimony of competent witnesses.

In the text of the sketch credit is given not only to the donors of the Virginia lands to Bucknell University, but also to those members of the Board of Trustees who willingly accepted the responsibility of administering these lands.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University on June 8, 1923, in Lewisburg, Rush H. Kress announced the desire of James Simmons Swartz, Chairman of the Board, to give to Bucknell University, for the benefit of its endowment fund, a tract of about 594 acres of undeveloped land lying alongside the Potomac River, between Alexandria and Mount Vernon, in Fairfax County, Virginia. With deep appreciation the Board accepted this gift, and "authorized Mr. Kress to complete the necessary negotiations for the same and to extend to Mr. Swartz the thanks and gratitude of the Board." On July 2, 1923, Mr. Swartz deeded this tract of land to the University.

A few months later in Philadelphia, on December 15, 1923, Mr. Swartz informed the Board of Trustees, at its semi-annual meeting, that his friend Henry J. Loftus had deeded to Bucknell University a tract of about 240 acres of undeveloped land adjacent to the tract that he had given. This gift is known as the gift of Sara Josephine Loftus. An oil portrait of Mrs. Loftus, presented to Bucknell by Mr. Swartz in 1927, hangs in Hunt Hall living-room. The names of both Mr. and Mrs. Loftus have been inscribed on the roll of Founders of Bucknell.

Rich historical associations as well as tender sentiments cluster about the Virginia lands that were given to Bucknell. They lie in the Northern Neck of Virginia and were the proprietorship of Lord Fairfax. In this Northern Neck are lands once owned by John Marshall, and in it Arlington, the home of Robert E. Lee and Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington, are located.

However much the gifts of Virginia lands may have stirred the sentiments, the Trustees of the University knew well that the gifts had raised questions and responsibilities that pressed hard upon them. These lands were unimproved and unproductive and, moreover, were subject to taxation by the state of Virginia. It raised the question of whether they should be sold or be held for improvement in value. Presumably Mr. Swartz believed they should not be held. However, such an opinion was not held by Rush H. Kress and some of the other Trustees.

In June 1924, at their annual meeting, the Board of Trustees appointed a committee of five trustees to handle the Virginia Lands.

In 1926 the University was asked to convey a strip, two hundred feet wide, through its Virginia property for use as a part of a right of way for a proposed Mount Vernon Memorial Highway. Like the other owners of property that would be affected, the Trustees believed that such a thoroughfare would enhance the value of the Virginia lands. By an act approved by President Calvin Coolidge on May 23, 1928, Congress authorized the building of the Memorial Highway.

During the darkest days of the depression the University sold 260 acres of its Virginia property to the Smoot Sand and Gravel Company for the sum of $100,000. It was a strip of land which lay between the Memorial Highway and the Potomac River. This sale was a fortunate one. Because of it, the University was able to tide the depression years. Of the original property, Bucknell still possessed about 524 acres. In May 1948 an option agreement for purchase by sections of the lands during a period of eight years was drawn up, and on June 4, 1949, the option agreements were signed and executed. The purchasers were Mr. Ford and Mr. Gosnell, of Arlington, Virginia, who assigned to the Bucknell Syndicate, the newly formed corporation for which they acted as trustees.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees in June 1955, it was reported that all contracts covering the Virginia property had been completed and the proceeds amounted to $1,080,390.30 and the committee was discharged.

The story of the ownership of the Virginia lands by the University revealed an example of intelligent and faithful stewardship. Thanks to such stewardship, two relatively small gifts were made to yield a large return, not only to Bucknell but also to Fairfax County, Virginia, for the University was not a wasteful exploiter of its lands. Today this property is worth much more to Fairfax County in beauty and in money, than Bucknell gained by its ownership of it.

As a landholder, Bucknell University has withdrawn from the Northern Neck of Virginia, but its name will long remain in this historic part of the Old Dominion. The men who bought the property not only gave the name of Bucknell to the syndicate that they formed for the purpose of developing the property; they also bestowed upon one of their developments on this property the name of Bucknell Manor, an attractive suburban settlement. From this settlement one may look eastward across the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway to the quiet waters of the broad Potomac, and from an elevation called Bucknell Heights, within the settlement, one may look down upon the gracefully winding highway which connects Mount Vernon and the lovely city of Washington, our national capital.

Liming '33 Heads Industrial Editors

William S. Liming, president of the Bucknell University General Alumni Association, who is manager of service promotion in the Group Insurance Division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, was elected president of the American Association of Industrial Editors at the AAIE annual meeting at the Hotel Commodore in New York on March 7.

Bill is another of those Bucknellians who has stuck with the subject studied in college. Journalism was his ambition, and he has been in some form of it ever since he graduated. In addition to his managerial position with Metropolitan Life, Bill edits an employe publication news service for several thousand editors of Metropolitan Group-insured firms. He is well-known as a consultant on employe publications and is the author of several published surveys in this field.

At Bucknell, Bill edited L'AGENDA and the Bucknellian, contributed to Bucknell Verse and produced the senior publication, Commencement News. He has been doing some form of writing since then, starting out by editing a small-town newspaper weekly in New Jersey, and later going to New York City to enter daily newspaper work. During World War II, he was a Lieutenant (jg) in the Navy, and had charge of preparing training courses in the Bureau of Personnel, Washington, D. C.

Bill is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, formerly Alpha Chi Mu, and also belongs to Pi Delta Epsilon and Sigma Tau Delta honoraries.

Here's another of those Bucknell romances, too, for Bill is married to the former Ruth E. Rohr, Class of 1934. Their home is on suburban Long Island, at 396 Andrews Rd., East Williston. They have two children, a daughter, Ruth Gail and a son, Robert Geoffrey.

On April 12, Bill was interviewed on Channel 5 WABD-TV by Tex McCrary.

Christy had a remarkable memory of his opponents' strength and weaknesses and pitched accordingly. In the parable of Dives and Lazarus God's message to the selfish rich man was: "Son, remember." And if the sinner remembers surely the good man will not be stricken with amnesia. We shall remember over there.

Paul mentions a long list of heroes and heroines of the faith through past centuries and with the Olympic Sports Arena in mind says: "Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us also lay aside every weight, and sin which clings so closely, and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith..." So may we run, as Christy ran in the arena of life and remember his earthly triumphs in winning "the prize of the high calling of God." The past is ours forever.

PITTSBURGH LUNCHEON MOVES

The weekly luncheon meetings of the Pittsburgh alumni group have been moved to the LAW AND FINANCE BUILDING RESTAURANT, 429 Fourth Avenue, Pittsburgh.

The time of the luncheons has also been changed to EVERY FRIDAY AT TWELVE NOON.

A cordial invitation to all Bucknellians to attend the weekly luncheons is extended by Floyd L. Arbogast, Jr. '40, newly elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania.

New Dean Appointed

DR. KARL DREW HARTZELL

Dr. Karl Drew Hartzell, at present Dean of the College, Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, will become Dean of the University at Bucknell this summer. He will take over duties performed since 1945 by Dr. William H. Coleman, Vice President and Dean of the College. Dr. Coleman retires as Dean, but will continue to serve as Vice President and Coordinator of The Bucknell Study, a survey of the curriculum. Dr. Hartzell was born in Chicago in 1906, lived in California from 1910 to 1916, and moved to New England when his father died in 1916. He is a graduate of the Classical High School of Newton, Mass., and of Wesleyan University in Connecticut where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, served as president of the Christian Association, captained the tennis team, and participated in varsity swimming and soccer. As a graduate student in history at Harvard University he obtained the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. His thesis was entitled "Origins of English Secularism."

From 1935 to 1940 Dr. Hartzell was associate professor of economics and social science, Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, was in charge of the large freshman course in Western Civilization, and coached the Tech swimming team one year. During this period he was director for Georgia Tech of the Institute of Citizenship and for three summers served as visiting professor of history, Emory University, Atlanta.

Dr. Hartzell's next academic connection was as associate professor of social studies, State Teachers College, Geneseo, N. Y. For more than a year he was on leave from Geneseo as director, Division of Records and historian, New York State War Council. He was asked by the Governor's office to write a history of the state's war effort on the home front for publication by the War Council. The book was published by the State of New York in 1949 under the title, The Empire State at War: World War II.

From 1947 to 1950, Dr. Hartzell was administrative officer in the director's office, Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, L. I. This was followed by a two-year period during which he was in charge of Educational Services, Associated Universities, Inc., contractor with the Atomic Energy Commission for the operation of the laboratory. He was liaison man for Brookhaven with the Signal Corps on its program of shooting footage of AEC installations and in the making of the motion picture "Hot Lab." He wrote on request, Opportunities in Atomic Energy published by Vocational Guidance Manuals, Inc. in 1950.

Since 1952, Dr. Hartzell has been dean at Cornell College in Iowa. At Cornell Dr. Hartzell has coordinated the campus program and chief among his special responsibilities have been the curriculum and faculty personnel. He has directed an institutional self-study or faculty study of the curriculum. He has continued as a consultant in the Division of Educational Services of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Hartzell is a Methodist and he is the grandson of the Reverend Joseph Crane Hartzell, Methodist Bishop for Africa, 1896-1916. His memberships include Phi Beta Kappa, Beta Theta Pi, American Historical Association, Society of American Archivists, of chemistry, join us and tell us about the various programs Bucknell is carrying out. We were very interested in hearing about all the new buildings springing up and the renovations to the old ones we remember so well.

While in Wilmington, Dr. Kieft visited the laboratories of the Dupont Company at the Experimental Station where he conferred with personnel in the analytical section on equipment and techniques which might be adaptable in Bucknell's chemistry program.

Now that we are formally organized, we hope we will have the opportunity of meeting many more Bucknellians at future meetings.

NEW YORK MONTHLY LUNCHEON

Don't forget to circle MAY 23 on your calendar. To avoid meeting on Memorial Day, New York alumni will have their monthly luncheon meeting on Wednesday, MAY 23. Enjoy the fellowship of other Bucknellians at the Hotel Shelbourne, 37 and Lexington Avenue. Reservations for the luncheon will be received up to 11:45 a. m. of the day of the noon luncheon by calling Mrs. Amorita S. Copeland, Murray Hill 2-2505.

YORK—Officers were elected at the annual dinner meeting of the Bucknell University York County Alumni Club, held welcomed the group. Rachel introduced the speaker and presided, as retiring president.

ALUMNI WEEKEND

in Vaughan Literature Building, Bertrand Library and Olin Science Building for meetings and for the taking of the class group picture. At the same time, class regalia, to be sported in the Alumni Parade, will be distributed.

Each reuning class in their fancy hats, will have a special place in the Alumni Parade to the Davis Gymnasium where the annual Alumni Reunion Luncheon for all classes will be held.

The Annual Alumni Luncheon

The luncheon will be substantial, the speeches few and short, with ample opportunities to meet Bucknellians of all classes and to enjoy the privilege of seeing the senior class inducted into the Alumni Association. At this gathering the Alumni Achievement Award Chair will be presented to the winner of the award and other important announcements will be made.

Following the luncheon, reuning classes will move to spots on and off the campus for their social gatherings while other Alumni will no doubt take advantage of seeing the baseball game, enjoying the sand traps on the Bucknell University golf course, or viewing the Reunion Exhibits in the Bertrand Library.

The Evening Program

Saturday evening will provide a variety of interesting entertainment but high on the list of "must" activities will be a visit to the Alumni Jamboree and Entertainment in Davis Gymnasium where everybody meets everybody.

For those who can remain for the Sunday and Monday program, the Baccalaureate services Sunday evening, with the address by Dr. Herbert Gezork, President of Andover—Newton Theological Seminary, and the Commencement Exercises on Monday morning, featuring an address by his excellency, Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, will be events that will long be remembered.

Directors to Be Elected

Delegates to the Annual Assembly will vote for five Alumni to be elected to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association. The nominees who have agreed to be candidates include the following:

- Robert W. Dill '27, Plymouth Meeting, Penna.
- Donald W. Glover '41, Mullica Hill, N. J.
- Dr. William D. Golightly '25, Scranton, Penna.
- W. Dale Hay '49, Alexandria, Va.
- Miss Alice Roberts '24, Ardmore, Penna.
- Mrs. Paul M. Showalter (Katherine Graham '33), Lewisburg, Penna.
- Thomas W. Speck '37, Plainfield, N. J.
- Mrs. Craig M. Waldner (Anne H. Randle '42), Venetia, Penna.
- Nelson E. Wendt '46, East Williston, N. Y.
- William W. Wilkinson '46, Rye, N. Y.

Additional nominations from the floor can be made by any delegate attending the Annual Assembly at the time of the meeting of that body on Saturday, June 9 at 9:30 A. M. in the auditorium of the new Olin Science Building.

Local Alumni Clubs are urged to consider these and other candidates and instruct their delegates on how to vote in the election.

Present Provisions

- Section 4. Awards shall not be given to:
- (a) Trustees of the University and Directors of the General Alumni Association.
 - (b) Those who have received honorary degrees from the University.
 - (c) Those who are employed by the University.
 - (d) Those who have previously received the Alumni Award.
 - (e) More than two recipients each year; nor shall awards necessarily be given annually.
- Section 5. Recommendations for awards may be made at any time to the Alumni Secretary by any individual Alumnus or Alumna or by any Alumni Club. Recommendations shall include a list of activities in which the nominee has engaged in the interests of the University and the Association.
- Section 6. Recognition of services to Bucknell shall be shown in three distinct forms. One copy of each citation shall be given to the recipient of the award. Another copy of the citation shall be bound in a book with all the previous citations. This book shall be kept in the University library and shall be made available for consultation. Each recipient shall be given a Bucknell chair with appropriate University design and having on its back an engraved metal plate showing the name of the recipient.
- Section 7. The rules governing the awards may be waived or amended at any time by the consent of a majority of the Board of Directors of the Association.

ARTICLE XII — COMMITTEES

Section 5. Alumni Award Committee. This committee appointed by the President of the Association shall consist of five members whose terms, except for those on the original committee, shall be five years. The original committee appointed shall have the terms staggered so that a new member may be added each year. After the original committee has been appointed, the new member added annually shall be a recipient of the previous year's award, if any. Vacancies on the committee shall be filled by appointment by the President of the Association.

recipient's name and the date of citation, along with the University's crest or an appropriate campus scene. Recognition in the third category of service to Bucknell, as set forth in Section 2c, shall be shown in three distinct forms: One copy of a written citation shall be given to the recipient; another copy of the written citation shall be bound in a book with all previous citations and kept in the University library for consultation; and a chair with an engraved metal plate showing the name of the recipient and appropriate University design shall be presented to the recipient.

Section 4. The President of the Association shall appoint an Alumni Awards Committee to select the respective recipients. The Committee, in its selection considerations, shall be guided by the following principles of eligibility:

(a) Except as otherwise specified in Section 5 of this Article, any living Alumnus, Alumna, or former student of the University is eligible as a candidate for award.

(b) Recipients shall be recognized for achievements in one or more such aspects as developing products or services, promoting efficiency, effecting discovery or invention, displaying exceptional leadership, enriching program efforts, and expanding specialized activities: for continuous service over an extensive period of time for a constructive cause; and for a reputation of high moral and ethical character.

(c) With respect to the third category of award cited in Section 2 of this Article, the recipient shall have assisted in expanding the usefulness, influence, and prestige of the University through interesting good young men and women to attend Bucknell; through demonstrating a willingness, insofar as location and opportunities permit, to devote time and energy as Class Fund Manager, class correspondent, class officer, or as a worker in special projects sponsored by the University or the Association from time to time; and through a consistent record of supporting the University according to his or her means.

Section 5. Awards shall not be given to:

(a) Trustees of the University and Directors of The General Alumni Association;

(b) Those who have received honorary degrees from the University;

(c) Those who are employed by the University;

(d) Those who have previously received an Alumni Award in the currently suggested category;

(e) More than one recipient in each category each year; nor, after proper deliberation and decision, shall awards necessarily be given annually.

Section 6. Recommendations for awards may be made at any time to the Alumni Secretary by individual Alumni or by any Alumni Club. Such recommendations shall include listings of activities of the nominee or nominees pertinent to the respective awards for which consideration is requested.

Section 7. The rules governing the awards may be waived or amended at any time by the consent of a majority of the Board of Directors of the Association.

Article XII — Committees

Section 5. Alumni Awards Committee. This committee appointed by the President of the Association shall consist of nine members, whose terms, except for those on the original committee, shall be for three years. The original committee appointed shall have the terms staggered so that three new members may be added each year. After the original committee has been appointed, the three new members added annually shall be the recipients of the previous year's awards, if any. Vacancies on the committee shall be filled by appointment by the President of the Association.

Kensington Christian Center on Hancock Street below York for service to all members of the community regardless of race, color or creed. Dedicated on March 5, 1955, the Center has begun to contribute notably to the fight against juvenile delinquency in that area.

An author, hymn publisher, musician, traveler, athlete, and raconteur, Dr. Williams is a man of many abilities and varied interests. He has written a religious book, Stars of the Morning, which has been widely read, and he has contributed for more than 40 years to various young people's and adult publications of the Baptist denomination.

Among the Baptist notables who spoke at Sunday services and Sunday School during the anniversary week were Rev. Anthony Vasquez '37 of St. John's Baptist Church, Philadelphia; Dr. Richard A. Hoiland, associate executive secretary of the Board of Education and Publications of the American Baptist Convention; Dr. Ivan Murray Rose of the First Baptist Church, Philadelphia; and Dr. William S. Abernathy, formerly of the Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C., Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, vice president and director of development, Bucknell, attended the testimonial dinner as a representative of the University. A life story in pictures of Dr. Williams' career was presented in the March 17 issue of Life.

Dr. Williams graduated from Bucknell magna cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1903, obtained his Master of Arts the following year, and graduated from Crozer Theological Seminary with a Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1906. An honorary Doctor of Divinity degree was conferred on him by Bucknell in 1925. He lives at 545 E. Leverington Ave., Philadelphia, with his wife Jennie.

Williams '03 Serves 50 Years

In honor of his 50th anniversary as its pastor, Alpha Baptist Church, Philadelphia, held a testimonial dinner for Dr. Howard K. Williams '03 at Temple University's Mitten Hall on Thursday, March 1.

The dinner signalled the start of eleven days of celebration of the anniversary. A highlight was Home Night on March 7 when Dr. Williams was honored by six former Alpha members who have joined the ministry.

Guest speaker at the testimonial dinner was Dr. V. Carney Hargroves, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Germantown and author of the article "I Went Preaching Through Russia" published in the December 10 issue of The Saturday Evening Post. Dr. Hargroves is a past president of the American Baptist Convention.

Dr. Clarence W. Cranford '29, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of Washington, D. C., and known affectionately to the late Dr. Peter Marshall as "Cranmy," served as toastmaster.

Dr. Williams has set a memorable record of achievement during his 50 years as pastor of Alpha. At his direction and under his guidance, the present church building was constructed at Hancock and York Streets, in Philadelphia's industrial Kensington district, between 1906 and 1918. Through the years he has maintained a strong and active membership despite the emigration of many church members to the suburbs and other more distant residential areas of the city.

In 1955 he founded and activated the

The Bucknell Review

Now available at Bertrand Library is the March issue of the Bucknell Review, the second issue now including articles by contributors other than Bucknell faculty members. Represented in these open pages are two professional men not associated with the university: Ordway Tead, a member of the Board of Higher Education of New York City, contributes a paper entitled College Learning and Teaching Reexamined; and Leo L. Rockwell, director of the School of Languages and Literature, Colgate University, offers "Extraordinary Efflorescence of-EE." Widely different essays they may be, but both are of general interest to the active, curious mind. Mr. Tead writes for teachers but comprehends the taught in his attempt to evaluate college education in the light of recent psychological scholarship. In answering the question of how a teacher can impart a true, meaningful, and permanent learning experience, he advocates "life-centered" learning that must satisfy the basic needs of students as individuals, and at the same time make them aware of their place in and relation to the world around them. To give this utility and meaning to his subject-matter, each teacher must be constantly aware of the derivative values of his instruction; he must consciously, methodically incorporate broad, humanistic objectives in his subject. If he does not, he can expect his students to continue to memorize then promptly forget the material, never to realize what the subject-matter could mean in their lives. Although Mr. Tead's paper suffers from a restriction of space which leads him into many inconclusive statements and frequently into the textbook style of mechanical enumeration of points, it is cogently written by a man obviously sincere and dedicated to the improvement of higher education.

Dr. Rockwell's paper, though much more limited in intention and scope than is Mr. Tead's, is given a general application to a subject of interest to all by an introduction which enables the linguistic neophyte to relate the emergence of the suffix "-ee" (as in flunkee: "one who has flunked") to the origin and development of the English language, thus giving readers an idea of how language grows. Beginning with brief remarks about Anglistics, the study of English, the writer gives a short summary of the history of the language and then traces the development of the suffix "-ee" from 1495 to present times and lists his collection of coined words using this suffix that he noted between 1940 and 1954, the period of efflorescence which saw draftee set off a deluge of similarly coined words such as murderee and tippee. Dr. Rockwell makes a clear exposition of this linguistic study and in so doing offers the reader an insight into the often complex, sometimes illogical, but always interesting changes that make the English language a flexible tool of communication.

The Bucknell faculty is best represented by Dr. Mildred Martin, professor of English, who writes The Last Shall Be First: A Study of Three Russian Short Stories, the stories being Dostoevski's The Thief, Gogol's The Cloak, and Turgenev's Biryuk, all of which indirectly express the Christian truths of humility and brotherhood. Writing with clarity and a sure command of subject-matter and of thesis, Dr. Martin analyzes these stories to demonstrate ably that what the characters experience is experienced emotionally by the reader and that this "emotional realization" given by the stories is a real feeling of brotherhood and humility. Thus, her thesis is that reading literature is concrete experience that vividly and forcefully impresses upon us theological truths that mean little if we read them expressed in abstract terms. This essay, too, is of general interest; for, though it deals with only three short stories, its thesis is applicable to all literature which indirectly speaks to both the heart and mind of man.

"Some Commemorative Translations of Faust" is Dr. Adolf I. Frantz' contribution to the Review. Long a professor of German at Bucknell and long a Goethe scholar, Dr. Frantz here examines three translations of Faust, one in prose, another in poetry, and a third abridged version in poetry. What this essay lacks in unity and broad significance is partly compensated for by detailed accounts of form, poetic elements, and diction, which are analyzed in the writer's attempt to determine faithfulness to the original in thought and artistic quality. The essay gives a few insights into the problems faced by a translator and offers the reader some aid in his choice of a translation of Faust.

Altogether, this issue of the Bucknell Review provides enjoyable reading for a wide audience. It argues well for the continued success of the new editorial policy of open pages, and proves again the quality of work produced at Bucknell.

Citation Given Dr. C. Ruth Bower '01

Honorary Recognition was conferred upon Catherine Ruth Bower of 6214 Kentucky Avenue, Pittsburgh, former president of the Pennsylvania League for Nursing Education, at the fifty-first annual convention of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association on October 20, 1955 in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh. The award which may be given only to two persons within a year, is bestowed in tribute on those who have rendered distinguished service and valuable assistance to the nursing profession in Pennsylvania.

The following citation was given to Dr. Bower by Mrs. Martha C. Forejt, president of Pennsylvania Nurses Association:

"Ruth Bower is a familiar name to thousands of nurses in Pennsylvania and to others who have now left our state. She was director of nursing at West Penn from 1920 to 1935, when she went to the University of Pennsylvania to be one of the three nurses to open the Department of Nursing Education under the then new School of Education. A native of Pittsburgh, she received both a bachelor's and a master's degree from Bucknell University before entering the University of Pennsylvania Hospital School of Nursing.

"Among her many contributions to the nursing profession and to nursing education are her services, both as member and as chairman, of the State Board of Nurse Examiners. She was president of both the District 6 League and of the state league and member of the NLNE Board of Directors. She has also been active in PNA. She was chairman of the Committee to Advise with the Nurse Board from 1941 to 1946—chairman of the Committee on Distribution of Nursing Service for two years—and an active and participating member of the association during her entire career.

"Miss Bower is probably best known for her work at the University of Pennsylvania where she taught hundreds of nurses, bringing to them not only the subject matter of her courses, but guidance and moral support far beyond her obligation to her students. Her example and inspiration have helped many nurses become leaders in the profession, among them one of her many students and co-workers Elizabeth Porter, past president of the American Nurses Association. We know that these nurses join with us in expressing our pleasure at this time in giving Miss Bower a token of the affection and respect she has won in this state. This token is, of course, the association's Certificate of Honorary Recognition."

Outside her professional organizations, Dr. Bower has been an active member of the American Association of University Women, the League of Women Voters, the Academy of Political Science, and various educational organizations. In 1934 Bucknell awarded her the degree of Doctor of Science.

Dr. Bower feels that her greatest contribution to the cause of nursing education was the organization of the first five-year collegiate program for nurses in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which she inaugurated at the Western Pennsylvania Hospital in 1930.

Her many Bucknell friends wish to extend their congratulations upon her latest honor.

of the Fortean Society. He was also visiting professor at Adelphi College, New York.

Dr. Lindner was a member in many organizations, among them: Fellow, American Psychological Association; Fellow, American Association for the Advancement of Science; Senior Analyst, National Psychoanalytical Association for Psychoanalysis; and the Medical Correctional Association.

Surviving are his widow, the former Eleanor Johnson '34; three children, Marge, Dan and Eric; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindner, and a brother.

The following poem written on his passing by one of his classmates, Mrs. Paul J. Deschanel (Ann Orr), expresses the sentiments of all Bucknellians:

ROBERT LINDNER 1915-1956

Always when young his eager eyes
Looked not on earth, but searched dim galaxies
Intent, remote—a faith as strong
As saints! His sight as long
As telescopes! His purpose always clear:
To write, to delve, to fathom, and to hear
Some symphony divine. O such a teeming mind
And brilliant pen, stopped at the nascence of his very noon.
The mortal tongue cries out—"Too soon! Too soon!"
Earth rebel—never tied to land or sea
Insures by faith and works his immortality.

RUSSELL E. DENNIS, BURSAR, DIES

Russell E. Dennis, University bursar, died suddenly on Feb. 18 as a result of coronary thrombosis. He was 47 years old.

Mr. Dennis' sudden death came as a shock to the campus family. In a statement to all of the staff, faculty, and students, John F. Zeller, assistant to the president, said: "Mr. Dennis by his diligence and efficiency had become one of the most valued officers in the University. He was an active churchman and a willing leader of community activities. His services to the University and to the community will be greatly missed."

Mr. Dennis was born in West Milton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dennis, who reside in the community. He was graduated from Milton High School and received a degree of bachelor of science in economics from Lebanon Valley College in 1932. He later took postgraduate work at Bucknell and at George Washington University. Prior to joining the administrative staff at Bucknell in 1949, Mr. Dennis was controller for the Lewisburg Chair and Furniture Company, and before that had been chief accountant for the Citizens' Electric Company.

He is survived by his parents; his wife, the former Ruth Armacost; a brother and sister; and a son, Russell E. Dennis, Jr.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON '96
Eldred, Penna.

We are pleased to announce that Miss Mary Cotton '96 has accepted the appointment as Class Reporter for the Emeritus Club and that Colonel A. F. Dershimer '03 has accepted appointment as the fund manager. Beginning with the next academic year, he will serve as Emeritus fund manager for all those classes in the group beginning with 1885 and ending 1906 that do not now have a regularly appointed class fund manager. During the past few years, the contributions to the Bucknell Alumni Fund from members of the emeritus classes have been on the increase and last year this group of about 400 veteran Alumni of the University, the Academy and the Institute averaged 35 percent participation in the fund. As this is considerably above the average of all classes (21 percent), the officers of the club feel that with an emeritus fund manager, the contributions will become even more numerous. As mentioned above, classes now having regularly appointed class fund managers will continue to operate as heretofore, while Col. Dershimer will serve for those emeritus classes that do not have a regularly appointed class fund manager.

Charles Firth '96, a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, died at his family home in Arlington Heights, Ill., March 2. He was former dean of the Grand Island Baptist College, Nebraska.

As a student at Bucknell, Charles introduced basketball to the campus and played for three years on the football team. In 1895 he was manager of the football team. He attended the University of Chicago for three years where he played end and quarterback on the football team. He was a member of the C Club of the University of Chicago.

He had served as pastor of the LaVerne, Minn., Baptist Church and also of the Frazee, Minn., church. He was very active in YMCA work and had done national YMCA work with the army for five years.

Surviving are his wife, the former Johanna B. Berry, a daughter, Miss Margaret Firth of Arlington Heights, Ill. to whom sympathy is extended.

I pledge myself to be a good citizen.

To love God and my fellows.

To be honest and speak the truth.

To try to do to others as I would have them do to me.

And always be kind and courteous.

The above pledge was attached to a recent note from Dr. William Van V. Hayes '88. The pledge written on a plaque he recently placed on the wall of the Greenwich Boys' Club, Greenwich, Conn., of which he is a director, well exemplifies Dr. Hayes' own creed for a useful life. He has been a practicing physician in New York City since 1896 and was a professor at N. Y. Polytechnic for many years. He is still consultant in gastro-enterology. He commutes from his home in Greenwich four days each week to his office at 115 E. 61st St., N. Y. C., but reserves Wednesday and Saturday afternoons for playing golf. Dr. Hayes is one of the oldest officials of the YMCA Board of Directors in N. Y., and has been an elder of the Brick Presbyterian Church for 50 years.

Dr. Hayes writes, "I am very proud of Bucknell, and feel that in recent years there has been a distinct spiritual development on the campus."

It was he and a fellow student who selected Bucknell's school colors—orange and blue, which have been retained by the University. He was awarded an honorary degree at Bucknell in 1940.

Alumni Headquarters has received several copies of the article which appeared in the New York Times, Sunday, Nov. 27, 1955 about Britain G. Roth, believed to be dean of working newspaper men, who celebrated his 94th birthday on Nov. 22 by working as usual at his desk in the newsroom of The Allentown Evening Chronicle.

He attended the Academy for the term of 1875-76 when 14 years old. The article states that he and other boys smashed all the windows on one side of the dormitory building. After paying his son's share of the damage his father told him that he didn't send him away to school to break windows, and withdrew him from the Academy. He soon took a job as a printer's devil at The Chronicle. In the years since then he has never worked at anything except printing and writing.

From The Chronicle his trail led to cities in New York, Georgia and Ohio, before returning to Allentown as a cub reporter in 1902.

He is better known as "Old Timer" or "Brit" to intimates.

We were sorry to learn that because of ill health, Franklin I. Sigmund '95 has been confined to his room since June 1955. His address is Mickleton, N. J.

92 DR. ANDREW R. E. WYANT
2044 W. 110th Place
Chicago 43, Ill.

A letter from Mrs. Homer Dowlin brought us news of the death of her husband on Jan. 9. While a student at Bucknell, Homer was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

A letter from Rev. James M. Paterson, 106 Mullin Rd., Hilltop Manor, Wilmington, Del., brought to mind many fond memories—among them, our football victory over State College, 12-10. At the age of 93, attained Feb. 16, he says he still prefers the challenge of winter's blasts to tropical sunshine. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland in 1863. Perhaps that helps to explain his preference.

Mrs. George F. Solier (Frances Montgomery) of Bryan, Ohio reported her attendance at a Bucknell Alumni luncheon in St. Petersburg, Fla. in February. "Of the twenty Bucknellians present," she proudly confesses, "none there dated as far back as I did."

Your class reporter and fund manager spent the winter in West Palm Beach, Fla.

The sports editor of the Palm Beach Sunday Post, March 18, notes that the Washington, D. C. Star once called Dr. A. R. E. Wyant, the greatest college football player of all time, pointing out that he played 98 games over a period of seven years at Bucknell and Chicago and never missed a minute of play, 1888-1894, just prior to the three-year limit installed by the N. C. A. A.

Mrs. S. C. Smith (Louise Warriner) sailed on March 23 on the Laronia for York, England where she will visit her niece, Elizabeth Steck. After a visit to the Continent, she plans to return to her home in Montrose in October.

02 MRS. J. LEIGH SHIELDS (Sarah Judd)
79 University Ave.,
Lewisburg, Penna.

It is with deep regret that we have just learned of the death of Dr. Willis E. Maneval in Columbia, Mo., on Jan. 20, following a long illness. He had served as professor of botany at the University of Missouri for twenty years. Following graduation from Bucknell in 1902, he received his Master of Science degree at Bucknell in 1903, and his Ph.D. in botany at Johns Hopkins University in 1912. He served as science teacher at the Bucknell Academy from 1902 until 1906. He had taught at Roanoke College, Randolph-Macon College and the University of Virginia before joining the faculty at the University of Missouri. He was the author of many articles in the field of botany that appeared in several scientific magazines. He was married to the former Grace E. Roeder and they have two children, a son, Karl Edward, a physician in Mexico, Mo., and a daughter, Katherine Louise, a graduate of the University of Missouri. He was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity, the Missouri Academy of Science, the American Phytopathological Society, the Mycological Society of America and the Botanical Society of America.

Jennie Pross was honored on her 79th birthday on Jan. 21 by the Christian Church Fellowship of Lewisburg. She holds the unique record of having been organist for the church for 50 years without missing a Sunday.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie S. Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.,
McKeesport, Penna.

Royce E. Carringer writes, "I am 77 years young and feel fine and dandy." His address is R. D. 3, Mount Vernon, Ind.

Emily R. Ebling continues her traveling about the country and making friends from Maine to Florida. She was last heard from while enjoying the beautiful flowers on the estate of relatives in Alabama, after having spent some time in Florida.

Jane Fowler Bullis and husband Ray have been most loyal to Bucknell. They have made the long trip from Whittier, Calif. every June since our 50th Reunion three years ago.

W. Lawrence Kalp makes frequent visits to the campus from his home in Long Branch, N. J.

Ida E. Luchsinger has a busy life with church and civic activities and is always interested in the 1903 members and their affairs.

Congratulations to Dr. Howard King Williams, first on his marriage, and secondly on his splendid record of serving the Alpha Baptist Church of Philadelphia for 50 consecutive years. Be sure to read the article in this issue and in the March 19th issue of Life magazine entitled "Fifty Years of Grace."

26 S. Third St.
Lewisburg, Penna.

Harry B. Bibby, alias "HB," died March 25, at Milton, while sitting in a chair in his living room. Two days later his wife, the former Sarah C. Foust died at the Geisinger Hospital, Danville. Double funeral services were held. They are survived by two daughters, Ethel Bibby '30 and Mrs. Ella Bibby Evans '32 (wife of Warren C. Evans '34). "HB" had been employed at a ticket agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad for over thirty-five years. He had lived in Milton 48 years and was a member of the Reformed Church, and many Masonic bodies.

Lewis B. Custer, alias "Lew," is retiring as of July 1, then moving to DeBary, Fla. Lew graduated from Cornell and has been steadily employed since 1907. What a record! His two sons and a daughter have six children. He sends his kindest regards to any who remember him.

H. M. Crist, alias "Haldy," will be 80-years old on the 24th of April. "Ginger"

THESE ARE

(A CROSS)

There are 426. The Class of 1956 started out with 574.

The oldest senior is 67 years old; the youngest, 19. The average age of the class at Commencement is 22 years, one month.

They come from 15 of the 48 states, with Pennsylvania far in the lead with 185, New Jersey next with 123, and New York third with 81. Two foreign countries — Korea and Arabia have representatives in this class.

The most popular majors in the Class of 1956 are Commerce and Finance (110), Education (54), Political Science (32), Economics (28), English (25), and Civil and Electrical Engineering (21) each. 157 are getting degrees of Bachelor of Arts, 33 straight Bachelor of Science.

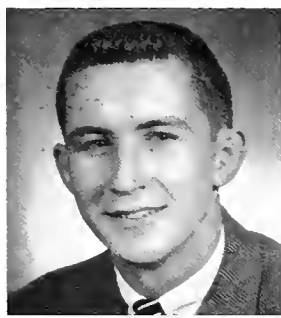

9 are members of Phi Beta Kappa.

Teufel taking a bride several weeks ago surprised Haldy. But then he took unto himself a wife four years ago. Warning: You folks approaching 80 be alert. Like Grandma Moses, his hobby is oil painting. Going abroad and to Florida helps him keep fit so he can swing his paint brush. He says "hello" to all of you.

Roger S. Edwards, alias "Rog," says he is no different than he was two years ago. He checked my letter to you folks. It should happen to a minister. No questioning please. He advises that I should get a two-base pinch hit then all of you will be cheered.

Margaret B. Groff, alias ???, retired as head of the mathematics department, Germantown Senior High School, several years ago. She is now living at Chester Heights with her sister Frances. When speaking of Margaret, I always think of her famous father, Dr. George G. Groff, professor of organic sciences.

John C. Johnson, alias "Johnny," is in the market for an Alumni Trusteeship. Johnny is still active in the insurance business, acting as pension consultant. His daughter Dorothy is an M.D. and has been practicing for 17 years and is very able, too. She is now vice president of the State Medical Association.

Mrs. William S. Kuder (Blanche A. Bane), alias "Poetess," has had a full interesting life. One son, who, as Colonel Kuder, spent six years in the Army, graduating from private to colonel, served on the board that tried the Japanese war criminals. He is now in the law department of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company. Blanche's husband practiced medicine in Oakland, Calif. for 40 years. She is much interested in the Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

Your Class Reporter, Harry E. McCormick, alias "Stern" or "Moose," has had a checkered career. First, the books, then sports, then the steel business, then old Bucknell, then West Point, then Mitchel Field, then back to Lewisburg as an attendant. Now trying to do something that Bee Bee Shott forced on me.

Elizabeth Merrill, alias "&," is now librarian of Blossburg Memorial Library, Blossburg. She retired from teaching in 1948. Her son is working in Dallas, Texas and has two children. Her daughter, married and living in Blossburg, has one child.

Louis W. Robey, alias "Batter," says: "I haven't done anything exciting recently." He is very happy over Bucknell's successes the past few years. We all are.

David W. Robinson, alias "Robbie," has made quite a tour of this country since attendance at our 50th Reunion. Robbie has seen several good hospitals while cavorting in the East. In 1954, at Easton, Md., he ran into a chap called "Moose." "Talking about one's ego being deflated, he didn't even know me," says "Moose." This occurred at the Tidewater Inn, the best small hotel in the country (my plug). Since then Robbie has been taking it easy, per orders of all doctors in Florida and the State Police. His message to "Ginger" Teufel, "more power to you." He sends his best regards to all.

John H. Stahl, alias "Silent," (That "silent" doesn't mean a thing!), asked many questions in answering your correspondent's letter. If he sees this, the name is "falls." He claims to have known "Ginger" Teufel as a boy, but Teufel denies it. He is not Japanese, though he lives in Bogota, N. J. Ask him for an appraisal.

Charles Teufel, alias "Ginger," is still helpful. He sent the newspaper clipping advising of the Bibby death. The same paper recently carried an account of his following "Haldy" Christ's action. "Ginger" is still active in church work and community activities.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT

Upland, Calif.

Ruth Shorkley Bliss hopes to get back to Bucknell this June.

Edith Fetherston writes: "March 17 I was in Washington for the preview invitation opening of the Kress art exhibition at the National Gallery of Art. Thirteen thousand treasured medals, plaquettes and statuettes from the Renaissance as well as painting masterpieces from the early Italian Renaissance, the Florentine and Venetian schools, Flemish, German, French and Spanish artists were on exhibit. My favorites were Hans Baldung's "St. Anne with the Christ Child, the Virgin and St. John the Baptist," and Francois Clouet's "Diane de Poitiers."

During the fall of 1939, through the inspiration and generosity of Edith, a group of art-loving Lewisburgers organized the Central Pennsylvania Art Association for the purpose of providing residents of the area an opportunity to exhibit their works of pictorial art. On April 15 the association held its ninth annual exhibition in Roberts Hall. About 100 entries were received.

Dr. Robert B. Mackey and his wife expect to attend Commencement at Bucknell on June 11.

John B. "Hen" Smiley and his good wife Katharine attended the Bucknell-Washington, D. C. Alumni Dinner, Feb. 8, in honor of Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, vice president and director of development of Bucknell. The Smileys expect to attend Commencement this year.

Good news concerning Judge Paul Smith. Reports are that he is improving in health. Great guy, "Our Dippy!"

Mrs. Thomas Wood (Blanche Stoner), of Muncy, spent the winter with her daughter, Fannie Wood Brown '33 at 308 Shelbourne Rd., Havertown.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bittenbender had a delightful vacation at Daytona Beach, Fla. Joe is an active and influential member of the Daytona Golf Club.

REUNE IN JUNE

The Grim Reaper has taken two members of our class.

Rev. William T. Coverdale died on Jan. 27, at Lake City. The day before his death he had filled out the questionnaire for our Golden Jubilee Reunion Book. While at Bucknell, he was affectionately known as "Pop," and had served as president of the sophomore class. He was a retired Baptist minister at the time of his death.

Another classmate, Linn Clark Drake, died Feb. 8 at his home in Washington, D. C. He was a former district Boy Scout executive who began his career as a Baptist minister. He established the Drexel Hill Baptist Church near Philadelphia and served there 12 years. Until his retirement in 1944, he had served as an executive with the National Capital Area Scout Council for 18 years. He had received the Silver Beaver Scouting Award and the Boys' Club Distinguished Award for service to boys. He was the father of four daughters.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
Colgate University
Hamilton, N. Y.

That irrepressible bundle of assorted energies, Coit Hoechst, is now in the middle of a two-year job of five oil paintings commissioned by the superintendent of schools in Pittsburgh. Coit says he intends to retire at the University of Pittsburgh next fall; we don't believe it. As an avocation, he is now illuminating a big album for Grove City Alumni.

Belated word has come of the death of Theodore Bland Hoy. Theodore was our commuter classmate, making the two-mile trip from Montandon "daily except Sunday." After college he established himself in New York City and studied law. His legal studies brought him not only the usual LL.B., but also the LL.M. and later the distinguished J.D. from New York University. His successful practice did not permit his frequent attendance at reunions, but he and Mrs. Hoy were present in 1947, Theodore looking almost exactly as he had in college. The last Alumni Fund included a generous gift in memory of him. We shall miss him at our fiftieth.

Gilbert Perez has been awarded another distinguished honor. He has been named "Father of Vocational Education in the Philippines" and given a plaque and a citation. Since his retirement as chief of the Vocational Education Division, Bureau of Public Schools, he has acted as technical adviser. The program of the Christmas Season Exhibits of the Philippine School of Arts and Trades features an excellent portrait of our distinguished friend. Those who remember his stories of the difficult time he had in developing an appreciation of vocational education a generation ago will know how he values this recognition of his life-work. We hope he will be back to repeat some of those wonderful stories at our fiftieth.

Tom Schultz is still on the move. This spring he is changing his address from Spenard, Alaska to Kaslof, Alaska. We're still waiting for the letter he promised to write. Tom got his contribution to the Alumni Fund in early. How about you?

Renegade Paul Stolz who dropped out of the best class Bucknell ever had to join the vastly inferior bunch which finished in 1908, shows signs of repentance. During a holiday in Geisinger Hospital he had time to consider his sins; result, he would like to be host to our class during part of Alumni afternoon, June 8, 1957. Paul thinks he swiped enough crutches and wheel chairs at Geisinger to accommodate us. What say, fellahs and gals?

(Editor's Note) In true Rockwellian fashion, Leo has again passed over lightly a well-deserved recognition that has recently come his way. I wish we had the time to quote in its entirety the excellent article about Leo that appeared in a recent newsletter to parents published by Colgate University. However, we must not miss the last few paragraphs where the writer says this about Leo:

"Today, even in Hamilton's severe winters, Leo can be seen walking up the hill to class, a feat few younger men want to, or do, undertake. His desk is always piled high with division and department business as well as with student papers from the classes he teaches in English language and in the Core Curriculum; yet he also finds time to be interested in and concerned with university-wide activities. In this he sometimes merely goads others into action; sometimes plays the devil's advocate; sometimes proposes action that make others in faculty meetings catch their breath. But whatever he suggests, it is always something that has to be thought about. Nothing he says can ever be taken lightly. He is also an inveterate writer of letters-to-editors in the New York Times and other newspapers and magazines.

"When you come to Hamilton, stop in and meet Dr. Rockwell at his office on the top floor of Lawrence Hall. He will drop everything he is doing to talk with you, not because he feels he has to, but because he wants to. He likes people and he likes to talk to the parents of his students.

"And if by any chance you happen to come from Pennsylvania, he'll never let you leave the office!"

08 MRS. JOHN MATHIAS
(Margaret Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.,
Lewisburg, Penna.

John J. Gibney has issued an invitation to all his classmates to stop at Lenape Park, when visiting in beautiful Chester County and ask for Jack Gibney, owner and operator.

Splendid reports of the recovery of Clyde Hostetter have been brought back to Lewisburg by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Birchard who recently saw Clyde in his Florida home.

Paul Stolz is hale and hearty again after his hospital sojourn. He and Charles Nicely of Watstown recently had an evening together. I venture to say much of the conversation concerned the Class of 1908.

Carl Sprout writes that he hears from none of you. If you send him any news that's printable, send me a copy, too.

Reunion in 1958! Now is the time to make our plans for a memorable get-together that will top all others of its kind. Suggestions as to the activities of the day will be welcomed by Carl Sprout or Paul Stolz. Of course we will dine with all reuning classes at noon, but one suggestion for '08ers is a 9:30 breakfast. Write to the committee. Let's pool our ideas and come up with a day that will be completely satisfying to all of us.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., North
St. Petersburg 3, Fla.

At the Bucknell University Alumni covered dish luncheon on St. Patrick's Day, the Class of 1909 was well represented. In addition to the old standbys, George Baileys and your Class reporter, Mrs. Elizabeth Mulford Thomas and Gilbert Lyte were present. Beth's address is: Mrs. A. W. Thomas, 41 California, Sea Shell Hotel, Clearwater Beach, Fla. Gilbert has bought a home at 731 68th Ave., South St., Petersburg, Fla., where he and his wife expect to reside after June 1. They came here from Indianapolis, Ind. He says he has never been back on the campus since 1909. What changes and surprises he will find when and if he returns for our 50th!

Excerpts from a newsy letter from Ansley Claypoole. Wish we could print it all. He writes, "In 1948 I resigned a pastorate in Charlevoix, 'The Beautiful', in northern Michigan, and tried to retire, but God had yet much work for me to do. In a few months after coming to Ypsilanti, I became chaplain at Byer Memorial Hospital. I am completing my seventh year in this useful and inspiring work. I visit some 2500 new mothers and thousands of other patients each year. I also serve as interim pastor at the First Baptist Church of South Haven, Mich., on the western shore of Lake Michigan. We plan to return for the Golden Class Reunion in 1959." The Claypooles have three daughters.

Did you notice in Newton Fetter's Bucknell Alumni Fund letter this bit of good news—Guy Payne and John Shirley made special gifts and Richard Darlington, deceased, left $150,000 to Bucknell? Quoting further from Newton's communication: "We are retired and living in Blooming Grove, Pike County. I received a Bachelor of Theology degree from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School; a DD degree and Phi Beta Kappa membership from Bucknell. I have been back to Bucknell a number of times for Religion-in-Life Week. Mrs. Fetter is a graduate of Bloomsburg. We have two children, Emily Bergen and Edmund '46."

Other sunshine seekers surprised this reporter by calling lately, Matt Haggerty, his wife (Olive Long '12), their daughter, Mrs. W. H. Miller (Gloria Haggerty '44) and her son. We were happy to welcome them to our fine city.

Go to a library and find "Bee Culture in Mexico" by Malcolm Scott Hallman. He sent me a copy reprinted from the American Bee Journal, Dec. 1955 issue. You will find it a most fascinating article with plenty of humor and scientific knowledge. Malcolm finds time to ride half a dozen hobbies. Next fall and winter he and his wife plan to travel in Europe.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Paul M. Iseman on June 20, 1955 at Seattle, Wash.

Thanks to John Shirley for his good letter which put us on the track of Clyde and Dorothy Bailey '29, who spent some time at Clearwater Beach, Fla. this season. We agree that they are fine people to know.

Ralph G. Winegardner writes from Van Nuys, Calif., that he has retired and plans to come East this summer for a visit.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fulton (Elizabeth Stage) and Elizabeth's sister, Bertha, spent a delightful two months traveling in Europe last summer.

Mabel Christian Jury died very suddenly on Nov. 12, 1955, at Collegeville, as she and her husband were making preparations to leave for a vacation in Florida. Mabel graduated from the School of Music with our class. Her husband is in the construction business in Collegeville.

After retirement in Nov. 1955, George T. Street, Jr. with his wife Margaret and his brother "Reg," who has frequently visited the campus, went to St. Petersburg, Fla. early in January to spend the remainder of the winter. A spinal injury confined him to the house for five weeks but he was able to attend and enjoy the St. Petersburg-Bucknell Alumni Meeting on March 17, as was your Class Reporter. George asked me to assure everyone interested that he is as good as new again and is enjoying the Florida sunshine.

Emily Lane Yoder and her husband spent the winter at their Sarasota, Fla. home again this year.

20th REUNE IN JUNE

It is with regret that we inform you of the death of Florence Bell Loveland, wife of Charles D. Loveland, on Dec. 7, 1955.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn Street
Muncy, Penna.

Spring came "breezin'" in on the appointed day with a poor little old robin all humped up on a limb and seven inches of snow on the ground.

A note from Howard Johnson: "You will note that you can't keep a retired man down! As I am semi-retired, I am preaching each Sunday near Red Bank, where there are hundreds of new homes at Lincroft. I live near the new Garden State Parkway at the State Yacht Basin and go to church near the Parkway at Red Bank. There are a few Bucknellians in the community."

Dr. John R. Conover, 1441 Pueblo Drive, Pittsburgh, writes that he retired from medical practice March 31, and has joined the ranks of the retired.

Adding new duties in the field of social welfare is old stuff for Dr. Stanley P. Davies, but you should know that Stanley has been made chairman of the Central Planning Board of the Welfare and Health Council in New York.

A. Oscar Wolfe, 32 East 26th St., Tulsa, Okla., recently became a Fellow of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He has achieved acknowledged engineering attainments for a period of 25 years. He was chief engineer in the construction of the "Big Inch" and "Little Big Inch" pipelines. He is married to the former Lucy Loane and they have one son, Anton '35.

Both Fred Igler and Patty Conner sent me clippings announcing the death of Sherman Welchons who passed away January 28 at his home, 268 Ashbourne Rd., Elkins Park. He had taught for 35 years at Cheltenham High School and at his death was a teacher at Columbia Institute—Taylor School.

He received his master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania. He also attended the Philadelphia Textile Institute. Surviving are his wife, Jessie, and two children, Mrs. Marylou Arnold and Mrs. Barbara Murray.

Frank V. Frambes died suddenly on December 29, 1955, in the Johnstown Hospital as a result of a fall earlier that day on the icy sidewalk. He was engaged in the hearing aid business in Johnstown.

This from Patty Conner:

"I suppose you have already heard about Sherman Welchons. Just to be sure you know, I cut this from the paper.

"I retired June 30 so Alberta and I plan a good deal of traveling (ten grandchildren to visit, 2 in Texas, 2 in Nebraska, 1 in Florida, 2 in Virginia, 3 in New Jersey, none in Pennsylvania). In a year or two we may go around the world in a freighter just for variety!

"Have any plans been made for June, 1957? Maybe at least 10 of us will be left to celebrate our 45th so I think each remaining one should be urged to attend.

"Alberta and I plan to be back for Commencement again this June. Some of us should get together then and start things for 1957.

"We enjoyed your class letters thoroughly. You are doing a marvelous job. Keep it up!"

Our next big day on the calendar is Mother's Day. Since we have had our day, I thought it would be fitting to toast the young mothers, our daughters.

Today's mother is still the hardest-working member of the family, make no mistake. There's no appliance for looking after a 4-year old and very few maiden aunts around (and no room to put one up in our tiny modern houses anyway).

Motherhood is always threatening to become a 24 hour job but mother holds her ground. She doesn't abandon her other posts as wife, citizen and woman of the church. She even hangs on to her identity as a human being; insists on looking like a woman, not a rag heap, and now and again finds time to read a book.

As she is counselor as well as servant to her three to five youngsters, she somehow manages to keep abreast of hygiene, psychology, etiquette, and vocational guidance. On top of that she often knows more about politics than her husband, and can counsel him when they go to the polls.

As she belongs to the human race not the angelic choir, Mother may lose her temper when the 27th salesman rings her bell but soon she's back with her sense of humor, her diplomacy, and her unpretentious wisdom.

I'm going to "hound" all of you till you promise to be at our reunion in June 1957. If Pop's gout gets better, I may stop in to say "hello" to all of you before next June.

13 MR. CHARLES L. SANDERS
76 Walnut Street
Mifflinburg, Penna.

Our sympathy is extended to Howard Fisher whose mother passed away Feb. 17 in Tarpon Springs, Fla.

Hazel Galloway Hemphill has changed addresses in Portland, Ore., from Hilltop Lane to 134 N. W. 48th Ave. Her family consists of two sons, Bob and John, and three grandchildren. "I feel especially blessed that I can see my grandchildren grow up," she writes. She is a very busy person with her gardening, her family, and her painting activities. She exhibited two paintings in the Portland Art Museum's first amateur show. She recently served as a hostess on the World Affairs Council of Portland and Oregon. She had the delightful experience of entertaining Judge Felix Markasian of the Philippines; Dr. Suri, a Hindu philosopher, a member of the religious Society of Friends, and Paul Sekiya, a Quaker from Japan, whose father was a steward of the royal household. She regrets that she missed our 40th Reunion in 1953, especially since she had been in Lewisburg a short time before. We hope to see her at our 45th! Wish I could print Hazel's entire letter, but John Shott's '22 red or blue pencil must not be tempted too far.

In March James F. "Jim" McClure was elected to the presidency of the Buffalo Valley Telephone Co., Lewisburg. This office is an added responsibility to many others he carries.

Winifred A. Naylor, who retired in 1954 as supervisor of English in the Niagara Falls, N. Y. High School, is living at 16 Woodhaven Rd., Eggertsville, N. Y. The third edition of her book, entitled Gold, was published in September. She is a member of the National League of American Pen Women.

Congratulations to Earl M. Richards, who recently retired as vice president in charge of planning and development, Republic Steel Corporation, upon receiving a life membership in the American Management Association at a special conference on automation. The award was given in recognition of Earl's unique contributions to AMA's development and progress and his pioneering services in the cause of scientific management. Earl has served the association as vice president in charge of the manufacturing division and as a member of the executive committee, the Board of Directors, and the Manufacturing Planning Council. He now resides at 828 Youngsford Rd., Gladwyne.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Penna.

From the Union County Standard-Journal is a news item relating to a visit of Raymond Apgar and his wife Eva Himmelreich Apgar '12: "Up from Levittown came Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Apgar to visit her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Himmelreich. The Apgars have now returned home."

From the Millburn, N. J. Rotarian comes this record of service rendered that organization by Joe Golightly:

MR. ROTARY OF THE MILLBURN CLUB
Joe Golightly was inducted into Rotary on January 23, 1934.

Since that time he has had 22 years of perfect attendance.

Joe was President of the Club, 1940-41.

Joe attended the International Conference at Havana, Cuba in 1940.

(Also other conventions in St. Louis, Chicago, New York, and Atlantic City.)

Joe was District Governor, 1943-1944.

Joe has been District Treasurer from 1944 to the present time.

This is a record of which we are all most envious. Best of luck for another 22 years of perfect attendance.

We congratulate Joe on this tribute from his club and know the high esteem in which he is held is well-merited.

In early February a note from Ruth Hoffa Rice, reports continued progress in Jack's health. He may go to the office several hours a day and may teach a two-hour lecture course this semester. Next fall he may take over his courses in bacteriology.

15 REV. FREDERICK GRENINGER
7710 Hamilton Ave.,
Pittsburgh, Penna.

It is with sorrow that we have learned of the death of William E. Bott on June 19, 1955. He had been chief electrical engineer with the American Bridge Co., in Ambridge, for many years.

Dwite H. Schaffner, widely known Akron, Ohio attorney and that city's only World War I Congressional Medal of Honor winner, died on Nov. 22, 1955. He suffered a heart attack as he walked toward the Courthouse from his office.

In addition to serving during World War I, Mr. Schaffner, who lived at 296 Grace St., served in the army for three and one-half years during World War II, being discharged as lieutenant colonel.

The Medal of Honor was bestowed upon him in 1923 in a public ceremony in Akron. It has been recommended that the North-South Expressway in Ohio be named the "Dwite Schaffner Expressway."

He graduated from Bucknell in 1915 and a year later earned his master's degree here. He was graduated from the University of Michigan Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1920. While at Bucknell he played varsity basketball and football four years captaining the basketball team twice and the football team once.

He is survived by his wife Elma, two daughters, and six grandchildren. He was a brother of Mrs. Dollie Schaffner Deitrich '25 (married to John J. Deitrich '23) and an uncle of Mrs. Dollie Deitrich Wilson '52 and Joan Schaffner Deitrich, a Bucknell senior.

REUNE IN JUNE

Besides acting as reunion chairman for our 40th Reunion on June 9, Dr. Samuel M. Davenport is serving as president of the Kiwanis Club of Wilkes-Barre. Sam hasn't missed a meeting of Kiwanis in the more than 12 years he has been a Kiwanian. Recently he was elected a fellow of the National Industrial Medical Association and continues to serve as chief of the First Surgical Section of Nesbitt Memorial Hospital, and as a trustee of Wilkes College.

Sam reports that he has received but two letters in response to his reunion message. Homer Sanders and Charles Gubin are the only ones who have replied. More about both of them to follow.

Bruce Butt is the class fund manager. You received a letter from him dated Feb.

1. At the bottom of mine he scribbled, "Ossie you old son-of-a-gun, I am going to answer that letter of yours now on my desk for two or more weeks." (Months was more like it). He lives at 1406 State St., Harrisburg.

Charles Gubin writes: "To bring you up-to-date on yours truly, I was in business with my father after leaving school and moved to Philadelphia to take a position with the Stewart Warner Corporation. My wife died while we were in Philadelphia, and I decided to come back home to Northumberland—got mixed up in politics and in 1934 was made postmaster in which position I still hold forth."

Sarah Hilbish Post expressed guiltiness after reading the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS and comes up with this: "To bring you up to date on my family, I have two sons, both Bucknell graduates. I have three grandsons, future Bucknellians, I hope. Two of my grandsons are living in Mannheim, Germany with their parents, Capt. and Mrs. Sterling Post, Jr. '48. In July 1955, I spent three wonderful weeks in Mannheim. Mrs. Albert Boyer, mother of Wilbur Boyer '40 and Dr. Margaret J. Boyer '40, and I spent ten weeks travelling through England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Italy, Monaco and France. I do hope our 40th Reunion will be a big success and I'm looking forward to it."

Homer Sanders came through with a nice letter. Our letter reached him during recuperation from a pulmonary thrombosis, his first illness in 49 years. "Our Reunion date has a triple meaning for me," he writes. "It is also the date of my 65th birthday, and three days later, the 12th, marks my 40th year of membership in the Masonic fraternity. Since March 1940 my activities as an electrical engineer have been confined to two companies, the Austin Company and the H. H. Ferguson Company, both being industrial and commercial outfits."

Harold E. "Luke" Smith lives at 11520 Clematis Blvd., Penn Hills, Pittsburgh 35. He is employed at United Plate Glass Co. as director of sales. Both his son and daughter have graduated from Bucknell. His son, Harold E. II '54, is now with the U. S. Army in Germany. His daughter, Mrs. Richard Swing '51 (Suzanne Smith '50) now lives in Bedford, Mass. Luke hopes to be with us on our 40th.

Grace I. Sutton reports from West Newton that after 36 years of teaching she has joined the ranks of the retired.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 West Sedgwick Street
Philadelphia 19, Penna.

I think you '17ers are just the nicest people! I have had fine cooperation from you and believe me, I appreciate it. My letter caught the Heberlings on vacation at Sea Island, Ga. and Hazel wrote right away to help me keep my deadline. They are on their annual golfing vacation. It includes two weeks at Sea Island and one at Pinehurst, N. C. Jack is too busy at home to play much golf so he makes up for it on vacation. He has been doing orthopedic surgery in Pittsburgh since 1924. He is chief of the surgical division at Allegheny Hospital, has taught in the medical school for 30 years, and is the orthopedic surgeon in charge of The Crippled Children's Home in Pittsburgh. Their two daughters are married and each has two children. The elder daughter's husband is a young orthopedic surgeon associated with Jack for ten years. Hazel says, "Since we all live practically around the corner from each other, we are fortunate enough to see and enjoy our grandchildren, the biggest dividends we've had from life to date." All the adults take part in community work and Hazel frequently slips in a course in her particular interest of the moment, which may be history, poetry, finance, etc. This year it's a life class in drawing and painting. They plan to be back on campus for our 40th Reunion.

Charles Hay writes that he is just about to graduate from the Bell System after 34 years service, mostly spent as a member of the technical staff of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Charlie says, "We have just sold our home on Long Island and within a month will be trekking to Florida. We're going to Orlando initially, but may decide to purchase a new home elsewhere in Florida. I frequently see and recently had dinner with Dr. A. A. Allen (Alexander Aloysius Aleshouchas '22 to old timers)." Thanks Charlie, it's good to hear about Alex, too. He was grand! Have a wonderful time in your retirement.

From Rube Hayes, Hartleton, comes an answer to my letter for news. Rube served in the Army for two and a half years after graduation. Then he worked in Lock Haven for a civil engineer for a year. Since 1929 he has divided his time between Minnesota and Pennsylvania. He spends eight months of each year in Pennsylvania and four in Minnesota. While there he teaches in a Bible Camp. Rube says, "I'm a bachelor of 62, have gray hair, wear a beard, live alone, do my own cooking and like it." He shot his first deer last fall. He is chairman of the Union County Western Area Joint School Authority.

A nice letter from Don Haman tells us he served a tour of duty with the U. S. Navy during World War I. After his discharge in New York, he married a girl from that state and settled there "to make his way." They have one son who is married. Don has been a member of the faculty of Pratt Institute, a research engineer with Western Electric, a sales engineer with Westinghouse, and is currently a regional representative of the Worthington Corporation of New York. His business address is 99 Park Ave., N. Y. C. 16. He is looking forward to retirement at the end of this year and they are thinking of making their winter home in Jupiter, Fla. with Picture Rocks or Eagles Mere for summer location. You'll be right back home again, Don. Happy retirement!

Thanks to Evelyn McGann Leaber '18 and Irvin Sowers for clippings from the New York Times and Newark News about Clinton I. Sprout Day at Peddie, Hightstown, N. J., March 17 to celebrate his service to the school. Scores of his former pupil athletes gathered at a testimonial dinner. We're proud of Clint. For his work see this column in the September issue. By the way, did you get your letter from him? Did you heed his call? If not, won't you help, please. It need not be big, but do send something. All added together makes a lot and it will raise our class percentage. The Alumni Fund is our opportunity to say "Thank You" to Bucknell. So send yours in before you forget.

Getting back to Clint. He was back on campus for Homecoming with his wife (Elizabeth L. Hahn '18), their sons, John W. '48 and Robert C. '49 and a daughter-in-law. I didn't see them and they didn't register so I failed to report their attendance. Sorry! I'll do better next time, I hope.

A letter from Ysabelle Yon (Mrs. Arthur) tells me that Brick's check-up proves him very much better and she reports he looks wonderful. That is splendid news.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Russell W. Bowers on Jan. 7 at his home 1 Rose Hill Rd., Moylan. He was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity at Bucknell.

Our thanks to Calvin J. Smith, Oil Capital Bldg., Tulsa, Okla., for the interesting news clipping concerning A. Oscar Wolfe '12, who also resides in Tulsa and was recently promoted to Fellow of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

So long for now. I'll be back in the fall with more news.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
301 Broad Street
Montoursville, Penna.

Dear Classmates:

It is always a red letter day when I get an answer to an appeal for news. Sam Lenox has come across for this issue. Sam lives at 11 Renfrew Ave., Trenton, N. J. After graduating from Harvard Law School in 1922 he began the practice of law in Trenton and has been there ever since. The Lenox family consists of three children, all Bucknellians: Samuel D. Jr. '47, associated in the law practice with his father, Jean '48 and Barbara '50.

Mabelle Ede '17 has been most helpful to me by sending a very interesting letter she received recently from Dorothy McClintic Johnson. Dorothy, her husband and mother moved to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. several years ago. They have a home in the Coral Ridge section. Many of you probably read about that interesting real estate development in the February issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Dorothy's mother celebrated her 86th birthday on Feb. 24. Their address is 2425 N. E. 27th Terrace, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Think I shall start to do some intensive digging and see if I can pry some information out of some of the "lost" members of the Class of 1918. Anybody want to help by sending me news?

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Penna.

We have learned with sorrow of the death of Thomas Cooper Cockhill, Jr. on Dec. 23, 1955 in the Chester Hospital. While at Bucknell, Tom participated in both varsity football and baseball. In 1917, he left with the Ambulance Unit for France, where he was wounded. In 1926, Tom became physical and health director and athletic coach of the Chester Public Schools, where he served many full and rewarding years. We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to his family.

George A. Starkweather reports that he has five grandchildren and hopes that some of them will become Bucknellians. His address is 22 N. Llanwellyn Ave., Glenolden.

Rev. Franklin L. Artley is minister of the Elmora Presbyterian Church in Elizabeth, N. J. His home address is 924 Edgewood Rd.

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewistown, Penna.

Paul Stolz reports that he is still teaching mathematics and science at the Kiski School in Saltsburg, where he also directs the glee club and choir.

Les Lighton will retire on May 31 as a vice president of The Electric Storage Battery Company of Philadelphia. In accepting his decision to retire, Mr. C. F. Norberg, president of the company, paid tribute to the more than 35 years of service Les has contributed to the progress of the company. During the past year he has devoted himself to establishment of the Corporate Research Department. His professional achievements and honors are many and include terms of service to our government as well as high posts in the nation's outstanding technical and professional groups. Les was awarded the honorary doctor's degree by Bucknell University in 1955 in recognition of his significant contributions to scientific knowledge. His retirement will probably not mean more leisure for Les; he is looking forward to a very busy time, doing a lot of things he has been postponing for years. Good luck, Les, in your coming achievements.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD DERR
(Sarah M. Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewistown, Penna.

REUNE IN JUNE

We're looking forward to our largest reunion on June 9. A special feature will be the Anniversary Book. Come back and see how many you'll be able to recognize after 35 years.

Those staying overnight will enjoy being together in a dormitory—3rd floor of West Wing. There will be reminiscing into the wee hours. Laughter and keen enjoyment will be the theme for that weekend.

Our class gathering will be held officially Saturday, June 9, at 10:30 a. m. in Room 125 in the new Olin Science Building. A business meeting first, followed by posing for a class picture. Then in the afternoon at 3:00, following the Alumni Luncheon in Davis Gym, we'll get together again at Spratt House (7th and Taylor Sts.). These are but a few of the details, but the most important part will be your presence here on the old Stamping Ground. You'll want to see the many changes at Bucknell, too.

I'll be seeing you in June!

22 MR. PHILIP C. CAMPBELL
R. D. 5
Danville, Penna.

Members of the class of 1922 will be proud to learn that Harry W. Johnson was promoted to the rank of major general on Feb. 16. He was previously assistant commander for the Second Armored Division in Germany.

Graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1926, General Johnson participated in the Normandy landing during World War II. His decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and three Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Belgian Croix de Guerre with one Oak Leaf Cluster.

General Johnson is the brother of Mary E. Johnson Bieber '28; Cyrus L. '22; George W. '31; and James R. '26.

General and Mrs. Johnson can be reached by addressing: Deputy Commander, Hq. USAREUR Communications Zone, APO 58, New York, N. Y.

A note from Helen Jackson Hammitt from Greenock Heights, McKeesport, states that her son is enrolled as a music education major at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Roy B. Stine reports from Youngstown, Ohio that his son, a junior in Youngstown University, was married March 3.

Bright E. Greiner writes that he is now principal of the Espanola High School, Espanola, New Mexico, a school of 700 students located at the foot of the mountain where Los Alamos is situated. He plans to come east in February 1957 for the national meeting of secondary school principals in Washington, D. C. Be sure to include the campus in your eastern trip, Bright.

Rev. Willard C. Callender of Melrose, Mass., became a grandfather on October 20, when baby John arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Luciano in Geneva, N. Y.

The members of the Class of 1923 will be sorry to learn of the sudden death of Dr. Albin J. Drapiewski at his home in Nanticoke on Feb. 11, less than three months after the death of his wife. Dr. Drapiewski had practiced in South Scranton for 16 years and in 1947 returned to his native Nanticoke and was in practice there with his two brothers.

He received his pre-medical training at Bucknell and was graduated from Temple University Medical School.

His sons, Vincent and Carl are students at Wilkes College.

An interesting article concerning Dr. Ellery H. Harvey's colorful career was recently featured in the Union County Standard-Journal. Dr. Harvey was born in Lewisburg, Jan. 13, 1895 and received the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts, and Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering from Bucknell. He has served as president of both the Institute of Food Technologists and the Association of Research Directors. Since 1950 he has been professor of food engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago.

Married to Ivy Weaver in 1917 and the father of two children, Dr. Harvey makes his home in Highland Park, Ill.

Mrs. H. L. Hayden (Katherine Owens) reports that their son William Hayden '48 has been transferred to Chattanooga, Tenn. He is with the Du Pont Company.

Larry Kimball was re-elected a director of the Middle Atlantic Lumbermen's Association at its annual convention held in Atlantic City in February.

Congratulations are in order for J. Carroll Laughlin, Beach Haven Terrace, N. J., on having been named president of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards. Carroll is a veteran newspaper man, long active in boys work, an important civic and community figure—as well as a successful realtor.

We have learned with regret that James M. Wood passed away Oct. 22, 1955.

Dr. and Mrs. Hayward J. Holbert live in Solebury, Bucks County. He writes, "... possibly some of our good friends could drop by and say 'hello.' We have a large farm with plenty of room for guests." As for his work, he is professor of management at New York University; adviser to the day student organizations of the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance; and more recently was appointed as adviser to the student federation of New York University, which includes all schools. In addition, he is doing executive training work in several corporations. Their son is a junior at the University of Michigan where he is majoring in wild life management.

Mrs. H. B. Ingalls (Elizabeth Walker) is assisting in the English department at the University of Illinois, as instructor in freshman rhetoric. Her husband is general secretary of the YMCA at the University. Their daughter, Laura, is a high school junior.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lathrop (Margaret Everitt), Springville, have a daughter who plans to teach in Hawaii next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. McMurtrie (Virginia Clinger) live in Milton and have two children, John, 19, a freshman at Lehigh and Susan, 15, a student in Milton High School. "Pink," as we all knew him, has been with the Milton Steel and Supply Company since 1927 as one of its founders and is now the president.

Dr. Nicholas Palma is attending anaesthesiologist at the Paterson General Hospital. His address is 20 Hillside Ave., Glen Rock, N. J.

Dr. and Mrs. James Patterson of Tampa, Fla. announce the marriage of their son, Joe to Miss Lora Rooks of Alachua, Fla. Joe is in his second year of medicine at Tulane University School of Medicine. Pat plans to be in Boston where the examinations of the American Board of Pathology are being held at Harvard Medical College and from there to attend two medical meetings in Cincinnati.

Dr. Gerald M. Rassweiler of Research Laboratories Division, General Motors Corp., was co-author of an article on Engine Pressure Indicators in the July 1955 issue of the Instrument Society of America Journal.

Dr. Marjorie J. Rivenburg, M.A. will take a sabbatical leave next year from her teaching duties at Westhampton College, University of Richmond. She plans to travel in Italy and to cruise the Mediterranean.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens (Mid Evans) live at 2136 Brick St., Scranton 8. They have two children, Peggy, employed in the Prudential Insurance offices in Chicago and Jimmy, a junior in Technical High School in Scranton. Mid gives us an interesting bit of news about a Round Robin letter which originated in '25 and has been in existence ever since. It makes the rounds twice a year and visits 9 Bucknellians. Congratulations!

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Terpak, 110 Euclid Ave., Pittsfield, Mass. have a son Stephen, who spent three years at Bucknell, and a son Donald, a freshman at Bucknell in the pre-medical course. Steve has been an engineer with General Electric in Pittsfield for 30 years; the last ten in a supervisory capacity.

Dr. William O. Duck has been appointed director of a one semester non-credit course in remedial reading to be offered by Gettysburg College where he is the guidance counselor.

Charlotte Boslee Ellis has just written another story with a Nova Scotia setting. Her address is 197 Ohio St., Johnstown.

Phillip Griffins is sales engineer with Ingersoll Rand Co., in Philadelphia. Phil reports that he is still a bachelor. His address is 2037 Chestnut Street.

Paul G. Schmidt, Fallowfield Terrace, Coatesville, reports that he is embarking on a new role this year—that of a "country squire."

Ted and Ruth Keebler White send greetings from McDonogh School, McDonogh, Md. They hope to return at a future reunion.

As each of you travel far and wide this summer, drop a card to your class reporter. Your former classmates will be glad to read about you next fall. A very interesting and pleasant summer to all.

REUNE IN JUNE

Don't forget our Reunion June 9. Hope you are all planning a trip to the campus. I had a letter from Tom Hann and he expects to be present. Tom is the resident representative of the Bethlehem Steel Company in Toledo, Ohio. Last July he completed 28 years with Bethlehem Steel Company sales, and is still going strong.

Charles T. Farrow, Jr., C. L. U. has achieved the unusual distinction of Agency Man of the Year in the Central New Jersey Agency of Provident Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Philadelphia. He led all representatives of his agency in volume of business last year. Congratulations, Charles!

Rev. Dr. Elim A. Palmquist, widely known Baptist clergyman and an organizer of the Philadelphia Council of Churches, died Feb. 6 at his home in Narberth at the age of 82 years. He received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Bucknell in 1926. He was prominent in Philadelphia religious and civic affairs.

We hope you did not miss Ken Slifer's delightful "It's Fun to Camp in Europe" which appeared in the March, 1956 issue of the American magazine. Ken served as chairman of the reunion committee for the Bucknell Delta Upsilon fraternity's 57th Founders' Day celebration which was observed April 20, 21, and 22.

John B. Allsworth, Sr. is living at 906 Northcrest Ave., Peoria, Ill., 160 miles northwest of Chicago. He is adviser to the Sigma Chi chapter at Bradley University. Since 1944 he has been vice president and general manager of Insulation Dealers and Supply Co., in Peoria where he was the immediate past president of the Illinois Wholesale Building Materials Association. John writes that he is looking forward to attending our 30th anniversary in 1957! Let's hear some more good news like that. If there are any more Bucknellians living in the environs of Peoria, let John hear from you.

William R. A. Baben, M.D., writes that he hopes to have a son in next year's freshman class at Bucknell. Bill lives with his family at 318 S. Franklin St., Wilkes-Barre.

Howard A. Bull with his wife, Kitty Bossler '28, and two daughters, Janet and Carolyn, are living at 795 N. Pennsylvania Ave., Morrisville. Janet, by the way, is a member of the Class of '58, at Bucknell! Ever since graduation Howard has been associated with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company. At present he is division traffic facilities supervisor in Trenton, N. J.

J. Graham Chesney is living at 134 East Ave., in Swedesboro, N. J. with his wife and two sons, where he has been actively engaged in his own real estate and insurance business since 1932. During these years he has taken an active part in civic affairs as president of the Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, Gloucester County Real Estate Board, and vice president of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Paulsboro. He maintains two real estate and insurance offices—at 504 Kings Highway, Swedesboro, and at 36 East Broad St., Paulsboro. His elder son is attending Florida Southern College at Lakeland, Fla.

Carl J. Geiser of 25 S. 4th St., Lewisburg, after having spent 15 years as a public school teacher, is presently employed as purchasing agent at Bucknell. He received his M.S. degree in education at Bucknell in 1943.

Catherine Mench Glenn of Leechburg writes that she, too, is looking forward to our coming reunion in '57. Says she: "In my traveling through every part of the U. S. and Canada I have found that Bucknell is known from coast to coast. I have indeed been proud and honored to have been graduated from an institution such as Bucknell. I hope that we can keep its name and what it stands for before the public." During her married years Catherine has served as substitute teacher in Leechburg, as well as member of the Girl Scout Council and vice president of the Woman's Club. She lives with her husband, Ben Glenn, and two children, James and Sue, at 351 Grant Ave., Leechburg.

Congratulations are again in order for Charles J. Kushell, Jr. On Oct. 1, 1955 he joined Revlon Inc. ($64,000 Question) as vice president—finance. He had previously been comptroller of the Port of New York Authority. He and his wife, the former Isabelle Morrison '26, reside at 116 E. 68th St., New York, N. Y. They have three grandchildren, Charles J. Kushell IV, 3½, and Katherine Isabelle and Randall Morrison Kushell, 7 month-old twins. No doubt Bucknellians will now watch Revlon's TV program with added interest.

Elizabeth K. Lawson was the author of an article which recently appeared in Educational Horizons entitled, "A Dean's Eye View."

Paul L. Patton has been actively engaged as a salesman for the duPont Company, with assignments in Wilmington, Del., Cincinnati and Cleveland, Ohio. At present he is living with his family at 8079 Skyline Dr., Brecksville, Ohio, where he is also kept busy as a realtor.

Walter L. Ranck, after having been in the electrical business for several years, is now working at the General Electric Co., in York, as cost accountant. He has served as president of the Alumni Club of York in the past. His address at present is 404 Cottage Place, Red Lion.

Harry S. Ruhl is now living with his family of wife and two sons at 639 Bloom St., Danville, where he is supervising principal of the schools. Incidentally, he is working on his Ph.D. degree in education at Pennsylvania State University.

Elizabeth McCracken Siess is now a resident of Miami, Fla., where she is living at 6442 S. W. 16th St., the wife of George Siess, and mother of Douglas, a 15-year-old son. She extends a welcome to visit with her when down in the Sunny South.

Mrs. Kenneth W. Slifer (Caryl Dutton), 177 Briar Hill Lane, Woodbury, N. J., was a member of an American Baptist Missionary Observation Tour group which visited Puerto Rico and Haiti in February. The group, composed of 19 denominational leaders, pastors and lay-people, visited American Baptist mission schools throughout the islands. Caryl is a member of the board of managers of the American Baptist Home Mission Societies and president of the New Jersey Women's Baptist Mission Society.

Walter W. Swimley of Knoxville has been engaged in the teaching profession since graduating from Bucknell, having served as principal of the Millertown and later the Knoxville schools. Since 1939 he has been assistant superintendent of the Tioga County Schools.

Donald E. Wagner has been communications officer for the Pennsylvania State Police since 1933, following the award of his professional degree in electrical engineering at Bucknell in 1932. His present address is 220 Park Ave., Hummelstown, where he resides with his wife and daughter, Lynn.

Just a word to the other twelve of you who so kindly took pity on your class reporter and sent in a news flash—I'll do my best to include news about you in the next letter. Many thanks for your cooperation.

28 MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Avenue
Summit, N. J.

A note from Mrs. H. M. Earhart (Inez Robinson) from Trenton, Ky. brings us up to date on her activities. Inez writes: "I am teaching at Fort Campbell Dependent School while my husband is stationed at adjacent Clarksville Naval Base. I conduct the chapel choir at the Base. We live on a Kentucky farm with neighbors of the 'southern hospitality' type. Bucknellians welcome!"

Wyatt E. Williams is now director of civil engineering for Standard Ultramarine & Color Co. of Huntingdon, W. Va.

Elva Horner Evans reports that her son Dery is enrolled at Western Reserve University after completing a tour of duty in Japan and Korea.

Bernard A. Priemer was recently elected a National Director of the Kappa Delta Rho Fraternity.

Harry H. Pierson has been appointed director of the organization relations division of the Asia Foundation, 105 Market Street, San Francisco. Harry joined the foundation (then the Committee for Free Asia) in Sept. 1952, coming to it from the Institute of International Education in New York. He has been engaged in international cultural relations work since 1939, when he was appointed to the division of cultural relations of the State Department in Washington. Harry recently made a trip around the world on behalf of the Asia Foundation, visiting most of the countries of Asia during his tour. While at Bucknell he was a member of the Delta Sigma fraternity, now Delta Upsilon.

Since January Margaret M. Field has been serving as a missionary at Seward General Hospital, Seward, Alaska, under the sponsorship of the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist church.

30 MRS. BERNARD KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Rd.,
Fort Mitchell, Ky.

The Klostermans enjoyed a short but delightful visit with Dr. Charles F. Fox '31 and Mrs. Fox (Marian E. Stinson) and Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Davies '26 who were returning home from a vacation in New Orleans, La. During their stay in New Orleans they were entertained by Mr. A. J. Gaskell '25.

William L. Mackie reports from Ventura, Calif. that his son Bill has recently completed his Army service in Germany and will return to college.

It is with deep regret that we learned of the death of Louise Reinhart, Milton, on Jan. 15, following an illness of several months. At the time of her death she was executive director of child welfare of Columbia County. Since her student days at Bucknell, Louise had been active in musical organizations. She is survived by her parents and her sister, Phoebe Reinhart '25, a teacher in the Milton schools.

Don't forget how much fun you had at Alumni Week end last June and be sure to come back. I'll be there, will you?

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.,
Mifflinburg, Penna.

REUNE IN JUNE

All roads lead to Lewisburg for our 25th Class Reunion, June 9.

Orrin V. Boop is a partner in the investment firm of Schmidt Poole Roberts & Parker. He is also secretary of the Philadelphia Salesmen Association. The Boops live at 4 Martin Lane, Wallingford.

It was with regret that we learned of the death of Lester Chilson on May 1, 1955. He had been principal of Thompson Vocational High School for 19 years and had taken an active part in all civic and religious affairs of his community.

Marjorie Budd Hibler is teaching in Hackettstown, N. J. Her address is 113 Prospect Street. She is busy rounding up '31ers for June 9.

Robert J. Keenan was elected president of the Hudson County Savings and Loan League after having represented his county on the board of governors of the New Jersey Savings and Loan League for three years. Last year he served as president of the West Hudson Kiwanis Club and was chairman of the board of trustees, Presbyterian Church, North Arlington, N. J. He is executive vice president of the Equity Savings and Loan Association, Kearny, N. J. and resides at 473 River-view Ave., North Arlington, N. J. with his wife Jean and daughter Joan.

Arthur E. Minnier, Clarks Summit, will represent Northeastern Pennsylvania as a delegate at the National Education Association convention in Portland, Ore. this summer. He plans to stop en route to take in our 25th Reunion. Art is superintendent of Lackawanna County Schools, Scranton.

Glenn H. Varner has a dairy farm at Sidman R. D. 1. He and Helen are the parents of 10-year-old John Curtis. "Zeke" is doing his part in working up enthusiasm for the June 9th Reunion. That is how we happened to hear from him.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
Allentown, N. J.

When Jimmy Cox, who scored 207 points in football last fall for Collingdale High School was hailed as Pennsylvania's scholastic record holder, it came to light that Wilbur G. Ammerman, who played on the Bisons' undefeated 1929 team, holds that record with 210 points scored in 1924 while playing for Tyrone High School.

Among his teammates on the Bisons' '29 and '30 eleven were Lou Mutzel '31, a teacher at Chester High School; "Lefty" James '30, the present Cornell coach; and Clark Hinkle, who went on to All-Pro fame with the Green Bay Packers. Carl Snavely was the coach.

The Ammermans live at 78 Pennsylvania Ave., Garden City, Chester, where Wilbur is a superintendent at Sinclair Refinery Co.

Bettina Bucknam is living at 38 Cliff Rd., Wellesley Hills, 82, Mass. She is assistant to the contracting officer of Arthur D. Little, Inc., a research organization.

Charles M. Stump is an aircraft assembler at Douglas Aircraft Co., Longbeach, Calif. His address is 521 E. Third St., Longbeach 12.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELIARDT
(Janet Worthington)

Bloomsburg, Penna.

Robert S. Anderson, M.D., colonel, U. S. Army Medical Corps, has completed a survey for the surgeon general of all medical facilities in Thailand. At present he is chief medical adviser in Korea as a member of the regular army, with 18 years of service. He is married to the former Geraldine R. Daley, who is residing in Crownsville while her husband is overseas.

Charles R. Bidelsbacher, Esq., Williamsport, has remodeled in a most modernistic manner a four-story building on Market Street for occupancy by his father, partner, and himself. Many offices are rented to other professional people. In this attractive building, situated next to a large parking lot, a well-equipped library, bathrooms, and elevators are among its many features. "Bidie" with his wife, the former Margery M. Treneer '36, and three children reside in Grampian Hills, Williamsport.

H. Hampton Bray has been in the engineering profession since Bucknell days, except for a three-year period in the Navy during World War II, when he enlisted as chief machinist's mate. He has always been in the shipbuilding business. Currently he is general manager and assistant to the president of a privately owned firm of marine engineers in New York. Hamp travels the year round, not only in the States but to eight or ten European countries, South America, the Persian Gulf and wherever oil tankers put into port. In the past five years he has flown the North Atlantic 18 times. Hamp is also the owner of a small business, the Executive Aircraft Sales Co., dealing in the representation and sales of fine aircraft and associated equipment. He has owned many planes and says flying is his "second love." He and his wife, the former Dorothy B. Gerke, are parents of a 17-year-old daughter, Lois.

Alice Leslie Brenaman is a high school English teacher. Husband, Stewart, is with the South Jersey Steel Company. Their son, Ted is working at Owens, Illinois Glass Company. Daughter Ann, 14, a high school junior, won the swimming meet at Sea Isle City, N. J. last summer.

D. Clayton Brouse exercises a strong influence for good in Lewisburg. At present he is president of the Band Booster Association which just raised $2,363 for new uniforms for the high school senior band. He is industrial chairman of the Lewisburg area for Red Cross for the fifth year; president of the Little League Baseball and Teenager Teams; chairman of the replacement committee for the Evangelical and Reformed Church, now in need of a new minister. Bob and his wife and three children reside at 113 S. 15th St., Lewisburg. He reports that his daughter Barbara will soon be a Bucknell music major.

Mrs. Eleanor Dunkerly's new address is 301 E. Main St., Maple Shade, N. J., where she is a fourth grade teacher.

Joseph A. DiPace has travelled all over Europe and the Middle East. Stationed in Paris for three years as a sales representative, he just missed seeing Cam Rutledge. He has just been reassigned to the New York office, but longs for an "overseas" appointment. He always enjoys THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Margaret Leavitt Dowler (Margaret Piersol) is living at 57 Tinton Ave., Eatontown, N. Y. Her husband, M/Sgt. W. L. Dowler, is now stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Until December 1955 they had been stationed at Orleans, France.

C. Donald Fisher, engineer at Sprout-Waldron Co., Muncy, was issued two patents from the U. S. Patent Office in February. Both patents have been assigned to Sprout-Waldron. One is entitled "mixer" dealing with a more uniform mixture of both large and small particles when a vertical type mixing is used. The other, "hammer mill with separately usable screen" perfects a system of changing screens on a hammer mill without loss of time for stopping the machines to make the change.

Frederick D. Flaherty attended a three-month course in advanced management at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in 1954. Last November he was elected vice president of Bankers Trust Company of New York. He and his wife, the former Helen Farber, are the parents of three children, a son, 11 and two daughters, 8 and 6.

David Griffiths was appointed program and sports director of Radio Station WSCR, Scranton, in February. Dave is one of the region's best known radio and TV personalities. He began his radio career while a student at Bucknell, where he managed the University Station WJBU. Dave and his wife Mildred, and their sons, David Jr. and Wayne, reside at 108 Robinson St., Chinchilla.

Marge Hahn Gronquist's address is 627 Hillcrest Ave., Westfield, N. J. Her husband is a consulting engineer and a Phi Beta Kappa. They have two sons, Carl Robert, 17 and Arthur Richard, 14. Bob hopes to be a freshman at Bucknell next semester.

Henry W. Hallett is only 10 credits away from his doctorate in education at the University of Delaware. He, as you know, is head of the math department of the P. S. DuPont High School in Wilmington, where he is Hammond Organ instructor. His hobbies are collecting records and travelling. His sister, Virginia Hallett Sevens '35, Media, R. D. 2, has been a polio victim for 11 years and has reared a family of three boys. Do you remember the beautiful blonde Virginia?

Dan Halpern who operates an indoor golf and tennis studio in Newark, N. J. has just celebrated the tenth anniversary of the founding of his school, one of the few of its kind in the U. S.

Ira P. Hoffman is principal of the Governor Mifflin Joint Junior High School of 750 pupils in Sinking Spring.

Peg Van Tuyl Jeffrey has lived in York for the past 16 years, after residing two years each in Washington, D. C. and in Baltimore. The Jeffreys have two sons, Billy, 13 and Bobby, 8. Both are good students and interested in playing the piano. Peg belongs to the College Club in York and keeps busy with house, school and church activities.

Kennard Lewis has changed his law office from 5 Crystal St., East Stroudsburg to 190 Washington St., East Stroudsburg. He and his partner have built a new office building which not only houses their law offices but provides office space for several other professional men. He reports that Stroudsburg, which was extremely hard hit by the flood in August 1955, has made a remarkable recovery. His wife Eloise and their three children, Harry, Bronwen, and Margaret spend summers at their home at Dingmans Ferry, Pike County.

Bernard Loth is still swaying in his search for "land legs" after a cruise on the Mauritania during which he met no Bucknellians. He and his wife noted exemplar architecture, especially in Caracas, Venezuela which they recommend to anyone about to erect university buildings. The structures are modern and the most beautifully designed buildings that they have ever seen. They cannot recommend a long stay in Caracas as an ordinary luncheon costs $5.00 and a coke 75c.

John Mathews writes, "Just returned from another freighter trip to the Caribbean and Puerto Rico in particular. My photography is beginning to pay off. Last year's trip to Colombia and Venezuela produced enough salable pictures to finance this cruise. Now if this year is good to me, we'll try another next winter."

Louise Rakestraw is assistant professor of English at California State Teachers College, Penna.

Ralph Reish has rounded out 22 years in the field of public welfare work. He served 17 years as executive director of the Union County Board of Assistance.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.,
East Williston, N. Y.

How time flies by! It is almost time for Alumni Weekend June 8-11. Even though it isn't our Reunion year, I hope you'll try to be there. We have that Silver Anniversary coming up in June 1959. Start now to make plans to be there because it will be a super-duper!

Your reporter learned that Jacob T. Baker, Jr. is supervisor at Hanford General Electric Co., Richland, Wash. He and his wife, the former Peggy Graham, live at 1523 Trayer Drive, Richland, Wash.

Just recently one of my Cub Scouts broke a tooth and the claim adjustor for American Fore Insurance Group was most pleasant. He was Roy Burmeister '20, and he lives only a few blocks from us. I'm sure he'll join in the fun we have at the Long Island Bucknell Club.

John C. Croyle has been named to the post of customer engineer manager of the time equipment division of International Business Machines Corporation. The Croyles and their children, Frank 15 and Helen Louise 9, are living at 44 Valley Rd., Haworth, N. J. I hope they will make the 1959 Reunion. I haven't seen Johnny since graduation.

Capt. John O. Love, Jr., who is serving as a meteorologist in the U. S. Air Force in the Far East, reports that he has three potential Bucknellians, John 111, Thomas and James.

I hope you all mailed your Alumni Trustee ballots in. How fortunate we are to be able to select a trustee to represent us! Just a reminder—mail your Alumni Fund contribution to "Buck" Shott '22. If you've mailed it don't forget next year. Also join your local Alumni Club. You may be surprised to find how many of your neighbors are Bucknellians.

35 MRS. PAUL DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Ott)
Gambrells, Md

Dr. Walton B. Geiger, Jr. is living at 603 W. Elmwood St., San Antonio, Tex., where he is associated with the Southwest

Foundation and Trinity University. Walt received his Ph.D. from Yale in 1938.

Congratulations are in order for Albert L. Brown, Jr. on having been named chief supervisor in charge of the Transport Division of the Chambers Works of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. The Browns reside at "Bethlyn," Laurel Hills, Woodstown, N. J.

We attended the Bucknell birthday meeting of the Baltimore Alumni Club, but nary a '35-er did we see. Strangely enough, I saw no one I knew, but the next evening, daughter Diane and I sat in back of Walter Morris at a concert. We had a delightful chat with him. Walt is from the class of '36 and has achieved distinction at Goucher College where he teaches. He is associate professor of religion and directs religious activities on the campus.

I received a truly marvelous letter from Peg Weddell concerning the tragic death of a cousin of mine in South Africa. It brings to a close one of the most amazing coincidences I have known—that Peg and "Bun" Orr should have been next-door neighbors—so far away and without having known each other or of our mutual relationship.

Elsewhere in the Alumni news is an account of the untimely death of our class's noted psychoanalyst and author, Bob Lindner. All of us send our deepest sympathy to "Johnnie" Lindner '34 and her family. Bob's loss is cancelled by the life he dedicated to humanity and to our understanding of each other.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St., Lewisburg, Penna.
*REUNE IN JUNE

We are looking forward to our Reunion on June 9. I hope you sent in your completed questionnaires to Eric Stewart—even if you cannot attend the Reunion. The returns to date have revealed some interesting information about our classmates.

Those planning to stay overnight will enjoy being together in the lovely, new Swartz dormitory. No doubt there will be reminiscing into the wee hours.

Our class gathering will be held at 10:30 a. m. Sat., June 9 in the 2nd floor Reading Room, Bertrand Library. Following a brief business meeting, we will pose for a class picture. Ed Reisman, whose hobby is photography, will film our Reunion for a showing at our 25th in 1961. He will also take still pictures which will be available to those who want them. At 3:00 p. m., after the Alumni Luncheon in Davis Gym, we'll get together again at Hulle House, 517 St. George Street. Mrs. Jay Mathias (Margie Blair) will serve as social chairman for this affair.

(A little reminder to the distaff side—Be sure to bring at least one pair of comfortable shoes, the hill isn't any easier to climb than it was 20 years ago, and you'll want to see the many changes on the campus).

If you have not sent your contribution to the Alumni Fund you still have an opportunity to do so. The fund year ends on June 30. Hubbard Ruoff is our fund manager.

Grace Arnott received her M.S. degree from the University of Scranton last June. She is director of guidance at the Fairview-Rice High School, Mountaintop. Her home address is 137 Hanover St., Nanticoke.

Mrs. Frederick E. Clark II (Helen Kichline) writes from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands that she is happy building their home in "paradise." Her hobby is spear-fishing.

Esther V. Conklin reports that she is now Mrs. Alex A. Arthur. Her address is 1818 Shipley Rd., Wilmington, Del.

Dr. Harold Evans, Mifflinburg physician, is heading a committee which is planning an ambulance fund drive and is investigating all possibilities to provide faster community ambulance service. The Evanses (Helen Showalter '34) and their ten-year old daughter, Carol Sue, live at 422 Market St., Mifflinburg. We are sorry they will not be with us for our Reunion on June 9, but they are planning a vacation trip to Europe at that time.

Kenneth Herrold and his wife Betty McMahan '37 left New York in February for a four-month trip to the South, Southwest, California and across the Northwest. Ken is on sabbatical leave from Teachers College, Columbia University and is visiting some state health departments in connection with his work. They plan to be back in time for the Reunion.

Joseph M. Kotz is general manager of the Magnetic Components Division of Paramount Pictures Corporation. His address is 625 E. 5th St., Brooklyn 18, N. Y.

Genevieve Lawrence was married on Feb. 13 to Captain Robert C. Desmond of the U. S. Marine Corps. Their address is 6101 Limekiln Pike, Philadelphia 41.

Rose A. Ceccolini who was one of our "lost" members has been found. She is now Mrs. Joseph J. Leone of 8 South Mortimer St., Elmsford, N. Y.

Henry M. McGee was married Jan. 21 to Mary Louise Dougherty of Sharon, Radcliffe '36. She was receptionist at the Sharon Works of Westinghouse Electric Corporation where Henry has been employed as electrical tester of transformers since 1937. Mr. and Mrs. George V. McGee '38 were attendants at the wedding. After a honeymoon in Bermuda, Henry and his wife are at home at Sharon-Mercer Road, R. D. 2, Sharon.

We regret to report the death of George A. Pfeffer on August 7, 1955. While at Bucknell George majored in chemical engineering and was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Dr. J. Fred Weaver, associate professor of education at the Boston University School of Education, was recently appointed to the administrative post of Director of Undergraduate Studies. Fred, his wife, and their four children are living at 10 Emerson Place, Needham 92, Mass.

37 MR. SIGMUND STOLER
215 Chestnut Street
Sunbury, Penna.

Charles O. Morris has moved to 22449 Blossom Dr., Rocky River, Ohio where he was recently appointed assistant manager of Pig Iron Sales of American Steel and Wire Division of U. S. Steel Corporation. He is active in community affairs of Rocky River, having served as a member of the Charter Commission and the Planning Commission. The Morrises have two children, a daughter and a son.

Thomas Wood of Muncy, new president of the Locomotive Law Association, headed a delegation of attorneys who attended the mid-winter meeting of the state bar association in Harrisburg in January. Tom also served as a crisply humorous toastmaster at the county law association's annual dinner earlier in the same week at the Williamsport Country Club.

Willard D. Zimmerman has recently been named assistant production supervisor of the Sunbury plant of Barrett Division, Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation. He had formerly been industrial sales representative of Penna. Power & Light Co. and prior to that was associated with the U. S. Steel Co. as an industrial engineer and production supervisor. The Zimmermans have two children and reside in Sunbury, R. D.

Anthony J. Flannery (MS'37), retired superintendent of schools in West Mahanoy Township, Schuylkill County, died March 8 at his home in Shenandoah Heights. He formerly conducted extension courses for Bucknell. He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
Pattison, Texas

THE WILSON QUINTET

In the northwest corner of Iowa—in fact, he says some of his parishioners live in South Dakota and some in Minnesota—Rev. Gerald L. Wilson is doing nicely, thank you. He is a rural pastor (by choice), serving two Methodist churches. Last year he was president of the Lyon County Ministerial Association, also Siouxland Area C. R. O. P. director. The Christian Rural Overseas Program is the food arm of Church World Service, sends food to starvation and disaster areas of the world. In addition to the Wilson quintet, the five children of Paul Meyers, of Hinsdale, Mass., brought to a nice round number the future Bucknellians romping about that corner of Iowa. Paul, who is working for General Electric in Pittsfield, visited the Wilsons last summer.

Dr. and Mrs. G. V. Lago (Mary McClelland) have been proudly sending out announcements of the birth of a son, Donald Russell, Feb. 15. Their other big news is that Gladwyn has received a $10,500 research grant from the National Science Foundation for continuation of his work on Sampled-Data Systems.

Douglas and Mary Louise Mayhew Fish have recently moved to 7378 San Jose Blvd., Jacksonville, Fla. They report a visit from another '40 classmate, Ruth Lepperd MacDowell and her husband, Fred.

Robert K. Herzfelder writes that he has organized a small orchestra of his own which plays for weekend affairs in and around New York. Anyone wishing to engage Bob's orchestra may do so by contacting him at 245 W. 107th St., New York 25, N. Y.

Our congratulations to Rev. Robert Q. Jones on his recent promotion to full commander in the U. S. Navy Chaplain Corps. He is stationed at the Naval Air Station, Atlantic City, N. J.

After sixteen years of teaching in the junior high school at Sunbury, Margaret Treon has embarked upon a business career. She is the owner of the Margaret Treon Ladies Specialty Shop in Milton.

A note from Mrs. M. K. Sibley (Patty McQuay) says, "We returned to Alfred University from California in August 1955. My husband is associate professor of philosophy at Alfred."

John J. Kovski reports a new job and a new address. John is now staff assistant to the vice president and chief engineer of Melpar Inc. The new address is 1108 Kennedy Lane, Falls Church, Va.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELEBERGER
(Jean Steele)
1518 Westmoreland Ave.,
Syracuse, N. Y.

REUNE IN JUNE

Don't forget our Class Reunion June 9. Bill and I are hoping to see some of our old classmates!

Mrs. Douglas W. Burt (Alma Jacobs) writes: "Laura Rachel, three months old, arrived in September to live with her brother Matthew, 3½ years old, also adopted, and us."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green '40 (Marion Reynolds) are the proud parents of a daughter, Nancy Carol, born Dec. 10, 1955. Their son Richard is 9. Congrats!

Mr. and Mrs. David Hunter (Miriam Lesher) announce the arrival of their second child, Karen Louise, on June 27, 1955. Her brother, Timothy Alan, is almost three.

Robert M. Kerr, M.D. was named "Wyoming Valley's Man of the Year" for 1955 by the Greater Wilkes-Barre Junior Chamber of Commerce. Announcement of Bob's selection was made at the 18th annual dinner of the organization, held Jan. 17 in the Kingston House, when a plaque was presented to him. The purpose of the award is to honor the young man who has made an outstanding contribution to the community and who has contributed to the general welfare of its citizens. An editorial in the Wilkes-Barre Times Leader, Jan. 18, states: "A specialist in the field of internal medicine, he is not satisfied to serve the public only through science; his extracurricular activities in community affairs have been equally impressive." Congratulations, Bob!

Robert C. Koegler and his wife, the former Alice Woodruff of Yonkers, N. Y. are the proud parents of a son, Richard Paul, born March 24, 1955.

After serving five years with the American Board of Missions in Durban, South Africa, Rev. and Mrs. John R. Lepke and their family are returning home for a year's furlough in the United States. They sailed in March, visiting a number of ports on the east coast of Africa, through the Suez Canal, docking in Venice. After visiting some Italian and French centers of Christian Church work, they attended the World Student Christian Federation and World Council of Churches in Geneva, Switzerland. Their stateside address will be c/o I. B. Davies, Delavan, Wisc.

Frank Nonemaker, Jr. reports that his two-year old son, Dale Roger, has a new brother, Douglas Andrew, born Nov. 16, 1955. The Nonemakers live at 146 N. Front St., Milton.

Rev. and Mrs. Richard W. Nutt (Dorothy S. Smailes) have moved to State College where Dick is chaplain to Methodist students at the Penn State University and Wesley Foundation director. They have three children, Tom 11, Nan 8, and Kathy Sue 7. Their new address is 116 Easterly Parkway, State College.

We were sorry to learn that James A. Tyson, Jr. of Montoursville R. D. 2 had been a recent patient in the Divine Providence Hospital, Williamsport. Jim is an industrial engineer for Sylvania Electric Products Inc. He and his wife, the former Kay Millward '43, have two sons, Jimmy 12, and Tommy 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Underwood have three children, Douglas 7, Jeffrey 4, and Barbara 3. Ray is practicing law in Portland, Ore.

John F. Zeller III, assistant to the president, Bucknell, was recently elected to the directorate of the Lewisburg National Bank.

42 MRS. THEODORE WILKINSON
(Mary C. Forrest)
329 W. Walnut St.,
Lancaster, Penna.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Bowen (Donna Jeanne Ray '46) have recently moved from Metuchen, N. J. to 308 N. 9th St., Sunbury, where Bill will be associated with his father-in-law in the investment business. They have three children, Susan, 8, Steven, 6, and Jeanne, 2. Although he's a "New Jerseyite," Bill says he is happy to live in this section of Pennsylvania again.

Frederick H. Fahringer, a major in the U. S. Air Force, is stationed with his family in England. The Fahringers have two children, Devon and Stephen Bradley. Their address is 24 Churchill St., Kenton, Harrow, Middlesex, England.

Dr. Robert Good was recently promoted to associate professor of psychology at Sacramento State College. The Goods live at 2349 Hernando Rd., Sacramento, Calif.

43 MRS. EARLE E. BENTON
(Norene Bond)
130 Edingham Place
Westfield, N. J.

George N. Jenkins took time out of a busy schedule to bring us up to date on news of himself and his family. George has been sales engineer with Esso Standard Oil Co., since leaving Bucknell. Recently he was transferred to the home office in New York in Radio City where he is in the same department with Doug Bonham '43 and Charlie Herman '50. The three of them often get together with other Bucknellians for lunch or an evening. Last summer the Jenkins built a new home in Fanwood, N. J. and on July 18, son, John Byron II, arrived to share it with them.

One of our number received recognition on Broadway last season. Jinks Greenig Reddick took over Kitty Carlisle's part in "Anniversary Waltz" when the latter left the play, and finished the run. Jinks is at present busy doing TV commercials and anticipating the summer which she and Bill will spend at their place on the Jersey shore. Their New York address is 30 East End Ave.

Christmas cards brought some news that was most welcome. Gus and Betty Hyde Yearing are now on this side of the Hudson. They have moved to 207 South Highwood Ave., Glen Rock, N. J. Joe and Jane Weber Culbertson have bought a house in Jenkintown, 401 Rodman Ave.

Mrs. Stanley R. Saylor (Beatrice E. Lepley) is back at Bucknell. "Beaty" is secretary in the president's office. She commutes from her home in Beavertown where her husband Stan is in business. Another Bucknellian back at the old Alma Mater is Joy Bonn. She has her Ph.D. now and is teaching World Lit. and freshman comp.

Dr. Charles J. Rodgers is a practicing physician in Williamsport. He reports "five future Bucknellians thus far." The Rodgers live at 1434 Kelly Ave.

Mrs. B. F. Hardaway (Charlotte Cubberly) reports that her husband has almost completed a two-year course in graduate air ordnance at Dayton, Ohio. They have four children, two of each, ranging in age from 11½ to 2½.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burke (Teresa Ticcony) are living at 2008 Columbia Ave., Pittsburgh 18.

Alice Watts Gowdey writes, "I'm living at Fairchild Air Force Base, Washington, with my husband, USAF Capt. William R. and our 6 year old daughter, Linda Ann." Another 43'er living the life of the Air Force is Jody Bagg Suttle. She and her husband and two children are in Libya. After living in Tripoli for a year, they have moved onto the base.

The latest addition to the William A. Fairclough family is a son, Craig William, who joins sisters, Diane Lynn, 5 and Susanne, 3½. The Faircloughs recently moved from Whittier, Calif. to 686 S. Main St., Naugatuck, Conn.

Don and Janet Bold Sholl have a new prospective Bucknellian. Andrew Baxter weighed in on Dec. 20 at 9 lbs., 3 oz. This makes four for the Sholls but the first boy.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

The Russell Allens (Carolyn Day) announce the arrival of Martha Jane, their third child, March 7.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Breg (Margaret Meston) announce the arrival of their third child, Daniel Ray, born Dec. 16, 1955.

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Brownell (Cathy Wittenberg) announce the birth of their fourth child, James Kenyon, Jan. 31.

Dr. Frank D. Burns has recently taken up residency in Chambersburg where he will practice medicine. Frank specialized in obstetrics and gynecology at Temple. The Burns are living at 714 S. Coldbrook Ave., Chambersburg, and are the parents of four children.

Jack Fisher, MS '49, is teaching in the North Plainfield High School. His address is 506 Grant Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

Wish letters could be printed in their entirety, but space is so limited, here are a few lines from Jack Ferris. "After leaving Bucknell and floating half way around the world with the Navy . . . I went with General Electric in 1947. Moved to Erie in 1948 in Industrial Locomotive Marketing. In 1948 married Helen Collison in the old hometown of Rutherford, N. J. We have one son, Johnny, age 4 . . . Often see Jim Stahl who is in Locomotive Engineering. Bob Ungard paid us a call the other day."

On March 7, the Newark Evening News carried the following headline, "Keegan Could Be Key to Chisox Hopes." Chicago White Sox Manager Marty Marion sent Bob Keegan to the mound for the first time this season on that day at Tampa, Fla. Bob has pitched extremely well in Spring exhibitions and it is hoped that his arm trouble of last year has healed, permitting him to regain his 1954 form when he won 16 games.

While at Bucknell Bob lettered in baseball and basketball. He signed with the New York Yankees while still a student but was traded to the White Sox several years ago. Speaking for ourselves, he has four avid fans at Lindys Lake (apologies for Tom who is too young to appreciate him) and Marty Marion isn't the only one who hopes he will come back stronger than ever this year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. King, Jr. (Anne Gonsior) announce the arrival of William Eugene III, on Sept. 25, 1955. He joins sisters, Polly, 6 and Mary, 4. The Kings live in Batesburg, S. C. Anne wrote that she hoped to attend the South Carolina Alumni Club meeting in February.

Lynn Valentine Gonzalez reports a new address and a new baby. The new address is 758 Templeton Dr., Nashville, Tenn., and the new baby is an adopted son, Bruce Allen, born July 13, 1955.

Rev. and Mrs. Elmo Pascale welcomed a future Bucknellian, Jeffrey Scott, on Leap Year Day, Feb. 29. He will be ready for college along about his official fourth birthday. The Pascales live at 547 Falcon Ave., Staten Island, N. Y. 6, N. Y.

Henry M. Reed reports that since September he has been teaching in the department of business administration at Bloomfield College and Seminary, Bloomfield, N. J.

45 MRS. C. FRED MOORE
(Nancy Woehling)
118 Gillin Road,
Ambler, Penna.

In January a group of Danville Alumni held a reorganization meeting of the Danville Alumni Club and elected John T. Magzill president. Other officers are F. Porter Wagner '47, vice president, and Theresa Boguszewski Stroh '40, secretary-treasurer. John reports that they have a fine group that is really interested in having an active club.

Mrs. William C. Paris (Elizabeth Grove) and her husband have been transferred to Buffalo, N. Y. Their new address is 468 Potomac Ave.

Raymond H. Wilson is manager of membership relations for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C. His address is 8025 Park Lane, Bethesda, Md.

Jane and Justin Salter announce the arrival of a son, Barry Winfield, on Dec. 13, 1955.

Mrs. Carl Sirianni (Mary Lou Jenkins) has a new address: Box 218 Greene, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bacon (Phoebe Follmer) have a new address, 5915 Woodacres Drive, Washington 16, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. G. Bond (Marjorie Hudson '46) report a new address since April: 20529 Hackney St., Canoga Park, Calif. Their new home is within three miles of the main plant of North American Aviation's Rocketdyne Division. Bill is our Class Fund Manager. If you didn't respond to his roll call, do so now.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaCroix (Mary Elizabeth Follmer) announce the arrival of their second son, Robert Arthur, on Feb. 23. Their present address is 4116 Prairie Lane, Prairie Village 15, Kansas.

Mrs. Emanuel Reznick (Barbara A. Wolfrom) is now residing at 4433 Via Pinvon, Palos Verdes Estates, Calif. Rumor had it that the Reznicks had a son, Gregory, born within the past year and that he has a sister about 8 years old. Any other news to report, Barbara?

Betsy Daughy Scanlan calls this "The Five Maps of Ireland." The fifth one is on the wall in back of John III, with Beth, Laurie and Brian in the foreground. You've guessed it, this snapshot was taken on St. Patrick's Day when Brian was three months old. The Scanlans get things done—moving seven times in seven years, raising four children. In the meantime Daddy John is a Sales Engineer for Truscon Division of Republic Steel Corporation.

46 MRS. LELAND EWING
(Elizabeth Joann Wells)
31260 Westfield Ave.
Livonia, Mich.

REUNE IN JUNE

Noticed an increase in your mail lately? Those extras from Bucknell are reminders of our 10th Reunion, June 9. Let us know if you have a change of address. Please answer Patti C. Garrity's questionnaire. See you at Reunion!

Mr. and Mrs. William Gold (Virginia Lehr '48) welcomed their third child, second son, William Jr., on Feb. 8. Their other two children are Sally Virginia, 5 and John S., 3. The Golds live at 1700 Washington Ave., Lewisburg. Bill is at the University Book Store on the campus.

Louise Schooley Hazeltine's new address is 1319 York Ave., 4FN, New York 21, N. Y. Louise is an instructor in medical nursing, Cornell-New York Hospital School of Nursing.

Mrs. James Mason (Dorothy Minter) writes, "At Christmastime we moved into our new home that we designed and built at 534 Scott Road, Gladwyne."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Pangburn welcomed a new daughter on July 3, 1955. Susan Louise is the Pangburn's third child, second daughter. She joins sister Martha Christine, 3 and Edward W. III, 2. The Pangburns live at 62 W. Bruncton Rd., Pittsburgh 36. Ed is an engineer with U. S. Steel.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Rave (Miriam Evans '48) live at 10 Shamrock Circle, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Bill has recently been promoted to associate engineer, Electronic Data Processing Machines, I. B. M.

Jean De Groat Richards and her husband are looking forward for summer cruising in Long Island Sound. Both have recently received their seamanship award rating from the U. S. Power Squadron. They live at 109 Farist Rd., Fairfield, Conn.

Mrs. S. S. Schweitzer (Adriane Krawit) reports that she has two sons, George, 5 and Peter, 2. The Schweitzers live at 161 W. 54th St., N. Y. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sosnowitz announce the arrival of a daughter, Joan, on Feb. 13. They also have a three year old son, Steven, and reside at 228 Seaton Rd., Stamford, Conn.

J. Dudley "Dud" Waldner, our energetic class president, made a step upward on March 1 when he accepted a position as associate editor for the Edison Electric Institute, the trade association for the privately-owned power companies in America. Dud and Jean, along with the four fast-growing Waldner youngsters, continue to reside at 19 Bellaire Drive, Montclair, N. J.

Mrs. Raymond C. Wanta (Barbara Jones) reports that she and her husband celebrated their 11th wedding anniversary in April. They are the parents of two daughters, 10 and 8 years old and a son, 3½. The Wantas reside at 6246 Joyce Lane, Cincinnati, Ohio where Ray is chief of meteorology in the Public Health Service National Air Pollution Program.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Whitesides (Eloise Headland) announce the arrival of Douglas Vaughn, Jr. on Oct. 25, 1955. "Billy" writes that they have moved often in the central U. S. A. area due to her husband's work with the U. S. Geographical Survey, but now they are to be permanently located in their own home at 3018 Cleveland Blvd., Louisville, Ky.

It is also a daughter for Rev. and Mrs. Elmwood C. Zimmerman, 203 S. Filbert St., Mechanicsburg. Paula Denise was born Jan. 9. The Zimmermans have a son 3 years old.

In addition to the Reunion committee members listed in the March 1956 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS (p. 12) the following have been appointed to serve: Mrs. Alvin M. Fischer (Janice Ubil), Mrs. John W. Cruikshank (Mary "Scotty" Groves), Jean Creelman Clarkson, Anne Howland Knudson, and Alice Nix Rapp. William M. Wilkinson will serve as chairman of the nominating committee.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Penna.

Dr. and Mrs. John Arbogast are the parents of a daughter, Joan, born Jan. 11 in the Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia, where John is in his second year of residency in obstetrics and gynecology.

Another letter from Daniel G. Burt in Asuncion, Paraguay, brought a vexing story concerning himself which he had recently received from a classmate, Bush Fullerton. At a luncheon in Chicago for a visiting president of Uruguay, Bush found himself seated next to one of the president's sons, Jorge Batlle. During the course of conversation, it occurred to Bush that among the two or three million people in Uruguay, he knew only one person, Dan Burt. When he mentioned this to Jorge, he recognized the name immediately and reported that both he and his father knew the family well. What is confusing Bush is that he later received Dan's address from Alumni Headquarters and discovered that Dan is not living in Uruguay but in Paraguay.

"Did the visiting Uruguian really know Dan or was he 'pulling my leg,'" ponders Bush. He admits that Jorge's English 30 was none too good and his Spanish was even worse, so he has concluded that perhaps they misunderstood each other somewhere along the line. Anyway . . .

Lee Eshelman was married June 11, 1955 to Edward Moshinski. Her husband is employed by a typography firm in Philadelphia, and they are living in that city at 542 South 45th Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell Fullerton (Lois Miller) became the parents of a son, David Hartman, on July 26, 1955.

A nice letter came to us recently from Betty Ann Fowler Halter notifying us of a change of address and bringing us up to date on news of her family. Wally '45 is manager of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. in Salem, N. J. They have acquired a home at 204 Spruce St., Salem, and "welcome visits from any and all Bucknellians in the area." Their twin daughters, Pat and Pam, will start to school next September.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Harris (Barbara Morrow '44) are living in Shepherdstown, W. Va. where Floyd is a practicing physician. Before settling in Shepherdstown, he served on the surgical staff of the Key West Naval Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Heinzerling '46 (Barbara Wall) welcomed baby Joyce Ellen on January 9. This makes the census six at their house, what with Connie 7½, Gail 4, and Cathy 2½. Question: Would it be better to get four doll carriages now, or shall we let two ride and two push?

Mr. and Mrs. David Lyman Hurwitz announce the birth of a son, Peter Ethan, on Jan. 30. Dave graduated from Columbia Law School in 1950 and is an attorney in New York City. They live at 493 Oxford Rd., Cedarhurst, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Jackson (Alta K. Schroder '46) are living at Daisy Lane, Commack, N. Y. Howard is an aeronautical engineer, guided missile division of Republic Aircraft in Hicksville, N. Y.

Richard L. Moore has written a very readable article for the November 1955 issue of Consulting Engineer under the title, "Should Consulting Engineers Advertise?" Dick thinks they should, and cites the advantages to society if professional people would be inclined to tell the public of the services they have to offer. He completes his article with a simple promotion program that professionals should follow in telling the public about their services. Dick, who is with Foster D. Snell, Inc., has done his usual good job of thinking straight and writing clearly and directly.

A rose on the communion table at the First Baptist Church, Lewisburg, on March 18 was in honor of Kathleen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Thomas Wilson (Doris Ranck '43) born March 7. She joins brothers Michael, 6 and Martin, 2½. She is the eleventh grandchild for the D. L. Rancks. Tom is associated in the practice of law with Merrill W. Linn Esq., and is a lecturer in business law in the economics, commerce and finance department at Bucknell. The Wilsons live at 25 S. 16th St., Lewisburg.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
954 Caldwell Avenue
Union, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon (Charlotte E. Taylor) announce the arrival of their fourth child, Ruth Thoms, on Jan. 4.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Harriman became the parents of a son, Andrew Lawrence, on New Year's Day. Arthur is following in his father's footsteps and is teaching psychology at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster.

His sister, Mildred '48 and her husband, Tony Martin '47 became parents of a daughter, Martha Melissa, on Jan. 14, in Pittsburgh.

Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Harriman (Dessa Holman '36) are the proud grandparents. Dr. Harriman has been the popular and well-known professor of psychology at Bucknell since 1930.

Charles Ogg reports that he is now a project architect with Esbach, Pullinger, Stevens, & Bruder, Philadelphia. Charles is an architectural graduate of the University of Pennsylvania in 1953 and was awarded a graduate travelling fellowship in Europe. He is married to Elizabeth Hughitt, Syracuse '48. Their address is Stenton Arms, Apt. 4, Philadelphia, but have a house under construction in suburban Whitmarsh Township.

Dr. Mildred E. Sheesley is now interning at Presbyterian Hospital in Philadelphia. She received her medical degree from the University of Virginia Medical School.

Edwin and Frances Reichard Bell announce the arrival of their third son, Eric Leslie, on Dec. 16, 1955. He joins his brothers Ernest, 3½ and Stephen, 1½. The Bells live at 1523 N. 14th St., Reading.

Jean "Dutchie" Swartz is attending the New York School of Social Work, Columbia University and expects to receive her master's degree in June.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hansen, Jr. (Dorothy Clark) are living at 55 Meadow St., Pearl River, N. Y. where Bill is an attorney.

Mark I. Davidoff is a chemical engineer with the Arabian American Oil Co. His address is c/o ARAMCO, Laan van Meerder Vort 55, The Hague, Holland.

The members of the class of '48 will be very sorry to learn of the untimely death of Dr. Fred D. Snyder of Bridgeton, N. J. at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Philadelphia on March 7. While at Bucknell he was a member of the track team and was tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa.

He served in the Navy and was graduated from Hahnemann Medical College in 1953. He was a junior member of the International College of Surgeons, the Philadelphia Industrial Medical Association, and the Cumberland County Medical Society.

He is survived by his widow, the former Claire Smith; a son Fred D. 3rd, and his parents.

Robert C. Holman is teaching in the Mifflinburg High School. He had taught biology and science in the Westmont Upper Yoder High School, Johnstown since 1948. His Mifflinburg address is 121 Chestnut St.

Margaret Rowe Harrison writes that she and her husband Bob became the parents of Wendy Rowena on June 12, 1955. Peggy says that she and Elly Zahn Mahler often spend an afternoon together and talk over "the great '48." Peg's address is 225 Upland Dr., Rochester, N. Y.

A note from Bob Weiss gives us the news of the arrival of their fourth child. This one is a daughter, Carol, born Dec. 29, 1955. Bob is senior accounting machine sales representative with the Albany, N. Y. office of National Cash Register Company.

An old Spanish House resident with me, Betty Kreitzburg Westplate, wrote that she and her husband added a third to their family tree, Myron John, on Feb. 10. She and her husband John, along with her sister Laurel Kreitzburg Ellis '51 and her husband were lucky enough to visit the campus last summer. Betty and John reside at 7600 33rd Ave., Kenosha, Wis.

Don't forget June means graduation for undergraduates and "Back to the Campus" for us Alumni.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Dr. Samuel S. Brenner writes that he is busy in a fast growing general practice. His address is 103 Park Place, Sayre.

M. Lloyd Davies was recently promoted to mechanical test engineer with Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. at the Hazleton plant, but will test turbines and steam generation equipment at the Shamokin Dam and Martin Creek plants.

Richard English was married to Valerie Youtrys, June 25, 1955.

Irvin Graybill, Jr. is now Mr. District Attorney of Snyder County. He was elected by a large majority in the November election and took office Jan. 2. After graduating from Harvard Law School in 1952, Irv began his law practice in his hometown, Middleburg.

He served almost three years in the U. S. Army Amphibian Engineer Corps in the South Pacific, and served one and one-half years as a member of the legal staff of Pennsylvania Department of Revenue in Harrisburg.

He is very active in civic and religious organizations in his community.

Kenneth F. Maloney, a chemical engineer with ARAMCO, spent the fall semester at Bucknell and completed work for his M.A. degree. While in Lewisburg, he and his family became very well known. Ken was in great demand as a speaker and presented many interesting and informative talks on American-Arabian relations. The Maloney's two children, Kenneth and Susan attended school in Lewisburg. When they departed for Saudi Arabia in February, their classmates were very much impressed at the idea of taking off in an airplane for such places as the Azores, Holland and Arabia.

Charles D. Sloatman was married to Beverly Merchant, Dec. 26, 1955 at Rockland, Maine. Charles is associated with the Burritt Lumber Sales Co., Inc. of Bridgeport, Conn. They will reside at 382 Whitney Ave., New Haven.

51 MRS. GARRY E. BROWN
(Frances Wilkins)
Schoolcraft, Mich.

REUNE IN JUNE

By now you probably have all received Bud Bush's letter about the big event in June. Just a reminder, though: don't hesitate any longer to complete your questionnaire and send it to Mrs. Paul Lacke (Mary Jane Riley). You can help her meet the deadline and have news about you and yours in the Reunion Book. To mention just a few familiar faces that you will see in June, let me say that Barbara Kaiser Henderson, David Kahn, Lee Hanna, Herb Zearfoss, Ann Cooper Nixon, Ed McGinnis, Nancy Cathrall Eaton, and Wayne Harrison will be there. But these are just a few. The list of returning Alums is long so the prospect of a grand time is certain. What about YOU?

AROUND AND ABOUT:

For those of you in the New York area, here's news about the theater. Do reserve tickets for "The Lovers" and see our own Cap and Daggerite, Bramley Billip, on stage. He was listed as William Bramley when the show opened on Broadway April 18. Since leaving Bucknell, Bill has appeared in summer stock and on many of the leading TV programs. He is now with the Playwright's Company of 1545 Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Brown (Wilene Edwards '53) recently moved from Kingston, N. Y. to 7230 W. Armitage Ave., Apt. A1, Elmwood Park, Ill. Ed is still with the Turner Construction Company.

Francis W. "Frank" Kelly will be batching this summer since his wife, Cecile Constans (former housemother at French House) and son Michael left for France on April 24. Cecile wanted to leave earlier, but the mass migration to Monaco for the Rainier-Kelly nuptials prevented it. With all the necessary documents, including a French and American passport for Michael, the two Kellys sailed on the Mauretania and will return early in August on the same ship.

POPULATION INCREASES:

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Merritt (Mary Campbell) have a daughter, Winifred Ann, 2½ years old. The Merritts live at 20 Buckingham Rd., Norwood, Mass.

From Kirkland, Washington, comes a belated report of David Sloat, nine-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sloat (Barbara Parcell '52). This makes three little ones for the Sloats: Peter, 4½, Joanne, 2½. News about Art: as of March 1, he is manager of the North Pacific Division of Johnson & Johnson. You may reach the Sloats by mail at 2528 126th Ave., N. E. Kirkland, Wash.

Dick Husted writes that he stepped out of the bachelor ranks on July 3, 1954, when he married Shirley Cox. The Husteds reside at 430 Parma Center Rd., Hilton, N. Y. where Dick is doing graduate work in education and history at the University of Rochester.

Received a wonderful letter from Downey Stancs. He and his wife, Pinny, have two children — Laura Ellen, 22 months., and Brian Downey, 9 months. Downey is a small craft inspector in the Navy, and the Stances' address is: Ens. A. D. Stances, USNR, 15 Saratoga St., North Quincy 71, Mass. The letter was as interesting as you would expect it to be and . . . why fight it? Here's an excerpt! "Betty and Dick Landis are at Ft. Devens till June due to a prior commitment to Uncle. Also saw Bob and Eileen Christian. They're in the same boat . . . bumped into Dick Larson '51. He was selling raincoats in Boston. Good location . . . he married a girl from Nantucket . . . I'm beginning to sound like Louella Parsons . . . Saw Claire Vogel song at Harvard game . . . Tom McMahon '52 lives nearby and is working for a civil engineering firm in Boston . . . Understand Ed Williams of junior carnival fame is in Japan. He graduated the class ahead of me at Newport. Saw Bob Jepson '52 and Lindy. Jim Hastings is stationed in the 1st naval district headquarters. He's a J.G. now with a year to go . . . excuse the typing. I'm taking a mail order course from Sears Roebuck and lost the first lesson." Many thanks for the news. Downey.

William K. Johnson was married April 16, 1955 to Beverley Perreault in Pawtucket, R. I. They are living at 156 Chaplin St., Pawtucket, where Bill is book-keeping supervisor of the Industrial National Bank.

Glenna E. Long reports that she has moved East again to 1125 S. 55th St., Philadelphia. She is reservations agent for Trans World Airlines.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald J. Tedeschi became parents of a daughter, Diane Marie, Oct. 1955. They are living at 25-B West Grant St., Woodstown, N. J.

A note from Robert and Pat (Patricia E. Foulkes '53) Husted brings us the latest news of their family. Deborah Ellen arrived Dec. 9, 1955 to join brother, David Reading, 2½ years old. Last August the Husteds moved from Flushing, L. I. into a new home of their own at 44 Halsey Lane, Closter, N. J. Bob is a salesman with the Bethlehem Steel Co. in the New York area.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Huffman (Miriam Esslinger '54) announce the arrival of a daughter, Katherine Anne, on Sept. 9, 1955.

James R. Gregg's address is 42 Salesbury Ave., Garden City, N. Y. Jim is associated with the Odyssey Press as a college representative covering the Southwest.

Lt. Donald W. Lindsey was married to Ethel Lundgren Oct. 2, 1955. Don is serving with the 58th WEA Recon. Sq., at Fairbanks, Alaska. His mailing address is APO 937, Seattle, Wash.

Arthur G. Kearney, having served two years in the Navy, was discharged in November. Art is now working for Joseph Froggatt & Co., Inc., accountants in New York. His home is 2 Roxbury Rd., Garden City.

Elizabeth Anne Hudson was married January 14 to James O. Yule, Purdue '51. They are living at 4641 E. Montecito St., Tucson, Ariz. where her husband is associated with RCA.

Dick and June Christ Klemm '51 announce the arrival of a daughter on Nov. 23, 1955. Dick is now working with the N. Y. Telephone Co. since his discharge from the Army. His address is 140 West Street, N. Y. C.

It's a boy for Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. Leonard Ahlfeld (Mary Judith Esmay '54). David Philip was born July 15, 1955 in San Diego, Cal. where Len is stationed. The Ahlfelds' address is PW NAS Miramar, San Diego 45.

MAY 1956

A newsy letter from Jeffrey K. Thompson brought us up to date not only on himself but on three other Bucknellians as well. Jeff was recently discharged from Uncle Sam's army and has begun a one-year cadet engineering course with the Public Service Electric and Gas of New Jersey. His address is 300 Union Ave., Clifton, N. J. He reports that Jack Gamble '54 is still stationed in Kentucky but is in a civilian component job with the Kentucky Military District serving as a public relations man for that area. His address is 950 Cherokee, Louisville 4, Ky. Ralph Willers, another '53 member will receive his B.D. degree at Princeton Theological Seminary in June. Another Bucknellian, Marshall Goulding '52 is with the Pennsylvania State Department and is working in Stroudsburg, helping to clean up the destruction left in the wake of the last two hurricanes last fall. Thank you, Jeff, for so much news.

Mr. and Mrs. Max A. VanBuskirk, Jr. (Mary Jane Webber) are the proud parents of a son, Peter Webber, born March 16. The VanBuskirks are living at 4712 Cedar Ave., Philadelphia. Max is a senior in the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine.

54 MISS DOROTHY M. DIORIO
376 S. Bellevue Ave.
Langhorne, Penna.

Here I am sending the last edition of '54 news to press, knowing full well that half of the material which I have here will more than fill the allotted space. Please bear with me if I hold you over until September.

In condensed fashion we have first the weddings: Mary Jane Rhodes was married to Rev. William Wilson on March 10. Barbara Ann Smith to Charles A. Coulomb III. Robert M. Hinman to Joan C. Nard on Jan. 28. Mary Ann McCoy to David E. Poznick, Jr. in September. Lora Doody to Allen B. Koenig on December 18. Joy Mackwell to Edwin E. Craig on Nov. 19. Barbara Davis to Jack Williams in August.

The birth announcements include: Mr. and Mrs. George Holton, Jr., a daughter, Jane Esher, on Nov. 10. Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Smith (Janet Sandford), a son, Howard, Jr. (now 1½ years old). Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ahlfeld (Judy Esmay), a son, David Philip, July 15. Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Cook, Jr. (Nancy Green), a son, David Paul, on Nov. 5. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Beach (Margie Beach) a daughter, Catherine Laura, on Jan. 9.

A completely frustrated Alumnus subscriber is Mrs. Carey G. Price (Sue Dayton) whose own and newly acquired husband's names were misspelled. These errors appeared in an announcement of their Nov. 5 marriage. My apologies!

In the career line I mention first Joan Rafaj who is working for her Master's degree in American History at Cornell and is planning a June wedding.

I had a letter from Margot Straus who writes that in addition to being Mrs. Richard Petrov for the past three years, she is now working as the assistant to the features editor of The American Girl magazine.

Betty Jean Gomes reports that she is an assistant editor but did not mention the name of her publication. Her address is 5 West 95th St., N. Y.

Louise Kinzie is doing graduate work in French at the University of Chicago and is living at International House. Last year she studied at the University of Poitiers, France. Sounds like heaven, Lou!

A last year's graduate from Katharine

Gibbs School, Mary Ann Boessneck is now employed at Bethlehem Steel Co., Bethlehem, Pa.

Richard B. Reed began his studies for a Master's degree in Latin American Studies at the University of Indiana in February.

Marjorie Yench (M.A.) is teaching an extension course in medical and surgical nursing at Lewistown Hospital during the spring semester. She is a member of the staff of Wilkes College Department of Nursing Education.

We can hardly close this sketchy resumé without mentioning the doings of the uniform-clad lads.

Ken Adamec is serving as a lieutenant in the Medical Service Corps., Fort Devens, Mass., where he is commander of a 100-bed hospital.

Harold Smith II, Specialist 3rd class, has been stationed in Germany for the past three years with the U. S. Army Topographic Engineers as a surveyor.

It was with deep regret that we learned of the untimely death of Ensign Robert W. Jaggard on March 27 when the Navy Skyraider dive bomber he was piloting crashed into a farm house near Corpus Christi, Tex. Witnesses said the Skyraider had been coming in for a landing at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station at Cabisiss Field two miles west of Corpus Christi. The wing tip of the plane touched the ground in the yard of a house across the street from the base. The plane cartwheeled into the five-room frame house, smashing part of it. The rest was destroyed by flames. A woman in the house escaped injury.

Bob was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Jaggard of Egg Harbor Rd., Sewall, N. J. While at Bucknell he worked on the L'Agenda, Student Handbook, and Et Cetera. He was a member of the Outing Club and Christian Association. He participated in intramural sports four years. A member of the Lambda Chi fraternity, he entered the Naval Air Cadets training program at Pensacola, Fla. upon graduation from Bucknell. We like to think that his college days held many happy associations.

REUNE IN JUNE

John Haelig graduated from Army Engineers School at Fort Belvoir, Va. in October and is now stationed at Showa Air Base in Japan where he has been since November.

Alice (Parthemer) and Bill Gretsches write from 1608 Richenbacher Road, Apt. E, Baltimore 21, Md. that she is teaching and he is with Glenn Martin Aircraft. On May 13, Bill leaves for six months active duty—first stop, Fort Monmouth.

At least there will be a few familiar faces in Lewisburg when we all get back for the first reunion. Nan Nichols (Mrs. John Leister as of June 26, 1956) is living at 427 Market Street. Margie Cuff Van Duzer is in Apt. 26-I, Bucknell Village with new baby Karen ruling the roost.

Jean Helbig is in graduate school at Duke University (College Station, P. O. Box 6651, Durham, N. C.) where she is finding that all colleges are not victims of Bucknell weather.

Norm Kerewsky claims that he was the first '55 Bucknellian to reach Korea. Can anyone beat Dec. 5, 1955?

John Nordahl, who spent our first two years at Bucknell and then finished at M. I. T., was married February 3, and is now working with Sperry Rand Corp., in Philadelphia.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

LETTERS

FELLOW BUCKNELLIANs:

Since my election June 1955 as Vice President of The General Alumni Association, I've been asked several times to write an article for our official publication. Like all of you, I've been busily engaged with other matters which seemed more important. Today, however, I feel compelled to accept the challenge and write about a matter which disturbs me very much. You see, I've just returned from a visit to Lewisburg, where I was informed that certain significant changes in course offerings were being contemplated. I'm referring specifically to the reduction in course offerings for students interested in meeting Pennsylvania state requirements for certification in the elementary education program. Actually, it has even been suggested that the program for preparation of elementary teachers should be discarded entirely, since Bucknell is essentially a liberal arts college. As an alumnus and a parent, I'm unalterably opposed to such a course of action. I'm reasonably sure many of you, especially parents planning to send their daughters to Bucknell, will want to know more about this.

As a layman, certainly not a consultant for any policy determining committee, I wish to outline briefly my reason for opposing this action:

1. Because of the desperate shortage of elementary teachers—in fact, teachers on all levels. Are we not a service institution and as such have an obligation to society? The Foundations, Ford, Olin, Carnegie, etc., who are benefactors of institutions like Bucknell, are looking to us for such leadership and their representatives have on numerous occasions emphasized this point.

2. From a purely selfish Bucknell viewpoint, may I remind all of you that during the depression years, 1930-34, we who were interested in securing students for Bucknell, relied very heavily on Bucknellians engaged as public school teachers to recommend good prospective students for our Alma Mater. I'm sure that these alumni performed a service which aided the university materially and alleviated certain of the then pressing financial conditions. I sincerely hope that Bucknell will never again pass through a similar depression period—unfortunately, economic history has always found a way of repeating the cycle. I can only hope that if such a condition ever does materialize, we will again find a goodly number of loyal Bucknellians in the classroom, willing and able to recommend young Americans to be considered as applicants for admission to Bucknell.

3. Furthermore, here are some statistics which may be of interest to all of you. This year, in the State of New Jersey, there was a need for 4000 additional teachers. The college teacher-trained graduates in New Jersey institutions numbered 800. For the next five years the disparity will be even greater. In the State of Delaware, the two teacher-training institutions graduated a total number of about 80 seniors qualified for teacher assignments. The number needed was 400. Figures for New York and Pennsylvania are not available but I'm sure they are substantially the same.

4. We, who are graduates of church-related schools, are proud of our heritage and should make an all-out effort to support them. Wake up, Bucknellians, before it is very late! I, personally, am only too well aware of the demand by the most competent public and private administrators for the outstanding products of our liberal arts colleges.

5. What about the future? Are your sons and daughters planning to attend college?

By 1960 there will be an alarming number of young people eager to attend college, but unfortunately the supply of well qualified instructors on the college level will be limited, to say the least. Today the shortage is so acute that even money won't solve the problem. Why? There has been very little incentive in the way of financial remuneration and all too few of our fine young people could afford, and even now can afford, the luxury of college teaching! We desperately need young men and women who will be qualified to give adequate training to the elementary and high school students who will become our college professors in the years to come.

6. Six years ago the faculty and administration of Bucknell University petitioned the Pennsylvania State Council on Education for permission to offer elementary education courses which would ultimately lead to a B.S. degree and qualify the holder to teach in our public schools. The council approved the request, and Bucknell became the fifth institution in Pennsylvania, together with Penn State, University of Pittsburgh, Temple University, and the University of Pennsylvania, eligible to award this degree. I am deliberately not including the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges, because I am trying to point out that this was a signal honor and a trust bestowed upon Bucknell. Now that this program has been so well received and the demand is growing by large numbers, it is my sincere hope that retrenchment of this fine program will not be sanctioned by the authorities. Present enrollment for these courses is running high. Of approximately 750 applications for admission from the young women, 200 are interested in the elementary teacher-training course. According to present plans, only 25 will be accepted. Prior to this year, there were 50.

Bucknell's elementary education program has proved itself a worthy addition to the long-flourishing secondary education, guidance, and administrative curricula. Since roughly three-fourths of the curriculum consists of liberal arts work in English, science, social studies, music, humanities, psychology, geography, and related areas, many of us feel that this educational curriculum rightfully belongs as an integral part of any liberal arts program. With such a diversified curriculum, these teachers will excel in their training abilities and we may assume that the young children entrusted to them will be better prepared for the high school courses. I am of the opinion that many of the difficulties in secondary education are due to weakness in the fundamentals. It is utterly fallacious thinking, on the part of some, to assume that secondary school teaching is of greater importance. Certainly the elementary teacher should be afforded opportunities of a liberal arts education. It is with keen regret that I note the de-emphasis of this important portion of Bucknell's contribution to the student body, and society in general. How can a policy of retrenchment be justified at this time?

Lest some of you misinterpret the motive behind this article, may I remind you that even though I am Vice President of the Bryant Teachers Bureau (some may accuse me of having an ulterior motive), I am also a parent of a sixth grade youngster who is one of millions who deserve the best that our country can afford. I pray God the time will never come that this young generation will be called upon to defend us against aggressor nations. If it does, I hope they will be well prepared.

Ask yourselves this question: Am I satisfied with public education and its program of elementary education, thereby helping in a small way to alleviate existing conditions? May I suggest that other alumni express their thoughts in writing as evidence to be presented to the designated authorities responsible for determining the educational policies at Bucknell University.

WILMER D. GREULICH '34

Vice President

The General Alumni Association

As we understand it, the thought has been that Bucknell can do a better job by admitting a class of 25 elementary curriculum women in each class rather than a larger number. Our facilities are not adequate for a larger group in elementary education. Besides, if we admit, say 50 elementary trained women in each class and have 200 of them in the student body, plus the secondary women, the number would be out of proportion to the total number of women students. It should be remembered that Bucknell is primarily a liberal arts University, and under our limited enrollment facilities every additional education major requires the dropping of a major in the liberal arts field. When it is remembered that under present conditions only one out of seven requests for admission from women can be granted, it is evident that Bucknell must observe great care in preserving the balance of applicants in all areas of both the liberal arts and the education fields.

Undoubtedly, in the course of "The Bucknell Study," during which a complete review of the educational program at Bucknell University will be conducted, the opinions of prominent Alumni on our curricular offerings in various fields, including education, will be sought. ED.

Industry Recruiters Active

Raymond K. Irwin '44, director of Bucknell's placement bureau, is completing his busiest season of welcoming to the campus representatives of industry who interview seniors as prospective employees for their companies. Preliminary estimates indicate that a new high in industry recruiter visitation will again be established this year.

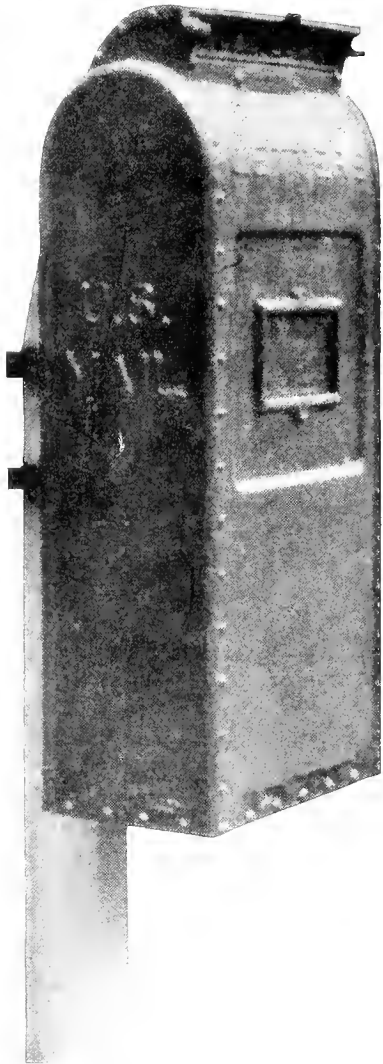

A recent survey of many companies released by American College Public Relations Association indicates that salary scales industry will be setting for the 1956 graduate will be:

BA	$350 to $410	per month to start
BS	386	435
MS	440	460

Quite a commentary on the value of a college education! At these starting rates, it does not take much figuring to learn that the value of a college education is worth 6-8 times the yearly tuition fee the minute a student becomes an alumnus.

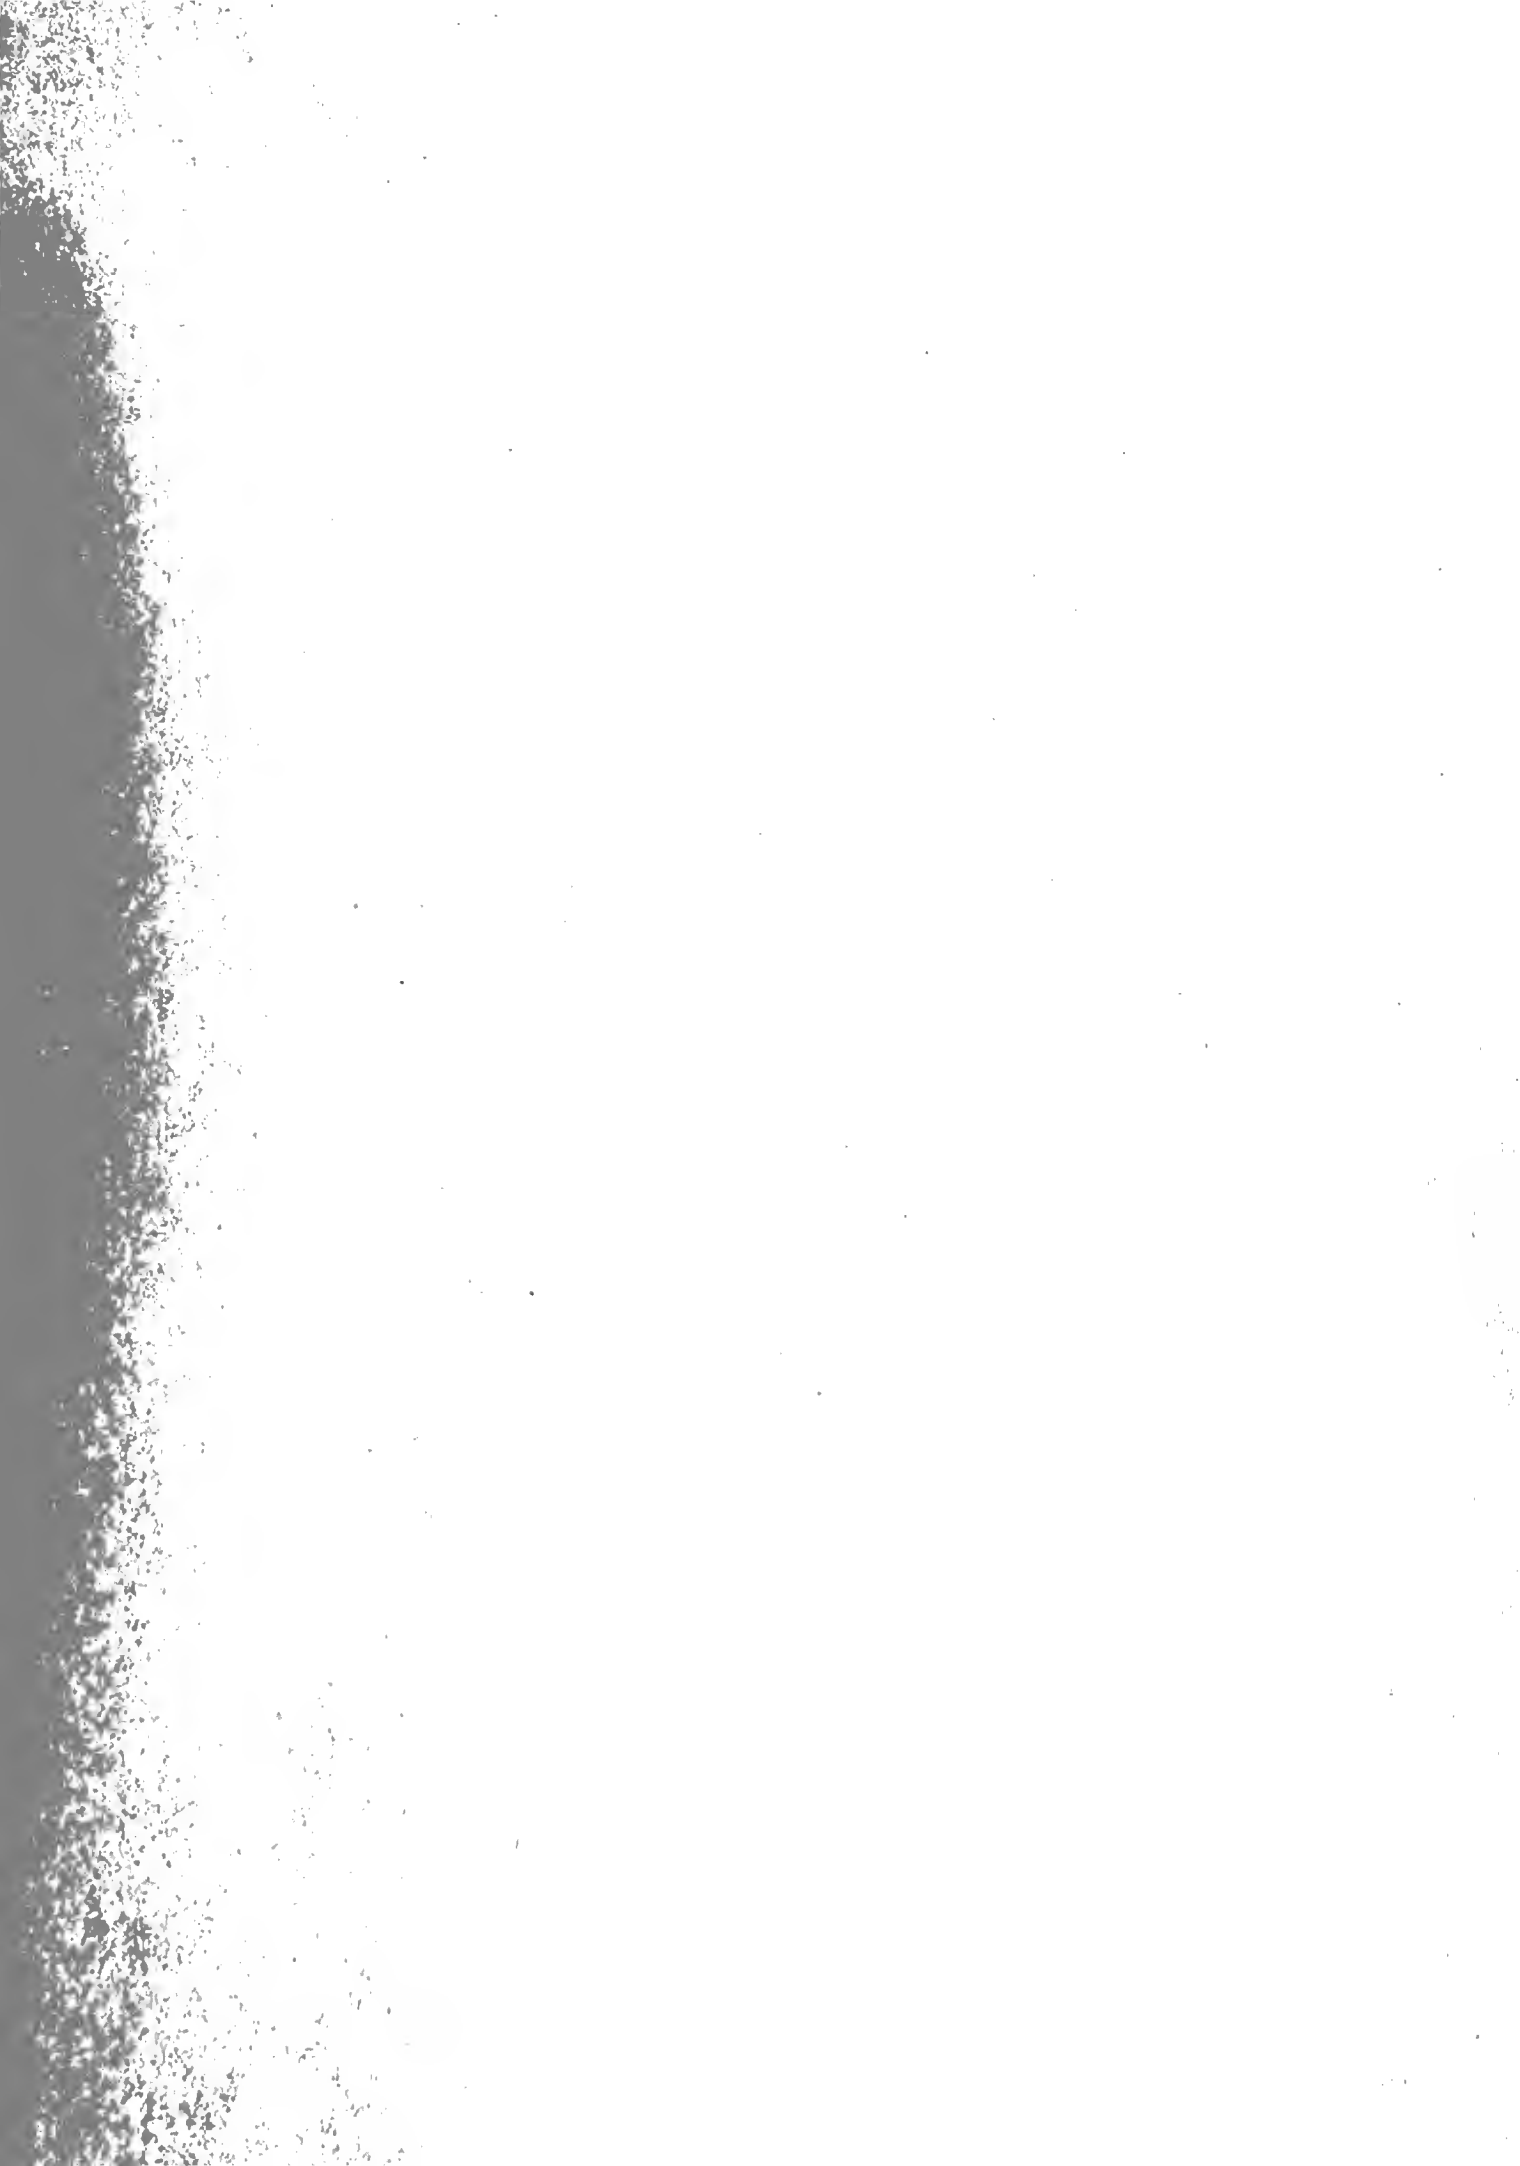

We can well see the Bucknell Alumnus of 30 or more years ago looking at the 1956 salary scales with longing eyes, especially when they remember a quote from THE BUCKNELLIAN of 1926 which caught our eye recently. It said, "College men are valued by the business world this year (1926) as worth $28 per week. Employers were interested mainly in men graduates who in undergraduate years were leaders among their fellow students, had an outstanding scholastic record and a strong personality." At first glance these 1926 figures seem to deny the value of a college education. But when one compares the tuition rate of 1926 ($150 per year), it is clear that even then the value of a college education was worth 6 times the yearly tuition fee the minute the student became an alumnus. Maybe the good old days of 1926 and earlier were not so bad with a starting salary 6 times the yearly tuition fee.

Inheritance Tax Relief In 1957

As of June 1, 1957, Bucknell University will benefit by the signing of Senate Bill No. 151 which exempted religious, charitable, scientific, literary, and educational groups whose earnings are not paid to a private stockholder from the Pennsylvania 15 per cent inheritance tax on others than direct heirs.

Reidenbaugh, executive secretary, Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities.

The Cover Picture—This double-header picture is to show you, first of all, the attractive football schedule for the Bucknell Bisons. Just as attractive is the second feature, name of Miss Ellena Steinman, senior from East Greenville and head majorette of the Bison Band of Bucknell. Incidentally, Ellena is wearing the new Bison Band uniform which follows the theme of the costume of the bison days in the Old West. You will want to see Ellena, the Bison Band and the Bucknell football squad in action; Three good reasons why we show the football schedule on the front cover.

Pool Dedication and Sports Dominate Fall Season

Homecoming Weekend, October 20, with its varied program, will provide features for all. Whatever your interests, the A to Z program of events will provide more activities than you can possibly attend. You can make your choice from Aquatics, Art, Athletics, Bison Club, Business, Dance, Dedication, Dinners, Doctors, Engineering, Entertainment, Exhibits, Football, Luncheons, Parade, Pep Rally, Queens, Reunions, Round-ups, Sports, Swimming and Zoology.

The Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool

Bucknellians have waited long but the dream of a swimming pool has become a reality through the generosity of two members of the Board of Trustees of the University: A. Guy Freas, of Tenafly, N. J., father of two recent Bucknell graduates, and Robert L. Rooke, of Westfield, N. J., a member of the Bucknell Class of 1913. Certainly one of the highlights of a feature-filled Homecoming Weekend program will be the celebration of the completion of the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool with dedication exercises and an aquatic show.

Lafayette Is Football Opponent

An outstanding highlight of the Homecoming Weekend, of course, is our annual football game with Lafayette College. Our football series with Lafayette, dating back to 1883, shows that our friends from Easton have set up a record of 16 won, 12 lost, with 5 ties. Most of the Lafayette wins were accomplished in the early years of this eventful series and during the past 10 years the record shows 7 victories for Bucknell. Out to improve the modern record in the Lafayette series, the football squad, smaller in numbers than the reserve-laden Leopards, are determined to nail down a victory.

All-Alumni Luncheon

All of the features that make Homecoming one of Bucknell's three big celebration days (the other two are Commencement in June and Bucknell's birthday—celebrated in your local club areas in February) will be included in the Homecoming Weekend this year. If you have not been back for Homecoming for several years, you will be surprised at the extra features that have been added recently. The Alumni Luncheon, where everybody gets to see everybody else before the game, also gives you a chance to see the Bucknell Band and cheerleaders in their new uniforms. Music, majorettes and cheers will put you in first-class shape for the game. No speeches at this luncheon—just lunch and fun.

Homecoming Parade

The traditional parade of floats prepared by the fraternities and sororities on the theme of "Beat Lafayette" will be presented on Homecoming morning and will feature a Homecoming queen and her court, selected by a vote of the students on the campus. At the luncheon and throughout the balance of the Homecoming Day program, the Homecoming queen will be presented.

Bison Club Breakfast

The Saturday morning program begins with the Bison Club Breakfast at the Lewisburg Club, 131 Market Street, promptly at 8:00 a. m. Be there early to enjoy an excellent breakfast, good fellowship and to get the latest about the team—how they are passing, tackling, punting and blocking. Don't forget that the ladies are always welcome at the Bison Club Breakfast.

Reune at the Round-Up

After the game, everybody returns to Davis Gym for more meeting and greeting of old friends at the Bison Round-Up and reception. Here's your chance to meet that classmate you have been looking for all day. He or she will be there to greet you at the cider barrel.

The Evening Celebration

After dinner (Bucknell engineers will hold a separate dinner at the Lewisburg Club) you will want to hurry back to the new swimming pool to catch the aquatic show and the swimming demonstrations followed at 9:30 by the all-campus dance and entertainment in the gymnasium. Here's another opportunity to meet your gang and see the presentation of the Homecoming trophies. Whether or not you care to dance, the Davis Gym is the place to spend Saturday evening.

The Sunday Program

Better make it a long weekend this year, for the program is filled and several "musts" remain. There's the University Golf Course ready to make your round of golf a pleasant memory of the Homecoming Weekend. And all of Lewisburg's churches are having Homecoming services and you are cordially invited to attend the church of your choice. Then, too, a tour of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, where special exhibits are on display, will be a rewarding experience.

Housing

As you look over the tentative program published in this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, you will wonder when you will get a chance to sleep. But from past experience we would recommend that you give some thought now to your housing arrangements. Housing, long a bottleneck in Homecoming planning, has eased somewhat in Lewisburg. We still cannot offer Waldorf-Astoria service, but if you write Mr. Forrest Brown, Christian Association, Bucknell University, he will be able to suggest adequate and comfortable rooms in Lewisburg homes, ready to provide you with close-to-the-campus accommodations.

Homecoming Is Early This Year

Just a word of caution—Homecoming is earlier this year. This is the only issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS that will carry information and reservation forms for the Homecoming Weekend program. Send your ticket, room and luncheon reservations now (on a tentative basis if you must) so that adequate provision can be made for your comfort and pleasure.

Business Sessions, Too

For an ever-increasing number of Bucknellians, Homecoming means more than just fun and frolic. Your General Alumni Association officers and committee members meet during the Homecoming Weekend to advance the expanding activities of the alumni program. This year the program of business meetings will include a dinner for Alumni Fund Committee and Class Fund Managers on Friday, with a meeting of the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association scheduled for later in the evening. On Saturday morning Class Presidents, Reunion Chairmen and committee members of the classes reuniting in June 1957 (all those whose class numerals end in "2" and "7") will meet in planning sessions. Also, Saturday morning there will be important meetings of the Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee candidates and the Committee on Alumni Awards. Your suggestion of names of Bucknellians to be considered by these two important committees are requested, (see page 17). Your letter, addressed to the president or secretary of The General Alumni Association, concerning any business you would like to refer to the Board of Directors or any of its committees, will be appreciated.

Even though your plans may be tentative, please mail this reservation TODAY and guarantee yourself a share in the program and also assist us in planning your accommodations. Although we will do our best—WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER OCTOBER 12.

ALUMNI WEEKEND—1956

Alumni Weekend—1956 once again brought a hum of reunion activity to the campus. Beginning on Friday the 8th of June, Alumni from all parts of the country arrived to renew old college acquaintances and participate in the weekend events planned so thoroughly by the Commencement Activities Committee under the able leadership of Raymond K. Irwin '47. His committee included: Mr. John C. Hayward, Mr. John S. Carhart, Miss Grace W. Colton, Mrs. Brown Focht (Florence Utt '28), Mr. Walter C. Geiger '34, Mrs. Esther B. Long (Esther Baumgartner '47), Mr. John H. Shott '22, Mr. Fitz R. Walling '46, Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, Prof. Allen W. Flock, Prof. Charles A. Hollister, Mr. H. Leslie Bishop '56 and Miss Marjorie Steinkamp '56.

Annual Alumni Reunion Luncheon

In a weekend of highlights it is difficult to spot any feature event, but perhaps the focal point in the program was the All-Alumni Luncheon where over one thousand Bucknellians and their families gathered and heard President Odgers deliver his "State of the University" report.

Mr. William S. Liming '33, retiring president of The General Alumni Association, greeted the reuniting classes of 1901, 1906, 1911, 1916, 1921, 1926, 1931, 1936, 1941, 1946, 1951, and 1955, along with the Emeritus Club, the non-reuniting classes, and the graduating Class of 1956 to the luncheon, after which H. Leslie Bishop, 1956 class president, presented the Class of 1956 gift to the University in the amount of $1,400. The gift is to be used to establish a faculty lectureship fund, the income to be given annually to some member of the Bucknell University faculty in recognition of a learned address. Following this presentation Mr. Liming presented to Dr. Edward Weddell Pangburn, a member of the Class of 1915, the Alumni Achievement Award for unselfish and distinguished service to the University. Dr. Pangburn has served on occasion as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University and as a president of The General Alumni Association. He now takes an active interest in the Athletic Advisory Council and the Bison Club. He has been the donor of several trophies that have been placed in student competition. Also awarded at the luncheon was an Emeritus Club membership certificate to Dr. Carl L. Millward '06 symbolic of certificates distributed to all Alumni who graduated more than fifty years ago.

The luncheon program progressed with a report from "Buck" Shott on club activities, alumni magazine program, and Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving achievement. Announcement was made that Clair G. Spangler, M.D. '25 of Reading had been nominated for election as an Alumni Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University for a term of five years.

Annual Assembly, the General Alumni Association

The passing of another year once more brought Alumni Club delegates (from 26 of the 68 clubs) together for the important task of electing officers and appointing committees in order that The General Alumni Association may continue to function as an active arm of the University. Elected to serve for one year as officers of the association were Wilmer D. Greulich '34, Philadelphia, president; Mrs. Charles Copeland (Amorita Sesinger '22), Jackson Heights, N. Y., first vice president; and William J. Irvin '22, Trenton, N. J., second vice president. The Alumni Club delegates elected to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association were: (for five years) Robert W. Dill '27, Plymouth Meeting; Dr. William D. Golightly '25, Scranton; Mrs. Paul M. Showalter (Katherine Graham '33), Lewisburg; (for four years) Thomas W. Speck '37, Plainfield, N. J.; (for three years) William M. Wilkinson '46, Rye, N. Y.

WILMER D. GREULICH '34 elected President of The General Alumni Association, Bucknell University.

Appointed to the Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee were: Dr. Bruce J. Miller '27 (chairman in 1957), Donald H. Sholl '42, Mrs. Brown Focht (Florence Utt '26), Merrill B. DeWire, M.D. '21, Mrs. Paul Miller (Helen Bodine '20), William J. Irvin '22, Dr. William P. Boger '34, Dr. Lester E. Lighton '20, and Mrs. Paul M. Showalter (Katherine Graham '33).

The members of the Alumni Awards Committee for 1957 are: Mrs. Erle M. Topham (C. Ray Speare '17) (chairman in 1957), Arthur R. Yon '17, Dr. E. W. Pangburn '15, Dr. Lester E. Lighton '20, James A. Tyson '11, Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15, W. Dale Hay '49, Dr. George E. Irland '15, and Thomas J. Mangan '21.

Francis B. Haas, Jr., Esq. '47, Harrisburg, was again appointed to represent The General Alumni Association on the Athletic Advisory Committee for one year beginning October 1, 1956.

An announcement was made at the assembly that a new committee to confer with and advise the Administration of the University on various areas of public, alumni, student and parent relations had been formed. Appointed to this committee were: Mrs. Charles E. Copeland (Amorita Sesinger '22), J. Norman Davies '26, P. Herbert Watson '37, and William S. Liming '33.

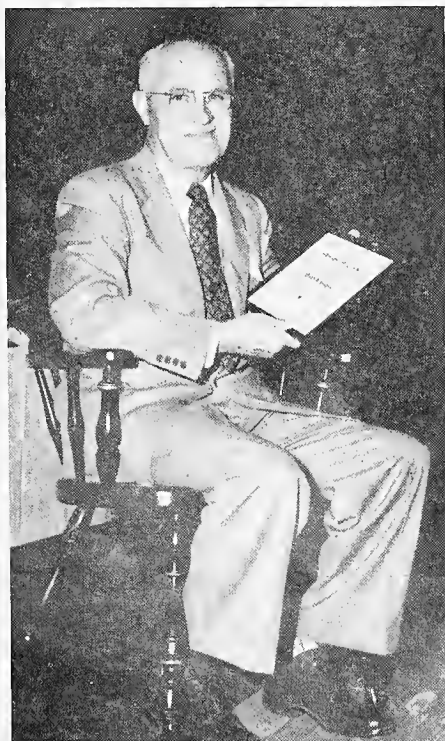

An Evening's Entertainment

As the sun began to set and evening drew near, Alumni found a variety of entertainment planned for their enjoyment.

Fraternity and Sorority Symposia headed the program followed by a Cap and Dagger production of "The Glass Menagerie." And in Davis Gymnasium the Alumni Jamboree brought the day to a pleasant close with a variety of fun, dancing, and refreshment.

The remainder of the weekend was devoted to Baccalaureate services and Commencement.

Remember—those classes whose numerals end in "2" and "7" reunite next year, so make it a date, one and all, to attend Alumni Weekend festivities on the campus June 8, 1957.

DR. EDWARD W. PANGBURN '15 was the recipient of the Bucknell Alumni Achievement Citation and Chair awarded at the Annual Alumni Luncheon on June 9.

QUOTES FROM THE "STATE OF THE UNIVERSITY" REPORT BY PRESIDENT ODGERS AT THE ALL-ALUMNI LUNCHEON

Mr. President, Members of the Board of Trustees, and Alumni:

"First of all, please let me congratulate the new officers of the Alumni. My special congratulations and thanks also go to Mr. Liming and the other alumni officers for their very successful and helpful administration of alumni affairs during the past two years.

"Although I've visited a number of alumni clubs, it seems that I've met only a handful of our 17,000 alumni and alumnae and I've met them in only four of the 48 states and in none of the 40 foreign countries in which they live. In any case, this big June reunion certainly provides the chance to meet the largest number. Let me assure you that what I've seen of Bucknell's products here and elsewhere I like."

"Not many weeks ago I sat next to a man at dinner in Bethlehem who had attended the Academy in 1875 when he was a boy of 14. Here was a man of 94 years of age who had been on the Bucknell campus as a student before it was Bucknell and while it was still to be for 11 years the University at Lewisburg. This man, Britain G. Roth, is a gentleman whose years and memories go far back. His father had been a sea captain with the East India Company sailing ships from Liverpool to Calcutta. Last November the New York Times carried a picture of Mr. Roth and a story about him. The Times was evidently quite impressed that Mr. Roth had been working in the newspaper business for 79 years. He still writes a column three times a week for the Allentown Chronicle with which he began his newspaper career. As the Times commented, Mr. Roth holds no brief for 'the good old days.' It said: 'Mr. Roth is still looking ahead, his thinking geared to the atomic age.' It seems to me that that is what all of us must be doing in relation to the life around us both local and national and in our thinking about Bucknell University."

"This campus has changed a lot in the last few years. This very year we put to use the new Olin Science Building and the James S. Swartz Hall and John Houghton Harris Dining Hall for freshman men, we moved the mid-week chapel services to the new unit of the Davis Gymnasium, and we found that with carefully planned remodeling the old Music Building could be a model dormitory for freshman women and the old Chemistry Building could lend itself to music and art. Two of our trustees, Messrs. A.

Guy Freas and Robert L. Rooke, have provided a swimming pool building that we have been watching grow this winter and spring. Soon the building of the front unit of the Gymnasium and of the Cowan Lodge sponsored by the Christian Association will be under way."

"Capital and other gifts received by the University, not including the money from the Ford Foundation, will be approximately a half million dollars. Our bequest program will be greatly assisted by a recent piece of Pennsylvania legislation. On May 28 I had the privilege, by invitation, of being present in his office when Governor Leader of Pennsylvania signed Senate Bill 151. The passage of this bill, which amends the Transfer Inheritance Tax Act by removing on June 1, 1957, the 15 percent tax on bequests to charitable, religious, and educational organizations, was achieved through the efforts of our own Messrs. Hawkins, Sordoni, and Spencer and others who wished Bucknell and our sister institutions to have the great benefits that will accrue from it.

"When the more than a half million dollars which the Ford Foundation gave us becomes available the income from it will add $20,000 or more per year to faculty salaries, but we are rather proud of the fact that even without this Ford money our increases made between March 1955 and September 1956 will have added $1,000 to our top faculty salaries and considerably more than $100,000 per annum to the total salaries and retirement reserves of our faculty. But they need to be increased much more.

"We are turning more and more to business for financial help, but again I cannot emphasize too strongly how much your contributions to the Alumni Fund mean to your alma mater. As a result of your gifts this year, we shall be able once more in 1955-56 to balance our budget and to close the year without red ink."

"I don't think it would be fair to repeat the words of Goethe that Matthew Arnold liked to quote and to say of Bucknell 'the little that is done seems nothing when we look forward and see how much we have yet to do.' As a matter of fact, the record of the decade 1946-1956 is truly one upon which Bucknell Alumni may look with pride. And it must give us confidence for the future."

"This summer Dr. William H. Coleman, Vice President and Dean, will retire from his Deanship. He will remain with us, I am glad to say, as Vice President and as Secretary of the Bucknell Study and will provide coordination and general direction for that important undertaking. No institution stands still. It never has the final and unchangeable answers. It needs periodically to examine itself and to determine both what it is trying to do and how well it is doing it.

"Dr. Coleman's successor as Dean will be Dr. Karl Drew Hartzell, at present Dean of the College, Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa. He is a graduate of the Classical High School of Newton, Massachusetts, and of Wesleyan University in Connecticut where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, served as President of the Christian Association, captained the tennis team, and participated in varsity swimming and soccer. He has a Ph.D. from Harvard, he has taught history in several places, and he has been connected administratively with the Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, Long Island, and the Associated Universities, Inc., contractor with the Atomic Energy Commission for the operation of the Laboratory."

"One might appropriately ask at this point, what about future enrollments at Bucknell? For the time being, at least, the question of possible expansion of our student body appears to be purely an academic one, for we are currently operating at capacity. In passing, I make the comment that admission standards are being raised because of limited capacity and a larger list of applicants for admission. It is more difficult to get into college and to stay in college than it was before the war."

"In the meantime, student life continues to be happy despite rising academic standards. One can still count easily on one hand the geniuses and angels he meets within the student body in a year, but Bucknell undergraduates are a fine representative group of American young people. During the past year student organizations have been strengthened. More all-university events have been scheduled. The disagreeable side effects of so-called prohibition may happily be on the way out. The University's alcoholic beverage policy has been under review since September 1954 and there have been discussions with numerous faculty members, trustees, students, alumni, parents, and friends of the University, and representatives of the Student-Faculty Congress. As a result of this careful study, the University Executive Committee and the Trustees concur in reaffirming the policy established in 1949 by the Board of Trustees, believing that it reflects the attitude of Bucknell University and is in its best interest. The statement of policy reads: 'RESOLVED, That the possession or use of alcoholic beverages on the campus, including fraternity houses, is completely opposed to the best interests of Bucknell, and any use thereof resulting in discredit to the University will be handled with the utmost severity.' This policy has been fully discussed with student leaders with assurance of their cooperation. Next year's student leaders working with officers of the University have developed a program for education and control which gives reason to hope that the whole topic, which has drawn far too much attention, will give place to more important University matters."

"All of us like to see recognition given to faithful and entirely competent service. I was gratified by an action taken two weeks ago by the members of the present senior class and I rejoiced in their attitude toward outstanding teaching. As their graduation gift to the University they recognized the important contribution that faculty members have made to their development by establishing the CLASS OF 1956 ENDOWED BUCKNELL LECTURESHP. Each spring for the following academic year a recipient is to be appointed in rotation from the Bucknell University faculty in recognition of inspirational teaching."

AMONG THE CLUBS

ATLANTA—On May 1, the Atlanta Club of Bucknell Alumni held its annual meeting, attended by 13 Alumni from the Class of '55 on down to the Class of '26.

Sam Tench '26 and Gil Frith '27 had not seen each other in so many years they failed to recognize each other. However, they both forgave the oversight and had a fine time. Bob Ingols '31 reported that he has been granted a Fulbright Scholarship and will leave in the fall with his family for Italy. Mrs. John Wilkinson (Janet Gallup '40) was there with her husband, John W. Wilkinson, a graduate of North Carolina State. On leaving Bucknell, Janet attended Simmons College in Boston. They have three children. Lt. Edward B. Knorr '53 and Mrs. Knorr (Janet Pope '56) drove up from Columbus, Georgia, to be with us. They are rapidly becoming "Crackerized" (a term used only in the State of Georgia) to the extent that they would like to stay here. We had a fine meeting, although the number attending was not great. We were glad for the opportunity to hear from some of the younger people and to renew acquaintances with some of the older Alumni, some of whom we hadn't seen in over six years.

RAY MONAHAN '37

BALTIMORE—A pleasant spring drive was requisite for the May 9 meeting of the Baltimore Bucknell Alumni Club, for the lovely Sparrows Point Country Club was the locale. Our "get-together" was a farewell dinner attended by 35 Alumni and their families in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Schnure, who are leaving this area for New Jersey. Mr. Schnure, former superintendent of the electrical department of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, recently retired.

Prior to the "turkey and trimmings" dinner, we chatted, caught up with alumni news and heard more about the Schnure's plans. Following dinner, Mrs. Anne Muscina '32 introduced our "surprise" guest of the evening, Dr. Dayton L. Ranck, who, of course, really needed no introduction to any of us. He spoke briefly of the years during which the Schnures attended Bucknell and expressed our sentiments so well concerning their departure. We learned too of the development plans for Bucknell's future.

Anne then presented the Schnures with a small gift—a tray with an imprint of Old Main upon it. The Schnures, who assisted in organizing the Baltimore Bucknell Alumni Club and have been active so many years, will be greatly missed. Our warm wishes for success in their new life go with them.

DORIS WILDE THOMAS '49,
Secretary-Treasurer

BAPTISTS AT SEATTLE—Bucknellians gathered at the American Baptist Convention in Seattle on June 21 at a luncheon at the Hotel Edmond Meany under the chairmanship of the Rev. Morse Bettison, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lewisburg, Penna. Eight states and one foreign country were represented at the gathering. They were West Virginia, Massachusetts, Washington, Pennsylvania, Arizona, New Jersey, Illinois, New York, Oregon, Montana, and Burma. We were particularly pleased to welcome the Rev. Thra Moller and Mrs. K. Sein Maung who attended the meeting as visitors. A small delegation of local Alumni from the Seattle area also attended the luncheon.

CALIFORNIA-NORTHERN—Bucknellians ranging from the Class of 1907 to the Class of 1952 attended a delightful buffet supper at the beautiful Los Altos home of Harry F. Hartzell '08 on June 3. After the meal "Sandy" Sanger '47 showed movies of a recent trip to the Bucknell campus. Plans for the fall call for noon luncheons at DiMaggio's restaurant, Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, on Sept. 4 and November 6, with a dinner meeting scheduled for October 2. Alumni residing in the San Francisco area are cordially invited to attend these Bucknell gatherings.

HARRY H. PIERSON '28, Co-Chairman

CALIFORNIA - SOUTHERN—Over forty Bucknellians spent a pleasant evening at the Nikabob Restaurant in Los Angeles on May 31. The meeting, arranged by George W. Hardie, Jr. '49 and Josephine LaBarr Hardie '48, co-chairman of the Southern California Club, featured colored pictures of campus scenes and events. It was decided that the Southern California Bucknellians have grown to the point where a fall meeting should be attempted.

CHARLESTON—A small, but interested, group of Bucknell Alumni from West Virginia held a dinner meeting in Charleston on June 22. Bucknellians in West Virginia are widely scattered and the prize for traveling the greatest distance certainly goes to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Riley '14, who traveled about 125 miles to attend the meeting. At a brief business session tentative plans were made for a meeting in the fall at the home of the Rileys in Grafton. Officers elected are: President, Jesse E. Riley '14; Vice President, Dr. Coleman J. Harris '12; Secretary, Paul W. Emory '31. Buck Shott from alumni headquarters brought a message of news of the campus and displayed colored pictures for the group.

CINCINNATI—A small group of Bucknellians from the Cincinnati area and including visitors from Yellow Springs and Dayton, met for a meeting at the Manchester Hotel in Middletown on Saturday evening, June 23. After a delicious meal at the hotel, Buck Shott, Alumni Secretary, presented a report on campus activities and then showed colored pictures of campus events.

ERIE—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Erie held a dinner-meeting on Thursday, May 10, in the Williams Room of the Erie

Y. M. C. A. Fourteen members were present. Our guest of honor and speaker was Mr. Benton A. Kribbs, head basketball coach at Bucknell. Mrs. George Wagner (Frances Gunn '38) was selected to represent our club at the Annual Assembly, June 9.

FRANK P. JECKEL '31, President

HARRISBURG—The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Association of Harrisburg was held on April 5, 1956, at the Y. M. C. A. Twenty-six Bucknellians and friends attended the meeting.

Our guest and speaker for the evening was Dr. Paul E. Witmeyer, professor in the education department at Bucknell. Dr. Witmeyer, who was introduced to the group by Norma Gotwalt, related to us the most prevalent reasons why many high school graduates are not well prepared for college today. Dr. Witmeyer recommended a broadening of high school curriculums as one possible solution for this educational problem. A brief discussion period followed this presentation.

NORMA GOTWALT '52, Secretary

ITHACA—Club President, D. Aldus Fogelsanger '27 and Mrs. Fogelsanger invited the Ithaca Bucknellians to a dessert meeting at their home, 402 Warren Street, Ithaca, on April 18 for a visit with Dr. Lester E. Kieft, head of the department of chemistry at Bucknell. Eleven Alumni and two guests were present to hear Dr. Kieft's informal talk on recent developments on the Bucknell campus.

JOHNSTOWN—The Johnstown Alumni Club meeting was held at the Ft. Stanwix Hotel, February 22. This was a birthday meeting complete with a birthday cake and we included George Washington in our Bucknell birthday celebration. Our speaker for the occasion was Prof. John S. Gold '18, who gave us a very fine talk on "Bucknell's Heritage."

The following officers were elected for the coming year: William F. Gibson, Jr. '40, President, Windber; George V. Bellak '24, Vice President, Johnstown; Mrs. Allen N. Reynolds (Clementine Gordon) '37, Secretary, Johnstown. Twenty-five members were present.

WILLIAM H. SCHNURE, Past President

LEHIGH VALLEY—We were very fortunate to have Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President of Bucknell, as guest speaker at our annual spring dinner at the Bethlehem Club on April 9. The title of Dr. Odgers' address was "A Year and a Decade." We were delighted with the opportunity to learn at first hand about Bucknell's present and future.

Forty-seven Alumni and guests were present. We were honored to have among the guests Mrs. Odgers, Britain G. Roth, a Bucknellian in his 94th year and still working on the Allentown Evening Chronicle, and several parents of prospective Bucknell students.

Mrs. Ruth Bray Couch '28 was elected chairman of the nominating committee. Other members of the committee will be Miss Carolyn E. Moore '50, G. H. Fritzinger, and M. B. McPherson '42.

LEWISTOWN—The Lewistown Alumni Club held a dinner meeting April 16, at the Green Gables Hotel. Eleven members were present. Officers for the coming year were elected: Allen A. Rarig '29, President; Thomas W. Lewis '50, Vice President; Mrs. Pearl Nieman Seigel '33, Secretary and Treasurer. Mrs. Marjorie B. Orth '23 was elected to serve as chairman of the freshman reception on September 12.

Guests at the meeting were Mr. John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary, and Mrs. Shott. Mr. Shott spoke on "The Lass Look" and brought the group up-to-date on happenings on the Bucknell campus. He also showed pictures of campus activities.

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO — Twenty-one Alumni gathered in Dearborn, Michigan, the evening of June 23 at the residence of James and Mary Walter. The meeting again proved to be informal and enjoyable as a result of the program, highlighted by "buffet supreme" a la Mary Walter.

Those attending were fortunate to have as guest speaker, Dr. Harold Heine, now on a faculty leave from Bucknell and associated with Dow Chemical of Midland, Michigan. A residence became "the Walter Classroom" in short order and "Professor Harold" brought with him the familiar warmth of our campus as he outlined his research of Tetanus Toxin. Alumni groups take notice!—if you can procure his services, a real treat is in store for your group.

Mrs. Arthur Brandon reported on events at the annual alumni meeting on campus June 8-9 and it was moved that election of officers for '56-'57 be effected at the fall meeting.

Watch for our September announcement anticipating arrangements to coincide with the Michigan-Illinois gridiron battle November 10th, with a post-game jubilee at the Art Branches.

JOHN KINGSBURY '41 Secretary-Treasurer

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—Sixty-one Bucknell Alumni met at Friar Tuck Inn, Cedar Grove, New Jersey, on May 18 and after a social hour, set down to a home style dinner of baked ham. Following the dinner, a brief business meeting took place, during which Wayne Knoise '40, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate for the coming year.

Those elected are: Charles T. Farrow, Jr. '26, President; Peter Weidenbacher '50, Vice President; Mrs. Robert Bartlow (Anne Gerhard) '45, Secretary; William S. Davenport, Jr. '49, Treasurer.

Mr. Farrow accepted the gavel. He then introduced the speaker of the evening, Colonel Donald J. Strait, Commander of the 108th Fighter Bomber Wing and Commander of the New Jersey Air National Guard, whose subject was "The Jet Air Power Race 1956." The speech was followed by a period of questions and answers.

A cabinet meeting was held on June 21 at the home of Richard L. Moore '47 in Montclair, with 12 people present. The purpose of the meeting was to set our sights on the program of 1956-57. It was decided to hold a Freshman Reception, on September 9, and have three other meetings. Emphasis was laid on the importance of good committee work.

CHARLES T. FARROW, JR. '26, President

PHILADELPHIA ALUMNI CLUB—Wednesday, July 18, 1956, the Philadelphia Bucknell Alumni Club Executive Board held a meeting to plan the coming season's events. The meeting followed a pleasant social time and a delicious covered dish supper at the home of the Robert Dills. Events to put in your calendar: Splash Party for the Freshmen, Tuesday, August 28th, at the Eastern Baptist Swimming Pool. Luncheon before the Temple Game, October 27, at Cedarbrook Country Club.

PROVIDENCE—New England was the scene of two newsworthy events on June 30. The Providence Area Alumni Club held its annual picnic in Goddard Park, Rhode Island; while New Bedford, Mass., played host to Gregory Peck who was there for the premiere of his movie, Moby Dick. Naturally, the Bucknell Alumni magazine calls for an enlargement upon the former event.

The weather man was on our side and gave us a beautiful day for the outing. After meeting at Goddard Park, we went to the East Greenwich Yacht Club and boarded John Wilbur's snappy cabin cruiser for a thoroughly enjoyable ride of Narragansett Bay. Boat ride over, we drove back to the park and devoured our picnic suppers.

No decisions concerning our first meeting in the fall were made because our president, Ken Dannenhauer, was visiting in Washington State at the time of the picnic. Club members will receive announcements of our plans as soon as they are made.

JUNE STOTT MATTHEWS '47, Secretary

ST. PETERSBURG—The annual picnic of the St. Petersburg Bucknell Club was held at Lake Magiorre, on Saturday, April 28, with 12 present.

Mr. Gilbert H. Lytc '09 was elected President for the coming year. The following officers were re-elected Mrs. Howard L. Headland (Sarah E. Walters '09), Vice-President; Mrs. Ruth S. Porter (Ruth Stephens '05), Secretary-Treasurer; and Mr. Howard L. Headland, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

The group was saddened by the recent death of one of our members, Dr. Amos Barton '06, and a message of sympathy was sent to his sister and brother. We also extended our sympathy to George Balleys '09, whose mother died recently in Sunbury at the age of 96. A bon voyage card, signed by all present, was presented to Frank Brown '24, who is leaving for Germany soon with his wife and son.

Mrs. Headland reported a recent visit to Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Yoder (Emily Lane '10) of Sarasota. She also contacted another Bucknellian, Louis Jones '09, of Sarasota, who graduated in art from Bucknell and has distinguished himself as a fine artist. We hope to see him next year.

The Secretary announced a recent visit from Rev. Walter B. Hilton '07, of Avon Park, and also Dr. John Woodruff '00, who was in the city.

Our next meeting will be held on Dec. 8. The place will be announced later.

RUTH S. PORTER '05, Secretary

WASHINGTON ALUMNI CLUB—Ernest T. Stewart, Jr., Executive Secretary of the American Alumni Council, stressed that alumni groups are the lifeblood of a university in a speech before the Washington (D. C.) Alumni meeting in May.

The group, meeting in the Old Europe Restaurant, also paid tribute to Jean White '50, for her reporting for the Washington Post and Times Herald. Dale Hay '49, presented her with letters of commendation from Drs. Spencer and Odgers, past and present Bucknell presidents respectively, for her series on the Kress collection displayed in the National Gallery of Art in Washington.

Also, the following new officers were elected: President, Tom Meyer '41; Vice President, George Porter '38; Secretary, Joan G. Wilson (Joan D. Gibbons '52); Treasurer, John W. Peoples '50.

JOAN GIBBONS WILSON '52

Cowan Lodge Dedication

The new lodge constructed this summer at the Cowan Center by the University Christian Association, will be dedicated on Sunday afternoon, October 28. Dr. D. M. Griffith '23, chairman of the Building Committee, is in charge of the ceremony. The speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Ronald V. Wells of the Division of Higher Education, American Baptist Convention. Dr. Louis W. Robey '04, chairman of the campaign committee, will also participate.

Funds for this $50,000 project have been raised by the University Christian Association over the past eighteen months. More than 600 individuals have subscribed. The largest single contribution came from the Bucknell Mother's Association, $5,000.00 for the kitchen. Students contributed $2,650 for furnishings.

The new building contains a large lounge and meeting room, 25 x 48 feet. On one end is a dormitory for 28 men. On the other is the modern kitchen, two rooms for chaperones, and a dormitory for 28 women. Designed by Jens Larson, and constructed by the Sordoni Construction Company (both of whom donated their services), the building is in keeping with college architecture.

Although not to be dedicated until October 28th, the building will be in use this September. Freshman Camp with eighty persons opens on September 13th and runs for three days. It is followed by a one day program for transfer students. Other campus and community groups have already scheduled it for use this fall.

The farm house has been renovated this summer for a caretaker who has moved in to give the Center constant supervision and maintenance. When funds are available the present Men's lounge will be improved by the addition of a fireplace, kitchenette and lavatory in order to make it a self contained unit for groups of twenty or less.

The Cowan Lodge facility of the University provides an off-campus center for retreats, workshops, fellowship, and recreation which has long been needed. The new building is an important asset to the program of the University.

Grid Prospects

"You know, it won't be long," said Harry Lawrence. The gentleman speaking, however, was not Bucknell University football coach Harry Lawrence, just a reasonable facsimile thereof. The talkative gaffer was student Harry Lawrence, a fellow who attends Bucknell's education summer session during the torrid months. Professor Lawrence was holding forth at Guy Payne's coffee emporium.

Student Lawrence's meaning was clear to the initiated. He would soon trade the textbooks and pencils for a baseball cap and whistle, an integral part of his grid-iron practice attire. Football was already pressing baseball for space on the sports pages. Before long, Mr. Lawrence would again be a football coach.

The first question fired was direct and to the point. "How does it look, Harry? Are we going to be better than last year?"

"A good deal better." The answer came candidly. "We were a green team during a good part of the 1955 season and at the start of the season we really had to scratch. This fall the shoe is on the other foot. We have lettermen at almost every position. As a matter of fact, we haven't been in as good a position at the start of a season since 1952."

"A couple of those big freshman linemen looked pretty impressive last spring. Will they be important to you this fall?"

"They'll be important alright. We need depth at the tackles and I hope boys like (Dick) Hunn and (Tom) Horsman will fill the bill. They are both well over 200 pounds. The main reason that we should be better in the line, however, is the availability of a number of veterans from last fall. Experience is a big thing in football. It's awfully hard to toss a sophomore into the breach. He has to be real good."

Lawrence was warming to the task. Another pull on the coffee cup and he was ready to outline his 1956 forward wall.

"We are in good shape at the ends. Both '55 regulars—Paul Manning and Bill Reilly—are back, along with lettermen Bill Walasek and Bruce Nealy. Walasek, a junior, has come along very well and is pressing Reilly for a starting spot. At tackle, big Bob Holmes should be capable at one side and Bob Karwoski has an edge as his running mate. If the sophs can back them up, we'll be OK there, too."

"In Ralph Riker and Gene Meenan I start with two excellent guards. Riker is probably the best lineman on the roster. He played tackle last year and is also ready to move to center if I need him there. Al Kenzie has first call on the center job, but if he can't make it, I'll shift Riker. John Michalski and newcomer Lew Hart will work as the guard reserves."

"Center, then, is the only big problem along the line?" They were trying to push Harry out on a limb.

"Let's say it is the only big problem right now. Kenzie's a big guy, stands 6-4 and goes about 212, and I think he can make it. We have switched him from tackle. If I have to move Riker, this boy Hart may be OK at guard. He was the best of the line newcomers last spring. Other problems will arise, though. You can bet on that."

"Well, how about the backfield? Will you be able to replace Ford, Sierer, and McCartney?"

"They were good boys with lots of hitting ability, and Ford was as good a crashing fullback as could be found in the East, but I think we will be stronger in the backfield this fall, too. Jim Stewart is back and that quarterback post is the key to your backfield. He handles the kicking, too. To replace Ford we have Don Koppes, the boy who ran wild against Delaware last year, gaining over 100 yards on the ground. Koppes is not quite as heavy as Ford, but he has good outside speed for a fullback and he's real smart. He could be our best back."

"At halfback, we have more depth this fall and also more speed. Chuck Wagner, when he's healthy, is as fast as any halfback around. Jack Brothers and Bob Fitzsimmons are lettermen who should be improved over last year. Then there is Bill Ross, a regular in 1954 who is as natural an athlete as any on the campus. And don't forget Bob Hershock. He was about ready for regular duty in '54, but suffered an injury. He could be ready for a big year."

The conversation turned to the various Bucknell opponents and the fact that the teams in the Bucknell orbit will not be push-overs by any means.

"Don't kid yourself," declared Lawrence, now fully accredited as a coach and no longer a student, "our 'league' is every bit as tough as the Ivy League. Delaware will be a tough nut to crack again this fall and Lehigh and Lafayette will also be strong. Gettysburg has lost a couple of key men, but they are tough for us every year. We are better this fall, but wins will still be tough to come by."

Was Coach Harry being optimistic? "You bet your life," he added. "Football is a tough sport. If you look at the dark side of things all the time, you never sleep nights. Right now I think we are in pretty good shape, but we have eight ball games and three months of practice sessions before the season ends. Don't forget that a couple of key injuries may put you in the soup."

"Yes, I think we are better than last year," he concluded. "Let's sit down again in late November and decide how much better!"

TICKETS

Make your move early, if you want to ride the Bison Bandwagon this fall. To procure choice seats for Dad's Day and Homecoming, it is advisable to get your ticket order in as soon as possible.

Students and faculty again have sections D, E, and F with Alumni in sections B and C, all on the West side of the field. All these seats are between the 10 and 45-yard lines. Alumni also have a choice of 50-yard line seats on the East (Press Box) side of the stadium. Please indicate your preference on the application below.

To receive the above priorities for Homecoming, applications accompanied by checks or money orders, must be in the Athletic Office by October 10

Bucknell's varsity football coaching staff is all smiles as preparations for fall practice are completed. The veteran staff is composed of (l. to r.): Scout Ben Kribbs, line coach Bill Wrabley, head coach Harry Lawrence, end and backfield coach Bill Lane and trainer Hal Biggs. The Bisons began fall drills on September 1. They open an eight-game 1956 card on the evening of Sept. 22 with Albright at Reading.

Frosh Football

With new coach Bob Latour at the helm for the first time, Bucknell's frosh football combination launches a five-game slate on Oct. 5, squaring away against the F & M yearlings at Lancaster. Bucknell plays two games at home and three on the road. Last year the Baby Bisons had a 1-2-1 mark.

Soccer

Coach Hank Peters' Bison soccer squad opens a 10-game schedule on Sept. 29, tangling with the Nittany Lions of Penn State at State College. The Bisons face the same opponents they battled in '55, plus Washington College. Goalie Lee Hamilton will captain the Bucknell entry.

Eight of the 10 Bison foes—all except Temple and Penn State are members of the Middle Atlantic Soccer Conference. Last fall the Herd deadlocked Drexel for the championship of the conference's Southwest League, but dropped a play-off contest. Bucknell was 4-4-2 on the campaign.

The Schedule

 Nov. 13—Elizabethtown Home
 Nov. 17—Delaware Newark, Del.

Coaches

Bucknell's freshman football team will play under the guidance of a new head coach this fall for the first time in five years. Bob Latour, who will also guide the University's first intercollegiate swim team this winter, has been named to succeed Ben Kribbs as frosh grid mentor.

Kribbs, the Bison varsity basketball coach, moves up to the varsity to handle scouting duties. Franny Hatton, a former Sunbury (Pa.) High football coach, will serve as assistant yearling football tutor for the third straight year.

The remainder of the Bucknell grid staff is unchanged. Aiding Harry Lawrence, who becomes the dean of all Bucknell football coaches by entering his 10th year at the helm, will be end and backfield coach Bill Lane, line coach Bill Wrabley and trainer Hal Biggs. Latour, Hatton and Kribbs round out the staff.

Football Practice

Varsity grid coach Harry Lawrence is using the two-a-day plan again this fall in an effort to have his charges in the best possible shape for their curtain-raiser against Albright on Sept. 22. The Bisons—nearly 40 strong—are working out both morning and afternoon on the Memorial Stadium practice field turf. Two practice games have been carded prior to the regular season opener.

Spring Sports Round-up

A Middle Atlantic team championship in golf topped off Bucknell University's 1956 spring sports program. The four Bison spring athletic entries—the golfers, the track team, the tennis squad and the baseball team—posted an over-all winning record of 28 wins, 26 losses and one tie.

The golfers, who gained the University's first MAC title, registered the best Bucknell golf record since World War II. Paced by junior Bob Miller of Xenia, O., and junior Jim Ladd of Mt. Gretna, Pa., the team logged an 8-5-1 record.

The track team, undefeated in 1955, missed another perfect campaign by the margin of four points. The Herd won three dual meets and lost to Albright by a 62½ to 58½ count in a triangular meet. The three-for-four performance gives the Bisons eight wins in nine outings over a three-year period.

Ed Burg, a senior from Pittsburgh and the Bucknell team captain, was the No. 1 Bison thrower. He was undefeated in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash and completed his three-year varsity career with 13 firsts and one second in the 220 and 10 firsts and four seconds in the 100.

Southpaw hurler Don Richards of Pittsburgh and centerfielder Chuck Sneath of West Englewood, N. J. were the leading lights of the Bucknell baseball contingent. Richards, a senior who holds four all-time Bison baseball marks, won five of the eight games copped by the Herd, struck out 115 and posted a 1.98 earned run average. Sneath, a junior, batted .360 and had 17 runs batted in. Bucknell was 8-11 on the season.

In tennis, junior Jim Stewart of Wayne, Pa., and junior Ben Hollander of Mount Vernon, N. Y., led Bucknell to a 9-9 split. Hollander won 11 of 15 singles matches, Stewart eight of 11.

Hulmes Joins Public Relations Staff

Harry Hulmes, assistant business manager of the Baltimore Orioles baseball club, was appointed as assistant in public relations at Bucknell University.

Mr. Hulmes will handle all publicity for the University's athletic teams, succeeding Val Pinchbeck, Jr., who has accepted a similar post at his alma mater, Syracuse University.

A native of Philadelphia and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, where he received his degree with honors in journalism, Hulmes has been writing sports, news, and features for the Jenkintown Times Chronicle, in addition to his public relations duties with the Orioles.

Dr. and Mrs. Witmeyer again served as Faculty Hosts. After a prayer by President Rev. Charles M. Teufel, membership certificates were given to those present. After the group picture was taken, Secretary Charles I. Boyer read the minutes of the 1955 meeting, and the reports of the Emeritus Board of Directors held on January 24 and March 20. The reports were adopted. They recommended that members take an interest in local Bucknell Club activities and in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS; called attention to the fact that 21% of the general alumni contributed to the Alumni Fund, while the Emeritus Club percentage is 35%; that Emeritus Club members think about Bucknell when making their wills; the Board and Emeritus Club also expressed its appreciation of the services rendered by Alumni Headquarters, and of the encouragement given the Emeritus Club by the University. President Teufel stated that letters of felicitation had been received from thirty some members who were unable to attend. It was moved and carried to re-elect all the old officers with the exception of Secretary-Treasurer Boyer who declined to serve again. William G. Murdock was nominated for Secretary-Treasurer, and the following were then elected: President, Rev. Charles M. Teufel '04; Vice President, Prof. Frank Burpee '01; Secretary-Treasurer, William G. Murdock '04; Class Fund Manager, Col. A. F. Dersheimer '03; Class Reporter, Miss Mary Cotton '96; members of the Board, Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01 and Mrs. Sarah Judd Shields '02.

Twenty members and eight guests attended the meeting. After the Alumni Luncheon a number of the Emeritus Club relaxed and reminisced at our social headquarters at the Walker House.

The Emeritus Club now numbers about five hundred. Certificates of membership were mailed to those who could not attend the reunion, and excerpts from the letters of felicitation were mailed by the Alumni Secretary to all members of the Emeritus Club.

—WILLIAM G. MURDOCK '04,
Secretary-Treasurer

CLASS OF 1906

The reunion of the Half-Century Class brought real satisfaction far beyond expectations of those members so fortunate as to attend. The planned activities were a credit to the committee in charge. The courtesy extended by our Alma Mater in entertaining us so graciously was much appreciated. We were impressed by the great improvements in our campus even though they made us feel almost strangers.

Very fortunate was the group housed in the attractive new men's dormitory, Swartz Hall, with its beautiful lounge and cafeteria (lacking only for our comfort was one small can of "3 in 1" oil). Best of all was the opportunity to live together informally for a few days, chatting in halls, in doorways or gathered, as in other days, for visits too far into the night and far noisier than '06 Seminary rules allowed. We liked our various '06 in-laws and hope they were not too bored by their husband's friends.

CLASS OF 1901

Our 55th reunion will long be remembered by ten of our twenty-seven surviving members, together with five relatives and guests.

Those fortunate to be present to help us celebrate include: Charles Bidelspacher, Frank Burpee, William Gundy, Jesse Higgins, Laura Allen Konkle, Mabel Grier Leshner, Lulu Biddle Nogel, Raymond Pierson, Isabelle Schweyer Robison, and Walter Ruch.

Following The General Alumni Association meeting, pictures were taken of the Emeritus Club, which also includes 1901 members, and a moment of silence was observed in memory of our deceased members.

Mabel Leshner's report that 100% of us who graduated from the College and the Institute and that five of the seven x-grads had contributed to the Alumni Fund this past year, set an all-time record and was received with enthusiasm. Final figures, with two In Memoriam gifts, plus the addition of $1.00 for every $2.00 contributed by the class (promised by a loyal Alumnae to the total contributions from all alumni the past year) enabled us to report $1,080.50 as our 1901 Fifty-Fifth Reunion gift to our Alma Mater.

The following officers were elected for the next five years: President, Raymond Pierson; Vice President, Charles Wolfe; Secretary, Jesse Higgins; Treasurer, Harland Trax; Class Reporter, Laura Konkle; Class Fund Manager, Mabel Leshner; Promoter for 1961 reunion, Raymond Pierson.

Refreshments served by Frank Burpee's sister, Mrs. Cora Baymer, Lulu Biddle Nogel and Mabel Leshner, were enjoyed by all.

—RAYMOND G. PIERSON, President

We answered our questionnaires, jotted down dates, and planned to go to Bucknell for that big 45th. Then things happened like arthritis, grandchildren, absence from country, and the like. So when we finally got there for that jam session at the University Cafeteria, there were many gaps in our ranks. But a few hardy souls arrived, told the usual little white lies, "You haven't changed a bit!" "I'd have kown you anywhere!" and altogether had an exciting time of it. The jam session gave us a chance to meet members of other reuning classes, as well as to hear Buck Shott give his inspiring message on the State of the Alumni.

Saturday we got together for informal business. That was when our president, Jim Tyson, tried to bow out of the picture. Nobody approved of this modest gesture and he was re-elected with a flourish, thanks to the grand job he has done. To help him we elected 2 veeps, Earl Hinman and Nelson Crossman. Frank Davis who has done a swell job in preparing the reunion booklet was rewarded with the job of class reporter. Our secretary will be Grace Cobb Hann, while Nelson Crossman will double as fund manager.

Our "1956 Anniversary L'Agenda," as Jim calls it, could only hint at the impressive 1911 achievements. The undersigned—incidentally the only feminine member to hobble back—had the fun of seeing daughter Marguerite's design used on the cover. Incidentally too, the original sketch of the great oak that from a tiny 1911 acorn grew, showed names of various fields printed on the leaves. Any do-it-yourself addicts may write in the words Medicine, Law, Teaching, Science, Ministry, Homemaking, etc.

Came the breathless moment when we tried to shed the last 25 years for our class photo. The gals in the picture—excepting this one—are wives of the handsome men furnished by 1911.

Oh yes, before the picture-taking, we read excerpts from letters of absent classmates. Especially meaningful is this from Margaret Curtis Bush of Montrose. "Isn't it true that we always feel well acquainted with the friends we made in school, even though we may not meet for years? I treasure these friendships especially, because I always feel that I didn't have to work for them. They were just handed to me."

Thank you, Margaret! We couldn't have expressed it half so well.

—VERA COBER ROCKWELL

The effect of the years was interesting to see. All, we trust, have lived creditable, useful lives, and a goodly number have made notable success in their various chosen fields—medicine, ministry, law, engineering, education and business. We of '06 are justly proud of them. In a brief time we became better acquainted than in several years under the guardianship of our able and revered Prexy Harris.

All in all, our reunion was a heartwarming experience and we are glad we came. Later classes will be wise to begin early making plans for their fiftieth.

Thirty-one of us showed up for the 40th reunion. Counting our wives and husbands we aggregated 52. The weather, though not favorable, permitted all arrangements to come off according to schedule. Several of us, the Snyders, the Biglers, the Wolfes, the Cy Lewises, the Schnures, the Luke Smiths, the Sanders and the Oesterles arrived on Friday and found ourselves quartered on the same floor of the new Swartz Dormitory for Men. On Saturday morning we congregated in the Olin Science Building after the Alumni Meeting and began to get thawed out, for it was not always easy to figure the other fellow out. Identification finally became complete even to Brigadier General "Peachy" Wolfe and Shaifer Ventres with that moustache. Shorty Snyder because of mug and stature everyone knew immediately. Davy showed up (late as usual) with carnations for us all and a numeraled ribbon with which we bedecked ourselves and then ate up a storm at the All-Alumni Luncheon in Davis Gym where we heard some good speeches and saw the coronation of Ed Pangburn as Bucknellian of the Year. We had to march to the gym and all of us made it on foot except Carrie Foresman Jones who pleased us all by attending though crippled a bit with paralysis.

In the afternoon we got together at the Dayton Rankcs to enjoy his new home and more fraternizing. Some whom we had not seen earlier, like Glass, Hartman, Showers, Bryant et al, trotted in to swell the numbers. Letters from Olive Park Stout, Martha Park Whitman, Albert Gilpin, Derb Bartholomew, Sara Hilbish Post, Mary Belle Lees, Cecile McCollum, Roscoe Davis, Kimher Persing, Amy Patterson Stevenson, Florence Rollins, John Kurtz and Jerome Salsbury were passed around the company. After more clacking of the upper and lowers we broke up conceding we had had a right fair "country" time of it.

CLASS OF 1921

"Thirty-five years is a long, long time. Too many of us have not returned to our Alma Mater since graduation. Too many of us, despite good intent, have neglected to correspond with fellow classmates. Unfortunately, some of our members are no longer with us." So starts Nels Rounsley in his foreword of our Reunion Book.

To miss a reunion, and particularly the thirty-fifth, was to miss the glad handshakes of welcome, the amazed expressions when certain ones had not been recognized, and the inner warmth which seemed to radiate in just being back with the old gang again. It was fun and we missed all those who couldn't be with us but you'll want a Reunion Book, nevertheless. Homer Eaton, who hadn't been back in these thirty-five years, did an outstanding job. It was so good to see Homer again. The Reamers (La-Rue and Francis) assisted, so they, too, made the book worth having. In their "Reflections" I quote, "How different the viewpoint of 1956 from that of 1921! Reunions are made to rekindle the flame of friendship and comradeship which the word 'classmate' implies. It is to YOU, fellow classmates to whom this Reunion Book is dedicated; to our friendship created in Bucknell and to Bucknell, itself, without which there would be no Thirty-fifth Anniversary." Send for your Reunion Book ($1) to Buck

Shott, payable to Bucknell University.

For those who couldn't attend, you'll want to know what happened besides the fun of reminiscing and being photographed. Nels Rounsley presided. Since he is our Class Fund Manager, naturally, he promoted that project. We all wore red paper carnations with a 1921 ribbon attached. Class officers were elected with the following slate being accepted: President, Stanford Kunkle; Vice President, John Carter; Secretary, Sarah Bernhart Derr; Class Fund Manager, Nels Rounsley.

Poor me, I was selected as Class Reporter again but accepted only on the condition that you will all co-operate. When you receive your BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, immediately you turn to 1921 news only to find a smattering of news or perhaps nothing at all. What a disappointment! If you like to be informed about your classmates—well, that idea can be reversed. Won't you please send me the data about yourself promptly? We like to know what YOU are doing.

We all attended the Alumni Luncheon after having marched down the hill with the other reuniting classes. At three o'clock the '21ers met at Spratt House for a social time. Now, we have big ideas formulating for the fortieth.

CLASS OF 1926

Yes, those Alumni in the line of march to the gym with green Robin Hood hats were the members of the Class of '26. There were forty-seven classmates back for our thirtieth reunion. We wish all of you could have been on the campus for we had the best time catching up on the news. According to the record Asa Eaton and his family came the greatest distance—from Oregon.

As classmates began arriving Friday evening we watched the Bulletin Board to see who had arrived and where they were located. Then,

Saturday morning we had our business meeting in the Bertrand Library. Due to the absence of our president, Fred Evans, our vice president, Florence Utt Focht, presided. Jack and Bill Miller were our faculty hosts. They saw to it that everyone had a good time. We had hoped to have a reunion booklet, but not enough classmates responded to the Quotable Quotes. It was decided that we would begin planning for our next reunion. Florence Utt Focht who did such a fine job as reunion chairman this time has been selected to do the honors again. She

*Impressions of a Twenty-fifth Class Reunion
As Written to An Ex-Bucknell Son*

Dear Son,

This is a pleasant day, especially fine for reminiscing.

My only care at the moment is pulling weeds out of our new lawn. This is not really a difficult task except for the fact that the weeds are a little stubborn, and for some unaccountable reason, I don't get up and down quite as fast as I used to—say twenty-five years ago.

To lighten my chore I have provided myself with the best weed-pulling equipment available, including two rose-colored coolie hats that are lying beside me on the grass like two oversized blossoms. One is mine, but the elastic broke in it so I borrowed your father's. We wore them on June ninth at our twenty-fifth class reunion at Bucknell. They are gay reminders of a never-to-be-forgotten weekend which I promised to tell you about, since you were away and could not be with us.

The campus seemed quite deserted as we completed our registration at the old library (Car-wished. Sis Reed and her hospitality committee saw to it that we all had a good time.

In the evening we had our choice of the Jamboree or the Cap and Dagger play. If you missed this reunion start planning now for 1961. Time flies, you know.

—ANNA L. BROWN

negie Building to you) and headed for Swartz Hall, the fine, new dormitory where so many Alumni made their headquarters.

Son, you would have enjoyed our exploratory tour. On each door we read the names of returning classmates. Sometimes a door would open suddenly and there before us would be an old friend. Or rounding a corner ahead of us would be a vaguely familiar figure, a little more corpulent and spare on top, perhaps, but familiar, nevertheless. Such exclamations of delight, such handshaking and hearty greetings would have been a revelation to you.

And as this went on and on, the quiet left. Some were returning from the Welcome Back Party at the Bison Snack Bar; others were just arriving with bag and baggage and families. Our reunion had really begun!

There must have been a short interval of time set aside for sleep, but I remember very little of that. I remember much more vividly awakening Saturday morning to the light streaming in our window and to the exuberant greeting of two early arrivals anxious to get the day started.

The Alumni Class Meeting in Bertrand Library was the high spot of the morning. Many newcomers arrived for this event. It was as much as Class President Eddie Smalstig could do to interrupt the continuous round of greetings to get the meeting started; but once at the helm, Eddie presided like the veteran he is, getting people elected to this or that office or committee, and accepting promptly and graciously for them.

With the meeting adjourned, preliminary plans already made for the next reunion, coolie hats sold all 'round, and the class picture taken, the Class of 1931 fell in line for the Alumni Parade down Senior Path and Lit Road to the Davis Gymnasium for the Reunion Luncheon. Without a doubt it was the gayest, most talkative, heart-warming gathering I think I have seen since—well—since our last reunion five years ago.

By mid-afternoon our class had assembled again for its own private reunion at the Otzinachson Country Club near Milton where friendships and old ties were renewed in a more leisurely fashion. Family pictures were displayed and everybody tried to bring everybody else up-to-date about husbands, wives, and children. Many a campus experience was relived with nostalgia. Reluctantly the class finally said their farewells and departed for fraternity or sorority symposia or for private dinner parties.

The Alumni Jamboree, an all campus party held in the gymnasium at nine that evening, brought an eventful day to a pleasant climax, and the official close of our class reunion.

If some of us were a little slow on recognition or hard pressed to remember the right name to go with a familiar face at first, we soon recovered from the first shock of seeing a little less hair and a lot more waistline. By the time Sunday morning arrived, all 88 of our returning members looked pretty good to each other. The consensus of opinion was that we hadn't changed a bit, or if we had, it was only for the better.

See what the years do for you, Son? I hope you have as much fun at your twenty-fifth reunion.

Love,
Mother—of the Class of 1931
—PAT TRUNEL

CLASS OF 1936

It was good to see the 33 members of the 273 graduates of the Class of '36 at our 20th reunion. It was surprising how little some had changed in appearance. Lee Rohde and Kenny Herrold had added a few extra pounds, but George Johnson and Howdy Clark still maintained sylph-like figures.

Albert Rutgers Conover, Aurora, Colo., whose interesting letter was read at the meeting won the prize for the class member having the most children, six! Dick Engdahl, Columbus, Ohio, with his wife and four children had the largest family in attendance at the reunion. Betty Sindel Clavell, San Juan, Puerto Rico, came the greatest distance. Regrets were also read from Charlotte Shupe Brown upon her inability to attend, but she promised to be present in 1961 for our 25th. Harold Evans was touring Europe with his wife and daughter. Walter Anderson and his wife were on a cruise, and Dick Gilbert was in London combining business with pleasure. They have all promised to be in Lewisburg for the next big event. (Reserve your dorm rooms early!). Bill Moir and Roger Ammon had promised me over the telephone to be there, but they didn't show up. Am I going to get after them right now for our 25th!

Our class meeting was presided over by our jovial Class President, Charles Kottcamp, who has served so efficiently since Ed McKee resigned several years ago. Professor Clyde E. Burgee, chairman of the Department of Economics, served as our faculty host.

The nominating committee composed of June Glunt Lose, John B. Davis, Jr., and Lee Rohde presented the following slate of officers who were unanimously elected: Charles Kottcamp, President; Bob Jones, Vice President; Hope Park, Secretary and Eric Stewart, Treasurer.

Incidentally, did you see the grand job Eric and his committee did on the Reunion Book? Howdy Clark, who also served as reunion chairman, did the clever art work. Be sure and send in your dollar for a copy. The reading of the 144 biographies is most interesting. In addition to the biographical sketches, the booklet contains a list of the professions, occupations and pursuits of our class members, as well as high-light experiences; class ties (1936 members married to Bucknellians); veterans club; class roster and the geographical distribution of class members. The record number who replied to the questionnaires shows how diligently Eric and his committee worked. Where were the other 129? With only 11 deceased (did you notice they were all men?) and 33 lost addresses, it means 85 people did not take the time to answer the questionnaire.

John B. Davis, Jr. was named chairman for the 25th reunion to be held in 1961, at which time we will be glad to see the 33 members who showed up in 1956 plus those who were unable to attend the 5th, 10th, 15th or 20th.

Lois Burgee, our class reporter, urged everyone to send in news for our class column in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Don't be afraid of sounding egotistical, your friends are always interested in what you are doing.

Bob Jones volunteered to match the class members' contributions to the Bucknell Alumni Fund, and we raised $500! Was Bob sorry; we hope not! It was the first time I have contributed to the Fund, always meaning to do it "tomorrow!" (The older we get, the more we procrastinate). President Kottcamp made the motion which was unanimously passed by the class, of thanking Bob for his magnanimous gesture.

Bill Iveson, John Decker, Emma Angstadt Wallers, Betty Koehler Fredericks, and Marie Rockwell Bates arrived too late to be in the class picture. Betty Sindel Clavell and Margy Blair Mathias were present, but I don't see them in the picture. All those you see in it are not class members, some of them are wives, husbands and children of reuning '36ers, and we were delighted to have them present.

Ed Reisman, whose hobby is photography, did a professional job of filming this 20th reunion. One of the features of our 25th will be the showing of us in our white sailor caps. (We are hoping to have a sneak preview at Homecoming). When you come in '61, we will have Chinese Coolie affairs for you to wear. Tres chic! and only $1.00.

I was hoping more of you Joes and Marys had been there. Will I see you in '61????

—CHARLES S. GWYNNE

CLASS RE

Forty-six from '46 came back for our Tenth Reunion. The University provided every convenience for the alumni and their families. One enjoyable feature was the grouping of classes on definite dormitory floors, with 4th floor Swartz Hall coed for returning couples.

Friday the weather man predicted a clear weekend. Only a Bucknellian can believe what really happened. It was cloudy, a fine mist, and a haze over the river. Saturday began with breakfast at John Houghton Harris Cafeteria, followed by viewing the campus in daylight. The renovations, new buildings and swimming pool at Davis Gym were duly admired. After "ogling" the NEW Bucknell we held a class meeting. The Nominating Committee's slate of officers for the next five years was unanimously elected:

President: J. Dudley Waldner, Upper Montclair, New Jersey; Vice President: Eleanor Dillon Strickland, Red Bank, New Jersey; Secretary and Class Reporter: Elizabeth Wells Ewing, Livonia, Michigan; Treasurer and Fund Manager: Fitz Roy Walling, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania; Assistant Treasurer and Fund Man-

The 15th Reunion of the Class of 1941 was very much enjoyed by more than forty class members who attended and I'm sure very much missed by many more who did not attend. However, the response and cooperation of those who were asked to contact other class members and urge them to attend was very encouraging. Even though they were not able to get everyone to the reunion my contact committee members reported back that they enjoyed talking to fellow class members who lived near them. I believe this to be a good sign that everyone will work harder and look forward to a real big 20th reunion.

Back to the 15th reunion (Let's don't push those years too hard). In the morning meeting, conducted by Matt Mansuy, everyone present reported on his or her activities for the past 15 years and also told of the whereabouts of other class members who were unable to be present. This was a most interesting session.

Howard Hartzell was elected class president and he is already thinking about, and working on, plans and ideas to get the class together at times other than the regular reunion years (any ideas or suggestions on this will be appreciated).

For some class members it was their first visit to the campus in 15 years, and it seemed to be the opinion of everyone that while the campus may have made many changes the Class of '41 was still the same.

Other officers are: President, Reverend Howard Hartzell; Vice President, Lee S. Ranck; Secretary, Mrs. Jeanne Steele Hasselberger; Treasurer, Mrs. Marian Reynolds Green; Class Fund Manager, Mrs. B. Eloise Garber Graybill; Class Reporter, Mrs. Jeanne Steele Hasselberger; Reunion Chairman and Committee, Lee S. Ranck.

Let's make our next reunion even bigger and better, but in the meantime, keep in touch with the class members in your own area. By the way—let's all come back to the campus for Homecoming October 20.

—LEE S. RANCK

No sooner had we arrived on campus than the years intervening between graduation and our Fifth Year Reunion seemed to slip away, and we were once again the happy group that used to shout, "We're the class that's full of fun; we're the class of '51!"

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lawrence, our gracious faculty host and hostess, helped us to move smoothly from one activity to another, beginning with our business meeting in the Vaughn Lit Building, at which Herb Zearfoss presided as chairman pro tem. We elected the following officers: President, Herbert Zearfoss; Vice President, Norma Hunsinger Hay; Secretary, Rebecca Rogers Norris; Treasurer, Donald S. Parsons; Class Fund Manager, Raymond Tallau; Class Reporter, Rebecca Rogers Norris; Reunion Committee, Harvey Bush, chairman; Anne Cooper Nixon, Mary Jane Riley Lacke, Donald Betty.

About 30 class members attended the business meeting, but several more joined us for the class ager: Dorothy Hutton Davis, Catawissa, Pennsylvania.

Fred Anderson was given a BIG vote of thanks for his work as fund manager for the past seven years. The class treasury of several hundred dollars has been held for us in the University Fund, and we voted to leave it there, collecting interest, until a worthy need arose. Congratulations are due Bill Wilkinson who was elected to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association.

In colorful top hats we posed for class pictures, joined the parade down the Lit path to Davis Gym for the All-Alumni Luncheon. A class get-together at the "Burger" followed, then Symposias, and finally a dance in the new gym "annex" (excellent student floor show also) wound up the festivities.

If those of you who did not attend will send one dollar to Buck Shott, payable to Bucknell University, you will receive a copy of the Tenth Reunion Book, full of addresses and information about classmates. (You did a grand job, Patti). See you in 1961!

picture; still others attended the Alumni Luncheon in Davis Gym; and still more appeared at our social get-together at the "Burger." At all our gatherings the conversation was liberally sprinkled with phrases like "You haven't changed a bit!" (surprisingly true) . . . "I'll never forget . . ." . . . "Do you remember?" . . . etc. and punctuated with bursts of laughter.

All of us were much impressed with the changes and improvements that have been made since we left Bucknell, especially the splendid pool now under construction at Davis Gym. And we all had a thoroughly enjoyable time. So if you didn't attend our Fifth Year Reunion, don't make the same mistake again. Be sure to join the fun in 'Sixty-one!

Be sure, too, to send your new items along to your class reporter, Mr. Harold P. Norris, 6 Griffith Street, Montrose, Pennsylvania.

From graduation caps to firemen's hats in one year! Reunion weekend found the Class of 1955 joining as alumni for the first time and sporting red firemen's hats as identification.

The hats couldn't be missed—however, some of the class members were when, Saturday morning, June 9, at 10:30 a. m., the class meeting was called to order in Bertrand Library. The early birds who had arrived in time for the meeting discussed various points of business under the guidance of Class Vice President Martha Jones, who presided in the absence of Joseph English. Dr. Norman H. Stewart, to whom the class L'Agenda had been dedicated, kindly offered his assistance as adviser to '55ers.

Those present at the meeting renewed friendships as each related a little about himself and his life since graduation. Following the meeting reunion booklets containing names, addresses, and interesting details about each member of the class were distributed.

Posing for pictures, marching in the reunion parade, and feasting on a delicious luncheon occupied the early afternoon. At 3:30 p. m. class members became hosts, hostesses, and guests for a '55 party at the Milton Country Club. Saturday evening class members scattered over the 300 acres—each seeking his particular type of entertainment—Cap and Dagger's "The Glass Menagerie," Alumni Jamboree, or a social gathering.

As first-year Alumni '55ers thoroughly enjoyed the reunion weekend and in 1960 will once again gather with more children under their wings and greater achievements under their belts.

CLASS OF 1956

At the one hundred and sixth Annual Commencement Weekend the festivities began with a short class meeting followed by the picture of those in attendance. The fourteen members that were present formed in the parade of the Alumni and seniors and marched to the All-Alumni Luncheon at Davis Gym.

At the All-Alumni Luncheon the class gift was presented. Changes in the original gift were announced which included the undergraduate members of Student-Faculty Congress on the committee for selecting. It is hoped that the class will continue to support the Class of 1956 Endowed Lectureship Fund.

Saturday night there were the fraternity and sorority symposia and the Alumni Jamboree. These events offered the utmost in entertainment for the Alumni and seniors and their families.

With our parents we attended the band concert and the president's reception held in the annex of Davis Gym. After the reception many of us relaxed at Halfway Dam or on the campus with our parents and classmates.

Finally on Sunday night, the first of the big events came, the Baccalaureate Service which featured Herbert Gezork who gave the address. Sunday night about ten o'clock our last social event began at the Milton Country Club, when all of the class was together. At this event all of the unforgettable times of our past four years were reminisced about. This was a night we will remember for many many years; the last night we were all together at Bucknell.

After four years of waiting and anticipation graduation day finally arrived surrounded by mixed emotions of sadness and happiness. With diplomas in our hands we met our proud parents to go home and start our way in the world.

396 Scholars Honored at Bucknell's 106th Commencement

President Merle M. Odgers presented a total of 376 degrees at Bucknell's 106th Annual Commencement Monday morning, June 11, 1956. A total of 343 seniors earned bachelor's degrees with 21 members of the class cited for honors. Twenty-five graduate students earned advanced degrees, while President Odgers conferred to eight persons honorary doctorates. Lt. Col. Joseph V. Chaufty, commanding officer of the R. O. T. C. units at Bucknell, administered the oath and the awarding of second lieutenant commissions to 64 men of which 30 were honored as "distinguished military graduates." In addition to the degrees and honors conferred, 19 prizes were awarded to members of the Class of 1956.

Honorary Degrees

Three Bucknell graduates were among the recipients of honorary degrees. Dr. Evan W. Ingram '20, a trustee of Bucknell University, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Pedagogy. Dr. Woodrow M. Strickler '34 received the degree of Doctor of Pedagogy while the Hon. Frederick V. Follmer '06 received the degree of Doctor of Civil Law.

Dr. Horace A. Hildreth, past president of Bucknell and now Ambassador of the United States to Pakistan, and General Carlos P. Romulo, Ambassador from the Philippines to the United States, each received the degree of Doctor of Civil Law. Dr. Herbert Gezork, the Baccalaureate speaker, was awarded the degree of Doctor of Divinity. Dr. William H. Coleman, retiring Dean of the College, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters and Mr. Harry B. Hopper was honored by receiving the degree of Doctor of Business Administration.

Dr. Herbert Gezork, president of Andover Newton Theological School, in his Baccalaureate address urged the graduating seniors not to allow their characteristic realism to develop into disillusioned cynicism. He pointed out that "the cynical pessimist is just as one-sided as the starry-eyed Utopian," and added, "He who has faith that there is plan, purpose, and meaning in life, can never yield to a despairing pessimism." In conclusion Dr. Gezork stated, "The world needs men and women who put their insights, their understanding, and their Christian convictions into action."

The Big Day

Monday morning brought forth the big moment for seniors and parents alike as diplomas were awarded. President Odgers paid a unique and special tribute to the parents as he announced:

"In the name of our faculty and trustees I welcome all of you. We honor you today because it is through your effort and sacrifice that it has been possible for these young people to participate in this Commencement. We want you to know that you honor us with your presence. For a period of years you have shared your sons and daughters with us. They have become, however, no less yours and in the last few years many of you have more and more identified yourselves with Bucknell. We feel certain that these young people will always bring honor and affection to their Alma Mater, Bucknell University, and to you, their parents and families."

General Carlos P. Romulo, speaking at the Commencement exercises, cautioned that "neutrality between the free world and the Soviet world is impossible." The Hero of Bataan concluded his speech by saying "so long as the Communist ideal remains alive, free men everywhere are in mortal danger. We of the Philippines are proud to be your partners."

Dr. Harry Garvin Publishes Work

Dr. Harry R. Garvin, associate professor of English, has written an article which is appearing in the current issue of The Explicator, a literary magazine published by the University of South Carolina.

The article is an analysis of Gertrude Stein's "Lipschitz" which is a poetic "portrait" of the contemporary French sculptor whom she knew well in Paris.

The Stein poem is written in one of her most difficult styles, and Dr. Garvin has clarified meanings that might be obscure to the casual reader. Miss Stein's style may be illustrated by the harmony and the exact symmetry of the opening line of the poem: "Like and like likely and likely likely and likely like and like."

"Name the Baby" Contest Closes at Homecoming

That lusty youngster—the engineering alumni organization—will be named officially at a dinner to be held Homecoming Weekend on Saturday, October 20 at 6 P. M., in the Lewisburg Club.

Whether you are a Bucknell engineer or interested in engineering at Bucknell, you will want to attend this dinner and hear about the twelve accomplishments in the year-old organization which has grown strong and healthy under the leadership of Admiral E. M. Eller (USN—retired), Director of Engineering, and a group of the engineering faculty assisted all the way by Bucknell engineers. The news of the twelve big projects accomplished this year and the even bigger projects to be undertaken in the future will be divulged at the dinner meeting. Better send your dinner reservation (at $5.00 each) to Prof. John B. Miller, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

students and others by The Bucknell Press.

The publication, On the Arkansas Route to California in 1849, edited by Dr. J. Orin Oliphant, professor of history at Bucknell, is an interesting and realistic account of the adventures and hardships encountered by Robert Green, the diarist, and five other young men from Lewisburg during their trek to California.

The diary from which the book was published was presented to the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library by Mrs. Dorothy Walls McCormick '05 of Lewisburg and John A. Walls '98, H '31 of Baltimore, Md., great-grandchildren of the father of Robert Green.

Dr. Rivoire Named to French Society

Dr. J. A. Rivoire, associate professor of French at Bucknell, has been elected to active membership in the Société des Professeurs Français en Amérique.

This association, which was founded some 50 years ago, is an association of professors of French nationality or ancestry, who are interested in spreading French culture in America and interpreting American culture to the French. American professors who teach French may become associate members.

Not only does the association maintain close contact with the French Embassy and Consulates in the United States, but it also works closely with French cultural representatives and the French Ministry of Education in Paris. The organization sponsors French contests in the schools of New York and San Francisco and scholarships for study in France. It also publishes scholarly articles in its magazine Etudes Françaises.

Dr. P. B. Rogers Publishes Article

Dr. P. Burwell Rogers, assistant professor of English, is the author of an article entitled "Changes in Virginia Names" which appeared in the February issue of the magazine American Speech.

The article is based on a continuation of research done for the magazine in a previous article.

The work deals with the changing pronunciation of place names and family names, mostly of English origin, in Virginia.

The conclusion shows there is a trend toward pronouncing names as they are spelled, and that letters which were formerly silent are now pronounced.

HONORARY ALUMNI—Honorary doctorate degrees were awarded by Bucknell this year to eight men prominent in professional and business life. Here they are, l. to r., with President Odgers who conferred the degrees. Dr. Evan W. Ingram '20; Dr. Harry B. Hopper; Dr. Woodrow M. Strickler '34; Dr. Horace A. Hildreth; General Carlos P. Romulo, the Commencement speaker; Dr. Herbert Gezork, the Baccalaureate speaker; President Odgers; Dr. Frederick V. Follmer '06; and Dr. William H. Coleman.

WHO'S YOUR CANDIDATE?

While Bucknellians will not make as much fuss as the Democrats and Republicans did at their National Conventions to select candidates, we are faced with a similar problem. By October 15 it will be necessary to prepare for committee consideration and action, candidates for a number of important University and Alumni posts.

Each year Alumni suggest the names of Bucknellians to be considered by these committees, but generally the response to this call for candidates has been small. This year we would like to make it clear to YOU that YOUR candidate suggestions are cordially invited and eagerly sought. After all, this is one of your privileges as a member of the Bucknell Alumni family. Won't you participate by giving us your suggestions on the form provided for the following offices and honors:

WOMAN TRUSTEE TO BE SELECTED

Every five years the three candidates to be voted on by the Alumni are selected from among the women of Bucknell. In 1957 again a woman trustee is to be chosen for consideration for membership on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University. In a family as large as ours many likely candidates might be overlooked unless we have your suggestion at hand. Your candidate need not be a member of your class nor must she necessarily reside in your community, but she must have attended Bucknell University and should be able to assist in the consideration of the broad problems of University policy and should be willing and able to attend at least two Board Meetings plus several committee meetings each year. These meetings are generally held in Lewisburg in the fall and spring of the academic year.

ALUMNI AWARDS CANDIDATES

In 1957 for the first time the Committee on Alumni Awards will be asked to select recipients for alumni awards in three categories: (a) for meritorious achievement in the field or profession in which the candidate is engaged, (b) for recognized contributions and service to fellowmen through such media as religion, charity, art, science or public welfare, and (c) for outstanding service, unselfish interest, and demonstrated loyalty to the University and to the Association. In these three categories we would appreciate your suggestions of candidates to be considered for the honor of receiving an alumni award.

ALUMNI BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The fifteen-member Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association carry out the important task of directing the activities included in The General Alumni Association program. Each year the terms of five of the members of the Board expire, and you are urged to suggest the names of Alumni to be considered as nominees to this Board.

Since candidates for all these posts must be considered by committees that will be meeting Homecoming Weekend, October 20, you can see that we need your suggestions now. A great deal of clerical work is involved in preparing candidates' papers for committee action, and we would appreciate receiving your suggestions on the form provided below. In the case of the suggestions for alumni trustee we cannot consider the names of candidates after October 15, 1956, so why not let us have your suggestions by return mail.

'Two Decades of Decision'

A review of the first ten years of Bucknell's Second Century (1946-56) and a preview of the next ten (1956-66) are clearly and simply stated in a beautiful 32-page brochure under the above title.

Plans are underway to distribute a copy of this interesting booklet to all members of the Bucknell Alumni family. In it you will find excellent pictures of the latest additions to the campus facilities and artists' sketches giving a preview of things to come.

A complete map of the campus of today—and tomorrow—is shown in the center spread.

When this interesting 8½ x 11 book of views reaches you about the third week in September, it will intrigue you into spending some of your leisure time in becoming acquainted with the Bucknell of tomorrow.

Bison Band In New Uniforms

The Bison Band of Bucknell University, resplendent in new "western type" uniforms carrying out the theme of the Bisons that roamed the old west, will appear in two public performances during its annual pre-season band camp in the Pocono Mountains.

The band under the direction of Professor Allan W. Flock, Director, will spend a week of drill and rehearsal at Hemlock Lodge, South Sterling, Penna., and will present a concert on Thursday evening, September 13, at 8 p. m., at The Inn, Buck Hill Falls. On Friday evening, September 14, the Bison Band of Bucknell will present a drill performance during the football game at Stroudsburg High School in Stroudsburg. Alumni and friends are cordially invited to both of these performances.

Of course, during the football season, the Bucknell band will perform at all of the home games and will follow the football team at several of the games away from the campus.

During April, 1957, the Bison Band of Bucknell will appear in concerts in North-eastern Pennsylvania, and Northern New Jersey.

Ingols '31 to Italy on Fulbright

Dr. Robert S. Ingols '31 research professor of Georgia Tech Engineering Experiment Station, has been awarded a Fulbright Lectureship by the Department of State. He will serve as guest lecturer in biochemistry at the Polytechnic Institute of Milan, Italy for one academic year beginning in November of 1956.

Bob, an authority on bacterial physiology and biochemistry as applied to water and sewage treatment and stream pollution has also been invited to present a paper on "Controlling Stream Pollution from Canning Plant Wastes," at the Third International Congress on Canned Foods in Rome, Italy, in September of 1956.

He served as vice president and chairman of the Chemical Section of the American Society for the Advancement of Science during 1955. He is immediate past-president of the Georgia Tech chapter of Sigma Xi and is active in the American Chemical Society.

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON '96
Eldred, Pa.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Ruth E. Miller Parker '93 at her home in Clarks Summit, on April 22 after a long illness. She was well-known for her activities in civic and church groups and helped promote and organize the building program for the Clarks Summit First Presbyterian Church. Surviving are three daughters and four grandchildren. Jane Ann Mutchner '52 is a granddaughter.

Harry Hartman Kinney '94 passed away at his home in Santa Monica, Calif., in April. A native of Sunbury, he attended Drew Theological Seminary after leaving Bucknell. After serving pastorates at Philadelphia and Mauch Chunk, he transferred to the Southern California Conference and served as pastor at San Luis Obispo. Following an injury in an accident, he became an invalid for several years during which time he began to write for newspapers. Upon regaining his health, he started several newspapers in Southern California and became owner of several others. He helped establish the compensation law in California and became historian of the California Legislature. He served as secretary and referee for the State Industrial Accident Commission for six years and as confidential political adviser to the mayor of Los Angeles for eight years. He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Hile, and two sons, Harold H. Kinney of Los Angeles, and Dr. J. G. Kinney, an ophthalmological surgeon in Santa Monica.

Our sympathy is extended to Dr. William Van V. Hayes '88 on the death of his wife, on April 11. A graduate of Goucher College, Mrs. Hayes was the daughter of Dr. B. C. Conner, a former president of Dickinson Seminary, now Lycoming College, Williamsport. Her death breaks a union of 52 years of marriage.

Dr. Amos E. Barton '06, St. Petersburg, Fla., died there April 20 following an illness of one year. He retired several years ago as a medical examiner for the United States Immigration Service in New York City. He was married to the former Lillian Shields, Lewisburg, who preceded him in death in 1920. Surviving are a sister, a brother, and several nieces and nephews. Interment was in the Lewisburg Cemetery.

Dedication exercises of the Harvey F. Smith Tumor Clinic were held at the Harrisburg Hospital on May 10. At that time presentation of a plaque and portrait of Harvey F. Smith, M. D. '94, was made by Dr. J. Arthur Daugherty, Medical Director of the Harrisburg Hospital. Dr. Smith, an outstanding Harrisburg surgeon, has fought vigorously in the drive against cancer. He is on the State Executive Committee of the American Cancer Society and a member of the Board of Directors of the Cancer Division of Pennsylvania's State Department of Health.

02 DR. LEWIS E. THEISS, President
110 University Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. Lewis E. Theiss is serving on the Advisory Council of American Viewpoint, Inc., a non-profit educational corporation dedicated to the preservation and extension of the American philosophy of living. Other Bucknellians serving this organization are Dr. Arnaud C. Marts and Dr. Horace Hildreth, former Presidents of Bucknell, and Dr. Daniel A. Poling, a Bucknell Trustee.

Alan Craig Cunningham has a new address—39th Street and Powleton Avenue, Philadelphia. For many years Alan was employed in the Philadelphia Art Museum, but had to give up his work there several months ago because of a heart attack. He is enjoying his retirement, as he has been restored to good health. Alan has a flair for getting about, and during many vacations in the past has seen a very considerable portion of the Northeast rather intimately.

Dr. T. Lamar Williams has retired from active medical practice, after nearly half a century of service to his fellows. He has moved from Mt. Carmel to 9 Black Horse Lane, Media.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie S. Coleman)
1250 Park Ave., McKeesport, Pa.

Your reporter went to Commencement with her cousin Kathryn M. King '07 to especially meet the '06 and '07 group of women who have kept a Round Robin letter going these past 50 years.

Met with Emeritus Club for first time, saw old friends there, as well as at the Class Presidents and Reporters' dinner Friday night.

W. Lawrence Kalp, our faithful campus visitor, was on hand. Charlotte Shields Murphy and husband were also present. I made a short call on Grace Roberts Snyder. All are in good health.

From Lewisburg went to Philadelphia, where we attended Evening Service on roof top of Alpha Baptist Church, Rev. Howard K. Williams '03, minister.

Had pleasure of a 'phone conversation with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stewart. They have done some interesting traveling, of which more in another issue.

It was heart warming to meet these classmates and old friends. Remember '03 has a Special Date for 1958. Start thinking about it now.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.,
Upland, Calif.

A very interesting factual story, "Mother Opossum," appearing in the May issue of The Instructor, a magazine for teachers, was written by no other than our Ruth Stephens Porter. Her contributions have frequently appeared in many music, children's and teacher's magazines. Ruth, who is secretary of the Bucknell St. Petersburg Club, resides at 2710 Dartmouth Ave., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Word has been received of the death of William Wallace Portser on April 8. Among his survivors is Dr. Iden M. Portser '96, of Greensburg. We extend our sympathy to the family of Mr. Portser.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
Colgate University
Hamilton, N. Y.

Once more we must close ranks as comrades have passed into the Beyond. The month of May was unkind to the class, since two of our number left us in that not so merry period.

Margaret Leshner Riggs, like all the other Leshners, and like her devoted husband, George, was a faithful Bucknellian. They rarely missed a class gathering. For several months she failed gradually, but kept up her interest. On Saturday evening, May 19, she attended a Youth for Christ meeting; during the night she awakened in great pain; the next morning she passed away, at the age of eighty years and seven months. All her children and all but one of her fourteen grandchildren were home for the funeral. Our thoughts are with you, George, in your sorrow.

Earl Wayne Whitney died in Wewoka, Oklahoma, May 4. A native of Wellsboro, Pennsylvania, where he was a close friend of Edwin Rumsey, of the class of 1906. In college he was active in class affairs, and will be remembered as captain of the Varsity track team, on which he won distance races by sheer grit despite his slight frame. After college he taught school for several years in Oklahoma, then took the bar examinations and began the practice of law. Having been a member of the Pennsylvania National Guard, he entered the service in World War I and served in France as a captain of infantry. Intensely loyal to Bucknell and to his college class, he was a regular attendant at reunions; he was one of the few who were on hand for the reunion in 1952, and was planning definitely on returning for the Fiftieth next June. He is survived by his wife, a brother, Truman Whitney, of Wellsboro, and a sister, Mrs. John Putney, of Elmira, N. Y. Of his several surviving children, Naomi Whitney Hadaway (Mrs. Lloyd), of Oklahoma City, is well known to members of the class, whom she met at class reunions; she is a Bucknell graduate of 1954. We shall miss Whit; his spirit meant much to the class.

Plans for our fiftieth reunion are underway. Anon or a little before anon (to quote Josiah Allern's wife) members of the class will get the word. Meantime, don't forget the date of Alumni Day—SATURDAY, JUNE EIGHTH. BE THERE. Renegade Paul Stolz wants us all to meet with him that afternoon. He's a good guy despite his defection to '08. Cheer him up by being present. More anon.

08 MRS. JOHN MATHIAS
(Margaret Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa.

Rev. Charles L. Bromley, 76 N. Pleasant St., Oberlin, Ohio, reports that things are moving along nicely for him. His family is well and his church is making progress.

The 1908 chapter of "the retired" is happy to welcome a new member, Prof. Chester P. Higby, of Madison, Wisconsin. Chester has had a long and fruitful experience in the teaching field. He retired in June as Professor of History at the University of Wisconsin.

Honors were accorded him and deserved recognition made of his achievements in the field of history. More than fifty students attained their doctorates of philosophy under his guidance. To him the highlight of the occasion was the announcement of the Chester Penn Higby prize for the best articles appearing in the Journal of Modern History, a magazine which Chester was instrumental in establishing.

Chester attributes his interest in history to his Bucknell training. He explains, "I was drawn to the Napoleonic period by a speech delivered by the president of Bucknell, John Howard Harris, in which he told of the expansion of France under Napoleon."

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., N. St. Petersburg 3, Fla.

At the April meeting of the St. Petersburg Alumni Club, Gilbert H. Lyte was elected president.

On May 8, Howard and I began an eventful trip. Leaving St. Petersburg, we spent a few days with son Charles and family in Auburn, Alabama. Then on to Louisville, Kentucky, where a daughter, Mrs. D. V. Whitesides (Eloise Headland '46) lives. Eloise invited Mrs. Harry Weeter (Mabel Slout) for tea. She told us of her recent six-months' trip through Europe. She made interesting comments on each of the many countries she visited. She remarked that although she thinks that she could live happily in Denmark or Switzerland, she was, all through her travels, glad she is an American.

Next for us was Pittsburgh in which, or near by, five of our children live. Hence a reunion of all eight of our children, six in-laws and 12 grandchildren, made for us one happy day. Also for Howard there was his 50th reunion of his class at State Teachers College, Slippery Rock. Greetings from old friends there and at Slippery Rock's and Grove City's commencements kept crowding in on us—much to our enjoyment.

While in Harrisburg we contacted Mrs. Robert Woodcock (Lucille Savidge '09) who was about to enter a hospital. We hope by now, Lucille, you're better than ever.

A day's drive through beautiful Delaware Water Gap, etc., brought us to the home of a nephew, Lt. Col. Walter Killalee and his family, in West Point. Sight-seeing was the order there. Another day brought us over Bear Mountain Bridge to Natick, Mass., to the homes of more nephews and nieces.

Happy are the memories of several pleasant hours in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Heber W. Youngken in Arlington, Mass. He told us of his latest honor. I know of nothing that gives me more satisfaction than to be able to write about achievements of my classmates. Now none other than Heber Wilkinson Youngken was given an honorary degree by the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy where he had just completed 33 years of teaching. At the commencement exercises, June 6, 1956, Heber was cited as: "Graduate in Pharmacy, Master of Arts, Doctor of Science, Doctor of Philosophy, distinguished scientist, teacher, and author. By his notable contributions in the field of pharmaceutical education and his outstanding service to the College he has merited the degree of Doctor of Pharmacy, HONORIS CAUSA." I know I express the wishes of all our classmates when I say, "To you, Heber, and to your good wife, congratulations."

As this is being written (August 8) some miles north of Pittsburgh, our summer sojourn is not yet ended. We hope to be back in St. Pete by September 15 and ready to greet any who may come to our lovely city.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
109 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

The marriage of Miss Ruby G. Pierson, Waukesha, Wisconsin, and Mr. J. Gurney Sholl, Pitman, N. J., was quietly solemnized at 105 South East Avenue, Waukesha, Wednesday, June 6. The bride's brother, the Rev. Raymond G. Pierson '01, retired Milwaukee Baptist pastor, performed the ceremony. The couple will reside at 25 Kenton Avenue, Pitman, after a sojourn in Northern Wisconsin.

The bride was for many years head of the English department at the Bay View High School, Milwaukee, and for the last three years she has been head resident at the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority house at Carroll College.

Mr. Sholl, a former newspaper writer and editor, served as a New Jersey state senator. He organized and headed the Migrant Labor Bureau in the Department of Labor and Industry in that state, in which work he is now acting as a consultant. His first wife, the former Helen Hare, was killed in an auto accident in Maryland in the winter of 1955. The present Mrs. Sholl was maid of honor at his first wedding. They were former classmates at Bucknell in the Class of 1910.

Mrs. Palmer M. Way (Sara M. Ray) has enjoyed a three months round-the-world tour. Our congratulations to Sara on her recent election to the office of a Vice-President General of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Lower row—George, John, Newton Fetter.

We salute the Fetter boys—above, left to right—George C. '10 and Juliette; John D. W. '13 and Bessie; Newton D. '09 and Blanche, who together have served in Baptist ministries and university pastoral work for a total of more than 100 years. George has retired in Ames, Iowa, after a long period of student work at the University of Kansas. John has just retired after 40 years of service as Baptist university pastor at Cornell University in Ithaca and Newton now resides at Blooming Road, Pike County, Pennsylvania, after long periods of service as university pastor at University of Michigan in the greater Boston area and from 1941 as Head of the Division of Secondary and Higher Education for the American Baptist Board of Education and Publication.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

"Unto our lives some rain must fall." Don't think anyone has been cheated.

Attended the annual "free" feed for class presidents, reporters and fund managers in the Swartz Cafeteria. Didn't know a soul but "Buck" and Charles Nicely '08. About the time Buck began giving us our "dos and don'ts" in general bossing, who walked in but Leo and Vera Cober Rockwell. I said to Pop "Now I know those people." Walked over, shook hands, had to tell them who I was. Vera said, "Why, Maze, you are one person whom I had hoped to see this reunion time." It certainly warmed my old bones to have someone wanting to see me after 44 years. You know it's the kind of warmth that you knew as a kid, when you came home nearly frozen from skating and sled riding and would stick your feet in the oven of the old coal range—it just seemed to reach your whole body.

The next morning Blanche Stoner Wood '05, Pop and I drove down for the luncheon. Patty and Alberta, Dave and Alberta McNeal, Pearl Ream Williams and Frank were there. All customers for our 1957 reunion. Came home, then went to Williamsport to attend the Alumni Banquet of my high school after 48 years. I was toastmistress for the occasion.

The next morning when Pop was asking the blessing he added, "Our Heavenly Father, restore our household to peace and quiet since 'the woman' has been gadding around over the week-end." Now, don't think he is sacrilegious—he was just "bushed" from being dragged around.

Again we hear of a death in our class. Lyman L. Lister, of 525 Cleardale Avenue, Trenton, N. J., who passed away April 4. A former employee of the drafting division of the New Jersey State Highway Department, he had recently been an employee of the drafting department of the New York Division of the P. R. R. Lyman was a Mason and a member of the Board of Deacons of the Grace Baptist Church. He is survived by his wife, two sons, two grandchildren, several brothers and sisters. Prayers and thoughts for the family from our class.

Frank Davis and Vera Cober "strutted" with the 1911 Class. Scholastically they may belong there but sentimentally they belong to us. I hope that Vera, Nora Dodson, Frank, Harry Waltman and Marc Baldwin join us at the festive board next June for our 45th. We'll be looking for you.

P. S. Know how to reduce without a physician or pills? Have your family come for 10 days. Four adults, 3 children, a puppy not housebroken, a parakeet and 2 million flies. The "slimming" program then begins.

13 MR. CHARLES L. SANDERS
76 Walnut Street
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Rev. L. Earl Jackson is pastor of the Prospect Hill Baptist Church, Prospect Park. In December his church observed its 125th anniversary and in January dedicated its new $100,000 educational and social addition.

This column sorrowfully reports the death on June 5 of our classmate, Rev. Edwin C. Brush. Replying to a letter from your reporter, Mrs. Brush wrote: "Edwin went into hospital for diabetic treatment and some surgery on May 18. Two blood clots lodged in his lower left lung and were immediate cause of death." At time of demise, Ed was pastor of Allison Avenue Baptist Church, Washington, Pa. Previously for 30 years he had served as a missionary for the American Baptist Foreign Society in India and Burma. Surviving besides his wife are two sons, Dr. John E. Brush '42; Stanley E. Brush '48; one daughter, Mrs. Frances Peterson, eight grandchildren. Sympathy of all classmates is extended to these survivors.

In a note to Harold Shaffer, from Seattle, Howard Goehring wrote that he retired two years ago. His actual position your reporter does not know but his company was the Northern Pacific Railroad. Howard would like to see us all, but Seattle, he says, is far away. How about a few details about yourself, Howard? This column always needs news.

F. H. R. (Dick) Richards wrote to Marwood that after he and wife returned home from 40th reunion they visited Florida, then California. Retired from his lifetime work Dick now occupies himself "keeping 675 voting machines available at all times, and with a presidential election in November I am kept out of mischief." Kansas City, Mo., is where this activity functions.

Baker Bernhart's new address is 424 A Linden Avenue, York. By the way, if any classmate has changed residence, please pass the information to your reporter.

At the cafeteria and on Jim McClure's hospitable porch eleven young oldsters spent chatty, reminiscing moments together at this year's commencement time: Rooke, Hawkins, Hastings, Fisher, McClure, Beck, Bernhart, Shaffer, Bowling, Glover, C. L. Sanders. Adding luster and good fellowship were Mrs. Bowling, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. McClure, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Fisher. Especially glad were all to see Rev. Bowling and wife who had not been back to the campus since the 25th reunion in 1938. Greeting notes were read and memories recalled from John Fetter, Forrest Dunkle, Walter Edwards, Miles Stetler.

Our 45th is approaching fast—in '58. It's not too soon now to start planning to be there.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER (Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.,
New Kensington, Pa.

We were sorry to learn of the sudden death of Donald A. Sprout, well-known Picture Rocks commercial artist, on May 9 of a heart attack while working at the Handle and Excelsior Company there. After leaving Bucknell, he studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia. Later, he did commercial art work for Philadelphia advertising companies before entering the army. He served during the First World War. After the armistice and before returning home, he furthered his art studies in France. Employed for a time by a printing firm in Charlotte, N. C., he returned to Picture Rocks about 30 years ago where he was employed by the Handle and Excelsior Company, which is operated by the Sprout family. He had continued doing commercial art work. In 1936, he painted a mural in the baptistry of the Picture Rocks Baptist Church, of which he was a member. He was a member of the Delta Sigma fraternity.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Marie Cole Sprout; a daughter; a son, and a grandson; his mother, Mrs. Lucinda Sprout; a sister, Marjorie E. Sprout '21, of Picture Rocks; two brothers, W. Carl Sprout '08, retired managing editor of the Harrisburg Patriot; and Clinton I. Sprout '17, Peddie School, Hightstown, N. J. Another brother, W. Lee Sprout '10 died in 1950. He is also survived by four nephews, William E. '37; Carl M. '38; John W. '48 and Robert C. '49.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Bell, of Hollywood, Fla., returned home in June from a trip around the world.

17 MRS. EARLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Spare)
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

This is it, 17ers! Forty years ago this month we were beginning our senior year in Bucknell. Pretty hard to realize, isn't it? So—now with your help we are trying to plan an interesting reunion next June 8. You'll be hearing from "Peddie" about it soon. Please be sure to cooperate. Above all, plan to take part of your vacation in June, 1957, so you can spend 3 days in Lewisburg.

A grand letter from Edna Sayenga Fahringer, who now lives in Everett, Wash., tells about their present work in the little Chapel where they went to build a church, seven years ago. It then had 26 members and was an Army Chapel and it had lots of debts. Today it has 250 active members, an educational building, electric organ, beautifully equipped kitchen, and is paying for a parsonage. They are in love with the west. Since their marriage, Fred and Edna have served five pastorates, Chicago, Minneapolis, Wauwatosa and Janesville, Wisc., and Everett, Wash. When war came Fred resigned to be a chaplain in the U. S. Army. Edna has been president of the Everett United Church Women, Everett UNICEF chairman, and is now a member of the State UCW's Board and a vice president in their own association. She is a member of the Garden Club. I just wish I had space to tell you all this nice letter contained, but I'll have to save the rest for another time.

Edna tells me that another of our classmates, Norman R. Hill, and his wife, Irma Jo, have been very close friends of theirs and very good to their church. So I wrote to Norman and asked for news about him. He tells me he is pretty much of a "Has Been" or an "Old Goat" but life has been good to them. They have five children born of his marriage to Edith Chase, of Eagles Mere (3 boys and 2 girls). Edith passed away in 1932 and he later married Irma Jo Richmond, of St. Louis, Mo. His youngest child is now 33. He has 15 grandchildren (12 boys and 3 girls).

Norman started out as a Baptist minister then went to engineering and then to insurance. He is with the Northwestern Mutual of Milwaukee and on October 26 of this year will be 65 years old and retirement begins. However, he does not contemplate complete retirement as he has a very large and wonderful clientele in Seattle which he will serve as long as he is able. Since 1920 he has sold about $30,000,000 in insurance and has been a member of the Million Dollar Round Table consecutively for the past 10 years.

He helped to organize the Seattle Bucknell Alumni Club and was its first president. The club has not been very active lately, but the new president has promised to get going this fall. Norman adds that they visit the Fahringers in Everett quite frequently and that Fred is a mighty good preacher.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
301 Broad Street
Montoursville, Pa.

Our belated congratulations to Dr. Chester Scott Keefer, Wade Professor of Medicine, and Physician-in-Chief of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, on his appointment as University Lecturer at Boston University for 1955-56.

The University Lectureship was established at Boston University in 1950 for the dual purpose of honoring members of the faculty engaged in outstanding research and of giving all members of the University as well as of the community, an opportunity to learn more of their work. Two appointments are made annually.

After earning his Bachelor of Science degree at Bucknell, Dr. Keefer received his M.D. degree from Johns Hopkins University in 1922 and his Sc.D. (honorary) from Bucknell University and Boston University. He has been Wade Professor of Medicine at Boston University since 1940.

A member of many national scientific societies, he is the author of numerous papers dealing with clinical medicine, infectious diseases and antibiotics.

Dr. Keefer delivered a lecture, "Medical Science and Society" on April 10 in the Charles Hayden Memorial Auditorium, Boston.

As I write this Chet and Evelyn McGann Leaber are spending their vacation in Williamsport and from here going to Ohio to visit their daughter and see their two grandchildren. Evelyn has just returned from a trip to California. She attended the National Convention of Delta Delta Delta and then visited with friends and relatives throughout the State.

Congratulations go to Dr. Louis Walton Siple for a new book, "A Biography of Frederic E. Ives," photo-graphic arts inventor. This is the second one we have had the pleasure of announcing.

Is it too early to begin thinking about our 40th Reunion? I am sure it is not too soon to begin putting pennies in the piggy bank so that the fund will be there when we celebrate in 1958. Any ideas, Bart?

Some of you members of the Class of 1918 must have had some good vacation trips this summer. How about sharing them with the rest of us?

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

Our congratulations to Chester R. Leaber, who was recently appointed a vice-president of First National City Bank of New York. He has been with the bank since 1920 and has served in branches at Shanghai, Peiping, Rangoon, Tokyo, Calcutta, Bombay, Mexico City, and Manila. He and his wife, Evelyn McGann '18, reside at 2 Fifth Avenue, New York 11, N. Y.

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

We were saddened to learn of the untimely death of Mrs. Louise Marlatt Waddell, wife of Robert N. Waddell, of Pittsburgh, in March. In addition to her husband, she is survived by four children, James P. Waddell '50, Robert N. Waddell, Jr. '50, Marjorie Louise Waddell, and Thomas Waddell to whom sympathy is extended. Bob is Secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania. His address is Orchard Hill Dr., Pittsburgh.

Harry R. Warfel served on the editorial advisory committee of Appleton-Century-Crofts' recently published three-volume New Century Cyclopedia of Names, a new kind of reference work. Harry is co-author, along with Dr. Donald J. Lloyd, of Wayne University, of a new book "American English in Its Cultural Setting" published early in the summer by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., New York. We plan to carry a review of the new book in a forthcoming issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Harry is professor of English, University of Florida; author of "Noah Webster, Schoolmaster to America," and "American Novelists of Today."

Our congratulations to J. Nevin Bauman upon his recent election as president of the White Motor Company in Cleveland, Ohio. He graduated from Bucknell with a B.S. in mechanical engineering and received his master's degree from the University of Michigan two years later, also in engineering. A native of Jeanette, the new president of White Motor joined the company in 1922 as a technical apprentice.

Mrs. J. L. Kistler (Anne Beterolet) retired in June after 44 years of teaching in the elementary school in Stony Run. She is the mother of twins, Lt. Jean Kistler '55, stationed at Rockerford, France, and JoAnn, a teacher in the Norristown schools.

22 MR. PHILIP C. CAMPBELL
R. D. 5
Danville, Pa.

Daniel Davis, 218 East Washington St., Chambersburg, is serving as Treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of that city.

Harry E. Schaffer is to be congratulated upon the publication of an article "Application for Testing Transformers" in the March, 1956, issue of the Westinghouse Engineer. He is design engineer with the Transformer Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Sharon. His home address is 145 Boyd Drive.

Gordon P. Bechtel has been re-elected for his third 3-year term on the Board of Directors of the United Cerebral Palsy Program in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland, Ohio).

We have been informed by his daughter that George W. Buffington died March 8 of a heart attack. George had been the owner of a Building Equipment Company in Wilmington, Delaware. Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to his family.

Heartfelt sympathy of the Class is extended to our president, the Rev. Dr. Finley Keech, on the loss of his wife, the former Mary Elizabeth Peifer '24, in a tragic automobile accident in Canada on July 23. Finley was also in the car and was injured seriously but was able to return to his home in Fall River after 10 days of hospitalization.

Your reporter had his second "vacation" for 1956 in the Geisinger Hospital, Danville, and underwent major surgery. Now convalescing slowly at my home.

Plans for our Thirty-fifth Reunion next June 8 are underway. Mark your calendar now.

23 MRS. LeROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm, Allenwood, Pa.

"Yep, G. E. decentralization caught us and after 7 years at Lynn, Mass., we've opened a new outdoor lighting department plant in the beautiful 'Land of the Sky' section of Western North Carolina; Hendersonville, 20 miles south of Asheville, O. K. by us! We've had only one inch of snow since our arrival here. How much has Boston had? Even found the transition from 'fish cakes and beans' to 'fried chicken, turnip greens and pecan pie' rather pleasant. While we'll miss the Boston Alumni Club associations and tho' 'hit's a right fur piece' to Lewisburg, we'll try to keep in touch. Meanwhile, the latching string is out at 1604 Sunset Blvd., Hendersonville, to any Bucknell folks who may be 'roamin' thru these mountains."

While the above is supposed to come from "Slim" (Rupert) and Betty (Speakman) Swetland, one reading of it tells us who is being quoted, now doesn't it? Slim and Betty with daughters, Pauline and Alice, stopped overnight at Evergreen Farm in June, on their way home from Vermont where they had attended Pauline's graduation from Green Mountain Junior College.

Early the morning of June 9 your reporter headed for Lewisburg and had a fine full day beginning with attendance at the General Alumni meeting as one of the Union County delegates and ending with attendance at the play, plus a rewarding chat with Dr. Daniel Poling. One of the impressive sights of the day was the lazy column of Alumni winding down the hill and disappearing into the gym for the luncheon. I could see neither the beginning nor the end but was proud to be a part of that onward moving stream, and to think how, in due time, one of my sons would take his place in that line. A fine thing—this Bucknell tradition! To say nothing of the grand friends it has given us through the years. One of my class I visited this summer again was Dr. Anne Horogchak (Mrs. Armond Nahrgang) of Plainfield, New Jersey. Anne continues to be tops in her profession and to draw patients from far and near.

I'd like to remind other classmates to write me about themselves, so I can pass it along to "you-all" (I must have picked that up from Slim Swetland).

24 MRS. PAUL CUPP
(Louise Benschoff)

Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Harold Jones proudly reports that he became grandfather for the first time on April 19 and that his new granddaughter is a doll. He lives at 103 Edna St., Wormleysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Dunlap, 316 S. 16th Street, Allentown, announce the marriage of their son, Earl, Jr., to Florence Cristine Palmer, Springfield, Mass. Earl, Sr., is President of Lehigh Dyeing and Finishing Corporation in Allentown.

A tragic automobile accident took the life of Mrs. Finley Keech (Mary Elizabeth Peifer) on July 23, while Dr. and Mrs. Keech were traveling in Quebec. Finley's injuries, while serious, were not critical, and after a short stay in the Sherbrooke (Quebec) Hospital he was able to return to the family home in Fall River, Mass. The heartfelt sympathy of our class is extended to the family, which includes the husband, Dr. Finley Keech '22, twin sons, the Rev. Finley M. Keech '49, married to the former Katherine J. Lepsch '47, pastor of First Baptist Church, Morristown, N. J., and the Rev. William T. Keech, pastor of the Tilton Northfield Congregational Church, Tilton, N. H., Herbert R. Keech, at home and three sisters.

Henry T. Rockwell, who has served as advertising manager of the Towanda Daily Review for the past 20 years, died of leukemia on July 25 at his home in Monroeton. Henry had given a lifetime of service to newspaper work in Harrisburg, Elmira, Sayre and Towanda. Heartfelt sympathy of the class is extended to his widow, the former Genevieve A. Bryant, and his brother, Dr. Leo L. Rockwell '07.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francis)
36 Van Doren Avenue, Chatham, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lybarger and sons, William, Jr., and John arrived in the United States from Djakarta, Java, in May. They were in Java almost a year and a half while Bill served as a teacher of visual aids to the Indonesian people under the Marshall Plan. They returned home by plane, stopping enroute to visit in Bandung, China, Hong Kong, Japan, and Honolulu.

William Painter is with the U. S. Treasury Department as Admeasurer. Sounds like the life of Riley. His wife teaches school in Miami Beach; daughter, Cecelia, a junior at University of Miami; recently purchased a lake home near Lake Placid where he fishes, swims and enjoys his hobby of raising orchids. Address: 145 N. E. 94th Street, Miami 38, Florida.

Mildred Francisco Hopper and Daniel Hopper, Jr., announce the marriage of their son, Daniel III, to Patricia Parker, Mrs. Daniel Hopper, Jr. (Mildred Francisco '25) of the Northern New Jersey Kappa Delta Alumni Association presenting a check to Lester Wyrath, president of the Northern Jersey Multiple Sclerosis Club. Other officers of the Association include Mrs. Arne Engelstad (E. Jennie Rolfe '40), president, and Mrs. Harry W. Weimer (Alma Dannemann '40), corresponding secretary.

of Chatham, on June 23rd. They are very proud to have a daughter in the family. The young couple are living in Murray Hill, New Jersey.

Mildred Biddison attended the National Women's Conference of American Baptists at Green Lake, Wisconsin, and while there met Clara Price Cober who was on the teaching staff and a Director of the Gallery of Religious Art which has a fine collection. They consider this a most worthwhile and interesting place, so Bucknellians take notice.

Ruth Mandeville Aydelotte writes that her older son, Bob, is in the Navy in Japan. Her other son, George, is just finishing high school. Anyone near Bellevue, Washington, stop in and say, "Hello."

(Editor's note): Mildred was too modest to include the following, so we slipped it in when she wasn't looking.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Miss Catherine A. "Cay" Cawley reports that she has recently bought a home at 4781 Llano Lane, Fair Oaks, Calif., where she is on the staff of the local weekly paper, The San Juan Record, published at Fair Oaks.

Dr. Arthur L. Brandon AM'27, and a Bucknell Alumni Trustee, Director of University Public Relations at the University of Michigan, is serving on the Advisory Board of the Television Research Project for San Francisco State College. The project will experiment in the teaching of four separate courses at the freshman-sophomore level. The courses will be offered in the homes by open circuit television. Also, there will be controls through similar courses in classrooms. The project is financed by the Fund for the Advancement of Education, a Ford Foundation subsidiary. Brandon, who heads Michigan's radio and television, is adviser on administration of the project.

Howard B. Shanley, of 49 E. Philadelphia Avenue, Boyertown, is a member of the Mineralogical Society of Pennsylvania. He has also been active in Boy Scouting activities since 1934 and is at present serving as vice-president of the Community Ambulance Service.

William Blaisdell writes from Lanikai, Hawaii, that he is the proud father of two sons and one daughter, William, Wallace and Venus, and at present is assistant fire chief of the Honolulu Fire Department.

George Bailey writes, "Bucknell did what she could for me in three years and let it go at that!" For the past 13 years George has served as a full-fledged banquet entertainer and speaker, having made several appearances at Bucknell during the last few years. He is living at Freeport.

We've already received replies from Stu Bean, Harry Ruhl and Helen Kunkel that they will be back for our 30th Reunion next June 8 and will serve with others as the Social Meeting Committee. Other classmates will be asked to serve on the Anniversary Book and other Committees to prepare our "Reunion L'Agenda." They will work from questionnaires that will be mailed to you shortly after January 1, 1957. We also hope to have a committee of "Area Contact Chairmen" to encourage the return of all classmates for the Commencement week-end. We would be most happy to have class members volunteer to serve on these various committees. Please mark the June 7-10 week-end on your calendar and date book and plan to spend it at Lewisburg. Plan to arrive early on Friday, June 7th. Don't worry about town housing accommodations since dormitory space will be available for you and family. You will receive more definite information about this later on. Let's try to surpass our Silver Anniversary record attendance.

29 MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
Mifflinburg, Pa.

On Palm Sunday afternoon Miss Dorothy Wagner, of Mifflinburg, and the Rev. A. Ellsworth Grove, of Selinsgrove, were married in the First Lutheran Church of Mifflinburg. Dorothy is a teacher in the Mifflinburg Joint High School. Her husband is pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church of Ridge Valley, and of Jerusalem Lutheran Church of Almont. He is a graduate of Elizabethville High School, Susquehanna University, and Philadelphia Seminary.

The Groves reside in the Lutheran parsonage at 213 Lawn Avenue, Sellersville.

Your reporter was delighted to see so many members of the Class of 1929 at the Alumni Luncheon in June. As usual, our old friends, Clyde and Dorothy Bailey (Dorothy Lemmon), were in attendance. They are really loyal Bucknellians.

Your president, Paul Fink, and your reporter are planning to send a questionnaire to all members of the class within the next several weeks. Won't you please cooperate by returning it promptly?

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
Allentown, N. J.

Charles Lee "Tex" Goodwin, a former football player at Bucknell, shot and killed himself on April 2 in a bedroom of his home at 870 Sand Ditch Road, Gibbstown, N. J. "Tex" had been in ill health since his war service in World War II where he served as a Marine major.

After leaving Bucknell, he took work at Temple, receiving a physical education degree in 1933. He then was assigned as director of recreational activities at the duPont plant in Gibbstown and in recent years had been a foreman at the plant. He was a past commander of his local V. F. W. Post and a Mason. He is survived by his wife, Ada Trego Goodwin, and three sisters, to whom sympathy is extended.

"Tex" played center on the Bisons undefeated 1929 team. Among his teammates on the '29 and '30 eleven were Lou Mutzel '31, a teacher at Chester High School; "Lefty" James '30, the present Cornell coach; Clark Hinkle '32, who went on to All-Pro fame with the Green Bay Packers; and Wilbur Ammerman '32, who still holds the Pennsylvania scholastic record of 210 points scored in 1924 while playing for Tyrone High School. Carl Snavelly was the coach. "Tex" came to Bucknell from Keystone Academy.

Mrs. William Morgenstern (Eva Mae Folsom) is teaching fourth grade, in Buffalo, N. Y.

Frank Koehler and Ann Weigold Musina will act as co-chairmen for our 25th Class Reunion on the campus, June 8-10, 1957. The area Attendance Committee will include Hulda Dimm Berkenstock, Nathaniel Glazier, Richard Hamer, Walter Hopper, Jr., Marian Ash McClain, Dorothy Jones Jones, Helen Blecher Ross, Agnes Jones Jones. Reunion Book editor will be James Stevenson, assisted by Joseph McMurray, Victor Oleyar, William Curnow, Helen Kellogg Calkins, Frances Knights. In charge of our class parade regalia, special stunts and our social meetings on the campus will be Constance Williamson Ingram, Paul Johnson, Josephine Eisenhauer Good, Elizabeth Purdy Schure and Dan Solomon. All of these folks are cordially invited to meet on the campus on Homecoming morning, October 20, along with any other members of the class who will be on the campus that day, to help plan our reunion activities.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irendale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Mrs. Marie Groff Hester, district counseling technician for the Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security, Williamsport, recently attended a meeting of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security. Marie is chairman of the administrative organization committee and also a member of the nominations and membership committees of the association. Last year she served as president of the Pennsylvania chapter.

Campbell Rutledge, Jr., 17 East Fifth Street, Corning, N. Y., was recently appointed general sales manager of the Technical Products Division of Corning Glass Works. Cam joined the industrial sales staff in 1938. He was named assistant sales manager of the laboratory and pharmaceutical department in 1944, manager of standard products sales in 1948, assistant general manager of the Technical Products Division in 1951, and assistant general manager of the Electrical Products Division in 1953. He has been general sales manager of the New Products Division since 1954.

After serving as safety director for the U. S. Armed Forces in the Far East for ten years, Thomas H. Wilkenson is back in the States again. His office is in the Pentagon, Washington, D. C., and his home is in Alexandria, Va., 1065 Quander Road.

Jim Davis accepted a call to become the Minister of Christian Education at the Olive Branch Christian (Disciples) Church, Indianapolis, Indiana, effective August 1, 1956. This church has a strong educational program, having 1500 members. (A little larger than East Lynn Christian Church at Anderson where he inaugurated the program of Christian Education in 1952). His church address is 101 E. Raymond Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Bill Liming writes that his activities in publicity, sales promotion and communications fields keep him busy. He was just elected President of the American Association of Industrial Editors, appearing as guest on Tex McCrary's "Most Important Person" TV interview program over WABD, New York City, in the spring of 1956. Also he was named to the President's Committee on Highway Safety and chosen a member of the Industrial Editors Advisory Committee of the Savings Bond Division of the U. S. Treasury Department. He and Ruth find time for local affairs, being quite active in the Couples Club of their local community church. We are proud of Bill and the frequent write-ups he gets from the staff of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS as well as from his wife, reporter for her class.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Thought I'd keep you posted on the members of our class. Wilmer Greulich was elected President of The General Alumni Association at the very wonderful meeting of Alumni in the new auditorium of the Olin Science Building. We should all be very proud of "Bill" and I know he'll do a wonderful job. I was very happy that one of our class took over the reins from my Bill who had been our Prexy for two years. All our classmates, I'm sure, wish Bill Greulich lots of luck and we know he'll get our help in Bucknell's new development program.

I saw Sherb Walker, looking as debonaire as usual, and we both chatted with Harry Fithian who, except for a few added pounds, is still tall and straight. We three met outside the Literature Building and would have felt right at home going to class.

I caught a glimpse of LeVere Leese and Helen Hoffner Simpson but never got near enough to talk with them.

I thoroughly enjoyed the weekend and know you all will enjoy our 25th reunion. Had supper with my favorite high school teacher Charles Sanders '13 and breakfast with the wonderful Horace Hildreths back from Pakistan to get an honorary degree and do hope my son, Robert 9, was properly impressed.

Leslie H. Berk has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cincinnati. Bill and I hope to see the Cincinnati folks next March when we attend the American Association of Industrial Editors convention there. Bill is President of the Association so he'll be busy but I'll go well prepared to look up all Bucknellians in that area.

When our youngsters return from camp we'll head for Northern Vermont and some fishing. I'll be back for our Long Island Freshman Reception on September 7 and then back to Lewisburg for Homecoming—hope I'll be able to greet many of you there.

35 MRS. PAUL DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Gambrills, Maryland

We hope you have had a rewarding and restful summer and that news items will start rolling in from all over the country.

An article by Harry L. Wynn, "You Can Take It With You" which appeared in the September, 1954, issue of High Fidelity magazine has been reprinted in a book, The High Fidelity Reader published recently. The article describes methods useful in bettering auto radios, an unusual phase of the high fidelity phenomenon which had previously received little attention. Harry is a meteorologist with the U. S. Weather Bureau at the Allegheny County Airport in Pittsburgh. He lives at 413 Charles St., Derry.

We had a delightful visit from Mel and Jane LeMon in April. Mel has been on his sabbatical from Wells College and is busy at work on a most original and exciting opera based on central Pennsylvania miners' folkways. We had the pleasure of pre-voicing some of the parts. Paul and I took off from our jobs to show Jane and Mel the sights of Annapolis which included a cruise on the Severn in a neighbor's cabin cruiser. Jane is busy at work putting the final touches on her master's thesis besides working hard at a grueling and responsible teaching job. This summer the LeMons have returned to Europe where they have been conducting a tour of students interested in music and the theatre.

All of you will be heartened to know that the Robert Lindner Foundation has been organized to perpetuate Bob's life work. Theodore Reik and Norman Mailer participated in a meeting in Baltimore in April memorializing Bob's contributions to psychiatry and literature. This summer I read Bob's book, "Must You Conform" and found it very stimulating.

This summer I attended a workshop in human understanding sponsored by our county board of education and the University of Maryland. Teachers of different cultures shared their experiences and attitudes. It was a new thing for many of them, but for me it was a continuation of the education so strikingly presented by Drs. Harriman, Ninkoff and Sutherland whose inspiration one could never forget.

Bucknellians will be interested to learn that the interesting series of news stories appearing in the New York Times in July and August on the developing Suez Canal situation were written by Osgood Caruthers of our class. After a career in the U. S. Army during World War II, Osgood became a foreign correspondent for Associated Press and more recently has been writing special items for the New York Times from Cairo, Egypt.

37 MR. SIGMUND STOLER
215 Chestnut Street
Sunbury, Pa.

William B. Clemens, 27 James St., Cortland, N. Y., was recently elected president of the Science Teachers Association of New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Elcome (Ruth Van Leuven) reported their address as 521 Shackamaxon Drive, Westfield, N. J. Bill was recently promoted to administrative assistant in the manufacturing department and secretary to the manufacturing committee of Socony Mobile Oil Company, Inc., at the New York head-quarter's office.

Anthony J. Flannery MS '37, retired superintendent of schools in West Mahanoy Township, Schuylkill County, died March 8 at his home in Shenandoah Heights. He formerly conducted extension courses for Bucknell in Schuylkill County.

Clyde M. Noll, Esq., his wife, (Betty Boyd '40) and their three children, Robin, 13, Jonathan, 11, and Barbara, 5, live at 1811 Springfield Ave., New Providence, N. J., where Clyde is a practicing attorney.

Carolyn I. Shaw was married Sept. 18, 1955, to Carl Freeman, Columbia '31. She reported that her husband in looking over the Bucknell brochure on Alumni Class contributions was shocked to see that the class of 1937 appeared to be a "sub-standard bunch of delinquents." She writes, "Please feel free to quote me on this."

Mrs. Thomas B. Sear (Rita Holbrook) lives with her family at 25 Edgemoor Rd., Rochester 18, N. Y. She leads a busy life keeping up with four sons, Tommy, Peter, Kevin and Brian. Her husband is a private consulting engineer.

Mrs. Kenneth S. Amish (Marie Schaff) was elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Syracuse.

Captain Frank R. More, USN, sailed July 20 from New York with his wife, daughter and two sons on the military sea transport, USN Goethals, due to arrive in Panama, July 24. Capt. More was transferred from the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., to the staff of the Commander, Caribbean Sea Frontier. He will be stationed in Panama for three years.

38 MR. IRA G. FOX, President
116 Westchester Drive
Pittsburgh 15, Pa.

Congratulations to those of our numbers who are serving in important functions in the various Alumni Clubs. It is hoped that our class can make a very real contribution to the alumni activity by increased attendance at club functions. Now for some news:

Mrs. Howard T. Meminger (Dorothy M. Blix) is serving as secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg. The Memingers live at 214 Glen St., Chambersburg.

Leon T. Kolanowski has been named manager of the Roddy Buick Company, Kingston. He has been in the automobile sales finance field for the past 15 years.

where he has held every position from adjuster to district manager.

George Porter is the new vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Mary C. VanNort is librarian at Keystone Junior College, La Plume and is most enthusiastic about her work.

George A. Allen has been made assistant credit manager of U. S. Steel's National Tube Division in Pittsburgh. George received a master's degree in Business Administration from Duquesne University in June 1955 and this past summer he attended the Graduate School of Management at Dartmouth.

Dr. Ernest S. Cramer has been elected president of the Bucknell University Alumni Club of Syracuse. Ernest is a development engineer with the Bristol Laboratories, Syracuse, N. Y. Prior to going to Syracuse, he was a research chemist at Cornell University and earned his Ph.D. degree at that school. He and his wife, Irene, live at 264 Houston Avenue, Syracuse, New York.

Clyde G. Clemens and his wife (Alice Anderson) and their two girls are still living at 714 Highland Road, Latrobe, Pa. Clyde reports that they have been busy just staying at home for the summer, with Clyde orienting himself to his new position in the sales department at Stupekoff Division of Carborundum Company.

Dr. Louis C. Zlotkin is serving as chief of obstetrics and gynecology at the Jersey Shore Hospital, Point Pleasant, New Jersey. He is also director of civil defense for Plumsted Township, New Egypt, New Jersey.

Having been transferred to Pittsburgh by Westinghouse as manager of the newly formed Atomic Fuel Department, I should now be able to contact some of our mutual friends and classmates in this area. In the interest of having a better class column in the News, please send me recent news about yourself or classmates to the above address, or telephone Pittsburgh —Sterling 2-2335.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrinal)
1492 Colfax Avenue
Benton Harbor, Michigan

Yes, we are back in Yankeeland, and as of August 15, the above is our address. (Too bad it couldn't be 1492 Columbus, but Colfax does start with "Col" and that's a "fax." I hate myself when I stoop to punning.) Jim will be teaching English and have charge of the school paper, "The Tiger," in Benton Harbor High School. He also plans to continue work on his master's degree at Notre Dame. Incidentally, we're right across Lake Michigan from Chicago, so conventioners and others bound there, detour a bit and visit us.

Bucknellians are something like the "universal solvent." I'm convinced—there's no containing them, and everywhere you go there are some lurking about. After the school term was over in Texas, I set out for Williamsport for my high school reunion (20th year). During the stopover in Washington, D. C., I eked out a visit with Tom (41) and Marion Phillips (43) Meyer and their five daughters; also Bob Maguire and his wife, the former Helen Chewy, of Larksville. Marie Roversi Tydings was out when I called, so didn't get a chance to continue from last year. . . . In Corning, N. Y., where I visited my sister and brother, a newly met acquaintance brought me up to date on Charles Catherman, who is in administration at the Bath (N. Y.) Veterans' Center. . . . Among those present at the high school reunion were the Jack Winters, who came in from Pittsburgh. Martin Alpert worked on the reunion committee, but was not at the affair, as he had just moved. His new address is 4425 Linwood Place, Riverside, California. Downtown in Williamsport I had the pleasure, also, of meeting George McGee ('38), who is a member of the staff there at Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane. I understand he is the man to know for stock investments. My presence at Merrill Lynch, etc., was purely in a sight-seeing capacity.

MARY McCLELLAND LAGO with Jane, 3, and Donald when he was 6½ weeks old last Easter Sunday.

42 MRS. THEODORE WILKINSON
(Mary C. Forrest)
329 W. Walnut St., Lancaster, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Johnson (Le Anne Boyle) now have four children, Frank, 9, Tom Jr., 6, Mary Le Anne, 2 and James, 8 months. They live at 220 W. Holly Ave., Pitman, N. J.

Donald E. Bilger, who has been a law clerk to Federal Judge R. Kirkland of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, was sworn in as an assistant United States Attorney in the district on April 17. After leaving Bucknell, Don attended the University of Colorado. He graduated first in his class at George Washington University Law School in 1954, where he received J.D. and LL.M. degrees. He served in the Armed Forces from 1940 to 1952 and was separated with the rank of lieutenant colonel. During World War II, he served as a squadron commander in the 8th Air Force in England and was shot down over Germany while on a bombing mission. He was a prisoner of war for 14 months.

He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Sigma Pi, Phi Delta Phi fraternities and the Order of the Coif and Barristers Inn. He is a member of the American Bar Association, D. C. Bar Association and the State Bar Association. He served as associate editor of the George Washington University Law Review.

Don resides with his wife and a daughter, Nancy, at 2428 Holmes Run Drive, Falls Church, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Sammel M. Newcomb (Laurel Herrmann), Primrose Trail, Mt. Kimble Lake, Morristown, N. J., announce the arrival of their third daughter, Holly Herrmann, on April 18. She joins sisters Nancy, 7 and Sally, 5.

C. Martin Neff has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York.

Margaret H. Faust became the wife of George M. Grow on June 2. Prior to her marriage she had served as secretary to the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention Executive Secretary, a position she had held for 10 years. The Grow's are living at 1994 Lycoming Avenue, Abington.

Jo Eta Fox has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York.

Our Class President, Bob Puff, is appointing committees for our Fifteenth Reunion on the campus next June 8. Be sure to stay "Yes" if and when he asks you to serve. The committees will hold a planning session at Homecoming, Oct. 20.

Westfield, N. J.

An historic event took place on June 28, the "Honor Housers of '43" had a reunion. We've had a Round Robin going for thirteen years, although it's had several long vacations in peoples' attics, but this is the first time we've attempted to get together.

The reunion was instigated by Mary Orso Johannessen and inspired by Nina Osovick Magilligan's visit East from California. Mary had us to luncheon at her home in Morris Plains, New Jersey, and ten out of the original fourteen were able to get there. Billie Poling Roy was absent due to the arrival of her sixth baby (a girl whom they named Treva) in May. That makes three of each for Billie, and she holds the record for the largest family. Also missing were Marilyn Eppley Shaffer who lives in Illinois, and Sara Chubb Schaaf who is with her husband in the service.

Some statistics were rather interesting. We have produced a total of 36 children which makes an average of 2.8 young'uns apiece. Only one is having a career for herself and that is Jane Griffith who is in the advertising department of Life Magazine. Most of us live in New Jersey—nine to be exact, with Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York, Illinois and California claiming the rest.

I am writing this from the shores of Lake Balch in New Hampshire, so of course I am without any of the notes I have collected at home. I'll gather them together for the next issue. There aren't many, though, so how about dropping me a line about your doings this summer?

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, Butler, R. D., N. J.

In all the bustle of getting the children ready to go back to school, you just can't help but think of the few wonderful years when we were returning to Bucknell about now. My eagerness wasn't always with education in mind, but the thought of getting back to Pardoe's, Holtzapple's lime cokes, the Four-Mile, Bob Baker, and the friendships that have continued, if only by mail, these past 12 years. With such nostalgia, my age must be showing, so I'd best get to the news.

Talked with Louise Terrett after she returned from Europe in June. She phoned from Margie Swigert Kiehl's en route home to Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mendes 3rd (Ruth Smith) report they completed their new home on Brook Drive Kirkover Hills, Camden, S. C., in May.

Also in their new home on Mullen Rd., R. D. 1, Ambler, are Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Harris '39 (Sybil J. Kealey) and son, Henry William.

Gene Levitt has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cincinnati.

Dottie Heller is with the Sabena Belgian World Airlines in Philadelphia.

Capt. and Mrs. Eugene J. Millikin (Mary Straus) and son, Dick, have moved into their new home at 200 9th Ave., S. E., Glen Burnie, Md.

Henry B. Puff has been promoted to district sales manager for the Chicago sales office of the Durez Plastics Division of the Hooker Electrochemical Company. Henry started with the company as a chemist following his graduation from Bucknell, transferring to the sales department in 1947. He has two children, James R., 5 and Margaret 3 years old. Since leaving Bucknell, Henry says, "Been working hard and having a great deal of fun besides."

This isn't much to report since the last ALUMNUS, so how about some news? We all love to hear from YOU!

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Avenue
Basking Ridge, New Jersey

Class notes are brief this time, and just this once I am glad for I wish to include a special message to Nancy Woehling Moore. Speaking for myself, but perhaps more properly speaking for our whole class, "Thank you very much for your service to all of us in helping each of us to keep informed of the activities of friends and classmates of '45. We have welcomed your news and appreciate your time and effort. Well done!" And as for the rest of you '45ers, I shan't be able to fill either Nancy's shoes or Nancy's column unless each of you will be responsible for letting me know when nice things like new babies, new jobs, new homes, or new honors come your way.

A new honor has come to Mrs. Robert B. Bartlow (Anne Gerhard). She has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

New babies warmly welcomed and proudly announced include the following: A third son, Glenn Martin, on March 25, to Dr. and Mrs. John B. Swarhout (Dorothy F. Porter). It's also a third son, William David, May 17, for the Thomas J. Paddens (Barbara Dyer). Their address is 971 Oxford Boulevard, Steubenville, Ohio. And Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boston (Lois Depuy), 415 Birch Place, Westfield, New Jersey, have sent word of Danny and David's new sister Suzanne, born on May 31. Congratulations to all of these little "thirds."

Now then, if the above doesn't seem like much news to you, although it is all that has been received, what have you been doing? Please.

(Editor's note)—With this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS we extend thanks to Nancy Woehling Moore for her years of service as Class Reporter and welcome Sylvia Cliffe Williamson to the interesting job. Like most Bucknellians, Sylvia must sandwich her class reporting into many other activities such as looking after three daughters, operating a household in suburban New Jersey for husband Burr Williamson, a fire protection engineer, the usual community services of Red Cross, Community Chest, Church activities, with a measure of gardening and bowling. With such a program Sylvia must depend on you to send the class news to her. Don't be bashful—she'll be glad to serve you well as class reporter if you do your part.

MRS. ROSSITER, DAUGHTER KAREN LOUISE AND C. BRUCE ROSSITER

Bruce Rossiter '56 Joins Staff

Since July 2, an additional greeter has joined the Alumni Headquarters staff. He is C. Bruce Rossiter, a June graduate in the Commerce and Finance course.

Of course, Bruce will be doing many things besides greeting you. Following the announcement of his appointment by President Odgers as Assistant Alumni Secretary and Assistant Editor of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, he has been working in all three areas of alumni activities: Club Program, Magazine, and Alumni Fund.

Bruce graduated in 1948 from Sunbury High School where he was active in the band. He attended Bucknell until 1951 when he entered the Army serving in Europe in the Army Security Agency. He returned to civilian life in 1954 and spent a year with Armstrong Cork Company in Lancaster. He reentered Bucknell in February, 1955, and was awarded the Bachelor of Science degree this past June.

Married in 1952 to the former Doris Louise Shultz (Sunbury High School '52), the Rossiters have one daughter, Karen Louise, now three years old. During the past year they lived in Bucknell Village but have recently established their home at 27 N. Eighth St., Lewisburg.

Bruce will be seeing you soon on the alumni club circuit. In the meantime, please stop in to greet him at Alumni Headquarters, Ground Floor, East College, when you next visit the campus.

THE EIGHTH FUND REPORT - 1955-1956

The 1955-1956 Fund established new high marks in every category of Fund measurement when the Eighth Fund Year closed on June 30, 1956.

HERE ARE THE RESULTS, with the previous year's figures for comparison:

	1954-55	1955-56	Percent of Increase
Number of Gifts	3,205	3,340	4.2%
Total Dollar Gifts	$34,159.46	$39,210.27	14.8%
Average Dollar Gift	$10.55	$11.74	11.2%

Most classes showed a healthy growth. How did your class stand? Which classes will share the honor of having their Class Numeral Banners flying over the stadium on Homecoming Day? The answers to these and other questions will be published in the Eighth Annual Report of the Bucknell Alumni Fund, which will reach you by mail. Be on the look-out for this interesting booklet.

The Cover Pictures—

The boys from Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the girls from Carey House nosed by all competitors as their float in the annual Homecoming parade won first place honors. The theme, "Let's Skunk 'Em," backfired as that dangerous little critter, the skunk, turned his tail the wrong way and the Leopards from Lafayette shaded the Bisons for a 13 to 7 victory.

HOMECOMING FEATURES DEDICATION OF FREAS-ROOKE SWIMMING POOL

Bucknell's football loss to Lafayette 13-7, failed to dampen the spirit of the Homecoming fans in their enjoyable reunions with old friends and classmates.

The curtain rose on the weekend festivities Friday evening when a capacity crowd assembled in Bucknell's newest addition to the physical plant, the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, to view an impressive aquatic show and dedication ceremonies.

The aquatic show featured the evolution of swimming by a group of Bucknell male students, synchronized swimming by Bucknell coeds, scuba diving by Mr. Robert Kerper of Reading, a freestyle relay race, and a diving demonstration by Miss Diane Lewis and Mr. Chris Keller of the University of Pennsylvania; Douglas R. Forsyth; and Bruce O. Hutchinson, both Bucknell students.

President Merle M. Odgers presided at the dedication exercises while Dr. Joseph W. Henderson, chairman of the Board of Trustees, expressed the thanks of the University to Mr. A. Guy Freas and Mr. Robert L. Rooke for their generous gift.

Festivities in Full Swing

Attendance at the Bison Club Breakfast again exceeded past records, over 100 Bison rooters being present. More and more lady Bisons (Bisonettes to you) are gracing the Bison Breakfast Board. After a substantial breakfast, President Jay P. Mathias introduced Dr. Joseph W. Henderson, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, who paid a glowing compliment to Dr. Odgers, Bucknell's President, who is leading the entire Bucknell Family forward as a smooth-working team.

Following the self-introduction of guests, the assembled Bisons heard athletic reports from Albert Humphreys, Director of Athletics; Harry Hulmes, Athletic Publicity, and Coaches Bus Blum; Ben Kribbs; Bob Latour; Bill Wrabley and Harry Lawrence, head coach of football.

Following the Bison Club breakfast at the Lewisburg Club, Alumni, students, and local citizenry stationed themselves along the route of the homecoming parade. A warm sun which broke through an early morning overcast greeted the spectators as the parade, under ROTC direction, moved promptly at 10 a. m. The parade included The Bison Band of Bucknell, five high school bands, officials of various organizations, and fraternity-sorority floats. Those fraternities, sororities, and independents represented were as follows: Roberts Hall; Lambda Chi Alpha and Pi Beta Phi; Tau Kappa Epsilon and Alpha Chi Omega; Phi Kappa Psi and Delta Delta Delta; Phi Lambda Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma; Kappa Delta Rho and Alpha Phi; Delta Upsilon and Alpha Sigma Alpha; Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Mu; Swartz Hall; Phi Gamma Delta and Kappa Delta; Sigma Alpha Mu and 3rd Larison; Sigma Chi and Independent Women; Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Carey House; and Theta Chi and Delta Zeta.

The float winning first prize was the SAE fraternity—Carey House float with second and third prizes going to Theta Chi—Delta Zeta and Lambda Chi Alpha—Pi Beta Phi respectively. Prizes for house decorations were won by Edwards House, Carey House, and Owens House in that order.

Always a big feature of any homecoming is the selection of a homecoming queen. This year a pretty brunette, Miss Barbara L. Sheffield, a senior from Wilmington, Del., was chosen by student vote and reigned as queen for the weekend. In the parade she rode on a huge float surrounded by a court of 7 girls representing the four classes.

All-Alumni Luncheon

After the parade it was on to Davis Gymnasium for a delicious lunch and a rousing pep rally under the direction of Allen Flock, director of The Bison Band of Bucknell. With the band blasting away and the cheerleaders whooping it up, the crowd caught fire with a spirit that was to be carried to the gridiron and produce a near-upset victory over the favored Leopards from Lafayette.

With full stomachs and a determined spirit the Alumni moved from the gym to the football field where they were to see not only a thrilling football game, but the Bison's finest performance of the season. Although the gridgers played their best, their efforts fell short of beating the boys from Easton and Lafayette carried away a 13 to 7 victory.

As the stadium emptied Alumni again wound their way back to Davis Gymnasium for the Bison Roundup and Reception where everyone rallied over pretzels and cider to renew old memories and acquaintances.

All-Campus Dance

Another aquatic show and the all-campus dance featured the evening entertainment. Mal Arter '49 and his orchestra supplied the music while at intermission Lee Rankin '57, the master of ceremonies, presided over the inter-fraternity song contest and the presentation of trophies to the homecoming queen, the float winners, and the house decoration wimmers. Delta Upsilon took first place in the song contest with Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Chi tying for second place and Phi Lambda Theta placing third.

The weekend was by far one of the most successful homecoming weekends ever to be held on these 300 acres.

Doctors for Bucknell

Sixty persons sat down to the Fourth Annual Dinner of Doctors For Bucknell Friday evening of Homecoming Weekend, enjoyed a delicious steak dinner in the Women's Dining Hall, heard an excellent address by Dr. Gordon L. Brownell '43, Assistant in Physics and Head of Physics Research Laboratory of Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, and contributed more than eleven hundred dollars to the support of the Bucknell University Department of Biology.

Business accomplished included the re-election of the officers who served for the past year, namely, Dr. Albert J. Abbott '29, Nanticoke, president; Dr. Cornelius E. Sedgwick '36, Boston, vice president; Roger H. Bowman of the biology department, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Merle G. Colvin '24, Williamsport, was appointed by President Abbott to serve on the executive committee along with the present officers and Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15, Lewisburg and Dr. W. F. Darkes '27 of Orwigsburg.

About one half of those in attendance were pre-medical students who were guests of 20 doctors who purchased tickets for the dinner, but were unable to be present. Those doctors included John A. Anthony '43, William H. Bachman '49, Loren P. Bly '33, Stewart F. Brewen '26, James J. Colavita '33, Harold N. Cole '06, J. Lamar Davis '32, Tilman H. Foust '34, Robert L. Gatski '44, Sybil D. Haire '44, Allen E. Hamburg '39, Lois M. Henneberger '43, Isaac Humphrey '22, Eurifryn Jones '26, Carl G. Kapp '25,

A. P. King '21, E. Kirby Lawson, Jr. '32, H. S. Mauser '03, Robert E. Nicodemus '25, Vincent S. Palmisano '37, David R. Rothrock '40 and George S. Stevenson '15.

Doctors present, in addition to the officers listed above, included Merle G. Colvin '24, Ray G. Dags '26, Kurt Manrodt '39, Robert C. Puff '42, Joseph Weightman '37 and Earl P. Wickerham '43.

Also present as guests were Dr. D. L. Ranck, vice president and director of development and Mrs. Ranck, the staff of the biology department and Mrs. Roscoe D. Brownell, mother of Dr. Brownell.

At an executive committee meeting held immediately following the dinner it was decided that the biology department would submit to the executive committee a list of the items of equipment it needed and so far as possible the funds on hand would be used to acquire new equipment. For the present, at least, the project for the purchase of cases to house the Davis Collection has been withdrawn.

Bucknell Engineers

The second annual dinner of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association was held at the Lewisburg Club on Saturday evening, October 20, with approximately 100 persons attending. The meeting was in charge of the association's president, Lester Lighton '20.

Dr. George A. Irland '15, chairman of electrical engineering department, reported on progress made in the engineering departments at Bucknell during the past year.

The Homecoming Queen and her court in the parade.

John B. Miller '26, professor of electrical engineering, and secretary of the organization, introduced the new members of the teaching staff including: Captain Herbert F. Eckberg, professor of mechanical engineering; Marlin L. Sheridan '43, associate professor of civil engineering; Honer E. Webb '50, assistant professor of electrical engineering; Donald E. Wagner '27, assistant professor of engineering drawing; Franklin J.

Ahimaz MS'53, instructor in mechanical engineering. Also named were Col. Bernard Smith, assistant professor of civil engineering; Robert R. Dederer '53, instructor in mechanical engineering, and James E. Gorman, assistant instructor in electrical engineering, who were not present at the dinner.

Professor Miller then called on President Merle M. Odgers, who presented Admiral Elliott B. Strauss, the new director of engineering, and Dr. Joseph W. Henderson '08; Dr. Elmer K. Bolton '08; Dr. Evan W. Ingram '20; Mr. Kenneth W. Slifer '26; and Dr. Franklin D. Jones '19 of the board of trustees.

Admiral Strauss discussed the future hopes and needs of the engineering departments and Dr. Earl M. Richards '13, announced the winner of the $100 prize in the name contest. The winner is George D. Krotchko, a former staff member.

The members present approved the by-laws of the organization as originally developed by Campbell Rutledge '33 and Frank Gerlitz '34 and somewhat modified by the executive committee as a whole.

The formal opening of Bucknell's 111th academic year took place September 26 when Chief Justice Warren addressed a capacity audience in Davis Gymnasium.

Chief Justice Warren directed his remarks to the student body of approximately 2,000 urging them to become interested in their government, "not after you have made a success in business because that might be too late—but now! It is something one cannot afford to postpone," he declared. In the main, Chief Justice Warren spoke of education in the light of its affects on the world.

Describing the Chief Justice as "a student of politics in the best sense of the term," Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, dean of the University presented Justice Warren for the honorary degree of doctor of civil law. President Merle M. Odgers conferred the degree.

Lawrence O. Mumford, librarian of congress, was also honored by the University as President Odgers conferred the honorary degree of doctor of civil law to him at the convocation exercises. Dr. Mumford addressed an evening audience on the subject, "An Expedition to the Sources of History."

And Business Too

Not all of the several thousand Bucknellians who visited the campus Homecoming Weekend devoted their time to football and entertainment. As has been true the past few years, an increasing number devoted a part of Homecoming Weekend to business meetings. On Friday evening the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association met until a late hour considering plans for expansion of University alumni services on many fronts, notably the alumni club program, THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS publication schedule and the Bucknell Alumni Annual Giving Program.

On Saturday morning, classes whose numerals end in "2" and "7" discussed preparations for regular five-year reunions scheduled for June 1957.

The Committee on Nomination for Alumni Trustee met and selected three women candidates who will be balloted upon in the nation-wide election in April 1957. The Alumni Awards Committee also met Saturday morning to study the achievements of Bucknell alumni and to select candidates to receive three alumni awards to be made in June 1957.

New Faculty Join the Bucknell Family

The Bucknell family welcomed to its ranks this fall twenty-three new faculty members. Of these twenty-three there is included one professor, nine assistant professors and ten instructors.

The chemistry department welcomed two new assistant professors to its fold. A 1951 graduate of Bucknell University and a graduate of Rutgers University where he received his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees, Dr. Harry H. Blecker came here from the University of Michigan where he was doing post doctoral research. Dr. Philip M. Gundry who received his doctorate from the Royal College of Science in London joined the campus family from Princeton where he was a research assistant.

The engineering department accounts for the most new faces among faculty additions this year with a total of seven. In the civil engineering field Dr. Marlin L. Sheridan and Bernard Smith entered as associate professors. Dr. Sheridan, a graduate of Bucknell in 1943, came to the campus from Martin Aircraft in Baltimore, Md., where he was a design specialist. He received his M.S.E. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Michigan. Bernard Smith, who has taught at both the University of Iowa and Lafayette College, is a graduate of Polytechnic Institute. He has a record of 30 years service in the corps of engineers of the U. S. Army.

Mr. Honer Webb joined the electrical engineering staff as an assistant professor. Mr. Webb is a graduate of Bucknell in the Class of 1950 and the University of Michigan where he received his M.S. in engineering.

The mechanical engineering staff claimed two new instructors, Franklin J. Ahimaz and Robert R. Dederer, and a professor, Capt. H. F. Eckberg. Capt. Eckberg is a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy and the University of California. He has done graduate work at the Naval War College in Newport, R. I., and has held positions such as director of intelligence on the Staff of the Commander in Chief, Caribbean Command, and director of the Venezuelan Naval Academy. Mr. Ahimaz returned from his native India where he had been employed with an important business firm. He received his B.S. in engineering from Trancavore University, India, in 1950 and was awarded his master's degree by Bucknell in 1953. Mr. Dederer, a 1953 Bucknell graduate, returned to the campus after serving two years in the U. S. Army and prior employment with Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Mr. Donald Wagner, a Bucknell graduate of 1927, joined the engineering department in the capacity of instructor. He teaches mechanical drawing. In 1932 he received from his alma mater the professional degree of electrical engineer. For the past eight years he has been a communications advisor to the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association.

Three new instructors have joined the English department. Dr. Karl W. Patten, a graduate of Williams College and Boston University where he received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees, has taught at Boston University as an instructor from 1952 to 1954. Richard J. Weinman, a graduate of Indiana University and Columbia University where he received his M.A. degree, has been director of dramatics at Temple Isaiah, Forest Hills, N. Y., and director of Kew Gardens Community Theatre, Kew Gardens, N. Y. Philip M. Withim, a graduate of Fordham University, was a librarian for the New York Public Library from 1949 until 1955 and has recently taught at New York University.

One new instructor joined the mathematics team, and he is Boyd Earl. A graduate of Wilkes College, Mr. Earl studied at Bucknell in two summer terms and for the past four years he has taught mathematics in the Forty Fort High School.

Dr. Jerome Richfield joined the Bucknell family from the University of Cincinnati where he was a research associate in philosophy. Dr. Richfield received his A.B. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Cincinnati and has joined the philosophy department as an associate professor.

Mr. Robert A. Latour, Bucknell's new swimming and freshman football coach, entered into his new duties from Bethlehem Central Schools in Albany, N. Y. Mr. Latour attended Syracuse University, received his B.A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University, and his M.S. from Springfield College. He joined the physical education department as an instructor.

Dr. Vadim G. Drozin entered the physics department as an assistant professor. Dr. Drozin, who has studied and taught in both Russia and Germany, has been engaged for the past four years in a research project for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission at Columbia University and is considered one of the country's foremost atomic scientists. He received his Ph.D. from Columbia University.

Welcomed to the religion department as assistant professor is Dr. Robert M. Murphy. Dr. Murphy is a graduate of the University of Rochester and has received his doctorate from the Divinity School of the University of Chicago. Dr. Murphy has been departmental assistant at Colgate, fellow in theology at the University of Chicago, assistant to the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Chicago, and associate professor of philosophy and religion at West Liberty State College in West Virginia.

A new addition to the geography and geology department is George Theokritoff who joins the faculty as an instructor. Mr. Theokritoff taught at Mount Holyoke College for the past two years. A graduate of the Royal College of Science at the University of London, where he also obtained his master's degree and has begun work on his doctorate, Mr. Theokritoff was engaged as a professional geologist in Ontario, Canada, for five years and was on the faculty of the University of Western Ontario for one year before accepting the post at Mount Holyoke.

Dr. Helmut R. Wagner, a graduate of the New School for Social Research, has joined the staff of the sociology department as assistant professor. Dr. Wagner has been a teacher and lecturer at the School for four years and has also served as a research assistant for the Institute of World Affairs.

Major William K. Blanchard, a graduate of Kent State University, 1st Lieutenant Neil L. O'Keefe, a graduate of Santa Clara University, and 1st Lieutenant David H. Seabourne of Temple University all join the military science department as assistant professors. SFC David H. Silvernail has been named an instructor.

Five members of the faculty have been granted a full year leave of absence. They are: Harold W. Heine, Harvey M. Powers, Jr., Robert E. Slonaker, Jr., Donald H. Voss, and Bennett R. Wilford, Jr.

Sabbatical leaves of absence have been granted to two faculty members. During the first semester Phillip L. Harriman will be on leave; and Adolf I. Frantz will take a sabbatical leave of absence during the second semester.

Four faculty members have returned to the campus this fall from leaves of absence. They are: Bernard O. Bogert, Beatrice E. Gonzales, Neil E. Shiffler, and John S. Whentcroft.

Mrs. Palmer M. Way '10 Receives High Honor

SARA RAY WAY '10

A high honor came to Mrs. Palmer Martin Way, Sr. of Wildwood Crest, New Jersey, at the 65th Annual Continental Congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution held in Washington, D. C. when she was elected a Vice President General of the national society.

Mrs. Way (Sara Ray '10) has a record of distinguished services in her local chapter, as State Regent and on many state and national committees of the DAR. She has served in many civic organizations in her own community; as president of the Board of Education for eighteen years, president of the Wildwood Woman's Club and chairman of District Federation Committees, Cape May County Red Cross chairman of Hospital Services, and as Gray Lady at the Army Hospital in Atlantic City during the war.

Member of her county and state historical societies, she has been appointed by two New Jersey governors as a member of the Advisory Council of the State Museum and on the New Jersey Commission for Displaced Persons. At the Vineland, New Jersey Training School she is vice president of the Board of Visitors and is a member of the Board of Governors at the Burdette Tomlin Memorial Hospital in Cape May County.

Affiliations in patriotic societies include the New Jersey Daughters of Colonial Wars, Pennsylvania Chapter of Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century, and the New Jersey Society of Colonial Dames of America. While at Bucknell she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Daughter of a Baptist minister she has always been active in the church.

With this impressive list of active memberships and civic duties one may wonder that Sara has had so much time to devote to her family. Her husband, the late Palmer M. Way, Sr., was also a member of the Bucknell Class of 1910 and for many years was a lawyer serving as a District Court Judge for several terms. A son, Palmer Jr. (Princeton and Harvard Law School), also a lawyer and Mayor of Wildwood Crest since 1949, served during the war as a First Lieutenant in the Air Corps. He and his wife, the former Virginia Durell (Holyoke '40) are the parents of three children.

Line Holds Key to Success of '56 Bucknell Eleven

DON KOPPES

After the first four games of 1956 it is still difficult to predict the eventual record of the Bucknell football team. It may be safe to state, however, that at the moment an even split in the eight contests would be most satisfactory. Remaining on the schedule at this writing are undefeated Lafayette, Temple, Buffalo and always powerful Colgate. Lafayette and Buffalo are to be met at Lewisburg. Temple and Buffalo may have to be touched for whatever victories are to be gained.

Many observers were misled into believing that the Bisons would show a stiff defense throughout the season when they opened with 13-0 and 17-7 wins over Albright and Gettysburg, respectively. The starved Albright Lions, still winless after four contests, threatened several times but failed to score, mainly because the Herd kept possession of the pigskin and ran almost twice as many plays as their rivals.

A week later, Bucknell yielded a 68-yard touchdown gallop to Gettysburg's Frank Capitani in the first quarter, then tightened up and never permitted the Bullets to penetrate too deeply into scoring territory. In both of these early conquests the defense was hailed as being superior to the offense—but maybe that could be attributed to the fact that it had less to do. The Bisons were able to maintain control of the ball against both foes.

Came the Lehigh game and the dawn, simultaneously. While the attack improved a bit over its initial showings it wasn't able to hold on to the ball for prolonged periods. As a matter of fact, it fumbled the ball away twice to result eventually in Engineer touchdowns. But the line proved the biggest disappointment, failing to contain a Lehigh eleven that had been routed by Delaware, 33-7, the previous week. With quarterback Dan Nolan and halfback Bob Naylor spearheading the assault, the Engineers worked 84 plays to Bucknell's 51 and netted 208 yards on the ground. They always seemed to be able to grind out those important yards that meant first down and continued possession.

This provided the tip-off on what to expect at Newark against Delaware. The Blue Hens didn't disappoint, rolling through the Herd for 252 yards on the ground, en route to a 26-7 decision, against Lafayette, who knows, at this writing?

There have been reasons for the power failure up front. As will happen to any squad that has little depth, the Bisons have been hampered by injuries. Only 34 boys reported for practice on September 1, and that, less the infirm, has been the team.

Veteran end Bill Reilly was the first to be cancelled out, banging up an ankle before the Penn scrimmage to such an extent that he hasn't drilled since. Others to be sidelined for indefinite periods include promising sophomore quarterback Lee Davis, who tore ligaments in his leg prior to the Lehigh game, and starting guard Gene Meenan, who twisted a knee during a passing drill the same week. Davis is probably out for the season, while Meenan, whose absence was felt during the losses to Lehigh and Delaware, may be back in time to face Temple.

All has not been grave, however. The backfield, which got off to such an inauspicious start, may have righted itself with the rapid development of halfbacks Bill Ross and Jack Brothers. In the first two games the attack, of necessity, had to be all Don Koppes. That the sturdy fullback was equal to the task was apparent by the results of those contests.

Koppes, a senior who gobbled up 374 yards as Bob Ford's sub a year ago, lugged the leather no fewer than 52 times in those early outings. To date he's made 78 carries and picked up 373 yards. To say that Don's the main cog in the Bucknell attack would be a gross understatement. He is also a defensive mainstay at his linebacker spot and by season's end he will undoubtedly prove himself to be the team's most valuable performer.

Anything that Koppes does is not unexpected. It has remained for Ross and Brothers to supply the surprises. Both started to warm up against Lehigh. They were sizzling against Delaware, especially on the defense where they bowled over blockers and dumped Blue Hen ball carriers time after time when they seemed about to break loose and go all the way. From now on they should be able to provide vital halfback support for Koppes, who can be relieved of some of the offensive pressure.

Bucknell's First Swim Team

The recent construction of the Freas-Rooke Pool on the Bucknell campus will make it possible for the school to form its first swimming team. Four intercollegiate meets have been arranged for the Bisons, with home dates scheduled for Wednesday, February 6, against Delaware, and Tuesday, February 19, when Gettysburg will be the opponent. Coach Bob Latour expects to get practice underway by November 12. In addition to the varsity competition, the pool will also be the scene of intramural activity during the winter months.

Frosh Gridders Split First Two

Coach Bob Latour's freshman football team got away to an auspicious start by bowling over Franklin and Marshall, 37-13, on October 5 at Lancaster. Quarterback Dennis Cox, Baltimore, Md., scored one touchdown and passed to end Ken Russo, Montclair, N. J., for another. Halfbacks Don Hayes, Stroudsburg, and Ray Hettche, Baltimore, Md., each tallied once, while fullback George Salinger, Harrisburg, accounted for a pair of six-pointers.

As impressive as the yearling Bisons looked in the opener they did a complete turnabout while dropping a 24-14 decision to Gettysburg at Lewisburg on October 12. Whatever the record they may compile as frosh there's still some promising varsity material on the squad. Most of the boys are big and fast and lend encouragement for Bucknell's football future.

BU Soccermen Defeat Temple

The early play of Coach Hank Peters' soccer team was featured by a 2-1 triumph over Temple University on October 5 at Lewisburg. It was the first time since 1937 that the Blue and Orange booters had whipped the Owls. George Dowden, a senior from Ridley Park, notched both of the Bisons' goals, the second breaking a 1-1 deadlock with eight minutes to play. Goalie Lee Hamilton, a senior from Marion, Ohio, played a stellar game in front of the nets for Bucknell, repelling numerous Temple threats.

Penn State's N. C. A. A. champions handed the Bisons a 7-0 setback in their opener on September 29, at University Park. Following the Temple victory Coach Peters herded his boys down to Chestertown, Md. for a tussle with Washington College on October 13. After two overtime periods the contest wound up a scoreless tie. Once again Lee Hamilton excelled protecting the Bisons' goal.

Bucknell Dribblers Commence Drills

Coach Benton Kribbs issued a call for varsity basketball candidates on October 15. At that time preparations were to begin for the 22-game schedule that opens on December 1 at Ithaca, N. Y., against Cornell. Once again the Bisons will participate in the Hofstra Tournament at Hempstead, N. Y., on December 27, 28, 29 and 30. Nine home contests are listed for the 1956-57 campaign.

Membership Grows in New Twenty-Five Year Club

Eighteen faculty members, fifteen members of the administration and nineteen maintenance employees who have served Bucknell University for 25 years or more were recently honored at ceremonies held on the campus. President Merle M. Odgers acted as master of ceremonies at a gathering of administrative and maintenance employees while Dr. William H. Coleman presided over a meeting of the faculty.

Faculty members honored were Dr. Charles M. Bond, religion; Prof. Clyde E. Burgee, economics; Dr. Gladys E. Cook, French; Prof. Warren D. Garman, mechanical engineering; Prof. John S. Retired members of the maintenance staff who were honored included Charles DeWire, Ralph Kline, Ira Crabh, Thomas Clay, Mrs. Maude Leitzel, Edward Yost, John O. Lucas, Edward Sheary, and Mrs. Estella Morrison.

Bucknell Fathers Elect President

Walter Freund, of Scarsdale, N. Y., was elected president of the Bucknell University Fathers Association when Dad's Day was observed on the campus October 6.

Mr. Freund, vice president of the Chemical Bank and Trust Company of New York City, is the father of Gladys Freund, a Bucknell senior.

Directors of the Fathers Association, at their annual business meeting, voted to earmark all contributions made by Bucknell parents during the coming year to the University's endowment fund to increase faculty salaries.

The fathers were guests of honor at a dinner in Davis Gymnasium attended by 1,000 parents and students following the Bucknell-Lehigh football game.

Bucknell Review

The May issue of the Bucknell Review contains three articles, each in a different area of intellectual interest. The first, "E. E. Cummins' Him", is by Dr. Robert E. Maurer, formerly assistant professor of English at Bucknell, who now holds the same position at Antioch College. Dr. Maurer describes the characters, plot, intention, and the critics' reception of Cummins' only play. In this play, the theme of which is freedom for the artist, Cummins was trying to release drama from the confines of the proscenium stage. He was also trying to enrich the dialogue and the action by the symbolic use of language, objects, and settings. His experiments not only puzzled and repulsed most of the critics of the day, but still create difficulties for the reader. Readers of this article who are familiar with Cummins' poetry, but who have not read Him, will be stimulated to read it; those who have read Him will find that the article will help them to understand it.

The second article, "Transfer of Training in the Humanities," is by Eugene L. Gaier and Ray Love, both of whom are assistant professors of psychology at Louisiana State University. It purports to examine two questions:

1. What effects upon the student's future behavior accrue from studying the great works of the past?
2. What instructional conditions are necessary for the realization, if any, of these potential beneficial effects?

The authors agree that the humanities "represent a potentially rich field of reference for the student" which may help him develop socially desirable concepts, attitudes and values, but they do not answer their first question—unless a citation of a New York Regent's inquiry on the transfer effects of a whole educational program and another on the effects of teaching honesty in Sunday School be evidence for "the humanities." As for their second question, they agree that the probability of beneficial effects on the student's behavior through study of the humanities will be increased if:

1. The educational objectives of courses are relevant to life situations.
2. The objectives of the courses are obtained.
3. The student is afforded opportunity to examine concepts and values in a variety of contexts.

All of these goals seem sound. Unfortunately, the article raises important and dark questions of interest to teachers of the humanities, but fails to illuminate them.

The third article "The Cession of Florida and John Quincy Adams, Secretary of State, U. S. A." is by Lester Harris (Bucknell '11).

Admiral Strauss Heads Engineering Department

Rear Admiral Elliott B. Strauss, U. S. N. retired, has been appointed director of engineering at Bucknell University, where he assumed his new duties September 1.

Admiral Strauss succeeds Rear Admiral Ernest M. Eller, who became Bucknell's first director of engineering last year and who has been recalled to active duty by the Navy to serve in Washington, D. C., as director of naval history.

Bucknell's new engineering director was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1923 and was retired by the Navy last year after 32 years of active service which included important commands in both European and Asiatic waters during World War II.

After the war, he was attached to the Military Staff Committee of the United Nations and then commanded the new Anti Aircraft Cruiser Fresno. Later, he attended the Imperial Defense College in London and served in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations before assuming command of a destroyer flotilla.

From 1952 until 1955 he served with the U. S. Delegation to NATO in Paris as Director of the Defense Programs Division and later represented the U. S. Department of Defense in Europe for the regulation of East-West trade in strategic materials.

Admiral Strauss was decorated several times for his services to his country and was honored by the British and French governments as well.

Married and the father of four children, Admiral Strauss now lives in Lewisburg. Both he and Admiral Eller represented the University at a conference on "Engineering Education and Nuclear Energy" at Gatlinburg, Tenn., Sept. 5 to 8, sponsored by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

English Department Prepares Reading List

In 1956 a written examination for all majors in English was instituted by the English Department. A reading list to guide the majors had been distributed the previous year.

Last spring the department made available, to all students in the University, a more general reading list in literature.

Alumni also may get, free of charge, the special list for majors or the general list by writing the Alumni Office.

Attorney-at-Law in Orlando, Florida. The importance of the cession to the United States, the difficulty of the negotiation caused by some clever dealing on the part of the Spanish negotiator, and the diplomatic skill of John Quincy Adams are described in considerable detail.

AMONG THE CLUBS

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—A reception for incoming freshmen was held at the Watchung Presbyterian Church on Watchung Avenue in Bloomfield, N. J. on September 9, 1956.

Many members of the alumni association were present to welcome the freshmen and their parents.

Charles T. Farrow, Jr. '26, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey, was chairman of the meeting. Following the welcoming address, the meeting was turned over to Daniel Rothenmel '38, vice principal of Fairlawn High School, who acted as moderator for the discussion period. The freshmen were divided into two discussion groups. Members of the men's panel were Ray Leseth '59, Glen Rock; Homer Wieder, Jr. '58, Plainfield; Ken Louoff '57, South Orange.

The women's panel consisted of Sally Miller '59, Summit; Ruth Heidemann '58, Montclair; Elizabeth Kilbury '59, Verona; Ginny Emmitt '59, Madison, with Dorothy Slikin '58, Bloomfield, acting as moderator.

After the discussion period, refreshments were served by the refreshment committee, headed by Robert List '40.

Approximately 100 freshmen, parents and alumni attended this interesting and highly successful meeting.

Our next meeting of the year was held at the Friar Tuck Inn in Cedar Grove, N. J., on Friday, October 5, 1956. After a social hour, and a delicious chicken dinner our president, Charles Farrow, Jr., '26, conducted a brief business meeting.

The meeting was then turned over to Robert List '48, program director, who presented the speakers of the evening; former football players from 1910 to 1956, who entertained and amused us with humorous anecdotes from their personal football experiences. Those who spoke were Edgar Snyder '11, a representative of Bucknell's early football; Eugene Hubka '47, former pro-football player and present coach of Plainfield High School; Chet Dawson '48, coach of East Orange High School; and Burt Talmadge '55, who presented the "younger generation's" viewpoint.

The final guest speaker of the evening was Jay P. Mathias '35, president of the Bison Club, who spoke on present day football activities, and Bucknell's Athletic Aid Program. We then saw moving pictures of the 1956 Bucknell-Gettysburg game. The winning ticket for the door prize—two tickets on the 50 yard line for the Bucknell Homecoming game with Lafayette on October 20, was held by William Ernst '49, of Bloomfield. There were 130 Bucknellians present to make this our most successful meeting.

PITTSBURGH LUNCHEON MOVES

The weekly luncheon meetings of the Pittsburgh alumni group have been moved to the Kaufman Department Store, 11th Floor Dining Room, Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh.

The time of the luncheon remains the same which is every Friday at noon.

A cordial invitation to all Bucknellians to attend the weekly luncheons is extended by Floyd L. Arbogast, Jr. '40, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania.

READING—The Reading Alumni Club held its fourth successful Freshman Reception at the Wyomissing Club in Reading, Pa., September 10.

The program for the evening was led by William Pflum, Jr., president. The freshmen and their parents were introduced in a "round-robin" fashion. Nancy Fisher, a senior, gave a description of extra curricular activities at Bucknell, and Francis M. Corrigan, also a senior, discussed sports. We were happy to again have John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary, with us as our main speaker. He gave us interesting and enlightening "Previews of Bucknell." The closing speaker of the program was Dr. Clair Spangler, one of our Reading Alumni, who is at present Alumni Trustee. Dr. Spangler spoke on "Bucknell, Past-Present-Future."

Following the program, refreshments were served, and the forty-five alumni, freshmen, and parents enjoyed an hour of "getting-to-know-one-another."

The Reading area alumni had the extreme pleasure of having the Bison's fine football team visit their hometown on September 22 when they played and excelled over the Albright College Lions.

Our alumni club took full advantage of seeing Alma Mater in action and had a block of seats reserved for the game. We feel sure the lusty cheers of the alumni helped to spur our team on to victory.

After the game, the alumni present at the game proceeded to the Wyomissing Club in Reading where a lovely buffet lunch awaited them. It follows naturally that at this victory celebration after the game, the Reading alumni enjoyed renewing friendships, chatting about Bucknell, and discussing the game. To say the very least "A fine time was had by all."

—BETTY J. KEIM KETNER '43,
Secretary

WESTCHESTER—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester held its second annual reception for new Bucknellians and their parents on September 10, at the Ryc Presbyterian Church, Rye, N. Y. Some ninety Alumni, friends and guests attended. After a welcome by the President of the Club, the new students and their parents were divided into smaller groups for informal talks and question and answer periods on some aspects of the Bucknell way of life which might not have seemed adequately covered by official University literature.

The group reassembled afterwards for a get-acquainted hour over coffee and cake.

President

PHILADELPHIA LUNCHEON MOVES

The weekly luncheon meetings of the Philadelphia alumni group have been moved to the St. James Grill, 13th and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia.

The time of the luncheon remains the same which is every Monday at noon.

A cordial invitation to all Bucknellians to attend the weekly luncheons is extended by Bob Dill '27, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

When the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lycoming County held a joint Bucknell-Lehigh-Gettysburg football dinner on September 27, the full staff helped to make the dinner a big success. Standing, left to right are: Ray R. Rommelt, reception chairman; Robert R. Smink, program chairman; John H. Decker, song leader; Dr. Eugene P. Bertin, toastmaster; George R. Walters, general chairman. Seated, left to right are Maze Callahan Houseknecht, ticket chairman; Harry Lawrence, speaker; Dr. Malcolm V. Mussina, president, Bucknell Alumni Club, Lycoming County; John H. Shott, alumni secretary, Bucknell University; Catherine E. Thompson, chairman, table and room decorations.

PENNSYLVANIA BAPTISTS—Ministers, laymen and several alumni from Norristown attended the luncheon held on October 18 during the annual Pennsylvania Baptist Convention. Dr. Roland O. Hudson '24, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Norristown, was host. Dr. A. R. E. Wyant '92 offered the invocation prior to a substantial dinner served by the Schwenkfelder Church. John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary, served as master of ceremonies and introduced Dr. Dayton L. Ranck, Vice President and Director of Development, who discussed a program of strengthening church-university relations. The Reverend and Mrs. Morse Bettison, pastor of the First Baptist Church and University pastor to Baptist students on the Bucknell campus, also attended the dinner meeting.

The following is a list of the names of ALUMNI, FACULTY, FRIENDS, and PARENTS who made contributions to the University during the EIGHTH FUND YEAR, 1955-1956. Names of PARENTS who contributed to the FATHERS' LOYALTY FUND are listed on page 21.

As a result of the generosity of the Bucknell Family, the Alumni Annual Giving Fund has reached a total beyond any previous year. And, in addition, the gifts of alumni enabled the University to receive a special Fund matching gift from Bucknell's great benefactor, Mr. Rush H. Kress of the Class of 1900. His matching gift on a one-dollar for each two-dollars of alumni contributions, in the amount of $19,368.85 has been received. Our thanks for this generous gift are extended to Mr. Kress.

Extreme care has been taken in the preparation of the following list, but some errors and omissions are almost inevitable. We will appreciate if you will bring such errors to the attention of the ALUMNI OFFICE. No doubt some gifts intended for the past Fund year were received after July 1, 1956. These gifts will be credited to the present Ninth Alumni Annual Giving Fund and the donors' names will appear on the Ninth Fund list, to be published in November 1957. The numbers in parentheses following the names of givers indicate the number of years of giving since the Fund was established in 1948. It is hoped that each alumnus can make an annual gift because Alumni Fund giving under the "living endowment" principle requires that the annual gift be made continuously.

WHAT IS THE ALUMNI FUND?

The plan for the Bucknell Alumni Fund is simple. Alumni dues and magazine subscriptions have been discontinued. Every alumnus and friend of Bucknell is invited to contribute annually to the University for current operations. Each person contributing, no matter what the amount, will be listed as a donor in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

The amount contributed to the Bucknell Alumni Fund alone this past year equals the return on more than $980,000 of invested endowment. By their increasing support of the Bucknell Alumni Fund, alumni and friends can make it more and more a substantial "living endowment."

Faculty and Administration

Remember:

1. Your Fund gift is deductible on your income tax.
2. If you have your own business, a corporate contribution is worth considering.
3. IN MEMORIAM gifts are made by many Bucknellians, honoring Bucknell friends and relatives.
4. Family gifts will be credited to husbands and wives (50-50) if you list names and classes of each in your remittance envelope.
5. Fund ideas or personal news items, enclosed with your check, will make it doubly welcome.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

PERSONAL SOLICITATION

Area committees were organized in ten alumni centers. New areas in which personal solicitation was conducted for the first time included Cleveland, Ohio; Westchester County, New York; York, Pennsylvania. An estimated 270 alumni workers were engaged in the program of visiting five alumni each. In all but one of the areas the percentage of participation exceeded the general average of 22%.

The value of personal solicitation was again clearly demonstrated by the fact that over half of the contributors were folks who had never before made a gift to the Bucknell Alumni Annual Giving Program.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Major Ralph S. Koser, St. Petersburg, Fla., a former resident and chief Burgess of Lewisburg, died May 21 at his home following an illness of one month. He attended Bucknell Academy in 1894-95 and was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and World War I. He had been active in army reserves for many years.

His first wife, the former Clara Russel '96, preceded him in death in 1940.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Jeanne Merkel, Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Ellen Koser Johnson '34, Berwick; a son, Ralph B. Koser '31, Scarborough, N. Y., and three grandchildren. Burial was in the Lewisburg Cemetery.

Frank Stanton '02 was honored on May 17 when the Board of Religious Education and Board of Deacons of The Federated Church, Chagrin Falls, Ohio, jointly sponsored a "Frank Stanton Night" at the church dining room. A dinner was served and was followed by a program in Frank's honor. His pastor, John W. Townsend, summed up his career in the following remark: "Frank has taught Sunday School more years than I have lived. He has served the church in almost every possible way. He has been Mayor of Chagrin Falls and now serves on the Charter Commission. He has appeared in a large number of Little Theater plays and has worked with them since their beginning. He was first president of the local Kiwanis Club, Churchman, coach, teacher, attorney, builder, actor, philosopher, father of four fine boys—Frank is an institution."

Characteristically, Frank quipped: "I hope you're not trying to bury me before I'm dead!"

Anne F. Williams '84 tells us she is 92 years old and is suffering from poor vision. She has made her home in California for a good many years and now lives at 3337 Oregon Avenue, Long Beach, California.

01

MRS. C. M. KONKLE
(Laura L. Allen)
4435 Albemarle St., N. W.
Washington 16, D. C.

After a successful summer pastorate at Roundy Baptist Church in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Ray Pierson with his wife, has returned to Daytona Beach, where calls for service await him in various groups. Address: Olds Hall, Daytona Beach, Florida.

C. Ruth Bower is recovering from a second eye operation and will be unable to read or write for several months. Her sister, Mary M05, is with her and will be glad to read to Ruth any letters you may send her at 6214 Kentucky Avenue, Pittsburgh 6, Pennsylvania.

Credit should be given to Charles Bidel-spacher for the poem "Alma Mater's Glory," which he wrote during his junior year and which he published in our Reunion L'Agenda.

MR. HARRY E. McCORMICK
28 B Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Trying to beat the deadline of October 8 I am hitting about 200 in this league. My ego is completely gone. Shades of McGraw. Eight replies out of a possible forty is awful. I wish I knew a nasty word to use here.

#1 to report, Mrs. Paul Halfpenny. She says—in addition to her home duties,

"I am Assistant Librarian of the Mifflinburg Herr Memorial Library." She has no new plans, nor has she changed her name.

#2 to report, Jimmy Durham. He advises that he is running his office at 34 S. 17th Street, Philadelphia. Jimmy is an architect and lives near Mount Holly, N. J. He wants me to stop to see him when I am in his town. What a chance for me to get a big meal!

#3 to report. Nice girl, Elizabeth Reed felt that my good note deserved a reply. (Courtesy gesture). Elizabeth says things are about as usual.

#4 to report, Elizabeth Merrill advised that she is still librarian in the city of Blossburg, Pa. Her daughter is married and lives in Blossburg. Her son lives in Texas and is married. Try to find the son in Texas and also the name of the daughter. Advise.

#5 to report. D. W. Robinson reports that he will write a more newsy letter the next time. "Robbie" has gone through the "Oxygen Tent," "Tear Gas" chamber and such. He does send his kindest regards to all of his Bucknell friends. Please write "Robbie" a good letter. Address 1310 Aloma Avenue, Winter Park, Florida.

#6 to report. Clarence Hursh, of Cumberland, Md., writes that he does a lot of fishing and plans a trip to Chicago.

#7 to report. "Haldy" Crist wrote a very interesting letter. All about his globe trotting and he passed favorably on Bucknell's "Two Decades of Decision." Haldy sends his bestest.

#8 to report. "Ginger" Teufel is just back from a visit to St. Louis. He went to a park. Guess what he saw. A ball game. Cardinals licked Cincinnati 1 to 0. Some game!

22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. Carl L. Millward, Milton, was elected as a member of the nominating committee of Rotary International at the annual convention. He is one of seventeen men chosen from the various zones to serve on the committee that will select future leaders for the world organization.

Word has been received of the death of Edwin N. Wallis on March 11, 1955. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Russell Weber (Virginia D. Wallis '28) to whom we extend our sincere sympathy.

One of the biggest benefits from a class reunion is the class reunion book produced. Frank Yost with the help of our members produced one of the finest. It is inevitable that certain biographical material will be missed as we review our careers. For instance, we should have pointed out that Dr. Penrose Shelley was medical director in Juniata County for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for 13 years. He also served as a member of the selective service board in his community during World War II and the Korean conflict. In the First World War he was captain of medical units in the 1st and 32nd divisions serving in France and Germany.

Colgate University
Hamilton, N. Y.

Edwin Wilde Saylor, aged seventy-eight, died at the Florida State Hospital, Chattahoochee, May 24. We all remember him as "Eddy," who was one of the most important members of the class. I particularly remember that he sat beside me at our matriculation exercises in Bucknell Hall, and that, as we made out our "vitas," he said to me, "I'm just ten years older than you." That fact indicates the struggle he had made to get to college. All members of the student body of those years will remember him as Gretz's right-hand man, whose cheerful but serious face at the cashier's window was familiar as a regular accompaniment of our payment of bills.

But that is not our only memory of Eddy. He took an intelligent interest in all class affairs. After college he attended Crozer Seminary, graduating B.D. in 1910. Following that he served a long series of pastorates in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Maryland, and was a trustee of many denominational organizations. On June 29, 1911, he married Cora Elizabeth Soles of Munhall, who survives him. He is survived also by his children: Edwin N. Saylor of Dallas, Texas; Jean (Mrs. Richard Harrington), of Stony Brook, L. I.; and a brother, Dr. Richard Saylor, of Upper Darby, Pa.; also by five grandchildren. He was also a member of the Masonic order.

Your reporter had a hard blow in the summer in the death of his kid brother Henry (Bucknell 1924) of leukemia. But like many others of the class who have had similar blows, he is trying to carry on. Henry's long illness prevented Leo from getting the campaign for the fiftieth reunion under way as he had expected to, but he trusts that all classmates are planning to be in Lewisburg on Alumni Day, June eighth. A personal letter should reach you in the near future.

MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., N.
St. Petersburg 6, Fla.

To continue the story of our summer's trip in the September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS:

Our car still turned toward the North. We arrived at the home of former neighbors at Goose Cove Lodge on Deer Isle, Maine. A big thrill there, was sailing on the good sloop "Osprey II" on Penobscot Bay. Maine skies, water and landscapes are really super. Very reluctantly we left that cove.

Another thrill, however, awaited us. West of Concord, N. H., we slept a night in a colonial cottage built in 1792. Mind you, George Washington was president then! On from there to Binghamton, N. Y., and south to Milton where we spent a happy morning seeing Mrs. Dix Colvin (Katherine E. Heinen). She may come to St. Petersburg this winter. Hope she makes it. In Sunbury we had a short visit with George Bailets and wife. They expect to return in October to their home in St. Petersburg.

After a day's rest in New Berlin, the home of my childhood, we drove to Bucknell's campus. What changes! Believe it or not we counted five new buildings not there in '54 when last we saw it. Guy Payne claims the distinction of knowing more Bucknell Alumni than any other man living. Later "Buck" Shott verified this statement.

Too bad we missed seeing Dr. Leiser in Lewisburg, Matt Haggerty in Lock Haven and Amy Bollinger in Reynoldsville but to all our pushing of their doorbells there was no response.

On we went to Beaver, Pittsburgh, Warren and Russell, Pa., and Allegheny State Park, N. Y. From there with stops in Belleyme, O., Louisville, Ky., (again) and Cochran, Ga., we arrived, a bit tired, at our little home in St. Petersburg, Fla., September 7 where we found everything about as we had left it four months before and after a swing of almost 6200 miles. As always we again invite any of you who may visit our state to come to see us at address above.

And now from deep in our hearts we wish to all of you a star-lit Christmas. And with Sir Walter Scott: "Heap on more wood!—The wind is chill; But let it whistle as it will, We'll keep our merry Christmas still."

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

Emanuel M. Warmkessel, retired Coughlin High School teacher in Wilkes-Barre, died March 19, at Appleton, N. Y. He had been ill for some time and had been residing with a son, Willard A. Warmkessel, at Appleton. He had taught German and Latin at Coughlin for 32 years. The sympathy of his classmates is extended to his family.

Rev. George C. Fetter writes: "I see by THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS that my two brothers, Newton and John, have served as class fund managers during the past year. I enclose a check which will make it 100% for the Fetter family.

I recently completed a term as interim pastor of a Federated church, Baptist and Presbyterian, in Carlinville, Ill. Mrs. Fetter and I plan to drive East this summer for a visit with our children and grandchildren in Bethesda, Md., and Schenectady, N. Y."

Gorton MacArthur has retired as general manager of the San Diego Club, San Diego, Calif. He's been a busy man: engineer, designer, builder, active civic and fraternal supporter. Future plans? To quote him, "I intend to pursue my hobbies and do as I please—when I please." Sounds like a desirable occupation!

Frank "Dunk" Eakeley with his wife, flew from Texas for his 50th reunion at Keystone Academy in June and afterward visited with relatives and friends in N. J.

At Keystone Academy Commencement in June, Mrs. Frank K. Gibson (Cora May Wright) was fittingly memorialized when her brother read the Valedictory address given by her at her commencement there 50 years ago. Mrs. Gibson died in 1914.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

Pop and I started out Monday morning to enjoy the beautiful countryside. We went to Wellsboro. While there we tried to find Marion Fischler '13. She's a news correspondent for several papers since her retirement from teaching. Know where we found her? At the Penn Wells Hotel covering a Democratic meeting—later that afternoon she had a session with the Republicans. We enjoyed her beautiful home for a few minutes then promised her we would make her another visit.

Earle R. Bartholomew retired as history teacher in the Williamsport senior high in June. He had taught in the school for 37 years.

We have now three school pops who have retired—"Pat" Schreiber, "Rip" Ruth and Earl. We know "Rip" will be back for the reunion—there should be no excuses from the other two. Earl partly promised me he would think about it.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Gloria Jane Lange '51, daughter of Frederick Lange, Jr., to William Robert Frazier, Jr. '52, of Lewisburg and Philadelphia. Both are graduates of Bucknell.

Late this summer we went to the Masonic Home at Elizabethtown to see "Til" 22

Paul and Mrs. Paul. My but I was glad to see them! Haven't seen "Til" since our freshman year but I would have known him. A little heavy perhaps but still the same smile. He told me that the Ringo Band from Reading had played there and mention was made that Paul Althouse had sung with this band. Most of the pieces played had been composed by Paul's uncle, Monroe Althouse.

1912ers "You know what?" A questionnaire will be sent you very soon. Fill it out, then send it back at once so the committee can begin work on our Reunion Book.

13 MR. CHARLES L. SANDERS
76 Walnut Street
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Rev. George F. Haines was honored by his church at a dinner Sept. 13, celebrating the 40th anniversary of his ordination. He is serving the Waring Baptist Church in Rochester, N. Y.

Three 1913ers had an unscheduled reunion at the Grange Encampment at Centre Hall in August. The Sanders brothers, C. L. and C. S., and M. Delinda Potter met at the horticultural building, and at no more fitting place could the get-together have occurred. Right there before the eyes of passing thousands were several of Delinda's exhibits, blue-ribbon, first-prize winners no less. Her flower arrangements and tatting caught the fancy of critical judges as they well deserved to do. On the way to Centre Hall the Sanders' remarked that they hoped to see classmate Delinda there, and rewarding were the moments spent chatting with Delinda and a neighbor friend.

Having retired from his labors as Baptist student pastor at Cornell after forty years of devoted service (previously reported in this column), Rev. John D. W. Fetter now resides at 1466 Trumansburg Road, Ithaca, N. Y. For the first eight years of Alumni Fund giving John was our energetic and efficient Fund manager. This duty he has also relinquished. Henceforth our manager is to be Bright W. Beck whose signature we may now look forward to seeing at least once annually. Best of fortune, B. W.

Another change of address is that of O. V. W. Hawkins to 29 Washington Square West, New York 11, N. Y., from his former location at One Fifth Avenue. And in his note telling of the change he added his Telephone No., Gramercy 7-1512. If in the city a 13er might ring this number and have a moment's chat with Orwill or Mrs. Hawkins '14, or perhaps both.

This reporter says, "Thank You" to both John and Orwill for sending the new residence addresses.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER (Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.,
New Kensington, Pa.

Olive Cooper Haskins writes: "Was glad to find out that once again I am on the mailing list of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. For years I had been one of the forgotten, I guess, or maybe I wandered about the globe so far and so fast that you couldn't keep up with me. Anyway, I have an anchor now, and maybe you can keep me in mind come mailing time again.

"I have had an exciting though demanding professional career in adult education, on the faculty of the University of Michigan and later directing an extensive program in Georgia with headquarters in Atlanta. While there I used to see Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rhoads '11 (Jollette Arthur '13) who live in Macon, Ga.

"Well, come time to retire I bought an old tavern in Florida, bought books on remodeling and got to work. It has been lots of fun, and Florida is quite an exciting place in which to live. I suppose I shall stay here though once in a while I sigh for the old fields of combat. If I am older than I was twenty years ago, it is only the calendar that says so. We shall see!

"I visit Frances McNall every once in a while, but for the most part Bucknell belongs to a history that has few reminders in the way of present contacts.

"Many personal regards to you and those you see who remember me."

In April, an interesting letter was received from Wilma Knapp Morrow. In September, 1951, several months after her husband's death, Wilma attended the Occupational Therapy School at the Richmond Professional Institute of the College of William and Mary and received her O. T. certificate. She was registered in the American O. T. Association in September, 1952. Since that time, she has been Director of Occupational Therapy and Recreation at the Summit County Receiving Hospital. She is living at 330 Broadway East, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

17 MRS. EARLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 West Sedgwick Street
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Anna Hanks Johnstone lives in Montclair Park, Toms River, New Jersey. She writes that she taught in high schools for 5 years, part of the time as principal in Rockledge, Penna. When her mother died she left teaching to help her father by making a home for him at the parsonage. Later she became tax collector. She did not like politics so after two years she decided not to run again and took a job as deputy collector. She is Registrar of Vital Statistics for the township (does most of this in evenings). In between times she was church organist and treasurer. In 1939 she married Robert M. Johnstone. Her husband is retired as of March 31. Her hobbies are gardening and collecting colored antique glass. Last summer they had a visit with Paul Boggess and his mother who were on their way to Atlantic City to the Baptist Convention.

Mrs. James L. Lindsey (Esther Edge) reports a new address: 218 Euclid Avenue, Ridgway. Her husband is superintendent of schools of Elk County.

Olive E. Moore has retired from teaching after a long period of service in our public schools. Her permanent address is Box 464, Bridgeton, New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Munro (Margaret I. Sible) have three children to their marriage of 1924. All have attended college and received honors. Two of them are married and have given the Munros 3 grandchildren. One daughter met an untimely death in an automobile accident in 1952. We're so sorry to hear this Margaret. Please accept our sympathy.

Now about our reunion. On July 6 "Pedy" started 5 tapes out to groups of our class for recordings by us for graduation. Because of a change in original plans he is not able to keep track of them. Will you please be kind enough to drop "Pedy" a card or note when you have used it and send it on. Be sure to keep it going fast. It should be interesting to hear. Earle S. Pedigo, 615 Market St., Lewisburg, Pa., is the address. Thanks a lot.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
301 Broad Street
Montoursville, Pa.

Dr. Emerson M. Heckert died August 30 in Community Hospital at Sunbury. Dr. Heckert spent his entire life in service to the people of the Sunbury area, first as a school teacher and for many years as a family physician. He is survived by two children, Jacqueline and Paul K. Heckert '51. Our sympathy is extended to them.

Louis W. Sibley has written a biography of Frederic E. Ives and has presented a copy of the book to the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

Not a thing to add to this unless I begin to brag about my own family—and that I can do. Layton, Jr., a second term junior in the School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell, was the recipient of a Kennecott Copper Company scholarship, based on scholastic ability. And Mary Elizabeth spent the summer in South Dakota with a Smithsonian archaeological party. She is on the staff of the Textile Museum in Washington. Won't someone please join me in the bragging?

CO-OPERATION

It ain't the individual,
Nor the army as a whole,
But the everlasting teamwork
Of every bloomin' soul.

—J. Mason Knox.

The above quotation seemed so fitting for this particular issue! To date, I sent 18 cards to members of the class BEGING for news and have made 12 phone calls. (I received one answer from the cards; from Alice Stokes Harriman.) If I receive news, the time spent is worth while for I am sure that there is not a member of our '24 class who does not like to read about friends. How about it? Let me hear from you!

The Pennsylvania State Convention of Baptist Churches was held in the Calvary Baptist Church in Norristown, October 17th and 18th. Rev. Roland O. Hudson, 813 West Marshall Street, has been the pastor of this church for the past eight years. A large number of men on the program were Bucknell men with Dr. Dayton Ranck as the speaker at a luncheon for Bucknellians held during the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shaffer (Mildred Houseman) 408 Pomeroy St., Ridley Park, are engaged in the teaching profession. "Mid" is in Ridley Township junior high and Bob is teaching and head of the mathematics department in Ridley Park high school.

Mrs. Harrison Taylor (Florence Faus), 177 Biddulph Road, Radnor, was with our class but one year and then went on to Ohio Wesleyan. However, while at Bucknell, she made many friends and the Bucknellians in Philadelphia are glad to know she makes her home here.

Mrs. Joseph G. Harriman (Alice Stokes), 4311 N. Pershing Drive, Arlington 3, Virginia, is working as an administrative assistant in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Avenue, Chatham, N. J.

Dr. William D. Golightly, of Scranton, was elected to serve on the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association for five years.

Clair G. Spangler, M.D., of Reading, was nominated for election as an Alumni Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University for five years.

Alice V. Davis of Freeport, Long Island, attended the Summer Session of New York University in the evenings and worked in the hospital to obtain work experience—question is, "What did she do in her spare time?"

Are you interested in former classmates? Send me news and let's all enjoy the pleasures and works of others.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Avenue
Pitman, N. J.

Charles T. Farrow, Jr. has been elected president of the Northern New Jersey Bucknell Alumni Club.

Rev. John F. W. Howell is an executive director of the Lansing Area Council of Churches, Lansing, Michigan.

Mrs. A. Kris Jensen (Maude P. Keister) who has returned to Seoul, Korea, as a Methodist missionary, has become the first woman ever to be granted full clergy rights from the Methodist Church.

R. Frederick Snodgrass has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Elmira.

Harold Gold Painter is safety director of the central division of the Metropolitan Edison Co. He is active in many outside activities in Berks County. His one son has just finished serving Uncle Sam in France. I'm sure his many friends may want to write to him at his address, 447 N. 11th St., Reading, Pa.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Florence Parmley, in addition to her duties as a physical education teacher in her home town of Mahanoy City, is the proprietress of a Buzza-Cardozo Greeting Card shop where she also serves as the magazine agent for both Curtis Circulation Company and Crowell-Collier Publishing Company and will be glad to hear from you when in need of a renewal or new subscription.

James V. Giordano (better known as "Jim Jordan") has been appointed Professor of Prosthodontics at New Dental School at Fairleigh Dickinson College in addition to practicing dentistry in Paterson, N. J. He is now serving as chairman of the New Jersey section of the American College of Dentists. He writes, "My best wishes to McNutt and Sprinkle of whom I have the fondest memories in zoology laboratory when McNutt was dropped with a garter snake by his bosom pal Sprinkle."

Marcella Pierce Ruch is living at 1456 Oak Avenue, Evanston, Ill., with her husband, Claud, who is an executive of Field Enterprise, publishers of Childcraft and World Book. They have two children, Charles, who is a pre-med student at Wooster, Ohio, and Grace, a pre-teenager.

A. Henry Riesmeyer is presently associated with the Aluminum Company of America and is living at 1827 Village Road, Glenshaw.

Stanley S. Smith writes that the fabulous Gulf Coast is really the land of opportunity! At present he is principal of the Rosenberg School in Galveston, Texas. He is the father of two sons and a daughter.

Veta Davis Replogle is living at 2820 Bethel Church Rd., Pittsburgh. She writes that her daughter, Janet Replogle Roberts '56 is living with her in Pittsburgh. Her husband is a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Clarence R. Mutchler is living at 117 S. Main St., Mansfield, where he is serving as director of secondary education at the State Teachers College, Mansfield.

28 MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Lorraine Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave., Summit, N. J.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Samuel Philip Bernhaut, Esq. of Newark, N. J., on February 2, four hours after he suffered a heart attack at the Essex County Court House. He was 49. Mr. Bernhaut was an assistant corporation counsel in the city law department from 1933 to 1941 and again from May 1953 until the form of government changed in July 1954.

Born in Austria, Mr. Bernhaut was brought to this country in 1913. He was graduated from Newark Preparatory School in 1924 and four years later received his A.B. degree from Bucknell. He attended Harvard Law School and was graduated from Mercer Beasley Law School in 1931. He was admitted to the bar in 1932.

He was a gregarious man with many personal friends and fraternal associations. He had a deep interest in the mentally retarded children. The Essex Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children has established the Samuel P. Bernhaut Memorial Scholarship Fund.

He leaves his wife, two sons, and two daughters to whom sympathy is extended.

Wyatt E. Williams is director of civil engineering and a member of the management committee of Standard Ultramarine and Color Company in Huntington, W. Va. He reports that his daughter Annabel, thirteen, is looking forward to attending Bucknell.

Belated congratulations are extended to Rev. Frank E. Johnston, 64 Webster Hill Blvd., East Hartford, Conn., on his installation as minister of the Central Baptist Church of Hartford on March 8. For the past eight years, Frank has served as national director of church school administration for the American Baptist Convention.

Rev. Paul V. Arow has been in Oak Ridge over 12 years where he is administrative assistant to director of stables isotopes division, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, and chairman (official mayor—city still operated by the Federal Government) of Oak Ridge town council. Other interests include his being timpanist for the Oak Ridge Symphony Orchestra. His daughter, Adrienne, is a junior in Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER

Mifflinburg, Pa.

William T. Mahood has been named head of the Sales Development Section of the Explosives Sales Department of the Atlas Powder Company, Wilmington, Delaware. Bill is well known in the construction industry. He joined Atlas as an explosives salesman in 1936 and later served as district sales manager in Seattle and San Francisco. He now lives at Route 2, Rockland Road, Wilmington, Delaware.

It's always a long time between visits from Mrs. Thomas P. Endicott, Jr. (Doris Siner) but we are glad to report that she visited the Alumni Office recently. Living at the moment in her home at Longport, N. J., Doris has had a busy time taking courses in office training and practical nursing, has owned and operated a couple of restaurants and night clubs, and has still found time to raise two foster daughters. Her other homes include Las Vegas, Nevada, where she serves as hostess at the New Frontier Hotel and in Hollywood where she also has business interests. It's great to hear from you, Doris, but come back more often.

Congratulations are in order for Paul Seidel who was promoted to trainmaster for the Meadville division of the Erie Railroad.

Fordyce C. Hauber has been appointed Executive Assistant of the New York State Natural Gas Corporation, a Pittsburgh-based firm which supplies gas to 21 major distributing companies in Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. Hauber's duties will include handling special assignments for the president and vice presidents of the firm and the retention of his former responsibilities as System Reserves Engineer. He has been with New York State Natural Gas Corp., since 1932 and is married and is living at 3321 Comanche Road, Pittsburgh.

I hate to give up the job you wanted me to do—but if you do not write me and let me know what you are doing—I will have to.

Your Reporter

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

On April 20 the Detroit Free Press carried an interesting and unusual article by Mark Beltaire in his column, "The Town Crier," concerning Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson (Edith Hasselberger '34) of 718 Berkshire Road, Grosse Pointe 30, Michigan. The article entitled "Thank You for Kindness Already Now," told of the Johnsons' latest addition to their family, Hermann Schunck, of Detmold, Germany. Hermann, who is 16, was introduced to the Johnsons, by proxy, by the American Field Service. He will live with the Johnsons for one year and will attend Grosse Pointe University School. Judging from a letter they received from him in excellent handwriting, they are sure Hermann's English will be more than adequate, although it is just far enough off the track to hold a charm of its own. The Johnsons have three children, Skip, 17; Dickie, 14; and Jane, 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Dayton (Janet E. Murphy) have joined the ranks of Bucknell parents. Their son David entered school as a Freshman this fall.

Mrs. Angel M. Mergal (Margaret I. Zimmerman) has completed the work for her Ph.D. degree at Columbia University and is now associate professor of English at the University of Puerto Rico. We are proud of you, Margaret!

Donald C. Paterson celebrated his 25th anniversary with Continental American Life Insurance Co. recently and was honored at a gathering of all company employees at which time he was presented with a wrist watch. "Pat" is an expert on contractual changes and on every type of service for policies. He is equally well known for his work on valuation of liabilities and on returns of information for federal income tax on life policies. He and his wife, Mildred, are active in church and civic affairs of their community, Hilltop Manor, Wilmington, Del. Bucknell can really claim the Patterson family as Pat's father is Rev. James M. Patterson '92, and one of our oldest living graduates, having been born in Scotland in 1863. His sister is Mrs. C. A. Cerad (Elizabeth M. Patterson '19), who has been a teacher of languages in Haddonfield, N. J., for many years. Congratulations to the Pattersons!

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
Allentown, N. J.

A recent visitor to the campus (after 28 years absence) was Floyd A. Iseman. He was accompanied by his wife, the former Dorothy Zahniser (Grove City College '31) and six year old daughter, Janet Lee. Floyd is now doing scheduling work at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in Pittsburgh. They liked what they saw of the campus and plan to return next June for our 25th reunion.

Irontdale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Ellen Evans Clark reports that she and her husband have become very much involved in Little Theatre work and love every minute of it. She says it's such fun after being away from it much too long.

E. A. Smith's residence is 31 Hardy Court, Keene, N. H. He left New York in 1952 to head the home office of the Accident and Health Department of Peerless Insurance Company, Keene, N. H. In 1956 he was elected vice president of the company. His wife attended the University of Rennes in France and is a graduate of Montclair Teachers College in New Jersey. Children are Lorelee 14, and Edmund A., Jr., 13.

He says the family is in love with the beauty of New Hampshire and that he tried to see Jack Sherwood in Washington, D. C., with the secret service, but Jack was away with VP Dick Nixon.

Your reporter spent a quiet summer at the Irontdale Homestead, after teaching classes in English composition and literature at Bloomsburg State Teachers College as a temporary assistant professor during the second semester of 1955-56. In May she entertained 60 Pi Phi's at luncheon—patronesses, alumnae and active Beta Chapter members, after which badminton, darts, croquet, and archery were enjoyed on the grounds. She later served as their symposiarch at Lewisburg. Her topic: "The Flight of One Arrow."

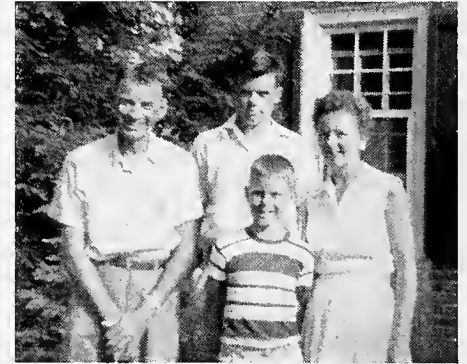

On July 26 as vice regent of the Fort McClure Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, she entertained 140 guests at a summer card party for the benefit of a fund for the renovation of Fort McClure Homestead, a site first settled in 1774 along the Susquehanna. Mrs. Engelhardt's Revolutionary ancestor who served in the militia in Berks County was William Winters, the first settler of Williamsport, who obtained the land from his brother-in-law, Captain Hawkins Boone. Boone was sent from George Washington's army to defend that area and was killed at Fort Freeland near Lewisburg in 1779.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Your reporter received a letter from Harry C. Fithian, Jr., of Williamsport, telling of a visit to the campus on August 19th by Jack Younghusband and his wife Peg Helm Younghusband '35 and sons Tom 16 and Peter 11. They live at 1221 W. Myrtle Street in Santa Ana, California, where Jack is in the insurance business. While on campus they were entertained by Professor and Mrs. C. Willard Smith. Harry sent a snapshot of Jack and Peg which I hope will be used in the ALUMNUS for they both look fine. Incidentally Peg and Jack as well as Harry and this reporter all worked together for Cap and Dagger and Theta Alpha Phi while at Bucknell under the guidance of Professor Smith—we did have wonderful times.

Lois Kurtz Wittmer and Edward F. Wittmer '35 have a daughter, Frances, in this year's Freshman Class.

I hope to have more news for you after Homecoming. Incidentally a two penny postcard reaches me as well as a letter so do write—can't keep our class news in every issue if you don't cooperate.

Jack Younghusband and wife Peg Helm Younghusband '35 and sons Tom 16 and Peter 11 on campus, August 1956.

Lewisburg, Pa.

George G. Robinson MS '36 has been named principal of the East Bank high school, Chelyan, W. Va.

I'm sure we all enjoyed Charles Gwynn's fine report of our 20th Reunion in the September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. How many '36ers were you able to identify in the Reunion picture? A pretty good-looking party, don't you agree?

I hope those of you who were unable to attend the Reunion availed yourselves of the opportunity to buy a Reunion Book from Alumni Headquarters. A few copies are still available, so hurry and send for yours if you have not already done so.

This year's Freshman enrollment indicates that the Class of 1960 has one member whose father was a member of the Class of 1936. She is Deanna Louise Deodati, daughter of Mario A. Deodati, 2204 W. Indiana Ave., Philadelphia. Are there others? Several members of our class have children at Bucknell in upper classes.

Please don't forget your promise to send in class news for our column.

37 MR. SIGMUND STOLER

Sunbury, Pa.

Dr. Robert S. Carter has been promoted to a full professor in the department of psychology at Denison University, Granville, Ohio. He is also in charge of teacher-education at Denison. He has been on the faculty there since 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Leonard Dillinger (M. Charlotte Rathbun) were welcome visitors at the University and the Alumni Office early in August. They were accompanied by their 4 children, Charlen, 16; Olivia, 11; Mary, 10; and W. Leonard, Jr., 6 years of age. Len is justice of the peace and borough assessor for Point Marion. Charlotte is a case worker for the DPA for Fayette Co.

We are sorry to learn of the death of David T. Meisberger who died early this year. He lived in Ranshaw and had been associated with the public schools in that area for a number of years.

Captain Frank R. More was recently assigned to duty in the Canal Zone as chief of plans in the Logistics Division, Headquarters Caribbean Command which is staffed jointly by personnel of the Army, Navy and Air Force. Frank with his wife, Hazel, and their sons, Ritchie, 16; Tom, 14; and Lani, 8, are residing at the Post of Quarry Heights, Canal Zone.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE

Dr. Allen E. Hamburg will have charge of the establishment of a new department of orthopedics at the Jeanes Hospital, which will be added as a part of the proposed new out-patient department of the hospital. Dr. Hamburg and wife, Dorothy (Dorothy L. Gottschall '40), live at 532 Georgian Road, Glenside, Pa.

Dr. Travis L. Summersgill has been appointed professor of English and head of the English department at Park College, Parkville, Mo. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard and in 1954-55 was a Fulbright teacher of English at Kyushu University in Japan. He leaves William and Mary College for his new position.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Weightman '37 (Dorothy E. Millward) announce the birth of their fifth child, a daughter, born June 6.

Our congratulations to Dr. Melvin A. Wein, 2985 Quentin Road, Brooklyn, N. Y., on having been recently elected an associate fellow of the American College of Cardiology.

Captain Martin Blumenson is presently assigned as historian of Joint Task Force 7, which recently conducted the atomic tests in the Pacific. Since leaving Bucknell, he has served as history instructor at the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N. Y., and at Hofstra College, Hempstead, N. Y. He received an M.A. degree from Bucknell in 1940 and from Harvard University in 1942. During World War II, Martin served with the Army in Europe and in Korea in 1950 and 1951. He is the author of "Breakout and Pursuit," (in the series "The Army in World War II") which will be published in 1957 or 1958 and has written articles for The Saturday Review of Literature, Combat Forces Journal, The Infantry School Quarterly, Military Review and U. S. Naval Institute Proceedings. He is married and has one son, John, now 13 years old. The family's present home is at 1506 Carol Lane, Falls Church, Va.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Avenue
Benton Harbor, Michigan

(Continued from last issue). Second installment of September Story: Helen "Sandy" Sanders Christian and I tried to get together again this year, and the invitation to their cottage at Harvey's Lake was tempting, but I had to get back here for house-hunting . . . To round out my trip; hardly had I set foot in Benton Harbor when from the pages of the Detroit Free Press I was confronted by a picture of former Bucknell President Horace A. Hildreth, now ambassador to Pakistan, feeding an elephant ("Loveliest of Ladies") bound from that country for the Republican National Convention.

A June announcement of interest to the class: the marriage of Alice Ruigh to John Harold Porterfield on June 22, 1950, in Twin Falls, Idaho. Best wishes and congratulations, respectively, to the two of you!

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Posner report a new address: 13 Wood Valley Lane, Flower Hill, Port Washington, N. Y. They have two children, Michael, 4 and Susan, 8.

Evelyn P. Brooks has been Mrs. Lee Farnsworth since 1948. Since then, they have four children and have lived one year on Palomar Mt. Evelyn took her nurse's training, '42-45, and received her R.N. from Orange Memorial Hospital, N. J.

This is what Rev. Reuben W. Rader has to report: "On February 21, 1956 we had our 6th child, Charles Wesley Rader; we now have 3 boys and 3 girls. On June 23, I was appointed to the Vienna Methodist Church, Vienna, Ohio, for my 5th year of service as pastor. This is a growing residential community for a large industrial area about 8 miles north of Youngstown."

SEPTEMBER MORN

Missing: One September column.

Having attained age 30, feeling the chill of the shady slope in cautious descent thereof, packing off my elder daughter to her first day of kindergarten, and sensing in it all the advent of what my TV warns may well be "tired blood"—your class reporter royally goofed and did shoot quite wide of the mailbox, thereby in September leaving you without a '47 report. As newsstand sales no doubt slumped, I was distressingly satisfied to note that neither '46 nor '48 had a line in the issue either. To each of these worthy chronicles: Tsk, tsk and also yuk, yuk.

Tenth Reunion plans, under the circumstances, are inevitable. The cold light of our tenth year therefore spreads as green carpet leading, ever longer, away from the 300 acres. May we yet rally.

Plans for our tenth reunion were scheduled for a send-off at Homecoming. In the cards at this time: A comprehensive 10-year biographical report covering the entire class membership, plus a June get-together on campus to end all June get-togethers on campus. Of this, more anon.

W. Roger Fetter was an alternate delegate to the Republican national convention at San Francisco, accompanied by his wife (Meredith Brough).

Reliable sources indicate that Frank Haas is indulging in a three-month Europe tour and respite from his active Harrisburg law practice. Frank, if this is well founded, please confirm by a tasteful post card.

Thomas J. Quigley and Joan E. Reifke were married in Cleveland, August 11. Class President Tom is practicing law in Cleveland with Squire, Sanders and Dempsey.

Clifford C. Harris was appointed assistant secretary of the Burgess-Manning Company in April. He and his wife, Ann, have two children: a girl, 3½, and a boy, 1½ years old. They are living at 928 St. Vincent Street, Burholme, Philadelphia 11.

A STATEMENT FROM DEAN RIVENBURG

I was so impressed by the following "Letter To Doris" that I sent it to Alumni Secretary John Shott. He promptly countered by asking me to write a similar letter for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Since I could not write anywhere near so effective a letter and did not want to plagiarise Professor Fadner's ideas or language, I secured permission from Shurtleff College and Professor Fadner to reproduce his letter in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

"A Letter To Doris"

(An actual letter from former Professor Frederick Fadner of Shurtleff College to his niece, printed in The Shurtleff Bulletin).

"Dear Doris:

"I have spent all my life in education, teaching students in high school, junior college, and universities. As a result I have learned a lot of things and have come to some very positive convictions. You are going to college this fall, Doris, which will cost a lot of money. You will either have to work to earn your own way, or your parents will have to pay part or all of it, or you will have to borrow money, or some rich relative will have to finance your education. However you get the money, your education must be paid for.

"Let us say you have chosen a certain college, though the situation would be much the same in most American colleges. You find in the catalogue that tuition is $200 a semester, i. e. $400 a year. If you did but know it or wished to investigate, you would find that the college could not give you a year's education for $400. It must have $800, though this proportion varies with colleges. This means that the college will have to hurry around to get another $400 to match the $400 you have managed to pay. Remember that is $1600 in four years! How does the college get it?

"It gets the money from interest on endowment, from gifts and contributions from various sources, from church members, from alumni funds, or wherever the president can get it. In other words the college must find somewhere an outright gift of another $1600 which your four years will cost quite aside from the $1600 you managed to earn, or your parents paid, or some person has loaned to you. And please get this: the college will never send you a bill for that $1600. Never!

"Now, Doris, of course you will thank your father or that wealthy friend for whatever they are able to do for you. You may be justly proud of yourself if mayhap you have earned every cent of your tuition, the entire $1600, and even your own board, room, and clothing. However, what about that other $1600 that the college gave you? Have you no obligation to pay back dollar for dollar your indebtedness? Why should the church members, the alumni, the various friends of the college give you $1600 without even a promissory note or collateral of any kind?

"What is your duty to these benefactors who have made it possible for you to get your education at half price? The answer is to do the very best you can to justify the faith that others have placed in you. If you fail, you have let them down. They had the faith in you when you were accepted and registered as a student of the college that you would make good. If you fail in a single course, aside from some legitimate reason, you have accepted money and failed to deliver the goods. The Greeks may have had another name for it, but in English embezzlement is the nearest I can come to it. It's a bad word! You will not be prosecuted, but you should be! You should be sentenced to pay double for it and then get out. You were a poor investment. It is just not fair to that widow in that congregation, who in response to an appeal for funds to help the college, silently but willingly put her mite into the contribution box. It is not fair to the hundreds of other friends, rich and poor alike, who have through the years built up the institution that you might have a college education. Emerson said, 'He is base, and that is the one base thing in the universe, to receive favors and render none.'

Frederic Fadner
Professor of English, Retired"

The evidence is all in. The arguments are overwhelmingly conclusive. The judgment of the Court of our conscience is that most of us Bucknellians are guilty. To bail ourselves out and clear our conscience there is fortunately an honorable way.

AND THEN THEY WERE 8

We are happy to report that a number of Bucknellians reported as 7-year givers to the Bucknell Alumni Fund in the November, 1956, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS are really charter (or 8-year) donors to the Bucknell Alumni Fund. In most of these cases, gifts made during the heating plant campaign of 1948 were not properly recorded on the Alumni giving records. Perhaps there are others; anyone who made a gift to the heating plant campaign should have been credited automatically with a gift to the Alumni Fund in its first year, 1948-1949. If you are one of these donors, please advise Alumni Headquarters so that your record of giving may be corrected. Among those who were reported as 7-year givers in the November issue but are really continuous 8-year donors are Edgar A. Snyder '11, Bruce E. Butt '16, Lester E. Lighton '20, Lawrence M. Kimball '23, Mrs. Louise Matthews Miers '26, and T. Jefferson Miers '26.

In the list of Class of 1926 donors the entry Charles J. Kushell should read Mrs. Isabelle Morrison Kushell. Mr. Kushell is properly recorded in his Class of 1927.

the Act of August 24, 1912.

BUCKNELL SELF-STUDY GATHERS MOMENTUM

by WILLIAM H. COLEMAN, Vice President and Secretary of The Bucknell Study

THE Bucknell Study, recommended by President Odgers and authorized by the Board of Trustees, has three major purposes. The first is to re-evaluate our curricula with special attention to the need for general and concentration programs for all students, as well as a special program for superior students. The hope is that all curricula can be enriched and broadened to assure the fullest development of the individual.

THE second purpose is to study the Bucknell student body in terms of its origins and recruitment, its scholastic performance and extracurricular activities, as a means of securing men and women of the highest quality, and of making effective use of all resources of the University to create an atmosphere favorable to learning. The third purpose is to study the faculty as a body of teachers and scholars, to determine its proper composition and functions, and to outline the conditions under which it can contribute most effectively to the educational growth of the university. While reviews of our academic situation have occurred from time to time, no such comprehensive self-examination as the Bucknell Study envisions has ever been projected. Covering a period of approximately two years and broadly based, it should serve as an academic blueprint for the future.

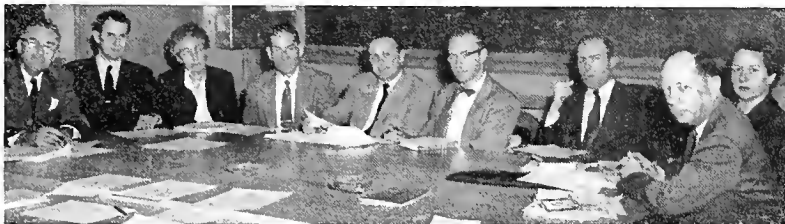

THE groundwork has been carefully laid. Last spring the faculty approved almost unanimously the statement of objectives as drawn up by the Core Committee, comprised of Professors Gladys E. Cook, F. David Martin, William I. Miller, Manning A. Smith, and C. Willard Smith, the members of which committee were appointed by the President on the basis of a faculty poll. The statement of objectives, which will serve as a guide for the study, follows:

Bucknell University is committed in the Christian tradition to provide the means and opportunity for the intellectual development of students of qualified preparation and character to the end that they may become mature and responsible members of society.

Bucknell endeavors to impart to the student the principles of inherited knowledge and culture and to bring the student to an awareness of his own talent. As a center of independent thought Bucknell is dedicated to the cause of free and responsible inquiry and to the seeking of truth wherever it may be found.

THE above statement, broken down into its component parts, asserts that Bucknell is an institution (1) in the Christian tradition, (2) in the tradition of the liberal arts and sciences; interested (3) in qualified students seeking intellectual development, (4) in providing such students with the means and opportunity of becoming responsible members of society, (5) in providing the student with a body of knowledge and culture that will sharpen awareness of his own talent, and (6) in creating an atmosphere of independent thought, free and responsible inquiry, which will foster a desire to seek the truth under any and all conditions.

EARLY in the present semester President Odgers appointed a general advisory committee composed of (1) fifteen faculty members: Professors Gladys E. Cook, Mark C. Ebersole, Harry R. Garvin, James A. Gathings, Dalzell M. Griffith, Russell A. Headley, J. Charles Jones, Octave Levenspiel, Hulda Magalhaes, F. David Martin, Harold W. Miller, William I. Miller, C. Willard Smith, Manning A. Smith, and Wendell I. Smith; (2) five members of the administrative staff: Dean Karl D. Hartzell, Dean John C. Hayward, Mr. John F. Zeller, Assistant to the President; Dr. William H. Coleman, Secretary of the Study, and President Merle M. Odgers, who acts as chairman; (3) three off-campus members, all alumni of the University: Dr. Arthur L. Brandon MA'27, Director of Public Relations, University of Michigan; Dr. Evan W. Ingram '20, Associate Superintendent of Schools, Pittsburgh; and Dr. Robert W. Streeter '38, Dean of the College, University of Chicago. At a later date we might bring to the campus other eminent educators to meet with the committees, faculty, and administrative groups.

THE General Advisory Committee performs a twofold function: to advise the President initially with regard to the proper areas of study, and subsequently with respect to the conduct of the study and the implementing of its recommendations. An executive committee, composed of selected members of the General Committee, with Dean Hartzell as chairman, will co-ordinate the processes of the study and screen all major recommendations to be submitted through the President to the appropriate bodies (faculty, trustees, and administrative officers).

TO date the General Committee has met twice, and as a result of its deliberations, recommended that the Bucknell Study be organized around three principal committees on (a) the student body, (b) the curriculum, and (c) the faculty. The following persons have consented to serve on these major committees:

COMMITTEE ON STUDENT BODY:

Professors Carr, Gathings, J. C. Jones, M. Martin, W. I. Miller, Dean Stevenson, Mr. Walling, Assistant Registrar, and Dean Hayward (Consultant).

COMMITTEE ON CURRICULUM:

Professors G. E. Cook, Garvin, Griffith, Headley, A. Kieft, F. D. Martin, and W. K. Smith.

COMMITTEE ON FACULTY:

Professors Ebersole, Gonzalez, Magalhaes,

Merritt, H. W. Miller, M. A. Smith, and C. W. Smith (Consultant).

The function of the Committee on the Student Body will be to determine from data in the college offices, questionnaires, and other means the major characteristics, organization and activities of the Bucknell student body to determine what changes, if any, are desirable in the present situation, and to determine the quality of the finished product (our graduates), and how it may be improved.

THE function of the Committee on the Curriculum will be to examine what is being taught, how it is being taught, and the relevance of the material presented in the classroom to the needs of individual students, and the requirements of our modern culture. It is hoped that the goals of the University will be reflected in the knowledge, judgments, and developed abilities of its graduates.

THE function of the Committee on the Faculty will be to appraise our faculty in terms of its quality, recruitment, functions, and conditions of work. From this examination, we hope, will come greater insight into just what it is that makes a great faculty, and a deeper appreciation of the contributions of the faculty to the educational stature of the University.

THE Secretary of the Bucknell Study will serve ex-officio as secretary of all committees, will be responsible for the preparation of working drafts, the collation of information essential to their deliberations, and will provide through the services of his office a general clearing house for all aspects of the study.

OBVIOUSLY, any comprehensive self-study will mean an investment of time, thought, and energy on the part of all those persons involved, but the end-result should mean a raising of our academic sights and more favorable working conditions for all parties concerned. In this process it is hoped that our basic policies, academically speaking, will be re-examined and explicitly stated. They should be fundamentally sound. They should be comprehensive, coherent and co-ordinated, and thorough-going implementation should follow. The Bucknell Study can be an important milestone in the history of the University. If the University's stature as an educational institution can keep pace with its amazing physical expansion, Bucknell graduates everywhere will feel a new loyalty and a new sense of pride in their Alma Mater.

SO LONG

The time has come for me to retire
Even though it is not my desire.
At 55, so I am told,
"Get out of here, you're too damn old."
All officials are very tense.
But this is the time to have good sense.
One more year, you get a reprieve.
Make room for Tom, Dick and Steve.
May God Bless you all this Fall,
When you're in that great game, called Football.

—HARRY O. DAYHOFF '23

On September 1, 1956, Harry "Gump" Dayhoff '23 hung up his football shoes and brought to an end 30 glorious years of inter-collegiate football officiating.

Harry, over this period of time, has seen many great football players and has worked the best games all over the nation. Army-Navy; Michigan-Pennsylvania; Michigan State-Syracuse; Tulane-Boston College; Miami-Pittsburgh; Yale-Harvard; Princeton-Dartmouth; Boston College-Holy Cross, five years in succession; Michigan-Columbia; Navy-Notre Dame; Army-Duke; Penn State-Pittsburgh are only a few of the many games he has worked.

Harry was born in Gettysburg at the turn of the century and later moved to Steelton where he got his first taste of football. Starting in track and football at Steelton high school, Harry graduated in 1917 not knowing that football was to be an active part in his life for years and years to come. Following high school graduation Harry served with the United States Navy, and upon discharge entered Bucknell as a freshman on September 15, 1919.

At Bucknell Harry earned four varsity letters in football, basketball, and track. According to Harry, "The four best years of my life were spent in Lewisburg," and "may I say that I owe everything to Bucknell University for any success which I have enjoyed over the years."

Leaving college Harry played professional football in the National League with Philadelphia in 1923 and 1924. In 1925 Harry was sold to the Pottsville Maroons where he received injuries that forced his retirement from active play. But football was Harry's life, and injury or no injury Harry was determined to stay with the game. So, in 1926 he entered the Eastern Intercollegiate Association as a football official. Here Harry remained for 30 long years with the game he loved. During these happy years Harry was instrumental in getting more than 150 deserving boys a college education on their ability to play football.

Morris D. Hooven '20 Wins New Honor

The nation's new and prospective engineers were called by Morris D. Hooven '20, engineering executive at Public Service Gas and Electric Co., Newark, N. J., to prepare themselves adequately for assuming tomorrow's "intellectual leadership" and to conquer the world's new frontiers at the engineers' convocation at the University of Rhode Island on November 3, 1956.

Mr. Hooven of the Class of 1920 and a past president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers has long been concerned with the problem of properly preparing engineers for the future tasks which face them. As principal speaker at the convocation, Mr. Hooven stated that a comprehensive education for engineers "no portion of which whether it be in the arts, sciences, or technology, should be neglected. The engineer of tomorrow must be a man of broad education and deep culture, capable of leading his people beyond the frontiers of his day."

The engineer was urged by Mr. Hooven to take a more active interest in the practical problems of his community as further preparation for assuming tomorrow's leadership. "The real question which the engineers must answer," he said, "is whether or not we (the engineers) are meeting the problems of the community."

This urge to participate in community affairs, Mr. Hooven observed, may come more naturally if the engineer of tomorrow should turn out to be, in many cases, a woman. "The time must come when womanly grace and intuition will be added to the (engineering) profession."

Morris has recently been elected president of the Engineers Council for Professional Development, and is listed in "Who's Who in America."

Past Alumni Secretary Takes New Post

Charles M. Morris '31, alumni secretary at Bucknell (1936-38) is now director of psychological services at the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Eastern Psychiatric Institute in Philadelphia. The Institute is a large research, training, and treatment center for mental illness and was organized under the Commonwealth's Department of Welfare. Dr. Morris' staff includes 17 Ph.D. clinical psychologists and is probably the largest Department of Psychology of this nature south of New York.

Charles was engaged in many student activities as an undergraduate, active in Phi Kappa Psi, vice president of Kappa Phi Kappa, president of the Education Club, assistant editor of Belle Hop and The Bucknell Journal of Education, and assistant news editor of The Bucknellian.

Besides his service in alumni activities he organized the first placement bureau and was active in the organization of the Friends of the Library and the visiting engineering committee. He earned his A.B. in 1931 and his A.M. in 1932 at Bucknell. In 1938 New York University awarded him the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Married to the former Julia Furst, the Morris family now has two children, Johnny, 15 and Linda, 17, who are both students at George School in Newtown.

Congratulations to Charlie who is enjoying a distinguished career in psychology after having served his Alma Mater in an outstanding manner as an administrator.

Dr. Fred L. Englerth '33 Sharp Dresser and Sharp Shooter

DR. FRED L. ENGLERTH '33

From "deep in the heart of Texas" comes some interesting sports news concerning Dr. Fred L. Englerth '33 of Harlingen, Texas and an unusual type of golf tournament. Four years ago Fred, who is a well-known ophthalmologist, and a group of civic-minded golf enthusiasts evolved the idea of a "Life Begins At Forty Golf Tournament" which has become an annual affair and attracts leading golfers from all over the United States.

Tennis was Fred's first love, but after a shoulder injury several years ago, he had to give it up and found that golf was an excellent substitute. While at Bucknell he was a member of the Varsity tennis team for three years and earned his "B" in that sport.

On the golf course Fred stands out like a bird of paradise in a hen yard. He maintains that golf is one sport one can play without looking like Yogi Berra after a close one at the plate. He dazzles the gallery with his brilliant and varied dress. He is partial to knickerbockers (Sarazen style) on the golf course and has them made to order. Nor is he content with just plain knickers. They are embroidered across the hip pocket with golfing scenes. It is a matter of statistics that he has seven pairs of shoes, five golf bags, shirts, hats and gloves to go with them. Like love, Fred is "a many-splendored thing." He is not merely a bird of brilliant plumage, but an expert golfer. He missed last year's championship flight by only one stroke.

In addition to his golfing and his medical practice, Fred finds time to serve as chairman of a PTA cooperative study committee on "Teaching the Language Arts" and is active in the Rio Grande Valley and Harlingen Chambers of Commerce. He also serves in many civic and religious organizations. He says golf is his only recreational outlet.

And now with a golden pass, presented to him by the Eastern Intercollegiate Association, in his pocket Harry will follow the sport that is so much a part of him, not as a participant, but as a spectator that can be proud of his contribution to the youth of America.

Harry, of course, is continuing his full time job as director of parks and public property in the city of Harrisburg.

The Student View

by
GINNY EMMITT '59

HERE I am back at school with memories of vacation fun—going to parties, eating good food, seeing old friends, reuniting with the family. There is no doubt that vacation was great, but my memories go back even farther, they go back to a successful first semester filled with interesting, funny, and important events.

When we first got here in September, the big news was the swimming pool. Everyone was talking and raving about it. And it is worth talking and raving about. Mr. Freas and Mr. Rooke succeeded "in bringing the Jersey shore to Bucknell." Now we have everything except a few things like a chapel and a permanent social science building. But I'm sure they're on the way—eventually. The pool brought with it some changes and additions in the schedule of events. Swimming classes were added to the male and female gym program. The pool is also being used for intramural and varsity sports, rhythmic swimming, and general fun. The newest thing in Friday night activity is to take your girl swimming.

The next thing that I noticed was the many cars parked all around in the places made legal for parking. A lot of juniors are taking advantage of the new ruling that allows both juniors and seniors to have cars after paying a $20 registration fee. There are scattered rumors about sophomores having them next year—the class of '60 is keeping its fingers crossed. Something else new in the way of rulings is the return to the 1949 regulation on drinking, giving students greater responsibility.

Hilltop, the free Friday night movie in Vaughan Lit Auditorium, has had a good schedule of shows—"Red Shoes," "Hamlet," and two pictures starring Alec Guinness were outstanding. The list for the rest of this semester looks equally as entertaining.

Still in the arts vein, the Artist Series has planned an excellent schedule for the year, starting with "Men of Song," a quartet that entertained parents and students Dad's Day Weekend. Next was the well-received piano concert by Leonard Pennario. He pleased all tastes by playing Beethoven to Debussy and then for one of his encores playing his own work, the theme of the new movie, "Julie." Everyone is looking forward to the third program—a full symphonic orchestra coming the beginning of the second semester.

The first big dance of the year was the annual I. F. C.-Panhell dance with "The Commanders" as the orchestra. For the freshmen the first college formal is always a thrill, and for the upperclassmen—it was great even though some of the newness had worn off. Planning, decorating, and then finally attending is always fun.

The "300 acres" isn't completely divorced from the rest of the world. The campus was very much interested in the past election campaign. Prof. Hollister's class in political parties took an active part by campaigning on campus and assisting the party leaders in the local area. The night of the election, they staged a party in the gym annex with a television set bringing in the latest reports. And the girls were allowed out 'til 1 a. m. in stead of the usual 11 p. m. The staff of The Bucknellian, not to be outdone by The New York Times or Herald Tribune, published a special "Eisenhower Landslide" issue the Wednesday after Election Day. To do it they stayed up all night—it was hectic, but fun.

Internationally, the students are acutely aware of the situation in Hungary. In many ways we are trying to show our sympathies and to do something concrete to help. CA sponsored a campus and town drive for clothes. WUS is considering using one of its scholarships for a Hungarian student to come to Bucknell. In addition a "poverty meal," of cabbage and bread—to typify what the Hungarians are faced with—was served in all the dining halls and fraternity houses. The money saved ($450 from the university plus fraternity funds) was used for Hungarian relief. In addition to parties and dances, we do think about other things.

Fall is never complete without football games. Our season wasn't too good but the squad fought all the way. Like the Dodgers, we'll "wait 'til next year."

Right now plans for the annual Newsman's Conference are just about completed. It is again scheduled for the first week in February. Many prominent journalists have accepted invitations to speak and lead discussion groups. This conference, with the theme of "Explosions in the Making," ought to be a timely one because of the present international disturbances.

Because of the success of last year's jazz concert, MSA again sponsored one this year with Phineas Newborn's Quartet and the Pied 5 starring. It didn't matter if we couldn't dance because the performers were so entertaining. Sometimes it's more fun to watch than to participate.

From what I've said so far, it seems as if the semester was all fun. Although this is partially true, it isn't completely so. A minor disturbance to normal routine was a flash flood that broke a few main water pipes. We never knew how much we depended on that little formula, H₂O. Everyone had to eat on paper plates because there wasn't water to wash dishes. Chet's did a thriving business with Clorets because no one could brush his teeth. After a day and a half of inconvenience from no water, it was returned to the Sem, but not to the hill because of low pressure. The poor guys. After another day, they decided the situation was a wonderful excuse for a parade. So, en masse, they tramped down the hill chanting, "We Want Water!" (This is quite a switch from the chant two years ago—we want BEER.) They were agitating to close school for the rest of the week, but to no avail. They got water the next day, and everything smelled normal again.

Another campus-rocking disturbance was the discussion over the racial inferences of minstrel shows. It was claimed, with some

Freshmen — Class of 1960 — and Their Bucknell Relatives

Thirty-eight members of the freshman class and four students above the first year level are the sons or daughters of Bucknell parents, and the total of 127 of the entering class of 623 new students have relatives who are Bucknellians. Among the relatives listed are three grandmothers, seven grandfathers, twenty-nine brothers, twenty-five sisters, twenty-two uncles, nine aunts, and eighty-seven cousins and other more distant relatives.

This year's entering students who are children of Bucknellians are listed below with their Bucknellian parents' names.

AMONG THE CLUBS

SAN FRANCISCO—On September 4, the Northern-California Alumni Association held a dinner meeting at Joe DiMaggio's Restaurant near Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco. There were 22 present.

After the dinner, election of officers was held. Those elected are: president, Harry F. Hartzell '08; vice-president, "Sandy" Sanger '47; secretary, Eleanor H. Bendell '41; treasurer, Harry H. Pierson '28.

Luncheon meetings are planned for DiMaggio's Restaurant, Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, the first Tuesday of every month, starting in November, excepting December, March, June and September when dinner meetings will be held. All Alumni in the area are invited to attend.

—ELEANOR H. BENDELL '41,
Secretary

The Bucknell Alumni Club of York arriving by bus for the Gettysburg game at Hershey.

The above group attended the Northern-California Alumni dinner at DiMaggio's Restaurant on September 4. Back row, left to right: Martha Sanger, Sandy Sanger, Harry Pierson, Eleanor Bendell, Paul Clark, Howard Rosenberger, Marie Clark, Dick Riley, Gloria Cox, Lois Forman, George Mattis, Mrs. Hartzell, Mrs. Houston, R. E. Houston, Whit Jett. Front row: Mabel Lavers, Ted Lavers, Bunny Roush, Jane Jett, Harry Hartzell, Charles Roush.

LONG ISLAND—On Friday evening, September 7th, the Bucknell Club of Long Island held a meeting and Freshman Reception at the Community Church in East Williston. Some 175 freshmen and their parents, Alumni and current students attended.

Officers elected for the coming year were D. Eugene Long '28, president; Robert B. Schey '49, vice-president; Cynthia Doremus Porter '55, secretary; Paul H. Crago '30, treasurer.

Following the brief business meeting two panels composed of 6 upperclass men and 6 upperclass women, supervised by Gene Long '28 and Ruth Rohr Lining '34, respectively, described campus life and activities at Bucknell. The opportunity provided for the panel members to answer many of the questions of the freshmen and their parents was well taken. Much helpful information was supplied to these new members of the Bucknell Family.

After the discussion period, refreshments were served. Everyone enjoyed this opportunity to become better acquainted.

—NELSON E. WENDT '34

ROCHESTER—A preview of college life was given to the thirteen freshmen entering Bucknell in September from the Rochester area. They were guests of honor at a reception held on September 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lewis. The reception invitations were issued by William Z. Huff '47, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Rochester.

TRENTON—The annual reception for freshmen and their parents was held at the country home of the Joe Quick's on Sunday, September 9, with approximately 150 freshmen, alumni, parents, and friends in attendance.

As always, the Quick's ample acres provided a splendid background for the entertainment of the guests. Horseback riding, carriage rides, archery, baseball, croquet, etc. built up the super appetites that were brought to the picnic dinner.

This largest and best of the annual freshman receptions demonstrated again that the Quick's country home is an ever more pleasant gathering place for Bucknellians in the Trenton Club Area.

WEST VIRGINIA—The Bucknell Alumni Club of West Virginia enjoyed a most delightful dinner and a very pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Riley at Pruntytown, on Saturday, October 6.

There were fifteen present including the children. Most families were from the northern part of the state.

Future meetings were left to the discretion of the president with discussion pointing to a late spring or early summer 1957 meeting at some north-central West Virginia location.

WILMINGTON—On Saturday, October 13, a small but enthusiastic group from Wilmington met at Boines Restaurant for lunch before journeying to the Bucknell-Delaware football game. After a very nice luncheon, during which Bruce Rossiter, assistant alumni secretary, and Mrs. Rossiter from Lewisburg gave us a resume of the latest news from the campus, we proceeded on to the U of D and the game. I think all of us will agree that the highlight of the afternoon was the Bison band in their new uniforms. 'Nuf said about the game!

May I take this time to invite, in fact urge, any and all of the Bucknell alumni in the area to be with us the next time your Wilmington club meets. You will see some old friends! Watch for the announcement in this column.

—NANCY E. TATNALL '51,
Secretary

YORK—An executive council meeting was held June 19 with eleven members present. The purpose of the meeting was to plan activities for the next nine months.

Forty Alumni and guests attended our annual picnic on July 14, at Marlyn Etzweiler's '27 summer home located at Long Level on the Susquehanna River. A catered picnic supper was served and everyone had a most enjoyable time.

The next club affair, a freshmen reception and swimming party, held on August 25, was attended by twenty-eight persons.

The three freshmen from this district and their parents were guests of the club at this event, which was held at the home of our club president Levere M. Leese '34, 1124 Hollywood Terrace, York. Two Bucknell students, Jon Minnich '57 and Miss Josephine Ruff '58 talked about campus life to the new students.

Forty-one Bucknellians and friends attended the Bucknell-Gettysburg football game, as a group, in Hershey, Pennsylvania, on September 29. Transportation for twenty-six of these was provided by a chartered bus. The group enjoyed a fine dinner at the Community Inn, Hershey, prior to the game. We feel this is one way to get the club members and their families better acquainted.

On November 23, our club held a successful Holiday Dance for Bucknellians and friends at the Outdoor Country Club, York, Pennsylvania.

Plans are now being formulated for our annual banquet to be held on February 2, at the Triangle Restaurant, near York. Our guest speaker from the campus will be Prof. Anthony A. Krzywicki.

—LLOYD S. HOFFMAN '32

PITTSFIELD—All officers of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Massachusetts were re-elected at a dinner meeting held at the Stanley Club, Pittsfield, on November 13. They are Stephen Terpak '24, president; Albert F. Rohlf's '37, vice-president; Roger O'Gara '35, secretary-treasurer.

Seventeen alumni from Pittsfield, Dalton, Lee, Longmeadow and Westfield attended the dinner which was followed by an address by the alumni secretary.

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Michigan-Toledo gathered in Ann Arbor, Michigan, on November 10th, to attend the Michigan-Illinois gridiron battle. Those of us who were able to attend the game had excellent seats, thanks to our good friend Art Brandon. We were treated to a thrilling football game in which Michigan defeated Illinois 17 to 7. The University of Michigan had a real team this year!

After the game, twenty-nine Bucknellians and friends held a very enjoyable social gathering and supper at the home of the Art Brandons in Ann Arbor. The get-together brought back fond memories of past year's moments of fun after the "big game."

It was decided that the present officers of the Michigan-Toledo Club continue in office until next year. Many of the Bucknellians present expressed a desire

Dr. Jones Named Consultant On State Program

Dr. C. Herschel Jones, associate professor of political science, has accepted an appointment as Consultant on Personnel Administration in the office of the State government. The appointment will involve research and the preparation of a manual governing personnel administration in the State service.

This appointment follows another assignment as Consultant on Personnel Administration for the Pennsylvania State Reorganization Commission. Dr. Jones received last summer, at which time he prepared a report and recommendations on personnel procedures.

Dr. Jones recently represented Bucknell at a meeting of the policy committee for the Washington Semester Program in Washington, D. C., in which five Bucknell students are currently participating.

The two-day meeting of the Committee marks the tenth anniversary of the program which began in 1947 with six colleges participating in the unique educational program. Through its operation today honor students from 73 colleges throughout the country are permitted to spend one semester attending classes and doing special research in Washington.

Faculty Members Emeritus Honored

At a recognition dinner at the University Cafeteria eleven members of the Bucknell faculty were recently honored as having attained emeritus status. President Merle M. Odgers awarded certificates to the group "in appreciation of service to Bucknell University, and in recognition of devotion to the welfare of students, and to the quest for durable knowledge."

Those honored were Dr. Floyd G. Ballentine, Latin; Prof. Frank E. Burpee, mechanical engineering; Dr. Frank G. Davis, education; Miss Mary H. Hunt, recorder; Dr. Robert L. Matz, economics; Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg, vice president and dean; Prof. Frank M. Simpson, physics; Dr. Norman H. Stewart, zoology; Dr. Paul G. Stolz, music; Dr. Lewis E. Theiss, journalism; and Miss Grace Jenkins, music.

Dr. Jacobs Begins Research Program

Why do we sometimes crave sweets? To find the answer, Dr. Harry L. Jacobs, assistant professor in psychology at Bucknell University, has begun a two-year research program with a grant of $4500 from the National Science Foundation.

To study the factors which operate in man's hunger for sugar, Dr. Jacobs will extend the research which he originally began under a grant from the American Philosophical Society of Philadelphia.

During the past summer, he spent several weeks at Cornell University and at Johns Hopkins Hospital for preliminary study and consultation with other researchers interested in the problems relevant to the "sweet tooth."

His laboratory work nearly completed, Dr. Jacobs will shortly begin his experiments, using rats, chickens, and humans as his subjects. Two Bucknell students, Miss Virginia Davis, a biology major from Danville, and Joel Lesser, a psychology student from Woodmere, N. Y., have been appointed research assistants for this project.

Dr. Beatrice Gonzalez Returns From Spain

MISS BEATRICE GONZALEZ

Miss Beatrice Gonzalez, associate professor of Spanish, has been awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy by Salamanca University, Spain. Miss Gonzalez has returned to the campus from a leave of absence that began this past February. She is shown above in her newly earned academic cap and gown.

Dr. Garvin Publishes Essay

Dr. Harry R. Garvin, associate professor of English, has published a critical essay on "Camus and the American Novel," in a recent issue of Comparative Literature.

In his article Professor Garvin tries to reverse the accepted opinion of critics that Albert Camus' The Plague (1947) is a deeper work of art than the French novelist's The Stranger (1942). Besides comparing closely the artistic elements and the ideas of the two novels, Professor Garvin points out the possible indebtedness of Camus in The Stranger to some of the major American novelists of the 1920's.

Nevertheless, Camus and other French novelists and critics now attack the American novelists for their pessimism, although they once praised Hemingway and Faulkner for their revolutionary technical innovations and for their ethics of total sincerity. Dr. Garvin contends that Camus, like Jean-Paul Sartre, has never really understood that beneath the pessimism of Hemingway and Faulkner there has nearly always been a hard-won, tough idealism.

Professors Help Found Industrial Council

Dr. Richard E. DuWors, Dr. Wendell L. Smith and Dr. Albert Pierce, members of the faculty have been instrumental in founding a seven-county organization, the Susquehanna Economic Development Association for the purpose of studying the possibility of establishing new industries in a community.

A Lewisburg SEDA chapter was recently organized and a steering committee of nine Lewisburgers was elected to head the organization.

Dr. Karraker Wins Listing in 'Who's Who'

Dr. Cyrus H. Karraker, chairman of the history department of Bucknell, has been added to the distinguished list of "Who's Who in America."

The announcement of his appointment was made in the March issue of The Monthly Supplement to Who's Who, which is a current biographical reference service.

A native of Illinois, Dr. Karraker received his B. A. from Lake Forest, (Illinois) College, 1916; Master of Arts, University of Michigan, 1921; Ph.D. in European History, University of Pennsylvania, 1927. He has been a member of the Bucknell faculty since 1933. He is the father of David Karraker '50 and Louise Karraker Furman '48.

He was recently elected to the board of trustees of the 52-year-old National Child Labor Committee. Dr. Karraker was one of two new members elected.

In addition to his teaching duties, Dr. Karraker serves as president of the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee on Migrant Labor.

This past summer he wrote two articles on migrant child laborers. "Forgotten Child Laborers" was published in The Christian Century of June 13 and has been reprinted and distributed by the National Child Labor Committee. The second article, "Our Neglected Migrant Children," was printed in Friends Journal of September 1.

Four Faculty Members Get Research Funds

Four Bucknell professors received grants for summer research, by action of the University Committee for the Encouragement of Graduate Study and Research.

They are Dr. Roger H. Bowman, assistant professor of physiology; Dr. Kenneth Ward Hooker, professor of English; Dr. William D. McRae, chairman of the music department and Dr. Albert Pierce, associate professor of sociology.

The grants this year were awarded for projects whose purpose is the extension of human knowledge rather than for completing degree requirements.

The first undergraduate research stipend ever awarded by the Social Science Research Council to a Bucknell University student has been given to Miss Mary E. Crocker, a senior from Elmira, N. Y.

Miss Crocker has received a grant of $600 in support of a research project which she designed and is carrying out under the supervision of Dr. Harry L. Jacobs, assistant professor of psychology.

Experimental work on the project was conducted by Miss Crocker during the summer. She plans to complete her final report during the fall semester.

If the faces of some 125 sophomore men enrolled in engineering courses at Bucknell University are a bit red these days, the reason may be understandable.

When the annual undergraduate prizes for scholastic excellence were announced the Tau Beta Pi award for the engineer making the highest grades in the freshman year went to a coed, namely Marilyn J. Ekiss of Grand Island, N. Y., who is enrolled in the chemical engineering course.

Bison Gridders Win Three, Lose Five

By capturing three of their eight games in 1956, the Bucknell football team improved upon its 2-6-1 record of the previous year. With a few breaks this could have been a pretty good season, but the team was constantly hampered by injuries, fumbles and a general lack of manpower. In view of the better-stocked opposition that was met, coach Harry Lawrence's gamesters didn't do a bad job.

After whipping Albright, 13-0, and Gettysburg, 17-7, the Bisons bowed to Lehigh, 25-6, and Delaware, 26-7. Then followed a hard-to-take defeat at the hands of unbeaten Lafayette, 13-7. It was a tussle in which the underdog Orange and Blue tallied first, only to fall behind early in the second quarter. Bucknell spent the remainder of the skirmish trying in vain to catch up with and pass their old rivals from Easton. The Herd nearly succeeded, too. With only four minutes to play a dive by quarterback Jimmy Stewart missed a first down by inches on the Leopards' 13-yard line. That killed the Bisons' final threat.

The following Saturday at Philadelphia Bucknell earned the early edge by virtue of some fancy running by Billy Ross and Don Koppes, who gained 96 yards during the afternoon, and held on to trip Temple 12-6. The Herd thus retained the Old Shoe Trophy for the sixth time in seven years.

The less said about the Buffalo battle, the better it will be. After an effective aerial attack, spearheaded by quarterback Terry Fetterman, had brought the Bisons a 13-6 advantage in the second quarter, the earth fell out from under them. The Bulls' unheralded quarterback, Joe Kubisty, connected on 14 of 19 passes for 250 yards to account for all five of his team's touchdowns in a surprising 31-13 conquest of Bucknell.

Down but by no means out, the Bisons journeyed to Hamilton, N. Y. to engage potent Colgate and they wound up giving one of their very best performances before submitting by a 26-12 count. Through the opening half the Herd nursed a 6-0 lead, the product of a nine-yard dash to pay-dirt by Koppes, using only 13 men in the process. Toward the end of the third period, however, Lawrence's lads started to run out of gas, and the Red Raiders snapped a 6-6 deadlock with less than 20 minutes to play and went on to gain their eventual triumph.

If, for any reason, Harry Lawrence had any doubts about his team's fighting spirit they were certainly dispelled by the courageous scrap with Colgate. While the squad was thin it did give everything it had. No one could have wanted more.

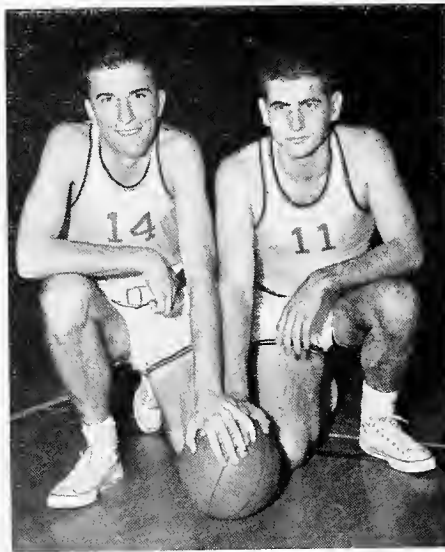

Soccermen Finish 3-3-3

The Bucknell soccer team defeated Delaware 3-0 in its finale and squared its record at three wins, three losses and three ties. Last year the booters were 4-4-2, so while they may not be world-beaters they are consistent, and not bad either.

Under the guidance of Coach Hank Peters the Bisons started inauspiciously, bowing to Penn State, 7-0. But with seniors Lee Hamilton, Marion, Ohio, and Mickey Finley, Philadelphia, and sophomore Goalie Bill Sharp, Lawrenceville, N. J., showing the way, the Herd rebounded to play creditable soccer the rest of the season.

Opponents claimed as victims in addition to Delaware were Temple and Gettysburg, both in 2-1 scores. The other

Although lacking in five standout performers, Bucknell's basketball team got away to a rousing start by blasting Cornell, Gettysburg and Lehigh in order. Even more impressive was the fact that both the Big Red and the Engineers were beaten on their own courts.

The secret of the Bisons' early success was a benchful of hungry athletes who, in many cases, were equal in ability to the starters. As soon as his first line showed signs of faltering coach Ben Kribbs would dip into his reserve fund and come up with the right man for the job. Sometimes, as was the case in the Lehigh tilt, even the emergency units will have to be juggled to provide the answer.

At Bethlehem, in the thriller to end all thrillers, the Herd was stymied by a tight Lehigh zone defense. After ten futile minutes the first Bucknell subs got into the contest. After that it was a constant shuffling and reshuffling of personnel as the various combinations proved inadequate. Finally, with less than five minutes to play and the Bisons trailing 62-53, a mixture of two seniors, a junior and a pair of sophs started to click. Kribbs' crew reeled off ten straight points to grab the lead it had lost, then regained it for keeps when 6-4 John Beatty slipped in a hook shot, his fourth in as many tries, with only 22 seconds remaining.

Beatty, of Charleroi, who had been sidelined by a foot injury through the Cornell and Gettysburg conflicts, made an auspicious 1956 debut after entering the battle in the final quarter. Sophs Jack Flanagan, Lansdowne, and Dick Kniffin, Dumont, N. J., also made major contributions with eight points apiece in their limited last period action. Norm Voorhees, Meadville, senior, flashed his old form against the Engineers and will be of definite assistance during the long campaign. Skilled playmaker Bob two setbacks were dealt by Johns Hopkins, 4-1, and Elizabethtown, 2-0. Wilkes and Franklin and Marshall were battled to 1-1 stalemates, and Bucknell and Washington College scrapped to a scoreless draw.

Salankiewicz, a junior from Ford City, was the fifth member of the heroic rescue squad that salvaged the 72-65 triumph over Lehigh.

The earlier struggles were marked by co-captain Marty Tannenbaum's 28-point output at Ithaca, N. Y. to rock the Big Red, 60-54. Co-captain Skip Wieder, Plainfield, N. J., also chipped in with 14 counters in this hard-earned decision.

At home against Gettysburg the Bisons had trouble connecting until sub Mike Corrigan, senior from Kutztown, entered the fracas. Mike proceeded to pepper the hoop for 18 points with long one-handers, a feat he duplicated against Lehigh. Hal Danzig, Rochester, N. Y., a 6 6 soph, has done yeoman work off the boards and clipped the Bullets for 20 points.

Frosh Dribblers Show Promise

Coach Bill Lane's freshman basketkeeters were humbled by Cornell, 65-55, in their opener but certainly didn't disgrace themselves. They sliced a 13-point lead to a mere two points with but a few minutes remaining but then ran out of gas. Center Bob Horn, Erie, paced the scorers with 15 points at Ithaca.

The next time out the Baby Bisons soundly thrashed Gettysburg's frosh 86-68, as Pete Matz, Fanwood, N. J., collected 26 markers and Horn was back with 21. Matz missed the Cornell clash due to illness.

Pete Sylvester's 19 points sparked the Bucknell yearlings to a 66-61 verdict over Lehigh's frosh. The Endicott, N. Y., set shot specialist helped the Herd riddle the Engineers' stubborn zone defense.

In addition to those already mentioned, the top freshman prospects appear to be 6-2 Bob Johns, Lancaster, a terrific rebounder, and Tommy Thompson, Kane, a slick backcourt operator.

Kress Benefaction Announced At Board Meeting

Bucknell University has received a gift of $100,000 from the Samuel H. Kress Foundation, New York City, representing the first payment on a pledge of one million dollars for endowment purposes, it was announced at the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees in Philadelphia, Dec. 8.

The foundation, headed by Rush H. Kress '00, Bucknell alumnus and honorary trustee chairman, has offered to contribute one dollar for every four dollars donated to the endowment fund by trustees, alumni, and friends of the University. Under this arrangement, the foundation will pay up to a maximum of one million dollars.

Payments will be made by the foundation in installments of $100,000 for each $400,000 added to the endowment fund by other donors until the offer expires in 1961.

The initial payment was based on the University's report of endowment gifts of $400,000 contributed since the Kress Foundation first offered to add to the endowment fund.

Bucknell is currently seeking to raise five million dollars in additional endowment for faculty salaries as one of the major objectives of her Second Century Development Program.

President Odgers said the gift from the Kress Foundation would provide a vital stimulus in the fund-raising effort and expressed to foundation officials his appreciation of their faith in the future of the independent, privately endowed college as an essential American institution.

Presentation of special Bucknell pins to four men who had served for 25 or more years on the Board of Trustees was made by President Odgers at the trustee meeting in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

New Members of the "25-Year Club" who received their emblems included David Burpee, H. Boardman Hopper Hon.'56, Robert L. Rooke '13, Hon.'51 and John T. Shirley '09.

Three other Board members who have served at least 25 years but could not be present for the meeting are Rush H. Kress '00, Dr. Harvey F. Smith '94, Hon.'24 and Andrew J. Sordani Hon.'50. They are slated to receive their pins at the trustee meeting in June.

Andrew R. Mathieson '20, Chairman of the Board Committee on Alumni Relations, presented his committee report on alumni progress and plans. R. Henry Coleman '29, Chairman of the University Committee on Development, presented development plans for Board consideration.

Second Science Fair

Bucknell University has again offered its facilities for a Susquehanna Valley Science Fair open to high school students in 11 central Pennsylvania counties in April.

Success of the first Science Fair held at Bucknell last spring and sponsored by the West Branch Manufacturers Association prompted the University's offer, according to Dean Earl D. Hartzell.

Students from 31 high schools in the area entered a total of 262 exhibits in last year's Fair which acted as a potent force in stimulating interest in the sciences on the part of both student and regional resident.

The two top finalists whose entries were judged the best, along with their teachers, were given all expenses paid trip to the National Science Fair in Oklahoma City,

Bucknell Review, December 1956

The December 1956 issue of the Bucknell Review should be of unusual interest to the common reader. Though the three articles are all concerned with imaginative literature, they are not addressed primarily to the literary specialist. Although they discuss an American novelist, a French novelist and an English poet, the articles display a common interest in the problem of time that gives this issue unity and reveals interesting relationships between the techniques and artists treated.

Willard Thorp, Professor of English, Princeton University, in The Way Back and the Way Up: the novels of Caroline Gordon provides an unusually useful survey of the fiction of Caroline Gordon, wife of Allen Tate, and a contemporary American novelist of distinction who has never met with the wide audience she deserves. For those of us who came late to Miss Gordon's work with her most recent and widely reviewed novel, The Malefactors, or who know only several of her short stories from anthologies, Mr. Thorp's outline of her development as a novelist and his brief discussion of each of her books is helpful and illuminating. He distinguishes her principal themes, provides a perceptive analysis of her techniques, and demonstrates new directions in her fiction since her conversion to Catholicism.

Germaine Bree, Professor of French, New York University, as the title of her article, "From Jean Santeuil to Time Regained," suggests, reviews briefly the major events in Proustian scholarship in the nineteen fifties. She explains the importance Jean Santeuil and Contre Sainte Beuve have, not so much in themselves, but in establishing an unbroken line from Les Plaisirs et les Jours to La Recherche du Temps Perdu. They not only make necessary a revision of popular impressions of the young Proust, but, much more importantly, they provide us with the necessary clues for studying the long development of his ultimate masterpiece, particularly the gradual development of the "I" of the narrator.

In the third and fullest article, "Andrew Marvell and the Winged Chariot," John Wheatcroft, Instructor in English, Bucknell University, discusses the problem of time as it obsessed the imagination of the Renaissance and seventeenth century and the resolution of it achieved by Andrew Marvell in his poetry. This theme and the images that carry it are examined closely but tactfully in the work of Marvell and his contemporaries, and a full explication of "To His Coy Mistress" is made possible that is satisfying and suggestive.

JOSEPH GUERINOT, Instructor in English
Bucknell University

while other winners and their schools were awarded trophies or plaques.

In addition, the Sunbury Dairy Item presented a $200 Bucknell scholarship to the student from the immediate area whose entry was judged the best and the Lewisburg Kiwanis Club awarded cash prizes to the two local high school students with the best entries.

Dean Hartzell has named Captain H. F. Eckberg, U. S. N., retired, newly appointed professor of mechanical engineering at Bucknell, as chairman of the University's Fair committee. Professor Emil Polak, who ably handled the arrangements last year, will assist him as co-chairman.

Scholarships, Student Aids Total $168,398

Scholarships and other student aid awarded by Bucknell University during the past college year totaled $168,398.53.

Of this amount $102,033.30 was granted in the form of scholarships, while $66,365.23 was received by students in the form of compensation for student service.

Scholarship grants, including both graduate and undergraduate awards, went to 197 students or about 10 per cent of the student body. Financial need of the applicant is the principal consideration in awarding of scholarships by the Student Aid Committee.

It may also be noted that the student's rank in his secondary school graduating class and his scores on the College Board tests are other important criteria in determining whether or not the applicant qualifies.

A total of 410 students or about one student in every five was employed by the University. Approximately 100 of these earned at least 25% of their college expenses. Most of the students employed were upper-classmen, since Bucknell does not normally engage freshmen for student service.

John B. Rishel '15 Dies

John Rishel, 65, of the Class of 1915, died on October 15, 1956, in Denver, Colo. He suffered a heart attack October 11 and was confined to the hospital where he remained till his death.

He had been recently honored at the Kepner Junior High School, in Englewood, Colo., when a large and enthusiastic audience gathered to pay tribute to him on the eve of his retirement after 44 years of teaching.

On May 18, 1956, a fitting tribute to this devoted man appeared in the Denver Rocky Mountain News:

"A Teacher Really Appreciated—

"I was one of the many students who sat in the auditorium of Kepner Junior High School that warm, sunny day. I looked at a familiar figure there on the stage. Maybe he had a few more grey hairs than when I first saw him three years before in that very same place.

"He stood there giving us his farewell speech, just as jolly as ever. Somehow I couldn't believe he was really leaving.

"I heard him tell of his 44 years of teaching. I thought, 'It must be hard to leave.'

"When he said 'Goodby, I love each and everyone of you. God Bless you,' our tears spilled over. Our clapping hands sounded like thunder and everyone stood in tribute to a wonderful, unforgettable man.

"Our principal, John B. Rishel, has left us, left us a heritage I want to tell about.

"Oh, when so wise a one as he Shall stand before me merrily
Woes and troubles soon forgot
I look toward life I fear it not.
When on my face his knowing glance
Should find some sorrow, quite by chance
He hurries quickly, wipes away
Any sign of a tearful day.
He leads us on to a better life
We learn to take it, joy or strife
Oh yes, good sir, we know you to be
The kind of man we give heart and key."
A Lucky Teen."

John earned his master of arts degree from Bucknell University in 1927. He was a science teacher in Williamsport for several years, and in 1924 moved to Denver, because of his wife's health. He was principal of the Kepner Junior High School and was on the faculty of Loretto Heights College during his residence in Colorado. In addition to his many educational and community activities he was an avid ornithologist and had taught natural science courses at the University of Colorado summer school.

Dr. Charles E. Bunnell '00 Dies

Dr. Charles E. Bunnell, 78, a member of the Class of 1900 died November 1 in San Francisco, Calif.

Dr. Bunnell was graduated with a doctor of philosophy degree from Bucknell University in 1900 and became a teacher and principal in public schools in Alaska. He also practiced law there from 1909 to 1914 and was named a federal judge in the latter year.

Named president of Alaska College and School of Mines in 1921, he established what is now the University of Alaska the following year with six students. At the close of the first year enrollment had reached 62 students. Dr. Bunnell served as president of the institution until 1949, earning wide renown as the "foremost educator in the territory of Alaska."

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Jean Bunnell, San Francisco, and a sister, Mrs. Louise Bunnell Washburn, Jacksonville, Fla.

John J. Sitarsky '36, Dies

John J. Sitarsky, 44, a member of the Class of 1936 died unexpectedly November 2, 1956, while visiting in Sunbury.

Well known in Williamsport and throughout Pennsylvania for his sports work, Mr. Sitarsky had been a member of the Northeastern Penitentiary Staff at Lewisburg since 1947. Last January he was promoted from custodian officer to recreation supervisor. A memorial trophy in his name has been established by the inmates of the penitentiary.

Mr. Sitarsky led Bucknell University to a 25-0 win over the University of Miami in the first Orange Bowl game in 1934. He was named freshman football and basketball coach at Bucknell in 1937. While a student he played football, basketball, baseball, track and field, and captained the football and basketball teams in 1935.

Mr. Sitarsky was a native of Milton. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Thelma Sitarsky; a son, a brother and two sisters.

HARRISBURG—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg held its regular monthly dinner meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on October 4. Twenty-eight members and friends were present. Mr. Saylor gave the invocation before dinner.

Following dinner, Bruce Butt presented his monthly report concerning the various activities of Bucknell Alumni. There was no secretary's report or treasurer's report.

Our President, Mrs. William Barnes, introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. Eugene L. Simm, traffic engineer for the city of Harrisburg. Mr. Simm, who just recently came to Harrisburg from New Haven, Conn., where he was associated with a firm of traffic engineering consultants, has spent the past fifteen years coping with the traffic problems of various cities in the United States. Everyone present benefited from Mr. Simm's informative presentation concerning the establishment of one-way streets in the city, as well as the many current traffic problems for which a solution is hoped to be found in the near future. A discussion period followed Mr. Simm's presentation.

Twenty-four Bucknellians attended the monthly meeting November 1. Bruce Butt '16 gave the invocation.

After presenting his monthly report concerning the various activities of Bucknell Alumni; Bruce Butt introduced and extended a cordial welcome to three guests—Miss Barbara Budd, Mrs. Grace Cassel, and Mr. John Ernest.

The President, Mrs. William Barnes, announced the nominating committee, and requested that they prepare a slate of new officers to be presented at the December meeting. This committee is composed of Dr. Eugene Bertin, Mr. Frank Williams, and Mr. Carl Sprout. Mrs. Barnes also announced that the December meeting will be in the form of our annual Christmas Party with William Schaffner acting as chairman for the meeting.

SOUTH CAROLINA—The night of November 3, proved that the Bucknell Spirit is very much alive in South Carolina. Twelve of us met at the home of Merilyn and Walt Roll (Merilyn Crim '52), where we enjoyed a delicious buffet supper. Plans were made for our Birthday meeting in February with Trudy Sonnichsen '50 in charge of arrangements. It was decided to hold three meetings a year—the Birthday Party in February, a picnic in the Spring, and the Fall meeting.

After the short business meeting we all thoroughly enjoyed the social period which followed.

We do hope that fellow South Carolinians who have not been able to attend one of our meetings will try to be with us in February or will contact us as to plans for future meetings.

ST. PETERSBURG—There were 16 present at the fall meeting of the St. Petersburg Bucknell Club, held at the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Gulbert Lyte, 731 68th Ave. South. We welcomed George Campuzano, '13 as a new member, living at 7405 15th St. North. After luncheon and admiration of the beautiful new home president, Gilbert Lyte presided at the meeting. Deaths of Ralph Koser, and Dr. Yoder were reported. Cards of sympathy were sent, and several get-well cards. A letter from Dr. Lewis Hylbert in California and other messages were read. Members told of their travels during the summer. The Browns traveled abroad seeing the wonders of the Alps and other beauties of Switzerland, old castles, ruins and the tulips of Holland. George Bailets told of the progress of Bucknell after his visit last commencement time. The Headlands covered a large range of territory as they visited their large family in various areas and their many friends.

New address books, made by the secretary, were distributed to members. Dick Stauffer has had a serious operation, but he is improving. He has bought a home here, living at 17405 First Street East Redington Shores, Gulf Beaches. Mrs. Headland was appointed to arrange for our annual dinner, Feb. 2nd. Visiting alumni are invited. Telephone the Secretary, 572344, or write, Ruth S. Porter, 2710 Dartmouth Ave. North.

degree of validity, that this type of show was a derogatory mockery of the Negro race. However, the opponents failed to take into consideration the context of the show itself. Of the two examples presented this fall, one typified everything that had been charged, but the other one was full of "plain, good fun." This little discussion didn't mar the semester in any permanent way, nor did it create any lasting feuds.

An event never to be forgotten is the annual Ugly Man Contest, sponsored by Mortar Board. This unusual contest is marked by crazy and clever posters such as "Ugliness is Philness" and in the dining hall "If you think this juice is bad, just look at who's pouring it." Instead of by ballots, the winner is chosen by the amount of money dropped in his milk bottle—every penny is a vote. Mortar Board uses the money for a scholarship fund. Despite a march of the Sigs through the Sem with arms outstretched for money for their candidate, Earl "Audie" Evans was victorious. He was crowned "Ugly Man" at the coronation at Chet's, and then he and his court were honored by a 'banquet' in the women's dining hall.

Now with the first semester coming to a close, there isn't much scheduled until next semester except studying for exams, cramming for exams, and then taking exams. There are a few other things like the Military Ball, a freshman-sophomore party, and frantic last-minute rushing.

Note—Ginny Emmitt is Virginia M. Emmitt, a sophomore from Madison, N. J., daughter of Bill Emmitt '30 and Gertrude Brooks Emmitt '30.

FOUNDATIONS, CORPORATIONS AND BUCKNELL

We read and hear much about the growing awareness on the part of industry and foundations of the "plight" of the privately-endowed colleges. And almost daily we notice encouraging reports of contributions to colleges by foundations and business concerns, and we cannot help but wonder, "To what extent and from what sources do these gifts help Bucknell?" The present article is an attempt to give a comprehensive answer to that question.

True, during the past three years, alumni have been informed of the total amounts of industry and foundation donations (See THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, Nov. '54, Nov. '55, Nov. '56) but never before have we published the details of the sources of these funds and the purposes for which they have been used.

Foundation, business and industry gifts reach the University through three main avenues: (a) Direct Gifts from Corporations and Foundations, (b) Indirect Gifts through the Foundation for Independent Colleges, Inc. of Pennsylvania, and (c) Industry Gifts to Match Alumni Giving.

Direct Gifts From Corporations and Foundations

"Which came first, the chicken or the egg?" is as easy to answer as to find out whether foundation and corporation giving started by Education asking for help or Foundations offering help. Suffice it to say that doubts concerning corporate responsibility in the field of higher education have changed to a general acceptance of the principle of corporate aid. No longer is there a question of the moral and legal rights of management to expend corporate funds for this purpose. A realization that eighty-eight per cent of top business and industry leadership is now college-trained and that seventy-one per cent comes from private colleges shows that it is to the interest of business and industry to maintain and develop this great source of manpower and womanpower.

From foundations, Bucknell University received, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956, a total of $392,228.41. Of this sum, $295,000.00 was received from the Ford Foundation as the first payment of the $538,100.00 grant as endowment for the increase of faculty salaries. The crucial test of this great gift will lie in its success in stimulating others to continue the start which has been made. It is estimated that the income from the Ford grant will increase salaries about 4½% to 5%, but five times this amount is required just to restore salaries to their 1939 purchasing power level, and many more times the amount is needed to provide ADEQUATE salaries.

Foundation gifts were used for the purposes indicated by the donors, as follows:

Endowment	$308,811.41
Capital Gifts	50,000.00
Current Use	20,977.00
Scholarships	6,250.00
Research Projects	6,190.00

In the last fiscal year, gifts were made by the following Foundations:

FOUNDATIONS

Alcoa Foundation
Asia Foundation
Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation
Esso Foundation
Flogg Foundation
Ford Foundation
Freas Foundation
Foundation for Independent Colleges, Inc., of Pennsylvania
Hall Foundation
Johns-Monville Foundation
Henry Kalman Foundation
Kitt-Mullen Foundation
Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane
Osteopathic Foundation
Presser Foundation
Research Corporation
Westinghouse Educational Foundation

Business and industry gifts to Bucknell during the fiscal period ending June 30, 1956, amounted to $42,111.75 applied, by instruction of the donors to these purposes:

Current Use	$19,700.00
Scholarships	10,675.05
Capital Gifts	6,436.70
Research	5,000.00
Miscellaneous	300.00

The roll of business and industry donors for last year includes:

CORPORATIONS

American Cyanamid Company
American Stores, Incorporated
American Viscose Corporation
Armstrong Cork Company

Bethlehem Steel
Beyer and Fortner
Carnegie Corporation of New York
Citizen's Electric Company
Calgate-Palmolive Corporation

The Foundation for Independent Colleges, Inc. of Pennsylvania

Included in the foundation contributions listed above is $11,811.41 received through The Foundation for Independent Colleges, Inc. of Pennsylvania. This represents the return from a young but growing co-operative movement for support of higher education. The movement had its beginning in 1948 when two college presidents in Indiana joined forces to inform businessmen of the place of free enterprise in education in the economy, culture, and progress of their State, and the financial plight of colleges which do not receive support from tax sources. In these short years the movement has grown to national stature and now embraces thirty-seven organizations covering forty states, with a combined membership of four hundred and forty-six institutions of higher learning. The Pennsylvania counterpart in this movement was organized late in 1952, and in its fourth year received 215 gifts totalling $308,296.24, a gain of 79% over the previous year. The procedure is simple yet convincing—college presidents, two by two, present the needs of the forty member-colleges to the heads of business concerns in the businessman's office in one-week tours of duty in the fall and again in the spring.

Bucknellians can be proud of the achievements of the Pennsylvania Foundation, which have been accomplished by the devoted and often sacrificial efforts of its college presidents. At the same time, it is evident that only a start has been made. While the gifts this past year surpassed $300,000, the gap between this sum and the minimum realistic need of $1,600,000 from business and industry operating in Pennsylvania shows the magnitude of the job to be accomplished. Only by receiving the support of additional hundreds of corporations, large and small, and raising the level of support from present donors, can the essential requirements of privately-supported Pennsylvania colleges be met. In this area of fund-raising Bucknell alumni can be most helpful by suggesting to their employers and business associates the support of independent higher education in Pennsylvania through annual gifts to The Foundation for Independent Colleges, Inc.

The statiticians for sure and probably many others will want to know, "How are the gifts apportioned?" Well, here's the answer: Industry donors may designate a specific college as the recipient of its gift. These gifts are distributed immediately in accordance with the wishes of the donors. The balance, less operating expenses, is distributed to the member colleges by a formula of 60% divided equally among the member colleges and 40% in proportion to enrollment.

Bucknell is grateful to the following donors to the Foundation during the past fiscal year:

Industry Gifts to Match Alumni Giving

The third avenue by which business and industry gifts reach Bucknell University is through gift-matching programs established by a number of industrial concerns. Under these programs—matching an alumnus-employee gift to his or her alma mater—the company not only cooperates with its employees, but has a ready-made and effective selection of those colleges and universities from which it has benefited. This avenue, like the Foundation for Independent Colleges, has just recently been opened but in two years shows great promise of heavy traffic to come. Perhaps it is only natural that General Electric Company, certainly one of the leaders in the illuminating field, should spotlight this new avenue of aid to higher education from business and industry through its introduction of the Corporate-Alumna or Matching-Gift program.

In the first full year of operation, General Electric distributed $200,000.00 to 359 colleges, thus DOUBLING the gifts of the participating alumni of these colleges. And Bucknellians in the employ of the Company did extremely well exceeding, in percentage of participation, both the record of the Bucknell general alumni body and the General Electric employee body. A total of $1680.00 was contributed by Bucknell employees of General Electric, matched by a like gift from the Company. It is hoped that the record for the present year will be even better for General Electric has extended the program to include non-grads as well as graduates.

Even more encouraging results in this area of giving are anticipated because the innovation introduced by General Electric has been adopted by a number of other industrial firms. Because the program is under consideration by many industries at the present time, the following list is probably not complete but it is known that these twenty-seven companies now match employee gifts made to their alma maters:

List of Companies and Foundations With Gift-Matching Programs

- Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation
- Bank of New York
- Bonwit Teller
- Burlington Industries
- Cobor Foundation
- Campbell Soup Fund
- Deering Milliken Foundation
- Draper Corporation
- General Electric Corporate Alumnus Program
- B. F. Goodrich Company
- Hewlett-Packard Company
- The Hill Acme Company
- J. M. Huber Corporation

- The Wallingford Steel Company
- Warner Brothers Company
- John Wiley and Sons, Incorporated
- Young and Rubicam Foundation

Note: If your company has such a plan and is not listed above, please advise the Fund Office, whether or not you plan to participate in it personally. Thanks.

Most of the plans provide a special form to be signed by the employee contributor and by Bucknell to accompany the contribution. One problem encountered in the Bucknell Fund Office in cooperating in this program is the difficulty in learning which Bucknellians are employed by these generous companies, for only General Electric supplies the college with a list of its alumni-employees. Perhaps some companies fail to supply such lists because of lack of information on personnel records or because of fear that employees might be "over-solicited." At Bucknell we confine our solicitation to one letter each year calling attention to the program and inviting participation. In the past year a few Bucknell contributors to the Alumni Fund have failed to send the special form required and thus have denied Bucknell of the matching gift.

Who Benefits?

In this overly long discussion of gifts to Bucknell it is almost inevitable that in the outlining of avenues, formulas, plans, procedures and techniques one will lose sight of the fundamental purpose behind these many activities. Therefore, it is well to remember that the outcome of all of these techniques is to have good things happen to people. Every gift received by the University, whether for use in the current budget operations, faculty salaries, scholarships, endowment, research, or brick and mortar capital gifts helps a person—a present student on the campus. By the same token, it is inescapable that every gift helps every Bucknellian for it raises the value and enhances the prestige of his or her college education and of the Bucknell degree that hangs on the wall in the den or reposes in the lower drawer of the bureau.

Who Does the Work?

If the impression has been created that this growing awareness of the partnership between the free enterprise of business and the free enterprise of higher education is a miracle it is all right for what has happened is truly a miracle. But, like most miracles, it didn't "just happen." Back of these achievements stand literally thousands who see the truth of the concept that civilization is in a gigantic race between "catastrophe and education." Back of these achievements stand people who are too numerous to mention by name. The "on campus" list surely includes the college president who adds to an already overfilled schedule of visits to industry leaders to "tell the story;" the devoted faculty that knows true learning is the essential ingredient of a college education; the placement bureau director, who, because of his close association with industry recruiters, can give valuable interpretation to university needs; many other staff members who expedite the detailed execution of plans; and the students who, fifteen years hence, by their viewpoint and attitude will write the ticket for education.

On the "off campus" list stands every college and university alumnus. Some day millions—instead of thousands—will understand that each of us is in a unique spot that no other person can occupy. No other person—other than you—can make your unique contribution of telling your employing company or your business associate of the growing need for an ever closer partnership between the free enterprise of business and the free enterprise of higher education. Will you "tell the story" to some potential donor today and tomorrow and tomorrow . . . ?

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldr. d. Pa.

THE TEACHER

A teacher sat at her desk one day.
Her pupils all were out at play.
She said to herself "What do I here
With this motley crowd of kids so queer?"

"Am I a machine that runs away,
Or a slave that grinds for the monthly pay?
Or a soul afire with the love of truth
That sees some promise in this mass of youth?"

"I shall not fold up in a sense of defeat,
I shall not beat a sad retreat.
I shall do my best, come what may,
And set high aims for each next day."

For forty years the time went on;
Sometimes on her heart there rolled a stone.
More often the quickening love for her work
Over-mastered every urge to loave.

At last the time of retirement came;
They called a meeting to honor her name.
What had she done? Well, who could tell?
Who could the syllables of destiny spell?

They came from near, they came from far;
No circumstances seemed a bar.
They brought her gifts and they brought her love.
It seemed the heavens had opened above.

Who came? The gray haired, learned judge,
The preacher whom evil could not budge,
The honored governor who ruled the State,
The philosopher who death with fa'e;

The mariner who sounded the ocean's bottom,
The scientist who crushed the atom.
The doctor who daily cured disease,
The statesman who fought for lasting peace.

Fathers and mothers their tribute brought,
Sweet-faced children her glances sought.
They made their speeches; she had her say.
Tear-bedimmed eyes closed the meeting that day.

—John I. Woodruff '90
March 23, 1956

We are sorry to learn of the death of Dr. Hannah O. Staufft '92. She served the people of Elkhart, Indiana for many years. She received her medical degrees at the University of Michigan and the University of Vienna.

It is with regret that we learned only recently of the death of William A. Kauffman '95. He had been located for many years in Wappingers Falls, N. Y. Our belated sympathy is extended to his family.

Mrs. William H. MacEwan (Margaret I. Norton) '96, died May 24 at Haverstown, where she had made her home for many years. Our sympathy is extended to all those who were close to her and will miss her presence.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement K. Robb '96, are making their home in Florida where they are both happy and enjoying good health. Address: P. O. Box 247, Penny Farms, Fla.

Rev. John E. Calvin '99 passed away March 13. He served the Baptist ministry 38 years, retiring in 1938. His widow and two children survive him, one of whom is Arthur C. Calvin '38, who lives in Wheeling, West Virginia. The daughter, Edith Calvin, teaches in the Pen Yan, N. Y. schools where she and her mother reside.

We are glad to know that the years Flora M. Clymer '93 spent at Bucknell had helped her, as she says, to continue for 55 years. She was sorry she could not attend commencement, but was very busy. As most of you know, she is the founder and pastor of the Greenwich Light Baptist Church, Philadelphia, and is one of the very few women pastors of a Baptist congregation.

It is with regret that we have learned of the death of Mrs. F. M. Sweyer (Irene C. Ellis '95).

Mrs. S. C. Downs (Ruth H. Sprague '98) received the "Distinguished Service Award" in recognition of her outstanding work in braille at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at Miami Beach, Florida.

Professor Walter S. Harley, '87 expects to be on the campus to greet all his old friends at the June Homecoming in 1957. He will be celebrating his 70th reunion at that time. Since 1943 his home address has been 46 Kilburn Road, Garden City, N. Y.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. George W. Murdoch (Clarissa L. Fowler). Mrs. Murdoch a member of Pi Beta Phi completed her bachelor degree requirements at Vassar College. She is survived by her sisters, Mrs. Raymond S. Bullis (Jane R. Fowler '03) of Whittier, Calif., and Mrs. William R. McClintock (Mary A. Fowler '04) of San Diego, Calif. A brother Monroe K. Fowler '01 preceded her in death.

Dr. Frank Anderson '01 former executive secretary of the Iowa Baptist Convention, died Feb. 28, four days before his 80th birthday, at Baptist Hospital, Little Rock, Ark., after an illness of only five days.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie S. Coleman)
1250 Park Avenue
McKeesport, Pa.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mrs. Clark Snyder (Grace B. Roberts) on September 16, 1956, at her home in Lewisburg. She first married Enoch Perrine who was a professor at Bucknell from 1885 to 1920. After his death she married Clark H. W. Snyder '07 who practiced law in Detroit, Michigan, before coming to Lewisburg in 1932, where he died in 1939.

Roger H. Williams, D.D., has retired from the First Baptist Church at Greensburg, where he served many years.

The Herbert Stewarts have returned from their third European trip.

Emily Ebling will be spending the winter in the South.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Col. A. F. Dersheimer's wife.

Thank you Emily and Ida for news items.

We hope to hear from others. "Tempus Fugit!"

Your reporter expects to spend Christmas Season with her son's family in Abington.

Best wishes of the Season to all!

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
Colgate University
Hamilton, N. Y.

Mary Stanton Speicher foregathered with some of the other young girls at commencement. Vera Duncan Haskell of Ulysses, Pa., and Montreal, Canada, (put in this order because, like all other North Tier youngsters, she loves that wonderful region) and Kathryn King of Reynoldsville (not quite in the North Tier, but close enough to include her in).

All members of the class will feel the deepest sympathy for Coit Hoechst at the death of his wife Margaret, who died in Lewisburg while on a visit to the Paul Stolzes. Margaret had been a true help-mate to Coit during the many years of their life together. A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, Margaret was a member of the Third Presbyterian Church and the Women's Overseas Service League of that city. Funeral services were held at East Berlin. Coit's old home and burial in the Union cemetery of that place. We are all with you, Coit, in your sorrow.

Tom Schultz has written your reporter a long and interesting letter in which he announces his return to Alaska and recounts his long experience there. After college he began teaching in Unalakleet, 300 miles southwest of Fairbanks. Then he and his wife were transferred to Kananak; here they were for several years; his wife of linguistic ability, since she could speak English, Swedish and several native dialects, was very useful.

In 1914 they were transferred to Shishmaref on the Arctic, then to Elim, 100 miles east of Nome. After a return to the States because of Mrs. Schultz's health, and her death in 1927, Tom returned to Alaska. After building a school at Newhalen, Tom was transferred again to Ekwak, thence to Hooper Bay, "way out of God's country" among the most primitive people. Planning to retire, Tom, who had remarried, enjoyed for a time luxurious living, with electric light, hot water, and other civilized appurtenances, in Livelock. Tom continued teaching until he was sixty-seven; his wife is still teaching in their new location at Chistochina, on the Alaska Highway.

Tom plans to be back for the reunion, visiting his children in the States on the way down (or is it up)? He is well, and enjoys hunting for moose and caribou, and fishing for salmon. He wonders whether he will live as long as his grandfather, who walked out to the barn the night before he died, at the age of 96! It sounds to me, Tom, as though you'll make a hundred.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., N.
St. Petersburg 6, Fla.

Doncaster G. Humm of Los Angeles, Calif., extends his best wishes to all classmates of 1909. Those of us at our 45th recall how disappointed we all were when we were informed that Don, on his way to join us, had to return to Los Angeles because of a sudden illness. Now comes a letter from him telling us of his more recent illness. Early last May a physical showed much need for rest and surgical treatment as well. An extended vacation in northern Arizona and after that an operation did the work, so that now he has regained his weight and a great deal of his strength. Keep up the good work, Don, and meet us on the Bucknell campus for that grand occasion—our 50th.

It is with sorrow that we announce the death of Clarence H. Engle who died in Topeka, Kan., on May 27, 1956. Our belated sympathy is extended to his survivors.

In Mexico's English language newspaper (Editado Por El Diario Novedades) of April 7, 1956, appears an article on "Personality of the Week." The picture of the fine looking man with the article is none other than that of our own Malcolm Scott Hallman. The article lists Malcolm's many accomplishments. He held the principalship of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, high school from 1926-1948. At one time he was a member of the Commission for Secondary School Curriculum for Iowa. For 22 years he was professor of education at the Black Hills Teachers College in South Dakota during summer periods, and for five of those years was acting president. He has authored many articles on archaeology, history, school administration, bee culture (on which he is an expert) and is the joint author of a book on secondary education. He retired in 1948. His summer home is in Spearfish, S. D. This year he and his wife are traveling through Europe, Africa and Asia.

Since we five members of the Class of 1909 know that many Bucknellians will be coming to St. Petersburg or nearby this season we all give you a big, big invitation to come to see us while you are here. Our names and addresses are: George F. Bailets, 552 Kirkwood Ter. North, St. Petersburg; Sarah Walters Headland (for address see above); Gilbert Lyte, 731 68th Ave. South, St. Petersburg; Theodore Kamensky, Bayshore Dr., Dunedin, and Elizabeth Mulford Thomas Mus. '08, 430 Mandalay Ave., Clearwater Beach.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

John (Heine) and Agnes Bank are planning to spend the winter in Daytona Beach. While there they hope to attend some of the Bucknell St. Petersburg meetings and renew acquaintance with former Bucknellians.

The sincere sympathy of her classmates is extended to Emily Lane Yoder in the loss of her husband who passed away at Huntingdon, November 13. Over the years Joseph Yoder had attended so many of our class reunions that he had come to seem almost a class member himself. He was famed as an author, lecturer, singer, and interpreter of the "plain people" of whom he was one and to whom he remained loyal always, although his interests were broad. A graduate of what is now Juniata College, he became one of the best-known educators of several states in which he served as teacher and principal. Later he was a "high school visitor" for Juniata, and was actively interested in its musical and athletic programs. "Rosanna of the Amish", one of his best known books, is still regarded as the only authentic book on the social, religious, and stern economic practices of the Amish, a subject to which he devoted much study and research.

11 DR. FRANK G. DAVIS
140 South Front St.
Lewistown, Pa.

Rev. John W. Green, Philadelphia, a retired Baptist clergyman, died Jan. 1, '56, at Philadelphia General Hospital after a lengthy illness. He was a graduate of Crozer Theological Seminary and had served as pastor of the Third Baptist Church, Germantown, and Tacony Baptist Church, Philadelphia, before his retirement.

Professor Ellis C. Persing, head of the natural science department at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, died recently in Cleveland Hospital following a heart attack. He was a native of Snyder-town.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Fowler (Katherine Bronson) reported a recent trip to the West Coast and a family reunion with their two daughters and eight grandchildren in Seattle, Wash. Mr. Fowler is dean and teacher of Greek and Theology at the Buffalo Bible Institute. Another Bucknellian, Class of 1925, is vice president of the Institute. The Fowlers live at 3864 South Park Ave., Blasdell, N. Y.

Roy A. DeLong is the proud grandfather of three grandchildren, Louise Conrad, daughter of Eleanor DeLong Conrad '46, and Harry and John Lewis, sons of his daughter Marion. Roy is still located in Philadelphia engaged in the practice of law.

W. Neil Baker died unexpectedly at the Geisinger Hospital of a heart attack on August 11. He was serving there as a relief pharmacist at the time. He had been associated with his father in the drug business from 1914 to 1928 when he was appointed Postmaster, serving until 1936. In 1944 he became an instructor in the engineering department at Bucknell where he taught engineering drawing and was one of the favorite instructors of the many young men who had work under his guidance. Neil was active in church, civic and Legion affairs, having served in World War I. In 1917 he married Ruth Mohn, who with a son, David M. Baker Esq. '48, survive him. The sympathy of Bucknell friends is extended to the family.

Daniel H. Nester died July 12. He was a retired teacher, having served in the Newark, N. J., school system for many years. Mr. Nester leaves his wife and two sons, DeWitt B. Nester '44 of Maplewood, N. J., and Daniel Edgar Nester '51 of Millburn, N. J. Sincere sympathy is extended to the Nester family.

John W. Trauger died July 1, 1956, after an illness of several months. He taught school at Middletown the first 5 years after he left college, then went with Du Pont in 1917. In 1932 he became district manager of the Crowley Milk Company. He was active in the Rotary Club, Masons, and Binghamton Boys' Club. Among his survivors is John F. Trauger, '40. Our belated sympathy is extended to the family.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

"It's a lot more fun to count your blessings than it is to add up your misfortunes."

"The old woman of the roads" has been gadding again. A few weeks ago we made a trip to Rebersburg and spent a couple of hours with Bob Meyer and wife. He has promised to come back to the reunion. Wanted to know if I knew of the "whereabouts" of Harrison Sweet. So Harrison, if you read this write to Bob.

Came on down to Lock Haven, stopped to see the Haggertys but they, too, were enjoying the beautiful fall day. Came by Levegoods in Jersey Shore. Thought I saw a strange man at the window. Came back and found Helen and Roy. Roy says "Helen will be back for the reunion."

This card from Mary Weiser Jenkins:

Dear Maze:

"We came here from Innsbruck by way of the Dolomites which were breath taking. I am enjoying every minute."

Traveling around in Italy! Just wait till she makes excuses about not coming back for the reunion.

Pop was hemmed in on all sides by our democratic neighbors. He, a Republican, was right in the middle. Couldn't find out how I voted so now calls me Adlai.

Was back to Homecoming for the first time. As I looked around, knew I was about the oldest one there. Saw Bob Meyer, "Sal" Fisher '13, and Lew Lyne '14—both old faithfuls, "Red" Lowther '14, Henrietta Heinsling Kriner '17 and husband, Eugene Long '28 and Violet Fuller Hayes, '08, Betty Oesterlie Kline '49. Saw Dave McNeal's name on the bulletin board but couldn't locate him. Just like old home week—hadn't seen Henrietta since a mere child when she visited "Lib" and Ruth at the Sem.

My family "with all the works" was home to help us celebrate our 37th wedding anniversary Sunday, Nov. 11th. On that day we had our youngest grandchild, David Steck, baptized. They no sooner got their belongings together to start for home than they were back for the Thanksgiving week-end. Sometimes I don't think they even unpacked their cars.

Dr. Mary Harris '94 was our guest speaker at the Tuesday Study Club in Muncy in November. I had never met nor seen her but at one glance I could see a great resemblance to our dear old Prexy. She told me that Jim and Isabelle had made another trip to Europe—this time to see their son who is in the Army and to attend his marriage. Jim does not keep me posted. She is going to spend Christmas with Walter's son and family in Washington. She was so pleased to tell me that their daughter was named for her.

Spent a wonderful week-end again with Alice and Muff Scott and "little" Florence in Elmira. I say "little" Florence because she is about as big as a half pint. We hadn't seen her for 2 years, but could see that she hadn't aged a bit. She will be '98 in February. She still cooks wonderful meals, her mind just as keen and alert, never misses church, does her chores regularly. I tried to pin Alice down for the reunion but all she would say is "Forget about the reunion and get yourselves back here in the spring." I imagine we will go. All the females make such a fuss over Pop and he likes it that I don't have to coax too hard.

Don't forget to fill out your questionnaire as soon as it arrives, then mail it back. It will take some time to get ready for next June. Write me that you will be back.

And now Christmas will be over when you receive this, but in the words of Tiny Tim, "A Merry Christmas—God Bless You."

"For Christmas, with its lots an' lots of candies, cakes and toys, was made, they say, for proper kids an' not for naughty boys."

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 R. d. e Ave.,
New Kensington, Pa.

In May, the Rev. John Luke Gehman wrote about his interesting plans for the summer. He and Mrs. Gehman had arranged to go to Russia with forty industrialists from the mid-west. They were to leave New York June 18, and fly directly to Moscow. They planned to remain in Europe for the summer, and hoped to include a visit to the Salzburg Mozart Music Festival.

Mrs. Thomas W. Davis (Ruth H. Edwards) died on August 8. Mrs. Davis did much writing and from 1918 to 1936 her articles and poems were published in widely read magazines. In more recent years, she had done free lance editing, and indexing hundreds of college text books, novels, teen-agers' books, biographies and autobiographies, generally for Prentice-Hall. She is survived by a daughter and two grandchildren.

16 REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
114 E. 183rd St.
New York 68, N. Y.

Florence Rollins lives at 1922 Eighth Avenue, Altoona. She has given up teaching and gone into business with her widowed sister; and she says "I find it challenging."

Jerome Salsbury is director of curriculum and instruction in the Bloomfield, N. J., public schools. At present he is assistant to the superintendent of schools. He teaches extension courses at Rutgers University and the State Teachers College at Jersey City. He is a Rotarian, past president and belongs to the Baptist Church.

Roscoe Davis lives at 17 Mitchell Drive, Pittsburgh 28. His wife is the former Betty Redelin '17. His daughter is Betty Davis McVickers '39. Granddaughter Kathy is a prospect for 1963.

Mary Belle Lees lives at 6110 Colgate Avenue, Los Angeles 36, Calif. She has retired from teaching. Three of her sisters live within easy reach. Did you and sister get to the Tri-Delta Convention last June, Mary Belle? We are glad you saw Jean Anderson and got up to date on the new Bucknell. And tell us about Hawaii some time. Sounded good—your trip I mean.

"Derb" Bartholomew is vice president and treasurer of Boynton Brothers and Company of Perth Amboy, N. J. He is a strong Kiwanian having helped organize a club back in 1923. He has five children. Son Derben, Jr., graduated in 1955. Son Richard is now a soph at Bucknell.

Hope you all have a grand New Year. Let's hear from you. The reunion story must have been okeh. We have no complaints from you. We fell down on the last assignment but promise to do better in the future.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 West Sedgwick Street
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Wrote for news of Mary E. Humphrey and received word from her brother Dr. Isaac Humphrey '22 that Mary had passed away in October, 1954, after a very long illness. She had taught in Nanticoke high school ever since leaving Bucknell until she was granted leave of absence because of her health. I was so sorry to hear of it and I extended the sympathy of the class to her family.

Talk about nice people and co-operation, etc.—this time I wrote letters to 5 of you and got 4 answers. Isn't that grand? Thank you so very much!

While Santa and his helpers are refurbishing the Flanders Hotel, Ysabelle and Art Yon and the staff will be vacationing. (In Florida, I bet). Our favorite hotel will open Feb. 8, when they return to Atlantic City. Brick has made a fine recovery and we're so happy about it!

Edna Overfield Miller has been a widow since 1936. She now lives at 2806 Erie St., S. E., Apt. B-19, Washington, D. C. She is with the General Services Administration and is thinking of retiring next year and live near her daughter, who is married, has 3 children, and lives in Phoenixville. She also has two sons, one who works for the Bank of Korea in Seoul, and the other works for General Electric in Japan. Both boys will be home for Xmas this year. Last year Edna went to Korea and visited them for two "too short" weeks. "Twas a wonderful trip." Son, Carl, graduated from Bucknell, Albert from Penn State, and June, from Stroudsburg Teachers College. Carl was in the Navy and as an interpreter was in the first group to go to Korea. He has worked in several war agencies and has had five trips to Korea. Edna trips around most week-ends, so I'm sure she'll be back for our reunion.

D. E. Mellinger ("Pud" to us) lives at 3 Northship Road, Dundalk 22, Md. He said my letter arrived the same day as his daughter, Alice Jane Mellinger Shupe '50 with their 2 grandchildren, Daniel, age 3, and David Deleth, age 4 months, and husband, Dr. Daniel Shupe, a dentist in Frostburg, Md., and that he enjoyed all of it. "Pud" spent 3 years in the army. In 1922, he married Lorraine Brown and has been very happy ever since. He went to Baltimore to work for Bethlehem Steel.

In 1934, he entered the selling field, and has been a salesman ever since. Just about now he is much interested in retirement. "Pud" says he hasn't many hobbies, but manages to keep the grass cut, hedge trimmed, and the lawn bench anchored in summer, sings with the church choir, and loves sports on TV. He is looking forward to seeing us in June.

Please keep the tape moving and as soon as you use it, send card to Pedy—615 Market Street, Lewisburg, so he can keep track of it.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
301 Broad Street
Montoursville, Pa.

Another year has ended and here are my wishes for this new one. May it hold the wishes of each and every one of you and, incidentally, one of mine is that many many more of you write me of your recent doings. If you haven't made a resolution make one now, and act on it.

I had a very nice and interesting report from Ethel Remaly (Mrs. Fred Crossland). The Crosslands live at 1209 Avenue P, Brooklyn 29, N. Y., where Fred is pastor of the Advent Lutheran Church. They have lived in Brooklyn since 1924 and have served the parish for 32 years, during which time a new church building and parsonage have been built. Ethel says "we find work here most interesting and stimulating." The Crosslands have two sons—Dr. Fred E. Crossland, assistant secretary of New York University and director of the Bureau of Public Occasions; and Reverend Richard I. Crossland, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Kline (Jessie Potts) spent the holidays in Florida—having a three week vacation.

I note that Evelyn and Chet Leaber have a new address—Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Leaber, 32 Washington Square West, New York 11, N. Y.

Guess that is my contribution for this issue. Who is going to help make up the next one?

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

The Bucknell family mourns the loss of Dr. Edwin E. Aubrey who died September 10 in Philadelphia. Ed, a native of Glasgow, Scotland, has had a distinguished career as a theological teacher and writer. Graduating from Bucknell in 1919 where he was a member of Delta Sigma (now Delta Upsilon), he went on to the University of Chicago where he earned the master of arts, bachelor of divinity, and doctor of philosophy degrees.

His teaching career included service at Union Theological College, Chicago; Carlton College, Northfield, Minn., and Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He left Chicago to become president of Crozer Theological Seminary. In 1939, Bucknell University awarded him an honorary doctor of divinity degree and in 1944 he was elected a trustee of the University. In 1949 he joined the University of Pennsylvania staff and established the school's department of religious thought, an assignment he filled until his death. The University family and his classmates extend deep sympathy to his wife, the former Gladys Topping; a son, Donald T., '52; and a daughter, Nancy, now Mrs. B. C. Poland, of Lincoln, Neb.

Dr. Dallas M. VanHorn died September 18, 1956, in the General Hospital of Rochester, N. Y., of a cancer ailment. Following his graduation from the University of Pennsylvania Dental School, he was associated with the former Rochester Dental Dispensary, later opened offices for his private practice and continued it until the last few months prior to his death. He is survived by a son, John, a sister and a brother. Our sympathy is extended to them.

Dr. Benjamin Markowitz died on September 17. He graduated as an M.D. from Loyola University of Chicago in 1922, and practiced in Chicago until 1929, then moved to Bloomington, Ill., where he was a specialist in pathology and diagnosis until his death. He had served as president of the North Central Medical Association and as president of the Illinois Society of Pathologists. Mark was a faithful alumnus and attended our 35th class reunion in 1954. Our sympathy goes out to his family which includes his wife; son, Robert; daughter, Mrs. I. N. Lebow; and his brother, Rabbi Samuel H. '14.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD DERR
(Sarah M. Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Avenue
Lewisburg, Pa.

Roy W. Sauers has retired after 35 years of teaching in the public schools, 25 years of which he was a supervising principal. He spends his time at his farms in Union County and Reynoldsville. While in the latter place he pursues studies and writes fiction. Mrs. Sauers (Ruth E. Klechner '21) spends her spare time and efforts for the benefit of the TB Society in Sykesville. Their son William J. Sauers '48, is a medical technician at the Swedish-American Hospital, Rockford, Ill. Their two daughters, both registered nurses, are married and live in western Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. Sauers use this address: 553 Hill Street, Reynoldsville, Pa.

Chelton W. Smith is superintendent of the Pennsylvania Electric Power Station at Shawville. He is living at 17 North West 3rd Avenue, Clearfield.

I was so glad that Edwin Cooke wrote to inquire who were on the class picture. There hadn't been space enough to include the names in that issue, so if you still have the picture, then check these names with the faces. Front row seated, left to right: Clara Casner Carpenter, Larue Unger Reamer, Charlotte Dietz, Emaline Fisher Grice, Edna Martin Cole, Hattie Fertig Lontz, Sarah Bernhart Derr, Clarence Moore, Florence Kunkle (wife of Stan Kunkle), Helen Beck Shimer, Mrs. Salaczynski.

John Carter was re-elected president of the Northumberland Historical Society.

George Nesline was rather modest in his report in our reunion book this year, although a short time ago a lengthy article appeared in the Sunbury Daily Item from which I quote: "Mr. Nesline's travels read like a cook's tour. In Europe, he toured England, France, Belgium, Italy, Germany, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, and Spain. His other travels, besides the 48 states, took him to Canada, Alaska, Japan, China, Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Guatemala, Mexico, and South America.

His schooling was done at eleven universities."

Last summer Edna Baker and Hannah Madison Townsend visited with Emily Kurtz Terry '22 at her home in the Poconos. From there they called on Dorothy Spangler Swain, Medford Lake, N. J.

22 MR. PHILIP C. CAMPBELL
R. D. 5,
Danville, Pa.

Information has recently reached us of the death of Dr. Charles A. McDowell who practiced medicine in California since 1929.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm, Allenwood, Pa.

The Rev. Dr. Donald B. Cloward died September 18, 1956. He was the executive secretary of the Council on Christian Social Progress of the American Baptist Convention. Before assuming the post in 1943, he served pastorates in Rochester, Newark, and Auburn, all in the state of N. Y. Don attended Bucknell Academy and, after military service in the First World War, was graduated from Bucknell University in 1923 and Colgate Rochester Divinity School in 1926. He received an honorary doctor of divinity degree from Ottawa University in June. He was stricken ill in June while on his way to the American Baptist Convention in Seattle and was in and out of the hospital in New York until his death in September.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes to his widow, Mrs. Cloward (Esther M. Fleming '22), and two sons: Richard, a professor at Columbia University; and Robert, of the Boston University faculty.

24 MRS. PAUL J. CUPP
(Louise Benschhoff)
933 Muirfield Road
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hall (Kathryn Steckman '25) live at 217 Claremont Road, Springfield, Media. They have three sons, two of them Bucknell graduates and the third studying at the University of Indiana. "K" is teaching at the Elwyn Training School for Retarded Children in Media and Walter is teaching in Springfield High School.

Mrs. W. W. Wilcox (Marion R. Campbell) died August 21 in the Williamsport Hospital. She was the wife of Dr. Wilfred W. Wilcox '25. Mrs. Wilcox was a well known musician and entertainer, and had been active in civic, church, and political affairs of her community. Surviving are two daughters and her father.

Ida Heller, 1009 Vine Avenue and Mildred Megahan, 1102 Elmira St., both from Williamsport, report having had a most pleasant visit with Elizabeth Wagner Shimp at the Shimp home at 309 S. 46th St., Wilmington, N. C.

Dr. James N. Patterson, 911 Citizens Building, Tampa, Fla., was elected a Fellow in the International Society of Hematology in Boston last August. He was also elected to the Board of Directors of the American Association of Blood Banks. Then, our Pat received another honor that may carry some headaches with it but we know he is the man for the job! The Board of Governors of the Florida Medical Association appointed him to the Liaison Committee on Medical School Faculties and Organized Medicine. There are now two medical colleges in Florida and this committee will attempt to determine the limits of practice permitted full time professors so as to satisfy them and the local practitioners.

Foster D. Jemison, 631 Lake Drive, Princeton, N. J., has been elected to the Board of Corporators of The Peddie School. He previously served as an alumni representative to the board from 1951 to 1954. He has been active in alumni affairs of the Hightstown boys preparatory school as a member of the alumni council and chairman of the spring alumni day and reunion committee. Since 1926, Foss has been secretary-treasurer of the insurance firm of B. L. Gulick, Jr. Inc.

Daniel A. Copenhagen, 1818 Douglas Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., is with the Archer-Daniels Chemical Company.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Avenue, Chatham, N. J.

Mrs. Cox, wife of Judge John E. Cox, died suddenly of a heart attack on September 9 at the family home in Munnhall. She is survived by Judge Cox; two sons, John F., Jr., and William W., both at home; and a daughter, Mrs. Elmer E. Mears, Jr., of Levittown.

In September, the Rev. Dr. William D. Golightly was honored at a reception held in the church parlors marking the 21st anniversary of his ministry at the Immanuel Baptist Church, Scranton, and the 30th anniversary of his ordination into the ministry of the Baptist Church.

I received a very nice letter from Charlotte Bosler Ellis in Johnstown. This last summer, Charlotte attended the Fred Waring Piano Workshop at Delaware Water Gap. While at home, she teaches piano, drama and speech privately. Each spring, she presents a recital, written in the form of a story. Also once a year, she writes and presents a dramatization of some area of the United States or a foreign country. Two such programs were given in Cleveland, O. She is also treasurer of the Pennsylvania Music Teachers Association.

Friends of Eleanor Little Eanes will be sorry to learn of the sudden death on October 29 of her husband, E. Ennis Eanes, prominent attorney and banker of Emporia, Va. Besides Eleanor, Mr. Eanes is survived by two daughters and four grandchildren, the youngest of whom is Eleanor Eanes Patrick, born July 4, 1956.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Avenue
Pitman, N. J.

Dr. Ray G. Daggs has been named executive secretary-treasurer of the American Physiological Society. His address is Medical Department, Field Research Lab., Fort Knox, Ky.

Dr. Eurfryn Jones is a Fellow in the American College of Surgeons, a Fellow in the International College of Surgeons and is surgical chief at the Harrisburg Polyclinic Hospital. He has one daughter who is a cartographer for the U. S. Army; another daughter, Gwendolyn, who is in Camp Hill High School; and a son, Robert, who is at Bucknell. He and Mrs. Jones would be pleased to have anyone drop in and say hello. Their home is at 399 N. 25th St., Camp Hill.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

Bill Gardner is at present acting chief electrical engineer of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. and is living at 632 Fort Duquesne Blvd., Pittsburgh, with his son, Willard, daughter Alice Susan, and wife Nancy.

Charles J. Kushell, Jr., has been appointed financial vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co. He will serve as chief financial officer of the company with responsibility for both the treasurer's and controller's departments. He has resigned as financial vice president of Revlon, Inc. to accept this appointment. He is married to the former Isabelle Morrison '26. They have one son, Charles J., III, and live at 116 East 68th Street, New York, N. Y.

Harold F. Webber has been named to a 21-member general council which acts as trustee for the Reformed Church denomination.

Dear Classmates,

One and all, we are looking for your return to Bucknell campus for our 30th reunion. (Bring your cane with you—you'll probably be needing it by this time!) Harold Webber announces that the following members will comprise the Social Meeting Committee: Dr. Stu Bean, C. Preston Geist, Harry Ruhl, Helen Egge Kunkel, Caryl Dutton Slifer, Bob Dill, and Don E. Wagner. As yet no definite plans have been made about the reunion program. In addition to this committee, others planning to return for our reunion are E. E. Weckerly, A. A. Beshel, R. B. Smith, Sam Convery, E. E. Halleran, Veta Davis Replogle, George Hart, Clyde Roller and Walt Hufnagle. Please let me hear from the rest of you so we can plan to include you in our June 7 to 9 festivities. Now for some current news about those of you who so graciously mailed to me an answer to the questionnaire.

Stan and Irene (Bell '26) McCaskey are living on Squaw Run Road, Fox Chapel, Pittsburgh 38, where Stan is associated with the Allegheny Ludlum Corporation as secretary and counsel. Prior to this he was affiliated with the U. S. Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., and with the U. S. Government in Puerto Rico.

Hazel Troxell Bland and her husband, Guy '28, are living at 631 Highview Road, Pittsburgh 34, where she is actively engaged in civic activities, serving regularly as a volunteer worker for the Cancer Society of Pittsburgh in addition to being past president and presently a member of the executive board of the Cateru Club of Mt. Lebanon.

29 MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Lorlane Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave., Summit, N. J.

D. Eugene Long has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

Harry H. Pierson has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern California.

J. Claire Gift died November 9, 1956, following an illness of several years. She had taught school and music in Milton, Bloomsburg, and Westfield, N. J., for a number of years. Surviving are her parents and several brothers, one of whom is Robert W. Gift '32 of Hatboro. Our sympathy is extended to them.

30 MRS. BERNARD KLOSTERMAN
(Emmatyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Rd.
South Ft. Mitchell, Ky.

Paul H. Crago has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

I received a peppy note from Nan Thomas Taggart (Nan Lee Thomas). Nan has a new position as teacher of English in the brand new, fabulous, six million dollar high school at Abington. Nan says her new position is a most challenging one and she has every reason to be proud. Prior to this she taught speech in the Kingston High School for nine years. Nan lives with her ten year old daughter at 320 Roslyn Ave., Glenside.

Bernie and I just arrived home from a vacation in New York City where we were lucky enough to see the amazing play "My Fair Lady" and also "Auntie Mame" but, most of all, had the exciting experience of renewing an old acquaintance with Delbert Mann. Delbert won the academy award for his direction in "Marty." You will all remember his father, Delbert Martin Mann, professor of sociology at Bucknell.

MR. ELLIS F. HULL
Allentown, N. J.

A letter from John J. Downey, principal of the J. W. Cooper High School, Shenandoah, says that he is looking forward to our twenty-fifth reunion next June and that he and the wife and children will be there.

Our class president Frank Koehler has been receiving letters of acceptance to committees from different class members. Here are parts of some of them:

Marian E. Ash (Mrs. Warren J. McClain) says she will contact members and will do her best to be there.

Jim Stevenson, publisher of the Titusville Herald, Titusville, says "Dear Frank: I really should say No to the reunion book assignment because I am up to my ears in all sorts of projects. However, if everybody had a negative attitude we wouldn't have a reunion, so herewith is my acceptance.

Let me know where we start."

Victor H. Oleyar, of the Evening Record, Lansford, "Dear Frank: Your voice from the dead was a welcome surprise! But to saddle me with a yearbook job—Yipes!! However, I guess there's nothing for me to do but accept. I hope I'll be able to muddle through somehow.

Haven't been back to Bucknell since before World War II. Had all plans made to get back for the 20th reunion, but that weekend the editor had to take sick.

I've been down at this paper since July 2 of this year, terminating a 19-year stretch with the Hasleton Plain Speaker at that time."

William J. Curnow of Pittsburgh, "Dear Frank: After these several years and having lost contact with you, I was delighted to receive your letter, asking me to serve as an assistant editor to Jim Stevenson. You can be sure that I will do everything I can to make this twenty-fifth reunion a success and I am looking forward to seeing both you and Jim at Homecoming, so that we can work out further details.

It startles me sometimes the way time keeps grinding away and, in the process of this business of making a living, how one loses contact with people like yourself, who were almost daily acquaintances at one time. I suppose that is the process of living, but maybe we can turn the clock back a wee bit when we get together for our reunion next year."

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Stan Rider is presently director of industrial engineering for Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, and lives in Butler. He is married to the former Bernice Bachman '31. They have two children, Sally Jo, 17, who hopes to enter Bucknell in 1957, and Bob, 12.

Rev. James H. Davis has accepted a call to become Minister of Christian Education at the Olive Branch Christian Church at 101 East Raymond Street, Indianapolis, Ind., a church of 1500 members. Three years ago he inaugurated the Christian Education program at the East Lynn Christian Church in Anderson, Ind., leaving there to accept his new position.

Betty Thayer Ward writes from Pasadena, Calif., "I'm a homemaker with a fourth-grade brunette daughter and a first-grade blonde gal. Had the pleasure of seeing Dot Beistle Miller and her husband, Dave, here last week. Also Lou '31, and Kitty Reese Carlisle have visited us a couple of times during the last four years. It's good to see and remember old friends."

C. Donald Fisher and Pearl Gottschall were married October 12, 1956, in Muncy. Don is employed by Spront, Waldrop and Co., Inc., of Muncy.

Frank A. Ross is a sales engineer with the Cottrell Co. He has spent his entire professional career in design and construction of printing machinery, and has had several of his inventions and improvements of such machinery patented. Before his present affiliation, he had been with New Era, Patterson, N. J., and Miller Printing, Pittsburgh. He is a registered professional engineer and is active in engineering circles. He lives at 104 High Street, Westerly, R. I., with his wife and three children.

Dorothea Flint Wood writes, "Ed (Edwin F. Wood) and I are back again in Haddonfield, N. J., Ed's home town. We have been in the Buffalo area for about three years. Our daughter, Anne, is an honorary scholarship student at Juillard School of Music, studying the organ. Our new address is 222 Dickens Court, Barclay Farm, Haddonfield, N. J."

Steve Windes says "Had a grand time at Bucknell Homecoming last month. That new swim pool is a knock-out! Took color movies and in general acted like 'an ole grad.' Hope our oldest boy (of 3) will turn to Bucknell year after next. Best regards to you all."

George Vetter and Nina Lambert '34, have a son Larry, 13 years of age. George is teacher of history, director of athletics and coach of baseball and football at North Tonawanda High School. He doesn't get back to Homecoming because that's his busy season. "Hi" to you George.

MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

May I wish you all a very happy and prosperous New Year. Please send me any class news you may have so we can see our class in every issue — haven't missed one yet.

Congratulations are in order to a new class grandmother. Quoting from a letter written by Mrs. Phillip H. Ihrig (Virginia M. Shupe), "Our grandson, Mark H. Ihrig, Jr., was born September 20, 1956, in Johnstown. His great uncle, Dr. D. Ralston Shupe '39 brought him into the world." How many other grandparents are there in our class? Is Virginia the first?

As Bill and I left the Army-Navy game we hunked into a Bucknellian. I think it was Charles Fox '31, but am not sure—we were rushing for the New York train—but we did say hello! Wish who ever it was would let me know.

Carol I. Shaw Freeman '37, and her husband Carl Freeman, Columbia '33, became the parents of Carol on Oct. 4, 1956. I was very pleased as Carol was one of my bridesmaids back in June 1936. The Freemans live at 299 Beacon Street, Boston 16, Mass.

I hope many of you are planning vacations now so you can make Alumni weekend in June. If I am not there it will be because our daughter, Ruth Gail, will be graduating, that Sunday, from Cathedral School of St. Mary in Garden City, N. Y. Perhaps one of you will volunteer to let me know who returns, etc. May I suggest if you plan to be back in June you pack a bathing suit—the Freas-Rooke pool looks just wonderful!

MRS. PAUL L. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Gambrills, Md.

Dr. Heber W. Youngken, Jr. has recently been appointed Dean and Educator, College of Pharmacy, at the University of Rhode Island. He resigned the position of Professor and Chairman of Pharmacognosy, Director Drug Plant Gardens and Laboratory, College of Pharmacy, University of Washington, Seattle, to accept the new position. He served as lieutenant in the U. S. Navy from 1943 to 1946, having received the rank of commander USNR in 1950. He is a member of numerous scientific and professional societies and has served on many committees of the various organizations. He has nearly 50 publications in scientific and educational aspects of pharmacy and biology, and has received a number of awards and honors for his extensive service in the scientific field. With all his activities, he still has time for his hobbies of golf, gardening and reading. He is married to the former Daphne Goodwin, and has two children; John Ronald, 7, and Richard Charles, 5.

Like many reporters, I am struggling with the problem of getting the news. I have hit upon the idea of naming the letterwriters of the month. The following people have been nominated: Mrs. John F. Lillard, Jr. (Madeline Berg); Mrs. Carsten Roensch (Ethel Hammer); Clarence Howells, Charles Spurr, Ray Spritzler, Mrs. Harold R. Severson (Alice Truman); Harry Wightman; Mrs. Ronald Wells (Pat Woodburne); Gene Zanarini and Mrs. James Favino (Gladys Zar'os). You may look forward to hearing about them in the next news letter.

Nonie Goldsmith Pearlman '36, writes that she spent a part of the summer at Bethel, Maine, taking the wonderful course in human dynamics for which the school is noted. Her daughter, Ann, spent the summer in the southwest where she participated in an archeological expedition and came home with some very exciting artifacts.

After our wonderful Class Reunion in June, it was somewhat of a disappointment that more members could not attend the meeting held on Saturday morning of Homecoming. However, those present enjoyed seeing the excellent colored movie Ed Reisman took of the Reunion. Two class members who were unable to attend the Reunion were there and enjoyed seeing the filmed version of the event. They were: Sally Keiper Kistler with her husband and six-year-old son, of Rock Glen, and Bill "Bud" Wilkinson with his wife Dorothy Levers Wilkinson and their two children, from Seaford, Del. Their daughter, Suzanne, will be a prospective freshman at Bucknell next year. In addition to Ed, our photographer, others present were: Hope Park, Plymouth; W. G. Diefenbach and family, Baltimore, Md.; and your class reporter, Henry McGee, Harold Evans, Bob Jones, Lee Rohde and Bill Newcomb registered later in the day.

It is with regret that we report the sudden and untimely death of John J. Sitarsky on November 2. At our Reunion in June several classmates expressed regret at not seeing him. He had served as recreational supervisor at the Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary since 1947 and had been instrumental in expanding the recreational facilities for the inmates. Coming to Bucknell in '32, John became one of the most active athletes in the university's history. Upon graduation, he returned to our alma mater as frosh varsity coach in football and basketball. However, due to injuries received in World War II, it seemed advisable for him to give up collegiate coaching duties. In his honor, the inmates of the penitentiary have established an annual athletic award to be known as The John Sitarsky Trophy. Our sympathy is extended to his wife and 13-year-old son.

Dr. Edward G. Hartman has been promoted to full professor of history at Suffolk University. He is also director of libraries at that institution. Dr. Hartmann edited "The Centennial History of the Welsh Baptist Association of North-eastern Pennsylvania," published in 1955 and is author of an article published in The Chronicle in April, "The Welsh Baptists in the United States."

Reginald Merridew has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cleveland.

John T. Rowlands is now assistant superintendent of the Potter County schools. His new address is 120 North Main Street, Coudersport.

John F. Worth has moved to his new home at 12115 Otis Dr., Rockville, Md.

38 MR. IRA G. FOX
116 Westchester Drive
Pittsburgh 15, Pa.

We didn't have any news from you last summer, so we missed the November issue, but with a few phone calls and some help from the Alumni Office, here's some old and new:

Talked to Bill Androski the other night and have located him at 3225 Longwood Drive (Whitehall), Pittsburgh 27. He reports that he is happily occupied helping his wife raise their four children, ages 13, 12, 10, and 6, when he isn't keeping the accounts straight for U. S. Steel's Irvin Works. Bill says he talked with Walter Ballard during the summer while on a Florida visit. Walt lives in Miami and works for Eastern Airlines in accounting operations.

George Allen says he had a nice visit with Charles Laubacher a few months ago. Charlie was recently appointed manager of office methods and procedures of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation's Georgia Division at Marietta, Ga.

Commander Claude R. Phillips, Jr., USN, his wife and their two children have moved from Washington to live in Puerto Rica, where Claude is assigned to an important position in Naval Operations. Their mailing address is U. S. Naval Station, Navy No. 1506, c/o FPO, New York, N. Y.

Kenneth "Red" Allen '39 and I had a nice visit when he was in town recently, for a meeting of H. K. Porter Company sales managers. He is now manager of customer relations for Porter's Quaker Rubber Division. Between business trips you are sure to find "Red" at his Haddonfield, N. J., home with his wife, Betty Mahaffey '36, and their eight year-old daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Anderson (Jean C. Kirby) are living at Chestnut Drive, R. D. 1, Woodstown, N. J. They have two children, Robert, 6, and Catherine, 4. Cliff is an engineer with DuPont.

Richard H. Wyckoff has been appointed Director, Electric Typewriter Division, IBM, District 10, Kansas City, Mo. He joined IBM in 1941 as an assistant sales representative and has been with them ever since, except for two and a half years in military service. He and his wife, Nancy, have three children: Judith, 8, Elizabeth, 7, and Richard, Jr., 3. Their new address is 9630 High Drive, Kansas City 15, Mo.

Now, let's hear from you when you change locations and give us some news about yourself and family. The rest of the class wants to know about you.

T. Chubb Condict is executive secretary of the New England Baptist Conference.

Robert F. Seers and Catherine E. Drumm were married August 30. Mrs. Seers has been serving as assistant director of nursing education at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital of Nursing, Danville. Bob is owner of the Seers Buick Garage in Milton where the couple will make their home.

Mrs. Helen Specht Wynn reports that her husband Richard was recently promoted to associate professor of education, Teachers College, Columbia University. The Wynns reside at 655 Broadway, Norwood, N. J.

George Housel is a nursing assistant at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Lebanon. He lives at 447 Beechwood Ave.

Mrs. Thomas J. Traynor (Ruth R. Borneman) has been appointed as director of the law placement at Columbia University School of Law. Placement service will be expanded to serve all alumni of the school as well as members of the graduating classes. Ruth has been associated with the bureau since 1946.

John N. Greene was killed in an automobile accident October 19, 1956, on the Cresson Mountain as he was coming to Lewisburg from his home in Kankakee, Ill., to attend the Bucknell homecoming activities. He was accompanied by his six-year-old son, Reginald, who suffered head injuries. Reginald's mother, the former Marguerite Yagel, who had been a librarian at Bucknell prior to her marriage, died in 1954. John was employed as a chemist in the naval research laboratory at Washington, D. C., until last June, when he was transferred to Kankakee. Our sympathy is extended to his survivors.

Dr. Melvin Wein has been commissioned a major in the U. S. Army Reserves in the 344th General Hospital at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y. Inasmuch as his nickname during his college days was "Major", due to his affiliation with the Pennsylvania National Guard, this new rank seems to be a fulfillment of predictions. Congratulations!

Without shilly or shally I want to offer a correction for the September issue, in which Jeanne Rolfe is labeled Mrs. Arnie Fuglestad and Alma Danneman, Mrs. Wenner. (This was among the Class of '25 news). But you can't fool us - we all remember Jeanne and Harry back "when", don't we? Anyhow, one (of the girls, that is) is president, one corresponding secretary of the Northern New Jersey Kappa Delta Alumni Association.

Joseph A. Diblin has been named director of operations at the new airplane service center being opened in Williamsport Airport by Lycoming Division of Avco Corporation. Joe served in the Air Force during World War II, and holds the ratings of flight instructor, commercial pilot land and sea, and multi-engine certificate. He is married to the former Mary Jane Aumiller of Lewisburg, and makes his home at 25 North Third in that town.

George W. Thomas has been elected to the Executive Committee of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island to serve for a three-year period.

Latest reports from Franklin Sloff are that he is controller and treasurer of Byron Jackson Division, Borg-Warner Corporation and its subsidiary companies. In fact, just recently he was elected to several new posts as follows: Controller and treasurer of Byron Jackson Division of the Borg-Warner Corporation, and treasurer of Byron Jackson Pumps, Inc.; Byron Jackson Tools, Inc.; Jet Research Center, Inc.; Byron Jackson of Canada, Limited; Byron Jackson Company, S. A. (Mexico), and BJ Service, Inc.

Frank and his family live at 624 Roses Road, San Gabriel, Calif.

Dr. Lois M. Henneberger is serving as vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg. Lois graduated from the Temple University School of Dentistry in 1950 and started private practice in her home town, Greencastle, in November 1950. Her address is 260 E. Baltimore Street, Greencastle.

A daughter, Ann Marie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dittmar (Esther Buss), April 6th in Williamsport.

George F. Haines, Jr. was recently named as head of a staff of specialists in various aspects of air pollution for the Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh. While at Bucknell, George majored in chemical engineering and starred in basketball. He was president of the senior class, a member of the Dean's List, and a Lambda Chi. He joined the Mellon Institute immediately after graduation. He has been on the staff of Industrial Hygiene Foundation since 1946 and has made notable contributions in various research projects.

Dr. Robert H. Frantz and wife, Julie, have four lovely children, 7 year old twins, Patti and Shirley, 4 year old Robbie, and Karen Sue, 1 year old. Bob seems to cling to the western part of the country since leaving college and medical school and is now located in Grants Pass, Oregon.

Carl L. Moore is now Associate Professor of Accounting at Lehigh University. He and Ruth (Ruth Nulton '44) have a 2½ year old son, Carl Nulton, and are living in Bethlehem.

Findley P. Wolffe, III, is a partner and manager of The Pecos Sales Company. It is a fast growing wholesale business and now serves 2/3 of the state of New Mexico. He has two sons, Findley, 10, and Robert, 8 years old.

Bardwell) and their three children, Kathy, Peggy, and Bruce, are living at 14 Byron Road, Orange, Tex.

Sanford H. Sanger has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern California.

Late last summer we saw Bob Keegan pitch (he won, naturally). We were pleased to be able to have a long talk with him, but little Bob was positively thrilled. He asked, very shyly, for his autograph—something that never occurred to us!

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Perry (Hope Wohnus) announce the birth of their third child, Gregory, October 19, 1956. Their new address is 5025 Bonnie Brae, Indianapolis, Ind.

Hope everyone's Christmas memories are pleasant ones, and the five of us here wish ALL of you the nicest possible New Year.

Did anyone miss this column in the last issue? So did I. What could be more frustrating to a "budding" reporter than to find himself without a single item to report? More distressing, perhaps, would be to have more news than printing space. Apparently there is no danger of the latter. I am glad, though, to be able to report a new service by Mrs. Frank A. Grisanti (Dorothy Stolzenberg). She has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cleveland. And a marvelous new opportunity, it seems to me, has come to the Robert E. La Croix family for Mary Follmer La Croix writes: "The Robert E. La Croix's and sons, Ricky and Bobby, are living at the Park Duffield, Derbyshire, England, for two years. Bob, a graduate engineer from Cornell University, has been assigned as senior resident representative of Westinghouse Electric Corporation at the Rolls-Royce plant in Derby, England." Hope the whole family will find this a rewarding and memorable experience.

It's a son for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jepsen, Jr. (Linnea Lindberg), 208 Elmwood Avenue, Lincoln Park, Reading, on April 2. Perhaps Linnea and Margaret Ann saw each other frequently this summer as they "wheeled" their "future Bucknellians."

Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Levin are happy about the arrival of their first child, a daughter, Nancy Debra, on June 16. They are living at 1004 Trout Brook Drive, West Hartford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mellinger (Sydney Sherwin), 2421 Dakota Rd., Waukegan, Ill., announce the birth of a daughter, Barbara Ann, on March 26. Jim is employed as an engineer with Johnson Motors, Waukegan.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR. (Barbara Roemer) 391 Church St., Hasbrouck Heights, N. J.

Melvin L. Woodward was recently discharged from the Marines, and is doing graduate work at Ohio State University. His address is 2582 Henthorne Rd., Columbus, Ohio. Woody says that Dave Dreher is there taking the same course (Master of Science in Business Administration).

Doris A. Glassman became Mrs. Benjamin F. Button on July 3, 1955, in New York. Doris and her husband are living at 1259 Shawsheen St., Tewksbury, Mass., and Doris is teaching in a nearby town.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Johnson (Berda Stout) are back in Pennsylvania after living in Chicago, Memphis, and Cleveland. Son, Vannie, Jr., was born on July 21, 1955. Van is now with his brother Bill's Chevrolet-Cadillac Agency in Berwick, and their home is at 309 Second St., Nescopec.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whitney (Nancy Carter) announce the birth of a son, Douglas Carter, on May 19. The Whitneys are residing at 91 Shepard Ave., Kenmore, N. Y., and Jim is studying law in Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meredith (Ann Lewis) are the proud parents of a daughter, Leslie Ann, born June 27. While Frank was in the Navy as Lt. (j. g.) he went to the North and South Poles and then resumed his duties as personnel officer on a trip around the world. Ann, meanwhile, received her M.S. in Bacteriology at Duquesne and worked as City Bacteriologist in Newport News, Va.

George H. Lower is employed by E. I. DuPont in the trade analysis section of the film department.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wolfgang (E. Verdilla Wolfgang) have a daughter, Judy Ruth, 1½ years old.

Doris McCroddan and Donald Soule, a Bucknell senior, were married Aug. 27, 1955. Doris is teaching fourth grade in the Mifflinburg Elementary School. Don was recently discharged from the Army and has resumed his studies. The Soules reside at 119½ Market St., Lewisburg.

Bobbie Maurer and Bill Reitz '51 were married Sept. 15 in Teaneck, N. J. Amy Jo Abrams Anderson was a bridesmaid, Forrest Brown, Jr. was best man, and Gray Rogers '51, an usher. Bobbie and

Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Karl Geck MA '50 (Virginia Werlein) tell us that son Karl who was born on November 17, 1955, in Bonn, Germany, intends to be a future Bucknell Bison.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Raynor, who are located in South Windsor, Conn., where Alan is a personnel man for Hamilton Standard, were presented with a son, Scot Alan in July. Alan will be returning to Bucknell this winter, sitting on the interviewer's side of the placement bureau's interviewing tables!

Jeff Thompson and Doris Jean Steele were married August 18 in Palmyra, N. J.

Lee Traumuller became Mrs. Fred E. Hunneke on June 23. Twenty-R Howard Drive, Foster Village in Bergenfield, N. J. is their new address.

Joan Jenkinson and C. Webster Haag were married in June. Web is a 1953 graduate of Penn State and he and J. J. are living at Oakwood Gardens, Apt. H-2, Lansdale.

Kitsy Bell is working in production at N. W. Ayer, Inc. in Philadelphia. Kitsy says it really looks like a quorum for an alumni meeting with Kenneth Slifer '26 as vice president, Don Sholl '42, Jane Jones Vance '55, Helen Glisson '55 and Jack Bozarth '50 and a few other Bucknellians there. Kitsy passes along the news that Claire Vogelsong just returned from a trip to Europe and had an unexpected five days in the Azores while her ship was being repaired.

Ellen Herte Schick, husband John and son Larry are in Germany now where John is stationed. Their apartment is located in the town of Regensburg, on the Danube, about 15 miles from the Czech border. Ellen says life is wonderful over there—and that they'll be home sometime in 1959. Their postal address is 2/Lt. John L. Schick, 072218; Tank Co. 3rd Bn.: 6th A/C, APO 225, New York, N. Y.

54 MISS ANNE TUCKERMAN
400 S. Jackson St.
Media, Pa.

Theron A. Winter, Jr. and Charlotte A. Rummage were married August 18. After a honeymoon in the Blue Ridge Mountains, Charlotte will begin teaching at the Willis and Elizabeth Martin School for the Deaf in Philadelphia. Theron is attending the U. of P. Dental School. They are living at 4218 Chester Ave., Philadelphia.

Louise Richers was married on June 9, 1956, to Richard Rydberg from Colorado. Louise is busy working for Bell Telephone and keeping house while Richard is back at school after just being discharged from the Army. Their address is: 4563 Elm Court, Denver, Col.

Dottie DiOrto has changed her plans and will be teaching in Switzerland instead of France. To quote from her letter: "Truly I have been most fortunate! After coming to France rather rashly, without a position, and after spending a full month on a composite of five odd jobs: e. g. tutor, maid, governess, babysitter, and translator, I have secured a wonderful position. I'll be a teacher in a private school for French and Swiss in Switzerland. I will teach English, history, and Latin, and receive a wealth of experience in French in return. The pay is comparatively good, the work challenging, and the extra duties limited." Her new address is: La Chatelaine, Saint-Blaise, c/o Dr. A. Jobin, Neuchatel, Switzerland.

A story by Philip M. Roth has been selected for publication in the forthcoming Best American Short Stories of 1956, edited by Martha Foley and published annually by Houghton Mifflin. The book represents the best short fiction published in the country throughout the year with about 15 writers included in the volume.

Louis F. Santangelo has been with the Actna Life Affiliated Companies as a bond man for the past two years and is now located at the home offices in Hartford, Conn., in the comptroller's department. His duties are in personnel work and will eventually be recruiting college graduates.

Ronald B. Goodman writes from the Pacific Area as follows: "I'm now stationed with an Army Engineer Battalion on the island of Kyushu, in southern Japan. I am executive officer of Co. 'C', 802nd Engineer Battalion and have been here since June when I was transferred from another unit, having been in the Far East since December 1955." Ronald's address is: Co. 'C', 802nd Engr. Bn. (Hu Cons) APO 929, San Francisco, California.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
1013 Clinton St.

Henry H. Neuhard, of Milton, received his B.S. degree and was commissioned as an Ensign, U. S. N., from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis on June 1. The following day he married Janet Anderson, of Shamokin, and is now located at Pensacola, Fla.

Though there might be a squabble between the Denison and Bucknell factions of the Al Higley (Beverly Gray) family, we're sure that the class of '78 will include co-ed Sharon Ann.

Perry Como decided that the University of Maryland had a real beauty in Georgene Dunn and named her runner-up in Centennial Queen competition. George was in the class of '56 there.

Marian Kennedy and Ed Titus were married in Frederick, Maryland, during June. Charlie Price was married in February in Los Angeles.

Marty Jones decided that she hadn't had enough school, so after teaching in McKeesport High School, she left for the University of Wisconsin to be a student again during the summer.

In September, Janet Shaw graduated from Cornell School of Nursing in New York. This summer she was an acting public health nurse in Glens Falls, N. Y.

Doris Noseda became Mrs. Warren Feirer in 1955. Sue Chynoweth added "Mrs." to her name too when she and David Fables tied the knot. They are living at 35 Willow Lane, Roselle, N. J. Don Clark was married December 17, 1955. He's attending Union Theological Seminary. He's a classmate of Rich Klaber.

Marianne Shurack is attending Villanova Law School. Warren Schlanger is at the University of Chicago Medical School. Gil Reed is a student at Hahneman Medical School. Tom Cook and Charlie Hertz are at Penn Med. Stu Bean entered Buffalo Med. School this fall. These doctors-to-be go on and on, but Joe English, Bob McInroy, and Fred Amsler attend Temple Med.

Diana C. Johnson became the bride of Alan B. Sigler of Camp Hill on September 1. Alan graduated from Lafayette College and is employed by IBM.

Susan C. Fleming has accepted a position with Albright College as a psychometrician in the Psychological Service Center where she had served as assistant last year. Sue spent the summer of 1955 in Europe. This past summer she attended Penn State University where she did graduate work in psychometrics and statistics. Sue's "spare time" activities include serving as treasurer of the Reading Bucknell Alumni Club, provisional membership in the Junior League of Reading, Panhellenic Club and the American Association of University Women. She lives with her parents at 816 Farr Place, Reading.

Lt. Richard B. Ranck recently was graduated from the officers basic course at The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va.

Before entering the service, Dick was employed by the American Bridge Division, U. S. Steel at Ambridge, Pa. His parents Bruce O. '18 and Mildred Farley Ranck '20 live at 2 Grant Street, Carney's Point, N. J.

Martin A. Seel and wife (Marilyn K. Schwartz '57) announce the birth of a son, Martin Anthony, Jr., on August 5. Martin is a credit investigator for the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York City. They are living in North Bergen, N. J.

Dorothy C. Lewis is secretary to the assistant to the vice president, Latin-American Division, of the Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, Morris Plains, N. J., and finds the work most interesting. She is living at 182 Mountain Avenue, Summit, N. J.

56 MISS JEAN M. WIRTHS
7 Overhill Drive
Madison, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Jennings (Alice Lee Moncrief) are making their home in St. Louis, Mo., where Don is with Armstrong Cork Co. Lee and Don were married November 17 with Bucknellians Carla Pieper and George Wolf in the wedding party.

Another November 17 wedding was that of Nancy Shepler and Don Richards. Wedding bells have rung, too, for Rodolph Gruehr and Helen Long on November 11; Robert Shoop and Mary Campbell on October 27 in Los Angeles, Calif.; Alison Army and James Kenworthy '54; Joyce Neeb and Bruce McGillivray; Pat Quinn and Charles Baier. After a September wedding and honeymoon in Canada, John McConnell and Lillie Hindes are living at 815 Walbridge Street, Pittsburgh. John is working in the mechanical equipment department of the Blaw-Knox Co., in Pittsburgh.

Betty Kielar, Lydia Tiemann, and Gladys Ellis '55, are sharing an apartment in Washington, D. C., and Tinky Eccles, Babs Besosa, and Betty Jane Wigginton have an apartment together in Philadelphia.

Quoting Barbi Hopf Grogin, "Have now advanced to the marital stage. Shall be teaching for a year or so (at Nanuet School) until my geologist husband gets his master's degree, then shall probably go rock hunting." The Grogin address is Route 303, Box 1, Blauvelt, N. Y.

Violet (Bayer) and Bud Riegel '54, are living at 1512 Pine Street, Philadelphia, while Bud attends Hahnemann Medical School. Other med students in the Philadelphia area are Rich McFarland at Hahnemann; Ed Burg, Dale Bowen, Joe Eberhart and Floyd Naugle at Temple.

ADMISSION TO COLLEGE — Current periodicals are giving wide coverage to the complicated problems of admission to college (Time Magazine, Feb. 4, 1957, New York World-Telegram, Feb. 5, 1957, etc.). The post-war situation has been characterized by an increase in the number of applicants that has forced on colleges a considerable change in admission procedures. In addition, the fact that, beginning with the Class of 1955, the College Entrance Examination Board no longer required a prospective student to indicate whether a college was his first, second, or third choice, made it impossible to determine whether an applicant really intended to come to Bucknell or was applying here as insurance against not getting admitted somewhere else. The number accepted, therefore, had to be much larger to ensure an entering class of the size sought.

The real problem of admissions is clearly illustrated by the following figures showing the number of applicants, the number accepted and the number actually matriculated at Bucknell for the past few years:

Class of	Number of Applicants		Number Offered Admission		Number Matriculated
	Men	Women	Men	Women	Men	Women
1954	749	465	561	260	356	196
1955	591	478	450	352	284	228
1956	763	564	541	376	343	231
1957	833	597	577	346	323	211
1958	904	564	620	313	364	193

How to Buy a Pattern at Macy's

(This is not for women)

Man, have you bought a pattern at Macy's lately? If you're still trying to find the answer to the question, "Isn't it amazing what women would rather have than money?" you might do worse than visiting Macy's pattern department.

Assuming you can find Macy's, you can find the pattern department after asking only 6 persons (provided you come in the proper front door, otherwise, 8 is about par for the course). When you reach the department, don't expect to see patterns. What you will see is a set of catalogues (about 120, picturing and describing the patterns produced by 5 leading manufacturers). When you arrive, each catalogue will be manned (oops-womanned) by an eager shopper. If you are buying your pattern on a rainy day, there will be 2 additional eager shoppers behind each eager shopper No. 1.

Which of the lines to get into and which of the catalogues to look at? This I wouldn't know but maybe women know. If you ask one of the four clerks on duty for advice, you soon learn that they are on duty to deliver the pattern you select, not to help you select it.

After examining as many catalogues as possible you may find what you want. In that case, you write the pattern number on a slip of paper and take it to one of the clerks. If it is in stock you get it promptly, pay for it and leave triumphantly. Elapsed time: one hour and 32 minutes.

In my case, it didn't work out that way. The pattern I wanted was out of stock.

On my return to Lewisburg, I dropped in at one of the shops on Market Street and picked up the item in less than 5 minutes.

Everybody likes to read the other fellow's mail. That rare opportunity comes to us whenever a student writes a post card and fails to fill in the outgoing address side of the card. When this occurs the post office in Roberts Hall posts the card on the bulletin board for all to read in the hope that the forgetful student will see the message he has written and supply the missing address.

We claim that the two messages that follow are representative of thousands of letters home that have been written by generation after generation of college students. Do you agree?

"Dear Mom and Dad:

How are you, I am fine and completely over my cold. I went to practice yesterday and will go today. It is pretty nice today and warm. I have a frat meeting tonight. I will call Friday night. I hope Dad is feeling fine and his ulcer isn't bothering him. Yesterday I guess parents got mid-semester marks (only D's and F's) because last night a barrage of long distance phone calls came to the boys in the house from their irate parents. I'm glad I didn't get any and warrant an irate phone call. C'es LaVie! Everything is fine, am looking forward to Xmas vacation. Love to Joan.

Your boy,

STEVIE"

"Dear Dad and Mom

I received the check and laundry box this a. m. and the fin yesterday. Thanks! I wrote Kelley last Sat. p. m. for the A. F. Academy. Do you think it wise to write him again about West Point. I think I could get in there if I had an appointment. I'm going to have my right eye checked tomorrow. It might be going bad.

Love,

DOPEY

P.S. How about some food!"

Of the estimated $4.9 billions given by individuals to philanthropy in the United States in 1953 (latest figures available) about 53% went to religion and about 9% to education.

In addition to their money gifts at least 35 million volunteers—one in very five persons—gave of their time and talent to philanthropic causes in 1956. It is estimated there were three million volunteer workers in 1925.

There is plenty of evidence that Alumni have not only admired, but have read, the Timely brochure distributed to all Alumni last December. One alumnus, John Worth '37, has proven himself to be a master mathematician by challenging Buck Shott's estimate of 235 years required to match Princeton's Alumni Fund at our present rate of increase. Using the formula $Y = ar^x$, John has come up with the answer of 606 years. Whether it be 606 or 235 years, we are sure the time can be shortened by cutting down the number of LYBUNTS (those who gave Last Year BUt Not This.)

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

Published in January, March, May, September, and November by

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930, at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

HERE ARE YOUR ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

The Committee for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates presents for your action the names of three Alumnae to be balloted upon in April 1957. We present the names, pictures and biographies of the proposed candidates. Early in April ballots will be mailed to all Alumni whose addresses are known to be correct. The return envelope will be a combination mailer, providing for the return of the ballot and a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Program—BUT YOU DO NOT NEED TO CONTRIBUTE TO BE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE. The voter will open the envelope at an indicated place, mark the ballot by voting for ONE candidate, enclose a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Fund—if you have not made a gift since July 1, 1956, and feel inclined to do so—seal and mail it. No postage required. On receipt at the Alumni Office, the secrecy of the ballot will be maintained by separating the name and address of the voter from the ballot after which the ballot will be placed in a locked ballot box. Balloting will end on Wednesday, May 15, 1957. During the following week, a committee of Alumni will open the locked ballot box, tally the votes and certify the results to the Board of Trustees.

Vote in April

On page 3 you will find the names, pictures and biographical records of the three candidates chosen to stand for election as Alumni Trustee to the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University. One is to be elected by the general alumni body in April for a term of five years.

The candidates were carefully chosen from a larger group of nominees suggested by local alumni clubs, class presidents, class reporters, fund managers, members of the Board of Directors and the Alumni Fund Committee, as well as former alumni trustees and former presidents of The General Alumni Association. Well over 500 Alumni were canvassed for suggestions. Also, each issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS carried a time-table of the election procedure and in the September issue all alumni were urged to suggest names of persons to be considered for nomination. The response was excellent, but unfortunately, a few alumni thought we were running a popularity contest and that a large number of suggestions for a single individual would be tantamount to nomination of that person. These few alumni overlooked the provision in the by-laws that requires the nominating committee to make its selection solely on the record of achievement each prospective nominee is invited to submit.

After all suggested candidates have been listed, the Alumni Office prepares a biographical record of each candidate and if time permits, submits the record to the candidate for corrections and additions. The completed biographies are examined and discussed by the Committee for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates, following which each committee member by secret ballot records first, second, third, fourth, and fifth choices. By weighing the choices on all ballots the three top candidates emerge. The candidates with their pictures and biographical records, then appear in the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, and then in April every alumnus with a known address receives a postage-free ballot for voting.

Each year a number of alumni do not vote because they "do not know the candidates personally." It is of course unfortunate that in our alumni groups, spread all over the world and from the classes of the 1890's down to the present days, we cannot know every member personally. That's why the biographies are published in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Voters in many federal and municipal elections are unacquainted with their candidates for public office but it seldom deters them from voting. So get acquainted with your candidates through the biographies printed on page 3 and be prepared to vote in April.

Alumni now serving on the Board of Trustees through election of that body, but who were originally nominated for membership by The General Alumni Association, include: Dr. Harvey F. Smith '94, Robert L. Rooke '13, Dr. Mary B. Harris '94, Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Dr. Mary M. Wolfe '96, William R. White '26, and Andrew R. Mathieson '20.

Alumni now serving on the Board of Trustees, on nomination by The General Alumni Association are: Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15 (1957); Dr. Roy E. Nicodemus '25 (1958); John C. Decker, Esq. '36 (1959), Dr. Franklin D. Jones '19 (1960), and Dr. Clair G. Spangler '25 (1961). History has supplied ample evidence that the members of the Board of Trustees, from whatever source selected, serve not the Trustees, nor the Alumni Association, but the University, which is as it should be.

You are urged to exercise your prerogative to vote in a democratic election when you receive your ballot in April. The ballot

J. Gurney Sholl '10 Honored

Churchmen and civic leaders joined with the congregation of the First Baptist Church of Pitman, N. J., to honor John Gurney Sholl at the church's annual dinner and congregational meeting, December 5, 1956.

The program which had been announced as "Achievement Night" suddenly shifted to a "This Is Your Life" theme when Gurney was called to the platform. This was the first of a series of surprises, many of which involved Bucknell and Bucknellians.

Events and achievements in his life were recalled by boyhood friends, family, Bucknellians, newspaper associates and those who served with him in the New Jersey Legislature, first in the Assembly and later in the Senate.

Representing the Sholl family were his wife, Ruby Pierson Sholl '10, his two sisters, Mary Sholl Sherman '22 and Dorothy Sholl '23, two of his sons, Dr. John G. Sholl '37 and Donald H. Sholl '42. The third son, Calvin Sholl '45, unable to be present, announced his reason by loud-speaker telephone: the imminent arrival of Gurney's thirteenth grandchild.

Kenneth W. Slifer '26, former president of the Bucknell University General Alumni Association, brought greetings both from Bucknell and from the Central Baptist Church in Woodbury, N. J. Ken recounted an amusing campus incident told to him by Gurney's college classmate Paul Abraham '10.

Pitman's mayor, William C. Hall, presented a citation from the borough council for Gurney's many years of public life and service to his borough and to his church.

One high-point of the evening was the reading of a telegram from President Eisenhower congratulating Gurney on the honors being paid to him. Another was a presentation by Dr. Harold Stoddard of Newark, N. J., of a Certificate of Merit of the Baptist Publication Society, an award given only to outstanding Baptist laymen who have been working for more than 35 years in teaching and supervision fields.

Before the evening was over, some 28 friends, relatives and local and State officials had helped to cover the colorful life that Gurney has experienced as newspaperman, churchman and legislator.

Congratulations, Gurney, from your classmates.

AMONG THE CLUBS

CINCINNATI—A small group of loyal alumni had the pleasure of having William S. Liming '33, past president of The General Alumni Association, as their guest speaker at a meeting on January 11 at the Cincinnati Club in Cincinnati, Ohio. His fascinating commentary of the latest developments and accomplishments on the campus was supplemented with some very recent and vivid color pictures. These included aerial views of the new quadrangle, the campus, Lewisburg and Buffalo Valley. Bill gave the attending alumni the nearest substitute for a Homecoming visit by means of colored pictures of the 1956 Homecoming parade and football game. The action shots of the game were excellent. The outcome of the game was not known until the last shot which showed the score board with a loss for Bucknell! Bill Liming and those on the campus who took the pictures, made a very effective presentation at this meeting.

The Rev. Mr. E. S. Comrey '00 gave a very interesting description of life at Bucknell before the turn of the century in contrast to what it is today.

Mr. Leslie H. Berk '34, described plans for the next meeting to be held on March 20, 1957. Those who missed our last meeting will again have the opportunity of hearing Bill Liming. Local alumni will receive more details by mail.

DANVILLE—Thirty-nine members and guests of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Danville met on February 4 at the Pine Baru Inn in Danville to celebrate Bucknell's 111th birthday. A fine meal with birthday cake as dessert was enjoyed by all.

Speakers at the dinner meeting were Dr. Roy E. Nicodemus '25, a member of the Board of Trustees at Bucknell and chairman of the ninth annual alumni fund, and Mr. Emil J. Polak M.A. '51, associate professor of mathematics and astronomy at the University. Dr. Nicodemus spoke briefly on the progress of the University in the past and what Bucknell expects to accomplish in the next ten years. Professor Polak spoke on the Science Fair to be held this year at Bucknell and the reasons why such a program is a stimulant toward reducing the critical shortage of engineers and scientists in our country.

The following officers were elected for the 1957-58 year: F. Porter Wagner '47, president; Orier Boedker '49, vice president; and Mrs. Felix F. Stroh (Theresa M. Boguszewicz) '40, secretary-treasurer.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA—On Tuesday evening, December 4, alumni and friends gathered for the quarterly dinner at the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley. There were eighteen present. The social hour began at 6:30, followed by a fine dinner. An interesting sidelight occurred when a gentleman came into our dining area and said he had been attracted to the room because he saw the Bucknell banner on the wall. It appeared that he had played for Fordham against Bucknell in football many years ago.

In the absence of President Harry Hartzel, Vice President Sandy Sanger discussed future plans of the association and urged all present to contact nearby Bucknellians for future meeting.

Zlotkin '34, Abraham Zager '38.

MONMOUTH-OCEAN—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean held its annual dinner meeting at the American Hotel in Freehold, N. J., on February 5 to celebrate Bucknell's 111th birthday. A fine meal and excellent speech by Dr. Lester Kieft, professor of chemistry and head of the Department of Chemistry at Bucknell made the meeting a thoroughly enjoyable one for the eighteen Bucknellians and guests in attendance.

UNION COUNTY-MILTON—To celebrate Bucknell's 111th Birthday, the Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Union County and Milton held a dinner on February 6 at the Lewisburg Club with 95 members and guests in attendance.

Preceding the evening's entertainment a brief business meeting was conducted. The members unanimously voted that the following persons be elected as officers: John G. Gold '18, president; Lawrence W. Lawton '22, vice president; Miss Thelma F. Showalter '29, secretary; and Herbert C. Grace '18, treasurer.

Dr. Robert E. Streeter '38, a former member of the Bucknell faculty and now Dean of the College at the University of Chicago, was the guest speaker. Dr. Streeter gave a very interesting and informative view on the role of the independent college in American life.

Those responsible for the success of this party were John G. Gold, program chairman; Anthony A. Krzywicki '48; and Mrs. Anthony A. Krzywicki (Faith Van Sise '46), decorations.

BU Cagers Shoot for School Mark

Not since the 1946-47 season had a Bucknell basketball team won as many as 11 games. The current squad has already captured that many. Never in the University's 62-year court history has an Orange and Blue five gained 15 victories. As this is written the Bisons have nine chances to pick up four wins and surpass all previous marks. Incidentally, the last BU combination to land 14 games played during the 1927-28 campaign. It's been a long time.

Starting with successive conquests of Cornell, Gettysburg, Lehigh, Colgate and Delaware, the Herd entered the Hofstra Christmas Tournament as co-favorites to cop the title. They lived up to expectations by going to the finals after trouncing Wagner, 83-65, and Cortland State, 94-67. The latter contest still represents Bucknell's finest offensive effort of the season. Clicking on 40 of 72 shots from scrimmage, the Herd rolled home behind Joe Baccelli's 22 points. The next night, however, found the Bisons at their most frigid. Notching only 18 of 73 tosses at the hoop, they fell before a relentless West Virginia Tech attack, 88-51, and wound up with the tournament's consolation cup. Not bad for a team that had lost two out of two at Hofstra the year before.

The first tilt of 1957 saw Bucknell treat Hofstra in hospitably at Davis Gym, trampling the Flying Dutchmen, 71-41, as Baccelli and Hal Danzig paced the point-makers with 14 apiece. A trip to Huntingdon netted a not-too-difficult 67-50 walloping of Juniata. Once again Baccelli led the way with 17 markers.

After registering nine triumphs the Bisons tasted their second defeat in Pitt's refrigerated field house, 64-49. Unfortunately, the Orange and Blue's shooting was even colder than the temperature in the second half, as the Panthers broke up a tight struggle and breezed home in front. Pitt's highly-touted Don Hennon proved his worth to the visitors from Lewisburg with 18 valuable points when they were needed most. Danzig's 13 was high for BU.

Two days later coach Ben Kribbs sent his boys against Lafayette before a capacity crowd at Davis Gym. The Bucknellians, thanks to Danzig's rebounding, he latched onto 18, and Baccelli's marksmanship, he hit for 25 points, stayed with the favored Leopards until the final ten minutes. The turning point came when Danzig was benched with four personals. Missing his backboard work and defensive skill the Herd floundered and dropped a 68-60 decision. Baccelli, having a remarkable senior year, was connecting from long range with sets and looping in right and left-handed hooks at the end of sizzling drives. He's been one of two key men for Kribbs—the other being Danzig. The latter, only a sophomore, has tremendous potential and could develop into something special before he draws his diploma.

Albright was a welcome guest at Bucknell and absorbed the anticipated 76-59 drubbing. Danzig enjoyed his most productive night of the campaign, canning 28 points, to deadlock Marty Tannenbaum for individual game high honors. Marty's 28 came in the opener against Cornell. Dick Kniffin, another soph, responded favorably to his initial starting assignment and racked up 21. Though inclined to be erratic, Kniffin has a sharp eye from the outside, either jumping or setting.

The triumph that jacked the Herd's mark up to 11-3 was the prize achievement of the winter. A 74-68 whipping of Muhlenberg at Allentown snapped a string of 18 consecutive losses to the Mules that spanned a decade. It was a thrilling tussle that was last tied at 57-57. The Bisons then proceeded to tally 13 of the next 15 points and it was all over. Danzig and Tannenbaum topped the scorers with 18 and 17 counters, respectively, but it was a brilliant team effort that paid off.

Final examinations then intervened, followed by a snowstorm that stranded the team in Easton and caused postponement of the Rutgers game. Two weeks had passed when Bucknell got another crack at Lafayette. The Bisons, despite being rusty, grabbed an early 23-17 edge, then faded badly as the Leopards snarled back and romped away to an 87-65 verdict. Baccelli's 16 points kept Herd hopes alive for 30 minutes, but there was no denying the power-laden Leopards on their own court. This time they were even meaner than they'd been in Lewisburg, running their domination of BU to 25 straight games. Any doubts about next year's prospect?

BU Swimmers Improving

Nearly two months of diligent practice was climaxed January 15 when Bucknell's first swimming team hit the water at Lancaster in a meet with Franklin and Marshall. While the Bisons bowed 57-29 there was some cause for optimism in their performance. Lou Jones, the squad's lone senior from Wilkes-Barre, captured the diving event, while Bill Barrett, a sophomore from Mountain Lakes, N. J., made off with the 100-yard freestyle honors. Jones and Barrett also combined with sophs Bill Schreiber, Arlington, N. J., and Bill Eaton, Pittsburgh, to win the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Far from discouraged, coach Bob Latour next sent his Bisons into combat with Dickinson at Carlisle, where once again they were beaten, 52-34. Still more improvement was noted, however, as Jones duplicated his diving success; Gene Meenan, New York City, triumphed in the 200-yard breaststroke competition; Ken Myrback, New Rochelle, N. Y., licked the Red Devils' 220-yard freestylers; and the Herd's 400-yard medley relay team, composed of Barrett, Meenan, Schreiber and Bruce Hutchinson, sophomore from Rye, N. Y., emerged on top.

At this writing the Bisons have two more meets, both carded for the Bucknell pool. Gettysburg and Delaware are the respective foes.

Herd Wrestlers Win One of Three

A 21-13 conquest of Lycoming and losses to Lafayette and Muhlenberg by scores of 21-8 and 21-13, respectively, marked the start of Bucknell's 1957 wrestling campaign.

Deprived of the talents of two of last year's stalwarts, Larry Dempster and Al Grande, coach Bill Wrabley was forced to open the season with two strikes against him. The struggles to date, however, have uncovered potential standouts in George Callahan, Bob Glickman and Rowland Bell, all sophomores.

The 123-pound Callahan, from Hamburg, N. Y., was the victor in two of his three matches, while Glickman, 130-pounder from Maplewood, N. J., had a pair of wins and a draw to his credit. Illness forced Bell, 137-pounder from Lynbrook, N. Y., to miss the Muhlenberg test after he had gained decisions against rivals from Lycoming and Lafayette.

The rip-sportingest Bison thus far has been senior heavyweight Bill Benton, Madison, N. J. The 225-pound giant has pinned two foes and outpointed another en route to what should be his greatest season. Last year Bill captured four of six regular matches and won three of four Middle Atlantic Championship skirmishes, finishing runner-up among the heavyweights.

Baby Bisons Show 7-3 Log

Proceeding at the same rapid gait as their predecessors of recent years, Bucknell's frosh cagers are currently rolling along with seven wins in ten tilts.

After an early four-game winning streak had been snuffed out by Juniata, 74-71, the BU yearlings quickly recovered to wallop Bloomsburg, 87-65; Albright, 66-50; and Wyoming, 72-54, before bowing to a powerful Muhlenberg five, 81-51.

The Student View

by
GINNY EMMITT '59

A MONTH of the second semester has passed already. It seems like just yesterday that we were standing in many long lines to register. It seems like just yesterday that we were receiving our marks and were vowing to really get down to work this semester. Resolved: that we will not let the reading pile up until just before the test; that we will keep notes neat and in order; that we will cut down on bridge playing, that we will spend less time in Chet's; and that we will keep the study hours longer than the breaks. Here we are a month later; they still sound good, but . . . And less than a month 'til mid-semester's.

WUS Tops Goal

The Bucknell campus is really going world-minded. Just recently the World University Service annual drive was held. Forrest Brown, secretary of the Christian Association, was happy to announce that this drive went over its goal of $3500, the first time any drive has done this in five years. So far they've collected $3599.29 in cash and pledges from 71.2% of faculty, staff, and administration, and from 69.3% of students. The budget is $1200 for four scholarships to International students at Bucknell, $1000 for Hungarian refugee students in Vienna, $500 for general WUS projects, $500 for scholarships at University of Rangoon in Burma, and $300 for special alumni projects overseas. Contributing to WUS seems like a worthwhile way to spend our money.

"Pledge, Clean This Up"

This semester got off to a roaring start with sorority and fraternity formal rushing. A whole semester of planning, working, and sweating finally paid off. Lots of happiness; a few disappointments. But "c'est la vie." It was worth it. No more suite cleaning nor pledge work-outs for sophomores. Now everyone's back to normal; no-one's trying to impress someone else. Everyone can relax and not worry about rules and restrictions on rushing. Four girls of the same sorority can go into Chet's without being condemned for "group activity."

"Dig That Orchestra"

Not too many students would make plans to spend one of their vacation days attending a symphony orchestra concert; not too many have the opportunity. But when the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra played here, the enthusiastic response showed that we do enjoy some music other than Rock 'n Roll. One of the major orchestras of the country, it was presented to the campus as the third program in the Artist Series. They gave a performance to awe every Bucknell band member, in addition to everyone else in the audience.

More World Interest

The fourth annual Newsman's Conference was by far the most important event of the semester so far. Bucknell is about the only school to show enough interest in world affairs to schedule such a conference—a fact to be proud of. This year's program, with its theme of "Explosions in the Making,"

Jean White '50 Is Feature Writer

Jean White, Bucknell University Class of 1950, has been exemplifying distinguished journalism in her staff reportorial work with the Washington Post and Times-Herald.

Her series of articles, covering the Fifteenth Anniversary Exhibit of the National Gallery of Art, has a Bucknell flavor. The occasion was especially noted by the showing of the Samuel H. Kress collection which constituted the largest single display in the gallery. Mr. Rush H. Kress '00, was in attendance for the initial anniversary show.

Jean's series preceded the public showing by a week and continued for a two-week period. Reaction of the public to the articles has been so vigorous that all previous exhibition attendance records were shattered. The more famous artists were discussed from the standpoint of type, class and technique; restoration efforts of the Kress Foundation's Art Laboratory in the Poconos were illustrated, and a special Sunday supplement depicting the National Gallery of Art, its history and its most famous works was featured.

The Washington's Birthday commemorative section of the Sunday edition carried a full cover page by-lined by Jean. The article dealt with the Washington influence on historic Alexandria which lies across the Potomac and slightly to the south of Washington, D. C. By present day standards, Alexandria is a short drive from the Washington estate of Mt. Vernon and in colonial days, the center of commercial and social activity for plantation owners of Northern Virginia.

Miss White has not limited her journalism to art and history. Her by-lines follow front page lead headlines on disaster and extend to feature stories on the financial page. Jean lives in the District of Columbia but considers Williamsport her home.

Previous to attending Bucknell, Miss White studied at Dickinson Junior College and subsequent to her graduation with the Class of 1950 with an A.B. in English and Chemistry, received a Master of Science with distinction at the Columbia School of Journalism in 1953. While at Bucknell, Jean was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, graduating summa cum laude. Since completion of Columbia graduate work, she has been associated continuously with the Washington Post and Times-Herald. Jean at one time served as local reporter and "rewrite man" for the national edition of Williamsport's Grit.

We are proud of the contribution to the field of journalism by Miss Jean White '50, our fellow Alumna.

was quite successful, although it could have been more so. Considering the number of students enrolled here, there should have been a greater number attending the events. Each year we seem to become more and more aware of life outside these 300 acres, but not enough of us have as much interest as we should.

The keynote of the conference was informality. It is an educational fact that one learns more from participation in a discussion than by listening to a lecture with no time for questions. This point was kept in mind when the schedule was formed. The journalism coffee (it was called a tea, but they served coffee) hour provided time to talk individually with the newsmen, who

New Honor for Smith '94

Dr. Catherine MacFarlane and Dr. Harvey F. Smith '94, cancer fighters.

Dr. Harvey F. Smith of the Class of 1894 has been one of Pennsylvania's leaders in cancer control work for over forty years. His vigorous efforts against this dread affliction have brought him outstanding acclaim in medical circles throughout the state, and from news gathered from the Pennsylvania Cancer Digest it appears that Dr. Smith is still moving forward in the fight against cancer. The above picture of Dr. Smith with Dr. MacFarlane was recently taken at a Crusade Rally held by the Dauphin County Unit on Cancer.

Among the many honors awarded Dr. Smith perhaps the most recent was the renaming of the Harrisburg Hospital Tumor Clinic to the Harvey F. Smith Tumor Clinic.

Dr. Smith graduated from Bucknell in 1894 with a Ph.B. degree and was awarded his M.D. degree by the University of Pennsylvania in 1897. Bucknell, in 1924, honored him with an honorary Doctor of Science.

While an undergraduate at Bucknell he was active in all athletics, especially baseball and football, and became a member of Phi Kappa Psi. After graduation, he played for a short time as a third baseman for the Washington Nationals.

Dr. Smith is a member of many organizations, both medical and philanthropic, and we are proud to have him as a member of the Bucknell Board of Trustees.

Dr. Smith and his wife, the former Miss Blanche Neal of Goncher College, presently reside in Harrisburg. They are the parents of two children, Robert and Eleanor (Mrs. Thomas Tohy).

were all tops in their fields. The relaxed atmosphere made conversation easy. Another main event, which unfortunately was not open to the general student body, was the Newsman's Banquet. This was probably the most profitable part of the conference for those lucky enough to attend. It's easy to thoroughly discuss a subject while sitting around small dinner tables. Of course the scheduled discussions and talks were both informative and interesting. What these men had to offer was doubly important because, being journalists, they had no political commitments to censor their ideas. I have hopes that next year's conference will be even better. Some good publicity might help.

BOOK SHELF

WARFEL '20, HARRY R. and LLOYD, DONALD J. American English in Its Cultural Setting Alfred A. Knopf, New York 1956

Harry R. Warfel, professor at Bucknell from 1921 to 1935, now professor at University of Florida, and Donald J. Lloyd, associate professor of English at Wayne University and author of the widely reprinted article, Snobs, Slobs and the English Language, have written what they describe as "the intelligent person's guide to his native tongue." The book is, they announce, an attempt to bring the results of recent advanced linguistic study within the range of anyone with the equivalent of a high school education.

The opening chapters recount briefly, but accurately and with unusual clarity, the historical background of American English, where it came from, what it was, how it has changed. This serves as an introduction to an explanation of our language system, the devices English uses to convey meaning, and its basic statement patterns. The authors succeed in making clear even subjects as intimidating to the layman as the mechanics of sound production and the sound signalling systems of English. Grammar loses its mystery and becomes intelligible in terms of word classes and structure words. The book concludes with a thorough discussion of writing and its problems, including a section on the language of business and practical suggestions towards the development of style and a richer vocabulary.

The book is neither a study intended for other specialists in linguistics nor is it by any means merely a self-help writing manual. Anyone who reads it with ordinary care and patience should finish with a conception of language in agreement with the best modern studies and a new awareness of the way American English works in our society.

SIPLEY '18, DR. LOUIS WALTON,
A Biography of Frederic E. Ives
American Museum of Photography,
Philadelphia

As a modest tribute to one of America's greatest inventors in the photo-mechanical fields the American Museum of Photography has published a capsule biography of Frederic E. Ives on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of his birth. Dr. Siple has drawn on the valuable collection of Ives items in the American Museum of Photography to illustrate this biography.

Frederic E. Ives was born in Litchfield, Conn., on February 17, 1856, and as a youth manifested great curiosity in scientific matters. As an apprentice he learned the printing trade, then moved to Ithaca where he added photography to his accomplishments. His early interest in these two subjects became his life work and many of his inventions centered around the combination of the two. Ives' first patent was a method of making photo-mechanical reproductions from photographs. Other inventions were: the Kromskop, a 3-dimensional three-color photographic process; various three-color cameras; several microscope inventions, a basic 3-color dye print process; and others which brought his total U. S. patents to seventy in number.

This biography of Ives is a condensed account of the life and work of the inven-

Engineer Becomes Missionary

George S. Franke, a senior from Rochester, who completed his degree in electrical engineering in January has been commissioned by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society as a missionary to the Belgian Congo. He has been appointed for a three-year term to render a specialized service on the mission field. George will study intensive courses in the French language and automobile mechanics until August and will be the first technician appointed as a missionary by the American Baptist Foreign Missions Society. He will repair and service shortwave radio equipment, power plants and will train local mechanics to perform these services in the Belgian Congo mission field.

The book consists of 32 pages with 20 black and white illustrations and one 4-color insert. The edition is limited to 500 copies, each of which is numbered. This will be a rare item as the forms have been broken up and the type distributed so there can be no reprints.

LETTERS

Dear Buck:

This is my annual contribution, which I wish could be larger. I do think that it is a great thing for all our members to make an annual gift, regardless of the size.

It troubles me a bit that the more recent classes are doing no better than the older classes as to percentage of members giving. We did not start right, as there was no Alumni Fund until recent years. Of course, we all understand that recent graduates have heavy financial demands at this stage in their careers. Yet it would seem that they might give a little something and add to it as their prosperity increases. If we poor preachers can scrape up a few dollars, nearly all others should be able to in these prosperous days in our national economy.

Sincerely,

REV. WILLARD D. CALLENDER '23

Fond memories take me back many a time to Lewisburg, the boating on the river, the wild flowers on the banks of the Susquehanna and on the cliffs beyond Gundy's bend. How many new (to me) flowers I found there. Then, too, Lewisburg is always associated with my mother and father who met there when father was a senior in college and mother taught in the then "Female Seminary." 1958 will be ninety years since father graduated. Lewisburg and Bucknell are dear to me for many reasons and it is good to be remembered now and then from the college. Thank you!

Sincerely,

GERTRUDE STEPHENS DOWNS '99

As a retired schoolman I am obliged to cut down as many expenditures as possible, and yet I do want to continue my recognition of obligation to a splendid college, which has meant so much to me—even if the recognition is only a token. I wish it could be more.

Cordially,

RALPH W. HALLER '08

Dear Mr. Shott:

Mrs. Koopmann and I wish to thank you for the delightful week-end at college during my fifty-fifth reunion. It was a great pleasure to see so many improvements in buildings old and new, and in general administration. Our entertainment was so kindly cared for, and we were glad to be housed in the dormitory—or should I say residence hall—named for Dr. Swartz, whom we knew and loved.

Our hearty congratulations too, for our ALUMNUS Magazine and your work with the Alumni.

Cordially yours for B. U.

LAURA ALLEN KONKLE '01

Friends:

After our completely satisfying '06 reunion, I am moved to express my gratitude to someone behind the scenes who helped in the planning. The scheme for housing all members of a class together in the same dormitory is excellent, for the houseparty informality helps quickly in renewing old friendships and making new ones of former mere acquaintances or "in-laws."

We're all carrying home very pleasant memories. Enclosed is a small token of my appreciation to add to "the fund."

Sincerely yours,

SARAH FURMAN FROST '06

University Loses Three Faculty Members

Baker '11, Rivoire and Smith Die

Since the beginning of the University year on July 1, three faculty members have been called home. All three, while they served for varying lengths of tenure, have filled us with a sense of keen loss and will be greatly missed by the University family.

W. Neil Baker '11, a life-long resident of Lewisburg, was stricken with a coronary occlusion on Saturday morning, August 11, 1956, as he entered the lobby of the Foss Clinic of the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville.

It had been his custom to serve as a relief druggist at the hospital pharmacy on occasions during the summer months, and he was about to round out a week's work when stricken.

Neil had served since 1944 as instructor in engineering drawing and was known and loved by hundreds of engineering students who attended the University during World War II and the post-war period.

Always closely associated with the undergraduate chapter of Kappa Sigma, where he served as alumni adviser for the past several years, he guided a number of generations of Kappa Sigs through their academic careers.

Neil was born in 1891, the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Baker. Dr. Baker for many years operated Baker's Pharmacy on the site now occupied by Rea and Derick and all early Bucknellians from the 1900's on will remember the spot where the Bakers, both father and son, maintained a popular student gathering place.

Neil graduated from Bucknell in 1911 and from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy in 1914. He married Ruth Mohn, Institute '11, of Lewisburg, in 1917, who survives him, along with their son, David M. Baker, Esq. '48, Bronxville, N. Y.

He remained with his father in Baker's Pharmacy until 1928, at which time he was appointed postmaster, serving in that capacity until 1936. Subsequently, he managed the local Rea and Derick drug store.

During World War I he served in both the Army and the Navy. He was a charter member of Kratzer-Dull Post No. 182, American Legion, Lewisburg. He was also a member of Charity Lodge, F. and A. M., Lewisburg; Williamsport Consistory and the Irem Temple, of Wilkes-Barre. He was a member of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church, and had been a member of the consistory of that church for the past ten years. He was presently serving as president of that body. He was also active in Lewisburg civic and business affairs, having served on the town council and as a school director. At the time of his death he was president of the Lewisburg School Jointure and a director of the school authority. He was also a director, vice president and treasurer of the Buffalo Valley Telephone Company. For many years he served on the board of trustees of the Laurelton State Village.

The memory of Neil will be long in the minds of his family, his classmates, his friends and co-workers, his University, his fraternity, and untold numbers of his former students.

Dr. Jean A. Rivoire, 44, professor of French at Bucknell, died suddenly January 1, at his home in College Park following an acute heart attack.

A native of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, and father of two children, Dr. Ri-

Dr. Ranck to Retire as Director of Development

Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, who has served Bucknell University in an administrative capacity for 33 years, will retire on June 30 from his present post as vice president and director of development.

One of Bucknell's best known officials, Dr. Ranck joined the Bucknell staff in 1924, eight years after his graduation from the University. He served for seven years as comptroller and in 1931 was made treasurer. In 1953 he was elevated to the position of vice president and treasurer. Upon his retirement as treasurer in 1955, he began his current assignment as vice president and director of development.

Throughout his long career as a college administrator, Dr. Ranck has taken a leading role in community affairs and civic causes and has contributed his services to many important projects, including the construction of the Evangelical Community Hospital, in which he played a leading role.

In recognition of his valuable services, Bucknell conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws in 1951. In conferring the degree, Dr. Joseph W. Henderson '08, chairman of the Board of Trustees, remarked that, "It is given to few persons to achieve such a degree of affection and admiration in a single lifetime as that which Dayton Ranck has achieved in his career at Bucknell."

President Merle M. Odgers, in announcing Dr. Ranck's forthcoming retirement, cited the high degree of competency, integrity and devotion which the Bucknell official has demonstrated in his long career and added, "We shall look forward to calling upon his experience and wisdom in the future in a consulting capacity."

Because of his recent illness and to give him an opportunity to recover his health completely, Dr. Ranck has been given a leave of absence for the second semester of the current year. John F. Zeller, III '41, assistant to the president will also serve as acting director of development until a new director is appointed.

voire came to Bucknell University in February, 1950. From that time through the end of the June 1956 semester he was associate professor of French and last September became a full professor.

Dr. Rivoire received his bachelor of arts degree in 1934 from the University of Manitoba, and in 1938 he earned his master of arts degree from the University of California where he majored in French. From 1935 to 1937 he was French master of St. John's College School, Winnipeg, and from 1940 to 1944 he was a teaching assistant in French at the University of California.

From 1945 to 1947 Dr. Rivoire taught French language and French literature at the University of Panama. He attended the University of Paris at Sorbonne in 1949 and the following year came to Bucknell.

Dr. Rivoire was a member of the First Baptist Church at Lewisburg. Surviving are his wife, Helena; mother, Mrs. Francisque Rivoire; a son, Tommy, six, and a daughter, Lucy, four.

Col. Bernard Smith, 67, associate professor of civil engineering at Bucknell, since last September died unexpectedly of a heart attack on December 31, 1956.

Col. Smith, a retired army officer, was born September 28, 1889, in New York City. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Wallace Erwin and Mrs. Conrad Latouneux, both of Washington, D. C.

Vasquez '37 Sets Up International Shrine

REV. ANTHONY F. VASQUEZ

In the summer of 1955 Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez '37, pastor of St. John's Baptist Church, 13th and Tasker Sts., Philadelphia, attended the World Baptist Alliance in London. Later, in Paris, he saw an American flag which suddenly reminded him of people. The thought came to him what a wonderful thing it would be if the flag of every country could be enshrined in a sanctuary as a constant reminder that all people are members of God's family.

Returning to St. John's, he outlined the idea to his congregation: create a prayer center to all and use flags "to remind people of people." Given approval, he set to work. He wrote to the heads of 76 nations, asking that each contribute a flag of his country to display. Also, outstanding figures in various countries were asked to send messages of good will for display in the prayer center. Fifty-three nations sent their national flags and ambassadors and other world leaders sent the church letters of good will or prayers. Among them are letters from former President Truman, Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Syngman Rhee, and Abba Eban, Israeli ambassador to the U. S.

At the center of the prayer sanctuary is a bronze plaque bearing a prayer composed by the Rev. Vasquez. The flag of the United States and the church flag occupy the places of honor. In the center are the flags of the countries of the United Nations, all linked by a golden cord, symbolic of brotherhood.

The Prayer Center for All People and Flags of Nations was dedicated on Feb. 17, 1956, the World Day of Prayer. Dr. Herbert Gezork delivered the dedicatory address. Consuls of fifteen nations represented their countries at the service. At that time a campaign was launched to enlist all people in a covenant of prayer in which they promise to pray daily for peace and brotherhood for all peoples of the world.

"The aim," says Anthony, "is to have people think of all countries not in terms of government, but of human beings."

Bucknell University is represented in the Prayer Center with a letter from President Odgers. It is the only educational institution, besides Crozer Seminary, included in the collection.

BUCKNELLIAN ADVANCE IN MARTS & LUNDY, INC.

DR. ARNAUD C. MARTS

Jean Raeburn, N. Y.

MR. T. F. MORGAN, JR. '21

Fabian Bachrach

DR. LOUIS W. ROBEY '04

Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, Doctor of Laws (honorary) '46, president of Bucknell from 1938 to 1945, for thirty years president of Marts & Lundy, Inc., professional fund-raising and public relations firm, was elected to fill the newly-created position of chairman of the board of directors of that company, in September 1956.

Succeeding him as president of the organization, which raises funds for colleges, churches, hospitals and other philanthropic institutions, will be Thomas F. (Si) Morgan, Jr. '21, of Lewisburg, who served until his new appointment as a vice president of the company.

Other new appointments announced at the same time include the election of George E. Lundy of Canton, O., and Dr. Louis W. Robey '04, of Philadelphia to the positions of vice chairmen of the board of directors. Both Mr. Lundy and Dr. Robey had been serving as vice presidents of the firm.

Dr. Marts, who will continue to devote his full-time attention to the affairs of the company which he and Mr. Lundy formed 30 years ago, was one of the founders of the modern fund-raising profession and instrumental in the organization of the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, the national accrediting agency for ethical fund-raising firms. In addition to his business activities, he served Bucknell University for ten years as acting president and president as well as trustee for a number of years, as the first executive director of the Pennsylvania State Council of Defense, and in Washington during World War II as chief of the Temporary Reserve Division of the U. S. Coast Guard with the rank of captain, and for the past five years as president of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution of Cape Cod, Mass.

He is currently serving on the boards of several colleges, research institutes, and welfare organizations, including the board of Oberlin College, his alma mater, and of Wilkes College, of which he is vice chairman.

"Si" Morgan, a member of Marts & Lundy for 30 years, is considered one of the country's most successful fund-raising consultants and has pioneered in the development of a score of organizational plans which have been adopted as standard practice in the profession. In addition to his business activities, he serves as a director of the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, a national officer (Grand High Tau) of the Lambda Chi Alpha college fraternity, and as a trustee of the John E. Mason Foundation.

Until 1950 he had the distinction of knowing personally every Lambda Chi Alpha man in the Bucknell chapter, having made it his business to visit and become acquainted with them. In every chapter activity he has taken a leading and active part, to the point where at Bucknell he is known as "Mr. Lambda Chi." His most recent activity for the chapter was in bringing to fruition the building of Bucknell's palatial and utilitarian chapter house.

In the 1920's "Si's" commitments took him into every state in the Union, and there was a time when he had achieved a record of having visited every existing chapter.

Morgan is a Presbyterian and makes his home with his wife, Edith, and their two children, Linda and Thomas III, in Lewisburg. He commutes from Williamsport to New York by air.

Dr. Louis W. Robey '04, vice president and secretary of Marts & Lundy, Inc. since 1936, has been appointed to fill the newly-created position of vice chairman of the board of directors of that company.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Bucknell University, and from the University of Pennsylvania Law School, Dr. Robey was engaged in a successful career as lawyer and banker in Philadelphia before becoming associated with Marts & Lundy. He has assisted Bucknell as director and adviser in many development programs, most recently as director of the Cowan Lodge building project.

Other Bucknellians active in the Marts & Lundy organization include James H. Duchine, president of the Class of 1940, recently made a director of the company, Raymond W. Cooper '18, and Charles S. Dice '32. Paul A. Hightower, secretary to Dr. Marts when he was president of Bucknell, has been a member of the firm for many years.

National Advertising Campaign For Higher Education In Preparation

Materials for a National Advertising campaign in behalf of higher education are now being completed.

Sponsored by the Council for Financial Aid to Education and developed and coordinated by The Advertising Council, the campaign will utilize newspapers, television, radio, general appeal magazines, house magazines, business and trade papers, and car cards.

Actual preparation of advertising material is in the hands of N. W. Ayer & Son, which has volunteered its services. A Bucknellian, Kenneth W. Slifer '26, is vice president in charge of copy for the agency. The Council for Financial Aid to Education is acting in the capacity of a client, and is responsible for distribution of materials.

Basically there are to be three major themes to be carried throughout the campaign: (1) higher education touches each citizen personally; (2) the essence of higher education is good teaching; and (3) higher education must get citizen's support to continue doing the job it is now.

Since almost every mass communications outlet in the nation will be utilized in the campaign, space and time costs alone will run into many millions of dollars. This cost will be borne by the outlets themselves or by interested businesses and industries who will include this public service in their advertising budgets.

More Eight Year Givers

We are happy to report additional charter (or eight year) donors to the Bucknell Alumni Fund as the result of our appeal in the last issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Again, in most cases, gifts made during the heating plant campaign of 1948 were not properly recorded on the Alumni Fund Giving Records. Where alumni have called this omission to our attention we have been able to dig into the 1948 records of the University and in most cases have been able to add one year of giving to the record.

Alumni receiving one more year of continuous giving than reported in the November 1956 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS are: Mr. and Mrs. O. V. W. Hawkins '13 and '14, Carl E. Geiger '15, Mr. and Mrs. Erie M. Topham '15 and '17, Olive E. Moore '17, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton I. Sprout '17 and '18, Meribel Ritter Smith '24, W. Duffield Hoy '29, Grace Grimshaw Dundore '31, Dorothy Grimshaw Heine '31, John F. Worth '37, Mr. and Mrs. N. Arthur Adamson '44, Craig M. Hall '51, and Dr. and Mrs. Harold N. Cole '06.

There must be many more similar cases. If you are one of these donors, please advise alumni headquarters so that your record of giving may be corrected. Thank you.

Burma-Bucknell Program

Anna Shultz, junior from Saudi Arabia, served as student chairman of the ninth annual Burma-Bucknell Weekend March 1 to 3. The two principal speakers for the event were His Excellency, U Win, Ambassador from the Union of Burma, and Senator Theodore F. Green, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

About 100 guests were on campus for the event, which has become not only popular on the campus, but has remained unique among American campus international programs. Guests included not only Burmese students, scholars and members of government of the Union of Burma, but also American friends of Burma, and representatives of the United States Department of State. The Information Agency and the Voice of America gave full coverage, and regarded these three days as especially rich in material.

The banquet, held on Saturday evening, was the highlight of the program. It was followed by an International Party in which Burmese dances and music were mixed with American songs, dances and reels. Saturday was filled with seminars with University and community agencies, field trips, and luncheons in the homes of friends in the community. Scholars addressed classes on Friday.

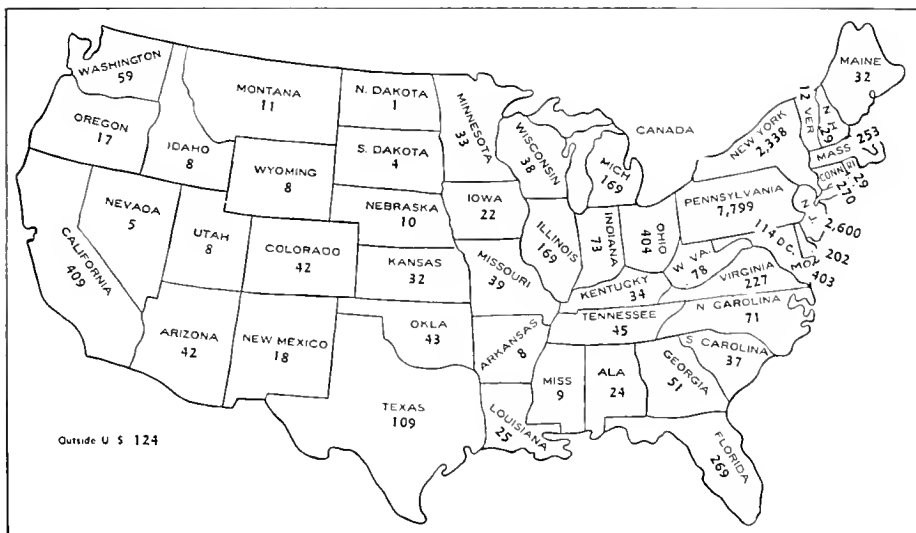

Professor Roy C. Tasker served as faculty chairman of the event. Other chairmen were: Pete Schuerholz '57, Middletown, N. Y.; Georgie Ann MacKay '58, Glenshaw; Elaine Longenecker '58, Litzitz; Dave Slifer '60, Woodbury, N. J.; Cathy Hoffman '58, Califon, N. J.; Khun Kung '58, Burma; Phil Price '59, Westchester; Kay Brinkley '59, Great Neck, N. Y.; Mary Anne Bunker '58, Swarthmore; John Barber '58, Cairo, Egypt; and Joe Nagy '57, Allentown.

This program was sponsored by the University Christian Association. It originated through the suggestions of Samuel H. Rickard '23 and Miss Helen Hunt who was on campus for the event.

BUCKNELL ALUMNI CENSUS OF 1956

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the ninth of a series being published in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS to show the geographic distribution of Bucknell Alumni. The present article reports the census of 1956.

The accompanying map shows the state-by-state distribution of the 16,856 former students of Bucknell University with known addresses. The count was made in November 1956 and includes the graduates of June of this year. The state list shown under the map includes the comparable census for October 1955. About 10% of our Bucknellians move each year and tell Alumni Headquarters of their new address. Another 5% move and leave no forwarding address. Experience shows that about 180 copies of this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS will be returned to Alumni Headquarters as undeliverable. We can improve that position by being sure to tell Alumni Headquarters when and where we move and inform the office about Bucknellians who move into our local community. The post office department does a splendid job of notifying us about changes of address that it has received, but a sizeable amount of tax money could be saved if everyone notified our office of a change of address BEFORE moving.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT NOW AVAILABLE

The second annual report of President Merle M. Odgers, for the academic year 1955-1956, has just come off the press and a limited number of copies of the 38-page brochure are available for Alumni distribution.

Every phase of University activity is covered in the sections devoted to board of trustees, faculty and administration, enrollment, student life, science fair, the library, the Bucknell study, academic aspirations, development and public relations (including alumni program), the ten million dollar plan, religion at Bucknell, the Ford Foundation Grant, financial support, business operations, and the University plant.

Many Alumni will want to read this authentic report of current University operations and aspirations. While the supply lasts you may have a copy by writing your request to John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary, Lewisburg, Pa.

TRENNIE E. EISLEY '31 HONORED

Middle Atlantic District

American College Public Relations Association has the honor to present this CITATION

to

for a lifetime of achievement on behalf of two devotions—

Bucknell University and the American College Public Relations Association, both of which have reaped the benefits of her efforts.

At Bucknell, more than one president has found her advice and counsel to be not only forthright and refreshing but wise and valuable.

And in A. C. P. R. A., where she has accomplished many assignments faithfully and well, she will always be particularly appreciated by those who first learned the public relations facts of life in her famous lecture for beginners, a classic in common sense.

Frances E. Riche
District Director

Louis H. Bell
Chairman, Awards Committee

January 24, 1957
Atlantic City, New Jersey

The American College Public Relations Association, at its District Conference in January, bestowed a signal honor on our own Trennie E. Eisley, A.B. '31, A.M. '34, in recognition of her service to Bucknell and to the Association. The award of merit reads as above.

To many folks the public relations function means the placing of publicity releases in hundreds of newspapers and this is, of course, a large and flourishing division of activity, but public relations on a University campus today involves many other duties. The assistance of the public relations office is sought in the preparation of developmental brochures, University reports and catalogues, promotional literature for prospective students and secondary schools, speeches of all kinds, supervision of student radio and publication activities, preparation of biographical reports of faculty, staff and students, as well as the writing of newspaper articles for placement in the students' hometown newspapers. With 2000 students on the campus, this activity alone runs into thousands of publicity pieces each year. Besides all this, Trennie has on many occasions written sports copy for long stretches of time when a sports publicity assistant has not been on the staff. To top all this, she has also taught Bucknell's courses in public relations since 1941.

For the General Alumni Association, the Public Relations office performs a unique and painstaking service. At each local alumni club meeting where a campus representative will appear, the Public Relations Office prepares and sends to the local club president a newspaper publicity release concerning the coming meeting. The magnitude of this task is realized when it is remembered that for one recent club meeting publicity releases for forty different newspapers in the area were prepared and sent to club officers. Occasionally busy club officers fail to follow through and place these releases in the hands of the local editors, thus robbing the local club and the University of valuable local publicity. Much of this waste could be eliminated if each of the 68 alumni clubs would activate the local publicity committee specified in the by-laws. The University would benefit greatly from such activity for local editors are prone to use Bucknell news releases when local alumni who are their own subscribers request such news.

We salute Trennie on her well-earned recognition.

petition in golf, tennis, badminton, handball, basketball and soft ball. If you don't want to compete, you can play anyway. Off campus, but not far, there is picnicking and recreation at the new University Center at Cowan and swimming and picnicking at Halfway Dam.

Should you not care for exercise and ants in your sandwiches—or even if you do—there is still more on the summer school program that you can enjoy. Bruce Mitchell, for instance, our artist in residence, who is also an authority on jazz, will give six talks on the Origins of Jazz; New Orleans, Chicago, New York and other Metropolitan Jazz; and Jazz Today. Bruce has written about jazz for Esquire and has illustrated covers for albums of jazz records. Frank Hoffman, a member of the English Department, will also give a series of illustrated talks. His subject is Folk Music. Talks by experts in science and politics are also scheduled.

Two theatres located at Eagles Mere and Millville are short and beautifully scenic drives off campus.

So you see there is something for everybody—study and relaxation—at Bucknell University Summer School.

The study program is interesting too. Suppose you don't want a degree, but just wish "to do something worthwhile?" Well, you could enroll in Bruce Mitchell's class in elementary or advanced drawing, design, and painting. Six weeks of instruction under Bruce might start you on a lifetime of satisfying creative work. Or how about a course in the Twentieth Century Novel to catch up on that reading you've been meaning to do? Or a course in the Psychology of Personality or Child Psychology or any other of more than a hundred courses?

Should you wish to earn an advanced degree or pursue professional studies both the Master of Arts and the Master of Science degrees can be earned at summer school. Bucknell provides programs of study for teachers, principals, superintendents, and guidance counselors. In addition, a number of special programs are scheduled. For instance, the National Science Foundation has honored Bucknell by granting her more than $50,000 to establish a Summer Institute for high school teachers of biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics. Fifty fellowships covering all expenses are available. Then there are the workshops in Elementary Education, Guidance, and the Air-Age, plus a series of round-table discussions for teachers of English and a Conference on the Secondary School Curriculum for Supervisors.

If you don't want to study on the campus, you can make the Atlantic Ocean and Europe your classroom by enrolling in the courses in art, architecture, and aesthetics to be given by the Departments of Art and Philosophy. These courses will begin at New York, June 20, when the ship sails for Europe, and conclude August 28, when the ship docks at Quebec. Between these two dates you will study the art treasures of England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and Holland under Professors George Hersey and David Martin. You can get college credit for these courses too!

So you see Summer School can be both enjoyable and profitable. Bucknell would like to have you enroll, but if you can't you can pass on this article to someone who can. You can see that the teachers in your local elementary and high school know about it. Perhaps your local Alumni Club Group could help publicize it. Is there a copy of the Bucknell Summer School Bulletin in the library of your local school?

If you want a Bulletin write to the Director.

The Bucknell University Summer School

A Superintendent of Schools in New Jersey recently asked President Odgers: "Are you aware of the possibilities for service in the teaching field merely by taking a few extra credits in summer? Many of your graduates with children of school age or older could qualify for teaching by taking six credits and be of service in this time of crisis in the schools."

Suppose you were to take the superintendent's suggestion and spend the six weeks beginning July 1 and ending August 9 on our beautiful campus, what would you find? Well, you'd find yourself among about three hundred other adults taking summer work just for fun, and cultural enrichment, for advanced degrees, or for professional advancement. In fact, such students outnumber the additional two hundred-odd undergraduate students. Not that the undergraduates mind. Some of them believe that the summer session is more conducive to study than the regular session. There's more balance, less distraction, smaller classes, and more relaxed professors, they say—and they are probably right.

Some classes begin at seven-thirty in the morning—while the summer dew is still on the lawns. By 12:30 most of the schedule of classes, except the labs, is completed and you have the rest of the day free for study and relaxation. This year the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool in Davis Gymnasium will be open daily for swimming. The Department of Physical Education will conduct a program of com-

PHIL CAMPBELL '22

"Success is sold in the open market. I can buy it. You can buy it. Any man can buy it, if he is willing to pay the price in work and sacrifice. You can if you will. I dare you."

Thus Philip C. Campbell '22 stated his philosophy of life in one of his publications in 1945 after twenty years in the life insurance business. When he died on February 2, 1957 no one could say that he did not live his philosophy to the full throughout the 36 years of his life.

Phil succumbed to a lingering illness at the Geisinger Hospital-Foss Clinic on February 2 and will be sadly missed by his family, his University, his Class of 1922, and his Theta Chi fraternity.

As an undergraduate, he was a member of Beta Kappa (now Theta Chi), the Mathematics Club, Senior Council Student Governing Body, Chemical Engineering Society, and vice president, University Student Athletic Association. In 1927 he was awarded the master of arts degree by Bucknell.

As an alumnus, Phil was even more active in furthering the best interests of the University, his class and his fraternity. Long active in Class of 1922 affairs, he served until his death as class reporter, was active in planning the 30th reunion of his class five years ago and just a month before his death met with other class leaders in planning for the coming June 1957 reunion. Always vitally interested in the Bucknell Alumni Fund he served on several committees of the fund and in 1952 acted as coach of the "even-years" squad and led his class groups to the championship in the 1951-1952 fund year.

In Theta Chi affairs he had long been a leader, serving as president of the Bucknell Chapter Alumni Association, as Grand Counsellor for the Middle Atlantic Province and as a national officer of the fraternity.

Upon graduation, Phil became an instructor in science and chemistry in Danville High School, became a part time agent for Philadelphia Life Insurance Company in 1925, and changed from teaching to a full-time district managership in 1929, a business connection he continued until his death.

His community and fraternal connections included: president, Bucknell Alumni Club of Montour County; president and lieutenant governor, Kiwanis Club of Danville; Mason; Shriner; Elks; and member of St. Peter's Methodist Church, Riverside.

The sincere sympathy of the University and his classmates is extended to the surviving family, his wife, the former Susan Kuentzler of Pottsville whom he

Newsman's Conference

"Explosions in the Making" was the theme of Bucknell University's fourth annual Newsman's Conference Feb. 7 and 8, with five noted newsmen participating in the two-day program.

Guest speakers included Mrs. Lee Hall, NBC reporter and UN correspondent; Larry LeSueur, United Nations correspondent for CBS; John Scali, Associated Press correspondent for the White House and the State Department; Walter Rundle, associate foreign editor of Newsweek; and Fritz S. Updike, editor of the Daily Sentinel at Rome, N. Y.

Designed to acquaint students and the general public with the current crisis in world affairs as viewed by the men reporting those affairs, the conference featured two major panel discussions in which all of the visiting newsmen participated and other sessions in which individual reports were presented.

Preceding the opening of the conference, students viewed a showing of three movies dealing with major news happenings from the "Outlook" series of the National Broadcasting Company.

The five visiting newsmen were guests of honor at a tea sponsored by the journalism fraternity, Pi Delta Epsilon. During their stay on the campus they also met informally with students in the college restaurant, The Bison.

As in the past, all sessions of the Newsman's Conference were open to the public. Henry Lambert, senior from New York City, served as chairman of the student committee in charge of the event.

Summer Science Institute

Bucknell University is one of the universities selected by the National Science Foundation to conduct a six-week summer institute for high school science teachers. The Institute will provide a program of study designed to broaden and deepen both the teachers' competence in subject matter and skill as teachers. It will also provide an opportunity for high school and college teachers to understand each other's professional problems.

The National Science Foundation, through its grant of $53,000, has made available 50 fellowships at Bucknell for high school teachers. The fellowship will include tuition and fees and will also include a cash stipend of $450, plus an additional $90 for each dependent up to a maximum of four. It is not necessary for the dependents to accompany the recipient to Lewisburg.

There will be courses in astronomy, biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics available to Institute members. Credit earned in the Institute may be applied toward an M.S. degree in Education with a major in education or science. Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the chemistry department, has been appointed director of the Institute. Dr. Kieft would appreciate if alumni who know high school science teachers would bring this opportunity to their attention. Application blanks and information can be obtained from Dr. Lester Kieft.

married in 1926, and three children, Mrs. Elinor Patricia Brady, Woodbridge, England; James C. Campbell, Bucknell Class of 1954, Williamsport; and Jane Louise Campbell, student at Lycoming College.

Phil was a man of sterling character, a most friendly spirit, and he will be greatly missed at future reunions and other University affairs.

Caruthers '35 in World Hot Spot

As you pick up the New York Times you have seen, almost daily, the name Osgood Caruthers by-lined an article concerned with the difficulties in Egypt. Osgood joined the staff of the New York Times in January, 1955, as assistant to the foreign news editor, and in November was off to Cairo on assignment as a foreign correspondent.

Prior to his duties with the New York Times he worked for the Denver Post and Pittsburgh Press, managed a radio station in DuBois, served in the United States Air Force as a captain during World War II, and before joining the Times was with Associated Press covering a variety of assignments. His work has taken him to many countries, some of which include Turkey, Jerusalem, Yugoslavia, Italy, Austria, England, and Egypt. In March of 1945 Osgood was given the opportunity to be AP representative on the battleship Missouri which returned to Istanbul, for burial, the Turkish Ambassador to the United States.

Time Magazine carried his article on Nasser in the August 19, 1956, issue.

Osgood is married to the former Rosemarie Falcone of Buffalo, N. Y. His father, John L. Caruthers '08 is a very successful mining engineer.

Alumni Honor Rev. Dr. John D. W. Fetter '13 Upon Retirement

The Rev. Dr. John D. W. Fetter '13 and Mrs. Fetter were honored with a surprise testimonial by some 200 guests at the annual dinner of the First Baptist Church of Ithaca, N. Y., recently.

After serving forty years as the first Baptist chaplain at Cornell University and Ithaca College Rev. Fetter retired from that position Aug. 31.

The dinner, an annual affair, owed its surprise to the testimonial and the attendance of alumni, friends, and former students of the Rev. Fetter, who was presented a purse and a scrapbook. Subscribing both to the scrapbook and the purse were present and former students from all 48 states and from several foreign countries. In the scrapbook were letters of tribute, photographs and other items.

Reverend Fetter graduated from Bucknell in 1913 and from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School in 1916. In 1945 he was awarded an honorary degree from Bucknell. He went to Ithaca in 1916 and began his career by founding the Baptist Church student work, assisted by Mrs. Fetter. By record of service and age, Rev. Fetter is the oldest university pastor in the American Baptist Convention. He, with two Bucknell brothers, Dr. Newton C. Fetter '09 and Dr. George Fetter '10, have given a total of more than a century of student work.

CENTRAL INDIANA—We were happy indeed, to have 15 members in attendance at our supper meeting, November 20, at the home of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Walter L. Miller, 3608 North Layman Street, Indianapolis. The hostesses assisting Mrs. Miller were Mesdames Arthur Zimmerman and W. Norman Ball. Among those attending for the first time were Henry Graham '31, Harry Hebbler '37, and his wife, and James R. Signorino '28 and his wife. It seems at each meeting we manage to "get out" a few new ones, so in time we hope to be able to boast of greater total attendance. Art Zimmerman attempted to resign as president of the group—but we unanimously re-elected him!

BUCKNELL BAPTISTS WILL MEET IN PHILADELPHIA—In connection with the American Baptist Convention, scheduled for its 1957 meeting in Philadelphia, May 29 to June 4, there will be a luncheon for Bucknellians and their friends who will be attending the convention. Local area alumni are also cordially invited to attend this annual gathering of the national Baptist organization. The exact time and place of the luncheon meeting will be announced in the May 1957 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

BUCKNELL EDUCATORS—Bucknellians in education who attended the annual Pennsylvania State Education Association Convention in Harrisburg in December turned out in good numbers (26) to hear Arthur E. Minnier AB'31, AM'36, Superintendent of Schools of Lackawanna County discuss the timely topic, "Highlights of the Intermediate Service Area Bill." A lively question period followed Mr. Minnier's presentation of the problems involved in the proposed reorganization bill. Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, Head, Department of Education, presented the speaker and conducted the question and answer period while John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary, presided at the luncheon meeting.

BALTIMORE—The Bucknellians from Baltimore who met to count their blessings made possible by a "grand old school" on Feb. 3 enjoyed an evening of conversation and companionship unequaled for a long time! After a really delicious dinner topped by our birthday cake and coffee, the 24 guests contentedly gave attention to the program. George Mussina '34 took us back to the campus by means of his many colored slides taken at Homecoming showing the activities and some of the new buildings that many of us haven't had the pleasure of seeing. Anne Mussina '32, our president then turned the program over to Buck Shott '22, the alumni secretary, and our special lished an article of his entitled, "We Build Our Church Beautiful." Other articles of his have appeared in denominational publications.

A testimonial dinner honoring Dr. and Mrs. Clark was held at the Chevy Chase Baptist Church this past summer. At that time a portrait of Dr. Clark was unveiled.

Dr. Clark is married to the former Eva G. Thayer, who attended Bucknell from 1917-1919. They are the parents of four children: John Burton '48, Virginia, Dorothy Jean '51 and Helen Elizabeth '53.

Reading Joins Weekly Lunchers

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Reading and Berks County (Bill Pfum '50, president) is the latest group to conduct a weekly luncheon for Bucknellians and their friends. Bucknellians meet every Monday noon at Hartzell's Restaurant, 533 Penn St., Reading. Bucknell visitors as well as local alumni are cordially invited.

Other clubs that hold weekly or monthly luncheons include New York (monthly), Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton (monthly), and San Francisco (monthly).

guest, who is always welcome with his never ending source of facts and stories about campus activities.

Particularly enjoyable at the beginning of Buck's talk were some quotes from the History of Bucknell telling of the foundings of "The University at Lewisburg." School admissions, the present student body and expected increase in number, the faculty, and school alumni and how they have and can contribute to Bucknell's future were his main topics which held our interest. Mr. Shott stressed the fact that in his travels around the alumni clubs he has found that the popular misconception of alumni is certainly not based on fact. (We were heartily cheered by this.)

DORIS WILDE THOMAS '49,
Secretary

ST. PETERSBURG—The Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg met for their annual dinner at the Shawn House. There were 31 present. Mrs. Elsie Owens Long '08, drove over from Nokomis; Gurney Sholl '10, and his wife, Ruby Pierson, also '10, from Pitman, N. J.; Helen McElray Buzzell '27, came with her father from Maine; Mrs. Brownell from Lewisburg; John C. Bank '10, with Mrs. Bank of Daytona Beach; Michael McDonough '10, with Mrs. McDonough from Carbondale; George T. Street '10, with wife and brother from Philadelphia; Mrs. Lloyd Rogers was also with us.

We were glad to welcome Dick Stauffer '06, with Mrs. Stauffer who recovered from a serious operation. He is a new resident here. Gilbert Lyte '09, read a letter from President Odgers which pleased the group very much.

Four Bucknellians have purchased homes here recently: Dr. and Mrs. John R. Neeff '36, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lyte '09, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stauffer '06, Mr. and Mrs. George Campuzano '13, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bailey '29, (N. Dorothy Lemon '29) have bought a home near here but have not yet moved.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY SUMMER
July 1 to August 9

Real estate developments, public schools and streets have been named for Bucknell but we believe Bakersfield, California can claim to be the spot farthest from the campus where a street has been named for Bucknell University. Wayne J. Stevenson '42 sent us the above picture of a street intersection in the College Heights section adjacent to the new junior college. Wayne, who lives at 2712 Bucknell St., is a topographical draftsman with the General Petroleum Corporation and reports Bakersfield a very pleasant, warm and dry. 101 degrees in July with the climate more pleasant by reason of almost 100% air conditioning in homes and offices.

Dr. Edward O. Clark '15 Retires

The Reverend Edward O. Clark D.D., Pastor of the Chevy Chase Baptist Church since it was organized in 1924, retired last June. He has been elected Pastor Emeritus of the church and plans to enter educational work and to do interim preaching.

A native of Philadelphia, he was graduated from Bucknell with a B.A. degree in 1915 and upon completion of his seminary work was granted the M.A. degree. He was graduated from the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School in 1918 and in 1921 received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. In 1946 Bucknell conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Upon graduation at Rochester in 1918, he became a Chaplain in the 74th Coast Artillery Corps, and served overseas until June 1919. He was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pitman, N. J. from 1919 until 1924 when he was called to the newly organized Chevy Chase Baptist Church, Washington, D. C. The membership was 39 in number and the place of meeting was a large hall above a theater. In 1925 a chapel building was completed and in 1949 a new colonial brick edifice was erected at a cost of $250,000. The church has a present enrollment of over 850 members and a budget of over $64,000. Dr. Harold E. Stassen, presidential assistant to the United Nations, is a member of the congregation and serves as an honorary deacon.

Dr. Clark has served actively in the Washington Federation of Churches and in civic and community affairs. He has also been president of the Washington Ministerial Union, of the District of Columbia Baptist Ministers Conference, Vice President of the District of Columbia Baptist Convention, and has served two terms on the Board of Finance and Promotion of the American Baptist Convention.

He is author of the sermons "Washington The Man" in the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration volume; and "Opening Blind Eyes" in the 1934 Prize Sermons volume. In 1951 the Christian Herald pub-

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Harry W. Shipe '91 died recently in Vienna. He spent his entire career with the Bureau of Indian Affairs, retiring in 1942.

Rev. Herbert K. Bower '96 died in New Haven, Conn., on September 20 at the age of 85, following a brief illness. Following his ordination he founded the First Baptist Church in Mount Union and afterward served a number of churches throughout Pennsylvania until he retired in 1941. In ad interim capacity he served churches in Connecticut for the next 10 years. He is survived by three sons: John W., '41; H. Harrison, '37; and Rev. Franklin A., '33. Our sympathy is extended to them.

We have been saddened to learn of the death of Rev. Daniel E. Lewis '96. He served as pastor of the Baptist Churches in Malvern and Merrick, N. Y., and was resident pastor of the Baptist Home for the Aged, New York City, for a number of years. Among his survivors is Raymond P. Lewis '19. Our sympathy is extended to the family.

We are sorry to have learned only recently of the death of Horace Smith '97 which occurred December 11, 1954. He spent some years in Vineland, N. J., as a chemist, retiring and moving to Pottsville in 1951. Our belated sympathy is extended to his family.

Robert A. Hoffa '94 died October 15, 1956, at his home in Lewisburg. For 50 years he had been employed at the Union National Bank in Lewisburg, retiring a few years ago as an assistant cashier. He is survived by his wife, the former Kate Noll, a daughter Helen Roberta '19 two sisters, Regina Hoffa '180 and Mrs. Carrie Hoffa Steans '184. Our sympathy is extended to the family.

Mrs. E. James Armstrong (Jessie J. Wheeler '94) died in Yellow Springs, Ohio, on July 5, 1956. Mrs. Armstrong was a trustee of Antioch College from 1927 to 1945 when she became trustee emerita. She had served several years as a member of the Board of the National Institute of Welfare Workers. Our sympathy is extended to those who survive her.

Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg '97, has recently been re-elected for a sixth term as president of the Daytona Beach Tourist Club.

You will be interested to know that Miss M. Eloise Schuyler '99, our class fund manager, who suffered a hip injury in a fall several years ago has not fully recovered, and has had to return to the University Hospital Rehabilitation Center in Philadelphia for further treatment. Miss Schuyler will not be able to continue to serve as our class fund manager and Dr. E. W. Cober '99, has agreed to serve.

It is good to be able to pass on the news from Daniel H. Krise '99 that at the age of 88 years young, he is well and happy. He resides at the Masonic Home, Elizabethtown.

Rev. Franklin I. Sigmund '95 died at Mickleton, N. J., November 15, 1956, at the age of 88. He had been unable to leave his room for over a year. He retired from preaching in 1945 in Pemberton, N. J. where he had been pastor of the Baptist Church for 25 years. Previous to that he had served several churches in Pennsylvania. After his retirement he had made his home with his daughter, Gertrude Doan. He left also two sons, Herbert of Lancaster, Tex., and Merle of Lawrence, Kan. Our sympathy is extended to those who survive.

01 MRS. CREIGHTON M. KONKLE
(Laura L. Allen)
4435 Albemarle Street
Washington 16, D. C.

We are sorry to tell you of the death of Rev. Charles W. Wolfe which occurred recently after an illness of three weeks. His wife, Sarah A. Mitman '03, died in 1947. Our sympathy is extended to their survivors.

Your reporter is spending some time this winter in DeLand, Fla., with her brother Dr. Ezra Allen '95 who is the curator of Stetson Museum.

02 REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Incidentally, our 55th reunion plans are in the able hands of our class president, Lew Theiss. It looks as though our reunion headquarters will be at his home on University Avenue. You'll hear more details later by mail but mark the date, June 7-9, on your date book now.

04 MR. HARRY E. McCORMICK

Lewisburg, Pa.

Edgar T. Stevenson, 78, editor and publisher of the Titusville Herald, died December 9, in an Erie hospital. Edgar began his newspaper career in 1897 and has been head of the 91-year-old Titusville Herald since 1922. In 1947 the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association presented its annual award to him for long and meritorious service. He served on the state historical and museum commission and was a director of the Second National Bank. Edgar's first wife, the former Ferne F. Braddock of the Class of 1905, died in 1951. He is survived by his second wife, the former Hazel D. Wilson, two sons, James B. Stevenson '32, and William Stevenson, a graduate of Dartmouth College, to all of whom heartfelt sympathy is extended. Mr. Stevenson in his student days was student manager on the Bucknell baseball team and a member of Phi Kappa Psi. He continued his interest in Bucknell affairs throughout his lifetime and for many years has been a PATRON of the University as is his son, James.

To All Classmates of 1904
Whether Institute 1904 or College 1904

Bucknell had another birthday. Those in this area of Union County had a great turnout. We had 95 persons in attendance. I think they came to look over Nesbit's Folly, now called the Lewisburg Club.

There was another challenge—to the caterer—to see if the meal would be improved over that of last year. After a careful survey, the dinner was highly approved. Like the Howard Johnson Restaurants request card, the service was good, portions large and tables clean. The dining room dark. Difficult to identify speaker—though I knew who he was, Bob Streeter, Class of 1938, most able fellow, now Dean of the College at University of Chicago. He spoke in a foreign language (as far as I was concerned). Even Enoch Perrine never used his English. Bob, being among friends, got a big ovation at finish.

Your reporter hopes that you all will send postals advising if you are alive, working, nesting and such.

Dr. John C. Sanders represented Bucknell University at the Inauguration of Dr. Claire Gordon Frantz as president of Penn Hall Junior College and Preparatory School in Chambersburg on October 18th, 1956.

Although Dr. Sanders is supposed to be retired he is still in active service as supply pastor of his former parish near Chambersburg. John has been an inspiring Christian pastor through the years after he graduated from theological seminary.

Mrs. Ruth Stephens Porter reported that The Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg, Fla., had a successful meeting in December.

Joseph S. Bittenbender's son, Jerry, after graduating from the University of Pennsylvania (1955) and after completing a year of internship in the Harrisburg Hospital, is now signed up with the Air Force for a two-year term as a medical doctor located at Okinawa. Jerry had a brilliant career as a student and as an intern and now is doing his bit in the U. S. Air Force before settling in a permanent location. We always expect great things from Jerry.

Dr. Charles D. "Happy" Cooper and Cottie Gudelia Albright Cooper celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on November 28, 1956. On December 15 their grandson, John A. Diehl, was married in the Chapel of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va. John's mother Ora Cooper Diehl is a member of the Class of 1929 and his father G. Walter Diehl (who passed away in 1954) was a member of the Class of 1926.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Well, lads and lassies, we hope you have been saving your post-New Deal fifty-cent dollars for June 7-9. It will not surprise you to know that this date marks the Golden Anniversary of what all admit to be the Greatest Bucknell Class ever. So put on all your medals, ride your thumb or your Cadillac, but be there.

We expect Tom Schultz back from Alaska, Gilbert Perez from the Philippines, and the kids from nearby spots like Washington State, Arizona, California, and points East. The youngsters down the street in Pittsburgh, Kane, Reading, and some from foreign parts like New York City and Florida will be on hand.

Your reporter hopes to come as air freight from Guadalajara, where he and Vera will be teaching English as an international language from February on.

Paul Stolz is going to roll out the red carpet for the class, and Buck Shott has found a convenient spot on the campus where you can stow your sleeping rolls.

Those of you who haven't been back for a century or two will be amazed to see the progress made on campus and in the village. The old landmarks are still there, however, Old Main, the river, the Four-Mile. And a lot of youngsters like Frank Simpson, Bally, Burpee, will be on hand. So pack up your crutches in your old kit-bag, and git along, little doggie, git along.

Charles Francis Potter will be back. His fifteenth book, which was recently published in England, "is making a jolly splash down under," his publishers write him; Charley thinks they mean, reducing criticisms to plain Amurrican, that it is having good sales in Australia. He has five books now under contract, three on the impact of the Dead Sea Scrolls on Jew, Gentile, and Christian, respectively, one on the sun myth (Samson) legend in the light of the recently decoded Linear B inscriptions. Now a publisher wants him to retranslate the whole Bible plus apocrypha, in the light of the amazing Scroll discoveries. (When you do so, Charles, compare with Noah Webster's translation to see how good a job Noah (not Dan'l) did.

202 St. Louis Street
Lewistown, Pa.

Dr. Joseph W. Henderson, Philadelphia attorney, and president of the board of trustees of Bucknell University, has been re-elected president of the Union League of Philadelphia.

Norman B. Gardner retired in 1952 from the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company and since that time has kept himself busy at various jobs. He lives at 30 Pond St., P. O. Box 502, Sharon, Mass.

The sincere sympathy of her classmates is extended to Olive Richards Landers whose husband, Maurice, died several months ago. Some of you may wish to write—her address is 1029 N. Zangs Blvd., Dallas 8, Tex.

Lack of news in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS brought a welcome letter from Carl Sprout. He is looking forward with great pleasure to your replies to the fund letter. He sent me this interesting article regarding Chester Higby: "Recognition continues to come to Chester Higby, who retired last August as professor of Modern European History at the University of Wisconsin, where he taught for nearly 30 years. Upon his retirement, his former graduate students established a prize to be awarded in his name to the author of the best article appearing in the Journal of Modern History. This prize, known as the Chester Penn Higby award, was given for the first time at a meeting of the American Historical Association in St. Louis, and Dr. Higby was there to see it presented to a professor from Toronto. After the award, those at the convention, including about 135 of his colleagues from the United States and Canada, arose and applauded Dr. Higby, who was seated at the speaker's table. At Madison, Wis., where Dr. Higby resides at 1904 Kendall Ave., the editor of the Capital Times added this note of congratulation in the newspaper: "To Prof. Chester P. Higby: Your many friends and former students in this community and throughout the state are happy to note the honor which has come to you for your distinguished work in modern history . . . The honor reflects the great contribution you have made to scholarship during your active years of teaching at the University and during these more recent years as emeritus professor. Congratulations."

Mrs. Mary Meyer Abbott, a retired Rebersburg school teacher, who has a talent for writing, has completed three major undertakings in that line. In The Meantime was published in 1941. She has two unpublished books, My Family and Neighbors and The Saga of Sinking Creek Valley. Sinking Creek Valley was the original name of Brush Valley, in which Rebersburg is situated. Mary can boast of a large Bucknell family, having 7 Bucknellians among her nearest relatives.

John A. Landsrath and his wife, the former Vernella Mays, R.N., have bought a small home in Roanoke, Va. John is now retired and enjoys hearing from old friends. His address is 1703 Eleventh St., Extension, N. W., Roanoke, Va.

Amy Bollinger moved recently. Her address now is 468 Main Street, Reynoldsville. Surprise her with a line, why don't we all?

The Christmas season was made the merrier for your reporter and Howard by the visit from their daughter, Eloise Headland Whitesides '46, Vaughan and their two boys, Wally and Dougie, of Louisville, Ky. Their week's visit was far too short, say we.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

GOD BLESS THY YEAR

"Thy coming in, thy going out;
Thy rest, thy traveling about;
Thy rough, the smooth,
Thy bright, the drear,
God Bless Thy Year."

Again I'm glad that the holiday season has come. Names smiling upward from greetings from Grace '09 and Leon Crandell, Petrona and Frank Hean, Renee and Roy Mickle '10, Florence, Alice and Muff Scott, Eve '10 and Howard Johnson, Evelyn and Paul Riehl, Mary Weiser Jenkins and Tom, the Haggertys—Matt '09, Olive, Gloria '44 and Gil, Alberta and Dave McNeal, Lillian and Bill Parsons '08, Kate and Fred Iglar, Helen Levegood Clarke and Roy, Violet Wetterau Naumann and Louis, Helen and Vic Schmid, the Buck Shotts '22, Lib and Red Lowther, Maude and Bob Meyer, Louise Pawling Sieber '43 and Fred '39, Marita Rockey, Pauline and Patsy Henderson, Kathryn and Gundy Fawling '13, Eva Himmelreich Apgar and Ray '14, Sarah and Art Waltz, "Rip" and Ruth Ruth, Margaret Harter Rathmell and Ez, Helene and Merton Ogden, Blanche Stoner Wood, Fannie Wood Brown '33, Alberta and Patty Conner.

From the above 1912 clan not one made mention of our 45th reunion or returning to the campus in June. Last year, though, Leone Havice, Eva Himmelreich, Merton Ogden, Art Waltz and "Rip" Ruth said they were looking forward to it.

Had some good news, too. Sue Weddell writes—"I do so much enjoy your section in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. I'll try to come next June." Duward Frampton writes that he will try hard to be there.

Pearl Ream said the "Gym" is getting all dressed up for the 1912 reunion. She hopes to see me then if not before.

This was the payoff from Helen Ruth, "Yes, I'm planning to come June 8, but may feel queer among so many grandchildren." What do you say? Shall we collect all of the grandchildren, let her do the baby-sitting? I'll wager she will not only feel queer but dizzy.

Alberta Bronson Conner, with assistants, will edit the reunion book. It seems I have not received all of her letters. She writes, "Do you mean you never received any of my effusions? I was quite indignant that no masterpieces from my pen were quoted in the literary gems of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. We do enjoy all you write, Maze!!! And I do answer. Didn't you like my pun about A-Maze-ing patience or something of the sort? We haven't been far afield yet. We visit and are visited by the Virginia; the Moorestown, N. J.; and the Lake Mohawk, N. J.; contingents of the family. We'll get to the others soon, I hope. We are always busy with something. Where are those days we heard so much about, when we were going to be so bored with life? When the children weren't going to need us any more? When we would need hobbies to fill all those leisure hours? Oh Boy! We are enjoying retirement all right, but where is the time we were going to find hanging on our hands? The way it flits hither and thither and yon, I believe time is a very light and airy article.

"So nice to hear from you. Love to 'Pop,' too, or 'Hib.' What does he like to be called?"

I can say Amen to Alberta's thoughts.

I was worried about Ruby—no Christmas greeting—then a few days ago this letter:

"Dear Maze, It doesn't seem possible that our 45th anniversary is so close at hand. I'm looking forward to your letter telling of your plans for the event.

"Tim and I came to New York the last of August. We are living at 108-17-63rd Ave., Forest Hill 75, N. Y. We are enjoying the apartment and when the weather is fine—the yard. Before it became cool it was so pleasant to be outside.

"Helen Louise and Mal and the boys are living in Erie. Betty Jane and the girls are here in New York. I surely did hate to leave Pittsburgh—we lived there for forty-two years and it meant leaving so many friends. However, people are people the world over. Neither Tim nor I seem to be too difficult to get along with people so will be all right.

"I didn't get around to sending you a Christmas card because I wanted to write you concerning the change of address.

"Best wishes to your husband and family, Love to you, Ruby."

MY VALENTINE

"My Valentine's not made of lace and paper,
Nor candy in a scarlet heart shaped box;
My valentine walks quickly home each evening
And hurries up the walk, and never knocks.
My valentine's not flowers wrapped in tissue
Nor a package that's entwined with ribbon gay.
My valentine's a precious brown eyed someone,
Who brings the bacon home each day."

The white sales are over, most of the seed and flower catalogues have arrived, you have seen the "Rose Parade". Ike has been inaugurated, Grace Kelly has had her baby, somebody has knocked out someone else in a boxing match, now to get down to the most serious and important event—our 45th reunion! Did you send back your questionnaire? I'm looking forward to seeing all of you. Don't worry about your "best bib and tucker" because all you need to do is search your attics for your old college clothes because "1912" fashions are raging. I still have my 1919 wedding petticoat.

13 MR. CHARLES L. SANDERS
76 Walnut Street
Millburg, Pa.

Your reporter hopes that classmates were not nearly so disappointed as he was when our column did not appear in the January issue. (Perhaps Uncle Sam failed to deliver the mail.) He will attempt a rewrite, partly from memory, partly from some fortunately retained notes.

When Rev. Richard H. Bowling, now pastor emeritus of the First Baptist Church, Norfolk, Va., returned home following his campus visit last June, he wrote to Marwood Glover telling some feelings about his stay in Lewisburg and seeing classmates and college mates again. Following are a few short excerpts from that letter: "It put new life into me . . . The opportunity to meet again with classmates of long ago compelled me to relive scenes and events half forgotten . . . The trip to Lewisburg by Greyhound bus was very pleasant and convenient without inconveniences of the old days when I had to transfer from steamer to tram and from train to a different train . . . I just can't forget the kindness of McClure and his family. They made me feel as if I belonged . . . Mrs. Bowling and I had a most enjoyable time . . . Many, many thanks to you and all the rest of '13."

By the way, our 45th comes in '58. Dick Bowling's experience awaits us.

An item of sorrow to report is the death of D. Forrest Dunkle on November 22 after an illness of a year in West Palm Beach, Fla., his home. Following graduation from Bucknell, he attended Stetson University Law School in Florida. Engaged in the practice of law and in the real estate business he became eminently successful in and about Palm Beach. When West Palm Beach became a separate city, Forrest was its first mayor. A short time before his death he was given a testimonial and award for his service to the community. We remember "Dunk" as one of the big men of our class, a stalwart on the football teams of 1910, 1911 and 1912. A native of East Buffalo Township, adjacent to Lewisburg, he attended Lewisburg schools before entering college. His survivors are his wife, two sons (one, John B. '52), a daughter, five grandchildren, a brother Ira '15, and a sister. To all of these, 1913 classmates extend sincere sympathy.

After forty-one years as a minister, Rev. George Middleton, D.D., has announced his retirement to become effective following the Easter service this spring. The last thirty-five years were spent at Calvary Baptist Church, Rochester, N. Y. Prior to that he held pastorates at Franklinville, N. Y., and at Syracuse, N. Y. During his Rochester pastorate, church membership increased to more than 1,100. Three of George's sons are Baptist ministers, all in New Jersey: Robert in Had-donfield; George '44 in Scotch Plains; James '50 in Princeton. Orator of our class and class president during his college years, our classmate was active in Rochester beyond his church ministry. He served as chairman of the admissions committee for the Fairport Baptist Home. Also, for several years, he was chairman of the Lenten Service Commission of the Federation of Churches of the Rochester area. He is also a past president of the Pastors Conference of the New York Baptist Convention. Welcome to retirement, George, from an increasing number of '13ers who find it admirable.

The preceding constituted the January material except for a few brief items for which I had not kept notes, and memory rebels. So on to the present!

It was good to find a few names of classmates on holiday greeting cards and a cheerful note from Rev. L. Earl Jackson, Prospect Park. He and wife appear highly gratified by progress at their present parish where they have been for almost five years. Among the joys—well, let Earl say it: "We've had a grand year at the church, and dedicated last January rarely-equalled facilities for Christian nurture, and the lovely social hall and kitchen . . . Most of our vacation we spent in Beverly, Mass., with Dodie (daughter) who delights in the new modernistic school and continues as soloist in Lynn Universalist, as also in recitals and North Shore oratorios." Glad to hear and report such pleasant news, "Deac."

Having retired in June, 1955, after forty-three years of teaching, thirty-nine of these in the Shamokin High School, Clay S. Sanders spends some of his leisure time now as a securities representative for the G. A. Shorpe & Co., Allentown. He continues to reside in Shamokin. This winter, as well as last, he and wife spent about two months in St. Petersburg, Fla.

For this issue I had an article prepared which included names of about a dozen classmates not heard from during my four years as reporter. My letters of inquiry apparently I cannot make sufficiently appealing. Owing to the January material I defer this article until the May issue.

Sympathy is extended to Karl W. Rippel on the death of his brother, Archibald M. Rippel '20. Karl is employed by the Phillips Petroleum Co., and he and his wife (Laura M. Kreisher) live at 103 Frontera Pk., Br. Borger, Texas.

Christmas brought greetings from a number of '14ers, including the Raymond Apgars, of Levittown; Edna Whittam Glover, of Vineland, N. J.; and the Rev. John Luke Gehman, of Columbus, Kans., who enclosed his Christmas church bulletins.

The George Groves, of Tucson, Ariz., report that they are well and busy. Florence Reimensnyder, of Milton, tells us that she had a good time at Homecoming, although she saw few '14ers.

Besse Stahler, of Union City, N. J., writes that Harry is still on the job and never misses a day. Frances McNaill, Takoma Park, Md., is kept busy with substitute teaching of "everything—even arts and crafts." She adds that sewing and cooking were fun for a day or two, "but I rebelled at physical education."

Rabbi S. H. Markowitz has two grandsons—fifteen months and three years. His new, revised edition of Leading a Jewish Life in the Modern World will appear in the spring. A second book, Gracious Jewish Living, is nearing completion.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

First "Lize" Lehr McCarthy of 417 Mt. View Ave., Mt. Holly, N. J., tells me that she was very happily married for over 33 years. They had a fine son, who at the age of 19, was killed in an airplane accident during the war in Jan. 1941. Her husband passed away Christmas night a year ago. Lize says, "It's lonely here, but I try to be thankful that I had them as long as I did." She is constantly kept busy with many volunteer jobs. One is instructing foreign-born wives of service men at Fort Dix and McGuire Air Base. She is a deacon in the Presbyterian Church. Her hobby is making hooked rugs for which she has won blue ribbons in nation-wide hooked rug contests. Recently she had a nice week-end visit with "Mandy" Whitaker Gray in Millville. (Mandy, Why don't you answer my letter!) Lize says she expects to attend our 40th in June.

Bob McCormick or "Mac" as he tells me he is called by friend, foe, and seven grandchildren, is employed as senior mechanical engineer, Car Construction Division, New York City Transit Authority, 370 Jay St., Brooklyn 1, N. Y. He took this "temporary job" in 1927 and now expects to be there until he retires. Forty years have treated him kindly, and he still has thatch on the roof even tho' generously sprinkled with snow, good health, and happiness. Wealth has been a bit elusive as far as mansions, yachts, and mink coats, etc., but he has some nice hobbies, such as deep sea fishing, golf, stamp collecting, and taking stereo-photographs on the slightest provocation. They take several trips each year and have at one time or another been in most of the 48 states, and parts of Canada. "Mac" holds a N. Y. State professional engineer's license and is a member of ASEE. He served in World War I and II. He is planning to come back in June.

"Dutch" Maurer, after being discharged from the Army in 1919, worked in New Castle until 1923, when he came back to his home town, Shamokin, and accepted a position with the Shamokin Packing Co. (meat packing) where he has been ever since. He has been president of the company since 1943. In 1918 while in the service he married Mary A. Foust who was a music student at Bucknell. They have two sons, Bob '45 and Jack '49. Bob attended Bucknell only a short time but Jack has his bachelor's and master's in engineering from Bucknell. "We have three grandchildren who give Mary and me no end of fun," says Don.

Mrs. Carl A. Schug (Alice S. Johnson) and daughter, Janet, traveled in Europe during the summer of 1956. They had a fine trip and hope to repeat it in the near future. Alice's new address is 600 Rural Ave., Williamsport.

Dave Mink says, "After receiving a medical discharge for my war efforts I became a teacher in Woodlawn, now Alliquippa High, then moved back to my home town, Sharon, where I have stayed as a teacher." He married Mary Jane Smith of Beaver Falls, a Geneva graduate. They have three children: Margaret Jean (Penn State '50) married to Ed Roberts (Grove City '50); David Lee, married after four years in the Navy (he and his wife both attend Westminster College and take turns caring for grandson David Paul); and Cathy, a ninth grader at home.

Esther Edge Lindsey lives in Ridgway. Husband is superintendent of Elk County schools. Both love to travel and take as many interesting trips as they can manage, many connected with his work. Esther belongs to the hospital auxiliary, sings in the church choir, does quite a lot of church work, and is secretary of the Women's Club. Her hobby is gardening. Esther says, "Had a nice visit in August from Frances Hilgert Higgs, see Naomi Lane Eisenman '19 once in a while and often see my old roomy Gladys Morgan Mortimer, who has a grand family of two daughters and five darling grandchildren."

Esther says she will try hard to get back in June.

I have a fine clipping from the Knoxville, Tenn., News Sentinel about Henry Lofft. He has done a wonderful job with TVA and has received recognition for it by being chosen as TVA Chief Construction Engineer. He took that office January 1. Congratulations! Henry says "I was in Collingswood, N. J., a week or so ago and saw Eber Swope. He had for his guest R. E. Sprengle whom I haven't seen since we went to Baltimore together in 1917 to work for the Bell Telephone Co. He didn't look a day older. Bill Balliet '22 of Birmingham, Ala., formerly of Milton, was in the office the other day and we swapped 'Do you remember so and sos,' for a while." Henry is going to try to get back in June.

Earle Pedigo reports that it looks as if we are going to have quite a reunion on June 7-9. He says, "There seems to be quite a bit of enthusiasm from the letters I have received." The recording tapes he sent out are moving, but not fast enough to suit him. He has ten tapes traveling around and hopes that will do the trick but he will have to call them all in the last of March so they can get started on the 1957 L'Agenda. Do your share and get the tape off promptly when you receive it. He is counting on you. He also wants me to thank all of those who have sent him such encouraging letters. He will be sending you another letter soon. Be on the lookout for it. It will be important.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)

Montoursville, Pa.

Dear Classmates of 1918—to all of you, and to all Bucknellians the world over, may your New Year be a happy and prosperous one. And especially to those of you who have neglected to answer the appeals for news, please, make a resolution to write to your class reporter and act while the resolution is forming.

Not much in the way of news. Sympathy is extended to Jessie Potts Kline on the death of her brother Robert Potts. Bob was mayor of Greensburg at the time of his death.

Several changes of address—the Chester R. Leabers '19 (Evelyn McGann) are now at 32 Washington Square, West, New York, N. Y. Mrs. Harry Johnson (Dorothy McClintic) has moved. Their new home is at 2632 NE 16th Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

My Christmas mail contained greetings from a number of Bucknellians—not all of the Class of 1918—among others, Sallie Park Titterington '17, Ontario, Calif., Dorothy Villinger Dimlich '20, Shaker Heights, Ohio, (Dorothy, incidentally told me that she had spent a week end with Charles '09, and Agnes Carswell Fries '19, in Ann Arbor this past summer); Ruby Stuck O'Leary '12, who has deserted Pennsylvania for Forest Hills, N. Y.; Emily Ebling '03, about to depart for several months in Alabama. Bucknellians sure do get around!

I want to quote from a letter I received the other day, "I read your '18 items every issue and always wish you would tell about more 1918ers. Then I realized that how could you if every one was like me." The writer was Frank Hayes, 9 East Main St., Girard. He goes on to say, "Still think of my college days and wish I could see the old gang again. I still remember as a freshman giving up our Spring vacation and digging the cellar, by hand, of our present fraternity house, Phi Gamma Delta. Am just a plain hardware man in a swell town on Lake Erie. Have had four years on the school board and eight years as a borough councilman." Thanks, Frank, it is letters like yours that encourage me to new efforts. 1958 will be along in another year and we will have our 40th reunion. So, why not start now making plans for that event—and let's make it a huge success.

Hazel Gay Bailey writes that she leads a busy life in Dunedin Isles—bridge, church work and the daily chores of a homemaker keep her occupied.

I am getting out of my class, but any Bucknellian is news to me. Brother George '17, and wife are spending the next couple of months on Staten Island. His address for the time being is Benedict Road, Dongan Hills, Staten Island 4, N. Y. He would be delighted to hear from 17ers I know. He is going in town for the boat show, and I know that Eleanor will have her hands full getting him out before they close the doors.

Only seventeen more months until reunion time! Start planning NOW.

Dr. Harry R. Warfel has been elected president of the College English Association, a national organization of teachers who specialize in language and literature. An author of seven books, he is also the editor of nine and the general editor of 27 volumes. His biographies of Noah Webster, the writer of the famous dictionary and of Charles Brockden Brown, America's first notable novelist, are standard. His American Novelists of Today has been widely acclaimed for its authoritative description of the life and books of 575 recent writers.

The crash of a Phillips Petroleum Co. airplane south of Bartlesville, Okla., on December 12 killed eight occupants, including Archibald McCormack Rippel. Mr. Rippel had been in the oil business in Oklahoma since his graduation and in recent years had been manager of the Natural Gas Department of the Phillips Petroleum Co. Archie visited the campus most recently on Homecoming Weekend last October. He was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity and the Bison Club of Bucknell. The heartfelt sympathy of the class and the University is extended to the widow, the former Kathryn C. Lawrence; two daughters; Mrs. Edward C. Ritchey and Mrs. Joe R. Horkey; and a brother, Karl W. Rippel '14.

22 REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

You will be saddened to learn of Phil Campbell's death. Please see page 13 for the special tribute to him.

After serving since graduation with the Borden Company, Ice Cream Division, Marvin A. Searles resigned as division manager and retired with his wife, Charlotte E. VanCleaf '23, to their new home at 712 N. W. 3rd Ave., Delray Beach, Fla.

We are saddened to learn of the death of Harry LaBerte Lapp on January 5 at his home in Savannah where he has served as military engineer and executive assistant at the Savannah District Corps of Engineers for the past twelve years. Born in Baltimore, Bert attended public schools in Trenton, N. J., and entered Bucknell with the Class of 1922. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi, active in baseball and the civil engineering societies. After active army service he was discharged with the rank of Lt. Col. in the Army Reserve. He was a national director of the Society of American Military Engineers, a Mason, American Legionnaire, and an elder of First Presbyterian Church of Savannah. Deepest sympathy is extended to his wife, the former Lillian Hinesley, and his daughter, Lorna L. Lapp.

Even though you have not yet heard much about our 35th Class Reunion to be held on the campus June 7-10, 1957, be sure to mark the dates on your calendar now. As usual, Fin Keech is trying to do the work of three men in his professional activities, so he has asked Mark Gass to serve as general chairman of the reunion and has asked Florence Cornwell to edit the reunion book.

Donald R. Smith has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Capitol District (Albany, N. Y.). His home address is 117 Washington Road, Scotia 2, N. Y.

24 MRS. PAUL CUPP
(Louise Benshoff)
933 Muirfield Road
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

First of all, please accept my personal thanks for all the Christmas greetings with news, which reached our home last month!

Edward T. Ashman enjoyed a five-week trip to Great Britain last summer. Some folks are born lucky!

The letter-greeting from Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shaffer (Elma Streeter), 358 Pershing Dr., New Kensington, is so very interesting I just wish that I might include every bit of it! Snap and Elma spent a delightful two weeks in Mexico City last September and are now equipped with colored slides, maps and "information-plus" to give to anyone planning a trip there. The Shaffers have three sons: David, a sophomore at Carnegie Tech; Teddy, in school; and Chal, in the Army and stationed at Muscle Shoals. He is a graduate engineer and is in the experimental laboratory where he is working on phosphorus gases.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stoughton live at 13105 Atlantic Ave., Rockville, Md. They have two children; Michael, 14, and Abigail, 8. Michael won the citation as the youngest son of '24 at our 25th reunion! Al is staff assistant to the chief engineer of the Public Health Service where he is concerned with relations with industry, engineering societies and various conservation organizations all interested in the nation's water resources. The department is also active in radiological health, milk and food sanitation and the construction of municipal water works to help clean up our streams and rivers.

George Bellak, 786 Thermal Ave., Johnstown, teaches in Joseph Junior High School. They have three children: George '50, with General Motors in Detroit; Betty, married and a graduate of Pitt; and another daughter, a junior at Pitt.

The R. Paul Mitchells (Miriam Stanger) live at 178 Oak Ridge Ave., Summit, N. J. Mim writes that everything is the "usual routine" but we know that her golf, church, community and social life keep her busy. They have one son, Dick, who is a sophomore at Pingry.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lathrop (Peggy Everitt) from Springville, have a daughter teaching school at Koaowa on Oahu in the Hawaiian Islands. Peggy and Doug are planning a trip there in June.

Alice Roberts, 215 Williamsburg Rd., Ardmore, is teaching at Bala Cynwyd Junior High School. "Billie" is producer of the Annual Bala Cynwyd Show which is a talent review. She is writing some of the scripts and we know it will be a fine production. Congratulations, Billie!

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davies (Mary Lewellyn), 303 S. Main St., Avoca, have a son of whom to be proud. Allen is a senior pre-medical student at Pennsylvania State University and has taken an outstanding part in fraternity and campus activities and will enter Jefferson Medical College in the fall.

Members of the Class of '24 extend their sympathy to Evelyn Weidensaul Bingaman and son, upon the death of her husband, Luther Bingaman '33, January 18. Luther was a noted educator, a member of the Montgomery County school system for 23 years, and a director of visual education for Springfield-Montgomery County schools.

25

MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Avenue
Chatham, N. J.

Mrs. William V. Mahaffey (Carolyn J. Hunt) announces the marriage of her daughter, Barbara, to Robert R. Dawson '51, on January 12, at Greenwich, Conn. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt. Dr. Hunt was president of Bucknell University from 1919 to 1931.

Paul G. Schmidt recently purchased a home at 2401 Oakwood Road, Coatesville. Says he thinks that it is time he settles down!

Stephen C. Emanuel, Jr. is state president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. He is also director of visual education in the city schools of Wilkes-Barre. His home is at 421 Old River Road, Wilkes-Barre.

MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Avenue
Pitman, N. J.

On December 9, 1956, the First Baptist Church of Ossining, N. Y., presented its pastor, the Rev. Raymond H. Edwards with a purse and projection equipment on the occasion of his twentieth anniversary with the Church.

Mrs. Brown Focht '28, (Florence R. Utt) has been re-elected president of the Lewisburg Board of Education and is beginning her sixth year as president. She has been active in the field of journalism from 1930 to 1946, served on the Lewisburg Planning Commission for 10 years, former member of the Recreation Board and presently a member of Community Activities Council and the Business and Professional Women's Club, having served as State Bulletin Editor for 10 years of the latter organization. Her hobby is reading about travel and points of interest, then going to see for herself! Her home: 231 Market St., Lewisburg.

Having neglected his preferred avocations of golf, fishing, hunting, and travel for too long, Mac Jones has resigned as president of Sydney Blumenthal Company, N. Y., and set up his own real estate company, Wayne Development Company in Waynesboro, Va., working from a small office complete with pot-bellied stove, cuspidor and checkerboard. However, he had been importuned to take on a consulting job for Virginia Carolina Chemical Corporation. He promises that within 6 months to a year his aforementioned stove, cuspidor, and checkerboard will be going full blast.

The Rev. Dr. A. Kris Jensen, noted American missionary in Korea, died November 20, 1956, in Seoul. He is survived by his widow, Maud P. Keister (minister and missionary), and two children. Dr. Jensen was captured by the Communists in 1950, survived three years of starvation and cold, and was one of the few survivors of the 100 mile Korean "death march." Mrs. Jensen was evacuated to Japan and later returned to the United States. Dr. Jensen was released in 1953 and after four months in the states, he and his wife returned to the Korean mission field, to work among the people they loved. Our sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Jensen and her children.

Since December, 1955, Mary Sanders Price has been director of the School of Nursing and Nursing Service, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md. Her husband, Harry A. Price, D.D., is director of Clergy Services. They live in an apartment at Hampton House, a residence of the hospital.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Dick Vastine is busily engaged as an educator of "young America" in Union, N. J., where he is acting principal of the Hamilton School and chairman of the education committee of the Roselle Park Board of Education. He and his wife and three children live at 154 East Clay Ave., Roselle Park, N. J. Recently he was made a life member of the congress of Parents and Teachers.

Last June Major General Charles Irving Carpenter, Chief of Air Force Chaplains, received the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from the University of Delaware. He also delivered the baccalaureate sermon at Pennsylvania Military College, Chester. Time magazine carried a story of "The Flying Carp" referring, of course, to our most famous and energetic preacher and classmate! It was his idea to round up young religious laggards who entered the Air Force by having each of them contacted during their first day in uniform by one of his chaplains, when the recruit must either specify a faith he prefers or mark himself an atheist. Each month some 500 recruits are being baptized or otherwise brought into the religious ranks. Carpenter was ordained into the Methodist ministry in 1928. After five years as pastor at Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, he was selected to fill a Methodist vacancy in the regular Army of U. S. Because of his inspired success in this work, he was called upon, in 1942, to establish and organize the chaplaincy activities of the Air Force. During World War II he served as Senior Air Force Chaplain in Europe. Five years later he was promoted to the rank of Major General. We want you to know that we're mighty proud to have you numbered among our class members!

Christopher Mare, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Dom B. Mare (Mary G. Foust), was graduated last summer by Yale University and now is taking work toward his master's degree at Pennsylvania State University. The Mares are located in Arlington, Va.

Dr. Bruce J. Miller will be acting president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester Co. (N. Y.) for the next few months while Bill Wilkinson '46, is on special assignment in Houston, Texas.

J. Edward Nickel, Jr., is the commercial and industrial representative for the Tennessee Valley Authority and is located in Jackson, Tenn.

Word has been received from Gilbert Bennett that he will be one of our class to return to the campus during commencement weekend to help celebrate our 30th reunion. Gilbert is serving as the pastor of Stevens Memorial Methodist Church in Harrisburg. His address is 1311 Vernon St.

REUNION NOTE—

Double check your calendar for June and make sure it is marked to enable you to be at Lewisburg, June 7 to 9 for our 30th Reunion. Yes, it will be 30 years since we received our sheepskins from Prexy Hunt. Make your arrangements so you can arrive at Lewisburg during the afternoon of the 7th and can stay through the 9th to give you plenty of time to renew friendships with our classmates. Planned program will be short so that you can do the talking to each other in small groups. Be on campus! Reservation forms for your dorm accommodations will reach you in April.

MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Avenue
Summit, N. J.

We are sorry to inform you of the death of Chester R. Renn which occurred December 11, 1956. He was a steel worker by profession, employed by the American Steel and Wire Company of Donora. He is survived by his widow, Velma, who is an elementary school teacher, and one son, Donald, who will enter Jefferson Medical School next year.

Dr. John C. Phillips has been appointed director of psychology of the Embreeville State Hospital at Embreeville. Dr. Phillips lives with his family at 116 Bondsville Road, Downingtown.

Mrs. William D. Whitehead (Genevieve M. Panches) is teaching junior high school math in Jamestown, N. Y. Her husband is marketer for Sinclair Oil Co. in Chautauqua County. With housekeeping, teaching, the music lessons, scouting and sports activities of their three children, Tom, 15; Bob, 14; and Linda, 10, the Whitehead household is a busy one!

After 19 years in labor relations activities with the Full Fashion Hosiery Manufacturers of America, Inc., and shorter terms of service with the United Community Campaign and the Salvation Army in Philadelphia, Richard F. Peden has become a member of the executive staff of the Greater Philadelphia Council of Churches. He will serve as Support Plan Director and will assist in the council's financial development. Dick is married and the Pedens have one daughter, Diane Margaret, born in 1945. Their home is at 433 E. Howell Street, Philadelphia.

MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Millburg, Pa.

Your response to the questionnaire sent out by President Paul has been most gratifying. We shall attempt to show our appreciation by keeping you supplied with news of "29-ers" for many issues to come.

Clara Fortner Sweeney, ("Jerry," to all of us) is living in Port Allegany and is the mother of a charming family of three. Mary Louise, whom we had the pleasure of meeting at our 25th reunion, is attending Thompson Business College in Harrisburg. Myles, Jr., is a student in chemical engineering at the University of Cincinnati and Paul is in junior high school. Clara points to her three children, and justly so, as the "honors" which she has received since her graduation from B. U.

Eugene J. Mirarchi, prominent attorney in Kulpmont, is the Northumberland County Democratic Chairman. Gene has been honored by the Leader administration with an appointment as Director of Bureau of County Collection of the Department of Revenue. We are happy to report that his son Ralph is now a freshman at the University. We shall look forward to his returning to the campus quite often in the future.

The Class of '29 is also very proud of two "Bucknell daughters," in the persons of the daughters of Raldo Shipman. Theresa is a senior and Janice is a member of the class of 1960. Raldo is a manufacturer in the city of Sunbury.

Our friend of many years, Marie Trunk Barlow '31, wrote us about her husband and our own Rod Barlow. He is employment supervisor, Eastern area, of the Bell Telephone Co. Of equal interest is the fact that he is an assistant leader of a girl scout troop. Rod's twin daughters, Jacque and Jill, are members of this troop, which in 1953 set up an earning program to travel in Europe in 1957. They are about to see the culmination. Thirteen girls, all 16 years of age and classmates, have earned their budget of $12,350 by doing baby-sitting, collecting papers for scrap, offering a community catering service and a children's party service, and operating a nation-wide mail order business in the egg cases of the praying mantis. Their ads have appeared in Horticulture and Organic Gardening. Marie and the girls will travel via ship and Rod by plane. The girls sail June 17th on the T. S. New York and will return home August 27th.

Dr. Clarence W. Cranford was honored New Year's Eve by his congregation on the 25th anniversary of his ordination into the ministry. Dr. Cranford has been serving the Calvary Baptist Church, 8th and H Streets, N. W., Washington, D. C., since 1942. He has been president of the Washington Federation of Churches and the District Baptist Convention and is now president of the American Baptist Home Mission Societies. His most recent book, Taught by the Master, was published in September by the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. During his ministry, he has received more than 3500 persons into church membership and participated in many worthy civic enterprises. Dr. Cranford is married to the former Kathryn Young and has two children, Richard, 17, and Carolyn, 12 years old.

MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

Dr. John S. Burtlew, executive vice president of Franklin Institute, received an honorary Doctor of Science degree from Drexel Institute at their 66th convocation, December 4, 1956.

Mrs. Lester T. Penny (Helen W. Fassett Muendel) died December 7, 1956. Our sincere sympathy is extended to her family.

Your reporter would love to hear from you.

MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut Street
Mifflinburg, Pa.

C. Allen Konkle has taken a position in the engineering department of the Remm-Cru Titanium Company located in Midland.

The class extends deepest sympathy to Paul M. Showalter in the sudden death of his mother, Mrs. Harry M. Showalter, in January. Mrs. Showalter was an ardent civic leader in Lewisburg and was active in the Federated Clubs in Union County, having served as its first president. She will long be missed in the community she served so well.

We have just learned of the death of Robert J. Thompson. Bob was sales manager of C. Tennant Sons & Company of New York City. He is survived by his wife, the former Irene Prescott, and two daughters, aged 12 and 15, at 445 E. Glen Ave., Ridgewood, N. J.

Mrs. W. Zelman Sleighter '32 (Ruth J. Thomas) is presently teaching first grade in the Lewisburg School District. Her home is at 833 Chestnut St., Mifflinburg, where she is active in a number of civic and church enterprises. She is working toward her master's degree at Pennsylvania State University and in her spare time is class reporter for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

MR. ELLIS F. HULL
Allentown, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Commander Walter E. Hall has been appointed to the staff of the new Naval Reserve Officers School that was opened at Princeton University last September.

Henry G. P. Coates of Hightstown, N. J., has been elected to the Board of Corporators of The Peddie School. The action was taken at the annual fall meeting of the board. Henry has just completed a three year term as an alumni representative to the school's governing body. He is a member of the law firm of Turp and Coates of Hightstown and graduated from Peddie in 1928. Henry is married to the former Josephine Powell and they have three children. Mr. Coates has been active in the alumni affairs of Peddie, having served for five years as a member of the Loyalty Fund Trustees and for one year as president of the school's annual giving fund.

Gilbert E. Strauser and family returned to Japan in February after spending a three-month vacation in the United States. Gil will resume his position with Westinghouse International Corporation in the Far East Branch.

A Christmas card from Barbara Smith Laudenslager tells us that her daughter Fern is attending Guilford College, N. C., and likes it. Barbara also is interested in our 25th reunion plans.

With our 15th reunion but a few months away (June 7-9) the following persons have volunteered to plan and help make this reunion the best ever: Frank Koehler, chairman; Ann Weigold Mussina, co-chairman; Mrs. Mark Berkenstock (Hulda Dimm), Nathaniel Glazier, Richard Hamer, Walter Hopper, Jr., Marian Ash McClain, Mrs. Walter Jones (Dorothy Jones), Mrs. Norman Ross (Helen Blecher), Mrs. Willis Jones (Agnes Jones), area committee members; James Stevenson, reunion book editor; Joseph McMurray, Victor Oleyar, William Curnow, Mrs. Helen Caulkins (Helen Kellogg), Frances Knights, Mrs. G. Harold Ingram (Connie Williamson), assistant editors; and Paul Johnson, Esq., Mrs. G. H. Good (Josephine Eisenhauer), Mrs. H. H. Schure (Elizabeth Purdy), Daniel Soloman, class regalia members, social meeting hosts and hostesses.

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

We are very proud of our feature article which appeared in the last issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS on Fred Englerth (we called him Freddy) who is making a great contribution on eye operations and community service in Mexico. At Bucknell he played varsity tennis for three years, was captain-manager and sponsored tournaments, but has since switched to promotion of golf in the South. (I recall playing tennis with his sister as a freshman.) In many ways Freddy is "hitting the ball" in championship style.

Was glad to hear from my husband's (Ernie) fraternity brother in Phi Lambda Theta, George Eastburn, now in Lansdale. He started working last August as quality control supervisor at the Penn-dale Instant Coffee Company. He says, "Best of luck, Janet, and continued congratulations to you on your most excellent column in the ALUMNUS—and may you keep it up for forty-four more years." Thanks for the kind words, George.

We proudly claim that Tom Wilkenson (Thomas H.), age 46, of our class, is boss of the largest safety program in the world. He is civilian safety director of the United States Army—a program which covers over 2 million people, both military and civilian, and is broader in scope than any other, either in government or private industry. What I admire about him is his character, clearly shown in his face. According to an article appearing in Safety Standards, published by the U. S. Department of Labor, in 1934, a few months after graduation Tom suffered a mill accident which cost him his right arm. This was the compelling reason that caused him to enter the accident-prevention field and to remain in that work. After his loss he went to the University of Pittsburgh, traveling 90 miles each day between classes and his full-time job. He tells you with a grin, "I felt that anybody stupid enough to get jammed up in a machine needed more education." Not only has Tom been nationally recognized in the United States, but also for five overseas commands, having served personally as head of safety in the Far East (Tokyo) and in the Pacific (Honolulu). On the home front, his wife, Jo, and two sons, Tommy, 11, and Mike, 8, are readjusting to Eastern United States in a modest but comfortable home in Marlan Park, which is adjacent to Bucknell Manor and a few miles south of Alexandria, Va.

Bucknellians in the Columbia County area met for a Birthday Party on February 4, 1957, at the Hotel Magee in Bloomsburg, upon call by local president J. Claire Patterson '35, head of the local public schools. Speaker for the evening was Mr. Forrest Brown of Bucknell.

Janet Worthington Engelhardt and German Shepherd, Thor

Class, please send in some informal photos—glossy prints. The above picture is of your reporter and full blooded police dog, German Shepherd, Thor. That's to inspire you to send in a picture of yours —(24 years later).

East Williston, L. I., N. Y.

Hardly seems possible that you'll be reading this in March. I can see the snow outside and will be glad when Spring comes. Realizing the need for space, I'll be brief.

Levere M. Leese has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York. He and his wife and daughter Winifred, 15, live at 1124 Hollywood Terrace, York. Levere is a residential and farm sales director for Metropolitan-Edison and is active in Kiwanis.

Raymond R. Rommelt of South Williamsport has been re-elected secretary-treasurer of the central division, Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs at their meeting held in Williamsport on January 12.

I'll have some interesting news for you in the next issue about Les Berk so do read the column. Meanwhile the address is the same—see above heading. Thanks.

35 MRS. PAUL L. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Gambriels, Md.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Eleanor Romberger Kramer in the death of her husband, Stewart E. Kramer, which occurred just prior to the birth of their fifth child. Eleanor lives at 30 Barber St., Chambersburg.

Doris Bindrim has been claims supervisor for the past three years for the Keystone Auto Club Casualty Co. Her address is 6631 Blakemore St., Apt. D, Philadelphia 19.

Bob Sutherland, one of our favorite professors of all time, who was a professor of sociology and dean of men at Bucknell from 1930 to 1940, is still director of the Hogg Foundation and professor of sociology at the University of Texas. He is, as is to be expected, the leading sociologist and mental hygienist in the Southwest.

Our Christmas holiday of two weeks was blessed by cards and notes from Bucknellians: Rom Rivenburg Balsbaugh, Marion Root Frank, Peg Weddell Peters, Bobby Duane Matthews, Ann Graybill '33, and a newsy letter from Bert Rutgers '36, who would love to hear from and see Bucknell friends. Jane Millikin Abbott is now living at 60 Byron Rd., Weston, Mass., after six years in Louisville, and finds the change interesting. We had another lovely card from Nonie Goldsmith Pearlman '36.

We also were thrilled to see some Bucknellians during the holidays. The young Deschanel and I lunched in Chevy Chase with Eleanor Wermouth Henry at her parents' home. Her two boys and Diane and Joe had quite a reunion as they spent their early years together, just as Eleanor and I had years ago. So it was total bedlam. That same night, I had a long chat with Marion Matter Davis '36, at the Flight Refueling dinner dance held at the Officers Club at Fort Meade. About midnight, Jane '35, and Mel LeMon arrived from a convention at the University of Delaware. Their thirty-six hour stay was much too short and a real bull session was hampered by my annual case of bronchitis. I listened to a wonderful report of their European tour and was enchanted by the green and gold miniature urn they brought me from Italy.

Daughter Diane seems to be the only cellist in the Anne Arundel County Youth Symphony (for which I do occasional publicity). She is also currently exhibiting water colors in a county art show. Joe plays basketball and flies a gas propelled plane (model type, pulse-act). School (teaching and attending at University of Maryland) goes on ad infinitum—Easter seems cons away—and the snow seems here to stay.

Deadlines! And no letters as yet from my letter-writers—I'm still waiting! . . .

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth Street
Lewisburg, Pa.

At Christmas-time the class reporters received dark blue desk baskets embossed with the Bucknell seal from Alumni Headquarters. I hope that during the coming year you are going to help me keep mine filled with class notes for this column.

At the Alumni Swim Night held at the new Freas-Rooke Pool during the holidays, I saw Janet Soars Platt and Margie Blair Mathias with their children. Janet confessed that after she saw our class picture in the ALUMNUS and read Charles Gwynne's fine report of our reunion, she was sorry she hadn't attended.

Did you receive your copy of Timley, the eighth annual report of the Alumni Fund? Wasn't it clever? I hope you took time to read it carefully before it was misplaced in the shuffle of Christmas mail. Thanks to Bob Jones' generous offer at our reunion to match our contribution to the fund, our class made a better showing than in previous years, but we still failed to reach honorable mention. Our contributions totaled $1,134.50 with 20% of our members participating. Let's try to have an even better percentage of contributors this year. Keep in mind that the fact of our giving is more important than the size of the gift. The 1957 goal is $50,000 from 4,000 alumni.

Dorothy Mary Swiderski Olshefski reports her marriage last May to Joseph Edward Sabol M.A. '36. Her first husband, Dr. Vincent C. Olshefski '39, died in 1945. The Sabols live at 250 South Poplar St., Mt. Carmel. This brings our recorded total of "class ties" ('36ers married to '36ers) to 14.

Virginia R. Brandon was recently re-elected to the Broadus Hospital (Phillipi, W. Va.) Board of Trustees for a three-year term.

Mrs. Walter Pluto (Irene V. Lewski), 806 Linden St., Bethlehem, is taking a brief respite from her teaching duties. She is busy at home with her two daughters, Carlene, 6, and Patrice, 1½. (Apologies! In our 1936 reunion book we used the name Patricia instead of Patrice.)

Sunbury, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

One reporter helps another in this business. Ray Speare Topham, reporter for the Class of 1917, kindly sent along this item:

The Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez, pastor of St. John's Baptist Church, 13th and Tasker Sts., Philadelphia, has received an award from the Players Dramatic Club, which he helped to organize in that city. He served as its director for ten years.

Now that John Worth has agreed to serve as class reunion chairman, we are sure that our 20th reunion, June 7-10 will be a regular 7-decker whizzeroo! But there will be lots of work for John and his committee assistants. When you are asked to put your shoulder to the wheel, please do so with speed and dispatch. Right now you can help the situation most by returning your questionnaire at once if you have not already done so. More information will be coming to you by mail soon. Just be sure to circle the date June 7 and 8 and 9 on your calendar now.

38 MR. IRA G. FOX
116 Westchester Drive
Pittsburgh 15, Pa.

Daniel Freeman (Friedman) has just moved into a new home on Long Island, at 155 Benegyfield Drive, East Williston, N. Y. "Danny" is married and the proud father of two boys, ages 5 and 3, and for the past year has been New York district sales manager for General Cable Corporation.

Mason W. Baldwin is manager of the Municipal Auditorium in Sarasota, Fla. He was production director of the "Miss Florida" pageant, directed staging and production of the preliminaries and talent competition as well as the outdoor pageantry of the finals and coronation at Sunshine Springs and Gardens in 1956. He is married to the former Jane Bond and lives at 1278 Third Street, Sarasota, Fla.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Avenue
Benton Harbor, Mich.

The last report concluded with news from California—some more has just "bobbed" up. This time it's from Bob Morris, who has been newly appointed agency manager for the West Los Angeles area of the Franklin Life Insurance Co. He will combine personal production with the development of an agency organization in this area.

Cdr. Robert "Q" Jones, following his practice of moving as soon as we think we have him pinned down in a certain location, has now been made senior chaplain of the Naval Air Station at Barber's Point, Territory of Hawaii. As usual, Bob, in addition to his many church duties, has the general supervision of the Protestant Sunday School (enrollment 750) in his charge.

Rev. and Mrs. Donald C. Ward (Anna K. Shields '38) are now living at 236 North St., North Weymouth 91, Mass. Rev. Ward has accepted a call to become minister of the Pilgrim Congregational Church of that city. (Belated apologies to Nancy and Don: I referred to them as "Mainiacs" when they were in Maine—the printed version came out "maniacs." That's what comes of trying to be funny. Typesetter please take notice and get it right this time.)

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Avenue
Syracuse, N. Y.

Charles R. Edwards has his own trucking firm in Brooklyn. He and his wife, Virginia, have 2 boys, 13 and 10 years old, and 2 girls, 8½ and 3½ years old. They live at 45 Lewis Place, Hempstead, N. Y.

Rev. Joseph J. Hanson had an operation on June 16. Hope you are much better now, Joe! His daughter graduated from Colby Jr. College last spring.

Did you know that Louise and William R. Kershner have four small boys, ages 3 to 8?

Eleanor H. Bendell has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern California.

Thomas O. Meyer has a new position as engineer at the General Electric Special Defense Plant in Philadelphia. He, Marion (Marion G. Phillips '43) and their three daughters are living at 612 Wallace Drive, Stafford Wayne.

The Exeter Township High School received a very high ranking as a result of the evaluation conducted by the committee of the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Universities. The commendable record is largely due to the efforts and leadership of M. Luther Lausche who is the supervising principal of the Exeter Township School District. Luther is married to the former Luetta Nagle, and is the father of twins, Anne and Robert, 19, and Jeanne, 11 years old. He is active in church, civic, scouting and educational organizations in his community. Their address is 306 West 38th St., Reiffon, Reading.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Kerr tell us their third child and first daughter, Mary Lee, was born March 9, 1956. Their two sons are Bruce, 5, and Brian, 3½ years old. Their home is at 204 South Franklin Street, Wilkes-Barre.

42 MRS. THEODORE WILKINSON
(Mary C. Forrest)
329 W. Walnut Street
Lancaster, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

C. Martin Neff has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York.

While at Sebago Lake, Maine, last summer, Mrs. David M. Pyle (G. Virginia Stroud) was visited by Mrs. Eugene E. Roessner '45 (Ethel B. Hawksworth) and her two sons, Kurt and Steve. Ethel works for the research department of Pan American Airways and lives in Kew Gardens, N. Y. Virginia has three sons, Wilton, 11; Kenneth, 7; John, 3; and a daughter, Sharon, 9. Their home is in Sharon, Mass.

Dr. Benjamin S. Koplik has been elected secretary of the Eastern Dental Society. He and his brother, Dr. Michael R. Koplik '41, have moved their offices to 80 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Bob Puff, our president, and his planning committee have been doing an excellent job on our Fifteenth Reunion and we hope their enthusiasm will be contagious.

His response so far has been very encouraging. Here are some of the names of people who plan to attend: John E. Britton, Herb Wilkinson, Emil Kordish, Charles Hoffman, Ken Strittmatter, Richard M. Gray, Melvin L. Knupp, Ken Bayless, Sidney Apfelbaum, Robert Donehower, Richard Lank, William Drout, Jr., Bud Vanderbilt, Art Denney, Bud Eisman, Marty Neff, Fred Schuere, Ronald Kehler, John Yost, Gerry Pepperman Dietz, Clara E. Yahle, Helen M. Oak Kriebs, Ethel Jaegle Seltzer, D. Elizabeth Grim Louis, Alice Zindel Marshall, Mary Ellen Oesterle Haw, Mary Savidge Richards.

As you can see the men far outnumber the women—so come on girls—send those cards to me soon—I have had ninety replies, twenty-seven plan to come and twenty-eight hope to make the reunion. There have been many personal notes on the cards. Far too many to include in this report. However, it will be interesting to read them when we are all together.

Be sure and remember the date, June 7-9. Come and "hash-over" old times and new with all your classmates.

43 MRS. EARLE E. BENTON
(Norene Bond)
130 Effingham Place
Westfield, N. J.

Janet Bold Sholl has thoughtfully gone through her Christmas cards and sent me items of interest so gleaned. If a few more of you '43ers would do the same, what a column we would have! From Janet's desk: since last August, Joy Bonn has been Mrs. Frederick P. Kayser, (her husband is a captain with the R. O. T. C. at B. U.) and Jody Bagg Suttle and her wandering family are due back in the States this year. In October, they drove to Tunis, flew to Palermo and back, and went home by way of Kairouan where the rugs are made.

From reporter Sara Chubb Schaaf comes news that Louella Hauck Watkin's baby, William Hauck, was born November 15. Eleanor Pyle Latta's fifth baby, Peter, arrived on December 1. Sara also had Barbara Hann's new address—22 Locust Court, Lakeview, Rockville Centre, N. Y.

From my own Christmas mail comes a few more addresses—Jane and Joe Culbertson now live at 5 Chelfield Rd., Northwood, Glenside, and Phyl Overholt Lewlyn and her Navy husband are in Brunswick, Me. Lucy Hoffmann King writes that she heard from Marge Hopwood Richardson and Jean Weber Hustler. They must have some news after all these years, how about it, some of you people who have been silent so long?

George J. Rehkamp, Jr. has his own construction company and is a builder of small homes. His business is located at Baldwin, N. Y. His home address is 322 Dennis St., Oceanside, N. Y.

The Tices have a full house which includes Barry, 8; Mary Ellen, 5; and Debbie Lynn, 3, plus a 200 lb. St. Bernard, 3 turtles, tropical fish, 3 tropical birds, and a pony.

Ruth Stone Slep and family are living at 221 Berkshire Drive, Alexandria, Virginia. Her husband, Donald, is Executive Director of Stations of Allegheny Air Lines, National Airport, Washington, D. C. They have two children: Andrea, 10; and Donald, Jr. 9.

Dr. Russell M. McQuay, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McQuay, Sr. (Helen H. Eede '15) of Emporium, has been granted a $6700 research grant by the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md., to investigate the small race of amoeba responsible for amebiasis. Russell is Parasitologist at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Chicago and research associate of Mt. Sinai Medical Research Foundation. He is also an instructor in the Chicago Medical School. During World War II, he served four years in the Armed Forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Ives (Eleanor Phillips) announce the birth of a second daughter, Judith Anne on August 20.

Walter A. Miller, Jr., who received his master of science degree in 1943, died in North Bergen, N. J., on October 1, 1956. Walter was a member of the Bucknell Alumni Fund Committee, a graduate of Susquehanna University in 1936, and prior to his appointment as superintendent of public schools in Bergen, N. J., in 1955, had served as superintendent of schools for five years in Dunellen, N. J. He is survived by his wife, the former E. Catharine Gonnerman, and a son, W. A. Miller, III, born in 1950, to whom the class extends heartfelt sympathy.

Dr. and Mrs. Homer D. Schaaf (Sara Chubb) and their two boys are making their home in Westfield, N. J.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron R. Caverly (Janet M. Southgate '45) announce the birth of son, Rodney Reed, on December 7, 1956. They have three other children and live at 1903 Bunting Drive, North Augusta, S. C.

Mrs. H. J. Heller (Martha E. Achenbach '20) tells us that her daughter, Dorothy L. Heller has recently returned from a trip to Belgium, England, and Ireland.

Ralph and Betty Evans Franklin announce the birth of Nancy Spence, December 12, 1956. She joins Bruce, Andy and John.

Ed and Sy Richards Hoffman had their sixth child, Mary Vivian, October 18, 1956.

The Ed Alstons' (Estelle Howley) Christmas picture included a precious fifth Alston, but not the baby's name or birth date.

Dick and Anne Fetterman Gutekunst announce the birth of their third child Jo Anne, October 13, 1956.

One night in January Bob arrived home from the Arsenal asking "Guess who was with the officers I met today?" The only one I could think of was Johnny DeBarr '47, but it was Torchy Post. (Excuse me, Capt. Sterling T. Post '48). They hadn't seen each other in years. He returned from Germany only a few months ago and is presently stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds attending Advanced Officers Training School.

New Addresses: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alston (Estelle Howley), 12 Green Tree Drive, Thornbury, West Chester; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Franklin (Betty Evans), 41 Worthington, Wyoming, Cincinnati 15, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Fink (Burda Murphy), 609 S. Newbury Place, Arlington Heights, Ill.

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.,
Basking Ridge, N. J.

Received a welcome Christmas note from Jean A. Painter, who is chairman of the business department of the Kittanning Senior High School. "Paint" was enthusiastic over a three-month, twelve-country European tour made last summer. Now, with appetite whetted, she is planning and saving for an encore this year. Don't forget to report the highlights for us, Jean.

Elizabeth Doughty Scanlan, Jr., brightened my day when she found time to send a letter full of interesting news. Betsey reports that Karin A. Nelson, who has been working for the National Labor Relations Board in San Francisco for some six years, was married February 10th in the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, N. J., to John Truesdale of Washington, D. C. Our best wishes.

Still quoting Betsey, Richard and Norma Rogers Westneat announce the arrival of their fourth daughter last November 8th. The Westneats live in Hamden, Conn., and Dick is a pediatrician. Naturally, it figures.

Betsey further reported that Audrey J. Bishop, feature writer for the Baltimore Sunday Sun, covered the recent New York fashion showings for her paper. How about a feature, "Bish"?

An especially nice letter came the other day from William Webster. Rev. Webster has concluded a seven-year pastorate in Gillette, Wyo., in order to enter student work. Last summer he, his wife Marie, and their three children undertook a special assignment in Minneapolis, where, to quote "... our family expanded to include 16 students from 10 colleges, 12 states, Japan and England. This Baptist Students in Industry Project gave the students an opportunity to study the problems of people in the industrial world through on-the-job experiences and evening seminars ... In September we made a more permanent move to Bloomington, Ind., where I serve as minister to students for about 800 Baptist preference students attending Indiana University. Let me say that the wonderful work of Forrest Brown and Dr. Bond while I was at Bucknell certainly has been a factor in my decision to enter student work." I'm sure that all of us wish you well in your chosen and challenging field of work, Bill.

Mildred V. Braun has returned to Pittsburgh and is doing secretarial work in the glass division for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. Millie's address is 2434 Brad-dock Avenue, Pittsburgh 18.

Martha E. Sober has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Connecticut.

Robert M. Sprague has been appointed plant manager of Bulman Company, Grand Rapids, Mich., manufacturers of equipment for supermarkets and similar firms. He is married to the former Leona Ervine '44. Their new address is 1940 Griggs St., S. E., Grand Rapids 6, Mich.

Burr and I and Herbert and Helen Ahrensfield Heaney '42 attended the Bucknell-Muhlenberg basketball game in Allentown on January 19th. Our small cheering section made a major racket and we were delighted when "our team" won a game that was nip-and-tuck until the last minute or so. Muhlenberg, by the way, has a fine new fieldhouse and basketball court. The only other Bucknellian we encountered (and that by pre-arrangement) was Kenneth Bayless '42, his wife, and their guests. Ken and Herb were roommates once, and you can take it from there.

Glad to have word from some of you. Where are the rest of you?

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
31260 Westfield Avenue
Livonia, Mich.

Mrs. Alvin M. Fischer '49 (Janice V. Ubil) represented Bucknell University at the Rutherford, N. J., High School's College Night recently.

William R. Rave has recently been promoted to project engineer in charge of production engineering (705) with IBM. He and his wife (Miriam Evans '48) have three children, William C., 8; Richard E., 6; and Patricia Lee, 3 years old. Their home is in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

William M. Wilkinson is not exactly commuting between New York and Houston, Texas—it just seems that way. For the next few months he will serve as president of the Natural Gas Odorizing Division of Cue Fastener Corporation on loan from his New York office of Payson and Trask. He still visits the campus regularly when he drops in to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Norman Wilkinson '09 (Katharine E. MacCart '06) in South Williamsport. During his absence from the New York scene Dr. Bruce J. Miller '27, is serving as acting president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Richardson (Jean DeGroat) share honors as treasurers for the Conn.-Pitt. Alumni group, Elmer being a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, while "Ginger" earned her M.A. there. Their home address is 109 Farist Road, Fairfield, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hill (Pat Whittam) proudly announce the arrival of Mark Forrest Hill on January 6, 1957. The Hills are living at 1836 E. Maple Road, Birmingham, Mich., while Gene completes a training program with Reynolds Metal in Detroit. (Wish more news reached me by phone as did the arrival of Patty's son—such fun to have old friends close-by.)

Counselor and Mrs. Robert F. Grenhart (Catherine Casselman) announce the arrival of Gail Kirsten, on November 30, 1956, bringing three-year-old Gloria Karen a baby sister.

Mrs. Curtis Atherton (Eloise Oram) writes that their new address is Stonecrest, MD 14, Newburgh, N. Y. Also that husband Curt has the Chrysler-Plymouth dealership in Newburgh.

Dr. and Mrs. James Cowan (Gloria Whitman) and daughters Becky and Susie have not only moved into their own new home at R. D. 3, Coatesville, but Jim has also built a new veterinary hospital and is opening his own practice.

Chuck and Norma Baird (Norma White) sent Christmas greetings from England again, telling of their travels this summer on the Continent, a trip to Scotland to visit and golf, and the changes brought about by foreign living in the children, Susan, 8; Steven, 6; and Chip, 3½; such as English accents, cricket play, and the institution of "tea."

SHOTT'S SPOT

CAN YOU BLAME US—when we get a smile from the letters that read approximately like this? "Dear Buck, I can't remember whether I sent in a check for this fund year, so here is a small contribution." The current 1956-1957 Fund Year began on July 1, 1956 and ends June 30, 1957. Better flip through your check stubs now and see where you stand—or drop me a card and I'll tell you.

Chet Worthington, able editor of Brown Alumni Monthly, quotes Dartmouth's able editor, Charley Widmayer: "The Alumni Magazine last month received a non-alumni communication expressing alarm over the Chinese birth rate. Because of a misprint, we cannot make out whether we were asked to stop it or top it. Either way, we beg off."

Through the kindness of Gene Bertin '17 a student's handbook of the University for the school year 1894-95 has come into our possession. We appreciate these contributions of historic documents for they add to our growing accumulation of material that will be placed in the Bucknell archives. We are interested in all kinds of old publications and old letters, particularly letters to and from former presidents of the University. When you do your spring housecleaning, be on the lookout for material of this kind.

In the school year 1894-1895 a number of the students boarded in clubs at average rates of about $2.00 a week. During that year there were six clubs in operation, named Augstadt Club, Anderson Club, Hall Club, Kaufman Club, Neyhart Club, and Summers Club. Does anyone know how these clubs got their names?

One of the nicest things about living on a college campus is watching the impact of our present student body on non-Bucknell visitors to the campus.

Hear what Fritz S. Updike, editor of the Rome (N. Y.) Sentinel, who moderated the panel discussions at Bucknell's Newsman's Conference wrote in an editorial in his paper:

"The discussions were stimulating, the topics provocative. But it was the students, with their alertness, their confident outlooks, and their keen interest in the problems of the day, that drove the cobwebs from a newsman's weary mind.

"Bucknell has more than its quota of attractive young men and women. The girls are particularly a joy to older eyes—so well scrubbed, so feminine. There may be a dull, drab uniformity in clothes on other campuses. Not at Bucknell where the students are "sharp", as the saying goes, and much better mannered and with considerably more social graces than those we remember 30-odd years ago on another campus . . .

"These young men and women are not afraid of the future. Their confidence and self-assurance is a healthy tonic . . .

"There is a doubt in the minds of these students about fundamentals seldom questioned by working newsmen. Are newspapers honest? Can they be trusted? . . .

"This questioning attitude among students is healthy.

"It may disturb an editor who takes too much for granted in the field of newspaper acceptance. But it is not as disturbing as the realization of the startling fact that many college faculty members are paid less than some factory workers.

"Don't worry about the students. They may feel the world is their oyster; they may be too confident of the future, even perhaps too happy and cocksure. They will do all right.

"Worry about a collegiate educational system where professors are desperately striving to keep their families reasonably well fed and housed, rejecting better financial opportunities because of dedication to their profession and its mission."

Helen D. Borsch, associate editor of the alumni magazine of Case Institute, Cleveland, publishes "Words of Wisdom" occasionally in the CASE ALUMNUS. Some of her recent "words" include the following:

Swallowing your pride will never give you indigestion.

You can't push yourself forward by patting yourself on the back.

At age 20 we don't care what the world thinks of us; at 30 we begin to worry what it thinks of us; at 50 we find it wasn't thinking of us at all!

Children are natural mimics—they act like their parents in spite of every effort to teach them good manners.

A real friend is a friend who understands us and still is.

General Electric reports results of its second year of alumnus gift matching of about 5% in number of contributions and about 10% in dollars; results they attribute to first-year enthusiasm. Comparing their overall results with our own experience with contributions from alumni who are General Electric employees, we find that we are off 18% in number of contributions and about 10% in dollars contributed. However, we are happy to report that for the second year one of our alumni hit the jackpot by contributing $1,000—the G. E. limit of matching.

The National Merit Scholarships have received a great deal of publicity—so much, in fact, that many people have concluded that this program will take care of all the scholarship needs in the country. Yet, this year, for the 169,500 students who met the qualifications of ability and need sufficiently to have been able to make the initial applications for Merit Scholarships, only around 700 Merit Scholarships are available, which means, presumably, that 168,800 of the ablest students in the country will have to find assistance elsewhere if they are to go to college. A minimum estimate of the numbers of talented youth who will not be able to go to college next year for financial reasons is 100,000.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930, at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

BUCKNELL REUNIONS — THEN AND NOW the first reunion was held in 1866, and if they have been continuous, then it would appear that the 1957 version of alumni reunion and commencement weekend will be the 91st anniversary.

Class reunion programs don't just happen—they are planned. As the alumni body has grown larger and larger, more and more of the reunion planning has been undertaken by the individual classes and their officer staffs. Only in this way will the classmates be assured of a weekend on the campus that is planned to meet their own wishes.

This Year's Program

This year alumni reunions and commencement will extend from Friday, June 7, through Monday, June 10, with Saturday, June 8, designated as Alumni Reunion Day. Many of the reunion celebrants will arrive early Friday to enjoy class reunion dinners on that evening. Altogether, fourteen enterprising and fun loving Bucknell classes will be holding regular five-year reunions. In this group will be included the Emeritus Club—all Bucknellians that have celebrated fifty or more years since graduation. Besides their regular social gathering, they will hold a special welcoming ceremony to induct their newest members, the Class of 1907, into the Emeritus Club fold.

Other classes holding regular five-year reunions include the Class of 1902, the Class of 1907 (Golden Anniversary), the Class of 1912, the Class of 1917, the Class of 1922, the Class of 1927, the Class of 1932 (Silver Anniversary), the Class of 1937, the Class of 1942, the Class of 1947, the Class of 1952, and the first reunion of the Class of 1956. The Class of 1957, youngest alumni group, will also share in the reunion celebration.

Perennials Are Regulars

But no matter what class you are a member of, alumni reunion day provides festivities for all Alumni of non-reuning classes as well. The growing number of perennials who come back every year will find many interesting and enjoyable programs.

Class Reunion Features

Although some classes are still in the tentative planning stage, many groups have already set up special and unique features for the entertainment of the members. This year, for the first time, it is hoped to provide a bus for use of those members of the Emeritus Club who feel that the parade to the gymnasium for the luncheon is a bit too strenuous. Several other classes are also introducing automobiles into the parade for purely decorative purposes. Those groups who have already reported their plans to the alumni office include the Class of 1912 which, as usual, will feature Maze Callahan Houseknecht's home baked cookies. During the past year, the Class of 1917 has been busy gathering tape recordings of the voices of the members of the class. These recording tapes will be played at the reunion, and it is then planned to prepare a reunion book of the recorded messages. The Class of 1922 will start celebrating early with a dinner at the Otzinachson County Club, Milton, on Friday evening. Altogether, ten of the reunion classes are preparing anniversary books which include a statistical report on the achievements of the classmates as well as individual biographical sketches of each member. The alumni parade will, of course, be a dignified procession, but to be sure that

A recent reference to reunions at Princeton University (Princeton Alumni Weekly, February 22, 1957) entitled "Reunions, 1897-1957" sent us scurrying to the University archives to learn when Bucknell reunion programs were first instituted.

While it is well established that our alumni association was established when the first graduating class of 7 members received their sheepskins on August 20, 1851, it is not so clear when actual reunion programs were instituted.

Was This the First?

The earliest reference to a class reunion is found in The College Herald of June 1, 1871, page six, as follows:

"Class Reunions—The Class of 1856, at the time of their graduation, resolved that at the end of ten years, they would, if possible, come together again and recount their progress by the way. In 1866 the 'experience' meeting was held, when nearly all of the class were present.

"It was found that all were yet living; that most were married, and that there was coming along a goodly number of future candidates for admission into the various departments of the University . . .

"So good a time had they at their decennial meeting, that they agreed to come together again at the end of five years.

"This matter of class reunion is one which commends itself to the consideration of graduating classes. It tends to keep alive the kindly feelings which ought ever to exist among classmates; it acts as a stimulus to greater activity and accomplishment in life, and serves to increase the attachment of the Alumnus to his Alma Mater."

The above reference would seem to indicate that Bucknell was among the first to establish organized reunion programs. If dignity with a capital D has been left at home, each class will regale itself in a suitable identifying headpiece to be worn in the alumni parade and at the always colorful All-Alumni Luncheon in the gymnasium.

Reunioners Will Live in Dorms

One of the highlights of the reunion weekend will be the use of the James S. Swartz Hall and other University dormitories for housing Alumni and their families. This year it will be possible to assign each reunion class to a specific floor. Housing the whole class together will add immeasurably to the fun of the reunion. Furthermore, through the registry to be maintained at the registration desks, it will be possible to learn the whereabouts of each Alumnus assigned a room on the hill. For this reason it is essential that everyone stop at the Carnegie Library Lounge (old library building) to register as soon as they reach the campus. One word of caution: mail your room and ticket reservation now (see page 3.) It's easier to cancel if necessary than fill last minute requests.

Welcome Back Party

For those alumni reaching the campus on Friday, the Bison (next to the old Sigma Chi House, now the Seventh Street House), will be opened Friday evening. This favorite eating place of undergraduates will be turned over to Alumni for the evening. It's the ideal spot to meet the early birds. No formal party program is planned—just a good place to meet the gang and to continue the bull sessions of twenty or thirty years ago.

Saturday a Full Day

A glance at the full schedule included in this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS will convince anyone that Saturday, June 8, will be a busy day. Beginning with the Bison Club breakfast to which everyone (men, women and children) is welcomed, to the last "Goodnight Ladies" of the Jamboree entertainment sounds like a tight schedule. Actually there will be many opportunities during the day to relax and enjoy the fellowship of classmates.

Following the Bison Club breakfast—or the Phi Beta Kappa breakfast (if you are eligible) all Alumni whether or not they are elected delegates are urged to attend the short annual business session of The General Alumni Association to be held in F. W. Olin Science Building auditorium at 9:30 a. m. At 10:30 a. m. reunioners will go to their assigned rooms in the Vaughan Literature Building, Bertrand Library and Olin Science Building for short business meetings and for the taking of the class group pictures. At the same time, class regalia, to be worn in the alumni parade will be distributed.

Each reuniting class in their fancy hats will have a special place in the alumni parade to the Davis Gymnasium where the annual alumni reunion luncheon for all campus visitors will be held. Special guests at the luncheon will be the graduating seniors of the Class of 1957.

The Annual Alumni Luncheon

The annual "State of the University" message by Dr. Merle M. Odgers, president of the University will be a highlight of the luncheon.

Also to be announced at the luncheon will be the name of the Alumnus elected by the Alumni to the University Board of Trustees, the names of the new officers of The General Alumni Association and the winners of the Alumni Awards, three in number, (a) for Certain grants and gifts to the University will also be made public at the luncheon meeting.

Following the luncheon, reuniting classes will move to locations on and off the campus for their social gatherings while other Alumni will no doubt take advantage of the opportunity to see a baseball game, enjoy the sand traps of the Bucknell University golf course, view the reunion exhibits in the Bertrand Library, or just relax and visit with friends and classmates.

The Evening Program

Saturday evening will provide a variety of interesting entertainment, but high on the list of "must" activities will be a visit to the Alumni Jamboree and entertainment in Davis Gymnasium where everybody meets everybody. Dancing will be provided for those who wish to "tap out a tune" but there will be ample time for entertainment or just plain visiting. This year there will be no admission charge for the jamboree—it's all on the house.

Baccalaureate and Commencement

For those who can remain for the Sunday and Monday program, the baccalaureate services Sunday evening, with the address by the Rev. Raymond H. Edwards '26, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Ossining, New York, and the Commencement exercises on Monday morning, featuring an address by Gwilym A. Price, chairman and president of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, will be events that will be long remembered.

At the Commencement exercises honorary degrees will be awarded Robert G. Dunlop, president, Sun Oil Company; A. Guy Freas, Bucknell Trustee; Dr. Lawrence C. Jones, principal, the Piney Woods Country Life

Dr. Mary B. Harris, Bucknell Trustee, Dies

Bucknell lost one of her most prominent women graduates with the death, on February 22, of Dr. Mary Belle Harris, an early leader in women's penal work. She was 82 years old.

Dr. Harris had been superintendent at four correctional and penal institutions for women. She was highly esteemed by federal and state prison authorities for her contributions to the field of correction for women.

She was born August 19, 1874, in La Plume, the daughter of the late John Howard and Mary Mace Harris. Her father was the founder of Keystone Academy, now Keystone Junior College, Scranton, and for 30 years he served as president of Bucknell University.

Graduated from Bucknell University with a bachelor of arts degree in 1894 and a master's degree one year later, she was also awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by Bucknell in 1927 and by Morris-Harvey College in 1940. In 1900 she earned the doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

She taught Latin at Morris-Harvey College from 1900 to 1912, and then spent two years of teaching and study abroad.

When she returned to this country in 1914 her friend, Dr. Katharine B. Davis, then New York City Correction Commissioner, appointed her superintendent in charge of the women prisoners in the workhouse on Blackwells Island in New York. In later years, Dr. Harris recalled jestingly: "They met me at the boat and put me in the workhouse." It was thus that she began a career in penology that was to cover almost thirty years.

In 1918 she became superintendent of the State Reformatory for Women at Clinton, N. J. While serving as superintendent of the reformatory, she was granted a leave of absence to serve in the War Department as assistant director of the section of women's reformatories and detention houses in the division of training camp activities. In May 1919, she resigned from this position and also from the superintendency of the New Jersey institution to become superintendent of the State Home for Girls at Trenton, N. J.

HELPED DESIGN PRISON

In March 1925, an appropriation was granted by Congress for the establishment of a federal institution for women committed in the United States courts, and Dr. Harris was immediately appointed as superintendent by Attorney General Harland T. Stone, who later was named Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

As superintendent of the new institution, she was responsible for planning and designing the buildings and initiating procedure for the prison located at Alderson, W. Va.

While superintendent at Alderson, she was sent as a representative of the federal government to the International Prison Congress in London, Prague, and Berlin, and visited in the course of her travels many correctional institutions abroad.

Dr. Harris attended the annual congress of the American Association and became well acquainted with the problems of the leading correctional institutions in the United States. She also lectured widely on the subject of prison management and was considered closely associated with work and procedures of the federal parole board.

Well known both in the United States and abroad for her work in penal institutions, she has been the subject of numerous articles and publications. She was also an author and journalist in her own right, having written many articles for national magazines and journals. She also wrote two books, I Knew Them in Prison, and Kalidasa: Poet of Nature.

Under her supervision women in the Alderson, W. Va. Federal Institution farmed, ran a dairy, learned the domestic arts and other practical skills and attended academic classes. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, visiting Alderson in 1934 praised the prison. "I think it's a very wonderful institution—it is so because you don't feel it is one of this nature," Mrs. Roosevelt said.

After her retirement from the Alderson institution in 1941, she returned to Lewisburg and served on the Pennsylvania Board of Parole during 1942 and 1943.

CITED BY GOVERNOR

The General Federation of Women's Clubs awarded her its scroll of honor for work in the penal field and Governor John S. Fine presented her a gold medal honoring her as one of ten Distinguished Daughters of Pennsylvania in 1954. Upon her return to Lewisburg she became active in community affairs and served as director of the Lewisburg Community Chest in 1947, president of the Lewisburg Civic Club from 1946 through 1949, and vice chairman of the Union County Cancer Control Unit.

Originally nominated to the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University by The General Alumni Association in 1932, she was serving as an elected member at the time of her death. She was a member of the American Association of University Women, Pi Beta Phi sorority, Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity, and was a member and trustee of the First Baptist Church, Lewisburg.

Surviving are three brothers, James P. Harris, Esq. '12, Wilkes-Barre; Dr. Coleman J. Harris '12, Charleston, W. Va.; Stanley N. Harris '18, Pittsburgh, and 11 nieces and nephews, several of whom also attended Bucknell University.

Portrait Presented to Girard College

DR. MERLE M. ODGERS

On January 8, 1957, at an informal dinner, the Girard College Alumni Association presented the above portrait of Dr. Merle M. Odgers to Girard College. Dr. Odgers was a former President of Girard College from 1936 to 1954 before coming to Bucknell in December of 1954 as Bucknell University's tenth president.

Mr. Harry G. Schad, a member of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University and President of the Girard College Alumni Association, presented the portrait on behalf of Girard College Alumni to Dr. E. Newbold Cooper, President of Girard College.

Among the invited guests present were Dr. and Mrs. Odgers and Dr. Joseph W. Henderson, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University and member of the Board of City Trusts. Also present were members of the Board of Directors of City Trusts; the artist, Miss Mary C. Burgess, members of the Girard College Executive Staff and members of the Girard College Alumni Association.

Dr. Leo L. Rockwell '07 Accepts New Appointment

Dr. Leo Rockwell '07, Professor of English and Director of the Division of Arts and Letters at Colgate University, has received a six month assignment from the U. S. State Department to lecture on English at the University of Guadalajara in Mexico. Dr. Rockwell, who will retire from the staff at Colgate at the end of this semester, has accepted the assignment during his terminal leave of absence from Colgate.

In a letter recently received at the Alumni Office from Dr. Rockwell he says, "This post seems to be almost a missionary venture, since language is one of the most important keys to world understanding, and it is especially important for our Southern neighbors to understand us; they have suffered a good deal at the hands of some U. S. citizens; some tourists here now are quite unrepresentative of the better things in our culture. 'Exchange of persons,' as the State Department calls it, seems to me, if the persons are the right ones, one of the most important of the available instruments for world friendship."

Although this is a new post, the work he will be doing is not new to Dr. Rockwell. In 1943 he received a two-year leave of absence from Colgate to serve as Director of the English House at the English Language Institute of the University of Michigan where he worked primarily with Latin-American students. The following year he was invited to the University of Chile, where he accepted a post as visiting professor of English.

Dr. Rockwell graduated summa cum laude from Bucknell in 1907. Continuing his education he attended Harvard and received his Master of Arts Degree from that institution in 1908. Following the completion of his study at Harvard Dr. Rockwell spent many years teaching at Bucknell. In the summer of 1914 he was attending Heidelberg College in Heidelberg, Germany, and got caught in World War I. For a short period he served as a volunteer in the American Consulate in Frankfurt. Later he returned to the United States, taught at New York University, and finally returned to Bucknell in 1916 where he remained until 1936. In 1924 he received his Ph.D. from New York University. Accepting the post of director of the School of Languages and Literature at Colgate University in 1936, Dr. Rockwell left Bucknell and has ever since been associated with that school. In 1953 Bucknell awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters.

President of the Class of 1907 and reporter for his class, Dr. Rockwell has remained a loyal Bucknellian and a strong right arm for his class. Many '07ers may remember his memorable series of articles appearing in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS entitled "2000 Years of 1907," which depicted the life of each and every class member.

Dr. Rockwell is married to the former Vera Cober of the Class of 1911 and has three daughters: Frances '37 (Mrs. Warren Dentler), Carol '37 (Mrs. James M. Sullivan), and Marquerite '39 (Mrs. E. R. Weihing).

We congratulate you, Dr. Leo L. Rockwell, on your retirement and on your contribution to your country brought about by your unselfish devotion to educating the youth of America.

David N. Boswell '18 Retires

The whole community joined in paying tribute to Dr. David N. Boswell on his retirement from the pastorate of the First Baptist Church, Rome, New York, on December 30, 1956.

Besides the honors accorded him by the members of his congregation, he was commended by James C. Dunn, chief of police of Rome, for "the important part you have taken in Y. M. C. A. work, the Rome Ministerial Association, and your valued and wise counsel in connection with the handling of Children's Court cases." The example and contribution he has made to the civic and religious life of the city was attested to by a member of the F. B. I. Narcotic Squad. Dr. Theodore Bond, acting director of the Rome state school, where Dave served as chaplain to 5,000 patients for a period of 28 years, also added his thanks. Dave's share of assistance in every community campaign was always a large one, and he earned the title of "Mr. Stadium" for his help in building one of the best in the state of New York in 1951.

The "coffee break" took on a new meaning in Rome through Dave's practice of meeting every morning a number of the city leaders for a brief discussion of civic and religious affairs.

In a day when collegiate custom called for the dismissal of married students from the campus, Dave and his wife, the former Mary N. Dunn '18, achieved the world distinction of being the first married couple to enter Bucknell. They entered in January, 1911, spent 3½ years in the Academy and Women's Institute for their preparatory education and graduated after four years of study in the University in 1918.

Dave was a member of Delta Sigma (now Delta Upsilon), played varsity football in 1917 and was awarded the Greek Commencement prize at graduation. He earned the degree of B.D. at Rochester Theological Seminary in 1922, the A.M. from Bucknell in 1922, and was awarded the Honorary Doctor of Divinity by Bucknell in 1952 when he preached the baccalaureate sermon.

He was born October 16, 1886, at Abertillery, Monmouthshire, England, and married Mary N. Dunn '18 on May 27, 1907. Their two sons, David N. Boswell, Jr.

and Wallace D. Boswell were both graduated from Bucknell in the Class of 1949.

Possessor of a splendid singing voice Dave has been a sacred soloist for many years and is the originator and singer of "the sermon in song."

Always a loyal supporter of Bucknell University, he has served his Class of 1918 in a number of capacities in the past, notably as class reporter and class fund agent.

The Bucknell campus family joins in saluting Dr. Boswell in the achievement of a distinguished career of service to mankind.

Death of Charlotte G. Armstrong

A year ago, April 28th, 1956, Bucknell lost one of its former teachers and most loyal devotees of the University, Miss Charlotte G. Armstrong, teacher of violin for over thirty years in the Bucknell School of Music. Miss Armstrong received her musical training at the New England Conservatory of Music, studying several summers with Ovide Musin in New York City and also at Columbia University. She was a serious and fine musician and a dedicated teacher, and will be remembered by her many friends for her ready wit as well as her fine musicianship and lifelong devotion to Bucknell, remembering the institution in her will. Her only surviving sister resides at the family home in West Pittston.

Achieved by Will Power

Mrs. Mary A. Fox of Lock Haven who died recently left a $154,000 estate for tuition scholarships at Bucknell and three other Pennsylvania colleges for the benefit of "deserving boys and girls" from either Clinton or Lycoming County.

Under her will, the Mary Ann Fox Foundation will be established and a committee composed of the presidents of the four colleges and public school superintendents from the two counties are directed to select the students each year. The First National Bank of Lock Haven is trustee of the estate.

AN UNSCHEDULED REUNION

When the group insurance division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company held its annual sales meeting recently at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D. C., it brought together three Bucknellians from widely scattered parts of the country. Shown, from left to right are: Matt Galbraith '50, service supervisor in the Pittsburgh Group Office; W. S. Liming '33, supervisor, group sales promotion and publicity at the Metropolitan's home office, New York City; and Herbert A. Reese '25, regional supervisor, San Francisco Group Office.

The Student View

by
GINNY EMMITT '59

THIS is the time of nostalgia and gayety. An odd combination, yes, but nevertheless, a true one. There is nostalgia in that the seniors will be leaving in a month, some we will never see or hear from again, some will be back every Homecoming, and some will be famous. We underclassmen are sorry to see them go, but glad they are going to have the chance to try out their newly gained education. We hope that these four years have been profitable ones, that hold happy memories.

Gayety Pervades

But more obvious than the underlying nostalgia is the general feeling of gayety. Second semester is the semester of parties, parties, and more parties. After rushing, the sororities and fraternities "go wild" with group activity—pledge dances, Bowery Brawl, Shipwreck, Shantytown, and Hobo Dance.

Senior Prom and Houseparty weekends also add to the general feeling of merriment. Richard Maltby was the perfect band for the prom—just the right combination of slow, fast, and South American numbers. Although the present trend is to be dressed as casually as possible when going to a social event, everyone enjoyed himself in spite of the formal attire. The whole campus looks forward to Houseparty Weekend; the students with glee, the administration with anxiety. According to all the plans, it should be a lot of fun and not the traditional headache to the people on the hill.

"South Pacific" Rates High

A high point of the gay second semester, not in the party vein, is the University Players' annual production of a hit musical. This year they did a fine job on "South Pacific," with Jo Shideler '59, Bill DeWire '57 and Al Jackson '59 taking the leads. One proof of its success is that everyone unconsciously hummed the songs for weeks afterward. This was gayety with a constructive outlet.

Fun With Parents

May Day Weekend is another gay weekend. A good meal out with the folks is a nice beginning. With the new ROTC demonstration in place of the pushcart derby, the traditional women's program in the afternoon with the crowning of the queen, and no Saturday classes, the weekend always proves to be right in the same mood as the rest of the semester. Also included in the Mother's Day celebration are Cap and Dagger productions of "Saint Joan," glee club concerts, art exhibits, laboratory displays, and special breakfasts and luncheons.

All vacations add to a feeling of good humor, and Easter was no exception. Coloring eggs for younger brothers and sisters, sleeping late, and seeing old friends were a nice change from the rigid academic and social schedule at school. Very few of the term papers were finished and even a smaller number of the books were read, but college is the place for those things.

Balmy Weather to Blame

If there must be a reason for second semester being marked by gayety, it is easy to blame it on the weather. Who can be inspired in the spring? Who can spend his weekends in the chem lab when the weather is beautiful? It is so much easier to concentrate on a calculus problem when the trees are bare than when they are filled with noisy birds. Picnics are the natural way to spend time when the sun is shining and the temperature is warm. We are all so happy the messy winter is over that our gayety is expressed in activities.

Leader Selection Tempers Mood

In addition to studying, which is not ignored despite all appearances, an important serious aspect of the second semester is the selection and election of students to lead the various organizations. Nominating committees for the student governments spend many long hours going over people eligible for the different offices. They realize the importance of selecting students who have both the backing of their classmates and the leadership abilities to effectively guide the school. The student body also realizes the important part it plays in electing the right candidate.

Other organizations, such as clubs, honoraries, and activities also spend their efforts in picking the leaders to guide their groups. The selection of editorial staffs for the various student publications is another part of the serious business of choosing leaders.

Margaret Mead to Speak

The coming of Margaret Mead, world famous anthropologist, is another main event of the semester to which we are looking forward. It will be fascinating to have the opportunity to listen to a person, considered by Edna Yost to be one of the important American women of science. Her experience among the people of many lands should make her an interesting and informative speaker.

Also on the serious side are the many projects sponsored by the various organizations. As in other years a large number of students donated blood during the Red Cross blood drive. Working with the women in town, Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, helped to organize the campus drive.

The Christian Association planned two exchange weekends with Howard University for the purpose of promoting and understanding interracial problems. They were so pleased with the results that they are planning a more extensive program for next year. The Christian Association also sponsored work with the local orphanage. Several days a week men and women students play with the children and help them with their studies. The students give to the orphans the needed personal interest.

All the sorority pledge classes, under the supervision of Panhellenic Council, decided to do something for the children of migrant workers that are now moving into the area. Collecting scraps of material, buttons, and other odd and ends, they make octopus dolls.

Even though the trend is toward gayety this semester, it balanced nicely with the many serious activities.

STATION WVBU

by ROGER NIEMAN '58

WVBU, more formally known as the Bucknell Radio Workshop, provides a laboratory where Bucknell students can learn, by training and actual experience, the fundamentals of radio—especially announcing, engineering, and advertising. WVBU also provides radio entertainment and education for the Bucknell campus.

During this year, Roger Nieman, a junior from Woodmere, N. Y., is assuming the position of station manager. Under Roger three new and important things are in process at WVBU at the present time.

The wiring of Swartz Hall, the freshman dormitory, so that it has excellent reception, has been achieved by Dave Towson and Ross Petzing, the two sophomore technical directors of WVBU, who live respectively in Baltimore, Maryland, and Wymewood. Plans for WVBU's technical staff include the wiring of Larison Hall, Bucknell Cottage, Harris Hall, and Hunt Hall in the very near future.

The second new improvement in the radio station is the addition of an advertising directorship. Frank Faint, an ex-marine freshman from Lewisburg, who has had a great deal of selling experience, has recently been elected advertising director. Through Frank's services, the station's finances have been improved considerably.

The third, and certainly the most important and far-reaching improvement in WVBU, is the initiation of a new series of educational programs. The originating, organizing, and directing of the entire educational series is wholly due to one man, namely Marc Grosman, a senior from Newark, N. J., to whom the station owes a great debt. Marc realized the definite lack of educational programming on the part of WVBU, and asked some of the qualified students and members of the faculty if they would be willing to spend more time to raise the educational level of the radio station.

The educational series consists of the following programs: first, "Oasis," a program devoted to the reading of and discussion of poetry; second, "Interview," a rebroadcast of important educational and cultural events that have recently occurred on campus; third, "Humanities," a personal essay-type program in connection with the fields of philosophy, psychology, and religion; fourth, "Views on the News," a weekly program in which a faculty member analyzes or comments on the news; fifth, "The Music Department Presents," a program in which virtually all phases of intellectual music are discussed; and sixth, "Abstract," a personal essay-type program concerned with the fields of philosophy and mathematics.

Marc is grateful for the cooperation that he has received, and Bucknell is likewise grateful to Marc for increasing the educational and cultural standards of WVBU and thereby the whole University. Because of the better reception, the increased advertising revenue, and especially Marc Grosman's educational series, the future of WVBU is indeed promising.

Winter Sports

WRESTLING

Standout wrestler Bill Benton, 6'-3", 225 lbs., from Madison, N. J., is expected to do some shot-putting for Bus Blum's trackmen this Spring.

Continuing the improvement that was evident last year, Bucknell's wrestlers altered their 1956 record of 2-5 to 3-4 during the past winter.

Coach Bill Wrabley and his able assistant, Franny Hatton, assembled a team that was strong in spots and weak in others. It certainly fared as well, if not better, than anyone had reason to expect.

Heavyweight Bill Benton proved once again to be the toughest Bison to lick, racking up seven straight victories to complete the regular season unbeaten. The 225-pounder twice brought his team from behind by copping the final event. Against Haverford Benton turned a 16-15 deficit into a 20-16 triumph by pinning his foe. A duplication of the feat against Temple permitted the Herd to edge the Owls 20-18 after trailing 18-15. Only one opponent lasted the three-round distance with the brawny Benton.

In addition to the conquests of Haverford and Temple, late-season losses were sustained at the hands of Gettysburg, 22-8, and Delaware, 17-11. Other grapplers who boasted successful logs were junior 157-pounder Larry Dempster, 3-1, and sophomores Rowland Bell, 147 pounds, 4-2, and Dick Reed, 137 pounds, 3-2.

SWIMMING

After dropping decisions to Franklin and Marshall, 57-29; Dickinson, 52-34; and Gettysburg, 45-41; Bucknell's swimmers emerged with the first tank victory in the University's one-year history of the sport, 52-33, over Delaware.

The loss to Gettysburg was a heart-breaker, as the Bisons led the Bullets into the final event by a 41-38 score. Performing in their initial meet in the Freas-Rooke Pool, the Bucknellians ran out of gas in the 400-yard freestyle relay and suffered their third successive defeat of the campaign.

Coach Bob Latour and his boys were rewarded for their hard work and patience in their closing meet, as they crushed Delaware and indicated that they would be tough to handle next winter. Only 8 diver Lou Jones is a senior. Due to return are Gene Meenan, Ollie Maypolc, Bill Barrett, Bill Schreiber, Bruce Hutchinson and Bob Buys, among others.

BASEBALL

If the opening game 5-2 loss to Dickinson can be used as a criterion the Bucknell baseball team could be tabbed as being shy of batting punch and without a top-notch hurler. It could possess, however, a tight defense. But first impressions are often wrong and judgment on coach Bill Lane's nine must be reserved until the horrible weather around these parts permits more contests to be played.

Seniors Bill Burns, Bob Beck and Howard Sipler, the latter two being southpaws, were named as starting hurlers by Lane. Beck took the rap for the Dickinson setback. Stew Wrigley looks like a comer behind the plate. The left-swinging soph wields a wicked bat.

The infield posts are manned by a trio of holdovers plus another rookie. First baseman Terry Fetterman, shortstop Jack Brothers and third sacker Larry Dempster are the returnees, with Ron Staley, a flashy second baseman, the lone newcoiner.

Veteran slugger Chuck Sneath, who pounded the ball for a .360 average and knocked across 17 runs last spring, remains the power man in the Bison attack, holding down the centerfield berth. Flanking Sneath will be a pair of promising sophomores, Dick Burnett and Dick Pitko, with the latter capable of developing into a fine hitter.

TENNIS

Half a dozen boys who helped the Bison tennis team compile a 9-9 record in 1956 are again available for duty. Coach Hank Peters, who hasn't experienced a losing campaign for five years, will send six lettermen into action.

In the opening match against Dickinson, Jim Stewart, John Fincke, Bob Poindexter and Ben Hollander were victorious over their Red Devil foes. Doubles triumphs were registered by captain John Pulizzi and Fincke, and by Stewart and Hollander, as the Herd prevailed by a 6-3 count.

GOLF

Back from the golf team that posted an 8-5-1 record last spring, the Bisons' most successful season since World War II, come four lettermen—seniors Dave Doane, Stan Jackson, Jim Ladd and Bob Miller. Ladd's individual mark of 7-4 was tops a year ago and he could be the pace-setter again this spring. Coach Harold Evans is counting on John Dunn and Ralph Hoover, a pair of highly-regarded sophomores, to fill in for Don Albee, Bill Walliser and Ken Bensen, '56 flashes who won't be available this year.

The Bucknell linksmen will be defending the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference team championship they won for the first time last May.

TRACK

Bus Blum's trackmen, winners of eight out of nine meets the past two years, appear to be in pretty fair shape to continue their success.

Important losses from last spring's solid outfit were captain Ed Burg, a sprinter whose 40-point total topped the team; Jim Riker, who earned 39 counters as a hurdler and high jumper; Bill Campbell and Bill Lenker, who contributed 29 and 20 points, respectively.

Coach Blum's chief concern is digging points out of the broad jump and 440 events. While not blessed with outstanding talent in the other departments, the Bisons are well balanced, according to Bus.

Lettermen who should prove to be of considerable value this spring are co-captains Al Larrabee, a half-miler, and distance runner Art Saunders; javelin-tossers Bob Ackerman and Chet Smith; shot-putter Bill Benton, and pole-vaulter John Mueller. Larrabee, incidentally, recently gained Phi Beta Kappa honors.

Football 1957

Bucknell University will play a nine-game football schedule in 1957. This will be one more contest than was played last fall. The addition of Carnegie Tech and Boston University to the card and the dropping of Buffalo account for the only changes, as seven of last year's opponents have been retained.

The meeting with Carnegie Tech will be the first grid clash between the schools. The rivalry with Boston University is being renewed after a two-year lapse. Bucknell has won two of three previous games in the series, which started in 1941. The Terriers will be the Bisons' guests on Homecoming day, Saturday, October 19.

have been made as compared with the previous fund record. However, the gains are not substantial enough to insure a target bit of $50,000 from 4,000 Alumni, the challenge set in the Timely booklet mailed to all Alumni at the beginning of the fund year.

At the moment the fund total stands at $27,881.12 from 2,054 donors. Unless we persuade another 1,946 donors to contribute by the June 30 closing date, the challenge will not be met. Each year there are literally hundreds of Alumni who intend to continue their regular giving program but do not realize until too late that each fund year closes on June 30.

Alumni support in terms of annual giving is one of the stabilizing factors in Bucknell's financial structure today. It is depended upon to furnish unrestricted funds, a most important item in the University budget. Last year's fund represents the income on almost $1,000,000 of endowment at the University's average earning on investment. We are thus providing a "living endowment" to help the University solve immediate and urgent financial problems.

To keep Bucknell financially independent and solvent and to advance her academic standards requires the financial and moral support of an interested constituency. Our Alumni group is furnishing this backing today, is proud of its role in the educational picture, and is determined to reach goals equal to that of other colleges of our size.

PERSONAL VISITS PAY OFF

To reach the Bucknellian who procrastinates or reads no mail, personal visitation on a community chest plan was introduced in ten areas during the past two years. This program of "doorknocking" pays off and it is expected that over 400 alumni fund workers will undertake to visit 5 Bucknellians each to pick up contributions and secure a more accurate measure of potential giving. Most colleges include personal solicitation in the fund program, and for Bucknell the results have been outstanding—40% to 60% of the Alumni visited contribute as compared to an average 20% response in the areas where no personal solicitation has been conducted. The challenge of visiting Alumni face to face is being met by more and more alumni fund workers.

THE CLASS EFFORT

The backbone of the fund is still the class effort. Each one of the 65 organized Bucknell classes has a class fund manager who contacts each member of the class who has not contributed to the fund by February 1 urging a contribution to help swell the percentage of participation. Besides the class fund manager, a number of classes, notably 1949, 1953, 1955, and 1956 have appointed assistant class fund managers who write personal notes of appeal to a limited number of classmates. These personal notes provide the additional advantage of encouraging the members of the class to continue a personal correspondence, a feature enjoyed by both the sender and the receiver of these messages. It is hoped that more and more classes will become organized on this basis.

THE CLASS CHALLENGE

To meet the class-by-class challenge, the accompanying table shows the number of contributions needed by each Bucknell class in order to meet the target of at least 4,000 givers in the fund year that will end on June 30, 1957—just two months from now.

In its first nine years, the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund has shown a steady growth, but has not equalled the growth of many other college alumni funds of similar age. Certainly Bucknellians are as loyal as Alumni of other colleges and are just as sensitive to the need for alumni support for education. With good intentions they simply put off making their contribution until it is too late.

Another reason that Bucknell Alumni seem to be dragging their heels in fund giving as compared to other colleges is the feeling in some quarters that the fund program requires large gifts. While it is true that substantial gifts are most welcome, it is well known that the regularity of annual giving is far more important than the size of the gift. Actually, gifts of nominal size when received in large volume accomplish splendid results. Last year among the 3500 alumni gifts received were 2500 of $15.00 or less. These numerous nominal gifts enable us to establish 20% of participation, a figure that is scrutinized very closely when we approach corporations and foundations for gifts of substantial size. There is reason to believe that some potential donors do not give because, as they say, "Bucknell is always asking for money," or "All I get from Bucknell are requests for donations." A brief look at the record can generally dispel this mistaken idea. In the first place, Bucknellians receive from one to four fund reminders each year. If a donation is received in response to the first appeal (generally made in November or December) no further requests for donations are received by the Alumnus. If the first appeal does not bring the desired contribution, three additional appeals are sent, one in February from the class fund manager, one in April as a combination trustee election ballot and fund appeal and a final reminder about May 30 to those who have not responded to the former appeals. But in addition to the fund appeals, the Alumnus receives an average of about 12 messages from Bucknell each year, five issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, four issues of "ABOUT BUCKNELL," two or more club meeting notices, and in a reunion year, at least four reunion letters. In all, about twelve to one in favor of general news over fund appeals. Hardly a case for the "All I get from Bucknell are requests for money" viewpoint.

MORE EIGHT-YEAR GIVERS

Our continuing search for Bucknellians who have been eight-year givers to the Fund has turned up these additional names to be added to the charter list of fund givers: Lloyd S. Hoffman '32; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dill '27, '24; Mr. and Mrs. Brown Foelt '28, '26; Reverend Elmo Pascale '44 (5 years); Kathryn Stannert Benson '35 (7 years); Ruth C. Jones '07 (7 years); Mary Stanton Speicher '07; Maze Callahan Houseknecht '12; Mr. and Mrs. A. Cleveland Conner '12 and Helen Ede McQuay '15.

As we enter the final 60 days of the 1956-57 fund year, we find important gains

BLOOMSBURG—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Bloomsburg held a Bucknell birthday dinner on February 4 at the Hotel Magee in Bloomsburg. Mr. Forrest D. Brown, secretary of the Christian Association at Bucknell was the speaker, and he enlightened the 21 Bucknellians in attendance with a most interesting and informative talk on the affairs at Bucknell.

J. CLAIRE PATTERSON '35,
President

CENTRAL INDIANA—A supper meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Central Indiana was held on Tuesday evening, February 19, at 6:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Signorino '28, 4240 Marrison Place, Indianapolis. Hostesses assisting Mildred Signorino were Rose Dobrof (wife of Al Dobrof '40) and Helen Grove '27. A most delicious spaghetti supper was enjoyed by 15 members.

We were happy to welcome to their first meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney L. Perry (Hope M. Wohnus '44), Miss Anne Purpuri '52 and Rev. William Webster '45. Art Zimmerman '24, our president, led the meeting with a report of some of the more recent happenings on the Bucknell campus.

DORATHY SAUER BALL '35,
Secretary

GREATER NEW YORK—Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor of The Christian Herald and a member of Bucknell's Board of Trustees spoke to the combined birthday dinner meeting of the alumni clubs of Greater New York, Long Island, Westchester and Northern New Jersey at the Park-Sheraton Hotel on February 5. He chose as his subject, "What Price Freedom Now?" and in a stirring address, he challenged his audience to maintain high moral standards on the problems facing the nations of the world today.

About 100 alumni and friends heard Dr. Poling with great pleasure, enjoyed a splendid dinner, were led in Bucknell songs by Bob Herzfelder '40, and in cheers by Red Lowther '14. Mrs. Amorita Sessinger Copeland '22, president of the Greater New York Club, along with the assistance of an active committee including the presidents of three other Metropolitan New York clubs arranged the enjoyable meeting and served as mistress of ceremonies at the dinner.

HAZLETON—Bucknellians and guests of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Hazleton met on February 5 at Gus Genetti's Hotel to celebrate Bucknell's 111th birthday. After a thoroughly enjoyable dinner the guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, professor of education and head of the Department of Education at Bucknell spoke to the thirty-one members and guests in attendance. The meeting was highly successful, and it was decided to make this type of meeting an annual affair.

PATRICK J. GILLESPIE '28,
President

ST. PETERSBURG—The Bucknell Club of St. Petersburg met at the Detroit Hotel on Saturday, March 23rd. There were 18 present. In addition to our local members we welcomed Emily Lane Yoder, Mildred Cathers and her friend, Mrs. Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. George Street and Reginald Street, Dr. John I. Woodruff '90, and his grandson.

The secretary reported a telephone call from Herbert Stewart whose son heads the physics department of Antioch College and has a fellowship for advanced study abroad.

The death of Dr. Mary B. Harris brought grief to all of the group.

Dr. Woodruff gave a report on Bucknell and the fine work of John Shott. He has written the poem for the 100th anniversary of Susquehanna University. He read us his recent "Faith vs. Freedom."

Mildred Cathers reported on friends whom we remember from the New York gathering of Bucknellians.

George Street brought greetings from the group in Philadelphia, stressing the fine work of Dr. Waltz, who has done outstanding work in the Department of Pathology.

Our first fall meeting will be held on December 7th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Balleys.

Secretary

CHAMBERSBURG—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg celebrated Bucknell's 111th birthday on Thursday, February 7, at a dinner meeting held at College Inn, Chambersburg. Twenty-two alumni and relatives and a number of prospective students attended.

Mrs. Gerald Madison (Sarah Louise Slaughenaupt '41), president, conducted the meeting which was preceded by a social hour and an excellent dinner. Mr. Charles Hollister, assistant professor of political science at the University and Mrs. Hollister were the guests of honor. Mr. Hollister, who received his doctor's degree at the University of Pennsylvania the following day, gave a slide illustrated talk showing the campus, the old familiar landmarks as well as the new innovations, Homecoming and Alumni Day festivities.

The committee in charge of the meeting included Mrs. Madison, Dr. Lois Henneberger '43, Mr. Daniel Davis '22, Mr. Herbert Swartz '49, and Mrs. Howard Meminger (Dorothy Blix '38).

We hope that all the alumni in this area will keep the Club in mind and come and join us next year.

DOROTHY BLIX MEMINGER '38,
Secretary

SUNBURY—Fifty-one members and guests of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sunbury met on February 25 in the Cypress Room of the Neff Hotel to celebrate Bucknell's 111th birthday.

A highlight of the evening was the cutting of the birthday cake by Mrs. Maude Moisson and Harold V. Leshar, both of the Class of '05.

Speaker of the evening was a loyal Bucknellian, Henry Peters '39, soccer and tennis coach. He gave an interesting resumé of recent changes on the campus and spoke of future needs of the University.

Musical numbers were presented by Miss Virginia Cruikshank, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson Mertz and Mrs. Willard Zimmerman.

C. Bruce Rossiter, Assistant Alumni Secretary, was present and brought greetings from the University.

The following officers were elected for the 1957-58 year: Willard D. Zimmerman '37, president; Roger S. Haddon '47, vice president; Sigmund A. Stoler '37, treasurer; and Helen E. Barrow '42, secretary.

A delicious dinner was served by George Neff '49 and Harold Neff '48, owners of the hotel.

New officers and dinner guests of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York, February 2, 1957, West York Inn, York. Front Row, Left to Right: Professor Anthony A. Krzywicki '48, the guest speaker; Miss Ann Connelly '54, executive council; Miss Peggy Deardorf '52, historian; James C. Kingsley '34, executive council; and Mr. Henry C. Farrell '55, an instructor at Bucknell. Second Row: Mr. Russell R. Boyer '36, executive council; Mr. Levere Leese '34, retiring president; Miss Jean Uhler '55, president; Mr. C. Martin Neff '42, treasurer; and Mr. Emerson Jenkins '25, Bison Club representative. Third Row: Mr. Lloyd S. Hoffman '32, adviser; Mr. James F. Favino '34, executive council; Mr. Paul Garrett '27, executive council; and Mr. Harry F. Andrews '19, song leader.

YORK—The Bucknell Alumni Club of York held its annual dinner meeting at the West York Inn on February 2, 1957, with forty-two members and guests attending.

The president Levere M. Leese '34 presided. Rev. Warren A. Swank '44 gave the invocation and Harry Andrews '19 provided the musical entertainment during the evening.

Prof. Anthony A. Krzywicki '48 and his wife, and Instructor Henry C. Farrell '55 of the Bucknell faculty were our guests. Prof. Krzywicki spoke to us about the history of the economics department and also of items of current interest at Bucknell.

Mr. and Mrs. James Favino (Gladys Zarfoss '35) and Mr. James Kingsley '34 served on the committee for the dinner.

RUSSELL R. BOYER '36,
Acting Secretary

JOHNSTOWN—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Johnstown, on February 5 at the Fort Stanwix Hotel, held a dinner party commemorating Bucknell's 111th birthday. Mr. D. Paul Souders, assistant professor of mathematics at Bucknell was the guest speaker.

New officers elected were George V. Bellak '24, president; Dr. D. R. W. Shupe '39, vice president; and Mrs. Thomas J. Weible (M. Helen Matthews '18), secretary-treasurer.

WILLIAM F. GIBSON '40,
President

LANCASTER—Recovering from a "snowed-out" February 1 meeting, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster rescheduled a Bucknell birthday party on February 27 at Dissinger's Old Mill in Lancaster. Approximately 25 Alumni and guests were in attendance to hear "Buck" Shott, Alumni Secretary, discuss Bucknell, past and present.

Following a fine meal a brief business meeting was held at which time officers were elected for the coming year. Elected to the presidency was Lewis M. McGlinchey '41. Donald H. Betty '50, retiring president, was elected vice president, while Ted Simpson '52, and William S. Reitz, Jr. '51, were elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

Following the meeting the club members moved on to the Lancaster Armory to see the fine Bucknell basketball team whip the Franklin and Marshall cagers by a score of 81 to 58, and thus bring to a close a very enjoyable evening.

LOCK HAVEN—Twenty-nine Bucknellians and friends attended the Bucknell birthday dinner of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven held at the Locks in Lock Haven, on Saturday, February 9, 1957, at 6:30 p. m.

Rear Admiral Elliott B. Strauss, U. S. N., Retired, Director of Engineering at Bucknell, spoke on the subject "How An International Defense Organization Works."

Lucile G. Scullen '26 was elected president for the coming year, Herbert C. Hinebaugh '39, vice president, and Gloria Haggerty Miller '44, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. George W. Pedlow, Jr. (Marian Pursley '37), Mrs. Mack C. Ricker (Sarah Beck '29), Robert L. Hulsizer '21 and Dominic A. Zanella '33 were elected directors; and Lucile G. Scullen and Mrs. M. E. Haggerty (Olive M. Long '12) were chosen as delegates and George F. B. Lehman '25 and Robert L. Hulsizer as alternates, to the Bucknell Annual Assembly in June.

GLORIA H. MILLER '44,
Secretary-Treasurer

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—A most successful meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Club of North Jersey was held at the Friar Tuck Inn in Cedar Grove, N. J., April 5th. Though a dismal and foggy night, one hundred and fifty stalwart Bucknellians came forth to give us a record attendance.

Always a welcome guest, Buck Shott urged those in retraining classes to return to the campus on June 8th.

Charles Farrow reported that he had received letters from John Bank and Paul Troast who were unable to attend.

Wayne Knouse, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of nominees for the coming year. All the present officers were nominated for an other term; Charles Farrow, president; Peter Weidenbacher, vice president; William Davenport, treasurer; Anne Bartow, secretary.

This slate was passed unanimously.

It was with great pleasure that our program chairman, Bob List, presented our speaker, President Odgers, whose talk "Academic Touchdowns at Bucknell" covered the accomplishments (touchdowns) of the past ten years and outlined the hopes for the next ten years.

JEAN N. WALDNER '46,
Secretary Pro Tem

PACIFIC NORTHWEST—The Pacific Northwest Club met on March 26, 1957, at the Edmond Meany Hotel in Seattle, Washington. There were twenty people present to greet Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Dean of Women at Bucknell.

Following dinner there was a short business meeting. New officers of the club were elected. They are: president, Thomas A. Child, Jr., '50; and secretary, Miss Carol M. Cleaves '52.

Dean Stevenson featured the meeting with her very excellent report on the current Bucknell picture. At the conclusion of her speech there were many questions which she very graciously answered. We were all captured by her charm.

JAMES A. EGLY '42,
Retiring President

PHILADELPHIA — Saturday evening, February 2, one hundred and eighty-three Bucknellians and their friends gathered at the Union League for our Annual Dinner. Dr. C. Willard Smith, the guest speaker, charmed and amused us. Mr. and Mrs. John Karatus entertained us with several songs. The dinner was delicious and the renewing of friendships rewarding.

Those Bucknellians who want a gay evening of fun and dancing plan to attend our Spring Dance, Saturday, May 18, at the Merion Tribute House, Merion, Pa.

ALICE ROBERTS '24, Secretary

PROVIDENCE—Cake, ice cream, coffee and an enjoyable time were had by the Providence Area Alumni and friends attending the Bucknell birthday party on Sunday afternoon, February 10th at the home of Gene and June Matthews.

At the business meeting, Gene Matthews '47, was elected president to succeed Rev. Kenneth Dannenhauer '41. Susan Cady Mangione '55, was elected secretary.

Plans were formulated for the Alumni to approach the local high schools through the guidance teachers with information and pamphlets on Bucknell. The date for the annual outing to be held at Goddard Park, Warwick, Rhode Island, was set for June 15.

SUSAN CADY MANGIONE '55,
Secretary

WASHINGTON—On February 7 the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C., celebrated Bucknell's 111th birthday by attending the Bucknell Men's Glee Club concert held in the Calvary Baptist Church. Prior to the concert the club members had a social get-together in the church parlors at which time a huge birthday cake and coffee were enjoyed. Rev. Clarence Cranford '29, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Cranford were the hosts. In attendance at the concert were over 160 Bucknellians, parents, and guests.

THACHER '41, RUSSELL

A Break in the Clouds

J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia 1956

Russell Thacher, Bucknell alumnus of the Class of 1941, has interpreted the dilemmas of many of the world's younger persons in his new novel called A Break in the Clouds, published April 24 by J. B. Lippincott Company.

A Break in the Clouds centers on four days in the life of Rick Dedrick, and they are the most important he has ever known. Home on leave from the Navy Air Corps, he is awaiting a hearing which will determine whether he has been responsible for the death of a flight instructor. He is torn with feelings of guilt and desire to be understood, and his ultimate struggle is to find his place in society, with complete honesty to himself and to those around him.

Russell Thacher made up his mind at the age of twelve to be a writer, an ambition that developed through his years in the Hackensack public schools, and then at Bucknell and New York Universities. His writing career was interrupted by service in the U. S. Navy from 1941 through 1945. Most of that period was spent as the skipper of an LST in the Pacific, and he participated in such engagements as Guadalcanal, Saipan, and Iwo Jima.

Mr. Thacher's first novel, The Captain, appeared in 1951, followed by The Tender Age. Since 1946 he has been an editor with Omnibook, and is now the editor of its newest venture, Books Abridged.

Mr. Thacher does his writing at night in his home on West End Avenue, where he lives with his wife and two sons, in Ridge-wood, New Jersey, just a short distance from his native town of Hackensack.

KEPLER '50, REV. JAMES H.

The Jordan Beachhead

Exposition Press, Inc., New York 1956

It is very difficult for a teacher to review a book written by one of his former students. The tendency is to read either too much or too little into the work reviewed. I enjoyed reading The Jordan Beachhead written by the Rev. James H. Kepler. It is not a gripping story, yet it aroused and maintains reader interest very well indeed.

What is Mr. Kepler trying to say in his book? Manifestly, he is not primarily concerned with writing history. The historical critic would have a field day in pointing out errors or very debatable items which the author without hesitation uses. Mr. Kepler elects to follow the chain of events as presented in the Fourth Gospel, rather than that recorded in the three Synoptic Gospels. This is entirely defensible, if his purpose is other than historical. He certainly uses some historical incidents in his story but he does not hesitate to use them creatively to suit his own purpose. As in all such "historical novels," if the novel is accepted, the tendency of the casual reader is to accept the events as validated history. And I do not believe Mr. Kepler is primarily concerned with biblical exegesis. He quotes many passages from the King James Version of both Testaments. But these are expositional rather than interpretive. There is some romance in the story, but it is quite incidental. If there is anything striking about the romance, it is its spontaneity, wholesomeness, and spirituality. It would not cause a flutter of excitement among contemporary sophisticates.

What, then, is Mr. Kepler trying to say? I believe he has a cause to support. It is a cause which is worthy and pertinent at any time, but it is of extreme significance in our

Phi Beta Kappa

Thirteen seniors and one junior were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national academic honorary, at the initiation ceremony and dinner held at the University on April 30.

The newly elected seniors included: Sarah L. Botsai, Pittsburgh; Mary E. Crocker, Elmira, N. Y.; Elizabeth J. C. Gowland, Haverford; Janet E. Heineman, Haddonfield, N. J.; Evelyn L. Hickox, Pittsburgh; Diane L. Horton, New Milford; Anna K. A. Kerschner, Sunbury; Allan R. Larrabee, Great Neck, N. Y.; Carolyn M. Meyer, Lewistown; Marion A. Schmidt, Lewisburg; Phillipa C. Wehle, Philadelphia; Barbara J. Wilkes, Silver Spring, Md.; and Carolyn U. Woodcock, Haddonfield, N. J.

Robert B. Taylor, the only junior to be selected this year, is from Monongahela.

Dr. Dexter Perkins of Cornell University, noted teacher and authority on international affairs delivered the annual address which was entitled "A Democratic Foreign Policy: Advantages and Disadvantages."

world. And it is of peculiar import because of the scene in which it is laid. For the author is making a heavy underscoring of the fact that unselfish and sacrificial love for all of one's fellows, regardless of race, faith, or nation, is the only basis for a decent society and the only hope of salvation for individual men or for nations. And this he understands to be the core of the teaching of Jesus as well as the meaning of his messiahship.

This is a novel "with a purpose" in which the characters are so modernized that the reader is at times startled. Andrew, Simon, John, Mark and Jesus use the terms of contemporary American speech. This makes for popular appeal. It also emphasizes the fact that these New Testament characters were real men, both in their individual lives and in their collective enterprises. The very title of the book, The Jordan Beachhead, is an indication of the modernization of the story. The term "beachhead" signifies to us a military invasion. That is just what the story is not about! But the novel is very worth reading. The men and women in the old and beloved story come alive. And the underlying and often repeated theme is still mankind's one real hope.

Taught by the Master

Broadman Press

The book Taught by the Master published by Broadman Press, is a collection of lectures to a Leadership Training School held annually in the District of Columbia sponsored by the Federation of Churches.

The book deals with something of the method of Jesus' approach to people as well as the purpose for which He felt He had come, as indicated by His own reference to His work. In the day when so many voices are clamoring for attention and so many authoritarian movements are seeking to impose themselves on the minds of men, the book contends that we need to listen again to the voice of the Master, and the teachings from which have flowed our concepts of the worth of the individual, and the freedom of man. The book discusses His purpose, something of His concept of God, His perception of man, His idea of the Kingdom of God and His call to discipleship. It is written in somewhat of a devotional mood and is written not for the theological experts but primarily for people who work as laymen in church schools.

LETTERS

Last year I made a gift, a memorial to the girls of my class all of whom are gone now except myself. This year I want it to be a memorial gift for the various members of my family.

Wish my bank account were such that I could add several ciphers to the amount given but since I cannot, I am glad to send the smaller amount thinking of all the happiness the dear ones had when at Bucknell or the University at Lewisburg as it was called when my father went there not long after the college was established. He was in attendance there when the whole college (faculty included) turned out to take part in the Civil War. At eighty years of age my loveliest memories are of the many wild flowers one could find on the campus in early spring and also the beauty of the Chapel exercises in Bucknell Hall.

Good luck in the canvass this year.

Sincerely,

GERTRUDE STEPHENS DOWNS '99

SYRACUSE—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Syracuse celebrated their Alma Mater's 111th birthday anniversary on February 2 at MARTIN'S in North Syracuse. Thirty-five club members and guests were in attendance.

One might expect the weather to be a factor in determining the success of the turnout, but over the years, we find just as many gathered for the final count on stormy weekends (and even more, at times), than on fair-weathered ones. We wish to thank all our members for their fine effort.

The pleasant fellowship and renewal of contacts highlighted the occasion for all, the big added attraction being the speaker, John C. Hayward, Dean of Men at Bucknell.

Attending as guests were three area high school seniors and their parents. Dean Hayward's comments on his personal reactions, satisfactions, and future unreserved confidence in Bucknell—past, present and future, as it were—left a comfortable, yet challenging "glow" to an evening always very well-spent.

This presented a worthwhile opportunity to all, from "prospectives" to area-grads of all degrees of age and rank, to get acquainted, from '56ers to our honored oldest, Dr. John F. Hummer, pictured, who likes to designate his ranks as "very."

The dinner was presided over by President Ernest S. Cramer '38 and committees including Mrs. Cramer, Mrs. Clovis Sleeth (Eleanor M. Lindell '41), Dr. John Hummer '08 and Prof. William LeMon '54. Mrs. Sleeth and Mrs. Cramer handled dinner arrangements, including decorations, a beautiful cake with Bucknell's crest on a slanted top layer in appropriate colors, etc. Prof. LeMon, Dr. Hummer and Mr. Cramer reported as a nominating committee a slate of officers for the coming year, with voting duly moved and accepted on the slate as follows: president, R. Emory Smith, Jr. '50; vice president, Ralph F. Lowe '50; treasurer, William LeMon, Jr. '54; and secretary, Marie S. Amish '37. All officers are Syracuse residents.

The treasurer's report paved the way for a motion to send our check to the Alumni Fund for $25.00. This would take care of all the "excess" left after expenses—a standard procedure here.

The meeting was hastily but reluctantly adjourned by new President Smith, as a check of the time spread disbelieved that it could already be past 10:30. A sure sign of a good meeting, we hope. It was gratifying to officers and committee members to hear it said over and again, "I wouldn't have missed it."

MARIE S. AMISH '37, Secretary

TRIPLE CITIES — Bucknellians and guests gathered on February 9 at the Hotel Frederick in Endicott to celebrate Bucknell's 111th birthday. Twenty-three persons were in attendance to hear Francis "Dutch" Fairchild '33 speak on his part in the canvassing of material in the Engineering School at I. B. M. Alex Alexander '43 spoke briefly on the subject of football.

New officers elected were Robert Benjamin '51, president; Douglas Burt '42, vice president; and Jerry Wagner '40, secretary-treasurer.

SAMUEL W. BERNSTEIN '33, President

SOUTH CAROLINA—On Friday, February 15th, the South Carolina Bucknellians met informally and celebrated Bucknell's birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sonnichson '48 (Trudy Hogg '50). There were eight present: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mendes '44 (Ruth Smith '44), Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roll '50, Mr. and Mrs. William Scheible '48 (Audrey Bruce '47), and the host and hostess.

After a short business meeting a pleasant social hour followed with delicious refreshments being served.

Anita and Don Walker '40 will have charge of our next meeting which will be held in May.

Even though many South Carolinians could not be present for the meeting we were glad to hear from them.

AUDREY BRUCE SCHEIBLE '47, Chairman

SOUTH JERSEY — The South Jersey Bucknell Alumni Club celebrated Bucknell's 111th birthday with a dinner meeting February 15 at Silver Lake Inn. A grand gathering of seventy Bucknellians enjoyed the tasty smorgasbord and good dinner. The only business conducted during the dinner was the election of officers for the next two years. Those elected were Arthur Schalick '42, Vine-land, president; Dr. Robert Batten '49, Pitman, vice president; and Janet Bold Sholl '43, Haddonfield, secretary. Elected for a three year term to the executive committee were Richard Gray '42, Haddonfield, and Edward Glover '49, Vine-land. Already serving on the executive committee are Victor Scott '54, Salem, for two more years and Gladys C. Colohan '41, Gloucester City and John Jefferson '50, Haddonfield for one more year.

Retiring president, Robert Rink '41, introduced the speaker, Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Dean of the University. Dr. Hartzell said Bucknellians everywhere can take pride in the program of development currently underway—a program that has seen a new science building, a new men's dormitory, a new indoor swimming pool added to the campus and a new recreation center at Cowan. Also the remodeling of a number of older buildings. Taylor Hall, for example, was remodeled recently at a cost many times greater than the original construction cost. There is pressing need for a new women's dormitory, a social science building, a chapel, and another men's dormitory. There are other needs, too; endowment income for faculty salaries, research grants from government and industry, scholarships and fellowships, and regular giving to the Alumni Fund. Perhaps the greatest contribution a Club like ours can make is to seek out and encourage good students to attend Bucknell.

We are looking forward to seeing more of our Bucknell friends at our next event, a family picnic.

JANET BOLD SHOLL '43, Secretary

PITTSBURGH—The Western Pennsylvania alumni group elected its new slate of officers for 1957 early in December and mapped plans for increased activity for the new year. The following officers were elected: Jack Bailey '53, president; Bob Waddell, Jr. '50, vice president; Wayne Harrison '51, treasurer; and Al Foster '48, secretary.

Due to the rugged winter weather in such hilly terrain, the club was forced to cancel plans for its celebration of the University's birthday party in February. The event will be held May 24 at Penn-Lincoln Hotel.

Football Coach Harry Lawrence spoke to our Friday luncheon in the Kaufmann Store dining room in February and outlined prospects for next season. Robert Houser brought two outstanding Carnegie High School football players to lunch along with their high school principal. These weekly luncheons are open to all Alumni who might happen to be in Pittsburgh on Friday. Women are cordially invited also.

An average of 15 to 20 graduates usually attend these enjoyable affairs and the attendance is on the increase. Among the social events carded are a spring dance May 24 and a freshman reception in September.

ALLAN G. RITTER

To a man who has practiced law in Los Angeles during the time of its phenomenal growth and development (since 1913), one would think that the legal practice would be an all-consuming interest, but not so with Allen G. Ritter ("A. G." to most of his friends.) While still actively engaged in law, "A. G." today devotes considerable time and talent to the various Masonic organizations of his city. Serving as Potentia of Al Malaikah Temple in 1936 is just one of the many important offices he has held. As a member of the original Shriners Hospital Corporation which administered the raising of funds, purchase of land, construction of the building, and installation of equipment, he has labored for the Los Angeles unit of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children. When the hospital was completed he became a member of the Board of Governors and served as chairman of that board in 1956.

Kappa Sigma fraternity has also been close to his heart and he has served as national president in 1937 and is now chairman of the board of trustees of the fraternity's national endowment fund. Believe it or not, his membership in Kappa Sigma once saved a man's life. This is the way it was reported in the daily press.

"If it were not for the fact that Emil Hurja statistical wizard of the Democratic National committee was an ardent member of his college fraternity, Kappa Sigma, he would have been drowned in the airplane that crashed in San Francisco bay the other day."

"Hurja was in Los Angeles, had purchased a ticket on the plane which crashed, when he met Allen G. Ritter, a high officer in Kappa Sigma. Ritter persuaded him to stay over and take the night train to San Francisco. That evening all passengers in the plane were drowned"

"A. G." holds memberships in the bar associations—American, California, and Los Angeles, and he is listed in "Who's Who in America."

Mrs. Ritter is the former Ila Coombe, who was a Kappa Kappa Gamma at Stanford and a happy marriage was the fulfillment of a campus romance. The couple have a daughter who also attended Stanford as a Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is now Mrs. Edwin Ross, living in Houston, Tex. There are two Ross sons, of whom, naturally, Grandfather and Grandmother Ritter are very proud.

Allen has contributed many colorful chapters to the history of the Masonic

Three aspects of scholarship are revealed by the four articles in the March issue of The Bucknell Review. L. Quincy Mumford, Librarian of Congress, deals with the primary sources of scholarship, manuscripts, in an address delivered at the University last fall; Professor Philip L. Harriman, of Bucknell's Psychology Department, gives us an historical survey, derived from a variety of sources, ancient and modern, of "The Liberal Arts Tradition in Higher Education"; and Professor Travis Summersgill, of Parker College, and Mr. Philip Withim, of the Bucknell Department of English, show us scholarship concentrating on particular plays and poems.

Mr. Mumford's lecture, "Some Remarks on the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress," is primarily descriptive. The Manuscript Division serves as a store house for "source material for the study of the history and civilization of the United States"; it includes "about 15 million papers, and the rate of increase is roughly half a million a year." "From the middle of the eighteenth century to the present day, the Library's collections are believed to be the best in existence," and countless scholars continually draw on these resources to increase our knowledge of the past.

What is the liberal arts tradition? Is it a balanced, interacting group of studies, a curriculum, or is it an attitude toward learning and, ultimately, toward life? Professor Harriman provides us with a wealth of opinion on both sides of the question, and then he proceeds to argue very persuasively for the latter point of view, the view of "Abelard and all other great educational reformers," that when the liberal arts are conceived as a system of forms and norms, of discipline and learning by rote, then men have smothered the spirit of free inquiry and of the unimpeded use of reason and have betrayed the tradition that would best "conserve the wisdom of the past . . . present it meaningfully to modern students . . . create zeal for continued study, and . . . inculcate social and ethical responsibility." In this article, scholarship brings us up against a real contemporary problem.

Fairy tales, German plays, and lost Italian novels have been suggested as sources for Shakespeare's The Tempest. Now, Mr. Travis Summersgill, in "Structural Parallels in Eastward Ho and The Tempest," argues that the comedy Eastward Ho, written in collaboration by George Chapman, John Marston, and Ben Jonson, which appeared several years prior to Shakespeare's play, has, in the character types and action, certain resemblances to The Tempest. His article adds to our knowledge of the variety of material that Shakespeare typically used and reminds us once again of the power of the imagination that could fuse so many diverse elements into a unified whole.

"A Prosodic Analysis of Milton's Seventh Sonnet," by Mr. Withim, carefully scrutinizes the metrical devices and sound patterns that Milton used to reinforce his meaning in his sonnet on his twenty-third birthday. This short essay well exemplifies how the scholar can reveal hitherto unnoticed riches in a familiar work and indicates what a vital part the craftsmanship of the poet plays in the success of his poem.

Degrees Conferred Exceed 15,000

August 20, 1851, was an important date in Bucknell's early history, for it was on that day that the University at Lewisburg first exercised its charter right to confer degrees. Seven candidates were presented with diplomas attesting to their new status as Bachelors of Arts, and an honorary doctorate was conferred on Horatio Gates Jones. The commencement exercises lasted all day, included an oration by each member of the graduating class, and were topped off by a commencement dinner.

That class would have been dwarfed by the class of 1956. The 502 candidates who were graduated last year received 404 bachelors', 88 masters', and 10 honorary degrees. The class of 1949, with 779 earned degrees conferred, is still the largest on Bucknell's roster.

During the first half century degrees were granted only in liberal arts, philosophy, and science. Since 1907, when the first engineering degrees were conferred, the number of professionally trained graduates has increased steadily. Approximately half of the Bucknellians graduated in recent years have degrees in engineering, education, commerce and finance, or music.

The number of degrees conferred by the University now totals 15,401. Of these 12,365 are baccalaureate and 2,572 advanced earned degrees, with the remaining 464 honorary degrees. The past five years have accounted for 2,535 . . . a fifth as many as in the preceding hundred years. Perhaps it is just as well that a commencement oration is no longer required of each graduate!

Death of Albert W. Johnson '96

Death came at 84 for Albert W. Johnson '96, an alumnus who rose from a log-cabin birth to become a federal judge. Judge Johnson, like all men of action, was a controversial figure in many respects. His record as a man and as a judge was open for all to see, and his career reflects many contributions to his home county and the University he loved and served until the time of his death.

After studying law under the late Andrew A. Leiser, Sr. '69, he was admitted to the Union County bar in 1898. He was elected to an assembly term from Union County in 1901. In 1911, Johnson was named president judge of the Union-Snyder County judicial district and in 1925 President Calvin Coolidge appointed him judge for the Middle District Federal Court of Pennsylvania.

His judicial conduct while on the federal bench was the subject in 1945 of an inquiry by a House subcommittee on the judiciary.

He resigned, subsequently was indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the government, and in 1947 was acquitted.

In his career as a federal judge he pioneered in the field of probation, and as a county judge he practiced his firm belief in prohibition by refusing to issue liquor licenses in Union and Snyder Counties.

He served his Class of 1896 as president for many years before his death and was a member of the Board of Trustees of the University from 1919 until 1944. He also served as a faculty member for a number of years. He was graduated summa cum laude in 1896, later received his Master of Arts degree from Bucknell, and was awarded an honorary doctorate in civil laws in 1927. Honorary degrees were awarded him also by Juniata, Albright, and Lebanon Valley Colleges.

Always a believer in the benefits of a well-balanced college athletic program, he was a member of the Bison Club and the Quarterback Club of Lewisburg at the time of his death.

Deceased was a member of Christ Lutheran Church, Lewisburg, where he formerly served as Sunday School superintendent. He was also past national and state president of the P.O.S. of A; a charter member of the Lewisburg Lions Club; a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity; a member of the Odd Fellows; past president of the Union County Bar Association and a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

His first wife, the former Dora Miller, died in 1909. From that marriage there were five children, all Bucknellians: Mrs. Carl A. Schug (Alice S. Johnson '17), Williamsport; Miller A. Johnson, Esq. '20, who died in 1950; Donald M. Johnson, Esq. '24; Albert W. Johnson, Esq. '25, of Roaring Springs; and Paul E. Johnson, Esq. '32, Mifflinburg. He married the former Mary Cadman Steek in 1913, and from this marriage six children survive, five Bucknell graduates. They are Capt. Frederick W. Johnson, Fairfield, Wash.; Mrs. Edward W. Peterson (Mary Louise Johnson '40), New York, N. Y.; William S. Johnson '41, Berwick, David C. Johnson '48, Lewisburg, married to the former Victoria E. Reid '47; J. VanWirt Johnson '52, Berwick, married to the former Berda J. Stout '53; and Mrs. Alan B. Sigler (Diana C. Johnson '55).

Funeral services were held in Christ Lutheran Church, and burial took place in the Lewisburg Cemetery.

Frank Simpson Dies at 84

One of Bucknell's great teachers passed away with the death of Frank Monroe Simpson on Wednesday, April 10, at Ithaca, while on a visit to his son, James R. Simpson '31.

Prof. Simpson was born November 8, 1872, at Clifford, and was graduated from Bucknell with a B.S. degree in 1895. Three years later, he received an M.S. degree at the University. For several years he studied in the summer sessions at Cornell University.

While a student at Bucknell, he joined the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Following his graduation, he taught for three years at Hall Institute at Sharon and for two years at Delaware Academy, Delhi, New York.

He returned to Lewisburg in 1900 to teach science in the old Bucknell Academy, and in 1902 joined the faculty of the University as instructor of physics. He became an assistant professor of physics in 1904 and professor in 1908, serving in that capacity until his retirement in 1942. In July, 1943, he returned to the classroom to help take care of the Navy V-12 program, retiring permanently in November, 1944.

In recognition of his achievements, he was elected a foundation member of the Bucknell chapter of Phi Beta Kappa in 1940.

Throughout his career he occupied a prominent place in the business affairs of Lewisburg. He was made a director of the Citizens Electric Company in 1913, vice president in 1923, and president in 1931. He became chairman of the board in 1954. Simpson had been president of the Union National Bank of Lewisburg since 1925 and was president of the Lewisburg Gas Company. During his residence in Lewisburg he served on the borough school board and as an officer of the Beaver Memorial Methodist Church.

He was married to the former Mary E. Wilson, Bucknell Institute '95, who died in 1937. Surviving are three children, Dr. Geddes W. Simpson '29, a member of the faculty of the University of Maine; James R. Simpson '31, a member of the business staff of Cornell University; and Helen, now Mrs. Cole S. Brenbeck MA'41, whose husband was at one time a member of the Bucknell University faculty.

Listed as a PATRON of the University, Professor Simpson had a great distinguished career as an interested and loyal Alumnus of his Alma Mater. He had served as president of his Class of 1895, president of the Emeritus Club and had been a donor of valuable documents to the Bucknell Archives now housed in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

Professor Simpson will be sadly missed by literally thousands of his former students. The condolences of his many friends and associates are extended to the surviving children and grandchildren.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Dr. Frank F. Pierson '91, died January 23, 1957, at his home in Wilmington, Del. One of the last doctors of the horse-and-buggy days, he had been practicing on a limited scale for the past 10 years but had made regular rounds of patients less than two weeks before his death. His wife died May, 1956, at the age of 86. The Piersons had seven children, all of whom survive and to whom our sympathy is extended.

Mrs. George Shorkley (Sara Merriman '95) who is the only living woman graduate of Bucknell Academy passed her 83rd birthday in January. She looks forward to the news in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS and reads it eagerly. Her home is at 310 S. Sixth St., Mt. Vernon, Wash. Dr. Shorkley '92, died in 1945.

Mrs. Fay L. Billings (Susan Jones '96) died January 22, 1957. Among her survivors is Fay K. Billings '43, a son. Our sympathy is extended to her family.

Mrs. Robert G. Slifer (Edna S. Shires '00) has joined the ranks of great-grandmothers with the birth, on February 5, of Ellen Dana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Scott '54 (Diane C. Slifer '54) and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Slifer '26 (Caryl Dutton '27).

You will be saddened to learn of the death of Dr. Mary Belle Harris. Please see page 5 for the special tribute to her.

A Morris-Minibus (pictured above) will transport Emeritus Club members to the Annual Alumni Reunion Luncheon and to the club social on Saturday, June 8, when many club members return for the weekend reunion festivities. The bus is being provided through the courtesy of Mr. Lawrence W. Lawson '22.

Plan now to return June 7-10, and join in the Reunion fun!

04 MR. HARRY E. McCORMICK 26 South Third St. Lewisburg, Pa.

Our condolences are extended to Dr. Louis W. Robey on the death of his wife, the former Effie Derr, in Bryn Mawr Hospital on April 6. Mrs. Robey was a prominent golf official and was formerly president of the Philadelphia Women's Golf Association and chairman of the Women's Committee of the U. S. Golf Association.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Philadelphia and was active in church and civic work.

Funeral services were held in Philadelphia followed by burial in Muncy.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Yes, sir, Zug will be there with bells on. It's going to be tough for him, since he has a conflicting appointment with a Masonic Blue Lodge into which he was initiated just fifty years ago, but he thinks he can make it by flying. That's the spirit, Zug. He can't afford to miss the Masonic meeting, since he and Senator Duff are the only survivors of those initiated into the newly organized Masonic lodge in June, 1907. Zug and his Missis are very busy people; they are both in business trying to keep up with doctors' bills caused by Mrs. Zug's injury in an auto accident more than three years ago. If you need to have your glasses changed, see Zug (adv.)

I fear this chicken will miss it, as the air fare from southern Mexico to Lewisburg is mountainous. Vera and I are now old residents in Guadalajara, having been here more than a month. (Of course the folks whose ancestors came here in the sixteenth century would say we're newcomers.) But we are quite at home in this mile-high city, which has the climate and the sunshine. Chileans used to say Santiago has the climate California claims to have. That is certainly true here, and folks from California, Oregon, and Washington are learning it, since they are driving down by hundreds over the new highway from Nogales. The city is a mixture of the colonial and the mid-twentieth century styles of architecture; the inhabitants are hustlers, running faster than New Yorkers in their eagerness to meet appointments. The university at which we teach is very interesting; it has had a checkered career, and is still subject to religious and political pressures which do not aid the educational process. But the students are eager to learn English. My new educational slogan is: Every American from Alaska to Tierra del Fuego must be bilingual; he must know the two most important American languages—Spanish and English. Of course you old birds are too decrepit to do so, but the generation now in the schools must do so. Be sure your grandchildren get the word; otherwise, I'll get after you.

Mary Stanton Speicher wants old '07 to hold its place in the Fund drive. So, after you have reserved enough to get back to the reunion, send in that dollar you had saved for church on Easter Sunday and make Mary happy.

I've asked Buck Shott to have someone compile the class biographies for the reunion; when you get that questionnaire send it back to Buck instanter. And make your reservations for the reunion "qweeck." Don't miss the afternoon with Paul Stolz; he's promised to have the village ambulance parked beside the house.

09 MRS. HOWARD HEADLAND (Sarah E. Walters) 3911 First Ave., N. St. Petersburg 2, Fla.

Our class president, Mrs. F. E. Shupe (Myrtle Walkinshaw), "Walkie" to you, has moved again. This time to R. D. 3, Leechburg, where she and Mr. Shupe have built a ranch-type home on a property adjoining that of their daughter, Mrs. Chalsmer K. Brown (Charlotte '36). The other Shupe children, Virginia '34 (Mrs. Philip Ihrig), Pittsburgh, and Dr. David R. W. Shupe '39, Johnstown, live close by.

Mrs. Louis J. Velte (Charlotte Hulley) visited with Miss Iola B. Quandt recently. It was their first meeting in 50 years, as Iola left Bucknell to go to California in the spring of 1907. The visit was a "high light" for them both. Iola lives at 1443 21st St., Santa Monica, Calif., and Charlotte lives at 10799 Therman Grove Ave., Sunland, Calif.

John R. Bell retired from teaching accounting in the public schools of Youngstown, Ohio, and is now teaching at Youngstown University.

Mrs. Winnie Dickson Hardgrove toured Europe, covering 7 countries in 1955. Last summer she visited the Hawaiian Islands, touring all the islands. Later she spent some time in Mexico. She has done extensive traveling in the United States also. Sounds like a wonderful life!

Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur Gorton started on a ten-month tour of the world in February.

John C. (Heine) Bank and his wife, Agnes, have been enjoying the sunshine at Daytona Beach, Fla., this winter. They plan to return to their New Jersey home late in April. Loyal Bucknellian that he is, Heine is looking forward to getting back to the campus and greeting all friends in June.

1910 was well represented in Florida this winter. At the St. Petersburg Bucknell birthday luncheon on February 2, those of the class attending were John C. (Heine) Bank and Agnes, Mike McDonough and Mrs. McDonough, Ruby and Gurney Sholl, George Street and Margaret (Oberlin), and his brother, Reg (Carnegie Tech.), and the Earle Edwards who are permanent residents of the city. For the March 22 meeting in St. Petersburg Emily Lane Yoder came up from Sarasota and with the George Streets and your class reporter enjoyed meeting with other Bucknellians of the St. Petersburg area.

Emily Lane Yoder has been spending the winter in her Sarasota, Fla., home and has enjoyed studying art and painting during her free time.

Mrs. Ida Williams Seifert writes that she and her family have moved from Greensburg to West Hollywood, Fla., where she may be addressed at 6445 S. W. 11th St. She proudly claims four stepchildren, three children of her own, seventeen grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren. Can anyone in the class beat that record?

What if it isn't a regular reunion year: can't we have a "halfway mark" reunion for 1910 in June? Don't wait for our 50th: plan to be on campus June 7-10 this year!

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Build for yourself a strong box,
Fashion each part with care;
When it's strong as your hand can make it,
Put all your troubles there;
Hide there all thoughts of your failures,
And each bitter cup that you quaff;
Lock all your heartaches in it,
Then sit on the lid and laugh.

—BERTHA ADAMS BACKUS

Read the above very carefully, follow the instructions, stick your toothbrush in your pocket and head for Lewisburg, June 7-9.

Alberta and Patty Conner spent a day with Pop and me. Thought we could cover more territory per square inch by talking than by writing letters. After hashing over everything into the wee hours of the night, the next morning we went down to talk, plan, and argue with "Buck" Shott.

Do you know what? Coleman and Mrs. Harris, Charleston, W. Va., are the first ones to make reservations for the reunion.

"Rip" and Ruth Ruth have been at The Village Inn, Caramel, Calif., for several months. Will be back in April to help edit the Reunion Book. Correction! When Helen Ruth wrote me at Christmas time she said she was coming back for our reunion but might feel queer among so many grandparents (not grandchildren as reported in the last issue). So I suggested we collect all the grandchildren—she not only would feel queer but dizzy.

Congratulations are extended to Dr. Fred Iglar on the fine article written about him in The Crusader, an American Baptist magazine. Fred is now in his 40th year as a Baptist minister at the University of Pennsylvania and continues, through his Christian Association work, to counsel youths of all denominations. Fred refers to his work as a "ministry of opportunity."

Dr. Harry S. Everett has accepted the post of visiting professor of mathematics at the Pennsylvania State University. He has spent his entire life in the educational field and in his spare time has given nearly 7,000 public lectures—retirement is out of the question—he's too busy! He and Mrs. Everett (Nellie M. Follmer '12, '21) are making their home at 509 East Foster Ave., State College.

When you get any mail from Bucknell read it; don't throw it into the waste basket. Who knows? you might be endowed. This month you will receive reservation slips. Take care of them early. Don't expect a front seat if you wait till the last minute. In this issue of the ALUMNUS is another reservation slip. Send it back immediately. After obeying orders I'll see you on the Bucknell campus June 7-9 for a big reunion.

Hearing from the alumni office of Walter Edwards' planned retirement from the presidency of the Lehigh and New England Railroad Co. about May 1, I wrote him at his home in Bethlehem. His reply came from the Hotel Grenadier, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he and Mrs. Edwards were spending the winter months. "Walt" spent his freshman year with the 1912 class. The following summer he worked with an engineering corps of the B. & O. Railroad and remained for the next year, joining our class in the fall of 1910. Here follow parts of his letter: "After graduating from Bucknell and completing post-graduate work at Harvard, I returned to the B. & O. where, except for ten months in 1915 and 1916 when I was with the Interstate Commerce Commission, I served in various engineering capacities. In 1930 I resigned to become general superintendent of the Lehigh and New England Railroad Co. Ever since that time I have served the L. & N. E. as general superintendent, vice president and general manager, executive vice president and as president from 1947 to the present." Besides his job activities, Walter is a director of the Campbell Hall Connecting R. R. Co., the Bethlehem Globe Publishing Co. and the Bethlehem Club, and a trustee of St. Luke's Hospital of Bethlehem. Walter is a past president of Rotary and has been active in church and civic affairs of his community. After retirement he and Mrs. Edwards, the former Hazel Merryman, of Baltimore, plan to continue residence at 826 Tioga Ave., Bethlehem. Reporter Charlie and all '13ers rejoice with you in your coming leisure, "Walt."

Orwill (Red) Hawkins is serving as vice president of the eleven-member Board of Governors of the Sigma Chi Foundation, a charitable and educational corporation.

Dr. Rebekah Gibbons is now residing at 769 Antoinette Ave., Winter Park, Fla., where she has moved from her former home in North Carolina. Report is that a warmer climate was the attraction. Thanks to Delinda Potter for this bit of information, the first I have been able to offer about Miss Gibbons.

Occasionally one reads in the public press of legal cases tried before Judge Edward P. Little, Susquehanna County, not only in his own jurisdiction but also in other sections of the state where he is called to preside. His home is in Montrose.

A Lewisburg boy among our number "back in those college days" was H. Gundy Pawling. Unlike most of the rest of us whose labors took us elsewhere he chose to spend his life near "those 300 acres set apart" all Bucknellians hallow. Employed by the Lewisburg Chair and Furniture Co., he served for many years as a foreman in the fitting department up to his retirement in 1954. Now he remains busy observing and participating in activities on farms he and Mrs. Pawling own in the Lewisburg area. He works when he wishes, he says, and rests with abundant enthusiasm also. Two sons and a daughter, all married, and four grandchildren constitute Gundy's family. Mrs. Pawling was formerly Kathryn Oldt '12. It was a pleasant half hour spent with the Pawlings.

If you have had a change of address within the past half year, please notify me as I hope to prepare an up-to-date roster sometime this summer.

Robert J. Crane died at his home in Carmel, N. Y., on December 26, 1956. Mr. Crane joined the New York Central Railroad as a civil engineer in 1919, and was appointed chief engineer in 1953. He is survived by his wife, the former Eleanor Travis, a son and a daughter. Our sincere sympathy is extended to them.

Jesse E. Riley, superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School at Pruntytown, W. Va., recently attended a college conference at Alderson-Broddus College where he is presently a member of the board of trustees of that Baptist institution.

On January 29, Edna Whittam Glover sent word of the death of Dayton T. Corson, with a clipping from a Philadelphia newspaper. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, and three grandchildren.

We extend sincere sympathy to the families of Dayton T. Corson and Robert J. Crane.

Melville Beardsley is president of Beardsley, Inc., authorized carrier dealer (air conditioning) in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He is located at 2436 DelMar Place.

Matilda E. Bell is teaching foreign languages and speech in the DuBois Area Joint Senior High School.

Isabelle F. Bond has retired from the Williamsport High School faculty. She spent three years in the Milton schools prior to joining the Williamsport High School faculty where she also served as the dean of girls.

Having retired after 32 years at the Chevy Chase Baptist Church, Dr. Edward O. Clark is serving as interim pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, Silver Spring, Md. He is enjoying his retirement and his work and reports "having a wonderful time!" He and his wife (Eva Thayer '21) are still living at 3708 Livingston St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Carl E. Geiger has retired after 38 years as a member of the Peddie English department, 14 years of which he has served as head of the department. He will remain at the school as assistant to the headmaster and as such will open another chapter in his book of service to the Peddie School. Mrs. Geiger, who has been an employee of the institution since 1916 has retired from her position and will now devote her time to homemaking and to maintaining the customary open house for the Peddie students and returning alumni.

Rev. Fred R. Greninger died January 20, 1957, in Pittsburgh. Rev. Greninger was ordained in 1918 and served pastorates in Montoursville, Williamsport, and Altoona and served as chaplain for the National Lutheran Council before going to Pittsburgh. He is survived by his widow and four children to whom our sympathy is extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Erle M. Topham (C. Ray Spare '17) attended the Bucknell University birthday party in South Jersey in February at Silver Lake. They report meeting many old friends and having a fine time.

16 REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE
114 E. 188th St.
New York, N. Y.

A plaque for meritorious and unselfish duty in the field of football officiating was awarded to Charles Gubin by the Susquehanna Valley Football Officials Association in November, 1956. Charlie has been associated with football, as a player, coach and official, for over 50 years. He is the postmaster in Northumberland.

I sent a letter out to y' all and got two letters back pronto. Now let's hope that some more of you come across in like style for the next issue. We hope to see you in June. It is our Mary Ellen's '42 15th anniversary and she is setting great store at getting back with her class. She has a lovely little daughter by the name of Nancy and lives in Minneapolis, Minn.

Son, Eric, as we told you, soon becomes a Ph.D. from Purdue University. That makes our line-up of degrees in our family as follows: Ph.B., Ph.D., A.B., M.A., B.D., D.D., and Master of Nursing, Yale University. Notice to Ray Speare Topham: We are going to top you in the next issue, Ray. Boy, ain't we braggin', tho!

The following letter was received from H. H. Hann:

"Thank you for your recent letter requesting news about the members of the 1916 class. The one thing which stands out in my mind as a freshman was the friendship between you and Tilton.

After graduating from Bucknell I entered the employ of the New York, Ontario and Western Railway and have been with it ever since, except the 1½ years I spent in Armed Forces during World War I. I have been Chief Engineer since 1950.

Today is the last day that this Railway will be operated. We have about 500 miles of main track. This is probably the largest railroad which has been abandoned.

We have two children. Barbara graduated from Bucknell in 1943. She is living at Rockville Center and is employed by the Welfare Department of Nassau County. Joseph started at Bucknell, but left in his freshman year to go in the Armed Forces. He completed his course at Colgate and graduated in 1949. He has two children—6 and 4 years old. He is in the insurance business at Wurtsboro, N. Y.

I am undecided whether to retire on a pension, or whether to continue working as I have an offer to go with a short-line railroad up in Vermont.

I enjoyed the reunion in 1951, but was unable to get back for the reunion last year. It is nice to keep in touch with the various members of the class and it is always a pleasure to hear from them."

Dot Bunnell Schnure writes that she and Fred have just had a wonderful trip. Saw the boys in Johnstown and Pittsburgh and then picked up Fred's brother and wife in St. Louis from which spot they took in Hot Springs, Houston, San Antonio, Galveston, points in Florida and gosh knows where else. They met Wade and Winifred Earle on the trip and had a good chat. Dot and Fred since his retirement from Bethlehem Steel have taken up residence at Shapnack Fort, Wallpack Center, N. J. They talk like real gentry now.

J. Russell Snyder is retiring from the teaching profession in June, 1957, after devoting 39 years to the youth of America. Thirty-one years of the time was spent in Charleroi.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

We have learned of the death of Norman R. Hill which occurred on December 19, 1956. Norman started his career as a Baptist minister, then went into engineering and later into the insurance field in which he became one of the most successful men in America. He helped to organize the first Bucknell Alumni Club of Seattle and served as its first president. He was active in civic and church circles of the areas in which he lived. He is survived by his widow, the former Irma Jo Richmond and five children to whom our sympathy is extended.

S. Leroy Seemann of Pittsburgh is looking forward to the 40th reunion of his 20 class in June and hopes to see many of his classmates then.

Maude I. Witherson retired from teaching in 1955. After leaving Bucknell she received the Bachelor of Music Education degree from Northwestern University and Master of Music degree from Syracuse University and attended two summer sessions of the Christiansen Choral School. She has served as supervisor of music in the public schools of Pennsylvania at Portage, California, and Duquesne. She taught public school music methods at West Liberty State Teachers College in W. Va., and at Grove City College, Her home is at 402 Kennedy Ave., Duquesne.

This is the last chance to tell you about our reunion. Soon as you can, send for your reservation to the Alumni Office. They try to put the members of each class in rooms on the same floors, so it's like a houseparty. Be sure to come for the 7-8-9 if at all possible. Act now!

Mary Bubb Michael says she sent her list of activities to Pedy and can only add now that their son was married on February 22 to Patricia Tuthill, a Keuka College graduate. She said she enjoyed reading about all of us in this column.

Frances Hilgert Higgs spent several weeks in Florida and returned to teach 4th grade in West Conshohocken for the rest of the term.

Homer W. Teamer lives in Haverford and practices law in Philadelphia. We lost track of him and he of us for a while, but we hope things will be different from now on.

Philadelphia Alumni Club had a wonderful birthday party in February at the Union League. Our class was represented by Dick Thomas, Arthur Yon, Warner Squibb, and yours truly.

A delightful letter from Charles Siple of Hammonton, N. J., says that he enjoys reading about all his old classmates in the ALUMNUS. Charlie says he has sort of lost contact recently with the college but he has been influential in sending a few boys and girls to Bucknell. In the summer of 1954 he had a visit from Joe Dent '20 and Tommy Mangan '21 and they had a heap of fun going through old editions of Stars and Stripes, talking over old times and telling Joe how he and Tommy played on the championship basketball team of Paris and also in the AEF finals. In the Fall of '54 Charlie had a major operation and was compelled to retire from teaching after 20 years. Now that he is much better he is doing some substituting at the high school and has about 2 hours a day of tutoring in mathematics. His older son graduated from Princeton and the other one attended Penn State. Bucknell did not offer the courses they wanted. I remember when all four Sipleys, Charlotte '21, Louis '18, Margaret '20, and Charlie were at Bucknell at about the same time. Charlie's hobby is writing letters so why not write to him? I think he'll be back in June.

Charles Potter was in Florida when he received my note. "Come down to the land of sun, where, so they say, the old grow young and the young never grow old." He says it doesn't work so they'll be back in Jersey Shore in plenty of time for our reunion. Mrs. Potter was president of Bucknell Mothers' Club '40-'41. Their two sons attended Bucknell: Charles, M.D. '41, Jefferson '45, is practicing in Weatherly; Myron (Hap) '44, finished at Nebraska State Teachers College in '49 and now operates a farm at Cambridge, Neb., and teaches science in the high school there.

Glen Rogers taught school for eight years after graduation and then served as County Superintendent of Schools of Center County. He retired in 1946 and since that time has served as treasurer of Center County. Glen spends the winter months in Florida for his health, but will return in time for our reunion.

Alice Johnson Schug wants to urge all of you (with or without your families) to return for the reunion. She says you'll be delighted to see the growth and progress of our beloved Alma Mater. The changed old buildings and grounds, the new buildings, talking with old friends and comparing experiences, will give us a weekend of heart warming pleasure. There will be pleasant and comfortable accommodations on the campus for all of us. Be sure to come!

I have extended our sympathy to Alice on the death of her father, Judge Albert W. Johnson '96, which occurred just at the time she sent me the above letter. He will be greatly missed by all his friends in Lewisburg and at Bucknell.

See you June 7-8-9. Come on now—no excuses.

MRS. LAYTON E. KING

301 Broad St.
Montoursville, Pa.

Dear Classmates: Happy Springtime, and when you are doing the spring cleaning and come across the letter from me, just sit down and fill out the blanks and you will have one less piece of mail cluttering up your desk and I will have some information. Is it a deal?

Professor John S. Gold has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

Herbert C. Grice, Sr., has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

Helen Hamor (Mrs. Beaver Ficks) lives at Shevart Manor, Sunbury, R. D. 2. Helen writes that she played with the Milton Symphony Orchestra for twenty-three years. Before her marriage she taught piano, and for the past fourteen years she has been organist and choir director of the First Baptist Church in Sunbury.

Miriam Minch (Mrs. Charles H. Hall), Cliff Avenue Extension, Byram, Conn., wrote me a note when returning her request for news and I do appreciate hearing from you, Miriam. She writes that Byram is a part of Greenwich, but that they get their mail through the Post Office, N. Y., post office. Just a trifle confusing! Since graduation Miriam has taught in the high school at West Pittston, Keystone Academy, Factoryville, and in various schools on Long Island. Her husband has been retired for 15 years and his health not being good, Miriam has been busy looking after husband and home.

Mary Beatty (Mrs. Morris W. Derr), 212 E. 39th St. Latonia Station, Covington, Ky., lives the life of a busy minister's wife—church, Sunday School, auxiliary, Altar Guild, church suppers, bazaars, etc. Her mother, Mrs. Anna M. Beatty, lives with them. Mrs. Beatty was 94 on January 10, 1957, and is in good health. Mary reports.

Margaret Coates (Mrs. E. A. Hansen), lives at 165 Beechwood Drive, Packanack Lake, N. J., and teaches at Montclair, N. J. Since graduation she has taught at Point Pleasant Beach, N. J.; Flemington, N. J.; and has been at Montclair since 1926. She has taken additional work at Columbia, Cornell, Rochester and Montclair Teachers College, and expects to retire in 1958, following which they expect to live in Florida.

Really have lots of news this time and I surely do appreciate the letters that have come my way.

I mentioned early in the year that my brother, George, was spending several months on Staten Island and as a result both of us have had letters from Charles Sipley '17, brother of Lou '18. He told me that their sister, Charlotte '21, had passed away. He, Charles, is retired from teaching due to ill health, but he does substitute at times. Thanks for the nice letter, Charlie. George also writes that he has been taking an eight weeks U. S. Power Squadron Engine Course and recently was talking to another student and Pennsylvania was mentioned. The man said he knew a little about the state as he had gone to Bucknell, graduating in 1918. It was John Bennett from Monmouth, N. J.—he wrote us last year after he had retired from teaching and told us at that time of his love of boats. I can just imagine that the two had quite an evening.

Having no modesty where my family is concerned I must report that daughter Mary Elizabeth King (Cornell '51) is going to Peru on June 1 to spend three months doing research in textiles. She has received a grant from the American Philosophical Society. I am sure her mother is more excited than she is.

Once again, please write to me and remember, too, that we have a Reunion coming up in 1958, our FORTIETH. Let's make it a really big one!

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

Weber L. Gerhart, Jr. has been elected executive vice president of the Union National Bank of Lewisburg. Gerhart was chairman of Group Four, Pennsylvania Bankers Association last year and currently serves on the organization's council of administration and its trust development and nomination committee. He is a past president of the Union County Bankers Association and has been chief executive officer of the Union National Bank for a number of years. Gerhart is married to the former Sara M. Reed '28 and has one son.

Our class lost one of its most faithful members and the University one of its most faithful alumni in the death of Frank H. Riale on April 1st in Allentown. Frank had been employed for 33 years as chief chemist at the Allentown Converting Company.

Born in Williamsport, he graduated in chemical engineering and served for a short period with the Empire Companies in Bartlesville, Okla., and with National Silk Dyeing Company in Williamsport. He was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and served his University in Allentown as a director of fund drives on several occasions, and also as president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of the Lehigh Valley.

Frank was a member of the Christ Lutheran Church, the American Chemical Society, the American Association of Textile Chemists, the Lehigh Valley engineers club and was active in the affairs of the Red Cross and the Lehigh County Community Chest. He is survived by his wife, the former Mae Carr, to whom the deep sympathy of the University and the Class of 1919 is extended.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Death struck again when our class lost one of its most faithful members through the unexpected death of Arthur F. Gardner at his home in Winter Park, Fla. Art was spending his first winter in Florida and still maintained his home near Mifflinburg.

As a student, Art was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, the Glee Club, the L. Agenda board and played class football in his sophomore year. Following graduation he worked for a time as an assistant engineer with the Pennsylvania Railroad. Ill health prompted him to move to Arizona in 1927 and upon his recovery he remained there for some years as a citrus fruit grower. Upon his return to Pennsylvania, he became an agriculturalist and operated a farm near Mifflinburg.

He was a Mason, a member of the Moose, Kiwanis Club and American Legion. In University alumni affairs, Art was a stalwart worker. He was immediate past president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County and for the past few years had served as host at the Bison Roundup following the Homecoming Day football game on the campus. He is survived by his wife, the former Anna M. Keefer, and a stepson, Bernhard Dohrmann, Esq. '50 of Lock Haven.

Art will be sadly missed at our June reunion for he had written in recent weeks of his plans to return to the North in time for the reunion activities and was serving on the planning committee for the Class of 1922 gathering.

Bright E. Greiner stopped in at the alumni office for a short time in early March. He was in Washington, D. C., for the meetings of the National Association of Secondary School Principals where he served as chairman of a discussion group on that red-hot topic, "The Advantages and Disadvantages of Teacher Merit Rating Plans."

William J. Irvin has been awarded life membership in the President's Club of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company in recognition of ten years of outstanding service in his organization.

The biggest and best class reunion any class ever had was assured when our various reunion committees gathered to plan for the gala weekend coming up on June 7 and 8, 1957. The big event for our 35th reunion will be the Friday night dinner at the Milton Country Club, with Finley Keech as toastmaster, and Amorita Sesinger Copeland and Rae Seaman Reiner as hostesses. Norwood Lowry will give a mental tour of the changes at Bucknell and I know you will be lost without it. Curley Lawson is arranging the affair with the help of Ivar Carlson, Ruth Brown Wolfe, Mary Park Mertz and Buck Shott. Everyone will get a chance to tell what has happened to them since 1922. Friends made 35 years ago may still affect your future. The reunion book is being prepared by Florence Cornwell, assisted by Sue Plummer O'Neil, Carmalt Jackson and Bill Irvin. Florence is also giving a review of the book at the dinner. Reservations have already been made for 40. Let's eat, drink and be merry June 7th, 1957, for tomorrow may bring sorrow. So let's all be gay that night.

Now all that is needed is Your attendance at the reunion, June 7 and 8. It's not too late to send in your biographical questionnaire, but do it now. Remember, we will all be quartered in the same dormitory on the hill. So send your room and ticket reservations (see reservation form on page 3) without delay.

George V. Bellak has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Johnstown.

At the annual meeting of the Detroit Council of Churches, Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, the council's executive director, was awarded a special citation as "Executive of the Decade" in recognition of his ten years of service to the council. Congratulations, Merrill!

Dr. Henry B. Mussina retired from active medical practice in 1951 following several heart attacks. However, he is still a busy man, spending his time painting and restoring old paintings.

Dr. Marjorie J. Rivenburg has taken a sabbatical leave from her duties at Westhampton College, University of Richmond, and has enjoyed a four month cruise and vacation to the Mediterranean, Middle East and Italy.

Your reporter was happy to receive a fine letter last March from Dr. Hayward J. Holbert. Information from this letter reached our readers in the May issue of the ALUMNUS. It is with deep regret that I now report the death, on September 9, 1956, of this fine man and classmate. We extend our belated sympathies to his wife (the former Edith Gobel) and to his son, Hayward J. Holbert, Jr. '57.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Drake '25 (Ruth Porter) live at 139 Dietz St., Hempstead, N. Y. Ruth is kept busy with Long Island Panhellenic work and her many church activities. They have one son, Bob, who will soon be in the Army.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

Mrs. W. E. Ellis (Charlotte E. Bosler) attended the Fred Waring Piano Workshop at Delaware Water Gap last summer. Charlotte teaches piano, drama and speech privately. She has recently been elected treasurer of the Pennsylvania Music Teachers Association. Her home is at 197 Ohio St., Johnstown.

Henry T. Moore died March 6, 1956, according to word received from his widow. "Ted" is one of five brothers, all Bucknellians and all Sigma Chi's: Charles Byron '20, Harold H. '22, Fred E. '27, and William Frank '27. Sincere sympathy is extended to the survivors.

Charles F. White has been appointed president of M & M's Candies, a division of Food Manufacturers, Inc. He joined the organization in 1941, became sales manager in 1942 and vice president in charge of sales and advertising in 1946. The firm is erecting a new 247,000 square foot plant in Hackettstown, N. J. Mr. White and family live at Holmehill, Rose-land, N. J.

Louise Barnes Standen is now teaching home economics in Southern Lehigh High School, a new school located seven miles from Allentown.

In the vacation period of 1956, the Paul O. Young (Mary Bray) family enjoyed an educational 13,000 mile trip. They drove to California, then north to British Columbia, visiting twelve national parks and several large college campuses. Their travels gave them not only pleasure, but a source of material for school and college themes.

Last season, Margaret Ackerman toured 9,000 miles throughout the west, accompanied by her father. This summer, 1957, she is completing plans to take her sister, Anita, to Spain, France and Italy—Bon Voyage to both.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Kenneth W. Slifer was the recipient of the Distinguishing Service Award given annually by the Jaycees of Woodbury, N. J., for his outstanding accomplishments and was the honored guest of the evening at a banquet given at the Woodbury Country Club, February 4.

Paul R. Austin was elected president (1956-1957) of the Pottstown Federation of Men's Bible classes after serving as an assistant secretary and vice president. Paul became a grandfather for the second time on his own birthday, March 14. His first grandchild was a girl, this one was a boy. Paul's address is Pottstown, R. D. 1.

Donald L. Rigg was recently elected for a fourth term (3 years) as a member of the Board of Directors of the Pottstown Y. M. C. A. Early in March, Don received a plaque for ten years of devoted service at the city-wide Father and Son meeting. Don, Jr., is a Bucknellian—class of 1960. I'm sure the Rigg's would like to hear from their many friends—942 High St., Pottstown.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Only a few more weeks until our re-union days will be here—June 7th to 9th! You can depend upon a warm and friendly welcome from your class officers who are making plans for a weekend of many pleasantries. So be sure to be one of us!

We are sorry to hear of the death of Alex Horoschak, Jr., on January 8, 1957. Alex was a licensed professional engineer and land surveyor in the state of New Jersey. He is survived by his wife, the former Mary K. Hite to whom our sympathy is extended.

Mrs. Robert B. Davies (Emma M. Kahler) is looking forward to attending her first reunion with her class. Being a summer school student has prevented her attending previously.

Diek Vastine writes that although he had been principal of the township of Union, N. J., public school for 13 years, for the past 5 years he has been principal of the Hamilton School. Recently he completed the directing of a fund-raising program for a $223,500 church school building of the Roselle Park Methodist Church. We are glad to know that he is planning to return to the campus for our 30th reunion this June. Are you?

28 MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Lerinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Vera L. Herrick is the alumni office secretary at the University of Buffalo. Prior to this position, she served as secretary to the president of Columbia Bible College in Columbia, S. C.

C. Elwood Huffman, owner and manager of Mountain Lakes House, Marshalls Creek, has recently been elected president of the Pennsylvania State Game Commission. Elwood is on the board of directors of the following organizations: Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau; Eastern Poconos Resort Association; Marshalls Creek Volunteer Fire Company; Smithfield Township Schools and East Stroudsburg Area Joint District Board. Now we know why he's a bachelor! What do you do in your spare time, Elwood?

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Mrs. Arch A. Aueker (Katharine S. Heldt) is teaching music and mathematics for the second year at Coolbaugh Township Schools, Tobyhanna. Her home is at 301 Church Street, Moscow.

Clifford H. Reed has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Capital District (Albany, N. Y.)

Thelma J. Showalter has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

J. Roy Goodlander, who has been living in Lock Haven since his graduation, is the co-ordinator of industrial relations for his firm. He is the proud father of three lovely daughters, Karen, 14; Vicki, 12; and Candace, 10. Roy holds directorships with several national societies and is a member of a number of committees on industrial relations.

What a wonderful surprise to hear from Dorothy Cowan Phillips after all these years of silence! Dot is teaching in Waynesburg, where she and her husband, Edison Brooks Phillips, live with their three children, William 20; Edison Brooks, 16; and Sally Ann, 10. The little personal note which came from Dot recalled many old friends and happy occasions of our college days.

Kenneth D. Rhone, who left us at the end of our sophomore year, and was graduated from the University of Michigan, is the editor of Grit, "America's Greatest Family Newspaper." He is in the latest volume of Who's Who in America. We are happy to report that his older daughter Sherry Lynne, is now a freshman at Bucknell. Marcia is in her last year at Curtin Junior High in Williamsport. We are looking forward to her coming to Bucknell several years hence.

Clyde P. Bailey and his wife, Dorothy Lemon Bailey, have been enjoying their new "winter" home in Florida. "Pinkie" went down in January for several months and Clyde commuted from their home in Pittsburgh (just three and one-half hours non-stop from greater Pittsburgh airport). Their son John '53, was graduated from University of Pittsburgh Law School last June. Clyde, Jr., is now a sophomore at Bucknell.

The Class of 1929 extends sincere sympathy to Kenneth A. Bidlack on the death of his mother in January, at her home in Mifflinburg. Ken is one of Union County's prominent attorneys, and since he lives so close to the campus, returns quite often to his Alma Mater.

30 MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Dr. Joseph M. Quisito on October 2, 1956, resulting from an acute coronary thrombosis. He is survived by his widow, the former Essie F. Applegate and son, Ralph, to whom our sincere sympathy is extended.

Your reporter had an interesting letter from Margaret Schuyler Augustine beginning: "Heeding your plaintive request for the news of the Class of 1930 I submit the following—The Augustines are residing at 714 N. Curry St., Carson City, Nev. They boast two sons: Daniel, 14, a Life Scout and a tuba player; and Peter, 12, a Star Scout and a trombone player." There are five Bucknellians in Nevada so if any of them visit the capital city Margaret would be most happy to see them.

From Nevada we go to California and a nice note from Pat Reeves Kennedy. Pat has remarried and is living at 2728 Ross Lane, Escondido, Calif. She has a beautiful new home with lots of avocado trees and claims California living is pleasant. Pat's daughter Priscilla was married last summer. Pat had a nice visit with Peg Baker Moser last spring and states, "the years do not touch her," from the photograph I received from Mrs. Kennedy on her wedding day the years do not touch her either.

From California let's go to Texas where our classmate Jim Hurlburt was appointed district manager of the Construction Material Division Office in Houston, Tex. (This district includes all of Tex., Okla., La., and parts of N. Mex., Ala., and Miss.). Until they sell their home in Washington, D. C., and Jim's family are able to join him, his address will be: Construction Material Division, General Electric Co., 5718 Armour Dr., Houston, Tex.

Now we have heard from the west. Isn't there an eastern part of this United States?

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Robert H. Keiser has been awarded membership in the American College of Hospital Administrators. At present, he is assistant administrator at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville.

Winona Ballinger Walker

Mrs. Claybourne W. Walker (Winona A. Ballinger) has had her first book published and is at work on her second one. The published book is Kappy Oliver and is a story for girls over 12 years of age. It is the outgrowth of short stories that she has had published in various magazines. She has a daughter in college and a son in high school, and lives at 500 Chauncy Place, Greensboro, N. C.

Some of the children of our classmates are now college students. Allan Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Bogar (Janet L. Blair '33) is a freshman on the "300 Acres." He is taking a five-year civil engineering course. The Bogars live at 3614 Montour St., Paxtang, Harrisburg.

C. Allen Konkle has taken a position in the engineering department of the Remm-Cru Titanium Company in Midland. Richard A. Nagel has been appointed district sales manager in charge of the Philadelphia territory of Spencer Kellog and Sons, Inc. Dick has spent 14 years traveling as technical service man out of Buffalo, N. Y., and 8 years as eastern division technical sales manager out of New York, on his rise to his present position. He is married to the former Kathleen R. Hayes and has two daughters, Jean Marie, 19; and Carol, 14. Their home is at 13 Long Lane, R. D. 2, Melverne. David W. Stuempfle has been named principal of the Williamsport High School, beginning with the 1957-58 school term. He succeeds Dr. L. F. Derr '27.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Miss Frances Knights is taking a sabbatical leave from her teaching duties at Lycoming College to work on her doctorate degree at Pennsylvania State University.

The book, The Occupation of Enemy Territory, written by Dr. Gerhard E. Von Glahn will be published this summer by the University of Minnesota Press. Dr. Von Glahn is head of the Department of Political Science, Duluth Branch, University of Minnesota, where they have an enrollment of over 2100. He has been awarded numerous honors in the education and political science field, included in which are two research grants from the Graduate School of the University and being listed in Who's Who in American Education. He received his B.S. degree in Business Administration, and his M.A. degree in Public Law from Columbia University, and his Ph.D. degree in Political Science from Northwestern University. He spent 2½ years in the United States Army where his duties brought him into intimate association with military government and belligerent occupation. He was awarded the Bronze Star for his work there. Dr. Von Glahn is married to the former Dorothy E. Grant and has two children, Peter, 10; and Karan, 8.

News from Phil Neisser of Alexandria, Va., via Walt Hopper—tells us that he with his wife and two children will be on hand for our class reunion. Also from the same source, that Louise Manley (Mrs. H. L. Krueger) of Kensington, Md., will attend if possible and, of course, Walt and his wife will not miss the affair.

Don't forget to circle June 7-10 on your calendar. This is our silver anniversary reunion year, and it promises to be quite an affair. Come one, come all and join in the celebration.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

I was glad to hear from Lucille Meyer Diehl, 2 Hudson Court, Bayonne, N. J., as I recall I always considered her one of the most attractive of the Alpha Chi's (auburn hair). She and her husband, Arthur, have a Ford Motor dealership in Bayonne. Lu keeps house and helps out, when necessary, in the office. She is concerned about the invasion of television on reading habits, and writes book reviews in the local papers, a project under the sponsorship of the "Friends of the Library." Another hobby of the Diehls developed after they attended several semesters at Power Squadron School—they are avid boat enthusiasts. They started out a few years ago with a 13 ft. outboard, followed by three more speed boats, and now own a 30 ft. skiff, called Skylark (thanks to Shelley).

Do you remember Phil Jones (Philip E.)? I do, very well. He was a Druid, Phi Gamma Delta, business manager of the L'Agenda and class treasurer our freshman year. He married Gladys Gandar '34 and has one son, Charles Philip, who graduates this June from Bucknell. The Jones live in the country outside of Had-donfield, N. J. Phil is sales manager of S. F. Durst and Company of Philadelphia. He says he's about 75 pounds heavier than when he was graduated, and his hair has reached the point where he puts "gray" where the driver's license asks for the color. So what, Phil? Age is a matter of "elan vital"—the SPIRIT!

Mary Bell Heritage (formerly from Johnstown) has four children—Elizabeth, 18, expects to enter Guilford College, N. J., a Quaker School, next fall; Benjamin, 15, at Brewster Hall, prep school in Fla.; Margaret, 11; Jonathan, 8, still coming along in grade school. Her husband, Paul, is postmaster at Mullica Hill, N. J. The Heritages enjoyed meeting most of the Bucknellians in their area at the Birthday party, held at Glovers in Vine-land last year.

Mrs. Donald L. McCay '34 (Mildred M. Easley) died in the Hazleton Hospital, January 17, 1957. She had been seriously ill since May, 1956, when she had undergone major surgery. Prior to her illness, she had been active in church and civic affairs of her community. Among her survivors are her husband, two daughters, Jane and Constance, all of Waverly, and a sister, Trennie E. Easley '31, of Lewisburg, to whom our sympathy is extended.

Hank Seiss has been employed in the cast department at the Bethlehem Steel Co. for the past 15 years. He has a fine family—two boys, ages 19, and 10; and a daughter, 8. His older son attended Massanutten Military Academy in Woodstock, Va. Hank's address is Washington Ave., Bethlehem.

Glendon W. Sippel's correct address is Woodward Rd., Elma, N. Y. His wife, Marjorie Brown Sippel, is a graduate ('37) of Bucknell Junior College of Wilkes-Barre. Their daughter, Carol Ann Sippel, age 19, graduated from Buffalo Seminary, Class of '55, and is now a sophomore at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt.

Mary Reeder De Hotman is a homemaker. She is making the greatest of all contributions, training a family of five children, ranging from a 16 year old high school junior to Dan, an 8 year old third grader.

Gordon B. Taylor is president of G. B. Taylor Associates, Inc., a personnel consulting organization specializing in technical recruiting for clients requiring large numbers of engineering and technical personnel. It is the only firm in the country specializing in this field and is very successful, having many of the largest companies as clients. His offices are located at 420 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. Taylor belongs to the Metropolitan and Long Island Bucknell Clubs.

Fannie Wood Brown's older son, Gary, received the Eagle Scout Award recently at Havertown, Philadelphia. Fannie has three children, two boys and a girl. Her husband is a chemical engineer.

Catherine Ledden Hoffman's son, Richard, was graduated from M. I. T. and is getting his master's degree at the University of Michigan. She has been teaching 7th grade for 13 years. Right now she is in the West Long Branch school system. Her brother, Dr. Lewis J. Ledden '38, is living in Florida and taking advanced studies in medicine. After finishing a year there, he'll return to his practice in Trenton, N. J. Catherine visited Elizabeth Thayer Ward in California and Ethel Hutchins Lobel '34, in Colorado, last summer.

Joe Di Pace is still with Lummus Company, stationed in New York, after three years in Paris—traveling through Europe and the near East. His wife has an affinity for languages and both prefer travel, being gypsies at heart. Occasionally they see Ed '35, and Lois Kurtz Wittmer '34, and Fred Flaherty and have fun talking of their days on the "hill."

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

After three years with the Daily News in Philadelphia and 40,000 miles of travel with candidate Adlai E. Stevenson last fall, Walter W. Ruch has joined the staff of N. W. Ayer and Son, Inc., and has been assigned to the Plymouth automobile account in Detroit. Walt now lives at 22863 Lake Shore Drive, St. Clair Shores, Mich.

35 MRS. PAUL L. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Cambrills, Md.

We are happy to report that Pat Woodburne (Mrs. Ronald V. Wells) and Harry Wightman responded to the "letter-writers of the month." Pat reports that her husband is a frequent guest chapel speaker at Bucknell and that their younger son, Bob, accompanied him on one of his visits and ran the gamut of 11:00 P. M. dating farewells at Hunt Hall. Memories, anyone? The Wells' other son, David, is attending Denison College, Granville, Ohio, where he is majoring in theatre arts.

Harry Wightman wrote a most interesting letter in which he reported that he and Elsie (Elsie Inslee '37) are busy with two sons, James, 15 (6' 2"), and Steve, 11. Harry is music librarian for the American Broadcasting Company where John Manbeck '53 is record librarian. Recent visitors to see Harry at A. B. C. and talk about Bucknell days were: Dr. Alvin Biscoe, University of Georgia; Dr. Robert L. Sutherland, whom Harry took ice-skating at Radio City; Owen Saddler '34, now a vice president in television in Iowa; George Adcock '36, with Alcoa; Russell Van Tyle '39, who is doing wonders with Rose's, Inc.; and Don Bollman '57 of Floral Park, N. Y. I telephoned Harry when I was in New York recently and he added that Harry Coleman '36 is now with his father's orchestra (the famed Emil) and that they played at the Inaugural Ball.

We recently attended the wedding of Bucknellians Barbara Butz '57 and my cousin, Jim Vanaman '55 in Allentown. It was a lovely wedding and we are glad to see the Bucknell match box carrying on.

We were saddened to hear of the death of Mel LeMon's father in Utah this winter and are sorry to report that Mel is suffering from a serious back injury resulting from an accident two summers ago while he and Jane were out west.

Theo C. Smith, a teacher in the Wat-sontown schools for more than 20 years, and Ole Nilsen of Staten Island, N. Y., were married February 6, 1957, at Mifflinburg. Mr. Nilsen is a vice president of Midland Trust Company, Wall St., N. Y. The couple is residing at Staten Island.

George J. Keller and Ginny Lowry were married February 18, 1957. The ceremony was performed in the lion's cage at Al Sirat Grotto Shrine Circus in Cleveland, Ohio. The lions in the cage were animals trained and used by George in his wild animal act with which he tours the country.

Dr. William H. Druckenmiller is serving as chief of neurosurgery at the National Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mills announce the birth of their fourth child, Barbara Jane, on February 2, 1957. They now have two pairs; two boys and two girls. Their home is at 11553 Otsego St., North Hollywood, Calif.

Spotlight on letter-writers for next time (write me before the end of the summer): Grace Moore, Robert Zaffy, Miriam Warner, Dorothea Baker (Mrs. Stanley Hoffmann), Robert Bruce, Trudy Carey, Jean Hagenbuch (Mrs. Ralston H. More, Jr.), Phyllis Hicks (Mrs. Morgan S. Fellows, Jr.), Louis Kessler and Margaret Noll (Mrs. Raymond Hunt).

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

James D. Stroup has recently been named head of all sales activities for Hotel Cleveland, Cleveland, Ohio. Jim joined the hotel field in 1937, serving in the largest hotels of Pittsburgh in various capacities. He has been with Hotel Cleveland since January 1955. He is married to the former Louise Boden and has a son, James, Jr., 13; and a daughter, Marianne, 11. The Stroups live at 21329 Endsley, Rocky River, Ohio.

Charles S. Gwynne (Bless him!) was the only '36er to answer my plea for news for that letter basket I mentioned in our last column. Charles has come up with an excellent idea. He writes, "I happened to think it might make our '36 alumni magazine column easier for you and more interesting to our class, if we had area reporters. We run into and hear about our classmates in different areas, so I send in a few 'choice bits' about a few '36ers in this area. I was glad to see June LeQuatte Wendt again at the metropolitan area Bucknell birthday dinner in New York on Feb. 5. June was a very busy girl that night, so we did not have too much opportunity to have a '36 reunion. Bill Moir was there, so he and I had dinner together, Bill bringing me up to date on several Phi Psi's of our class, namely Bud Huus and Fred Erdman. Bill is bringing all the 22 Phi Psi pledges they won in September, 1932, to our reunion in '61. Roger Ammon and Webster Jury both have daughters in the freshman class at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, N. J. Both have promised to be at our 25th. I've just returned from a music convention in Atlantic City, and was pleasantly surprised to meet Dr. Kenneth Herrold as moderator for one of the panels, 'What We Expect of the Elementary Music Program.' Kenny is professor of education in the Psychological Foundation and Services Department at Teachers College, Columbia University."

Thank you, Charles, for your fine suggestion and your fine report. I hope many of you will follow Charles' example. Do I hear any volunteers? I saw Honey Rhinesmith Baker, reporter for the Class of 1944, on campus this week, and she told me that her class members had really come across with news lately. Her husband, Bob Baker, was interviewing seniors for Picatinny Arsenal.

Our class treasurer, Eric Stewart, was a visitor on the campus over the Washington birthday weekend.

37 MR. SIGMUND STOLER
215 Chestnut St.
Sunbury, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

John Worth, our reunion chairman, was in Lewisburg, weekend of March 23 to discuss plans for our 20th Reunion, June 7-9. Big day for our class will be Saturday, June 8, when elections will be held in the morning, and a general get-together in the afternoon. As of this writing, 88 replies were received to the questionnaires John sent out for the class booklet—all are urged to submit answers; real ages will not be revealed—and 47 have promised to show up for the reunion. We should have more "yesses" than that!

Mr. and Mrs. Ira N. Greaves (Marion D. Long) and family have returned to Pittsburgh after nearly six years in Minnesota. Their address is 4817 Sherwood Drive, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Harry Zelif (Alice W. O'Mara) is teaching English at the senior high school in Fishersville, Va. One hundred ninety-seven pupils keep her busy!

Emmanuel I. Stillman was promoted to assistant professor in April, 1956, in the Department of Entomology, Ontario Agriculture College, Guelph, Ontario, Canada.

H. P. Dunne, general sales manager, and Charles I. Vogel, vice president—sales of Brooks and Perkins, Inc., looked at the first gold-plated Earth Satellite made by the company for Naval Research Laboratory. The Earth Satellite is 20" in diameter, made entirely of magnesium, and gold-plated. Loaded with instruments the total weight will be 21½ lbs. Without instruments the satellite itself weighs about 4 lbs.

Mrs. Herbert G. Newcomb (Harriet Speyer) is active in the Tri-Delta Alliance in Boston as well as in boy scouting activities of the area. With a full time job with the Brookline Taxpayers Association she certainly has a busy life. They have moved recently to 5 Gorham Ave., Brookline, Mass.

A son, James Thurston, was born to Rev. and Mrs. Clinton A. Condict, September 10, 1956. They are located at 1522 Wyandotte Ave., Lakewood, Ohio.

38 MR. IRA G. FOX
116 Westchester Drive
Pittsburgh 15, Pa.

W. Paul Silvius is employed by Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Pittsburgh. He is married and has two sons, Robert, 11; and James, 8. His address is Box 70, R. D. 2, Murrysville.

Mary I. Farquhar reports that she is still working for the Pennsylvania Railroad, credited now with 15 years of service as ticket clerk in Williamsport. Her current address is 921 West 4th St., Williamsport.

Warren Egee is now manager, Equipment Development, Campbell Soup Company, Camden, N. J. Along with this fairly new position, he is quite busy handling a Boy Scout troop and an eldership in the Presbyterian Church of Yeadon. Warren and his wife, Elizabeth, reside at 510 Bonsall Ave., Yeadon. They have three children, Barbara, 13; Robert, 9; Margery, 4.

Mrs. Joseph B. Aspinwall (Ann R. Morrow) and her family live in Uniontown, P. O. Box 509. Ann somehow finds the time to be active in community work, to teach Sunday school and to help occasionally with her husband's small business. She has five children, Patty, 14; Mary Jo, 10; Cathy, 8; Larry, 6; Bill, 4.

Mrs. Thelma Slack Duck writes interestingly that she and her husband, Charles W. '36 "are hoping our 17 year old son, Ronald, will choose Bucknell in September '58." Thelma and Charles also have two daughters, Elaine, 9; and Cathy, 5. PTA, church work, and volunteer work on various drives are a few of the activities currently holding Thelma's interest. Her address is 124 Oakwood Ave., Bogota, N. J.

Mrs. Ruth Noll Delcamp lives in Lewisburg at 539 Matlack Ave., and has been teaching mathematics for the last five years at Lewisburg High School.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

James H. Duchine has been given the direction of a capital funds campaign for Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, beginning March 1, it has been announced by Dr. Louis W. Robey '04, vice chairman of the board of the New York City firm of Marts & Lundy, professional fund-raising counselors for educational, religious and philanthropic institutions. Duchine, who joined the firm in 1940, recently completed a campaign for more than one million dollars for the Boy Scout Council of Cleveland, Ohio, and prior to that, directed the campaign for a new library at St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y.

Doug and Mary (Mayhew) Fish are still waiting for some of their southbound classmates and friends to stop in to say "Hello!" They may be found at 7378 San Jose Blvd., Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Felix F. Stroh '39 (Theresa M. Boguszewski) has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Danville. Gerald F. Wagner has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Triple Cities (N. Y.).

We three Millers hope to be present at the Michigan-Toledo Alumni Club dinner meeting, April 12, in Detroit. (I can truthfully say that I have no secretary-treasurer ambitions, though I would be among the first to point out that it certainly follows from the above two announcements. We had already made plans to go to Detroit to visit "friends and relations" when we received notice of the meeting, and planned to attend before these news items came in. I guess it is safe to say this publicly as the meeting will be over before this copy goes to press).

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

John M. Hustler has been named plant manager, Production Division, Photo Products Department of E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. Except for 2½ years in the Navy, John has been with the company since graduating from Bucknell. In 1949 he received a Master of Science degree from Rutgers University. John and his wife (Jean Weber '43) have two daughters, Lee Ann, and Nancy Jane, and live at 16 Huston St., Towanda.

Commander John M. Laudenslager has been assigned to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., as senior psychologist. During World War II, he served as commanding officer of the USS Bastion in the European area. In 1945 he was discharged from the Navy and was director of personnel relations at Pennsylvania State University. In 1950 he returned to Naval service and served as senior psychologist at the Naval Training Centers at San Diego, Calif., and Bainbridge, Md., assuming his present command December 17, 1950. He is married to the former Nelridge Duncan and has two daughters, Diane, 11; and Karen, 7.

Raymond P. Underwood is a partner of the law firm of Mautz, Souther, Spalding, Denecke and Kinsey with offices in the Board of Trade Building in Portland, Ore. He has since associated with the firm since 1952.

Information has just reached us of the death of Gerald C. Madison (husband of Sarah L. Slaughenhaus, Madison) who died in a tragic garage accident August 14, 1956. He is survived by Sarah and two children, Robert, 6; and Linda, 3½; to whom our belated sympathy is extended.

Dr. William R. Kershner has opened a second dental office in Oreland and divides his time between it and his practice at the Penn Sherwood Hotel in Philadelphia. He reports his four prospective Bucknellians (all men) are doing fine!

Donald E. Wilson is located at Reykjavik, Iceland. Prior to this assignment he was located at Helsinki, Finland; and Copenhagen, Denmark. He is an information officer with the U. S. Information Agency.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Colahan (Gladys Chudomelka) had a baby girl, Christine, October 9, 1956. They have another daughter, Laurie, 1½. The Colahans are living at 32 Center Ave., Crescent Park, N. J.

42 MRS. THEODORE WILKINSON
(Mary C. Forrester)
1814 Putter Ave.

When two U. S. Air Force B 47 Stratajet bombers collided in mid-air off the coast of Cuba in January, Major James M. McFarland was one of three men rescued from a life raft. Three other men died in the crash. Jim was commander of the one intercontinental bomber and is now in the Key West Naval Hospital with a fractured vertebra. His wife and two children, James, Jr., and Lucy, reside at the family home in Homestead, Fla. Jim is a brother of Dr. John Z. McFarland '35, Martha McFarland '36, Mrs. Helen McFarland Madden '28, and Mrs. Ruth McFarland Glesk '29.

Instead of a full house or three of a kind, Kenneth R. Bayless tells us he has one of each . . . one wife (formerly Mary L. Steckert); one son, George, born December 24, 1953; and one daughter, Millie, born November 17, 1956. Bet there's a cat or dog he didn't tell us about too! Ken is a practicing lawyer and his home address is 1115 E. Broad St., Hazleton.

Douglas W. Burt has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Triple Cities (N. Y.).

Charles Jones, Betty Grimm, Dick Whiteman and Phil Roy.

Bill Bowen has definite plans made for a buffet supper at the Milton Country Club on Saturday, June 8. Circle this date on your calendar, and join us in the fun.

43 MRS. EARLE E. BENTON
(Norene Bond)
130 Effingham Place
Westfield, N. J.

A note from Walt Tice brings us up to date on his household. He and Mildred Mellor '42 were married in 1944. After 3½ years in the service, Walt got his diploma at Muhlenberg and his M.D. at Jefferson Medical College. He's now in general practice at Tice Clinic in Quakertown, working with his uncle, Dr. Willard Tice '24 and his father, Dr. Raymond Tice '19.

George N. Jenkins has been named assistant manager of Esso Standard Oil Company's sales engineering division. For the past two years he has been head of the section responsible for automobile and aviation product quality. He is married to the former Elizabeth Morley and has one son, John Byron, born July 18, 1955. Their home is at 2021 Parkwood Drive, Scotch Plains, N. J.

Alexander Robins is engineer consultant of the Advance Research and Development Division of AVCO in Lawrence, Mass. He is married to the former Lillian J. Francis and has two sons, Larry, 10; and Steve, 5. Their home is at 78 Salem St., Andover, Mass.

Dr. Charles J. Rodgers is doing general practice in medicine in Williamsport. He is married to the former Edna Stillman and has five future Bucknellians.

The Dick Christensons had their second child, Margaret Millard, on November 13, 1956. Their address, for anyone who can translate, is Grafelling Bei Munchen, Kurt Huber-Strasse 21, Deutschland. Another new address is Harvey '42, and Mary Beidler Pettit's. They now live at 334 S. Derbyshire Lane, Arlington Heights, Ill.

Bill Griffiths writes that he has been employed in the advertising department of the Philadelphia Bulletin since 1950. Two years prior to that he was married to Doris Miller of Tamaqua and they have become the parents of Jeffrey, 6; and Nancy, 3. Their address is 32 E. Wissahickon Ave., Flourtown.

The Bill Thomas family has an addition by the name of Cathy Louise, born November 2, 1956. By the way, let's not forget that Bill is working hard to build up that Class Fund!

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Letters and notes are wonderful, but how much nicer to be able to see the writers. We had a small reunion in March with Ken '42, and Mai Lewis Strittmatter and Gene and Mary Straus Millikin. It's amazing how many years can be crammed into a few hours.

Merv '39 and Sybil Kealey Harris announce the birth of their second son, Merthyn Raymond, February 6. Merv has just opened an Oldsmobile agency in Lansdale, and their new address is McKean Rd., R. D. 1, Ambler.

The George Grabowskis (Elsa Larsen) have moved to 556 Webster St., Needham Heights, Mass.

From Community Church, Oakwood Heights, Staten Island, the Rev. Elmo Pascale writes, "Last July I directed the Summer Work Camp for college youth at Yuquiyu, Puerto Rico. We did land clearance and farming . . . Mrs. Munoz Marin, the wife of the governor granted our camp an interview . . . the land we cleared is part of a 60 acre development . . . the inspiration of those days led me to compile a film with narrative. It has been accepted by our Congregational Christian denomination for widespread showing and is entitled 'Working camping in Puerto Rico.' Just learned that I have a new assignment for this summer in Tepic, Mexico . . . my wife has been appointed an instructor at Wagner College . . ."

Have a good summer and send me lots of news, please?

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

Robert M. Lauman has been named plant extension engineer for the Bell Telephone Company. His home is at 1 Hyland Drive, Camp Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Bassert (Lauretta J. Hulsizer) have three children, David, 5; John, 3½; and Robert, 1. Their home is at 75 Kenwood Drive, N., Levittown.

Chester A. Johnston, Jr., is patent attorney for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. He is married to the former Betty Coggins and has three children, Virginia, Charles, and Judy.

Have you ever picked daffodils during a snowstorm? I did this morning, and even now it's difficult to concentrate on anything but the view from the window. But how glad I am to be enjoying a freak April snowstorm in Basking Ridge rather than the vicious vagaries of a tornado in Dallas. With concern for our many friends there, I nevertheless am reminded of a typically Texan remark Burr and I often heard, "If you don't like the weather, just wait a minute." Without waiting another moment, however, and with back to window, I proceed to class news.

A fine letter from Nancy Ireland Sholl reports a number of changes in the Calvin Sholl '46 family. First of all there is an address change to Lancaster Avenue, Box 34, Lunenburg, Mass., because last July Cal became assistant personnel director for the Fitchburg Paper Company. The family joined him in October regretfully leaving behind the brand new home they had just built in Syracuse, N. Y., to say nothing of their many friends there. Nancy says they have chosen a 200 year old red and white colonial home in Lunenburg with what she describes as "old bones and much charm." And then on December 12th the Sholls welcomed Christine Beth, who joins Larry, 9; Jack, 7; and Wendy, 4. Pretty busy year, don't you think?

Speaking of changes, Chet Podd '43, formerly with Merck in Rahway, has joined the staff of the treasurer of the American Sugar Refining Company in New York. Chet and his wife, Louise Stead, daughter Pat, and sons Steve and Chet live at 920 Boulevard, Westfield, N. J. Success in the new job, Chet, and the rest of you please remember that the word from Podd is Franklin, Domino, or Sunnycane.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Husted '43 (Barbara Russell '44), 194 Sanford Ave., North Plainfield, N. J., are delighted to announce the arrival of their special valentine Heidi Gene on February 14. Heidi joins brothers John, 10; and Ricky, 8. Harlan, by the way, now is sales manager of the Newark Uptown Sales office of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
31260 Westfield Ave.
Livonia, Mich.

Rev. Harry O. Kline became pastor of the First Baptist Church in Greensburg on January 1, 1957. When Rev. Kline first entered the ministry he served the Baptist Church in Milton where he doubled the attendance in the 4 years he was there. In 1950 he was moved to Connelville where he remained until accepting the call to Greensburg.

Dr. and Mrs. John H. Morton (Ruth M. Irland) announce the birth of Peter Shepherd on February 7, 1957. He joins John, 5; and Nancy, 3.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Woormer became the parents of a son, John Myers, on August 11, 1956. The same month, John was elected principal of the Perry Joint High School at New Bloomfield.

Fred Anderson, in sending his contribution to Fitz R. Walling, new Class Fund Manager, writes: "It was good of you to accept the job as Fund Manager, and I'm sure you will enjoy being in contact with your old classmates. I have no doubt in my mind that you will bring in the funds, and I sincerely hope that all those who have supported me in the past will continue to support you—along with the new ones you bring in—you should do better than I did." Many thanks, Fred, for your ten years of class fund work, and let's all wish Fitz well by heeding his reminders to up '46's percentage of contributors.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand Brunswick (Gloria Berliner) have moved to a new home, 23 Hedgerow Lane, Jericho, L. I., N. Y. Gloria reports her "most cherished accomplishments since college days as Jon, 8½; and Debbie, 5," and reports a monthly meeting of B. U. folk on the Island. Also in a new home is the Paul Lenchuk (Helen Meseroll) family: 700 Oxford Rd., Winter Park, Fla.—just off the Rollins College campus. "Hellion" writes that in August they went north, and while there visited Jane and Paul Layden and their four girls at Ft. Dix, N. J., and also managed to see the Waldners, Robert Bartows, Dick Moores, Duke Reeds, and Ken Warrens. She closed the letter to hurry off to a beach picnic—we poor Yankees!

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1957

Since 1947, Russell E. Brown has been an assistant professor of Economics at Lenoir Rhyne College and has served as consultant on supervisory training in industry since 1955. Clarence S. Obitz and his wife, Marie, have returned from Rio de Janeiro to the United States.

F. Porter Wagner has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Danville.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Ruth M. Young, M.D., on her tragic death by fire on February 10 at Sharples, W. Va., where she was serving as physician for the Boone County Coal and Coke Company. Death was the result of burns and asphyxiation from flames caused by smoking in bed. Ruth received her degree of Doctor of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania in 1951 after earning the bachelor's and master's degree (magna cum laude) from Bucknell in 1947, where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Sigma and was named "the senior showing the greatest proficiency in pre-medical work." She also won the Elizabeth M. Olyphant prize and the Samuel Lewis Ziegler prize at Bucknell.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker G. Willis (Nancy R. Dawson) have three children, Katie, Tommy and Timmy. Walker has been a tug boat captain in the San Francisco Bay. Nancy has gone a long way from our Bucknell Campus, and it sounds like an interesting life and a lovely family. Her address is 751 Virginia Drive, Rio Vista, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark L. Iba (Jean C. Steele) now have three children. Last December they moved into the new house they built near Hershey.

Their third son was born March 22 to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goldman (Tamara Gurvitch), whose home is at 370 Holland Ave., Englewood, N. J. He has been named Eliot. Brothers are Glenn and Barry.

Look at the calendar. Within a very few days, the first 10 years A.B. (after Bucknell) will have come to a panting finish for that merrie band that embarked and/or fled from Lewisburg in 1947. Give or take some weeks, depending upon whether you left in February, June or August. Such were the times then.

The week-end of June 7-8-9 will be ours to possess on campus. Our tenth reunion. President Tom Quigley has laid careful plans for a completely good time. You should already have a mailed program of events, plus a reservation form for your ticket and room needs at Bucknell. Your spouse should surely come along—both of you will have much to see, many to meet. (Reservation blank is also included elsewhere in this issue of the magazine).

The main reunion event will take place Saturday, June 8. You should have the details via the mails.

As we go to press, it appears that the 1947 Reunion Book ("Decade of De-something" or other) will probably be the most complete of its kind yet published for a 10-year reunion. The response has been hearty. The staff of reporters have done a remarkable job. For those few members not able to return June 7-9, copies of the book will be available after the reunion.

Your friends will look for you at the reunion. Come, join our throng as once more the windy hilltop resounds to "Beat Alfred!"

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN

Too early?

Well, perhaps, if you want to be strictly literal.

And yet, when she reaches college age will she be too late? Too late to get the kind of higher education so vital to her future and to the future of her country?

It all depends.

There is in the United States today a growing threat to the ability of our colleges to produce thinking, well-informed graduates. That threat is composed of several elements: an inadequate salary scale that is steadily reducing the number of qualified people who choose college teaching as a career; classrooms and laboratories already overcrowded; and a pressure for enrollment that will double by 1967.

The effects of these shortcomings can become extremely serious. Never in our history has the need for educated leadership been so acute. The problems of business, government and science grow relentlessly more complex, the body of knowledge more mountainous. The capacity of our colleges—all colleges—to meet these challenges is essential not only to the cultural development of our children but to the intellectual stature of our nation.

In a very real sense, our personal and national progress depends on our colleges. They must have more support in keeping pace with their increasing importance to society.

Help the colleges or universities of your choice. Help them plan for stronger faculties and expansion. The returns will be greater than you think.

If you want to know what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

LEWISBURG, PA.

GREETINGS to the Alumni:

Recently, I've had the pleasure of returning to the campus for an informal visit—a casual chat with old friends—Bucknellians—in most familiar surroundings.

Reminiscing about experiences and old friends is always very pleasant. However, as I walked about the campus, my thoughts were beginning to become more visionary—dreaming, if you like, about the future students—your sons, daughters, friends—and their probable hopes as Bucknellians. Unfortunately, because of the limited numbers of young people who may be accommodated in the future, many good applicants will be denied admission. As alumni, we have a tremendous responsibility (1) to assist in the selection of the most outstanding students; (2) in supporting Alma Mater by financial contributions. Many of you have been most generous in the past and for these gifts we are indeed grateful. However, if Bucknell, like her sister institutions, is expected to maintain, yes even raise her standard of service, then she will need assistance from many more of her alumni. The need for annual support is great, and I sincerely hope that during these next few months when “Buck” and Dr. “Nick” with all of the volunteer fund agents make their appeal you will all respond most generously. There isn't a better cause.

And now to change the subject. Won't you begin now to make plans for a visit to the campus at Alumni Reunion and Commencement time, June 7-10, 1957? I'm sure you'll see many old friends, and you will certainly enjoy roaming about in the new buildings. Also, be sure to attend the meeting of the General Alumni Annual Assembly—delegates from the local clubs vote for the candidates of your choice for the Alumni Board of Director vacancies.

My best wishes to all of you. May those of you who will be attending class reunions have a happy and most enjoyable week-end.

Sincerely,

Wilmer D. Greulich, '34, President

SHOTT'S SPOT

IF you are not on the alert you may be missing a new quarterly publication of Bucknell University. This four-page printed letter produced under the supervision of Miss Trennie E. Easley '31, director of public relations, carries important University news that occurs in between issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. A feature of the publication is a column from the desk of President Odgers. You can't know all the news unless you read "ABOUT BUCKNELL" as well as THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. The last issue published in July 1957 also featured the Olin Foundation Grant for Coleman Hall, a new classroom building that will house eight departments of instruction and the long-hoped-for Little Theatre. This newest publication of the University is sent to all alumni, parents, foundations, corporations, secondary schools, and other friends of the University. The next issue is scheduled for October mailing. News items featured in "ABOUT BUCKNELL" will not be featured in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

MAYBE we need a P. T. A. organization at the college level? Dr. Carl Seifert, Deputy Superintendent of Higher Education for the Department of Public Instruction of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, puts it this way. "If we don't do something about the problem of post-secondary education, thousands of Pennsylvania youth who have the qualifications for college will be denied their full educational opportunity."

Dr. Charles M. Long, Chairman of the Governor's Commission on Public Education (Pennsylvania), reporting for the commission, says, "We recommend that a state-wide plan be prepared for the location, standards, and financing of beyond-high-school programs of public education, and that legislation be introduced to implement the establishment and maintenance of these programs."

IN an effort to learn the opinion of its employees on their college training, General Electric has made a survey of the opinions of 13,586 college graduates employed by the company.

This study is the culmination of a long-time interest on the part of many components and individuals in the General Electric Company in those features of a college education which lead into the development of managerial and professional skills and responsibility, and to subsequent personal satisfactions of a related nature. In brief, it was a careful attempt to have college graduates in the General Electric work force evaluate their higher education.

Four subject areas in the college curriculum were considered by the graduates to be extremely valuable. English communication—both written and oral—was reported high on the list. Non-engineering respondents placed this subject area first, while engineers rated it second only to mathematics, which is also a communication tool. Other subject areas reported as important for career success by both groups of respondents included physics, economics, and mathematics.

The least valuable subject areas, judged from a career standpoint alone, were felt to be history, foreign language, miscellaneous sciences (biology, botany, geology, etc.) and certain social sciences (principally government and economics). It should be borne in mind that these subject areas were reported as least valuable from the career standpoint only, there being no indication of their over-all value to the educated man.

Engineers indicated that they participated quite heavily in extra-curricular activities, even more so than the liberal arts graduates. The figures were 93.05 and 88.01 per cent respectively.

Approximately 90 per cent of the respondents earned some portion of their collegiate expenses; over two-thirds of these earned at least half. Just over a quarter signified that they received scholarship aid.

The general satisfaction of most alumni with their alma maters is dramatically indicated by the results of this study. Three-quarters of the liberal-arts graduates would choose the same college if they had the opportunity of college choice again. Engineers were even more satisfied, with almost 85 per cent indicating the same choice would be made again.

A COLLEGE diploma is worth more than $100,000 (over a life's work span) to the average college grad as compared with what the average high school grad will earn.

Steve Lawrence knows a guy who's so educated he can fill out his unemployment form in Latin.

TWO Bucknellians are pictured in the July 20 issue of Business Week. They are T. Cortland Williams '20 (p. 159) and Merrill B. DeWire, M.D. '21 (pp. 172, 176). And both are active alumni workers. Cort received the Bucknell Alumni Award and Medallion and Citation in June 1957; Merrill is a member of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association.

THE appeal for gifts to the alumni fund at Brown University must be strong for they induced a Brown alumnus to send the following lines along with his check:

My car is falling to pieces
The clothes that I wear are not new.
I don't keep money in banks any more—
The dollars I have are so few.
But you're welcome to this that I'm sending:
May it be of some help to you.
It isn't, it's true, quite all that I have,
But it's darned near the residue.

HOMECOMING

CIRCLE THIS DATE ON YOUR CALENDAR, TODAY!

But Plan on 3 great days
Make Arrangements NOW.

The Homecoming football piece de resistance will pit the BU's of Boston University against the BU's of Bucknell University. If that sounds scrambled, the situation is probably normal. For in this fourth meeting with Boston University, it is quite likely that the "scramble" of the 1954 clash in Boston may be repeated. Certainly boosters on both sides are hoping there will be no repeat of the Boston weather of October 30, 1954, when the old Braves Field was a sea of mud as the result of a 24-hour downpour. Spectators were glad for the covered stands of the old Braves Field in Cambridge until they discovered that the leaky roof simply collected the raindrops and delivered them in running streams on the spectators seated under cover. And out on the un-reconstructed baseball field, tackler and tackled "slud" ten to fifteen yards in the grease-like mud on each play. In spite of the tough going, Bob "Thunderbird" Ford managed 97 net yards of rushing. Fumbles were a dime a dozen and Bucknell managed to lose the ball on five of its six fumbles. Bucknell entered the fourth quarter on the long end of a 7-6 score but then fumbly set in and at the final whistle Boston U. led 20 to 7, adding one more to a five game winning streak while Bucknell ended a five game winning streak.

When the teams meet on October 19 for the Homecoming game at Memorial Stadium in Lewisburg, you can be sure that the Bisons of Bucknell will be ready to wipe out the memory of the 1954 loss, while the Terriers of Boston U. will be just as anxious for victory to even up the series at two wins for each team. Bucknell won both times in the opening of the series, 6-0 in 1941 and 13-7 in 1942.

Even though your plans may be tentative, please mail this reservation TODAY and guarantee yourself a share in the program and also assist us in planning your accommodations. Although we will do our best—WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER OCTOBER 12.

Boston U. will bring to Lewisburg a new head coach, Steve Sinko, elevated to the top coaching spot when Buff Donelli moved on to Columbia.

Features Galore

But the football game is just one of the features that makes Homecoming one of Bucknell's three big celebration days (the other two are Alumni-Commencement Week-end in June and Bucknell's birthday in February). The highlights of the program are shown on the back cover. They all add up to a wonderful week-end of reunion and reminiscence. Cut yourself in on the whole program by sending your ticket reservation forms shown on this page and on page 10 now. This will be your last reminder, so DON'T DELAY—DO IT NOW!

ALUMNI

ALUMNI weekend this year was almost a "washout." Almost but not quite—and the difference spelled success. The bugaboo, as all Bucknellians may guess was the weather. Yes, it rained!

Although the weather threatened, approximately 80 hearty souls arrived at the Bison Breakfast Saturday morning to begin a day filled with the renewal of old friendships, entertainment, and surprises.

Alumni Business

Following a hearty breakfast of ham and eggs, 88 delegates from 27 alumni clubs gathered for the Annual Assembly in the Olin Science Auditorium to elect five members to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association to fill the expiring terms of five members. Elected were Wilmer D. Greulich '34, Dr. Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31, Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29), Mrs. Charles E. Copeland (Amorita Sesinger '22), and Donald A. Glover '41. Elected also to the Board as an honorary member posthumously was John F. Worth '37. John, who had been a nominee, died May 15, 1957. Announcement of the election of Miss Thelma J. Showalter '25 as Alumni Trustee for five years was made by President Greulich.

Upon adjournment, the Board of Directors met for a brief session at which time all present officers of The General Alumni Association were re-elected. Know your leaders—see page 26.

Appointed were Mrs. Charles E. Copeland (Amorita Sesinger '22), J. Norman Davies, Esq. '26, and Robert W. Dill '27 to serve on the Committee on Nomination for Alumni Trustee along with holdover members Dr. William P. Bogar '34, Dr. Lester E. Lighton '20, Mrs. Paul M. Showalter (S. Katharine Graham '33), Merrill B. DeWire, M.D. '21, Mrs. Paul L. Miller (Helen Bodine '20), and William J. Irvin '22. Mrs. Miller was asked to serve as chairman of the Committee Appointed to the Alumni Awards Committee were T. Cortland Williams, Jr. '20, Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez '37, Harry O. Dayhoff '23, and Dr. George E. Irland '15. Holdover members include James A. Tyson '11, W. Dale Hay '49, E. W. Pangburn, M.D. '15, Arthur R. Yon '17, and Mrs. Erle M. Topham (C. Ray Speare '17). Mr. Yon was asked to serve as chairman.

C. Martin Neff was appointed to serve for one year from October 1, 1957, as the representative of The General Alumni Association on the Athletic Advisory Committee.

Class Business

Although classes returned to the campus primarily to reunite and reminisce, a surprising amount of class business affairs were settled at the Saturday morning meetings of the various groups. Officers were elected or re-elected and plans were made for a continuing active class organization. Alumni visitors again demonstrated that they prefer the dormitory housing arranged for them on campus. Admittedly, not the equal of the Waldorf-Astoria in comfort, the dormitories make up for this slight lack in convenience and the opportunity for reunion families to spend the weekend together.

Once again the reunion book which features a statistical report of each reunion class, biographical sketches of the members and an up-to-date name and address roster, proved most popular with every reunion class publishing a book. Perhaps the most unique approach was that used by the Class of 1917. These energetic 40th reunion folks recorded their biographies on tape and thus permitted the reunioners to hear the voices of all of the members of the class whether or not they were in attendance at the reunion.

More and more, reunion classes are making the five-year reunion an occasion for emphasizing alumni annual giving and this year, new highs in annual gifts were recorded by the Classes of 1902, 1912, 1917, 1922, 1927, 1932, 1942, 1947, 1952, and 1956.

Attendance records were broken by the Classes of 1917, 1922, 1942, and 1952. All of the class reunion chairmen and their working committees performed an excellent job of planning the reunion, but the "take-charge" guy in the Class of 1952, Augie St. John, deserves a special accolade for his work in organizing his working staff.

Second Century Progress

By all odds, the biggest thrill of the weekend occurred when Dr. Charles L. Horn, President of the F. W. Olin Foundation announced a grant of $1,475,000 from the Foundation for the construction of a classroom building to be named Coleman Hall in tribute to Dr. William H. Coleman, Vice President of the University and Secretary of the Bucknell Study. The complete story of this magnificent gift was reported in "About Bucknell," the new quarterly publication of Bucknell University, which was mailed to all alumni in July and will, therefore, not be repeated here. Following Dr. Horn's announcement of the grant, largest in Bucknell's 111-year history, President Merle M. Odgers predicted that the Olin gift will set off a chain reaction.

"The need for completing the Vaughan Literature Building opposite the new structure will be self evident." He continued, "But I cannot emphasize too strongly that the establishment of this new quadrangle would not limit its effects to better classroom laboratory, office facilities, important as all of these are, for its implications are even wider, if we have the courage and initiative to push ahead." Thus the way has been charted to make two more giant steps in Bucknell's Second Century Development.

Other highlights of the All-Alumni Luncheon were the attendance of Dr. William Van Hayes, Class of 1888, Honorary 1940, who was on campus to celebrate his 69th graduation anniversary along with his sister, Mrs. James Douglas Nisbet (Emma Hayes 195) and other members of his family; and the announcement of the establishment of the Class of 1907 Scholarship Fund, made possible by the contributions of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Speicher (Mary Stanton '07).

Alumni Honored

Three outstanding alumni were given special awards at the luncheon. Harry O. Dayhoff of the Class of 1923 was a recipient of the Bucknell Chair and Certificate in Recognition of Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to The General Alumni Association. Mr. Dayhoff, Secretary of the Harrisburg School Board, has had an outstanding career in athletics having served for many years as a referee on the intercollegiate circuit. Following an outstanding contribution as a player and coach in college and professional sports, he has served youth over a long period of years as director of parks and public property in Harrisburg.

For Meritorious Achievement in One's

Chosen Profession, T. Cortland Williams, Sr., Class of 1920, was awarded the Alumni Medallion and Certificate. Mr. Williams has spent most of his career with Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, a company he now serves as president. During World War II, he served as project manager in charge of construction at the top-secret government A-bomb plant at Oakridge, Tenn. The Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez, Class of 1937, was honored for his Contributions and Service to Fellowman by the award of the Alumni Medallion and Certificate. In continuous service in the Baptist Church since graduation, Rev. Vasquez in 1956 was instrumental in establishing a Prayer Center for all People at St. John's Baptist Church in Philadelphia. The Center displays the flags of over 50 nations and almost 80 countries have sent to the Center letters of good will or prayer to be placed there.

Following the luncheon many alumni and their families enjoyed a swim in the new Freas-Rooke swimming pool, while class reunions gathered again for social parties on and off the campus. After fraternity and sorority symposiums, nearly 1000 alumni enjoyed the fellowship, entertainment, refreshments and dancing at the Alumni Jamboree in the Davis Gym.

374 Degrees Granted

At the Commencement exercises on Monday morning, President Odgers conferred bachelor's degrees on 343 seniors and master's degrees on 25 graduate students before presenting honorary doctorates to seven honorary degree recipients. Highest honors in the class went to Carolyn U. Woodcock of Haddonfield, N. J., who was graduated with the distinction of magna cum laude.

A highlight of the Commencement program was the commissioning of 87 men in the graduating class as second lieutenants in the Army Reserve.

Gwilym A. Price, Chairman and President of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, speaking at the Commencement exercises, urged America's privately supported colleges and universities to expand enrollments to meet the anticipated tidal wave of students.

"I not only think the independent colleges should do this; I think they will have to do it if they are to retain their educational birthright," he declared.

The Rev. Raymond H. Edwards '26 pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ossining, N. Y., preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening on the topic, "The Divine Imperative." Rev. Edwards was graduated from Bucknell in 1926 and three years later from the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School. He was pastor of the First Baptist Church at Plattsburgh, N. Y., from 1929 until 1936 when he accepted his present pastorate at Ossining where his services as a minister and civic leader have evoked wide commendation. In particular, he has been cited for his efforts in behalf of the young people of his community.

Earlier on Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Odgers held a reception for the graduating class and their parents.

Following the Commencement exercises, the leave-taking of the seniors and their parents occupied much of the balance of Monday. Alumni Headquarters bid a fond farewell to Carolyn U. Woodcock, highest honors winner of the class, who had served in the alumni office during four years as a student. The senior class as a group left the campus well organized for alumnihood, with more than 30 members of the class elected and installed as Dunlop, LL.D. Joseph D. Dent '20, LL.D. could not appear in the academic procession due to his health.

AMERICAN BAPTIST—Bucknellian delegates and lay representatives to the American Baptist Convention met for breakfast in Philadelphia on Saturday, June 1, 1957, at Stouffer's Restaurant. Campus representatives attending the breakfast included Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President; John F. Zeller III '41, Assistant to the President; John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary.

After a delicious breakfast was enjoyed by the 31 alumni, parents and friends, self introductions disclosed that there were delegates represented from Massachusetts to Wisconsin. Dr. Odgers spoke on the subject "Academic Touchdowns," and pointed out the achievements of Bucknell during the past decade and outlined the plans for "keeping Bucknell strong."

A survey of those in attendance indicated that a majority had been in Seattle for last year's convention and planned to be in Cincinnati for the 1958 American Baptist Convention.

CALIFORNIA NORTHERN—Bucknellians in the San Francisco-bay area were treated to a visit from a second representative from the campus in the person of Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the Department of Chemistry.

Fourteen members were on hand to meet him at a dinner held at the Leopard Cafe in San Francisco on Tuesday evening, June 25. After a fine dinner, we were pleased to have Dr. Kieft tell us about the latest news of the college. He brought us up to date on the new and proposed facilities on campus and also on the high scholastic requirements that Bucknell is employing. It was evident from his remarks that Bucknell's future as a university of top-most standing will continue.

It was a real pleasure to have Dr. Kieft with us and we regret that more of our members could not have been present to enjoy the evening and to meet him.

The next meeting of our club will be the early part of September, and notices to that effect will be sent out in due time.

ELEANOR H. BENDEL '41,
Secretary

CALIFORNIA SOUTHERN—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Southern California held a meeting on April 5 at which time Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Dean of Women at Bucknell, was present to summarize the most recent happenings at Bucknell. We thoroughly enjoyed her talk and her enthusiasm of the physical as well as the academic work of Bucknell. There were 31 members in attendance. Of the 31 in attendance, over two-thirds expressed an interest in doing more in the way of Alumni gatherings.

GREATER NEW YORK—The following members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York have been elected officers for the 1957-58 year: Claire Wynkoop Carlson '49, president; Philip J. Glaser '46, vice president; Robert Goldston '49, vice president; Chester R. Leaber '19, treasurer; Rhoda B. Wolfe '56, secretary; and directors, Amorita S. Copeland '22; Robert K. Herzfelder '40; Julius Seebach '20, and Louis Groenheim '53.

LEHIGH VALLEY—On May 29 at Anna-Marie's Restaurant in Allentown, 23 members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lehigh Valley attended a dinner to hear Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, chairman of the Department of Education.

New officers elected for the 1957-58 term are as follows: Harry H. Angel '19, president; Earl S. Dunlap, Sr. '24, vice president; Mrs. Paul M. Albert (Ethel Abbotts '40), secretary-treasurer.

M. B. McPHERSON '42

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO—Once again the fifth annual spring dinner meeting, held in Detroit at Hucks Redford Inn on April 12th, highlighted activities for the year. We were honored to have present many new faces, and especially those of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pearce.

It was a real pleasure to entertain Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Bucknell University Dean of Women, who arranged her visit during a trip to the west coast. (May we boast a bit—of all the Alumni groups on her schedule, our attendance topped the list!) Miss Stevenson's report of Burma-Bucknell visitations, the Christian Association project at Cowan, our ever-growing Twelve Million Dollar Campus, and other topics, added up to lots of good listening. Thanks for coming, Miss Stevenson.

Officers elected for the coming year were Bruce Scott '51, president; Evan Thomas '31, vice president; and John Kingsbury '42, secretary-treasurer.

We will miss two staunch members this summer when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brandon '27 (Margaret C. Weddell '16) leave Ann Arbor for the East. Our best wishes accompany Art Brandon, who assumes new duties as a vice president for university relations at New York University.

JOHN KINGSBURY '42,
Secretary

ROCKY MOUNTAINS—On March 25, 1957, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Rocky Mountains was honored to have as its guest Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Dean of Women at Bucknell. At a dinner meeting at the Olin Hotel in Denver, Miss Stevenson spoke to sixteen Alumni and friends on changes at Bucknell, and future improvements and plans in store for the University.

Dr. Karl K. Hulley '18 presided at the business meeting, at which time Andrew Lobel '32 was elected president; Laura Davis '55, secretary-treasurer; and Philip Russell '48, vice president.

The following members and guests enjoyed chatting with Miss Stevenson, and exchanging Bucknell memories and news: Sally Haven '55; Philip Russell '48; Leonard Kimball '49; Alberta Conover '36; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Faraguna '49; Andrew Lobel '32; Irene Oschman '45; Morris Long '49; Karl Hulley '18; Ethel Lobel '33; Laura Davis '55; Marjorie Russell, Helen Hulley, Helen Long, and Rita Kimball.

LAURA DAVIS '55,
Secretary

PITTSBURGH—More than 30 couples attended the annual dance of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania, May 17, at the Penn-Lincoln Hotel in Wilkensburg. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening and a delicious buffet was served at midnight. Many out-of-area guests attended the affair, including John C. Decker '36, Williamsport, a trustee of the University, and Dr. J. Lamar Davis '32 and several of his guests from Ashland.

George Miller '48 and Bob Waddell '50 served as co-chairmen of the event and are to be congratulated for planning such a successful affair.

Pittsburgh area Alumni were grieved to learn in early June of the death of Don England '25, a devoted and active Bucknellian. He had served as vice president and trust officer of Fidelity Trust Co. and had been a regular each week at our Friday noon luncheons on the 11th floor of Kaufmann's Department Store.

Club president Jack Bailey '53 has appointed Hank Pfischner '54 to serve as chairman of the annual picnic which will be held during the second week of September, probably at Norman Davies' farm. The group will also sponsor an indoor social event specifically for members of the 1957 graduating class who live in the western Pennsylvania area. This event is carded for either late September or early October and further details will be announced in the near future.

All Alumni in our area and those passing through Pittsburgh are invited to attend our weekly luncheons on Friday at Kaufmann's on the 11th floor. A great spirit of fellowship is generated at this informal hour.

AL FOSTER '48,
Secretary

ST. PETERSBURG—The Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg, Florida, met on Saturday, May 4th, at the home of Mrs. Henry Colestock '16, for a covered dish luncheon. There were 14 present.

We welcomed as new members Mr. and Mrs. Morris Van Gundy '98 who live at 125-56th Street, South, Sunny Shores Villa, Mr. and Mrs. James Hurley '28, with their three children who live at 3633 20th Street, North, and Mr. and Mrs. Crismyre who live at 3528-5th Avenue, North. Mr. Crismyre entered the Academy in 1896 and later entered the college in 1898. The Spanish-American War interrupted his stay at Bucknell and he never returned. Mrs. Van Gundy will be remembered as Florence Callahan, the art teacher at Bucknell.

Gilbert Lyte's '09 birthday was celebrated with a beautifully decorated cake to add to the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stauffer '06 have moved to 15719 Redington Drive, Redington Beach; it being moving day they could not be with us.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bailets '09, 552 Kirkwood Terrace, North, on December 7th.

RUTH S. PORTER '05,
Secretary

YORK—Our annual picnic was held July 20 at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Etzweiler '27 located along the Susquehanna at Long Level, Pa. Swimming, boating, bingo, and lawn sports were enjoyed. A caterer served supper to 34 Bucknellians and friends.

Joseph W. Henderson's Death a Great Loss to the University

Every man leaves a monument. At his death on July 25, Joseph W. Henderson left many great monuments to his University, his community, his state, and the nation.

Dr. Henderson, who was 67, was vacationing at Eagles Mere, Pa., when he became ill on Monday, July 22. He was taken to Divine Providence Hospital, Williamsport, and died there on Thursday, July 25.

News of his passing brought immediate testimonials from unnumbered persons to his family and his University. The Hon. Horace A. Hildreth, past president of Bucknell University and former U. S. Ambassador to Pakistan, wrote:

"Most Bucknellians have little appreciation of the great and invaluable service that Joe Henderson rendered his University. His firm but kindly and intelligent guidance as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University ably solved many difficult and important problems for Bucknell University. In reaching vital decisions, his clear mind enabled him to make more progress in solving problems in one-half hour than most people could make in a day's labored consideration.

"Mr. Henderson's standing and contacts in the world of public affairs and in the legal profession gave a prestige to Bucknell University that few of its other alumni could give.

"The Board of Trustees, and particularly the Presidents of Bucknell University who had the help of Mr. Henderson as chairman of the Trustees, are well aware of Mr. Henderson's great contribution to Bucknell University, and, as one of the University's former presidents, I should like to call to the attention of all the alumni the services rendered by Mr. Henderson.

"His community, his University, his state, and the nation have suffered a grievous loss."

Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, dean of the University, in a letter to the faculty, commented: "Dr. Henderson has been active in the affairs of the nation, state, and his city, but above all he placed his loyalty and devotion to Bucknell—attesting by long service the importance in which he held the place of higher education and the private college.

"He had been a member of the Board of Trustees since 1933 and the progress of the University in the post war era is in no small part a tribute to his leadership and continuing interest. Two small examples serve to characterize his deep interest in scholarship and academic achievement. He created and endowed the fund which makes possible the research stipend awarded each summer to selected members of the Bucknell faculty. Only this year he created and endowed a scholarship at the Harvard Law School to which preference is to be given a Bucknell graduate."

An editorial in The Sunbury Item stated: "A man of many interests and outstanding prominence, honored by his professional associates with the presidency of the American Bar Association and on repeated occasions by his fellow citizens of Philadelphia, Mr. Henderson never deviated in his loyalty to Bucknell from the time of his graduation in 1908 to the day he ended life's journey. A chairman of the board of trustees and a board member for 24 years, he constantly contributed time, effort, substance and influence to the upbuilding of his alma mater."

Born February 6, 1890, in Montgomery, the son of the late Samuel B. and Jean Welles Henderson, he attended the old Bucknell Academy and was graduated from the University in 1908 with the A.B. degree. He entered Harvard Law School and was awarded the LL.B. degree in 1913, the same year he was awarded the A.M. degree by Bucknell University. He later served Harvard as a member of the visiting committee of the Harvard Law School. In 1944, he was awarded the honorary D.C.L. degree by Bucknell and the honorary LL.D. degree by Temple University. He was one of the youngest ever graduated from Bucknell, entering college at the age of 14 and graduating when he was just 18 years old. A brilliant student, he became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic fraternity, and an honorary member of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership society. Throughout the years he has taken an active interest in his college fraternity, Phi Kappa Psi.

DISTINGUISHED LAW CAREER

Dr. Henderson joined the Rawle law offices in Philadelphia in 1913 and three years later formed a partnership with the late Francis Rawle. At the time of his death he was the senior partner of the firm of Rawle and Henderson, the Rawle offices having been started in 1783, and probably being the oldest law firm in the country.

Seldom had a member of the bar served his professional co-workers in such a distinguished manner as did Dr. Henderson. During World War I, he served as a special insurance counsel for the Alien Property Custodian and acted as legal adviser to the Italian Consulate General in an eight-state district. In recognition of this service, he was decorated as an Officer and Chevalier of the Order of Crown of Italy. He had carried on legal work in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and England, and had handled cases of considerable legal bearing before the United States Supreme Court. Other legal services included activities as vice president, National Association of Legal Aid Organization; director, Philadelphia Legal Aid Society; chairman, Philadelphia Lawyers' Reference Service; member, War Department Advisory Committee on Military Justice; associate editor, American Maritime Cases; member of executive committee, Maritime Law Association; member, Council of Inter-American Bar Association; special assistant to Attorney General; director, National Traffic Bureau; member, Council on Naturalization and Citizenship; member, Hearing Board Examiners for hearing, examiner personnel, U. S. Civil Service Commission; vice president, Harvard Law School Association; member, Advisory Board of Editors, American Bar Association Journal; honorary member of Canadian and many state bar associations. A member of the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and American Bar Association, he had the honor to serve during 1943-44 as president of the American Bar Association. In 1944 at a meeting of the Inter-American Bar Association held in Mexico City, Dr. Henderson addressed the assembly in Spanish on the topic, "International Justice According to Law." He had been invited to deliver an address on July 25 (the day of his death) in Grocers' Hall, London, opening a phase of the 80th annual meeting of the American Bar Association. He was detained in this country by a legal case and the address was presented to the group of lawyers by his son, J. Welles Henderson, Jr.

His services to national, state and community organizations covered a wide range, including, president, Union League of Philadelphia from December 1955 until his death; member, Maritime Society of the United States; the Port of Philadelphia Maritime Society; president, Board of Trustees of the Presbyterian Church of Chestnut Hill; member, Presbyterian Board of Pensions; member, National Building Fund Committee; trustee, the Tabor Home for Children; member, the Board of City Trusts, Philadelphia, the organization which administers Girard College and other projects in that city. He had been president of St. Andrew's Society of Philadelphia; member, Military Justice Committee which re-examined military trials after the second World War; committee member, Consultants to U. S. Civil Service Commission; member, Johnson Committee on reorganization program; member, National Advisory Council to the Commission on Patents of the House of Representatives; and many other committees and commissions. Upon the announcement of his death at the London meeting of the Bar Association, the attending members paid a standing tribute to their former president.

SERVED BUCKNELL WELL

From his days as a student, Dr. Henderson had served Bucknell University and its General Alumni Association in many ways. His span of service covered more than half a century for he entered the Bucknell Academy in the spring of 1900 at the age of 10. His qualities of leadership were early felt in the councils of the University. Active in local alumni club affairs in Philadelphia from the time he moved to that city, he served in many important committee assignments and as president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia. Later he served as president of the General Alumni Association. Elected a member of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University in 1933, he was secretary from 1943 to 1947, and had been in active service in posts of leader-

Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15 Completes Alumni Trustee Term

(Editor's note: When Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15 was nominated for election to the University Board of Trustees by the Alumni Association in 1952, it was the first time that an election was held with only women candidates in the contest. This procedure was another first in alumni activities and came about because alumnae of the University felt strongly that every five years at least a woman should represent the Association on the Board of Trustees. The report which follows represents another first—the first time that a trustee has reported to the general alumni body at the conclusion of a term of service on the Board of Trustees. We hope you will read the report and we trust that from now on we will be able to publish similar reports as Alumni Trustees complete their terms of office.)

My Dear Bucknell Alumni:

My five years' service as your representative on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell have ended with this Commencement. When you elected me Alumni Trustee, I was very proud of the honor, was deeply appreciative of your faith, and tried to serve intelligently. Now, at the end of this period, I want to thank you for the opportunity I had to learn many things about Bucknell I had not known before. It occurred to me that perhaps you would like to share this knowledge for it makes me prouder than ever to be a Bucknellian.

ship on the Board ever since. Upon the death of the late Roy G. Bostwick in 1947, he became chairman of the Board of Trustees and served in that capacity until his death. On two occasions, Dr. Henderson served as acting president of the University, in 1949 following the resignation of Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, and again in 1953, after the departure of Dr. Horace A. Hildreth. His achievements on the Board of Trustees were many; for example, just to mention one, was his skill and counsel in the handling of the Virginia lands owned by Bucknell University. His leadership on the Board of Trustees will be sadly missed.

Dr. Henderson is survived by his widow, the former Anne Kaler Dresbach, member of the Class of 1913, and his son, J. Welles Henderson, Jr., a member of the law firm of which Dr. Henderson was senior partner, and by four grandchildren. The family resided at 201 West Gravers Lane, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia. Two brothers and a sister, all of whom attended Bucknell, preceded him in death. Several cousins residing in Williamsport and Montgomery also survive.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, July 29, in the Presbyterian Church of Chestnut Hill, and were attended by approximately four hundred persons, including representatives of many of the organizations with which Dr. Henderson had been associated.

Present also were many leaders in national affairs and civic life. Among them were former Senator George Wharton Pepper, former U. S. Attorney General James B. McGranery and many others.

Services were conducted by Dr. Burleigh Cruikshank, former pastor of the church, and Rev. Andrew Mutch, retired pastor of Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church and chaplain for St. Andrew's Society. Interment was in West Laurel Hill Cemetery in Philadelphia.

President Merle M. Odgers headed a group of Bucknell University officials who attended the services in a body. Bucknell's Board of Trustees was also represented by a large delegation of members from Philadelphia, New York, Wilmington, and Central Pennsylvania.

Although I am a member of other Boards having to do with business and organizations, there is none whose members have a deeper devotion to duty than our Board of Trustees. All the men and women who compose our Board have been and are most devoted to Bucknell to have accomplished so much with so little, to have given so much of their substance, and to have made the most valuable gift of all, their time, to the business of operating the University. All serve at their own expense and distance has been no barrier.

Like most Alumni, I took many things for granted, but now I know that every building and every other thing on the campus are the result of the dreams of people who cared enough for generations yet unseen to work, often against great and discouraging obstacles, to make those dreams come true.

Before you gave me this opportunity, I knew there had to be business arrangements and, because we Bucknellians are not a wealthy group on the whole, I knew there had to be careful planning by "somebody", but I have never known any group to be more careful nor take such great pride that none of the money entrusted to them should be wasted. The Board, the Administration, the Faculty, and the workmen all share in this.

We have a good provision in our charter which prevents the encumbering of our real estate. We can truly say when we look at our Hill, "This is ours." This is not an easy procedure to follow especially when needs and demands are great and pressing, but it is a highly satisfactory one. You may be sure that any gift you make to Bucknell, no matter how small or how large, will go into the University itself. I have learned that our Alumni Fund has come to mean very much to the University and that many small gifts add up to an appreciable difference in our operations.

Another thing I have learned is that we have benefited more than we know through particular application to the adage that the Lord helps those who help themselves. Because Bucknellians are helpful to Bucknell, others have been willing to help too. A look around The Hill gives proof of this. Here again your gifts add up to an appreciable difference in our campus.

While I was at College and for sometime thereafter, despite the fact I had a working scholarship to help me, I had an idea that because I had paid my tuition, I had paid for my education. Nothing could possibly have been further from the truth! When I finally started to think, I realized tuition covers only the barest current expenses incident to the use by the student. It could never make a scholarship available; it could never pay for so much as one brick in one building; it could never carry but a very small fraction of the salary of any teacher; it could never cover repairs to buildings, nor their normal upkeep. All these things must come from others. Scholarships do not just happen, buildings did not build themselves, the campus does not maintain itself. All these things I was permitted to use for my education, were dreamed about, planned, and given by those who care enough for young people to help them to get an education, and for their country because they knew the country needs educated citizens. The only way I can repay these unknown benefactors who made it possible for me to have a college to attend, is to care enough for those who follow me to give of myself and my substance in the greatest measure I can.

It has been my privilege to be a student, on alumna active in the Alumni Association and finally its President, a very wonderful honor in itself, and your representative on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell. In all these steps, I have learned that whatever time and money, very little because I haven't very much, I have given to Bucknell are amongst the best investments I could have made for my personal satisfaction. I feel I have joined the long procession of fine Bucknell people whose lives have contributed something to the future. I can only hope that all other alumni will share this great satisfaction with me.

Thank you again for the great opportunity you gave me to serve all of you and especially Bucknell.

Sincerely,

EMMA E. DILLON

WASHINGTON—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C., held its spring meeting at the Vineyard Restaurant in Washington on June 4, 1957. A good size gathering heard a talk by Mr. Boyd Sibbert, Jr. of the Ferris Co., investment firm, on "Personal Financial Planning." A tribute was paid to John F. Worth '37, former club president, who passed away unexpectedly on May 15.

The following new officers were elected: Dr. Walter G. Held '43, president; Milton Jacques '47, vice president; Gladys Anderson '48, secretary; and Ivan Jarrett '43, treasurer.

officers. Knowing that the group would be spread all over the world within a few weeks, adequate organization was built to maintain the Class of 1957 as a well organized unit. Many members pledged themselves to return to the campus June 1958 for the first big reunion of the class.

Board of Trustees Re-Elected

At the semi-annual meeting of the Bucknell University Board of Trustees, five trustees were re-elected and Miss Thelma Showalter '29, Mifflinburg, was named a new member of the Board, by election of the General Alumni Association.

Renamed were Ridgeway Kennedy, Jr., president of Abbotts Dairies, Philadelphia; Harry G. Schad, vice president of Atlantic Refining Company, Philadelphia; Kenneth W. Slifer '26, vice president of N. W. Ayers & Sons, Philadelphia; Horace A. Hildreth, former president of the University, now of Portland, Maine; and Elmer K. Bolton '08, Wilmington, Del.

Re-elected as honorary chairman of the Board was Rush H. Kress '00, New York City; while Joseph W. Henderson '08, Philadelphia attorney was re-elected chairman of the Board, and Robert L. Rooke '13, Newark, N. J., was named secretary.

The Board received annual reports from the following committees: executive, instruction, finance, buildings and grounds, public relations, and a number of special reports.

Approval was given for the appointment of a number of faculty and administrative positions. A complete report of promotions, retirements, and appointments will be carried in the next issue of THE ALUMNUS.

Samuel L. Clark, Trustee, 1946 - 1956

Samuel L. Clark died at his home, 310 Linden Drive, Merion, Saturday, April 20, 1957, at the age of 77 years. His death followed a prolonged illness.

Mr. Clark was born in Indiana County where the Clark family had many associations with the commercial life of the area.

Samuel graduated from Bucknell Academy and entered the banking and industrial business world of the county, becoming directly associated with business activities at Glen Campbell. Later, he transferred his activities to Philadelphia, where he served as treasurer and eventually president of Clark Brothers Coal Company.

As the business interests of Mr. Clark expanded, he became president of the Royal Oil and Gas Corporation, a company having active interests in several Western states.

In 1900 Mr. Clark married Margretta Stadden, a member of a prominent central Pennsylvania family, well and favorably known to many Bucknellians of that period. There were four children: David S., John Willard, Samuel L., Jr., and Anna K. Mrs. Clark died in 1949.

During most of the time of Mr. Clark's membership on the Board of Trustees, he was not able to serve as actively as his custom, for he, in any project that he undertook, generally or readily accepted the responsibilities of any position he assumed. He appreciated the needs of the educational world; eagerly associated with men of affairs; and engaged in recreational and social activities, as was evident in his membership and interests in the Overbrook Presbyterian Church, the Yachting Club at Stone Harbor and the Union League of Philadelphia.

In the passing of Samuel L. Clark, Bucknell and education lost a true friend. The community in which he lived lost the direct interests of one who understood the needs and the programs helpful to society.

THE BUCKNELL REVIEW

The May issue of The Bucknell Review contains two essays on individual poets, and two on general critical questions, one on symbolism in poetry, and one on the theatre. Professor Ralph Rees of the Bucknell English department in "The Armor of Marianne Moore" begins with the observation that the idea of the armor worn by animals occurs everywhere in Miss Moore's poetry and quickly extends the metaphor to characterize Miss Moore's own technique of poetry, which he analyzes. He draws upon Randall Jarrell, Wallace Fowlie, and others for confirmation of his observations.

Mr. James Carens, also of the Bucknell English department, writes a lengthy analysis of Andrew Marvell's poems on Oliver Cromwell, especially The First Anniversary of the Government under O. C. He discusses Marvell's approval of Cromwell, who appeared to Marvell as representing the principle of order, and then examines the imagery of the poem in a somewhat mechanical manner, according to the principles of the New Critics.

Mr. Marshall Suther, of the State University of New York, in a provocative and closely-reasoned essay entitled "On the Interpretation of Kubla Khan" examines a question important for poetic criticism, and especially for contemporary criticism. It is the question: Is symbolism a special poetic technique, used only by certain poets, or is it an inherent and essential part of all poetry as distinguished from prose? Drawing upon Coleridge, Mr. Suther argues that symbolism is the essence of all poetry, and that such images as the pleasure dome and the cave of ice in "Kubla Khan" should be treated symbolically in order to reveal the meaning of the poem. He does not provide the interpretation in this article, but it raises questions which are both deep and far-reaching.

"Theatrical Convention, the Conditions of Acceptability," by Professor Harvey Powers, Bucknell, again treats esthetic theory, the relation of stage setting or "scenic convention" to its acceptance by the audience. Professor Powers aptly illustrates his point by showing that the stage setting for Tennessee Williams'

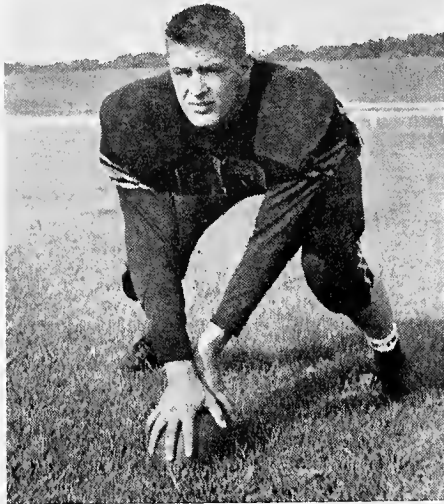

Gifts to the Bucknell Archives

Three recent gifts have greatly enriched the archives of Bucknell University. One of these, consisting of documents, photographs, letters, and other materials illustrating the career of David Jayne Hill, a former president of Bucknell, was made by Mr. Hill's grandson, Walter L. Hill, Jr. '23. Another, consisting of the diploma and the diary of George Good (Bucknell, 1852), was made by Mr. Good's great-grandson, T. M. Steece. Mr. Good's diary contains, inter alia, entries for the two years when he was a student in Lewisburg (1847-48 and 1851-52). In the final entry this statement appears: "Went and got the signatures to my Diploma of Dr. Malcolm Prest of G. W. Anderson, Secretary, and of Heman Lincoln Chancellor during this afternoon." The third is the gift of two bound volumes of an early Pennsylvania newspaper edited by a great grandfather of the donor, Dr. William D. Hinman '07, Floral City, Florida.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees in June 1956, Dr. J. Orin Oliphant of the Department of History was named University archivist. It is evident that these contributions have been made in response to our call in the last issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS for historical items that should be preserved in the archives of the University. Will you please continue your search for historical items for Dr. Oliphant, especially letters to and from former presidents of the University?

Cat on a Hot Tin Roof is not aesthetically justified "by its accord with the assumptions of the play." The audience is therefore not impressed by the rightness of the convention, and remain uncomfortably aware of it. The author concludes that any dramatic convention "must ultimately be accepted without the consciousness of acceptance on the part of the spectator." In spite of the use of the word ultimately, which makes one ask how long is 'ultimately'? Mr. Powers has clarified a question which is often confused.

Football in '57

MIKE HIXSON '59

When Harry Lawrence ventured the opinion last year at this same time that his 1956 eleven would prove to be superior to the team that represented Bucknell the previous autumn, he wasn't dreaming. Despite the fact that his forces were constantly side-tracked by illness and injuries, the canny coach managed to salvage three of the eight contests on the Bisons' schedule, thus improving upon the 2-6-1 mark of '55.

As for the coming fall, Lawrence, celebrating his eleventh term as Bucknell's grid tutor, anticipates continued progress by his students of the pigskin sport. "We should be better than we were the past two years, provided injuries and illness are held to a minimum," prophesied a mentor who disdains use of the crying towel that is usually standard equipment for college coaches. "I'll remain an optimist until I have good reason to be otherwise," the bossman added.

Especially encouraging to Lawrence is the shape of his first string line. "We are already set at most of our line posts, whereas a year ago the situation was unsettled most of the time. We can start seven lettermen and give most of them able relief, although it may require some doubling of duties. We won't be deep—but we will be versatile. There's speed and experience up front. At the moment our line appears to be better off than our backfield. But things can happen and situations can change," Harry continued, hoping, of course, that his backs will surprise him.

"Our greatest pick-up should be in defensive line play, while our added overall experience should help make our split-T run more smoothly. We shouldn't make as many mistakes on the attack as we did last fall. We won't go undefeated but we will give anyone on our schedule a terrific battle."

"Incidentally, most of our opponents appear to be much stronger than they were last season. Gettysburg and Temple (to be met at Lewisburg, Oct. 5), in particular, seem to be on the way up with veteran outfits and some talented newcomers. Although we usually have good luck against them, Albright will probably be troublesome (the Lions open Bucknell's home campaign under the Memorial Stadium lights, Sept. 21). We don't really know too much about Carnegie Tech, except that they threw an awful lot of passes last season and their pitcher (John Tucci) is back again."

"Boston University (which visits Bucknell for a homecoming clash Oct. 19) could be the toughest team on our schedule. They play Syracuse and West Virginia before they come here so we ought to learn a little bit about them in a short time. Lehigh, Lafayette, Colgate, and Delaware (a Bison guest come Nov. 17) seldom fail to field standout elevens and '57 will be no exception. No, there won't be any softies for the Bisons this season, but we'll be ready for whatever comes."

If you're seeking a tale of woe Harry Lawrence is the wrong guy to look up. Even in mid-summer's devastating heat, with several of his key players scrimmaging the books in summer school, and a couple more recuperating from vital operations, Harry retains his enthusiasm.

What does he have to work with this season? Well, his formidable forward wall will feature tussle-tested lettermen from flank to flank in Bruce Nealy, Bill Walasek, Gene Meenan, Mike Hixson, Lew Hart, Bob Holmes and Rogers Frassenei. Tackle Holmes and guard Hart loom as the big shots of the line with Hixson, at the pivot, a possible surprise package as a junior.

These seven stalwarts should receive capable support from veteran Dick Hunn, a rugged 220 pounder, and sophomore recruits Charlie Negron, a guard, and ends Jim Brady and Doug Forsyth. There are others but these are the lads with the top potential. Observers might pay special attention to Brady, 6-2, 205-pound fire-eater, who could develop into quite a wingman.

In the secondary, quarterback is well staffed with holdover Terry Fetterman backed by junior Lee Davis (benched with an injury in '56) and sophs Dennis Cox and Bud Weisbeck. Cox is said to be another rookie who'll bear watching. As long as converted halfback Bob Fitzsimmons can stick in there the fullback post will be in good hands. A worthy understudy, however, may have to be drafted from the halfback ranks.

The halfbacks have sufficient speed but they lack size and drive. The Bisons may have to open up their offense more to compensate for the dearth of power. Varsity returnees are Jack Brothers, Chuck Wagner, Andy Errickson and Charlie Apgar, while the sophomore voted most likely to succeed at the halfback position is 5-10, 170-pound Clint Gilkey.

Please bear in mind, ye loyal supporters of the Bison, a 4-5 record would represent additional improvement, and quite an achievement to boot.

Oberlin Joins Coaching Ranks

During the past summer Roger Oberlin was named head baseball coach, assistant football coach and physical education instructor at Bucknell.

For the last five years Oberlin had been coaching baseball and football at Quincy High School in Quincy, Michigan. He comes to Bucknell well recommended by his former coaches, co-workers and teammates.

A graduate of Hillsdale College of Hillsdale, Michigan, the 28-year-old Oberlin played four seasons of minor league baseball after starring as a first baseman, a football quarterback, and a basketball guard for his alma mater.

Roger, who is married and the father of two sons, is expected to assume his grid duties August 31st, when the Bison squad is scheduled to report for the start of fall practice. He will assist head mentor Harry Lawrence by handling the ends and the defensive backfield.

TICKETS

Make your move early. If you want to ride the Bison Bandwagon this fall. To procure choice seats for Dad's Day and Homecoming, it is advisable to get your ticket order in as soon as possible.

Students and faculty again have sections D, E, and F with Alumni in sections B and C, all on the West side of the field. All these seats are between the 10 and 45-yard lines. Alumni also have a choice of 50-yard line seats on the East (Press Box) side of the stadium. Please indicate your preference on the application below.

To receive the above priorities for Homecoming, applications accompanied by checks or money orders, must be in the Athletic Office by October 10.

Bucknell Prospers in Spring Sports

On four spring sports fronts the Bisons posted an overall 29-18 record. The trackmen of Bus Blum skimmed to six straight victories without a loss. During a three-year span the Orange and Blue thinclads have captured 14 of 15 dual and triangular meets. Meanwhile, the golfers, under Harold Evans, blazed to a 9-3 finish and their second consecutive Middle Atlantic Conference crown. Also included was a 5-4 conquest of Penn State, first in the school's links history.

Hank Peters' net squad clicked at an 8-5 clip, the sixth campaign in a row in which the Herd tennis team earned at least a mark of .500. Only Bill Lane's last BU baseball club failed to win more than it lost. The tossers dropped their final six contests and wound up with a 6-10 slate.

Bison Headquarters for Football Games Away

Don't forget that football games away from the campus give you an opportunity to see the Thundering Herd in action in your home area. Here's how you can meet the gang as you follow the Bisons on the road:

HERSHEY—September 28—Bison dinner before the Gettysburg game at the Hershey Golf Club right across from the stadium and using the same parking area. A baked ham buffet at $1.00 each will be served at 6:00 p. m. Bucknellians and friends living in Pennsylvania should order football tickets through their local club president thus giving the local club a refund for the local club treasury.

BETHLEHEM—November 2—Bison luncheon before the Lehigh game at the Plaza Restaurant, 618 East Third St.—directly across the street from the 13 story Main Office building of the Bethlehem Steel Company. Lunch will be served at 12 noon. Write for reservations to Mr. Harry Angel, Bethlehem Steel Co., Bethlehem, Pa.

HAMILTON, NEW YORK—November 9—Bison luncheon before the Colgate game at Colgate Inn, Hamilton, at 12 noon or earlier.

NAME YOUR CANDIDATES

This is your invitation to suggest the names of Bucknellians to be considered as candidates for a number of University and Alumni posts.

The form (provided below) will make it easy to exercise one of your privileges and responsibilities as a member of the Bucknell Alumni family.

WHO IS YOUR ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATE?

Each year one alumni trustee is nominated for consideration for membership on the Board of Trustees by vote of Alumni from a slate of three candidates selected by the Alumni Committee on Nomination of Trustee. In our large alumni body, many likely possibilities might be overlooked unless we have your suggestion at hand. Your suggested candidate need not be a member of your class nor must he reside in your community, but he must have attended Bucknell University and should be able to give consideration of the broad problems of University policy and should be willing and able to attend two board meetings plus several committee meetings each year.

ALUMNI AWARDS CANDIDATES

The committee on Alumni Awards will meet on Saturday, October 19, to select recipients for alumni awards in three categories: (a) for meritorious achievement in the field or profession in which the candidate is engaged, (b) for recognized contributions and service to fellowmen through such media as religion, charity, art, science or public welfare, and (c) for outstanding service, unselfish interest, and demonstrated loyalty to the University and to the Association. The committee will appreciate your suggestions of candidates in these three categories.

ALUMNI BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The by-laws of The General Alumni Association provide for an election of five members to the governing Board of Directors each year, and you are invited to suggest the names of Alumni to be considered as alumni board of director nominees.

Candidates for all these posts must be considered by committees meeting on Homecoming Week-end, October 19. A great deal of clerical work and time is required in preparing biographical resumes for committee action. Consequently, your suggestions on the form below are needed now.

A WORD OF CAUTION

In the past, a few Alumni have misinterpreted this call for candidates and have felt that multi-recommendations are necessary for favorable committee action. Such is not the case; a candidate with one recommendation receives the same committee consideration as a candidate with a hundred recommendations. It would be well to keep in mind that under our by-laws, nominating committees are required to select the candidate it considers "best suited and qualified," rather than on the basis of the number of recommendations. Selection of candidates should never be made as a result of a popularity contest.

Remember—committees meet October 19, and in the case of alumni trustee candidates, cannot consider persons who have not previously accepted the invitation to be placed in nomination. As this clearance requires time, your suggestions should be made now.

Suggestions of Persons to Be Considered for Nomination

Seated, Left to Right—Mrs. Sarah Judd Shields '02, Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01, Mrs. Charlotte Shields Murphy '03, Mrs. Maude Hummel Moisson '05, Mrs. Isabelle Schweyer Robison '01, Mrs. Marion Ginter Remer '02, Mary Cotton '96, Sadie Hummel (unknown), Flora M. Johnson '04, Dr. T. Lamar Williams '02, Frank W. Stanton, Esq. '02, Dr. Lewis E. Theiss '02, Harold V. Leshner '05, Dr. Charles M. Teufel '04, Dr. Howard Murphy.

The Bucknell Emeritus Club held its 1957 reunion in the spacious and attractive Hunt Hall Recreation Room on June 8.

Twenty-five persons were present with Dr. John I. Woodruff '90 representing the earliest class in attendance. The president, as presiding officer, opened the gathering with prayer. John C. Johnson '04 and Mrs. Sara Judd Shields '02 served as secretaries pro tem. Faculty hosts, Prof. and Mrs. Frank A. Sprague, were introduced and brought greetings.

An item in the president's report of special interest was a statement of a new co-promotional plan by districts for increasing attendance upon the annual reunions. (Some co-promoters reporting showed possibilities in the plan). Also, 83 returns were received from Emeritus Club members in response to the Reunion publicity sent out. This was an increase of 26 over 1956. It seems an evidence of an increased interest.

All officers of the club were re-elected as follows: Dr. Charles M. Teufel '04, president; Prof. Frank E. Burpee '01, vice president; William G. Murdock, Esq. '04, secretary-treasurer; Col. A. F. Dershimer '03, class fund manager; Mary Cotton '96, class reporter; and, Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01 and Mrs. Sarah Judd Shields '02, directors.

A recommendation of the Board was adopted "That, in accord with Objective 4 of the constitution, 'that more attention be given to collect and preserve records, letters, news write-ups, anecdotes and local traditions of Bucknell and contributions of books to the library.'"

With the discussion of agenda items it was learned that THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS was widely read and local clubs are given considerable attention. The year's contributions to the Class Fund showed 158 Emeritus Club contributors representing 38% and totalling in money $2,841.00. June contributions undoubtedly increased these figures.

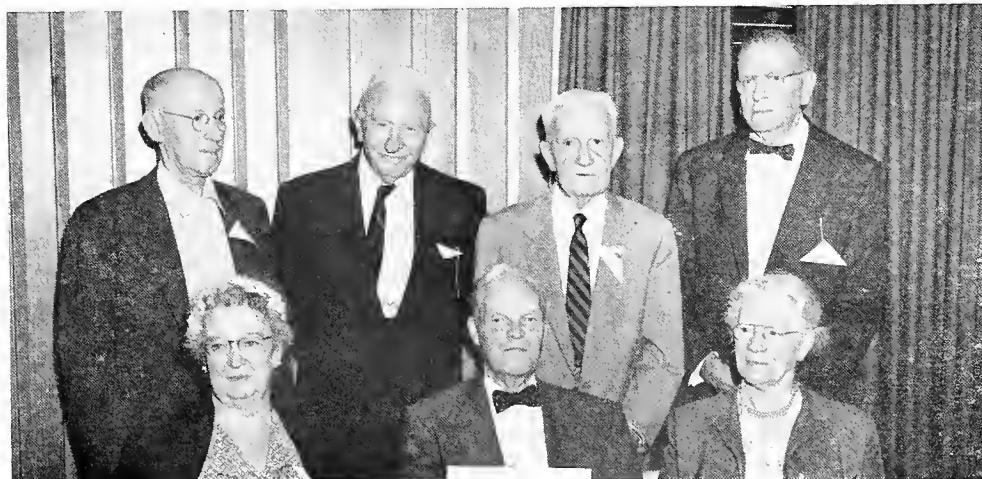

Fortunately it was possible through the morning and the 3:00 P. M. social meeting in the Walker House to give attention in whole or in large part to every one of the 43 written greetings received which were discussed and appreciated.

In reporting a reunion event it is understood that class and college spirit in reminiscent mood are intangibles that give peculiar zest to the reunion assembly.

The morning session adjourned for the picture of the reunion attendants in which the Class of 1902, even though later holding its own reunion, joined in a body. The All-Alumni Luncheon was well attended by Emeritus Club Alumni.

President

CLASS OF 1902

The Class of 1902 met with the Emeritus Club in Hunt Hall Recreation Room, Saturday morning, June 8, 1957. In the afternoon, as the 55-year class, we met at the home of Dr. Lewis E. Theiss. Ten of us were there, but only six had been graduated in the College Class of 1902. We welcome graduates and matriculates from all departments of the University and their wives and husbands at all reunions.

Less than 50 graduated from the College that year and there are only 16 living, but Institute and Music graduates bring our roll to 34.

Alan Cunningham, reunion chairman, had letters from a number of the class from which he read interesting excerpts. Following this each one present told of his life and what he knew of the whereabouts and lives of other

CLASS OF 1907

June 8, 1957, will long live in the memories of all '07ers who were present at our 50th class reunion.

We greatly missed our president, Leo Rockwell, who could not get away from his teaching post at the University of Guadalajara, Mexico. However, our faculty host, Dr. Russell A. Headley, came to our aid and conducted the meeting. He saw to it that we all wore funny hats when we knew we looked funny enough already. He also conducted the election of officers, all our present officers being re-elected. They are as follows: Dr. Leo L. Rockwell, president; Mrs. John W. Speicher, class fund manager; Dr. Leo L. Rockwell, class reporter; and Rev. George A. Riggs, reunion chairman.

George Riggs distributed the reunion books which he had compiled. George, in his 80th year, tackled the editing job which no one else had the nerve to do. Bless him! He did a good job! The camera man took our picture, and right here I want to make an amazing offer. Anyone who will correctly identify all the folks in the '07 picture will receive a handsome award. members. Almost all are "retired" but still doing some work. All are interested in Bucknell. Those present expressed the opinion that they preferred a college the size "IT USED TO BE" rather than one with classes as large as they are today, when class members hardly know each other.

The Class of 1902 L'Agenda and the senior class picture helped us to remember all our classmates, and many interesting tales of college days were told.

Dr. Lewis E. Theiss was re-elected for the next five years as class president and class fund manager.

We separated with expressions of thanks to our kind host and hostess and promised to meet again in five years.

—SARAH JUDD SHIELDS '02

They say "A reunion is a get-together to see who's falling apart," not with the Class of 1912.

The Conners, Iglers, Waltzs, Ruby Stuck, Rip Ruth, Lew Robinson, Coleman Harris, and Frank Hean arrived Friday evening. Saturday morning's contingents were the Appgars, Williams, Riehls, Crandells, Sprouts, Everetts, Davenports, Bartholemews, Gundy Pawlings, Jim Harris and Isabelle, Helen Ruth and friends, and Walter Eisenmenger. NOTICE! Would you believe that Bartholemew, Eisenmenger, and Helen Ruth appeared after 45 years?

At the class business meeting all the present officers were re-elected. They are as follows: James P. Harris, Esq., president; A. Oscar Wolfe, class fund manager; and Maze Callahan, class reporter and reunion chairman.

A Model T Ford carried your reunion chairmen with Frank Hean and Lew Robinson on the running boards, expanding their lungs and displaying the 1912 banner. The class, the only one to parade, followed in a drenching rain.

Frank Davis was our host. We were privileged to have as our guests for luncheon Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Dale Spotts, Dr. and Mrs.

Nicodemus, Dr. and Mrs. Fred McAllister '11, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richards '13, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McClure, Roy Mikle '10, and Renee, Sal Fisher and Margaret McClure.

We were especially pleased to meet and know our in-laws, Katie Iglar, Sarah Waltz, Petrona Hean, Margaret Sprout, Evelyn Riehl, Grace Crandell, Nelle Follmer Everett, Isabelle Harris, Edna Davenport, and Helen Bartholemew. Also Ray Appgar, Frank Williams, Gundy Pawling and Pop. He "tot-ed" the "extras" so I must mention him even though Emily Post might not approve.

Our regalia was quite unique. Patty Conner, had cut the pictures from our 1912 L'Agenda, framed them and inserted a pin to fasten them on. To some, we might have appeared as a walking photograph gallery, but not to the wives who became quite romantic and fell in love with their beaux again. I can't say, being one of the wives, Pop displayed no romantic interest at all.

Then we had a badge, a blue ribbon with a '12 on it. Again to some, they might have thought we were to a poultry auction, all Rhode Island Reds "The Best Chicken Wins," but to us it was the Class of 1912 celebrating a wonderful 45 years.

I wish Dr. Harris, our prexy, could have come back for just one hour to see the big crowd who jammed the gym at the All-Alumni Luncheon, and wouldn't he have been thrilled to see all those new buildings!

After the luncheon we were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Stolz at their attractive home. This informal tea was a very nice homey affair. We all just sat around and had a good old-fashioned visit. We had so much to say and so short a time in which to say it. We talked about you absentees and, of course, about our grandchildren. Frymire had pictures of his five beautiful little granddaughters, all charmers. In the number of grandchildren, Tom Schultz tops the list. He has 22 grandchildren.

The evening was given over to the Alumni jamboree in the gymnasium. When we returned to our rooms in Robert Hall at 1:00 A. M., we were happy but at the same time plumb tuckered out.

We wish to thank Dr. Headley, our faculty host, Dr. and Mrs. Stolz, and dear old Bucknell for an unforgettable day.

Mattie Hinman and Mary Weddle Lyon traveled the greatest distance to attend, from California, Florida and Arizona.

CLASS OF 1917

We did it! They thought because we had never been a very active class that we could not have such a big reunion after 40 years.

There were 58 at our dinner Friday evening. Five had to cancel at the last minute for very good reasons. Some didn't get in until Saturday, so joined us for the class business meeting and All-Alumni Luncheon.

Friday evening we had a one hour get together before we ate, and it was a grand hour spent renewing old friendships. I know we all loved every minute of it. They tell me the "vanilla" and "chocolate" punch was very good, too.

"Pedy" did himself proud. He worked very hard for months, and I know we are all very thankful to him. George Bender gave us beautiful table decorations on all the tables and made dear little blue carnations tied with orange ribbons for each of us to wear. Herman Reich and his good wife took charge of tickets and reservations, etc. Ralph Derr gave us automatic pencils and Maurice Cryder gave us leather notebooks.

Gene Bertin edited our 1957 Reunion Book, with help from "Pedy" and the Alumni Office. It's a dandy! Better buy one. I know you'll enjoy it, and you'll help defray expenses.

Our same officers were elected for five more years. They are as follows: Earle S. Pedigo, president; Arthur You, vice president; Irvin P. Sowers, secretary-treasurer; Clinton I. Sprout, class fund manager; Mrs. Ray Speare Topham, class reporter; and Earle S. Pedigo, reunion chairman.

In honor of all couples present celebrating 40 years of married life in June, a big cake was cut and there were four couples in on it.

Saturday our picture was taken in the Olin

Science Building. It is very good, but a number of people present for the reunion didn't get up to the building to be included in the picture.

At the time of the parade the rains came and spoiled it a bit, but the luncheon at the gymnasium was fine. Some of the folks got together in the Stephens House in the afternoon for more talk.

In the evening we "night clubbed" in the gymnasium. It was dark with bubble lights, and we had a good orchestra for dancing. Many returned for a further good time.

So ended a beautiful week-end, and so now I must end this as I've used my 300 word allowance.

A sad bit of news from the week-end festivities was the sudden illness of "Dutch" Maurer at the Friday evening dinner, but a recent note from "Dutch" assures us that he is now recovering. We all wish you the best, "Dutch!"

In my next letter I'm going to name the people who are in our picture and others who came back. So sorry I can't do it this time.

CLASS OF 1927

Thirty-seven of us rallied to the call to return for our 6th class reunion, commemorating 30 years of living since graduating from Bucknell. And of those 37, there were only ten girls present!

But, rainy as the day was, we thoroughly enjoyed our reuning hours beginning with our class meeting presided over by Harold Webber, our retiring president. At this time election of officers for the next five years was held. Those persons elected are as follows: Donald E. Wagner, president; Harold F. Webber, vice president; Mrs. Helen Egge Kunkel, secretary; Harry S. Ruhl, treasurer; Harry S. Ruhl, class fund manager; Mrs. Grace Pheifer Collison, class reporter; and Mrs. Helen Egge Kunkel, reunion chairman.

Front Row, Left to Right—Richard Doty, Angeline Kissinger Doty, Kathryn Y. Stahl, Amorita Sesinger Copeland, Mrs. W. Norwood Lowry, Finley Keech, Effie Muir Mathieson, George W. Mathieson, Isaac LeVine, Donald A. Dallman, John H. Shott. Second Row—Eloise E. Hill, Leana Dickrager, Florence Cornwell, Edna Follmer Butt, Clarence Ebert, Hulda Heim Ebert, Clifford G. Wentz, Betty Laedlein Wentz, Ruth Brown Wolfe, Stewart U. Patton, C. Ivar Carlson, Harry Peterson. Back Row—John Alexander, Mr. Harry Haynes, Kathryn Pettigrew Haynes, Edward G. Wentzel, Adam A. Klein, Charles I. Wilson, Corinne MacNamara Wilson, Roy K. Landis, Louis K. Stuntzner, Richard K. Estelow, Alex A. Allen, William Irvin, W. Norwood Lowry.

Thirty-five years is a life-time to some, but it was only like yesterday to the Class of 1922 which had the distinction to graduate without caps and gowns from the top floor of "Old Main." Not only are our memories excellent, but there is a lot of life in the old gang yet! This was amply demonstrated as a week-end of reuning got under way with a dinner on Friday evening, June 7, at the Och . . . (who can spell or pronounce what we all know as the Milton Country Club). The festivities were hosted by that well-remembered duo, Ray Seaman Reiner and Amorita Sesinger Copeland, who had "practiced up" so they could recognize and greet almost everyone by their right names, all the way from Alexander Aloysius Aleshouckas (Dr. Allen) to Charlie Wilson (who didn't show up till Saturday). Commander Adam Klein, ably abetted by "Swede" Peterson and "Louie" Stuntzner, forsook his naval dignity to keep the party rolling in high gear.

Finley Keech, our perennial and beloved president, despite a heart still heavy with grief, courageously assumed his usual role as toastmaster. Pause was taken to remember his wife, Betty, and our departed classmates, particularly Art Gardner and Phil Campbell whose skill in arranging previous reunions will always be remembered. Bert Lapp had also passed from our midst during the preceding few months. Dr. Mark Gass, assisted by "Doc" Lowry, "Curly" Lawson and "Red" Carlson, had done a fine job of arrangements and provided prizes for practically everybody for everything! Darle Davis was the hands-down-winner for coming the farthest. Through Mary Park Mertz, Darle was located in Cheltenham, England, and made the trip just to be with us.

Saturday's business meeting re-elected Finley as president, and elected Ruth Brown Wolfe as class reporter, and Florence Cornwell as class fund manager. The afternoon "tea party" brought new arrivals, including Mary Appleman Walter, "K. P." Haynes and Corinne MacNamara Wilson, with spouses. Altogether the three reuning sessions were a great success and, according to vote, we want the same thing all over again!

CLASS OF 1932

On June 8 at 10:15 a. m. members of the Class of '32 assembled in the Library for their 25th reunion. After getting reacquainted, President Frank Koehler called the business meeting to order.

UNIONS

In the afternoon we met for a social time as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Webber. We were entertained by campus pictures shown by the son of one of our class members, Bob Dilworth, Jr., who was a member of this year's graduating class!

Mrs. Helen Egge Kunkel agreed to serve as chairman for our next reunion in 1962! And before we can add too many more gray hairs those five years will be history and we'll be greeting each other once more. So, it isn't really too early to plan to take time off from duties to return to the Bucknell campus, 100% strong!

In the meantime, let your reporter hear from you about you and yours!

—GRACE PHEIFER COLLISON,
Class Reporter

It was announced that the class was to assemble at 11:50 a. m. for the procession to the gymnasium. Though we were to have been third in line of march, we never did make it due to rain and too much talking.

Walter Hopper, Jr., reported on the state of the treasury—empty!

Walter Hopper, Jr., Grace Link Graham, and Phil Neisser, as nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers: Frank Koehler, president; Mrs. Marian Ash McClain, vice president; Frances Knights, secretary; Walter Hopper, Jr., treasurer; Henry Coates, class fund manager; Ellis Hull, class reporter; and Frank Koehler and Anna Weigold Mussina, reunion co-chairmen.

Jim Stevenson, serving as temporary chairman, "railroaded" the election through.

Telegrams, letters, and notes on returned questionnaires from absent members were read. Henry Coates reported that he had received from members of the class $1,315 for the Alumni Fund. This placed the class as the third highest of the classes in their giving.

Jim Stevenson had prepared a "Silver Anniversary Yearbook," picturing us as we were in '32, but stating what we were in '57. Money received above cost from the sale of these reunion books and the "beanies" were voted into the class treasury.

Koehler thanked Mrs. Anna Weigold Mussina and her committee for the work which they had done to make the reunion a success. Anna in turn named and thanked her area chairmen.

Thirty-eight members of the class attended the All-Alumni Luncheon in the gymnasium.

From 3:00 p. m. on, a get-together of the class was held at the Otzinachson Country Club at Milton.

—FRANCES E. KNIGHTS,
Secretary

CLASS OF 1937

That cold and rainy Saturday was most unwelcome for reunion activities, but with a few minor adjustments we had a most enjoyable week-end. Our class picture, with our graying and balding heads sporting jaunty green Robin Hood hats, had to be taken inside, and there was no parade to Davis Gymnasium for the All-Alumni Luncheon. However, everything else about the week-end made for a happy occasion, from the accommodations in the elegant Swartz Hall to our pride in having Tony Vasquez selected to receive the Alumni Medallion for Recognition of Service to his Fellow Men. Tony is now Rev. Anthony Vasquez of St. John's Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

After the general assembly meeting, our class met in the new Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library. Our faculty host was Mr. Howard Kieft, in charge of psychological testing for the University. In the absence of Dr. George W. Crouse, Vice President Herb Watson presided over a very informal business meeting.

The officers elected for the next five years are: P. Herbert Watson, president; Rev. Thomas B. Richards, vice president; Ruth Van Leuven Elcome, secretary; Rev. Clinton Condit, treasurer; Charles O. Morris, class fund manager; Mabel Nylund Ziegler, class reporter, and Willard D. Zimmerman, reunion chairman.

We were all saddened by the untimely death of John Worth, our 20th anniversary chairman, who had worked so diligently on plans for the week-end. The unfinished details of our get-together were completed by Willard Zimmerman, Sig Stoler, and Leigh Herman. They deserve our appreciation for taking over a difficult job.

An unofficial count of noses revealed that 36 members of '37 made it back to the campus. They came from near (like Mary Crabb Brouse of Lewisburg, Sig Stoler and Willard Zimmerman of Sunbury) and far (like the Charlie Vogels of Michigan and Ruth Ort Slick and her husband of Indiana). They came singly (like Dr. Ed Hartmann, one of the few bachelors left in the class), but a surprising number came complete with spouses and families.

To those of you who came back: Thank you for helping to make the week-end a good old get-acquainted-again session. To the rest of you, decide now to be on hand for our 25th. But a word of warning! Pick up one of those maps of the campus when you arrive. All those bright, shining, beautiful new buildings make getting around a bit confusing.

If you want the latest news of '37, send $2.00 to the Alumni Office for a copy of the reunion book. There are a few left and first come, first served.

CLASS OF 1942

Wonderful memories of our fifteenth Reunion—the clock on Old Main cheerfully bonging at all hours of the night; happy shouts on the campus of new arrivals; audible puffing of all of us after climbing the four flights of stairs to our rooms in East Wing for what seemed about the millionth time that week-end; a few more bald heads; a lot more gray heads; the fellows being much more distinguished looking; very little extra weight; and the remarkable fact that we felt that nearly everyone looked almost the same as they had fifteen years ago!

President Bob Puff who has done a wonderful job in the last five years, presided at the Saturday morning business meeting and held the election of new officers. Serving for the next five years will be Bud Eisaman, president; Bud Lewis, vice president; Bud Vanderbilt, secretary-treasurer; Art Denny, class fund manager; and Gerrie Pepperman Dietz, class reporter.

Les Ehringer presented the wonderful reunion book which had been compiled by him, along with some able assistants. Our picture was scheduled for out-of-doors, but because of the typical Bucknell weather on any special occasion, we had it taken in the Lit Lounge.

Colorful coolie hats with 1942 written across the front ribbon were the envy of the other classes. Bill Bowen did a good job on picking them and making arrangements for us to use the facilities of the Milton Country Club during the late afternoon and early evening. Some of us went over there after the All-Alumni Luncheon in the Gym, stayed for dinner, and had a wonderful time. Others went to Cowan to see the improvements there. The evening found us at Davis Gym for entertainment and dancing and more chances to say "What are you doing now?" "How many children do you have?" and "It's so good to see you again."

Start thinking about that 20th Reunion now! Those of us who were able to make the 15th wouldn't miss it for the world. And don't forget Homecoming, Oct. 19—we'll be looking for the biggest representation of the Class of '42 ever seen at Bucknell!

CLASS OF 1947

True to the threats that had been circulating, the Class of 1947 went through with it and did reunite in the grand manner Saturday, June 8. Go ahead—ask anyone who was there. We counted 43 class members, plus 21 spouses who came along. Things could not have been finer.

Somewhere around 10:30 a. m., we assembled in the Lit Building library. (One point of view was that most of the fellows have "changed" variously: waist lines out, hairlines back, etc. On the other hand, the appearance la femme was wonderful, one and all. Too bad about the men!)

Many class spouses came along to the assembly. The pleasure of reuniting the group is hard to convey in words. President Tom Quigley with aplomb handled matters smoothly, and it was hard to realize that suddenly it was 10 years later. We went through the motions of re-electing our "line" officers: Tom as president; Lorraine Kress Krantz, vice president; Gloria Child Goetz, secretary; Lois Miller Fullerton, treasurer. June Stott Matthews was elected Class Fund Manager, and now promises to write from Rhode Island.

After the Alumni Luncheon, attended by the class in a group, we adjourned to the lounge of the Lewisburger for an informal reception and confab that ran till about 4:30 p. m.

Saturday evening, 23 of the group went together to dinner at the Hotel Edison in Sunbury. It was one of those spontaneous affairs that worked out beautifully. Fine time was had. That evening went for renewing friendships at the dance in Davis Gym, and at various Greek gatherings hither and yon.

Present for either or both of the daytime gatherings were: Nancy Grimm Derkacz and husband John '46, Lynn Miner Lawson and Larry '48, Curt Clump and Marion, Milton G. Jaques, Gratia Henry Murphy, Jean McKernan Spence, June Stott Matthews, Ed Bacon and Alice, Mary Ann Gregg Scott and Dick, Tamara Gurvitch Goldman and Herb, Catherine Lepsch Keech and Finley '49, Louise C. Horn, Ruth Bieber Fryling and Glenn '42, Jane Perrin Miller and Harold '44, Anne Glomb Shaw and Maurice,

CLASS OF 1952

The week-end of June 8, 1957, was a big one for the Class of 1952—our very first official reunion. We wouldn't have felt at home without a little rain in Lewisburg, so, obligingly, it rained; we felt at home.

UNIONS

Mary Hess Dill, William Wentz, Joyce Turner Paulnock and Eugene, Barbara Fitzgerald Taylor, Carolyn Hand Adamson and Dick '49, Midge Stickler Barger and Ramon, Cliff Harris and Ann, Tom Quigley and Joan, Matty Erieg, Dick Moore and Dilly (Dottie Dillenback '46), Bob Malesardi, Ward Rosenberry and Bernice, Betty Faint Fell, Liz Cargill France and York, Al and Anna May Gold Kazary, Tom Wilson, Betty Quinn Billings and Bob, Lloyd Graham and wife, Joe Aaron, Bud Northrup, Jean Steele Iba, and Roger Haddon.

Seen on campus that evening were also Porter Wagner and wife (Janet Greenfield '46), and Frank Haas.

Activities and chat really began Saturday morning when we assembled in the Lit auditorium for the class business meeting. Some of you that said you were coming didn't, and we missed you; but it was great seeing everyone again. As reunion chairman, Augie St. John presided at the business meeting until a new president was elected. The new officers are as follows: president, Hugh S. Campbell, Box 216, Chadds Ford, Pa.; vice president, Augie St. John, 16 Spring Street, Millburn, N. J.; secretary, Nancy Holter Kwasnoi, 231 King Street, Fanwood, N. J.; treasurer, Dot Bohling, 206 West Blancke Street, Linden, N. J.; class fund manager, Dick Jeffery, 100 Greenwich Avenue, New York, N. Y.; and, class reporter, Barbara Bleecker Boulden, 1605 Twin Maple Avenue, Towson 4, Md.

Their addresses are included so that you will be sure to write if you have any suggestions for reunions, THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, money-raising, etc.

We had our pictures taken in black derbies and bought books which were compiled from the questionnaires everyone returned.

After a good lunch in the gym and a longing glance at the beautiful new pool, the '52'ers made their way to the reception at Carey House. We would never have recognized it—the old music school.

If you were there, you saw Carolyn Knies Erdle with her oldest little girl, and Chris and Dick Swavely with theirs. We girls decided that we all look exactly the same as we did in college, but not the fellows! They look older! At least, we did spot some receding hairlines.

Besides seeing friends, everyone had fun looking at all the new buildings, the redecoration jobs, and the same old hills. If you weren't able to come this year, and to appreciate all Augie's hard work at making a reunion lively, we hope you will come to the next one, June 1962. Plan on attending now!

—NANCY HOLTHER KWASNOI,
Secretary

CLASS OF 1956

A small but "glad to be back" percentage of the Class of 1956 returned for its first reunion on the Bucknell campus, June 8, 1957. Sporting red firemen hats as identification, about twenty-five '56ers attended the Saturday activities.

At the morning business meeting in the Olin Science Building, Harry Lawrence acted as faculty host, Lydia Tiemann was appointed temporary chairman in the absence of Les Bishop, and Anne Prosser Post was appointed temporary secretary. Alumni officers (those elected prior to graduation) were re-elected. Reunion books containing names, addresses and interesting details about members of the class were distributed. Books for those not able to attend the meeting are still available for $2 at Alumni Headquarters. During the meeting, members of the class were urged to send contributions in support of the lectureship. Contributions should be marked "Class of 1956 Endowed Lectureship" and sent directly to Alumni Headquarters, Bucknell University.

After posing for the reunion picture, classmates joined other Alumni at the All-Alumni Luncheon held in Davis Gym. The usual reunion parade was cancelled because of rain. The Hotel Lewisburger was the scene of the class social hour on Saturday afternoon.

Following fraternity and sorority symposia, the festivities of the Alumni Jamboree were enjoyed by all at Davis Gym. We '56ers looked with envy on the newly completed swimming pool and thought of the many times during our four years at Bucknell when we "wished" there had been a pool.

The first-year reunion was a happy one despite the small percentage of the class that returned. We'll look for you again at Homecoming and at our fifth-year reunion. In another four years we'll have more achievements, travels, new jobs and future Bucknellians to report. In the meantime, keep classmates up to date on your activities and send news items to the Alumni office or to your class reporter.

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Miss Gertrude E. Kase '96 passed away in June in California after an illness of several years. She was a retired teacher.

A distinguished career came to an end with the death of Mrs. Anne Gilchrist Strong '99 on June 23, 1957, at Dunedin, New Zealand. Professor Strong, whose career was reported in the March, 1955, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS was, at the time of her death, Dean Emeritus of the School of Home Science of the University of Otago in Dunedin. Born in Illinois in 1875, Mrs. Strong had taught in a number of American universities and in India and New Zealand. She was granted the order of the British Empire by King George in Tibet in 1937 and was awarded the coronation medal by King Edward VIII. She was a sister of Edward P. Gilchrist '97.

01 MRS. CREIGHTON M. KONKLE
(Laura L. Allen)
4435 Albemarle St.
Washington 16, D. C.

Frank Burpee had a fall the last of March which kept him hospitalized for seven weeks. Shortly after getting about again, he suffered another fall which broke his left arm, and sent him back to the hospital for three weeks. We are glad he is now able to be about the town and campus as usual.

Raymond Pierson too has had his turn under the medics' hands and has been warned to "take it easy." He has had to cancel several preaching engagements because of illness. With Mrs. Pierson he has been visiting their son at State College; they expect to be back at Daytona Beach in September.

Mabel Grier Leshner has been spending the summer at her home in Lewisburg. Her daughter Mabel has visited her. Dr. Leshner is a bureau of information for our class. We regret that she has resigned her work as Class Fund Manager in which she had marvelous success last year. Charley Bidelsbacher, 716 Market St., Williamsport, has agreed to take her place.

1901 is interested in promotion of the early erection of a University Chapel and it is heartening to report that twelve of its members have contributed to a fund for this purpose in the past year.

08 MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Rev. E. Carroll Condict spent the summer at the New England Baptist Conference at Ocean Park, Me. During the past winter, in keeping with his life of service to his fellowmen, he gave many hours of service in the Memorial Hospital, Malden, Mass., as an operating room orderly. And he considers himself retired!

Max Lieberman passed away March 17. Our sympathy is extended to his family.

On June 23 another member of our class, Helen Forrest Hershey died at a hospital in Wayne. Helen had made her home at Blue Ridge Summit. She was a native of Lewisburg and over the years made frequent visits with her many friends here.

All Bucknellians grieve over the sudden death of Joe Henderson. We of the Class of 1908 have lost our youngest member. With all the wider interests and responsibilities of his Bucknell relationship, Joe always had time and intense enthusiasm for our class activities. Our deepest sympathy goes out to his wife and son.

09 MRS. HOWARD HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
39'1 First Ave., N.
St. Petersburg 3, Fla.

Dr. Charles C. Fries has retired from the faculty of the University of Michigan and is giving his full time to individual research. During the past year he has served in the Far East as a consultant in the teaching of English as a foreign language in Japan, the Philippines, and at a UNESCO seminar held in Australia, in which top leaders of language teaching from 20 nations participated. His wife, the former Agnes Carswell '19, accompanied him on his travels.

Dr. Charles S. Roush, due to impaired health, retired in December, 1956, after 6½ years of service with Ministers and Missionaries Benefit Board. His home is at 33 Ransom St., Forty Fort.

Eugene VanWhy died at his home in Winsted, Conn., on May 9. He was superintendent of the William L. Gilbert Home for Children in Winsted for 41 years prior to his retirement in 1955. He is survived by his wife, the former Ethel Barreau, four sons and a daughter, including John B. VanWhy '37, and Mrs. Henry C. Sivert, Jr. (Julie A. VanWhy '42) to whom our sympathy is extended.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

Rev. George C. Fetter, on a trip East in May, visited his daughter in Bethesda, Md., and his two brothers, Newton '09, and John '13. During his journey he preached at The First Baptist Church of Ithaca, N. Y., (John's home town) and assisted in the Sunday morning service at the Westmoreland Congregational Church in Washington, D. C., when his granddaughter was baptized. He spent the summer at his cottage on Star Island, Cass Lake, at the headwaters of the Mississippi River.

George P. Druckemiller died June 19, in Sunbury. He was married to the former Helen L. Heim and spent his entire life in business in Sunbury, where he was active in church, Masonic, and civic affairs. He is survived by his wife and several children, including Mrs. Charles A. Gass (Dorothy H. Druckemiller '34), and Dr. William H. Druckemiller '35. Our sympathy is extended to his family.

Mary Slawson died April 16, following a long illness. She had taught school a short time, then continued with the store business established by her father. She was the last member of her immediate family.

Priscilla Hardesty Thompson, Eva Weddle, John Bank, Phares Hertzog and your correspondent were in Lewisburg for Alumni Day in June and enjoyed meeting old friends and attending the various alumni meetings that day. For Priscilla Thompson it was a special occasion for just 50 years ago she was graduated from the Bucknell School of Music to which she returned as a teacher in 1917.

13 MR. CHARLES L. SANDERS
76 Walnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Herman E. Zehner died on July 5, following a heart attack on June 29. He was superintendent of the dynamite plant of the National Powder Co., at Eldred, and had been active in Rotary, church, and community affairs up to the time he was stricken. Popularly known as "Whitey" in college days, Herman was topnotch as both a student and an athlete, lettering in football, basketball, and baseball. He was a friend of and to all. Our sympathy is extended to his wife and daughter.

Explaining change of address to Norristown, Weston Smith (Rev. H. G. W.) writes: "Yes, I have retired. I still preach once in a while, but am apparently beyond the possibility of any serious work. The church here, on our return after 20 years absence, voted unanimously to make me Emeritus. This was gracious and we try to be of a little value. Wish we could mingle with the commencement throngs, but for the present at least throngs are not too good for us." The church is Calvary Baptist. On retirement from his pastorate in Bedford, Ohio, the Times-Register of that city commended his seven years there. It told of his authorship of the book, The Pastor at Work in Christian Education, mentioned his former pastorates in Norristown, Detroit, and New York City, also his four years in National Secretarial Work with the Baptist Convention. In Bedford, Dr. Smith wrote a weekly newspaper column, "Ask the Man in the House," a series of articles which undertook to answer questions sent in by readers and which dealt with a variety of types. In his senior year at Bucknell, Weston was instrumental in founding the Bucknell chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha, a nationalization of the then local Alpha Sigma fraternity. Best wishes for improving health and for your retirement years from all classmates, Weston.

Present on the McClure veranda on Friday evening, June 7, were F. R. H. Richards, Bright Beck, Howard Fisher, Jim McClure, Jack Bogert, Harold Shaffer, Paul (Pud) Stein, Charlie Sanders. Besides these were Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. McClure. Joining us was a welcomed pal, classmate for three years, Lew Robinson. It was good to have him with us. Finishing his college course in three years, Lew graduated with the Class of '12 so that he was on campus for his 45th. Mrs. Hawkins (Marian Harman) also spent a few moments with us, her husband, Orwill, being occupied with activities as a trustee.

Looking ahead, Rev. Richard H. (Dick) Bowling, wrote to Marwood Glover: "May we all plan for next year's reunion of hearts and minds." And Bob Rooke's secretary mentioned that "Mr. Rooke hopes to be able to attend next year's reunion." So here is a beginner of two classmates already planning one whole year previous, but time passes fast and suggests no delay.

This year two of our number were vacationing in Europe in June, Berk Hastings and Bob Rooke. Such sojourning could be permitted this year but surely not next when we gather for the 45th.

Sympathy of the class is extended to Mrs. Joseph W. Henderson (Anne K. Dresbach '10) in the death of her husband on July 25.

Certain class reports are incomplete because of lack of space. The carry-over news items will appear in the next issue.

We have recently returned from a European trip. Since I have no news of any members of our Class, my husband, Harry B. Weaver, also '14 and I, think the readers of our column might find the following story interesting.

Now, how about a story from you? We are all interested in what you have been doing, so take your pen in hand and—

Deadline date for material, next issue, September 26. May the Weaver mail flood the New Kensington post office!

On May 29, Harry and I boarded the Queen Elizabeth to begin our first European tour. We enjoyed a smooth, delightful voyage. With many interesting fellow-passengers, we participated in the varied activities on board. This included pari-mutuel betting in which I won thirteen shillings.

On June 3, we disembarked at Cherbourg and took the boat train to Paris. The trip through Normandy was delightful, though a bit late for "apple-blossom time." In Paris, we were met by the first of many couriers from Cook's—the agency which planned our trip for us. Our five days in Paris included the usual sight-seeing trips: Versailles, Malmaison, tour of Paris, and the Folies-Bergere.

We left Paris on the Mistral train for Nice and spent two days along the Mediterranean, enjoying the resort atmosphere of the South of France. Leaving Nice by CIAT bus, we travelled along the French and Italian Rivas. This beautiful trip included a forty mile expanse of flowers, grown for the perfume factories at Grasse.

After a day in heavily industrialized Genoa, we went on by train to Venice, where a gondola "taxi" took us to our hotel. Our hotel balcony in Venice was hard to leave; it overlooked the Grand Canal where every evening singing gondoliers passed by in their brightly lighted gondolas. Beyond that, the moon shone on the Adriatic. Here we spent our thirtieth wedding anniversary, serenaded by gondoliers and shopping in St. Mark's Square.

En route to Switzerland, we stopped in Milan where we visited La Scala, and viewed THE LAST SUPPER in one of the cathedrals. Milan's American appearance, we learned, is a result of post-World War II re-building programs; war-damaged buildings have been replaced by modern structures. At the Italian-Swiss border we stayed for a day at Cernobbio's Villa d'Este on Lake Como, a beautiful summer resort. Near this town, Mussolini was captured while attempting to flee to Switzerland.

Our itinerary in Switzerland included Geneva, Interlaken, and Lucerne. Our journey from Stresa to Geneva was our first taste of the snow-capped Alps, the many high waterfalls, and the quaint villages dotting the steep hillsides. In Geneva, we were dinner guests of the International Y. M. C. A. Secretary, a friend for many years. Leaving Geneva by boat, we crossed Lake Geneva to Montreux where we boarded a train for Interlaken. Our room in the Victoria-Jungfrau Hotel at Interlaken faced the Jungfrau. Our stay in Interlaken included a trip to the top of the Jungfrau and browsing in the many interesting shops. By government owned bus, we then went on a thrilling ride through the heart of the Alps to Lucerne, by way of Grimsel and Furka Passes and the Rhone Glacier. In Lucerne we attended a program of yodeling, folk dances, and Swiss music. (To be continued in the November issue).

REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE
114 E. 188th St.
New York, N. Y.

As I write these notes I am getting ready to go to Maine where I will direct a boy's camp at Ocean Park called the Royal Ambassadors Camp for Boys, now in its 31st year. How I will survive it I do not know. They got in a "tight," as they say in Georgia, and had to call up the reserves. Those ten years, long ago, which I put in at this site found me more agile and flexible than I am today. My old sidekick, Tilton, used to go up there but they won't take him now because of his long white beard. And while I am being so personal let me tell you that Billy Graham has been kicking the hell out of the Devil at Madison Square Garden like nobody's business the past few weeks and I have been there to see him do it. While he does the job you get the same sadistic feeling you had in college days when you were putting the paddle to some smart freshman. I was one of the 100,000 jamming the Yankee Stadium last Saturday to hear the great Gospel Preacher. Made me think of the time back in our era when a bunch of us went to hear Billy Sunday at Wilkes-Barre. Even Louie Lyne '14 went back to the campus to behave himself after that safari. But only for a spell!

Our Mary Ellen '42 got back to the campus last June so Helen and I had to take care of her little four-year-old Nancy. She came back with glowing accounts of her 15th re-union.

Sam Davenport writes: "You asked for it. Wife and three children living. All three children attended Bucknell. Oldest Bill '51, a special agent for Aetna Casualty in Pittsburgh. He has a boy and girl which makes me twice a Grandpa. Middle child Sam '53 is an instructor at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Barbara '54 is teaching in Allentown. Was married last August. I am chief of the first surgical section of the Nesbitt Memorial Hospital and will retire from the active staff in January on account of age. Will continue as emeritus member. Am immediate past president of the Wilkes-Barre Kiwanis Club. Am a member of the Board and College Physician at Wilkes-Barre College, and a fellow of the Industrial Medical Association. Guess that slaps my back enough for this time. Remember '61 and get your cane." Everybody talks about retiring.

Mary Langley Jones Carlson writes: "I did appreciate your letter. There isn't much that I can tell you which would be worth printing. I do have the most wonderful husband possible and we do live an ideal life. We retired six years ago and spend six months each year by the ocean in beautiful Palm Beach at 115 Gulfstream Road, and six months on the shores of Keoka Lake in the foothills of the White Mountains at Hummingbird Hill, Waterford, Maine. Recently Dr. Carlson and I attended a party in Palm Beach given by Mr. and Mrs. Brown (Ted '15). The Pauls (Helen Jenkins '16 and Harry '17) the Rookes (Bob '13) and the Klines (Bing '19) also attended."

Thanks Mary. You at last mearthed "Jenks" whom I have not been able to prod to pen and pencil. Lois Reynolds challenges you about husband. Read on.

And this from Lois Reynolds Carpenter: "I appreciated your letter and fully agree with you that '16 should make a better showing in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Here's a bit about me and mine.

The Lord has been very good to me. I have the best husband in the world—in the insurance business. We have three children. Our oldest son, Keese, lives at home and helps his father in the business.

"Our second son, John, is in his second year at Faith Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, preparing for the mission field. Lydia, our only daughter, is a junior at Providence Barrington Bible College from which John was graduated two years ago. We get great comfort and enjoyment in them. Best wishes." Preacher that I am makes me proud with you Lois.

Well that winds it up. Now let me prod you once more to write as have these, your classmates. You make the column. I just put the parts together.

MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
301 Broad St.
Montoursville, Pa.

Claude O. Boothroyd is still busy with the building of a steam plant for Carbide, Carbon Chemical Co., near Charleston, W. Va. He is with the engineering firm of Gannett, Fleming, Corddry, and Carpenter of Harrisburg, and has his home in that city.

Samuel D. Lenox, Esq., of Trenton, N. J., has been named by Governor Meyner as one of a ten-member committee to study the speeding of appeal procedure in workmen compensation cases. The committee will hold public hearings in addition to consulting with the bench and bar, labor, industry and insurance representatives, and hopes to have a report ready for the governor in September.

Joseph S. Lepley has retired after 42 years in the teaching field, 30 of which were spent in Williamsport.

Mrs. Anna M. Beatty died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Morris M. Derr (Mary Beatty) in Covington, Ky., April 21, 1957. Mrs. Beatty was a loyal friend of numerous Bucknell girls during the many years that she served as a house mother on the campus. Our sympathy is extended to her family.

At this point, deadline for material for the September issue of the ALUMNUS, I am in complete state of confusion, so I guess I will have to talk about myself. By the time the article reaches my readers I will, I hope, have changed my address to 10 North Loyalsock Avenue, Montoursville. The change of address is the important thing since we are moving our house, built in 1833, from its present location facing Broad Street, to a new location, about half way back on the lot and facing the Avenue. It is quite an undertaking, and, as one can imagine causing quite a lot of conversation in the town. Can it be done? Are you going to move the whole house? Where are you going to live while it is being moved? and countless more. Knowing no more about the mechanics of moving the house than the other fellow, I have been having quite a time. And we expect to stay in the house while it is being moved. You may expect to hear the final details in our next issue.

It may be of interest to many Bucknellians to know that the house in question was built by Joseph Henderson's ('08) great grandfather, Cornelia, the third child of Nathaniel Burrows and Eliza Jordan was the wife of A. B. Henderson, of Montgomery.

Remember, all you members of the Class of 1918 that 1958 is our 40th reunion year, and I think it would be a good idea Certain class reports are incomplete because of lack of space. The carry-over news items will appear in the next issue.

if all of you began to think about it. If you have any ideas, send them on and I will see that they get to the proper person. And you might as well start writing your life histories, because you will be asked for them sooner or later as the Reunion Committee gets on its way.

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES

Ardmore, Pa.

Harry H. Angel has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lehigh Valley.

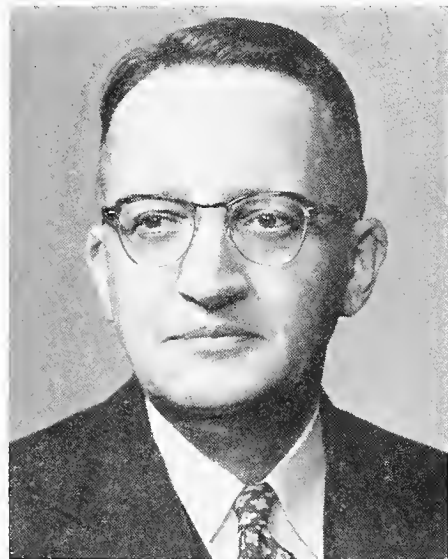

Chester R. Leaber has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York.

George A. Starkweather died May 25, after a short illness. He had been with the Sun Oil Company since 1933. He is survived by his wife, the former Edna M. Burdick, and three children, to whom we extend our sympathy.

Ed Keough has retired and moved to Florida. He is certainly in a position to play all the golf he wants, for his new home is just across the street from the Lake Worth Golf Course, and it is only a hundred yards from the lake.

We regret to report the death of Margaret McLaughlin Landemere last August at her home in West Newton, only a little more than a year after her twin sister, Mary McLaughlin Robbins.

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

DR. MORRIS D. HOOVEN '20

Morris D. Hooven received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science, June 6, at the 41st commencement exercises of Newark College of Engineering. He is the seventh person to be so honored since the college first granted honorary doctorates in 1919. He is listed in Who's Who in America and is a most worthy recipient for this honor.

Dr. Harry R. Warfel, who is president of the College English Association, attended the Humanities Center Institute at Cleveland and participated in a panel on the topic, "The College English Association and Human Values." On the same trip, he visited Detroit to plan a new book and then went on to deliver four lectures at Mississippi State.

Thomas W. Agnew died of a heart attack February 26, 1957, at his home in Ballinger, Tex. Tom was in the oil business until 1940, when he suffered his first heart attack. He retired at that time and later operated a photographic studio in Ballinger, Tex. He is survived by his wife, the former Gerta Harshaw, and two children to whom our sympathy is extended.

Mrs. K. Luetta Wagner Person of the Lewisburg High School science faculty, attended the summer sessions of the Pennsylvania Science Teachers Association at West Chester State Teachers College in July. While there Mrs. Person and husband enjoyed a hearty surprise visit with Dr. and Mrs. T. J. S. Heim of the WCSTS faculty (all are of the Class of '20). They enjoyed an exchange of experiences of their trips in past months—the Person's to the west coast and Canada, the Heim's to Europe.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Rev. C. A. Metz is a member of the American Baptist Convention Advisory Committee and of the Executive Board West Virginia Baptist Convention. His daughter is married to Don Knotts of TV and Broadway stage fame. His one son is with the New York Times and the other one is serving with the USAF in Newfoundland.

Alan R. Haus died April 22, in Pitman, N. J. He was active in church, civic, theatrical and musical circles of his community in addition to his duties as a chemical supervisor with Dupont. He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Cassidy and a daughter, Gretchen, to whom our sympathy is extended. Gretchen is entering Bucknell on September 18.

Merrill B. DeWire, M.D. (See "Shott's Spot," page 2, and Business Week, 7/20/57, pages 172, 176).

24 MRS. PAUL CUPP
(Louise Benshoff)

Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Earl S. Dunlap was elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lehigh Valley.

A. Angella Unverzagt has become quite a seasoned traveler in the past two years. She has visited England, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, West Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, and Lichtenstein. Last summer she was a delegate to the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., National Convention in Miami, Fla. Between summer vacations and travel, she teaches in the Altoona Senior High School.

Mrs. Harold B. Ingalls (Elizabeth S. Walker) is an assistant in the Rhetoric and English Departments at the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Irvin E. Wolf (Sara E. Manahan) died at her home in Bethlehem on July 6 after a lengthy illness. She had been a teacher in the public schools of Danville and Harrisburg and was active in church and civic affairs of her community and in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lehigh Valley. Our sympathy is extended to her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong (Ruth Weidenhamer) proudly announce the birth of their first grandchild at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Proctor at Darien, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lathrop (Peggy Everitt) vacationed in the spring in Hawaii where they visited their daughter.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

Emerson E. Jenkins has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York.

The family of William M. Lybarger joined him in Teheran, Iran, recently where he is serving as a training specialist in the State Department Foreign Service.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Donald C. England who passed away in Pittsburgh on June 13. Don, a member of Phi Gamma Delta, had attended University of Pittsburgh Law School and since 1930 had been connected with the Fidelity Trust Company, serving as vice president since 1951. Long an active member of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania, Don will be sadly missed at the weekly luncheon sessions of the club.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN

Mrs. O. S. Sample (M. Eleanor Dakin) writes, "Love living in Florida. Our new home faces the beautiful Indian River." Incidentally her address is 3125 South Indian River Drive, Fort Pierce, Fla.

Rev. and Mrs. W. Linwood Crowding (Catherine S. Frederick) are spending a year in England, where Rev. Crowding will serve a charge at Stockport, Cheshire, with the idea of promoting good will and understanding between the Methodist Churches and the peoples of the two countries, under a minister exchange program of the Church. He has numerous speaking engagements scheduled in Britain. Before the Crowdings return to the states next year, they plan a rather extensive tour of Continental Europe.

Charles T. Farrow, Jr., has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

Lucile G. Scullen has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

Mrs. W. Wallace Hermann (Virginia K. Zortman) is chairman of the Sussex County Cancer Crusade for 1957. She is hoping to see her daughter, Suzanne, enter the freshman class at Bucknell in 1958.

S. Cober Braucher is one of three Pennsylvania attorneys appointed to the 93-member government procurement committee of the Federal Bar Association. Mr. Braucher is assisting in making a comprehensive review of government procurement policies and procedures to determine what changes should be made to make it easier for concerns, especially small businesses, to share in government contract work.

As a student, Mr. Braucher was a member of Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Mu Epsilon Sinfonia, and Phi Delta Theta. He took his law training at George Washington University Law School. He served for 16 years as deputy secretary, Department of Internal Affairs for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. His other interests include membership on the Board of Directors and Treasurer of the Somerset Door and Column Company, member of the Board of Directors of Peoples National Bank of Somerset, the Masonic Lodge of Somerset, Harrisburg Consistory and a Shriner belonging to the Jaffa Temple at Altoona.

Certain class reports are incomplete because of lack of space. The carry-over news items will appear in the next issue.

Mrs. M. G. Armagost (Josephine Schilling) recently enjoyed a two-month trip to California and Florida. Her home is in Erie.

Richard B. Mallinson, son of Mrs. Eloise Mallinson (Eloise Bailey) is one of 49 students from Pennsylvania to be awarded scholarships this school year as undergraduates at Harvard College. He is one of 6 freshmen who selected Harvard after winning National Merit Scholarships.

Your reporter is always happy to learn of the many singular honors which have come to various members of the Class of '29 during recent months.

Clarence W. Cranford was elected president of the American Baptist Convention at a recent meeting of that group in Philadelphia. Clarence has just completed 25 years as an ordained minister, 15 years of which have been spent in Washington, D. C. At the celebration of this memorable occasion, the congregation presented the Cranford family with a $1,000 bill.

We are interested to learn of Robert L. Lyon's election as a delegate from Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants to the triennial National Congress of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants, to be held at Plymouth, Mass., this fall. Bob is the feature editor and drama-critic of The Corning Leader, Corning, N. Y.

Helen Steinhilper Wilkinson and her husband E. Wallace Wilkinson are leading the same busy lives that they have as long as we have known them. Helen serves on committees of the hospital auxiliary, A. A. U. W., the Junior League, D. A. R. and the Country Club. Wally, who is treasurer of the Electric Company in Summit, N. J., is a member of city council, and a trustee of the visiting nurses association and the Beacon Hill Civic Association.

Our old friend and classmate, Albert J. Abbott, is now a prominent doctor in Nanticoke. Although he is too modest to list his many activities, we know from mutual friends that he serves every worthwhile group in the community.

Hugo Riemer, who is president of the Nitrogen Division, Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation, like his fraternity brother, Wally, also serves on council of Summit, N. J. He is a member of the Planning Board of his home town, and a director of the National Plant Food Institute.

Your reporter is deeply grateful for the many expressions of interest from members of the class during the election of alumni trustee last spring. She especially wishes to thank our class president, Paul E. Fink, for his encouragement.

30 MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)

Rev. Raymond G. Taylor of Adrian, Mich., returned to his Alma Mater and was the chapel speaker there on April 17. Following graduation from Bucknell he attended the Crozer Seminary, University of Pennsylvania and Harvard University after which he served churches in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Connecticut, and two years as a chaplain in the United States Army. He has done summer camp work for 25 years and the past two years has been teaching "The History of the Reformation" at Adrian College summer school. He has been active in YMCA and Red Cross work in addition to his church and civic interests. His son, Raymond, Jr., is a member of the Class of 1960 at Bucknell University.

Ottwell I. Benson is the author of an article in Provident Notes, entitled "Company Acquires Electronic Processing Equipment" prompted by the recent purchase of IBM equipment at the home office of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Philadelphia where Mr. Benson is chairman of the Electronics Committee.

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)

Mifflinburg, Pa.

James R. Cox, Jr., has been named consultant in the Executive Development Department at WHQ with IBM.

Rev. William H. Genne has been appointed executive director of the Department of Family Life of the National Council of Churches and has moved to New York City in this new capacity. He and Mrs. Genne have been on the Clara Elizabeth staff since 1951, and are nationally known authorities on home and family relations. They have four children: Nancy, William, Margaret, and Susan.

WILLIAM H. GENNE '31

Henry M. Graham has left temporarily at least, the Family Service Association of Indianapolis to serve for the next year and a half as visiting professor of social welfare at the University of Thammasat in Thailand. Good luck, Hank, let's have a word from Thailand.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Mrs. J. Kendall VanDevender (Dr. Louise Christian Geise), of 940 Arden Road, Pasadena 5, Calif., in addition to her practice of medicine, is recording secretary for the Medical Women's Society of Los Angeles. Her husband, Dr. VanDevender, also practicing medicine, is president of the SoJourners Organization. Before entering college, their son, Ralph Geise, is on 6 months active duty with the Marine reservists.

The Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey has a competent campaign manager, Louis J. Russo.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Alva Dunmire (M. Gladys Steele) recently built a new brick home in Saltsburg.

Marie Groff Hester's daughter, Joanne, a graduate of Bloomsburg State Teachers College, is now teaching school in Jacksonville, Fla. Her daughter Carolyn, married to Donald Hoag, a graduate of Susquehanna University, now lives in Cleveland, Ohio, and has a young daughter, Cathy. Marie is employed on the District Staff of the Bureau of Employment Security and has spent the summer at Security meetings at Detroit (near Carolyn) and Miami (near Joanne). She also attended the National Conference of Social Welfare Meeting in May in Philadelphia and was elected State Membership Chairman at the State meeting of the Pennsylvania Welfare Forum. In addition she is busy in 12 counties, sews, knits, needlepoints, reads, attends concerts, theater, listens to hi-fi records and finally rests.

Julia Hoffman Beighley and husband, Fay, of Williamsport, visited Florida and flew to Nassau, coming home laden with British purchases of baskets and woolens. Their older daughter, Frances Ann, a senior this year at Bucknell, worked this summer in social service at the Muncy State Industrial Home for Women. She is engaged to Peyton Donald of Long Island, also of Bucknell.

Martin Lutz, Peggy, his wife, and two children Pete (a student at Wyoming Seminary) and Linda, spent several weeks vacationing at Eagles Mere Lake, enjoying their sailboat. They recently remodeled their basement into a beautiful playroom.

Muriel Marshall Miller is a very popular and talented organist at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Bloomsburg, having directed and accompanied two very successful recitals by the choir this year. She and her husband and two sons took an educational tour this summer in their new station wagon.

Your reporter attended round table discussions on "The Teaching of English" at the Vaughn Literature Building at Bucknell in July of this summer, with Martha Shipman Wood '36. Martha is teaching at Mifflinville and I at Catawissa. Dr. Engelhardt '28, director of Secondary Education at B. S. T. C., taught Problems of Secondary Education, Philosophy, and Psychology during the summer sessions. Our son Hans, a junior at Haverford College, Philadelphia, where he plays varsity tennis and basketball and is secretary of student government and president of the junior class, spent the summer working in Smith & Ives Law Office near the Columbia County Court Plaza.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Your reporter wishes to thank all the Bucknellians who were kind enough to think of us and our son, Robert. We are eternally grateful for your messages and prayers. Bill and I want you to know that he has regained some sight in his injured eye after the second operation by Dr. Schepeus of the Retina Foundation in Boston, Mass. I am sorry we could not be back for Alumni Week-end but from all reports it was bigger and better than ever—we had to attend Ruth Gail's graduation from the Cathedral School of St. Mary, Garden City, then on to Boston for Robert's check-up. We'll be back for Homecoming and look forward to greeting many of you there.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Barker announce the birth of their third child, David, on March 3, 1957. They have one other son and a daughter. Sam is an attorney in Washington, D. C., and lives in Chevy Chase, Md.

No other news now. Would appreciate even a post card from any of you who may find time—otherwise no column!

Summer's end: Sails put away, tanned skins paling, the kids back at school, and a restful, reviving vacation just a memory.

Gold medals to Betty Smith Berlin for heartening encouragement and the following news items:

Certain class reports are incomplete because of lack of space. The carry-over news items will appear in the next issue.

Mary Linda Sockwell Coeey's husband, Bob '36, is now vice president of the Mop Wringer Company. They are residing in Feltonville, N. Y. The Berlin's daughter has just finished her freshman year at Ohio Wesleyan. Betty and I would like to know if any Bucknellians can locate L. Robert Kessler. We are anxious to hear what he is doing.

Phyllis Hicks Fellows writes that the family is now living at 79 Vernon Drive, Scarsdale, N. Y., where Morgan Fellows is assistant superintendent of the Eastchester School District and is presently studying for his doctorate at Columbia (he regrets that Bucknell couldn't offer this degree, but enjoyed his work for his master's at B. U. in 1942). Phyllis is a nursery school assistant, coping with the antics of 3 and 4 year old youngsters.

Patty, 9, and Linda, 7, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Fellows '42 (Phyllis Hicks '35).

Marion Root Frank and her mother, Mrs. August Buedingen sailed from New York on September 11 aboard the Queen Elizabeth for a six weeks' European tour. Jane Orwig LeMon and Mel flew out to Utah in July to visit Mel's family. On the Deschanel summer agenda too late for verification because of the early news deadline, is a visit from Eleanor Weremuth Henry and a trip to Lake Cayuga to visit the LeMons.

Thanks to the three out of twenty who answered requests for news in the past few editions. I welcome news from anyone in the class, but the finger seems to point pleadingly this time to: Martin Andrews, Betty Benedict James, Toimi Kylonen, Helen Godcharles Wagner, Bob Vogel, Myrtle Wampler, Helen Payran Titus, Dorothy Walters Ralston, Becky Hirsh, Mabel Lippincott Ettensperger, and, by special request of Betty Berlin—Edith MacKay Scott. And speaking of writing, write to the gal who deserves our five star decoration for courage—Ginny Hallet (Mrs. L. Carl Stevens), Millbrae, R. D. 2, Media.

Most of my summer has been spent in getting unglued, swimming, sailing, and parching in the sun. A workshop in curriculum making for Anne Arundel County kept me alert for two weeks in June. By the time this reaches you, I shall be back in the classroom struggling to combat ignorance and apathy.

Lewisburg, Pa.

As this report goes to press, most of us are in the throes of summertime activities and vacations. We have probably joined the 75 million Americans who have packed their children into the family car or station wagon and hit the road. By the time the ALUMNUS reaches you, the children will be back in school and we will be asking ourselves, "Where did the summer go?"

Two members of our class had very interesting trips.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Evans (Helen Showalter '34) and daughter, Sue, Mifflinburg, had an extended vacation on the West Coast, making the trip as passengers on the S. S. Matesia, which was making its maiden voyage following formal christening in New York harbor on May 22. Harold and Helen were present for the christening ceremony in which Mrs. Neal Blaisdell, wife of the mayor of Honolulu, broke the traditional bottle of champagne across the bow of the ship. Neal Blaisdell '26 was an outstanding member and star of the Bucknell football team, along with his brother, Bill '26. He and his wife were also passengers on the maiden voyage.

Bob Jones and his wife left New York on May 2 to attend the Rotary International Convention at Lucerne, Switzerland, later in the month. Enroute they visited England, Scotland, Holland, Germany, and France.

Several '36ers have changed jobs and received promotions since our last report.

Our congratulations to Eric Stewart, who was sworn in as a foreign service reserve officer of the Department of State in ceremonies in Washington, D. C., April 4. As executive director of operations of the Department in Washington, he will assist the Deputy Assistant Secretary of State in charge of operations, whose office includes 1,500 people scattered over the world handling the affairs such as personnel, courier service, communications, and other duties. He and his wife, Emily Orr '35, and their three children, Marion, 15; Richard, 13; and Alan, 8, reside in Arlington, Va. Emily is a statistician in the Department of Agriculture.

Ed Reisman reports that he and his family have become Floridians. Ed, who has been interested in the development of vacant lands on Long Island for the past several years, has moved to the Miami area, where he has gone into the brokerage of vacant land for builders. We wish him every success in his new project. The Reisman's new address is 301 Pacific Rd., Key Biscayne, Fla.

Jim Stroup reports that since our last issue of class news, he has accepted another position at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago as director of sales. We will have no difficulty locating his hotel when we go to Chicago. Jim says it is the tallest hotel in the world. His home address is 2226 Birchwood Ave., Wilmette, Ill.

Chauncey P. Saupp, Jr. is general manager of the Industrial Design Corp.

I hope each of you will keep in mind Charles Gwynne's fine suggestion that we have regional or area reporters to keep us posted on the activities of our class members. Let's keep the news coming in. During the past year our class news appeared in all five issues of the ALUMNUS.

38 MR. IRA G. FOX
116 Westchester Drive
Pittsburgh 15, Pa.

Arthur C. Calvin is located in Wheeling, W. Va., where he is serving as Director of the Council of Social Agencies.

Dr. Harold F. Martin has accepted the position of superintendent of schools in the Upper Merion Township School District.

Chester A. Dennis, Jr., reports he has moved from Collingswood, N. J. His new address is R. D. 1, Box 543, Kings Highway, Moorestown, N. J. Chet and his wife (Gertrude Skublicki '39) are both licensed pilots and have their own airplane—easy way to come to our 20th Reunion next June! Chet is treasurer, Allied Metal Stamping Co. of Camden, N. J., and is quite active in business and civic organizations around that area.

Jack H. Candy is Pennsylvania district sales manager for British Overseas Airways Corporation which calls for constant traveling, some of it to the United Kingdom, Bermuda and the Caribbean—all on company business. Jack and his wife, Dorothy, have three children, Joanne, 15; Sally, 9 and Jay, 7.

For the second year, Mason Baldwin, has been staging director for the pageant held in connection with the selection of Miss Florida contestant in the Miss America beauty contest. What a job!

MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCr na)
1492 Golfax Avenue
Benton Harbor, Michigan

There were "lively doings" at the April Detroit Alumni meeting, which brought to light Carol Martin and Charles (Bud) Dunham '39. It was a reunion of ex-Texans, as both Dunhams and Millers had at one time or another inhabited Brackenridge Apartments, University of Texas housing. John Kingsbury '41 (aha! I see his middle name is Miller—some distant kin, no doubt) also presented a familiar face.

I am happy to state that, as the result of some smart detective work (I had assistance, you understand) we now have the latest biographical data on Leo Simonson, straight from Leo himself: "M.D., Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, December, 1943. Internship at Huron Road Hospital, two years in the Army—Captain, Medical Corps, followed by a residency in internal medicine. I've been practicing internal medicine since, and have been Associate Director, Department of Internal Medicine, Huron Road Hospital for three years.

"Helen Claire Kane of Wilkes-Barre and I were married shortly after World War II, and now have seven children—Elaine, Virginia, Patricia and Michael (twins), Ann, Kathleen, and Dennis.

"Our home address is 2936 Fairmount Blvd., Cleveland Heights 18, Ohio.

"To the best of my knowledge I'm the only Class of '40 Bucknellian here. I see Dr. Jack Scholl, who graduated a few years before us, occasionally, and Dr. John Storer, whose dad is a Bucknellian, is a staff member at the above-named hospital. . . . Apparently I forgot to mention Jim Duchine at the beginning of this paragraph. Unfortunately I haven't seen him."

Mrs. Paul M. Albert (Ethel Abbotts) has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lehigh Valley.

Eugene P. Beitler is the co-author of How to Read the Bible, recently published by J. B. Lippincott Company. Eugene started his own advertising agency in 1955, and says that like his four children, it is growing slowly but surely!

After spending two years in the Army Medical Corps, Dr. Donald E. Fortner has returned to his private practice in South Miami, Fla.

Robert K. Herzfelder recently won third prize in a statewide contest for loan company personnel in New York state. His spare time is occupied with his dance orchestras.

For the past five years the James Nickersons (Margaret L. Lange) have lived in

Joseph D. Dent, Trustee, Dies

Joseph D. Dent, 66, Maplewood, N. J., died suddenly on Wednesday, June 19. He had suffered a stroke about eight months ago and was almost recovered from its effects when he was again stricken and died a few hours after admission to a hospital.

Joe was born in Durham, England, and was graduated from Bucknell in 1920. His studies at the University were interrupted during World War I when he served for 2½ years in the Army, being discharged with the rank of First Lieutenant.

Two weeks after leaving Bucknell he joined the Guaranty Trust Company of New York which he served for 37 years until May 1956, retiring as vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company and vice president of the Guaranty Safe Deposit Company.

Always an active worker on behalf of the University and the General Alumni Association, Joe was serving his seventh year as a member of the Board of Trustees and just nine days before his death was on the campus to receive from his Alma Mater the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Dr. Dent was particularly conscious of the financial needs of the University and in addition to playing an important role in all fund raising activities, he made special efforts to obtain the gift which made possible the building of the Ellen Clark Bertrand Library in 1952 and obtained substantial gifts for the construction of the Swartz Residence Hall for Men and the John Houghton Harris Cafeteria.

An active participant in athletics, Joe was for many years a member of the Athletic Council and the Athletic Advisory Committee. He had just been re-elected vice president of the Bison Club. Long a leader in alumni club activities in the New York area, he had served as an officer of the Metropolitan Alumni Club on many occasions. He was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

The heartfelt sympathies of the Class of 1920 and Bucknellians everywhere are extended to his wife, the former Edith Crane '18, two daughters, Constance Dent '45, and Jane Crane Dent; and two brothers, Edward Dent, Lake Park, Fla., and William J. Dent, Pittsburgh.

Joe's love for Bucknell, his enthusiasm and love of people, have been invaluable to the progress and welfare of his Alma Mater.

John F. Worth '37 Dies Unexpectedly

Bucknell lost one of its most loyal and energetic sons in the death of John F. Worth '37 on May 15, 1957. John had a loyal and unflinching interest in all phases of Bucknell life and alumni activities.

He was born in Jermyn on December 30, 1915, graduating with a bachelor of arts degree from Bucknell in 1937, was awarded the master of arts degree by Bucknell in 1938 and had completed academic work toward a Doctor of Philosophy degree in public administration at American University in Washington, D. C. He was a member of Kappa Delta Rho, Kappa Phi Kappa, and Pi Mu Epsilon. His professional career included, besides service in the U. S. Navy in World War II, assignments in the U. S. Civil Service Commission, the office of the Secretary of the Navy Department and since 1952, administrative assistant, division of production, of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

John's activities on behalf of Bucknell University and its General Alumni Association covered a wide range of service. An originator of the Bucknell Alumni Fund, he introduced the idea to the Washington Club in 1945 and after endorsement by that club, he suggested establishment of an Alumni Fund to the General Alumni Association in the same year. His further activities are perhaps best expressed in the memorial resolution adopted by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington following his death reads as follows:

"On May 15, 1957, one of Bucknell's most devoted sons, John F. Worth '37, passed away unexpectedly. John's presence will be sorely missed by the General Alumni Association and specifically the Alumni Club of the District of Columbia. Here was a man with unparalleled dedication to Bucknell University. Whenever there was a responsibility to assume for the school whether it be organizing and directing the personal solicitation drive, serving as President of the local Alumni Club, or fulfilling an assignment on the General Alumni Board, John seemed to rejoice in having the opportunity to render a service to his beloved University. The welfare of Bucknell was a singular concern of his and he worked tirelessly and enthusiastically in its behalf. The Bucknellians in the Washington, D. C., area will always cherish the memory of John Worth."

At the time of his death, John was serving as reunion chairman of his Bucknell Class of 1937 and was in the midst of preparing the reunion book. The 50-page anniversary volume was distributed to classmates Alumni Week-end in June.

Because of his intense interest and devotion to Bucknell and all her causes, John had expressed a desire to be buried in Lewisburg, and on May 18, he rested in a spot in the Lewisburg cemetery overlooking the campus he loved so well.

John is survived by his devoted wife, the former Geraldine E. Potter of Neptune, New Jersey, and a son, Robert Potter Worth, 10 years old.

The University and the Class of 1937 extend its sympathy to his loved ones. He will be missed by a multitude of friends.

Welcome, Senior Class of 1958. Beginning with this issue you will receive at your campus addresses each issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. This service is extended to you by The General Alumni Association in order to acquaint you with the Alumni program and activities.

Mrs. Charles G. McLean (Claire D. Marshall) is the first woman member of the Aero Club at Kalberer Field to solo out of that base. Her husband is a navigator at Travis AFB. Claire's second hobby is painting and she has won two first prizes in the Officers Wives Art Club Contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson (Ruth D. Morris) live in San Francisco, Calif., where Jack is a dental student at the University of California Medical Center. They have two children, Glen and Wendy.

Wedding Bells:

James B. Vanaman and Barbara A. Botz '57. Betsy C. Bice and John B. Knox were married March 30. Ditto Patty Beury and William E. Schneider on June 22.

Pfc. and Mrs. Frederick L. Woll announce the birth of a son, Scott Bentley, on March 15, in Veeden, France, where Pfc. Woll is serving with the U. S. Army.

While at a cocktail party to celebrate the engagement of Helen Glisson, who was married June 15th to James Maddux, Elise Mueller Bruno told me all about her son Scott, who was born in February. The father Spence Bruno '54 also came in for his share of the credit.

Ellie Mackie Pigman writes that Fort Eustis, Va., might consider itself a Bucknell extension since so many Bucknellians have found themselves there. Tom Sprague for instance. Her letter read like the '56 L'Agenda. By the time you read this Ellie and Paul will be in Pittsburgh where Paul will begin the sales management training program of Connecticut General Insurance Co.

Family additions:

Charlotte and Harry Griffith '56 had a boy on April 16th. Ralph and Kate Bolte Lewis have announced their third child, Bruce Frederick. Bobbie Burns Humes added her second son, Bradford David, on April 19th.

Barbara Crothers completed her second year at Woman's Medical College.

Barbara A. Renninger married John H. Shott III '50 on August 10. New address: 33-26 82nd St., Jackson Heights, N. Y.

MISS CATHERINE L. EVANS
3751 West Ridge Road
Erie, Pa.

Major Floyd L. Vuillemot

Because our classmate, Floyd L. Vuillemot, did not get his picture in our L'Agenda and because his educational and military background is inspiring to anyone who realizes the value of an education the following should give us a brief account of a man who has faithfully served his country for the past 15 years and has acquired a college degree while doing so.

Major Vuillemot, USMC, began his education at Bucknell under the Navy's V-12 program, entering the service in 1942. In 1945, Floyd graduated from the Marine Corps Officers' Candidate School and has since served in infantry intelligence and engineering positions in Marine Corps units located in the United States, China, Hawaii, and Korea.

Although his service to the Marine Corps took much of his time it offered little resistance to his zeal for a college education. As some of you may know, Floyd was in the academic procession at Commencement to receive his Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering. To complete requirements for this, his most cherished achievement, Floyd attended the Universities of Colorado, Massachusetts and Tennessee. Instruction at various military schools such as the Naval Photographic Interpretation Center in Washington, the Army's Engineer School at Fort Belvoir, Va., and the Army's Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, also helped Floyd to realize his ambition of obtaining a college education.

Although Floyd's endeavors at these various schools, both civilian and military, have helped him to realize his ambition, Floyd feels a great debt of gratitude to Bucknell University. With a recent contribution to the Bucknell Alumni Fund, he states, "I wish it could be larger, perhaps in years to come, I can more fully acknowledge the great debt I owe to my University."

Floyd is married to the former Annie L. Burnet, a graduate of the University of Tennessee. The Vuillemot's have three children: Lorraine, 8; Scott, 4; and Lynne, 1 year. They live at 1129 Tylee St., Vista, Calif.

THANK YOU!

The 1956-57 Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund established new records.

HERE ARE THE RESULTS, with the previous year's figures shown for comparison:

	1955-56	1956-57	% Increase
Number of Gifts	3340	3885	14%
Total Dollar Gifts	$39,210.27	$43,795.50	11.5%

Most classes showed a healthy growth. How did your class stand? Which classes will share the honor of having their Class Numeral Banners flying over the stadium on Homecoming Day? The answers to these and other questions will be published in the Ninth Annual Report of the Bucknell Alumni Fund, which will reach you by mail. Be on the lookout for these interesting figures.

And in addition, 265 gifts from alumni, totaling $72,234.16 were contributed toward Cowan Project, Doctors for Bucknell Project, Engineering Project, and to provide capital investments in buildings, endowments, and scholarships.

THANK YOU FOR HELPING KEEP BUCKNELL STRONG

William R. White '26 Elected Board Chairman

William Rafford White '26 was elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University at a special Board meeting on October 12, 1957, called to choose a successor to the post left vacant by the death of Dr. Joseph W. Henderson '08 of Philadelphia in July.

Mr. White has served on the Board of Trustees since 1938. Prior to his elevation to Board Chairman, he served as Chairman of the Investments Committee and was a member of the Executive, Finance and Nominations Committees.

Rarely does a graduate of any college rise to prominence so rapidly as has Mr. White. After his graduation from Bucknell he attended Columbia University, where he received the degree of LL.B. in 1929. Union College gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws in 1932. Associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Stanchfield & Levy until 1930, he was then appointed assistant council of the New York State Banking Department. In January 1935, Governor Herbert H. Lehman appointed him superintendent of banking. When he was appointed superintendent, Mr. White was thirty-two years of age, the youngest superintendent of banks ever appointed in that state. His service of six years and ten months as superintendent was, with one exception, the longest of any in the 96-year history of the State Banking Department.

Mr. White resigned as superintendent of banks in 1942 to become vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. While serving as superintendent of banks, he was elected president of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks and he also served as chairman of the New York State Banking Board.

In January 1938, Mr. White received the Distinguished Service Award given annually by the Young Men's Board of Trade of New York City to that city's outstanding man under thirty-five years of age. In 1939, the New York State Junior Chamber of Commerce awarded Mr. White, as New York's outstanding young man of the year, the Distinguished Service Award.

Mr. White is the author of papers dealing with banking and bank supervision and was lecturer in the Graduate School of Banking, Rutgers University, from 1940 to 1942. He has been a trustee of the Bowery Savings Bank since 1943, and a member of the Executive Committee. He is also a member of the New York Bar Association and a trustee of the Legal Aid Society of New York.

A member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, he has served as chairman of the Board of Trustees of the national fraternity. He is a member of the University Club of New York City, Clove Valley Rod and Gun Club, Millbrook Golf and Tennis Club, Wykagyl Country Club and is listed in Who's Who in America.

Born in Coudersport in 1903, Mr. White married the former Elizabeth C. Spear of Northampton, Mass., a Smith College graduate. There are three children, Deborah Ann, who graduated in 1956 from Bucknell; William R. White, Jr., a member of the Bucknell Class of 1958; and David Rodney, now a preparatory school student. The Whites live at 45 Gramercy Park, New York City.

CONVOCATION—1957

The conferring of honorary degrees upon four men and an address by Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, president of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and noted scientist, highlighted the annual fall Convocation on September 25, in Davis Gymnasium.

Dr. Bronk addressed the assembly of students, faculty, alumni, and guests on the topic "The Spiritual and Social Significance of Science." Following the address Dr. Bronk was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by President Odgers.

Dr. Arthur M. Schlesinger, professor of history emeritus at Harvard University, who addressed an audience of students, faculty, alumni, and guests in the evening on the subject "American Contributions to Civilization," was also recipient of an honorary degree during the morning Convocation exercises. Dr. Schlesinger was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law was awarded to Dr. Orwill V. W. Hawkins '13, prominent New York attorney, vice president and counsel for S. H. Kress and Company, loyal alumnus, and member of the Bucknell University Board of Trustees.

Another member of the Board of Trustees, Dr. John T. Shirley '09, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Dr. Shirley is a well-known Pittsburgh life insurance executive, a very active alumnus and co-author of The History of Bucknell's Virginia Lands.

Pictured below are Dr. John T. Shirley '09, LL.D.; Dr. Arthur M. Schlesinger, L.H.D.; Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Dean of the College; Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President; Dr. Orwill V. W. Hawkins '13, D.C.L.; and Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, L.H.D.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930, at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act, of August 24, 1912.

Another Step in the Second Century Development

Ground breaking ceremony continues the expansion of the new academic quadrangle

IN OCTOBER'S bright blue weather Bucknellians gathered to witness the ground-breaking ceremony of Coleman Hall, the University's largest classroom building. The time was 11:00 o'clock on Saturday, October 12, and more than one thousand spectators looked on as President Odgers, Dr. Charles L. Horn, president of the Olin Foundation, Inc.; Dr. William H. Coleman, vice president of the University; members of the Board of Trustees; faculty and students participated in the ceremony.

The building, a gift of the Olin Foundation, is nearing the stage of reality mainly through the tireless efforts of Dr. William H. Coleman. Named in honor of this respected teacher and administrator, who has served Bucknell faithfully for over 30 years, Coleman Hall will fill a pressing need for more adequate classroom space.

Perhaps the appreciation of the Olin Foundation's gift of $1,475,000, which will make the building possible, was best expressed by Dr. C. Willard Smith, professor of English and secretary of the faculty. Dr. Smith echoed the sentiments of the University when he said, "This efficiently designed class hall will be named for one of our colleagues whom hundreds, if not thousands, of our Alumni remember with affection and esteem as their teacher, William Harold Coleman. The gift of the Olin Foundation has provided us with an instrument of great value; with an expression of high confidence in our teaching and in our sense of academic responsibility, to the end that Bucknell University may endure and ever more certainly hold a fair course in the adventure of American education."

The academic structure will provide a University Theater, thirty-three classrooms and academic offices for the departments of economics, education, history, philosophy, political science, psychology, religion, and sociology, and will be air-conditioned throughout. Provision will be made also for later installation of classroom television.

Three stories high, the building will incorporate many new features in classroom construction and design and will include, on its first floor, an attractive gallery and lobby for art exhibits. Among its thirty-three classroom units will be two amphitheater-type lecture halls, one of them tiered for motion picture projection, and ten seminar rooms, three of them with kitchenette facilities.

Its theater, which may be used also as a lecture or concert hall, will include a stage-house, wagon stages, dressing rooms, workshop, and costume and property storage facilities. It will seat 300 on its main floor and 200 in the balcony.

The building will also provide special research facilities, among them a constant temperature small-animal room for the department of psychology.

Following the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Coleman Hall, Dr. Charles L. Horn, president of the F. W. Olin Foundation, (right) congratulates Dr. William H. Coleman in whose honor the new building will be named.

New Faculty Welcomed to the Bucknell Family

The Bucknell family welcomed to its ranks this fall 31 new faculty members. Of these 31, there are two professors, three associate professors, eleven assistant professors, twelve instructors, two part-time instructors, and one artist-in-residence. Fifteen different departments will benefit from this wealth of experienced personnel.

In the art department, Mr. William A. Clutz joined the staff as artist-in-residence during Mr. Bruce Mitchell's leave of absence. Mr. Clutz is a graduate of the University of Iowa and came to Bucknell from New York City where he had been studying and painting.

A graduate of Cornell University, Prof. Willard W. Gregory joined the chemistry department with the rank of instructor. Since receiving his Master of Science from Cornell in 1937, Prof. Gregory has taught at the Penn State Extension School at West Pittston and has been employed by several commercial firms.

Three new assistant professors have joined the economics department. Dr. John L. Blackman, Jr., is a graduate of Haverford College and has received a master's degree and a doctorate of philosophy from Harvard University where he held a Jacob Wertheim Fellowship. In addition to writing labor news and analyses for the Christian Science Monitor, he has had teaching experience at Simmons College and Northeastern University. Mr. Charles T. Ressler '52 received his Bachelor of Science and his Master of Science degrees in commerce and finance from Bucknell University. Before returning to his Alma Mater, Mr. Ressler served as comptroller of the First National Bank of Sumbury, and prior to this served with the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell of Philadelphia as a certified public accountant. Mr. Kenneth J. Rockwell came to Bucknell from Harvard University where he was working toward his doctorate. He received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Western Australia and expects to complete requirements for his Ph.D. in 1958.

The education department claims Dr. Beryl Parker as the new professor. Dr. Parker received her Ph.B. from the Columbia University in 1916 and her M.A. and Ph.D. from Teachers College of Columbia University. Dr. Parker has taught at Fiske University and New York University, and she has been visiting professor at University of Miami and Drake University.

The engineering department welcomed five new faces to its staff this year. Mr. John S. Hale, II, began teaching in February of 1957 in the chemical engineering department as an instructor. Mr. Hale received his Bachelor of Science from the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

A new associate professor of electrical engineering is Prof. Ralph C. Walker who is a graduate of the University of Michigan and who formerly taught at Bucknell from 1948 to 1953. Since 1953 Mr. Walker has been a research associate at Michigan where he is a candidate for his doctorate. Dr. Raymond H. Young also joins the electrical engineering department with the rank of assistant professor. Dr. Young is a Bucknell graduate of the Class of 1943 and first joined the Bucknell family in 1947. During the past year he has been engaged in completing his graduate studies at Northwestern University where he was awarded his doctorate degree this past June.

Commander William G. Buch and Professor Charles A. Coder, Jr., join the mechanical engineering department as assistant professor and associate professor respectively. Commander Buch (USN retired) is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and holds the degree of Master of Science from The Pennsylvania State University. For the past four years he taught engineering at Rutgers University. Mr. Coder is a graduate of Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and is a well-known consulting engineer. He has taught at both Brooklyn Polytechnic and the Academy of Aeronautics at LaGuardia Airport, has had wide experience in aeronautical engineering, particularly during military service, and holds the commission of lieutenant commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. As a consulting engineer, he designed the first constant volume polyethylene balloon utilized by the Signal Corps for meteorological observations.

Miss Phyllis A. Berla and Mr. Harold L. Shapiro join the English department as instructors while Dr. Edward B. Partridge joins the English staff as assistant professor. Miss Berla is a graduate of Syracuse University and holds a master's degree from Yale University where she is a candidate for the Doctor of Philosophy degree. Miss Berla has studied at Paris, Oxford and Harvard Universities. Mr. Shapiro is a graduate of Cornell University in 1952 and in 1955 he received his Master of Arts degree from Yale University after doing graduate work at Cornell and Yale. The past two years he has spent at Yale. Dr. Partridge is a graduate of Hobart College and holds a master's degree from the University of Rochester and a doctor's degree from Columbia University. Prior to joining the Bucknell staff, Dr. Partridge taught at Hobart, Rochester, Columbia, and Cornell.

Mr. Douglas J. Simmons joins the French department as an instructor. He is a graduate from Wabash College and holds a master's degree from Harvard University. During the past college year, he was engaged in travel and study in France, where he was enrolled in the Sorbonne.

A graduate of Barnard College and a candidate for her doctor's degree at Columbia University, Miss Ruth Kleinman is serving as instructor in the history department during the first semester while Dr. Cyrus H. Karkaker is on leave of absence.

An addition to the mathematics department is Dr. William E. Jenner who joins the staff as an associate professor. Dr. Jenner was graduated from Queen's University and received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Toronto. Dr. Jenner received his doctor's degree from the University of Michigan, where he was a teaching fellow in 1949-50, prior to going to Northwestern where he has taught since 1951.

The Army has assigned five new members to the staff of the ROTC unit at Bucknell for the coming academic year.

Four of the new reportees will serve as teachers in the training program while the fifth will assist in administrative details.

Col. Lewis T. Martin, who will hold the rank of professor, has been assigned as commanding officer of the ROTC unit. Col. Martin is a graduate of North Georgia College. Major Joseph Riccio and Lt. Alvin R. Gorby have been named as assistant professors in the ROTC unit. Major Riccio is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy and holds a master's degree from Columbia University. Lt. Gorby is also a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy. Sgt. William H. Walters and Sgt. Carl A. Weeks have been named instructors in ROTC.

Mr. Jack S. Grim and Mr. E. Lindsey Merrill have been named assistant professors while Mrs. Helen Jenner has been named a full time instructor in the music department. Mr. Grim received his bachelor's degree from Salem College and his master's from the College-Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati. His special fields are voice and choral con-

Additions and Changes In Administration

by GINNY EMMITT '59

Several members have been added to the administration staff, and some changes have been made for the present academic year.

Dr. Wesley N. Haines was announced last spring as new director of development. He is a graduate of Brown University, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He also holds a divinity degree from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School and a doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard. Dr. Haines was formerly assistant to the president at Kenka College.

Mr. Charles A. Meyn, also announced last spring, is the new dean of men. He was graduated from Colgate University and received the degree of Master of Science from Cornell University, where he specialized in personnel administration. Prior to his appointment, he was assistant to the dean at Hobart College.

The appointment of two new assistant deans, Miss Freda Lou Wilson and Mr. Howard L. Jacobs has also been made.

Miss Wilson of Greenbrier, Arkansas, has been named assistant dean of women. She is a graduate of Hendrix College at Conway, Arkansas, and holds a master's degree in education and personnel administration from Syracuse University. During the 1954-55 college year she held a Danforth Graduate Internship in Christian student work on the campus of Oregon State College at Corvallis, Oregon. At Bucknell, Miss Wilson is serving as head resident of Hunt Hall and as adviser to the junior women.

The new assistant dean of men, Mr. Jacobs, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he was also awarded his master's degree in educational psychology and guidance. He has served as a teaching assistant at his alma mater and has also been a head resident in the men's dormitories. He is serving as head resident of Swartz Hall.

Miss Wilson and Mr. Jacobs will work together in the new social counseling program, by assisting campus organizations in planning their social events.

Mr. Robert A. Newcombe, director of admissions at Juniata College for the past five years, has begun his duties as the assistant director of admissions at Bucknell. He will assist the admissions staff, headed by Mr. Fitz R. Walling '46, in meeting the problems posed by the increasing number of applicants seeking admission to Bucknell and in selecting those students most likely to profit by the educational program which the University offers. A native of Huntingdon, Mr. Newcombe was graduated in 1949 from Ohio University where he received the degree of Bachelor of Science in business administration. He has also taken graduate courses in personnel administration at Denver University and at Penn State.

Mr. B. A. Riley of Lewisburg, a Penn State graduate, has been named superintendent of buildings, under Mr. Walter C. Geiger '34, now physical plant director. Mr. Riley will have charge of housekeeping functions in all university buildings.

Promotions include the appointment of Captain H. F. Eckberg, formerly head of the mechanical engineering department, as director of engineering. He succeeds Admiral Eliott B. Strauss.

Mr. Fitz R. Walling '46, who was assistant registrar and assistant director of admissions has been made director of admissions. The registrar and admissions functions have been separated, Mr. George R. Faint '25, continuing as registrar.

The new associate in admissions is Dr.

FLU BUGS FAIL TO HALT HOMECOMING

IN SPITE of the best efforts of millions of flu bugs, plus a "black" Friday of pouring rain, HOMECOMING—1957 was another big day of sunshine. Bucknell spirit ran rampant from the early morning breakfast of the Bison Club to the midnight strains of "Good-night Ladies." Even the superior football squad of Boston University that dazzled the Thundering Herd of Bisons to a 28-0 standstill failed to dampen the spirits of the ardent followers of football.

As usual, the undergraduate students, under the guidance of committees of faculty and administration, provided the major items of entertainment for the alumni visitors. The float parade, with a big assist from ROTC, the Homecoming Queen Pageant and the Fraternity Sing at the Homecoming Dance were only part of the many activities planned and executed by the undergrads.

Floats and House Decorations

A total of fifteen floats competed for prize money with first prize honors going to the Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Mu entry which had as its theme "This Time the Party Is On Us." A huge teapot appeared at one end with a cup and saucer at the other. A teabag with Boston University written on it was placed near the cup. Second prize was awarded to Sigma Phi Epsilon and third Larison for their float depicting a Boston sleigh with twelve attractive girls pulling the sleigh. Its appropriate theme was, "Sleigh Boston." Third place went to a shivering Tau Kappa Epsilon and Carey House group who portrayed bronze statues in symbolic victory poses. Honorable mention was awarded to the Delta Upsilon and Alpha Phi float with its theme, "Boston's Last Ride."

Larison Hall and Bucknell Cottage won the cup, presented this year by the Women's Recreation Association, for the best decorated women's residence while Spanish House and Carey House received honorable mention.

The Homecoming Queen

Always a big feature of any Homecoming is the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. This year Miss Judy A. Moser, a pretty brunette from Ridley Park, Pa., reigned as Homecoming Queen. A member of the junior class and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard F. D. Moser '33, Miss Moser was crowned queen by Mr. Wilmer D. Gredlich

'34, president of The General Alumni Association, during the half time ceremonies at the football game.

The queen and her court also participated in the parade and were presented at the All-Alumni luncheon and All-Campus dance in the evening. Members of the queen's court included: Miss Peggy Smith '58, Dumellen, N. J.; Miss Faith Bonsall '58, Wallingford; Miss Mona O'Neill '59, Leonia, N. J.; Miss Lois Lenhard '60, Drexel Hill; Miss Jeanne Thomas '60, Lancaster; Miss Ann Campbell '61, Wilmington, Del.; and Miss Cora Five '61, Great Neck, N. Y.

Engineering Alumni Dinner

The third annual engineering alumni dinner meeting was held on Homecoming evening, October 19, at the Lewisburg Club. The 60 engineering alumni and guests on hand heard the reports of the president of the engineering alumni group, Dr. Lester E. Lighton '20, and the director of engineering, Capt. Herbert Eckberg.

Following the dinner, the members elected the following to the Board of Directors: H. H. Angel '19, D. H. Betty '51, R. B. Derr '17, E. R. Levitt '41, J. B. Miller '26, E. M. Richards '13, R. B. Smith '27, M. E. Cook

'43, F. E. Gerlitz '34, G. W. Hart '27, A. F. Jones '25, W. A. Lanning, Jr. '27, H. L. Nancarrow '20, J. C. Swengel '50, M. D. Hooven '20, R. H. Landis '22, L. E. Lighton '20, R. L. Rooke '13, C. Rutledge '33, F. O. Schure '14, T. C. Williams '20.

At a meeting of the Board following the election George W. Hart '27, of Ossining, N. Y., was selected as president; A. F. Jones '25, and M. D. Cook '43, vice presidents; and Prof. J. B. Miller '26, as secretary-treasurer.

Doctors for Bucknell

A meeting of the Executive Committee of Doctors for Bucknell was held after the Bison Breakfast at the Lewisburg Club on Saturday, October 19. Members of the Department of Biology at Bucknell University and other alumni doctors on hand for Homecoming sat in.

The meeting discussed ways of implementing the organization's objective: "To unite all Alumni of the University, who have prepared for Medicine or its allied fields, to give assistance and support to the Faculty and Students of the Biology Department in any manner possible."

Current officers are: Dr. Albert J. Abbott '29, president, Nanticoke; Dr. Cornelius E. Sedgwick '36, vice president, Boston, Mass.; Dr. Roger H. Bowman MS '48, secretary-treasurer, Lewisburg; and Dr. Merle G. Colvin '24, Williamsport; D. W. F. Darks '27, Orwigsburg; Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15, Lewisburg, executive committee members.

Meetings, Meetings, Meetings

Squeezed between the varied entertainment during the Homecoming Weekend many Bucknellians attended business meetings of the General Alumni Association.

The Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association met on Friday evening to discuss general business and select candidates for election to the Board of Directors in June 1958.

On Saturday morning classes whose numerals end in "3" and "8" discussed preparations for regular five-year reunions scheduled for June 1958.

The Committee on Nomination of Alumni Trustee met and selected three men candidates who will be balloted upon in the nation-wide election in April 1958. The Alumni Awards Committee also met Saturday morning to study the achievements of Bucknell alumni and to select candidates to receive three alumni awards to be made in June 1958.

Rock-Strewn Path Looms For Bucknell Gridders

BOB FITZSIMMONS '58

As this piece is written coach Harry Lawrence is readying his charges for their annual clash with Lafayette at Easton. Following the Leopards, Lehigh, Colgate and Delaware will tangle with the Bisons and the prospects for future victories this autumn are not bright. Bucknell will be outmanned in each of its remaining contests just as it was in last Saturday's 28-0 loss to Boston University. Only super human jobs by Lawrence, his coaching assistants, Bill Wrabley and Roger Oberlin, and the outgunned but not out-hustled team, could turn 1957 into a .500 or better campaign.

A series of backfield mistakes proved disastrous in the defeat by Boston. The Herd held the New Englanders to a 7-0 halftime advantage by digging in along the line when it had to and countering with an occasional offense of its own. The Orange and Blue marched all the way to Boston's 17 with time running out in the first half, only to have soph halfback Ray Hetteche drop a first down pass from halfback Jack Brothers on the ten. One play later, the Terriers' fleet halfback, Paul Cancro, broke loose and was headed for six points when he was finally overtaken by fullback Bob Fitzsimmons on the Bucknell 28 after a gallop of 55 yards. It was a wonderful defensive effort by Fitz, a crackerjack ball player on both offense and defense, and a feat that won't soon be forgotten by spectators at the game.

Came the second half and disaster for the home team. Amelio DiNitto, a 5-8 soph making his starting debut for Boston, unleashed touchdown passes of 64, 14 and 9 yards to completely demolish Bucknell. The Terriers hammered out 224 yards rushing in the opening 30 minutes and could tally only one TD. In the second half they settled for 57 yards on the ground, as DiNitto took them aloft for their three scores. In all, DiNitto completed seven of 12 tosses for 155 yards to make life miserable for the Herd. It seems that halfbacks who should know better were fouling up their secondary defensive assignments and the miscues were costly to a Bucknell squad that is not potent enough to take mistakes in stride. The line, with ends Jim Brady and Rogers Frassenei and guards Gene Meenan and George Salinger starring, did a fine job in a futile cause for the Lawrence clan.

The Bisons opened the season with an unimpressive 16-0 conquest of Albright, in which the defense was virtually untested and the offense showed as little as possible to onlooking scouts. The tilt did reveal a sophomore end with tremendous potential in the 6-2 Brady, who snatched a five-yard pass from quarterback Terry Fetterman and sped 16 yards into the end zone. The hard-working Fitzsimmons also blossomed in this skirmish, collecting 110 yards running and dashing 16 yards for a touchdown.

The most notable event of this evening, however, was a field goal that BU tackle Bill Walasek place kicked from the Albright 13-yard line. It was the first three-pointer notched at Memorial Stadium since Temple's Sid Beshunsky turned the trick in a 10-7 Owl victory in 1941, and the first on that gridiron by a Bucknellian since Clark Hinkle booted one in a 23-7 romp over Albright in 1931.

There were no scores of any sort the next week against an underrated Gettysburg team in Hershey, the Bisons dropping a 19-0 decision. Playing minus the services of two of their standout linemen, guard Lew Hart and tackle Bob Holmes, the Herd wore out late in the third quarter and the Bullets ripped across three last period touchdowns to achieve their win. Not even Fitzsimmons could fathom the tough Gettysburg forward wall, his 15 carries netting only 19 yards, and the Orange and Blue's only threat was set-up when Meenan blocked a punt on the victors' 29. There was no further progress, however, and the Herd succumbed to Frank Capitani and company for the second time in three years.

Lawrence had his boys rebounding smartly against highly-touted Temple the following Saturday. Fitz banged away for 83 yards and Bucknell's number two unit accounted for three tallies as BU prevailed, 19-6. Reserve fullback Bruce Nealy plunged three yards for one marker, ran 45 yards with an intercepted pass for another and was generally impressive for a kid who had played end for two years and had just recovered from a case of hepatitis. Halfback Buzzy Erickson sprinted eight yards with a pitch-out from soph quarterback Dennis Cox to pick up the other TD.

The second platoon's play in this game was overshadowed only by the all-around defensive performance. Temple broke into the scoring column after the contest had been prolonged by a penalty on the final play. Owl fullback Mike Logan plucked a Bison heave out of the air and scooted 83 yards to pay-dirt to wind up the afternoon's action in thrilling fashion.

Any encouragement provided by the reserves' performance against Temple was quickly dispelled during the course of Bucknell's 13-7 triumph over Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh. The starters marched to touchdowns the first time they handled the ball in each half and had to hold the Tartans at bay to preserve the victory. Chuck Wagner and the ever-present Fitzsimmons chalked up the six-pointers for the Herd, with Fitz cracking the line 30 times to gain 125 yards. On this particular occasion the Bucknell sub brigade could neither move the ball nor check the opposition.

Through the gloom that clouds the picture every once in a while there have been several shining lights. Fearless Fitz, with his 389 yards in 93 trips and his dependable defensive linebacking, has represented most of the Bisons' attack thus far and has certainly been the team's most valuable performer. End Frassenei, like Fitz, a senior, has been a consistently effective defender. Fitz and Rog were elected permanent co-captains on the eve of the Boston fray.

The pride of the sophomores has been wingman Jim Brady. He's started every game and has been a dandy pass receiver, as well as a stout defensive terminal. Halfback Hetteche, quarterback Cox and guard Salinger are other varsity newcomers who should come into their own before too long.

The Baby Bisons

Only 30 candidates showed up for freshman football practice this September and there doesn't figure to be much on hand to aid the '58 varsity. Most promising of a sparse lot is halfback Paul Terhes, a husky halfback from the Valley Forge Military Academy. Despite the lack of depth and talent, coaches Bob Latour and Franny Hutton have been toiling diligently with their yearlings, who lost to F and M, 14-7, and to Gettysburg, 34-0, in their first two outings.

BU Booters Show Improvement

A very green, inexperienced Bucknell soccer squad, which coach Hank Peters honestly didn't think would win a game, had a victory and a tie to its credit after four battles. A 10-0 blanking by Penn State was followed in order by a 2-1 loss to Temple, a 4-0 whipping of Delaware, and a stirring 3-3 deadlock with Wilkes. The last three tilts were Middle Atlantic Conference affairs and another is on the docket Saturday at Gettysburg. A pair of sophomores, John Toal and Lee Lawver, have rapped home a couple of goals apiece to lead the Bison attack, while junior Jimmy Brown has stepped into the goalie post and covered himself with early-season glory.

Bison Cagers at Work

Coach Ben Kribbs, who guided Bucknell to 16 victories, the most in the University's court history, in 24 games last winter, is getting his current squad in shape for the most rigorous schedule ever attempted by a BU five. As is his custom, Kribbs had his candidates condition themselves by running the cross country course before commencing the indoor drills. Among the returnees available for duty this season are seniors John Strizzi, Skip Wieder and Bob Salankiewicz, and juniors Hal Danzig, Ellis Harley, Bob Ericsson and Jack Flanagan. More about the dribblers in the next issue.

James A. Tyson '11, Prominent Alumnus, Dies

Bucknell lost one of its most loyal and active alumni workers with the death, on October 12, of James Arthur Tyson, at his home R. D. 1, Mertztown, Pa.

Jimmy, as he was known to thousands of Bucknellians, served his Alma Mater in a distinguished fashion from the first day he set foot on the Bucknell campus. A member of the Class of 1911, he earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in jurisprudence summa cum laude, and he was a prominent member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, serving as president of the group in his senior year. He was a Commencement speaker and a member of Cap and Dagger and the Law Club.

Jimmy was born in Montgomery, Pa., on May 19, 1886, and attended Muncy High School and Muncy Normal School before entering Bucknell.

He enjoyed a long and successful business career. Following graduation he became a teacher in the public schools of Westfield, N. J., for one year, followed by service as Eastern Pennsylvania manager for Silver Burdett & Co., publishers for three years. In 1915 he entered the life insurance business as a general agent for Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa and served in several capacities in Harrisburg and Philadelphia. In 1929 he became manager for the Guardian Life Insurance Company of America and served with distinction in that organization in New York and Philadelphia until his retirement in 1952. He was awarded his company's president's cup for best all-around agency performance in 1942. Since his retirement he has lived at R. D. 1, Mertztown, Pa.

Beginning his alumni activities at the time of graduation, he had served in nearly every capacity in the alumni organization. Jim served as finance committee member which created the Alumni Loyalty Fund and was instrumental in securing Bucknell's first full-time alumni secretary. He was president of The General Alumni Association for two years and chairman of the Harrisburg District for the stadium campaign, the Philadelphia District endowment campaign, and the Philadelphia 100th birthday campaign in 1942. He was the first president of the Bucknell's Fathers Association, a member of the Bucknell placement committee, vice president of the Bison Club, president of alumni clubs in Philadelphia and Harrisburg, and president and class fund manager of his Class of 1911. When the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund was begun in 1948, he accepted appointment on the original fund committee and has served in that capacity ever since. In 1953 the Alumni Association awarded him the Bucknell Chair for Distinguished Service to Bucknell University.

Closely related to his service to his Alma Mater was that to his fraternity, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Here he was chairman of the finance committee which raised the money to build the present fraternity house, president of the SAE alumni for many years, and he also headed the committee that raised funds in 1943 to pay off the entire fraternity debt. Certainly few alumni of any University have given as much for its welfare.

His business association included membership on the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Life Insurance Underwriters, the University Club of Philadelphia, Exchange Club, Kiwanis International, and he served as vice president of the City Business Club of Philadelphia. He was a member of the Masonic Lodges and the Presbyterian Church.

In 1913 Jimmy married the former Alice Louise Kolb of the University of Alabama who survives. From this union there were four children all of whom attended Bucknell University. They are Mrs. Louis H. Buek (Alice Louise Tyson '36), James A. Tyson, Jr. '41, Ralph Maurice Tyson '41, and Reuben Kolb Tyson '52. Jimmy also had several sisters and a brother some of whom attended Bucknell. They include Miss Carrie G. Tyson, Miss Lulu Clare Tyson '21, Mrs. Mabel Miller and the former Helen Tyson, widow of the late Dr. William W. Raker '07. His brother is Dr. Ralph M. Tyson '14.

Funeral services were held from the Schofer Funeral Home, Topton, with interment in Fairview Cemetery in Montgomery.

Walter H. Edwards '13 Retires

WALTER H. EDWARDS

On May 1, 1957, after nearly 50 years of railroading, Walter H. Edwards '13, retired as president of the Lehigh and New England Railroad Company.

Mr. Edwards began his railroading career in 1909 when he was first employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company following the completion of his freshman year at Bucknell. Employed by an engineering corps in the construction department of the Baltimore and Ohio, Mr. Edwards found the work most interesting and the experience worthwhile, and therefore, remained on this job until the fall of 1910 at which time he requested an unlimited leave of absence to complete his college education.

He then returned to Bucknell and graduated in 1913 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering. While in school he was a member of Delta Sigma and a manager on the varsity baseball team. Upon leaving Bucknell, he attended Harvard University, completing several graduate courses in engineering.

Following his sojourn at Harvard, it was back to the Baltimore and Ohio. He remained with this company from approximately 1914 to 1930, except for a short interim with the Interstate Commerce Commission from 1915 to 1916.

Effective December 1, 1930, Mr. Edwards left the Baltimore and Ohio and became general superintendent of the Lehigh and New England Railroad Company. Since joining this line he has held the offices of vice president and general manager, and executive vice president. In 1947 he was elected president of the company and continued in this position until his retirement this past May. He now serves as a director and chairman of the executive committee of the company.

Mr. Edwards is a director of the Bethlehem Globe Publishing Company and director of the Bethlehem Club. Being keenly interested in hospital work, he serves as a trustee for the St. Luke's Hospital of Bethlehem.

Mr. Edwards is also a member of the Railroad Engineer Association, the Association for National Defense, the American Association of Railroad Superintendents, a past chairman of the Railroad Contact Committee, a member of the Atlantic States

Dr. Paul G. Stolz, Professor Emeritus, Dies

Dr. Paul G. Stolz, professor emeritus of music at Bucknell University and a prominent Lewisburg business man, died Monday, September 23, at Geisinger Memorial Hospital where he had been admitted a short time earlier.

Dr. Stolz had suffered from a heart condition in recent months. He was stricken while at his offices at Royal Imprints, Inc.

He retired from Bucknell's faculty in 1949 after a teaching career of 43 years. At the time of his retirement, his faculty colleagues said of him: "His untiring devotion to his Alma Mater and his gracious cooperation in his sphere of activity endeared him to a host of friends." After his retirement, he became associated with Royal Imprints and served as chairman of the board of directors.

He was born May 13, 1881, at Reading and attended Williamson Trade School where he learned the pattern-maker's trade. He later enrolled at Bucknell University to study music. He received his diploma in music in 1906, a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1908, and a Master of Arts degree in 1912.

He spent the 1909-10 college year abroad studying at the Berlin Hochschule. In recognition of his achievements in the field of music, he was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Music by John B. Stetson University in 1923.

Shortly after receiving his diploma from the music department, he was appointed to the faculty of the school of music at Bucknell as an instructor and in 1908 became director of the school of music.

As Bucknell grew, he assembled a faculty of specialists to teach the subdivisions of the music curriculum. In 1911, he conducted the first of a long series of oratorios and over the years, music-lovers of the area enjoyed the many programs presented under his direction.

Dr. Stolz held offices in many Central Pennsylvania musical organizations including the Susquehanna Valley Music Club, which he headed for a number of years. For many years, he was the donor of the Paul Jordan Stolz Prize in music.

He was married in 1916 to Louise Graffin who died in 1930 and later he was married to the former Lula E. Coe '27 who survives.

Also surviving is one son, Donald '41 and one daughter, Mrs. Paul Benson '42, Lewisburg; four grandsons and one granddaughter.

He was a gentle and charming man whose presence will be missed in our University and community. At the time of his death he was busily engaged in organizing the 50th reunion of his Class of 1908 to be held in June 1958 on the campus. The deep sympathy of the University family and the thousands of his former Bucknell students is extended to his family.

Visiting Florida

Dr. Merle M. Odgers, president of Bucknell, and Mrs. Odgers will be in Florida in early January to attend the meetings of the Association of American Colleges and will speak to the South Florida Club at a dinner meeting at McAllister Hotel, Flagler St. and Biscayne Blvd., Miami, on Tuesday evening, January 7, 1958, at 7:00 p. m. Bucknellians in St. Petersburg will hear Dr. Odgers at a meeting scheduled for noon Friday, January 10, 1958. At the moment, the place of meeting has not been determined but alumni can learn the place of meeting by calling or writing Mr. Gilbert H. Lyte, 731-68th Ave., S., St. Petersburg 5, Fla. Let's have a good turnout of Bucknellians and friends of both residents and tourists at one or the other of these Florida gatherings.

good wishes being bestowed upon the freshmen and their parents by the students and alumni.

BETTY J. KEIM KETNER '43,
Secretary

SOUTH JERSEY—Colonial Nurseries were the delightful setting on May 26 for our club's Family Picnic. For the second year in a row Diane and Vic Scott were our gracious hosts and the day was a fine one for picnicing. Arriving from 2:00 p. m. on some forty Bucknellians gathered on the Scotts' shaded lawn for leisurely visiting and later a charcoal broiled supper. Our next event will be the Annual Birthday Dinner in February.

JANET BOLD SHOLL '43,
Secretary

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Two hundred forty-one alumni, guests, present students, and prospective freshmen turned out to the largest freshman reception ever held by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C. Of 19 entering freshmen from the Washington area, 17 members of the Class of 1961 were present.

The meeting was held at the National Airport on September 8, where a tour of the airport and a Capital Viscount delighted all in attendance. Also, as part of the entertainment at the party, a football movie of the undefeated 1951 Bison team was shown.

WESTCHESTER—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester held its third annual Freshman Reception on Wednesday, September fourth, at the Rye Presbyterian Church, Rye, New York. There were 83 alumni, seniors, freshmen and their parents present for an evening filled with chatter and fun. It's hard to tell which group had the most fun talking about Bucknell, but we feel sure that these grand freshmen had a good send-off for Freshman Week. The evening ended with refreshments of cider and doughnuts. Credit for organizing the successful gathering goes to Mrs. Naomi Farr Block '49, Mrs. Eleanor Carretta McConville '39, and Mrs. Joann Golden Limbacher '51.

We should like to take this opportunity to invite any and all alumni in the Westchester County area who are interested in joining the Club to please contact either Dr. Bruce Miller in Chappaqua or Mrs. Robert Limbacher in Tuckahoe.

Treasurer

Class of 1925 Honored

Thru a proofreading error the September 1957 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS (page 4) stated that Miss Thelma J. Showalter was a member of the Class of 1925. We must quickly withdraw this honor by pointing out that Thelma is a member of the Class of 1929. Thelma was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University by alumni vote last spring and will serve for the next five years. After graduation from Bucknell, she spent ten years as a public school teacher, 16 years in the Department of Internal Affairs, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and in 1955 was elected County Commissioner of Union County, only the second time in the entire history of Pennsylvania that a woman has been elected to the office of commissioner.

New Faculty Welcomed

ducting. Mr. Merrill is a graduate from the University of Louisville and holds a master's degree from Yale. Formerly of the University of Nebraska he has taught at Queens College in North Carolina and at Smith College. Mr. Merrill has been a member of several noted philharmonic and symphony orchestras and was concertmaster of the Louisville Orchestra. Mrs. Helen Jenner is a graduate of Northwestern University.

The philosophy department welcomes Miss Rilla M. Phillips as an instructor. Miss Phillips is a graduate of Whitman College and holds a master's degree from Bryn Mawr where she served during the past year as administrative assistant in graduate residence. Two new additions to the physical education department are Miss Nancy J. Campbell and Mr. Roger L. Oberlin who join the staff as instructors. Miss Campbell is a graduate of Ohio State University where she majored in dance. In her new assignment, Miss Campbell will continue this interest serving as adviser for the modern dance group. Mr. Oberlin comes to Bucknell from Quincy (Michigan) High School where his baseball and football teams compiled outstanding records. A graduate of Hillsdale College of Hillsdale, Michigan, Mr. Oberlin played four seasons of professional baseball in Cleveland Indians farm system, progressing to Class AA competition before deciding to concentrate on coaching. At Bucknell, Mr. Oberlin will be head baseball coach, assistant football coach and physical education instructor.

The physics department claims two new faculty members: Mr. Peter S. Signell and Mr. Donald N. Walter. Mr. Signell joins the department as an instructor. He is a graduate of Antioch College and has received his master's degree from the University of Rochester where he has been engaged in teaching and research for the past four years. A graduate student, Mr. Donald N. Walter will hold the rank of part-time instructor in the department. Mr. Walter has recently returned from the U. S. Navy where he had the rank of Lt.(j.g.).

Joining the political science department as assistant professor of political science, Dr. William B. Gwyn rounds out the new faculty. Dr. Gwyn was formerly assistant professor of political science at the University of Tennessee. He received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of London in 1956.

NORTHERN-CALIFORNIA—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern-California was entertained on September 15, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hartzell '08. The alumni attending were especially pleased to have in their group one of the oldest and leading alumni, Dr. A. R. E. Wyant '92. Thirty-one alumni and guests attended the party.

SANFORD F. SANGER '47,
Vice President

READING—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Reading held its fifth annual Freshman reception at the Wyomissing Club in Reading at 8 p. m. on Wednesday, September 12.

The program was led by William Plfum, Jr., president. The freshmen and their parents were introduced in a "round-robin" style. They were greeted into the Bucknell family by the alumni present.

Jake Kessler, a senior, gave an interesting description of fraternity life at school, and Donald Riggs, a sophomore, gave a talk on the present sports program at Bucknell. Everyone was happy to have Buck Shott, Alumni Secretary, in attendance and hear his interesting viewpoints of Bucknell life. At the close of Buck's remarks, a general discussion was held by all attending concerning college activities.

The program was closed by having refreshments served amidst the gaiety of YORK—The Bucknell Alumni Club of York held a freshman reception and swim party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levere M. Leese '34, on August 17. Thirty-two alumni, present students and prospective freshmen were present for the occasion.

"Most Development Programs, as they should, include the Alumni Fund. For this is a major key to the whole money-raising program of an institution of higher education. The funds which it garners in a year's time are in themselves increasingly important to tightly budgeted colleges and universities. Above and beyond this is the demonstrated fact that the annual fund, which forms in most contributors the habit of regular giving to income, is a feed line for indispensable capital benefactions."

From: Council for Financial Aid to Education.

CONTRIBUTORS 1956-1957

Gifts Received From July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957

The following is a list of the names of ALUMNI, FACULTY, and FRIENDS, who made contributions to the University during the NINTH FUND YEAR, 1956-1957.

As a result of the generosity of the Bucknell Family, the Alumni Annual Giving Fund has reached a total beyond any previous year.

Extreme care has been taken in the preparation of the following list, but some errors and omissions are almost inevitable. We will appreciate if you will bring such errors to the attention of the ALUMNI OFFICE. No doubt some gifts intended for the past Fund year were received after July 1, 1957. These gifts will be credited to the present Tenth Alumni Annual-Giving Fund and the donors' names will appear on the Tenth Fund list, to be published in November 1958. The numbers in parentheses following the names of givers indicate the number of years of giving since the Fund was established in 1948. It is hoped that each alumnus can make an annual gift because Alumni Fund giving under the "living endowment" principle requires that the annual gift be made continuously.

WHAT IS THE ALUMNI FUND?

The plan for the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund is simple. Alumni dues and magazine subscriptions have been discontinued. Every alumnus, former student and friend of Bucknell is invited to make an unrestricted gift to the University each year. These gifts are directed to current operations and are used where the Board of Trustees find the greatest need. Some part of each dollar inevitably goes for faculty salaries, supplies, heat and other building maintenance costs and the thousand and one items needed by a University. Each person contributing, no matter what the amount, will be listed as a donor in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

PERCENTAGES OF PARTICIPATION—BY DECADE GROUPS
1950-1956
1952	22%
1950	21%
1956	21%
1953	20%

The numbers in parentheses following the names of contributors indicate the number of years of giving since the Fund was established in 1948.

WE'VE REACHED THE $1,000,000 PLATEAU — LET'S TRY FOR $4,000,000

Your gifts to the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund alone this past year equal the return on more than a $1,000,000 of invested endowment (figured at 4% return). If every alumnus and former student makes just the average gift, the 1957-58 Fund will equal the return on more than $4,000,000 of invested endowment. And if every present giver contributed a dollar per year for each year since college days—Oh, Boy—we'd startle the college world. By such increasing support of the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund, alumni and former students can make our Tenth Fund Year (1957-58), o most substantial "living endowment."

Remember:

1. Your Fund gift is deductible on your income tax.
2. If you have your own business, a corporate contribution is worth considering.
3. IN MEMORIAM gifts are made by many Bucknellians, honoring Bucknell friends and relatives.
4. Family gifts will be credited to husbands and wives (50-50) if you list names and classes of each in your remittance envelope.
5. Fund ideas or personal news item, enclosed with your check, will make it doubly welcome.

BUCKNELL ALUMNI FUND PERSONAL SOLICITATION 1956-57

Personal Solicitation for the Bucknell Alumni Fund was conducted in 19 alumni regions. New areas in which personal solicitation was conducted for the first time included Providence, Schenectady, Greater New York, Reading, Rochester, Chicago, and the counties of Bergen, Essex and Union in Northern New Jersey. Over 350 alumni workers helped by visiting five alumni each.

The value of personal solicitation was again clearly demonstrated by the fact that over 40% of the contributors were Bucknellians who had never before made a gift to the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Program.

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Dr. John I. Woodruff '90, was honored recently when Jerry D. Bogar of Harrisburg entertained at a dinner party in observance of the 65th anniversary of the year he met Dr. Woodruff (August 25, 1892). Among the guests was Charles I. Boyer '02. It is interesting to note that the average age of the guests (former students of Dr. Woodruff) was 78. Dr. Woodruff was the recipient of one of the Outstanding Achievement Awards presented by Susquehanna University at their annual Alumni Day banquet, May 4.

Following a number of years of ill health, Laura K. Snyder 1'82, passed away June 6. She was the last of her immediate family.

Dr. George E. Fisher '91, was the recipient of one of the Outstanding Achievement Awards presented by Susquehanna University at their annual Alumni Day banquet, May 4. Dr. Fisher retired in 1946 after 50 years of service to the University as a member of the faculty and in other policy making and advisory capacities. He was active in work of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America and in the Snyder County Historical Society during his years of residence in the Susquehanna Valley. He is now making his home in York.

01 MRS. CREIGHTON M. KONKLE
(Laura L. Allen)
4435 Albemarle St.
Washington 16, D. C.

Word has reached us recently of the deaths of both Rev. and Mrs. Caleb B. Ayars, Jr. Mrs. Ayars (Lillian C. Grove 1'93) died December 27, 1956, followed by her husband, Caleb B. Ayars, Jr. '01, on March 30, 1957. Our sympathy is extended to their family.

Rev. Charles J. Pearse retired April 1, 1957, after many years of service in the ministry of the Baptist Church, the last 27 years of which were at the Hurlbut Avenue Baptist Church of Detroit. He is remaining in Detroit where his two daughters and their families have their homes.

It seems that most of us are now on the retired list. Andy Bechtel writes that he has been there for some years; is still in good health and enjoying life in his daughter's home on a farm in the St. Louis area.

Archibald Allison, after teaching many years in the Chicago High Schools is living in Highland Park, Ill. His wife was also a Chicago teacher. Their son and his wife are Beloit graduates. He says he is "just an old man, rusting away the last few years." This is hard to believe by those of us who have received letters filled with interest in his class and Alma Mater.

I spent an afternoon this summer in Lewisburg, visiting with Mabel Grier Leshner, talking of class and college affairs. Didn't your ears burn? Mabel is still active in church and civic work, though not now practicing medicine. While we chatted my daughter, Mary Konkle Koopmann '27, introduced her daughter Nancy, and the daughter of her niece Blanche Belles Everett '38, to the charms of Bucknell, hoping that they may both be entering there a few years hence. Being teenagers the swimming pool was what interested them most.

Charles Bidelspacher has not really retired for he is still busy in his law office in Williamsport, settling estates and handling real estate transfers for his clients.

Send him, at Market and Edwin Streets—your contributions to the Alumni Fund, remembering that as a class, we are interested in the drive for a new chapel.

Please send me more news about the rest of you "oldsters."

GILBERT PEREZ

Dr. Gilbert Perez, who had expected to attend the Golden Anniversary of the class, was detained in Paris, where he was attending the international convention of numismatists. Dr. Perez's collection of Philippine coins has made him internationally known. His most recent article, published in Numisma, organ of the Ibero-American Society of Numismatic Studies, for February, 1956, gives the history of the Filipino peso from the days of King Philip II. The story of the galleon trade between Acapulco, Mexico, and the Philippines praises the skill of the Filipino sailors and gives interesting stories of loss by storm and shipwreck. Dr. Perez gives special praise to the early rulers who came from Mexico to the Philippines. "If the expedition had been led by a Cortez, a Pizarro, or a Fernando de Soto accompanied by a reactionary Archbishop from peninsular Spain, the history of this country would have been very different." Despite annoying misprints caused by a Spanish-speaking compositor's unfamiliarity with English, the article is fascinating reading.

(Editor's note): This Rockwell fellow is a hard man to follow. Leo returned to Colgate for a few days from his tour of duty at the University of Guadalajara in Mexico, and now is visiting professor at Queens College, Charlotte, N. C.

"Bucknell in June" is the goal for all members of the 50-year class.

Plans for the Fiftieth Reunion of the Class of 1908, scheduled for next June, received a severe setback in their early stages.

Paul G. Stolz, Chairman of the Reunion Committee, gracious host and engineer of former reunions of our class, died less than a week after the second meeting of the committee.

As usual, Paul was head-over-heels in planning for the event. The first committee meeting followed a dinner party at his home. Paul had composed a letter which the Alumni Office mailed to each member of our class, and which most of you have received.

Paul, Charlie Nicely and your reporter went to Harrisburg on September 18 to plan further with Stewart Duncan and Carl Sprout. Details were mapped, and, also as usual, Paul was to be the link between the campus and the class.

But five days later we were shocked by the news of his death. The rest of us will have to go ahead as best we can.

Before Paul left us, the preliminary list of those of our classmates called to active duty on the Reunion Committee was compiled and is as follows. Read it carefully; your name may be there. Class President, Charles Nicely; Regional Committee: Lewisburg and Central Pa.—Harriet Burroughs Norwood, Philadelphia and Eastern Pa.—Beatrice Richards, Pittsburgh and Western Pa.—Henry Thompson, Baltimore and Washington—James F. Hayes, The South—Clyde Hostetter, New Jersey—Joe Shultz, New York City and Long Island—Ralph Haller, New York State (outside New York City)—John Hummer, New England—Carol Spratt Foster, Middle West—Chester Niple, Far West—Merle Whitney; Reunion Book Committee: Editor—Carl Sprout, Assistant Editors—Chester Higby, Olive Richards Landers, Clyde Hostetter, Mae Jones McGuire; The local Social Meeting Host and Hostess—Charles Nicely and his wife, Ethel; Class Regalia and Stunts—Stewart Duncan; Class Reporter—Margaret Pangburn Mathias; Class Fund Manager—Carl Sprout.

The sympathy of the class is extended to the family of Frank W. Reiter on his passing in August of this year. Frank had retired in 1953 as a construction consultant for the Flintkote Co., a job he had held for more than 25 years. He was active in the Christ Episcopal Church and several Masonic orders. Surviving are his wife and a daughter, Mrs. David L. Kendall of Jefferson City, Tenn., and 3 grandchildren. (Reporter's note: We are sorry we cannot furnish more information concerning Frank.)

The response from you, my classmates, to my appeal for news is still so meager, and I have nothing more.

Have a happy Thanksgiving and a Merry Christmas, too.

Fifty Years of Music

Priscilla Hardesty Thompson returned to the campus last June to celebrate her fiftieth anniversary of graduation from the Bucknell School of Music. She greatly appreciated being a guest of the University and was proud to see the strides Bucknell has made in its development.

While Priscilla entered Bucknell with the Class of 1910 and took college courses she also took the music course which led to her graduation at the end of one year. She continued her musical education at the Institute of Musical Art (now Juillard School of Music) and later returned to her home town, Cape Girardeau, Mo., where she taught music privately until her return to Bucknell as a teacher of piano in 1914. She resigned in 1917 when she married John Thompson. During the nineteen years they lived near Washington, D. C., she was teaching, being church organist, and taking courses in public school music at Washington College of Music.

After the death of her husband she moved to Sandy Spring, Md. (now suburban Washington) where she has had an intensive teaching career, for she loves teaching and feels that is where lies her greatest opportunity to inculcate love of good music. In addition to teaching, Priscilla has been organist and choir director, given recitals, done accompanying, and sung in choruses under eminent conductors. A summer of study at Cincinnati Conservatory and another in New York with Gustave Becker were highly rewarding.

The opportunity to hear noted musicians, to count as friends Dr. Walter and Dr. Frank Damrosch, to know Madam Schuman-Heink and her accompanist, Arthur Loesser, and Dr. Hans Kindler, organizer and conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra—to mention but a few—gave a richly inspirational background to her career.

Priscilla modestly admits to some composition, her latest work being a musical setting for the 90th Psalm.

It has been fifty years of a wide variety of activity with teaching always the best loved and major part of her musical life.

Deep sympathy of all classmates is extended to the widow and family of our beloved class leader, JIMMY TYSON, who passed on unexpectedly on October 12. See page 7 for a full account of Jimmy's service to his fellowmen and his University. In lieu of flowers, many of his friends have sent checks to the Alumni fund as a memorial. Any classmates who wish to join may send their contribution to John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary. Please mark your check "Jimmy Tyson Memorial."

As we go to press, we learn of the unexpected death of our own Frank G. Davis, alumni secretary from 1943 to 1950, in Lewisburg on October 21. A more complete account of his passing will appear in our next issue.

We're in the "BLACK." Had a letter from the Alumni Office today saying that the final accounting for the Class of 1912 reunion had been made showing an excess of income of $16.35. This will be put on the shelf for our reunion in 1962. Aren't we rich?

It was time for my report. I was almost afraid to open it because it might have said "Keep 'er down to 300 words." I heard that about a million times from "Buck" and Bruce when I was trying to get my reunion report together. It haunted me and I forgot to tell your folks who weren't there that our college names were on our badges, too. A real week-end! I could ramble on many times 300 words which just reminds me, I was telling Pop about a very dear friend being so very ill that her heart was wearing out as well as some other organs when he said "Did you ever hear of a person's mouth wearing out?" I just kept on talking.

We all wondered about Helen Levegood who is usually one to return for reunions. The damp weather brought on a severe case of arthritis and as she said "I could hardly move let alone 'reune'. I'm now getting in shape for our 50th—in five years time should be killed or cured."

Vic Schmid is still teaching at Baltimore City College. He had planned to be on hand for the reunion. Had a ride with some Baltimore friends and at the last minute they decided not to come. This left Vic without either bus or train transportation in order to be there for the reunion luncheon. He will soon retire so plans to be back every year.

Now before I forget it (old age) I want to tell you that every girl who was graduated with us but one sent back her questionnaire. All the boys but four. Now we must try to reach these people.

In a couple of weeks it will be time to take a pilgrimage through the great outdoors. The annual color classic of crimsons, reds, yellows, and golds. It might be called a pageant; it might be called a mere display but it is free for all who wish to view it. Not the works of man but rather the works of the Divine for man.

We are sorry to report the death of Miss Vera M. Frost at Erie Osteopath Hospital on July 15. Vera was buried in the Bethel Cemetery at Brookville. (Ed.)

MR. CHARLES L. SANDERS

At the convocation on September 25 our classmate, Orwill V. W. Hawkins, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law, this distinction coming to him in recognition of his career in the legal profession in New York City, since 1925 with the firm of Duer, Strong, and Whitehead. In addition Orwill has been active in counseling service with S. H. Kress and Co. and the Samuel H. Kress Foundation. He is also a trustee of our Alma Mater. Congratulations in abundance!

What follows your reporter chooses to call a letter to all classmates. About March 1, 1952, reluctantly I consented to accept the responsibility of being our class reporter. Not yet have I altogether regretted that decision, for I feel better acquainted with some of the "boys and girls" than I did on graduation day in 1913. But disappointments have come my way, natural sensations, I suppose, of every reporter, for letters unanswered bring some pain. For all the grand replies received and reported in the ALUMNUS, probably most classmates have felt some joy in memories refreshed after many years have flown away. However, I have been unable to offer even a line on a dozen or more '13ers who forgot to reply. Yet items in the ALUMNUS about these former associates would have been read as avidly as about those whose names did appear. Between now and next June more letters may be coming your way, from me or from some other classmate, perhaps a questionnaire for information. You see, in 1958 our 45th reunion will be a feature of commencement week. Then do respond, please, whether you live near Lewisburg or in remote corners of our land. As time passes, shadows lengthen, but memories deepen and heartbeats quicken when thoughts turn back to college days of long ago. Best wishes, Charlie.

MRS. H. B. WEAVER

From Lucerne, we went to Wiesbaden by train, sharing a compartment with a friendly Dutch family. Germany's farm lands reminded us of the farmlands of Pennsylvania. In Mainz we had our first real view of the ravages of World War II bombings. Our guide told us that the destruction we saw had all been the result of twenty minutes of bombing by American planes. From our hotel in Wiesbaden we made several tours, including a trip to Heidelberg where we enjoyed a sauerkraut luncheon in a delightful students' gathering-place, the historic Red Ox Inn. On the way back to Wiesbaden, we stopped at Worms and saw Martin Luther's church. In both Wiesbaden and Lucerne, we walked through the farmers' markets, a most interesting experience.

Our Jesse E. Riley retired as superintendent of the State Industrial School for Boys at Pruntytown, W. Va., in August. With a life time of service to youth to his credit, Jesse served almost ten years prior to his retirement as superintendent. During his regime, the second longest tenure in the history of the school, he improved the morale of the young men in his care considerably. The rate of escapees was reduced 75%. He and Mrs. Riley, the former Ethelmae Hieter '16, will do some traveling and visiting before settling down in their home at 405 Buckhannon Ave., Clarksburg, W. Va. Of their five children, three sons have also attended Bucknell. They are William O. '40, John W. '42, and Richard '51.

REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE
114 E. 188th St.
New York, N. Y.

We begin with words from Cy Lewis. I certainly did miss the news concerning our classmates in the next to last edition of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Nope, didn't like it either. (That of course was in response from a letter all you guys and gals of '16 got from this reporter).

What can I do? First place, I graduated as an engineer—engineers don't know how to write. They did think it was not necessary, that we should be able to write. That was for preachers, teachers, etc. In the second place, my wife and I were not blessed with kids, so we cannot write on that subject. Only thing left is myself—that is a poor subject. You will note that we live in the country "Bryn Awelon," Drums, R. D. If our late classmate, Thomas L. James, were alive he would boast that it was a good Welsh name. It means "Breezy Hill" and that is true in fact. I will retire in a year and a half and we expect to spend most of the time here. For the past ten years I have been interested in growing trees as a hobby and have planted a goodly number. With this I can conclude with an old Scotch proverb that goes something like this—"He who plants trees, loves others better than himself." P. S. "I am the Superintendent of Generation, Pennsylvania Power and Light Company." Well you generated something in the foregoing.

Thanks Cy, particularly for the reference to "Tommie" James. What a worker he was with eyes that most of us would have considered too much of a handicap. He and Dr. Burpee were a pair for sure.

Now fellow classmates get out the reunion class picture. Here they are—First row: "Lize" Lehr McCarthy, Dr. Lester Kieft (faculty host), Earle and Leah Fedigo, Brick Yon, Irvin Sowers, George Bender, Coz Seeman. Second row: Helen Brown Linde, Aileen and Don Fusia, Sarah and Ralph Derr, Lorraine and Pud Mellinger, Ted Hilty Akers, Ray and Tip Topham. Third row: Henry Loft, Betty Redelin and Roscoe Davis, Marguerite Sible Monroe, Maud Witherson, Frances Hilgert Higgs, Olive Moore, Lillian Hannold, Mrs. and Dick Thomas, Frank Williams. Last row: Earle and Louise Bassell Belcher, Maurice Cryder, George Champion, Helen and Ray Sprengle, Eber Swope, Louise Hahn, and Clint Sprout, Mrs. and Bill Geating.

Now the vacant seats up front should have been filled by the following who were present at the dinner but for some reason or other didn't get up for the picture Saturday A. M. They are: Fred Brenner, Sam and Katherine Clayton Russell, Charlie and Mrs. Hay, Alice Johnson Schug, Holman Knouse, Herman and Betty Reich, F. G. and Mrs. Rogers, Carl Waldner, Mary and Raleigh Felton and of course Dutch and Mary Maurer. Haven't heard recently, but hope Dutch that you're all well again. Now isn't that a fine crowd and aren't you sorry if you weren't there?

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Dear Members of the Class of 1918, and all of you others who tell me that you read my feeble efforts each month; this one almost slipped by me, but I managed to get under the wire. Not a bit of news about any members of the Class of 1918—I really can't manufacture news items.

This house moving project of mine has kept me occupied, and will for some more time—we are moved, at this writing (September 25) but not completed—have some foundation to complete, the basement floor and the heat—and believe me, this chilly morning, I am hoping that the warm weather continues for a few more weeks. It has been quite an experience, and like the man who is moving us, "never again."

Added to all this confusion my daughter arrived home from a three month stay in Peru where she was doing research in Textiles under a grant from the American Philosophical Society and my son came in from New York and headed for Cornell and his last half year of school.

Mary Elizabeth reported a wonderful time on her trip—one of the passengers on her flight to South America was a boy who is a junior at Bucknell this year. Small world!

Saw numerous Bucknellians at the first Fall meeting of AAUW—we are in the majority in this area, as might be expected.

With no news this report will be short, so please, you 1918ers send me some news—I can't write about myself all the time. And while you are at it, give me some suggestions for our reunion which will be here very shortly.

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)

Lewisburg, Pa.

Mrs. Amorita Sesinger Copeland became director of public relations at Fairleigh-Dickinson University in Rutherford, N. J., on October 1. Amorita brings to her new position a long period of successful activities in the public relations field. During the past seven years she served in development work for the Girl Scouts of America. Her contributions to the alumni activity program at Bucknell have been outstanding. She has served as an alumni club officer and director, is now serving her second term as a member of the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association and fills the post of vice president of the Association. Amorita plans to occupy a home on the Fairleigh-Dickinson campus early next year.

Wedding bells rang for our Fin Keech on October 10, 1957. He was married to Mary Katherine Frye at the Riverside Church in New York. Congratulations, Fin, and you have a date to bring the bride for a visit to the campus soon.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ

Classmates: Be hereby reminded that come June, 1958, it will be five years since our first real reunion, and high time we were getting together again. Plans in that direction were initiated by Dal Griffith, Pinky Jones, Larry Kimball and your reporter on Alumni Day last June. So start developing a receptive mind to information that will be coming to you directly and through this column.

Constance Bennett, after sixteen and a half years residence at 105 Main St., Saranac Lake, N. Y., has moved to 9 Church St. I know she would like to have a word from you.

24 MRS. PAUL J. CUPP
(Louise M. Benshoff)
933 Muirfield Rd.,
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Shambach (Luella Frank) send greetings to their friends in the Class of '24. John, a former professor at Hiram College, retired in June. Luella writes: "Bucknell is represented on the Hiram faculty; Paul Rochford '41 heads our art department."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Schweiker (Anna Heysham) toured Europe in September.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

Joseph Gardner and J. Lester George

After nearly 30 years, Joe Gardner and Lester George reuned at Joe's Lowell Lake Lodge in Londonderry, Vt. Joe, along with operating the lodge during the summer, builds "dream houses" near his home at Columbia, N. J. "George is with the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. in Phillipsburg." They send their best wishes to all their 1925 classmates.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Plumton, N. J.

Albert E. Conklin moved to Williamsport in 1931 and "stayed put." He is technical director and personnel director for the C. A. Reed Co., Inc., manufacturer of paper napkins, plates, cups, tablecovers and crepe paper. Surely, you must have used Reed's napkins or plates. Albert's address is 1324 Mansel Ave., Williamsport.

John W. Fisher lives at 1570 Watson St., Williamsport. He taught school for three years 1926-29. Since 1929 he has been connected with Satisfactory Laundry and Linen Supply Co. of Williamsport. At present he is part owner and president of the company. He married in 1928 and they have three children—Mary Jane '51, John, Jr. '53 and Carol age 14, class ?.

Asa T. Eaton feels that his life has been graciously blessed with marriage to a beautiful southern belle from Vicksburg, Miss. He and his wife are both educators. They attended Oregon State College where they received their Master of Education degrees. His wife teaches the fifth grade and Asa is county superintendent in a central Oregon county where the sun shines nearly every day of the year. They enjoy life in the Northwest, but miss many of their friends in the East

(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Dr. LeRoy F. Derr has been elected professor of education at Lycoming College, Williamsport.

We extend deep sympathy to Mrs. John F. Hackenberg on the passing of her husband in Milton in 1956.

James T. McFarland is high school principal of the Cocksackie-Athens Central School at Cocksackie, N. Y., a school system of over 1500 students. Jim is married and has one son who is a student at Rider College. Their home is at 9 Sunset Blvd., Cocksackie, N. Y.

Charles J. Kushell, Jr., financial vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., has been elected a director of that organization.

Emma Mae Kahler Davies whose address is Box 215, R. F. D. No. 3, Pottsville, writes that she had every intention of attending our 30th reunion in June, but was delayed at the last minute due to illness and very seriously doubts whether she can be on hand in 1962. We hope you're wrong! However, her advice to other Alumni is "Be sure that YOU do not miss your class reunions: then you will avoid the bitter realization that it is too late!"

Will I be hearing from the rest of you e'er it is 'too late'?

28 MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Leanne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

For the past year, Mrs. Robert W. Couch (Ruth B. Bray) has served the Bethlehem Branch of the American Association of University Women as its president.

Margaret M. Field of the Seward General Hospital in Alaska, recently enjoyed a vacation in California and Mexico.

Harry H. Pierson spent three weeks in Bogota, Colombia, at the invitation of the National University Foundation where he visited Universities and discussed university administrative problems with the officials of the institutions. Mrs. Pierson, who is originally from Bogota, visited her family from December to March and returned to San Francisco with Harry where they make their home. Harry is now Special Assistant to the President of the Asia Foundation.

Cyrus A. Wagner has been appointed advertising director of the Dallas Morning News. He has been in newspaper work in Texas, the entire time since leaving school, except for 3 years in military service. He and his wife, who died earlier this year, have one son, Cy Henry.

Raymond G. Yeich died July 22 at the University Hospital in Philadelphia. He had been a science teacher in the Chester High School for the past ten years. Our sympathy is extended to his family.

29 MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Your reporter was privileged to meet with our President Paul Fink recently, and as is always the case, he was planning for the good of Bucknell and the Class of '29. Believe it or not, we are planning already for the return of loyal '29-ers for our reunion in June, 1959. We are indeed fortunate to have such an energetic leader.

Jean Wood, who is now teaching in Indianapolis visited on the east coast during August. Unfortunately, your reporter was vacationing at the time, and did not have an opportunity to meet with her. We are looking forward to Jean's return in the not too distant future.

Henry Rupp writes from Huntsville, Ala., that the Tennessee Valley Area is indeed the land of opportunity. Henry is a guided missile engineer at Redstone Arsenal. His son, Christopher, is a freshman at Auburn this year. We do hope that Marilyn, who is in junior high school, will come to Bucknell.

When the Bell Telephone Company sent Allen Rarig to Lewistown as manager of the district office, they did the community a great service. He is president, chairman or director of almost every community activity, and is also very active in church work. Your reporter is proud that her old home town is taking advantage of Allen's many capabilities.

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

We hear that Robert S. Ingols has recently returned from Europe where he was a Fulbright lecturer. Next stop: Georgia Tech., where he will be head of the Department of Public Health and Biology.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Franklin Cook has been at Penn State University for twenty years. He has served the required number of years in every academic rank from instructor to full professor. This fall he will have his first leave of absence to write a book on Public Utility Economics. On August 28th he delivered the opening address at the 34th annual convention of the American Business Law Association held in Asheville, N. C. His topic was "The Police Power of the States and the United States Constitution." Professional publications during the last year include three articles for the "Public Utilities Fortnightly" and two for their "Business Survey." The article for the Fortnightly on April 26, 1956, Atomic Energy and the Power Industry was reprinted in the Congressional Record; the next, January 31, 1957, The Changing Expense Pattern of the Electric Utilities; and the last, March 14, 1957, Should Public Power Be Taxed? His son, Rhodes, spent two months with his maternal grandmother in Chattanooga, Tenn., while his father, Franklin, taught summer school. Since the death of his wife, Mary Alice, Franklin's mother has been keeping house for him.

Class, please send in news. I do so appreciate Franklin's help with class news.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Vincent B. Wayland is the very busy minister of the Community Church of Lakeville (Congregational), Lakeville, N. Y., but took time out to keep your reporter posted. He tells me he has just rededicated their remodeled century old church. In the four years of his ministry they have remodeled the parsonage, parish house, built a new educational unit, choir facilities and church office as well as the church to take care of their growing congregation and to afford additional space for scouts and other community groups. Vince, Jr., a senior in high school is looking forward to college and Cheryl is in junior high school and like most girls her age interested in ballet and fashion design. Kerry, the baby of our '54 reunion and Gay, born in November, 1954, keep busy with their pets, TV and friends. Mrs. Wayland (Franny) in addition to keeping Vince and the family is on the staff of the Student Center at the University of State of New York Teachers' College at Geneseo. Vince is the moderator of the Genesee Valley Association of Congregational Christian Churches. He served two terms as president of the Conesus Lake Council of Churches and has been on summer staff of the Senior High Conference at Wells College. Saw Mel LeMon there this summer. He writes he wishes we could increase the money in our class treasury to at least $1000 for our 25th reunion in '59, that we should also give serious consideration to what we would like the money used for.

I hope you will let me know your reactions to Vince's suggestion so I may pass them on to Sherb Walker and Harry Fithian, our reunion chairmen, as well as Eddie Myers our class prexy. My address heads the column—all you need to do now is use paper, pen and stamp on your envelope to express yourselves. I'll do my part!

(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

Dr. Heber W. Youngken, Jr., has been awarded a three-year grant of $26,700 for reinvestigation of biologically and physiologically active compounds in many drug-bearing plants. This new field will be connected with the College of Pharmacy in the Rhode Island University at Kingston, R. I., which opened in September, and of which Dr. Youngken is Dean.

Linda Louise, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson (Louise V. Windsor '36) has completed her sophomore year at Bucknell. Their home is at 2215 Chestnut St., Harrisburg.

We have been saddened to learn of the death of Mrs. N. Norwood Ferguson (Ruth P. Haker) on March 1, 1956, from a heart attack.

Marge Noll Hunt wrote a delightful letter in which she reports that Ray is assistant director of Methods Research at the Prudential Insurance Company. They are both very active in church and civic affairs in Short Hills, N. J., to which they have returned after several years in Jacksonville, Fla. They have three children: Virginia, 16; Carolyn, 13; and Raymond, 11. They hope to see Mary Walker Runkel, her husband and daughter, Frances, in their annual trip east from Salem, Ore., as well as Sally Mueller Sprecker and her family this fall.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Thank goodness for the lack of space in the September ALUMNUS, or we would be sans a column of class news in this issue!

Dean E. Smeal is a part owner of a large electrical contracting business in Washington, D. C.

Our belated sympathy is extended to Mrs. Howard C. Stanwood (Lillie W. Brown) whose husband passed away in August, 1956, following a heart attack. She has three sons: Bill, 16; Ronald, 10; and Mark, 4. Their home is at 45 Wildwood Ave., Pitman, N. J.

Thanks to Ann Orr Deschanel '35 for the following news item:

Nonie Goldsmith Pearlman's husband, Earl, has been quite ill. Nonie has been active in community affairs and has been a leader in group activities in Pittsburgh as a result of her training at Bethel, Maine, last summer.

The allergy season is here! Some of us succumb to hay fever, and some to the "paint-up, fix-up" urge. We have joined the do-it-yourself clan and, paint brush in hand, have tackled our living room. Eleven more week-ends, give or take a few, and the place will look like new—we hope. Seems like we belong to that growing army of people who just can't wait to do their own decorating, shovel their own snow and mow their own lawns. Latest to give up the ease of apartment dwelling and move into a place of their own are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Willcox. Until a year ago, Mrs. Willcox was Alida Eglit, executive-director of the Mid-City Center, Y. W. C. A. in Philadelphia. The Willcox's new address is 538 E. Church Rd., Elkins Park 17.

John J. Lenker has been appointed development Engineer—Product Improvement Section—Tubular Products—of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. The Lenkers address is 3302 Harding Ave., Aliquippa.

It does not matter how the news gets here. Just keep it coming!

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

After a year of teaching social science studies at the Benjamin Franklin H. S. in Rochester, N. Y., Christian L. Addimanda has transferred to the Edison Technical and Industrial H. S. in the same city. He and Teresa now have three children: Peggy, Linda, and Chris, Jr., and live at 173 Willmont St., Rochester, N. Y.

Robert C. Brumberger has been appointed manager of the Chemical Industry Sales for Nuodex Products Company, a division of Hayden Newport Chemical Corporation. In this capacity he will direct sales activities in the petroleum, grease, cosmetic, and textile industry fields. From 1950 to 1955 he was associated with Nuodex as manager of industrial fungicides and as chemical industry manager. From 1955 to 1957 he was a special representative for Rexton Finishes, Inc. During World War II, he served as a major in the U. S. Air Force. His big problem at the present time is getting his golf score below 80 and his bowling average above 180! He lives in Springfield with his wife and two daughters, Christine and Patricia.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Janson (Grace E. Collett) have two children: Christine, 1; and Eric, 4. Their new address is 285 Elm St., West Hempstead, N. Y.

Herbert C. Hinebaugh has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

This fall your reporter narrowly escaped a horrible fate: working. The teacher shortage forced the local high school principal into nearly persuading me to teach full time. However, a fortuitous enrollment loss at the junior high enabled a shifting of some ninth grade students back there. I did have a novel experience, though—I substituted this year before school began. Since I took a class the first two days, I attended preceding teacher orientation meetings.

Walter E. Babbitt is an interior decorator and antique dealer in Brewster, Mass.

Reverend Reuben W. Rader has left the Methodist Church in Vienna, Ohio, where he had been pastor for the past five years and is serving the Methodist Church in Shreve, Ohio. Bucknellians are always welcome at his parsonage, which is ten miles south of Wooster, Ohio.

Jerry Wagner is secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Triple Cities.

Clark H. Kuster died May 18, after a six year illness with parkinsonism. He taught for a number of years in the public schools of Erie, retiring and moving to Florida in 1950 because of ill health. He was married to the former Ruth Hayes, who survives him. Our sympathy is extended to her.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Raymond H. Armor has been named treasurer of the Diamond Alkali Co. of Cleveland, Ohio. He and Dorothy live at 1144 Ford Road, Lyndhurst 24, Ohio, with their three children, Paul, 13; Gail, 11; and Joyce, 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Colwell (Helen Meek '41) have a new daughter, Anne Meek Colwell, born April 25, and a new house to which they moved in June. Visit both daughter and house at 1205 Minnesota Ave., Tarentum.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine E. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Road
Phoenixville, Pa.

Dr. Charles F. Bond has received his doctorate degree from Cornell University. He and Amy (Amy L. Stevenson '44) with their two children, have returned to Burlington, Vt., where Charles is an assistant professor of zoology at the University of Vermont.

Charles M. Hofmann has been with the General Tire and Rubber Co., in the technical department as manager of tire tread compounding since December, 1951. He and his wife, Betty, are members of the Akron University Club and the Westminster Presbyterian Church. They hang their hats at 108 Harcourt Drive, Akron 13, Ohio. Was so glad to receive this picture of their four children. Fine looking children, Charlie.

43 MRS. EARLE E. BENTON
(Norene Bond)
130 Effingham Pl.
Westfield, N. J.

We had a wonderful gathering of Bucknellians at the home of the Bob Thomas '41 (Jeanne Haynes) on September 23 in honor of the Don Sholls '42 (Janet Bold) fourteenth wedding anniversary. Among those present were the Bob Royers '41 (Dorothy Hughes '41), Al Ashmans '46 (Doris Sievering '45) and Les Whitneys '42 (Joan Davidson '40).

Dr. Robert R. Krout writes that he has moved to his home in Washington, D. C., (6817 5th St., N. W.) to continue his practice of chiroprody. Since graduating from Temple University School of Chiroprody in 1950 he has been practicing chiroprody in Pennsylvania. Among his several published technical articles is a prize-winning paper concerning a new and quite beneficial method of foot therapy.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhimesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

The big news this time is the event on August 20 at Comiskey Park in Chicago when Bob Keegan became the only pitcher this year to come through with a no-hit no-run game. We were overjoyed for him, and overwhelmed when he was interviewed on Dave Garroway's show the next morning. At the time, the sports pages were filled with Keegan's statistics, history, etc., but for those who read it and didn't know him, this trite but important statement was omitted—it couldn't have happened to a nicer guy.

Chet Podd '43 and his two boys stopped in one evening on their way home from fishing. The Bob Malesardis '47 paid us a visit, as did Janet Leach; otherwise, there's no news. I know we're supposed to keep these reports brief, and no news will accomplish that. However, I doubt if that's what the Alumni Association had in mind when stressing brevity. Please write, won't you?

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

Mrs. Emanuel S. Warshauer (Juliet L. Brooks) visited the campus for the first time since graduation and was amazed at all the new buildings and changes since that time. She was accompanied by her husband, who is a lawyer in New York City. They have a small daughter, Nancy Gail.

Constance P. Dent has been awarded an AAUW fellowship for completion of her doctoral research at Pennsylvania State University this year. Her research deals with experimentation in the formation of negative human attitudes which seem to develop without basis of cause. She plans to return to the student personnel field after receiving her doctorate.

Dr. Elting C. Johnson is practicing internal medicine in Towanda, after serving 2 years in the Air Force. He and Margaret (M. Margaret Jenkinson '47) have four children: Lynne, William, Karen, and Leigh, and live at 221 N. Main St., Towanda.

The Williamsons took their first real vacation in twelve years at the end of the summer, and all five of us and our ancient cocker spaniel, Candy, trekked to Maine. Wish somebody had told us about Maine sooner for we had a marvelous time, and the children keep asking when are we going back in the woods? So much for us, what have the rest of you been doing?

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
954 Caldwell Ave.
Union, N. J.

Jim and I are thrilled to announce the arrival of Jeffrey James on August 19, 1957. He weighed 6 lbs. 14 oz. and has a very healthy pair of lungs, especially at 3:00 a. m! Jim is now associated with the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia as a special agent.

Mrs. John H. Williams, Jr. (Lorraine C. O'Connell) has two children: Jeanette, 5; and Timothy, 1½; and lives at East Meadow, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Ogg announce the birth of a second child, Vanne, born in September, 1956. In August the Oggs moved to 505 Dogwood Lane, Conshohocken.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Minnicks (Mary E. Speirs) welcomed a baby daughter on February 11. They have named her Susan.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Mackey (Betts Waddington) are the parents of three boys and a girl: Dean, Marty Lyn, David, and Keith. Their home is at 33 Godfrey Ave., Roseland, N. J.

It is with regret that I report the sad news of the death of the husband of Ada Corn Meyer, Dr. David Meyer. Ada writes that he passed away on April 27, of cancer of the liver. She is still living at 198 West Broad Street, Bergenfield, N. J., with her two children, Deborah and Robert.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Thomas R. McKee is head of the education department at the Traphagen Junior High School. He is active in civic, church and educational enterprises of the community.

Omar C. Seals is principal of the Steven S. Palmer High School in Palmerton. His home is in R. D. 1, Palmerton.

Roger L. Traxler is a process control engineer for the Mariette Paper Company, which is a subsidiary of the Scott Paper Co. and is located at the Fort Edward, N. Y., plant. He and his wife, Irene, have two children, Emily Lynn, born March 3, 1951, and Barry Mullaney, born April 7, 1953. Their home is at 17 Moreau Drive, R. D. 3, Glens Falls, N. Y.

William W. White has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Connecticut.

Myron W. Kronis and his wife, the former Sheila Felzensberg celebrated their first wedding anniversary on March 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Moorhead (Judith B. Agnew) have three daughters, Jane, Cheryl, and Patricia. They have a new address: 756 Inwood Place, Manmee, Ohio.

G. Ralph Noble is the administrative head of the Scranton Center of the Pennsylvania State University. Prior to entering this work, he taught in the public schools of Juniata County where he was active in county educational circles. He assists with the work of the Pennsylvania

John C. Koch, Jr., will be teaching in the Berkeley High School in California for one year on the teachers exchange program.

John H. Larson has returned from the wilds of the African jungle with a fine collection of animals, reptiles, souvenirs, and tales of Africa. After an impressive guest shot on WJAR-TV, he was invited to do a program series known as "Captain Jungle" that will represent the jungle, its denizens and his adventures. During his work in the jungle, he has shipped many animals to the States for exhibition and for medical research. At present, he is working with the Liberian Government in the development of a zoological park for that nation and expects to return to Liberia in two or three years to take a more active part in its development.

John J. Lose is now associated with the William Woodburn Co., as a manufacturer's representative of stainless steel. He and Martha (Martha A. Woodburn) and their two children live at 168 Park Lane, Rochester, N. Y.

Lee E. McCloskey was promoted to assistant maintenance superintendent at the U. S. Potash Company on December 1, 1956. He and Lena (Lena A. E. Garro '51) now have three sons: Bruce, Glenn, and Mark. Their home is at 1043 Pinon Lane, Carlsbad, N. Mex.

Alumni Workshop

The first Workshop on Alumni Affairs is scheduled to be held on the campus on November 15-16, 1957. Presidents of alumni clubs and fund workers are being invited to spend two days on the campus to exchange ideas on these two phases of alumni activity. Topics to be discussed by alumni leaders include "How to Organize a Telephone Follow-up Squad," "How to Conduct the Freshman Reception," "How to Help With Freshmen Selection," "How to Promote the Weekly or Monthly Luncheon Meeting," "Something for the Girls—What the Women Can Do," "How to Recruit Assistant Class Fund Managers," "How to Organize for Personal Solicitation," "How to Plan for the Fund Manager's Letter."

Discussion groups will meet on Saturday morning under the leadership of Charles T. Farrow, Jr. '26, Robert W. Dill '24, William S. Liming '33, John L. Bailey '53, Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey '29, Richard D. Atherley '49, Harry F. Andrews '19, and others.

Headquarters for the Workshop group will be the Cowan Recreation Center of Bucknell University located about seven miles from the campus. At the new Cowan Lodge the men's and women's dormitories will be used to house the weekend alumni guests. Alumni attending the Workshop sessions will be guests of the Alumni Association at the Bucknell-Delaware football game Saturday afternoon and at a performance to be given by the Canadian Players, a dramatic group, on Saturday evening.

(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

From all of '52, many many thanks to Seg and Eli for excellent reporting. And to Augie for making the class reunion such a success. Don't anyone miss our tenth; it's all great fun!

Jack and I got the home owners' bug talking to so many of you in June, so as of September we too are mortgaged to the hilt!

As maternity clothes were "high style" at reunion, I imagine there's quite a bit of nursery news to be passed along about now. Don't forget!

Among those understandably absent from our fifth were Mary Ann Rice Fearen, who with husband Bill ('50), was just getting acquainted with their second daughter, then a week old; and Carol Brown Gaidula, who on the Saturday of reunion was attending Doctor Jim's ('53) graduation from the University of Rochester Medical School. A move necessitated Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Thomas' (Mary Grace Jones) cancelling plans to attend the reunion. They with daughter, Gwen Eileen, moved to 50 Strathmore Circle—Apt. 4, Rochester 9, N. Y. Jack is a casualty underwriter for the Royal-Globe Insurance Group and was transferred July 1 from Buffalo to Rochester.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
371 Church St.
Hasbrouck Heights, N. J.

Dr. Richard W. Greiner received his doctorate degree in organic chemistry from the University of Wisconsin in June. He has accepted a position as a research chemist with the Hercules Powder Co., at Wilmington, Del. He and June now have two children.

A son, Phillip John, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace F. Sheely (Mary Jane Mills) of Buffalo, N. Y., on January 23.

We have two more new doctors in our midst. Edward H. Axelrod was graduated from the New York University College of Medicine on June 6. He will interne at the St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City. On June 9, Howard Bernstein graduated from the State University of New York College of Medicine in Brooklyn and on July 1, he began an internship at the Brooklyn Jewish Hospital for one year. After his internship, he plans to start a three year residency in Ophthalmology at the Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn. Howard married Bernice Goldfer on June 15, and the couple live at 62 E. 58 St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne Tuckerman)
20-A East Front St.

Harold E. Smith, II, writes, "Back from Europe, back from the West and making a career out of U. S. Steel. Am enrolled in their management training program and definitely enjoying 'bachelorhood.'" Famous last words!

Edward H. Williams is a quality control representative with the Bettis Atomic Power Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation at the Clarion site. His home is at 362 Atlanta Drive, Pittsburgh 28, Pa.

Rev. and Mrs. Richard L. Wilson (Anne E. Wieboldt '53) are living in the Methodist Parsonage, R. D. 2, Stepney, Conn., where Richard has accepted a call as minister of the Stepney Methodist Church.

Wedding Bells:

Sarah F. Ulrich to Dr. Stewart C. McCracken on June 15, at Sunbury. They reside at 6 Ridgewood Road, Wilbraham, Mass. Dr. McCracken has a dental practice in Springfield, Mass.

Elaine C. Seltmann and John L. Barnwell, March 9, 1957.

Luther M. Ertel and Diane Forster were married May 4, at Mercersburg. Luther is president of the Nippon Panel Company and is active in the Masonic Lodge and the Lions Club. The young couple live at 1555 Riverside Drive, South Williamsport.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
1013 Clinton St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

Robert C. Rosenthal is in the Army working at the Chemical Warfare Laboratories at the Army Chemical Center in Maryland.

The fall of 1957 will again find Lucille I. Smith teaching at the Red Mill School in the East Greenbush, N. Y., School system.

Harry E. Titus is taking graduate work in psychology toward his Ph.D. at Carnegie Institute, and is teaching in the psychology department. He and Marian (Marian A. Kennedy) celebrated their first wedding anniversary in June.

Following a year of research at the Chicago Medical School, Marvin I. Winston is now a medical student at that school. He was married in March, and lives at 926 West Buena Ave., Chicago 13, Ill.

On July 1, 1956, June N. Wright became secretary to the president of the International Nickel Company, Inc., in New York City.

57 MISS CATHERINE L. EVANS
118 West 13th St.
New York 11, N. Y.

The newest alumni—such an active group—could completely fill the ALUMNUS with accounts of scholarships, fall jobs, summer jaunts, and June through September brides. Briefly, here's what we've been doing since graduation.

Jack W. Gresham has received a full-tuition departmental assistantship at Boston University. Marion Schmidt has been awarded a French government fellowship for the year 1957-58 and will study at the University of Strasbourg in Alsace-Lorraine. Bill Moyer has been presented a copy of the Accountants Handbook by the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants in recognition of his having attained the highest average in accounting in his class. He has accepted a position with Esso Standard Oil Company and is engaged in the controller's office. Fran Johnson is studying at the Universite de Poitiers under the Bucknell-Poitiers exchange program. Her address is "Maison des Etudiants, Universite de Poitiers, Poitiers, France."

Paul Reed writes that his family has moved to Harrisburg. He entered the General Theological Seminary in New York City September 24 and would be happy to have anyone in the New York City area visit him at 175 9th Ave. John Riskis is a field representative for the General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Harrisburg. Fori Long and Ronnie Brownell are working for McCann-Erickson and Benton and Bowles advertising agencies, respectively.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Fisher of Sunbury on September 8. She has been named Lisa Anne.

Mrs. R. Furman Hawley (Barbara Ann Stutzman) received the Pi Sigma Alpha Award of $100 for the best entry in the 1957 essay contest. Her essay was entitled The Effect Upon Scholarship in the United States of Certain Freedoms Guaranteed by the First Amendment. Congratulations, Barbara Ann.

Any "news that's fit to print" would be much appreciated—keep in touch with either the Alumni office or your class reporter.

ON THE COVER

To help celebrate the 112th Anniversary of the granting of the charter establishing the University (February 5, 1846) our cover picture gathers together some symbols of Bucknell's beginnings. The central figure is James Moore, III, whose zeal and devotion brought together the small group of founders. To his left we find the symbol of the financial agents, Dr. William Shadrack and Eugenio Kincaid who, on horseback and by horse and buggy, covered all of Pennsylvania and nearby New Jersey and Delaware seeking subscriptions to the first $100,000 of University endowment. Other symbols include pictures of the early buildings, all leading to the Pennsylvania map carrying the modern symbols of the arts and sciences now taught at the University, 112 years after these founding fathers "built better than they knew." For the thrilling details of these early events see Centennial History of Bucknell University. For the preparation and layout of the "Bucknell symbols" we are indebted to Mr. Barnard Taylor of Grit Publishing Company of Williamsport.

A View Toward Admissions

Admission to Bucknell will depend upon intelligence, high grades in secondary school, and varied cultural and community interests.

PART OF THE FUTURE is already discernible. In the first place, the increase in the birth rate which began in the forties, plus the increased demand for college-trained young people, will mean an enrollment in the 1970's of double that of today. In 1957-58 the enrollment in colleges has already shown an increase, even though the birth rate of eighteen years ago would normally have meant a decrease in this year and in the last several years.

The second fact is, that even if colleges expand their enrollments, and new institutions, both two-year and four-year, are established, many colleges which do not expand or expand only modestly, will expect higher scholarly attainments of candidates for admission. Fortunate indeed will be the young person endowed with high intelligence and diligent study habits, high grades in secondary school in college preparatory subjects, who also will have demonstrated his cultural interests in writing, music, art, community groups and other activities. Present and future admission policies may close college doors to students with ability merely equal to the average of earlier college generations. Hence, some future statesmen may be denied admission to college.

In the third place, greater reliance will undoubtedly be placed upon entrance tests to be given at an earlier time in the secondary school than at present, and upon a broader scale. While these and present tests are by no means perfect, they do serve to identify the scholar. The best preparation for these tests is a sound college preparatory course, with emphasis upon excellent reading ability, wide outside reading, good study habits, and the development of imagination and critical judgment. Excellence in communication, both oral and written, will be essential. Easy electives will be frowned upon, with emphasis again on languages, mathematics, and the sciences, both natural and social. This means that study will need to come first, with extracurricular activities and community participation limited to those which complement and assist the general scholarly interest.

Already multiple applications abound, an undesirable situation, in part avoidable, if candidates were to select more carefully the colleges to which they apply. For example, in recent years, application and acceptances at Bucknell have been as follows:

Year	Number of Completed Applications	Number Offered Admission	Number Who Entered
1954	1468	933	557
1955	1617	1038	614
1956	1968	1142	620
1957	2455	1205	655

At some of the better known colleges the number of applications and the number offered admission is much greater than at Bucknell in relation to the number of places in the entering classes. This type of competition reduces the chances for admission for students who rank below average in high school achievement and college board scores. Even graduation from highly rated preparatory schools does not assure a student of admission to college, for all students face competition.

Another factor affecting college admission is the rising cost of college education which is offset only in part by expanding scholarship programs. The best scholarships are offered in large measure by the better known colleges and increasingly by industrial corporations or their foundations. Again a premium is offered for the best brains, with few opportunities for the not-quite-brilliant student. At Bucknell, since scholarships are not plentiful and the amounts on the whole are not large, some outstanding students do not accept admission because of better offers elsewhere. Alumni should encourage scholarship support and should seek out the young people in their communities who are likely to be winners of national scholarships applicable at any institution. These two steps could lead to a higher level of intellectual attainment in our student body.

The task of paying for a college education is a serious strain upon the family income. Even the lowest charges may be too high for some families. Hence, students need to supplement family income by summer work, by work jobs in the last three years in college or, in some instances, by loans in the last year or two in college. Bucknell does have a considerable work aid program and some loan funds. Inflationary pressures and the need for higher faculty salaries have required a series of fee increases in all private educational institutions. Bucknell's comprehensive charge (including tuition, fees, room and board) will be $1750 next year, including a $200 increase over this year's tuition charge. This does not include books, supplies and incidental expenses.

Perhaps most significant is the changing attitude with respect to the financing of a college education. Young people are be-

THE AIMS OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION

By KARL D. HARTZELL
Dean of the University

E DUCATION is an inexhaustible subject. More words and ink have been expended on it than on any other, except perhaps religion and politics. I shall discuss five characteristics of a liberally educated person, for it is this kind of person that Bucknell University hopes that its students will become; not necessarily immediately, or at the end of four years, but gradually—as a result of the foundation they receive here.

The first characteristic of an educated person is that he is oriented, or "at home," in his cultural heritage. The importance of such an orientation was pointed out many centuries ago by the Roman Emperor Marcus Aurelius, who said, "He who knows not what the world is, knows not where he is himself."

What we are today we owe to the work of outstanding men and women who have lived before us and who have left behind them the noblest ideas that they could conceive—ideas such as those of right, justice, truth, beauty and love; and the finest institutions they could develop—such as universal suffrage, representative government, the jury system, the nation, and the United Nations. Their spirit and their deeds have helped form our Western traditions. Even here at Bucknell we are aware of traditions to which faculty, students and administrators in by-gone years have contributed. We are influenced by these traditions, and in turn we will pass them on to our children. A person who is at home with the best ideas of all time is under the influence of the very essence of what it means to be human. One writer put it, "He has joined the human race."

An understanding of our cultural heritage includes an awareness of the fact of change, process, evolution, and not only of the fact, but also of the direction. For we are what we are becoming, both as a race and as individuals. The educated person lives not only in the present but also in the past and the future. Just as we are independent of location in space through the use of our imagination, so we are also independent of existence in time through the use of the same faculty.

The direction that is being taken by the civilization that we enjoy today is the work of the uncommon man. It is not the average person who sets the direction of the race, but he who has the intelligence and the courage to stand out ahead of his fellows or to pierce the present limits of knowledge or to recognize needs and take steps to meet them. Today more than ever before, this country needs leaders in all walks of life; and it is the function of universities such as Bucknell to produce them.

Let me relate these ideas to the curriculum. The courses that deal with our heritage, that answer the question, "How did we get to be what we are today?" that give us a time perspective, are those using the historical or chronological approach—specifically, the histories of Western civilization and its component parts and periods. There are also courses in special disciplines that attempt to give orientation in time, such as anthropology, paleontology, astronomy, geology, and histories of philosophy, music, science, art, and world literature. The more one takes of these, the more one appreciates the reality of time as a fourth dimension of culture and understands his own place in the on-going of the human race, his debt to others, and his obligation to transmit to future generations what he knows and believes. These kinds of understanding are the possession of a liberally educated person.

Secondly, I believe an educated person is also at home in the contemporary world in which he is living. This is the world into which we were born and in which we take our places as responsible adults. It has the same component parts, the same general cultural subdivisions as at any other period in history, whether contemporary with Christ, Luther, Napoleon or Eisenhower. The areas of human knowledge that relate to the subdivisions of culture may be grouped in the modern curriculum into the sciences, the social sciences, the humanities and the fine arts. Courses offered at Bucknell University that are taught as existing bodies of knowledge without any historical or evolutionary dimension relate to the modern world. They are the pure and applied sciences, such as chemistry, physics, biology, mathematics and engineering, the social sciences such as economics, sociology, some courses in political science, and any of the courses with the prefix "contemporary" or "modern" such as contemporary literature, modern philosophy, modern art or even modern physics. Some of these fields use the problem approach and may or may not draw heavily from the past; but generally speaking, they try to give a cross section of culture as of now.

A third characteristic of an educated person is that he understands himself. The individual is at least the most complex piece of living matter in the animal kingdom; and if one is religious, he believes that the individual is even more than that. What we call "the self" has been the seat or focal point of human evolution since time immemorial. Human evolution is still going on, and getting to know ourselves is a life-long process that is never really finished. A person who is well oriented within himself is one who is aware of a number of his own intellectual characteristics.

His beliefs are the first of an educated person's intellectual characteristics. An educated person has thought about his beliefs. There may be some absolutes in his thinking, there may be none, or his beliefs may be changing. In any event, he knows the situation.

An educated person is aware of his attitudes towards people and toward ideas that are new or different. He is open-minded because he seeks truth wherever it may lead him.

His interests are relatively broad, and he knows how to develop new ones. He approaches a new subject, a new person, or a new thing with sympathy and with a willingness to consider it with an open mind. He has a liberal or broad conception of himself as a person rather than as merely the performer of a social or eco-conomic function. Because he realizes that many things affect his development as a person, he is interested in many things.

Not only his beliefs but his purposes also are well considered and in tune with the value judgments he has made regarding his own needs and those of society. His abilities are realistically appraised. He does not over-estimate himself. He does not sell himself short, and he has found out about his abilities by working to develop them. If he can write, speak, play an instrument, and win friends and influence people, we can be sure he has been working at these things for some time. This educated person of ours also knows what he cares about—what things, what people, what ideas he holds onto most intensely, what his deepest drives are, and how to discipline and direct his emotions. He understands what gives him joy or sorrow and how well he can stand their test. He is not afraid of love, nor does he wallow in it. He has developed self-control.

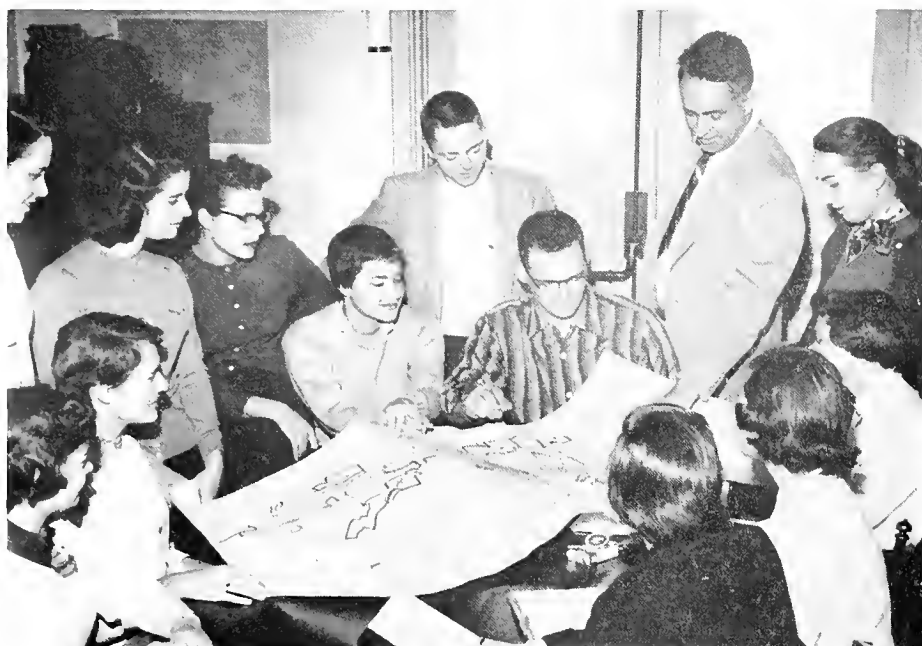

Formal courses in the curriculum can help us only partly in understanding ourselves. Courses in psychology are useful; and to the extent that they come to grips with the nature of human nature, those in religion and literature also help. Of paramount importance, however, are our relations with our friends among the students and faculty. The more one knows about himself, the better he can control himself and live the life he really wants to live. Self-understanding is a long step along the road to happiness.

Two other characteristics of an educated person are developed substantially by a college experience. I refer to the possession of a system, or scale, of values—moral, ethical, esthetic, and religious, and to the possession of a number of developed personal abilities—abilities rather than simply skills. Both have to do with the relation of the individual to the two areas in which he lives—his cultural heritage and the modern world.

The problem of values is unique to man. He alone tries to bring some kind of order out of everything he learns from the past and everything he experiences in the present. The ordering of experience is a characteristic function of the human mind. For example, we have about seventy years to live. What do we want most to do with our lives, and how do we achieve our goals? Value judgments as to purposes and methods enter here. Or, on a larger scale, what should we as a nation do with atomic energy? This is a continuing problem for the scientists, corporations, the State Department, and the A. E. C. Knowledge itself is neither good nor bad; it is the use of knowledge that poses problems of value.

Wise value judgments are not easily made. Some people develop a warped scale of values, turn against society or against themselves, and end up behind bars or in mental institutions. Others develop characters that win admiration and support from millions of people. Most of us are found somewhere in between these extremes. A college education can help one to develop an intelligent, coherent and high standard of values.

Formal courses that help in developing values are those in philosophy, religion, ethics and logic, some of those in psychology, many literature courses, and some history courses. Here again, however, one's personal contacts and the experimentation that we all do in the laboratory of our personal lives count heavily. Values are taught by example from friends in real life as well as by those whom we meet out of the past through the medium of literature. We see all kinds of values in use. We must select the highest for our own.

L'Agenda

The first four characteristics of an educated person are those least discernible upon first meeting. They are the parts of one's personality that his friends appreciate, but that others may pass by. One can use them to the full in those positions in which all sides of his nature can be brought into play. Personal abilities, on the other hand, are more obvious. Their possession or lack of possession dictates how well an individual relates himself to the world around him as leader or follower. It is the balance of these abilities, innate or developed, when considered in relation to the framework supplied by the other four characteristics, that plays a large part in the selection of a profession or vocation. They contribute largely to success or failure, and a college education is often equated in people's minds with their development alone. If, however, abilities are substituted for the other four aspects that I have described, and especially if skills are substituted for abilities, we have training—but we do not have an education.

The first two of these abilities depend upon the educated eye and the educated ear. The ability to read rapidly and with understanding is fundamental whether we refer to prose, poetry, musical notes, or art in any of its forms. Most of us are fortunate if our eyes enable us to read reasonably well in one of these media. Courses requiring extensive reading help to develop the understanding that comes through the eye. The ear similarly, is of growing importance. Most people enjoy some kinds of music, but a broader interest and understanding can be developed through courses in music appreciation, harmony and ear training. The success of both radio and television depends heavily upon aural reception. Enjoyment of programs through these media as well as of lectures depends upon the level of understanding and interest that one has developed through the ear.

The ability to express one's self clearly and forcefully in speech and in writing is fundamental to professional effectiveness. Practice makes perfect. We do not run the quarter mile under fifty-five seconds the first time we try it; nor are we expert on the stage, on the platform, or in the modern dance in our first performance. Courses specifically devoted to writing, speaking, and acting are obviously helpful; but opportunities to write and speak are available throughout a university curriculum. Debating and holding offices in the student body, fraternities, or sororities provide excellent opportunities for practice.

Clear thinking is the only ability that justifies speaking and writing in the first place. Logical analysis, the ability to take things apart or reduce them to their essentials; and logical synthesis, the ability to put two and two together, to create something out of fragments, are basic mental processes. Courses that deal specifically with these processes of reasoning include those in philosophy, especially logic. One also must be exposed to the scientific method in the sciences. If one likes to put things together, to follow his own thought processes, then the courses that give individual papers or projects, or that require comprehensive or essay-type examinations will help him to strengthen his ability to synthesize. That ability is at present in short supply. Unfortunately the work required to develop it cannot be avoided.

Finally there are two other personal abilities—the ability to understand human nature and the capacity for linking thought with action. The first is dependent upon one's sensitivity to other people, and it uses many facts of one's nature. It is as though countless individual impressions are fed into our mental "univac" and come out again in a clear picture of another person. Understanding of this sort is the act of relating what one knows about one's self to what one knows about someone else. Experience, well understood, helps. Courses in literature that give one case study after another and some courses in psychology and religion are useful, but again there is no substitute for getting to know people of all sorts.

Close linkage of thought with action is what is meant by those who use the term "commitment to a cause," frequently in the religious sense. Commitment to a cause requires a firm belief in the cause. It requires an emotional drive. It requires an active intelligent approach to the problem of doing something about it. If those who act without thinking and those who think without acting could somehow undergo reciprocal transfusions, civilization would progress more rapidly.

"Condensed from a talk to freshmen given during orientation week."

Dr. Frank G. Davis, Alumni Secretary and Prominent Educator, Passes On

FRANK G. DAVIS

A lamp held high, its gleam lighting up every facet of the field of education, was extinguished when Dr. Frank G. Davis '11, former alumni secretary and professor emeritus for 31 busy and fruitful years at Bucknell passed away on October 21 at his home in Lewisburg.

An alumnus who served 31 years on the Bucknell faculty prior to his retirement in 1955 and for seven years as alumni secretary and editor of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS (1943-1950), his long tenure brought him into contact with thousands of Bucknellians all over the world. He served as the first director of the Bucknell Alumni Fund, and it was he who conceived the idea in 1933 of a Bucknell Junior College to be located at Wilkes-Barre. He assumed the responsibility of making the necessary surveys and setting up the institution which was identified with Bucknell until 1947 when it became Wilkes College.

His wide range of activities in the educational field brought him in contact with the leading educational associations of the nation. He graduated from Bucknell in 1911 with highest honors, earned a Master of Arts degree at Bucknell in 1917, a second Master of Arts degree from Columbia University in 1924 and the Doctor of Philosophy degree from New York University in 1930. He was the author or co-author of a large number of widely circulated text books in the field of guidance and pupil personnel. He was a member and president of numerous state and national educational associations. At the time of his death, he and Mrs. Davis were engaged in research for a forthcoming book. On the day of his death, he and Mrs. Davis had been at work in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library on the Bucknell campus.

His early professional experience included service as principal of the Valdez, Alaska, public schools, superintendent of the Auburn, Washington, public schools and principal of the junior high school in Cleveland, Ohio, until 1924 when he became professor of education at Bucknell. In addition to serving as head of the department of education from 1924 until 1952, he served Bucknell as director of the Demonstration School, director of admissions, director of summer school and extension work and in the office of alumni secretary and editor of the alumni magazine. He and Mrs. Davis had traveled widely in this country and Europe, and he had served as visiting professor at Fresno State Teachers College, University of Arkansas and New York University. He was listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in Education and Leaders in Education and held membership in the honorary fraternities of Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Phi Kappa. For his long service in the Susquehanna Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, he was awarded the Silver Beaver award. On several occasions he was sent by the United States government to make surveys of guidance programs in several foreign countries. He and Mrs. Davis had spent most of last year in Germany and Spain.

Born in Saginaw, Michigan, in 1884, he was married to the former Bess Carnall in 1915. He is also survived by three children, Carol Lee '38, now Mrs. E. J. Hart, wife of Lt. Col. Hart of the U. S. Air Force now stationed at Weisbaden, Germany; Margaret Louise '40 in government service in Washington, D. C.; and Frank Allen Carnall '51, public relations director and editor at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

His great interest in student affairs and athletics dated back to his own student days when he became a member of Delta Sigma (now Delta Upsilon) fraternity. He enjoyed all sports and attended most of the athletic events held on the campus, but his greatest recreational interest was without doubt his game of golf, and he was able to play two or three times a week until the time of his death.

Rev. Morse Bettison, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lewisburg, conducted memorial services for Dr. Davis and spoke briefly on the verse from Revelation 14:13, "And their works do follow them . . ." Commenting upon his career, Rev. Bettison said, "Frank Davis is one whose works do follow him. Long is the list of his many accomplishments and many contributions in his chosen field. Long, too, is the list of the many recognitions that had come to him because of his excellence in his work, and his devotion to interests and principles in education that were ahead of the time, leading the way to new understanding." In closing the memorial service, Rev. Bettison quoted from the first chapter of Dr. Davis's Guidance Handbook: "'Education for the child becomes an adventure—an adventure in which the stoutest heart may climb to undreamed heights. It is the privilege of the teacher to accompany him on this adventure.' That privilege he gave to others, and in doing so he found it for himself."

As a memorial to Dr. Frank G. Davis, many of his friends and co-workers have presented gifts to the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library for the purchase of memorial volumes for the use and benefit of Bucknell students. Checks for such gifts should be made payable to Harold Hayden, Head Librarian, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

T. C. Williams '20 Elected to NICB Board

T. CORTLANDT WILLIAMS

T. Cortlandt Williams '20, president of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, has been elected to a one-year term as a member of the board of the National Industrial Conference Board, an independent non-profit organization for business and industrial fact-finding through scientific research.

Mr. Williams is one of the leading figures in the nation's engineering and construction field. In 1948 and again in 1955, he headed the National Constructors Association.

Stone & Webster is engaged in the designing and building of power plants, petroleum refineries, chemical plants, nuclear facilities and other industrial installations in all parts of the world.

Born in Vineland, N. J., Mr. Williams joined Stone & Webster in 1923, shortly after his graduation as a mechanical engineer from Bucknell. During 25 years in the construction field he directed the building of many different projects, including the original atomic energy installation and town of Oak Ridge, Tenn. His home is located in Greenwich, Conn.

NEW LECTURE SERIES

A lecture by Mr. John Ciardi, Professor of English at Rutgers University, introduced the new Harry Wolcott Robbins Lectures in World Literature on November 15, in the auditorium of the Olin Science Building. Mr. Ciardi who is the author of five books of poems, poetry editor of the Saturday Review, and director of the Bread Loaf Writer's Conference inaugurated the series of lectures by reading from his own poems.

This series of lectures will be presented in honor of Harry Wolcott Robbins, John P. Crozer Professor of English Literature and Chairman of the Department of English at Bucknell University from 1923 to 1954. Under the present plan there will be at least one Friday night lecture a semester plus the 11:00 o'clock Saturday morning lecture for the student body.

FOR THE RECORD

A review of selected items of interest concerning people, events and important developments at Bucknell University.

Faculty

A SPECIAL FEATURE of the 53rd Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association held in Pittsburgh, November 19-22, was a report on a research project by Dr. Wendell Smith '46, professor of psychology.

Dr. Smith and his colleagues, William Carr, assistant professor of psychology, and Richard DuWors, professor of sociology, initiated the study in the fall of 1955. The purpose of the study of industrial nurses was to locate the industrial nurse within a company's organization and to describe her nursing and non-nursing functions within that organization. In performing this task it was necessary to be concerned with the nurse as a professional working in an environment of laymen.

Data on industrial nursing functions were supplied by approximately one-half of the members of the Industrial Section of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association, representatives of management of seventeen central Pennsylvania companies, one hundred and sixty foremen in these companies, industrial physicians, and representatives of several local and national trade unions.

Analyses of the data were reported that evaluated the nurses' present professional status, their responsibilities for the safety and health of employees, and the conflicts and stresses which arise as a result of the inadequate definitions of their many roles in industry.

Recommendations for training in personnel techniques, for more effective communication among industrial nurses, union leaders, management, employees, and medical specialists, and for developing a firmer professional status were made.

THE NATHAN C. SCHAEFFER MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP for the school year 1957-1958 has been awarded to Anthony A. Krzywicki '48, assistant professor of economics. Professor Krzywicki is attending Columbia University, where he is completing work for his doctorate degree.

SEVEN MEMBERS of the faculty have received promotions this past June. Promoted from the rank of associate professor to that of professor are the following: Dr. Albert M. K. Blume, German; Albert E. Humphreys, physical education; Dr. C. Herschel Jones, political science; and Dr. Wayne E. Manning, botany. Assistant professors promoted to the rank of associate professors include Dr. Charles A. Hollister, political science, and Dr. L. Charles Jones '42, education. John S. Wheateroff '49, instructor in English, was named assistant professor of English.

DR. CYRUS H. KARRAKER, professor of history, is visiting the Scandinavian countries during a first semester sabbatical leave of absence.

Dr. Karraker, whose active interest in child welfare programs is widely known, is studying the social sciences and child welfare activities in these countries.

THE OLIN SCIENCE AUDITORIUM was the scene for the first Class of 1956 Lectureship on November 6. Dr. Manning A. Smith, professor of chemistry and the first recipient of this lectureship, chose as his topic, "Sea Lamprey Control in the Great Lakes," a subject in which Dr. Smith has been particularly interested and in which he has actively participated.

The lectureship calls for the selection each year of a member of the faculty to receive a cash award in recognition of inspirational teaching.

DR. CHARLES A. HOLLISTER, associate professor of political science, has been appointed assistant director of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Municipal Affairs during a year's sabbatical leave of absence.

A COMPOSITION for mixed chorus by William D. McRae, professor of music, has been selected by the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association for its choral forensic list for 1958 and 1959. The composition "O Sing Unto the Lord a New Song (Psalm 96)" was written originally by Professor McRae for performance by the Bucknell University Chapel Choir.

A second composition by Professor McRae "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Hill (Psalm 121)," also written for the choir has been accepted for publication by the firm of Harold Flammer, Inc., and will be available shortly.

The Chapel Choir recently issued a long-playing record which includes a number of songs from the choir's repertoire this past year. Plans are under way to make the record available for Alumni.

DR. P. BURWELL ROGERS, associate professor of English, has been singled out recently by the Year's Work in English Studies, a British publication of international distribution, for his article "Place Names on the Virginia Peninsula," which appeared originally in the magazine American Speech.

AT A RECENT MEETING of the Central Pennsylvania chapter of the American Association of Teachers of German held on the Bucknell campus, Dr. Albert M. K. Blume, professor of German, was elected president of the chapter for the coming year.

HARVEY M. POWERS, assistant professor of English, has assumed the duties of director of the Bucknell Institute for Foreign Students. Professor Powers has been associated with the Institute for the past seven years. His efforts have contributed substantially to its success during that period.

Research

DR. MARLIN L. SHERIDAN '43, associate professor of civil engineering, has written an article in a technical publication of the American Society for Testing Materials. The research studies which he conducted for the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Company provided the basic material for the article, which discusses the use of structural sand-wich construction in military aircraft. It was presented originally by Dr. Sheridan in the form of a scientific paper which he read at the Society's annual meeting in Los Angeles last year.

The University

THE PHI BETA KAPPA Founders' Day address was delivered by President Merle M. Odgers on November 14 in the Olin Science Auditorium to an overflow crowd of members of the faculty and administration, area residents and students. The subject of Dr. Odgers' address was "Horace: Alive for Twenty Centuries."

Dr. Odgers portrayed the noted Roman poet as a human personality of universal appeal.

DR. KARL D. HARTZELL, dean of the University, and Mr. Fitz R. Walling '46, director of admissions, recently attended the annual meeting of the College Entrance Examination Board in New York City. The Board, which prepares and administers the tests now required by most colleges of their respective freshmen, held its meeting at the Hotel Biltmore. While in New York, Dean Hartzell attended a meeting of the Cooperative Bureau for Teachers of which he is a director, and Mr. Walling participated in a meeting of the College Scholarship Service.

AT A RECENT MEETING of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities, President Merle M. Odgers was elected to the executive committee of that association.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY has been selected by the National Science Foundation to conduct a Summer Institute for High School Science Teachers. Last summer Bucknell conducted a similar institute and it proved to be very successful. There will be approximately fifty scholarships for high school teachers to attend the six week institute. The objectives of the Institute will be: (1) to improve the subject-matter competence of the participating teachers; (2) to strengthen the capacity of the teachers for motivating able students to consider careers in science; (3) to bring the teachers into personal contact with the prominent scientists who make up the staff of the institute and the visiting lecturers, with a view to stimulating their interest and increasing their prestige professionally; and (4) to effect greater mutual understanding and appreciation of each other's teaching problems among teachers of science at both the high school and college levels.

Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the chemistry department, has been appointed director of the institute and will supervise the program. Courses will be offered in astronomy, biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics. The mornings will be devoted to class work and the afternoons to laboratory work, field trips, and a series of special lec-

ASSIGNMENT IN MEXICO

By BARBARA C. SEGELKEN '52

MEET THE AUTHOR—Barbara C. Segelken was a dean's list student and a member of Phi Alpha Pi, Sigma Tau Delta, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Phi Alpha Theta. She was also a member of the Christian Association, Women's Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, Panhellenic Council and personalities editor of the L'Agenda. She appeared as Elizabeth Bolin in the Cap and Dagger production of "Ann of the Thousand Days."

After graduation she attended Katharine Gibbs Secretarial school in New York and served as class reporter for her Class of 1952 prior to her assignment at the American Embassy in Mexico. Upon her return from Mexico she became a secretary with the Kudner Agency, Inc. in New York.

IN SEPTEMBER of 1954, I set off for Washington D. C., as a junior member of the Diplomatic Corps. I had wild-eyed dreams of diplomatic receptions and intimate dinners for 150. I could see myself sweeping down majestic staircases with handsome but unidentified gentlemen on my arm, gowned in sparkling white — me, not the gentlemen. Then, of course, there would be the leisurely cruise to my point of assignment, most likely prefaced by a large shipboard party.

There were receptions and dinners among the diplomatic in Mexico City. I know because I read about them in the local newspapers.

The cruise turned out to be a plane ride which began on the windiest morning in Washington's sturdy history and culminated, some eight hours later, with a landing in what looked like a lake. Later I found out that it was a lake and that Mexico City was built on it.

Undoubtedly, there are the bored sophisticates among us who have signed up for a tour in the Foreign Service with about the same degree of calm they use to board the Lackawanna Ferry. Regrettably I was not one of these. From the time we narrowly missed the lake and found the airport, until I lost my baggage in Nuevo Laredo on the way home, I was never bored.

About the closest I came to sophistication was in handling the lawyers of the wife of a man who shot himself on the top of a local volcano; while another wife, who had turned up via Oklahoma City, sat across the room; and the files revealed that the third wife had absconded with the household effects and at that precise moment was probably crossing the border into Guatemala.

After this, I spent a quiet week-end in Veracruz, chasing the wildlife (native to the region) about my sleeping quarters and waiting for the "norte" to break. It did.

I was assigned to the Office of Protection and Welfare of the American Embassy, Mexico, D. F., Mexico. The "D. F." means in Spanish approximately what the "D. C." after Washington means to us. None of the tourists who called us were ever quite certain what any of it meant.

Having never mastered the rudiments of English grammar myself, I was naturally encouraged to discover that most Americans have not done so either. Time after time I picked up the phone to hear that the frantic party on the other end would "like to find out some information." I was in Mexico for almost two years and never "found out" any, but I kept trying valiantly nonetheless.

One of the consuls recites the classic of a disturbed tourist who called him one morning at 3:15 to inquire "which of these pills am I supposed to take?" The answer, also undoubtedly a classic, has never been revealed to me. I imagine it rests in one of those voluminous folders marked "CONFIDENTIAL."

There were, of course, numerous very real tragedies which came to our attention either directly or indirectly; but eventually I became accustomed to stepping over the effects of the deceased as I made my way to our file room. As a matter of fact, my first introduction to the Protection Department was the sight of a dignified bachelor vice-consul intoning over a suitcase, "Three pair pink panties . . ."

I have never been particularly impressed by the necessity for caution on the highway or at the seashore. I have been made extremely aware of both these factors since my stay in Mexico. The majority of our tourists, however, came and went in perfect safety. I add this because I seem to feel the hot breath of the Mexican Tourist Bureau on the back of my neck.

I should say something about the altitude. I don't know why except that everyone who has been to Mexico City does say something about it. We were almost 8,000 feet above the sea, surrounded by peaks of considerably greater elevation. Contrary to popular opinion, however, complete collapse is not generally brought about by stepping up into a taxi cab. We didn't ascend the stairs at a fast trot, but then we didn't come down that way either. Occasionally we went to Cuernavaca, where we spent the day breathing again; and a trip to seacoast points, such as Veracruz or Acapulco, was somewhat exhausting. But, in general, the only palpitations I had, occurred when Rock Hudson wandered into the office one quiet afternoon, looking for some way to get out of the country minus the car he had brought into the country and without which he could not leave the country. Unfortunately, there seemed to be no way in which I could delay his inevitable progress toward the airport.

Most of our other customers were not quite so famous, although in their own quiet, or not-so-quiet, ways they were just as fascinating. There was the elderly gentleman with the long white beard who arrived in Mexico with two cars and several hungry dogs and whose purpose in coming was to establish a peace colony. I can't recall his actual name but, we dubbed him "St. Peter." I do recall, vividly, that he always turned up in tennis shoes and faded blue denims, with a rope about his waist.

Another bewildered citizen turned up in our offices and after cautious inquiries, it was discovered that she had strayed from her room in a Southwestern mental establishment and by some unknown process had made her way, naturally enough, to the American Embassy in Mexico City. We returned her with pleasure.

Then there were delegations from Kansas City and Houston and Buffalo, seeking information that almost any normal traveler has to have in a foreign land such as "where is

ATTENTION PHILADELPHIANS

Alumni and friends of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia circle the night of January 31 on your calendar today! The club will hold its annual dinner at the Union League with Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development, as the main speaker of the evening. Join us for an evening of Bucknell fellowship.

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO—On Saturday afternoon, November 2, forty Bucknellians along with 90,000 other football fans, were treated to a tremendous football game at Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor between the University of Michigan and Iowa. Thanks to the kind co-operation of our Bucknell friends at the University of Michigan—we were furnished excellent 50 yard line seats to witness the "big game." Both teams were up for this game and the final tie score of 21-21 shows the brand of football played in the Big Ten Conference. Out here, football is "king." All of us loyal Bucknell fans here in these parts hope to hear that the Bisons will again be up there with the best of the teams in the East like they were in 1951.

After the game we were invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fries, in Ann Arbor, for a delicious fried chicken dinner with all the trimmings. A real warm friendly evening was enjoyed by all of us talking over the good old days at Bucknell and catching up on the latest news from those members who had been back to the campus recently. Many of our club members who regularly attend were with us, and as always, we were glad to see some new Bucknell faces. During the evening, tentative plans were discussed for our future meetings with the prospects of even bigger and better things to come in 1958 for all our alumni and friends living in the Michigan-Toledo area.

BRUCE M. SCOTT '51,
President

CONNECTICUT—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Connecticut held a meeting on November 7 at the Newtown Inn.

John H. Shott '22, alumni secretary, spoke to the group and brought to us the most recent campus news.

The Reverend Albert W. Shekells '27 was elected president. Other officers elected were: W. Nelson Roberts '47, vice president; Miss Martha E. Sober '45, secretary; Frank A. Nagy '49, treasurer and Dr. Stanton R. Smith '09, William W. White '49, Rowland H. Coleman '29, and the Reverend and Mrs. Paul M. Humphreys '29 (Catherine Marshall '28), directors. Following the meeting, members of the club were entertained by Mr. Frank Mack, Newtown cartoonist.

PROVIDENCE—The Providence Area Alumni Club held its fall meeting, a pre-Homecoming dinner-meeting, on October 16.

After dinner our newest member, Dick Whitman '57, brought us up to date on Bucknell's latest doings. President Gene Matthews talked about the role of alumni in interesting high school students in applying at Bucknell. Several of the alumni made plans to visit their local high schools with literature and to learn about the school's career nights, so that Bucknell alumni can participate.

The next meeting was planned for February 5.

BOWL GAME TICKET SALES PAY OFF

Last fall six of our Eastern Pennsylvania Alumni Clubs sold Rotary Bowl game tickets for the Bucknell-Gettysburg football game at Hershey and received cash refunds of $162.68 to add to their club treasuries. It is hoped that next year other Eastern Pennsylvania Alumni Clubs will adopt this plan of strengthening their local club's financial position. There's gold in them thar ducat sales!

PENNSYLVANIA BAPTISTS—Bucknellians and their friends attending the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention in Williamsport on October 17, 1957, had the opportunity to hear three Bucknell undergrads tell of the religious education program. Both curricular and extra-curricular activities were described by Audrey J. Walker, senior, Carnegie; James A. LaRue, junior, Doylestown; and Roberta Eads, senior, Rochester, New York. The speakers also touched on their summer activities and Audrey Walker discussed experiences on her junior year abroad.

Copeland '22 Goes to Fairleigh Dickinson

AMORITA SESINGER COPELAND

Dr. Peter Sammartino, President of Fairleigh Dickinson University in New Jersey, has announced the appointment of Amorita Sesinger Copeland '22, as Director of Public Relations. "Mrs. Copeland has the distinction," Dr. Sammartino said, "of being the first member of the Fairleigh Dickinson staff to be assigned to the new Florham-Madison campus." Formerly the Twombly Estate near Madison, N. J., this third campus of the university will be ready for students in September, 1958. Mrs. Copeland's public relations function will cover a wide variety of activities, including promotion, student counselling and fund-raising. She will assist the president in acquainting the public with the expanded facilities of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Until her appointment at Fairleigh Dickinson October 1, Mrs. Copeland has for the past seven years been Director of National Development for the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A., where she developed the national fund-raising program. She traveled from coast to coast, calling on heads of leading national corporations and foundations to interpret the Girl Scout program and to explain opportunities for support of special national projects.

A graduate of Bucknell University with an A.B. degree in English, law and economics, Mrs. Copeland has had an extensive background as a public relations expert, fund raiser, public speaker, creative writer and high school teacher. Among her other assignments she was Assistant General Secretary, Office of Development at Columbia University during the presidency of Dwight D. Eisenhower; Director, Women's Division, New York Infirmary Building Fund; Director, Queens Division, United Nations Appeal for Children, and confidential and social secretary to Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney. Graduating also from the Bucknell University School of Music, Mrs. Copeland has been a professional singer.

Mrs. Copeland is a native of Philadelphia. She was graduated from Glassboro, N. J., High School and taught in Pitman, N. J., High School where she lived prior to her marriage. She resided in Jackson Heights, Long Island, for many years, moving to Madison when she joined the Fairleigh Dickinson staff.

A member of the Board of Directors of the Greater New York Chapter of the American Public Relations Association, and a

BU Cagers Get Off On Right Foot

Coach Ben Kribbs' basketeers did their job well against F & M in their season opener, winning by a 68-56 count. The contest was featured by a 33-point outburst by co-captain Ellis Harley. He was connecting from every spot on the Davis Gym floor with a variety of shots. As a team the Herd still showed some kinks. The attack was not especially awesome despite Harley's performance but the ingredients were definitely there.

At Hamilton, N. Y., it was Hal Danzig's turn to don the hero's mantle. The 6:06, 225-pound center zipped in 31 points as the Bisons breezed to a 70-66 victory over Colgate. The BU dribblers still weren't as sharp as they could be, but they were getting better.

The next night at Ithaca, N. Y., Bucknell suffered through 12 minutes of its game with Cornell with a mere three points. After the Big Red had assumed its overwhelming 22-3 margin, however, the Herd commenced to play ball . . . better, in fact, than it had played at any time this young season.

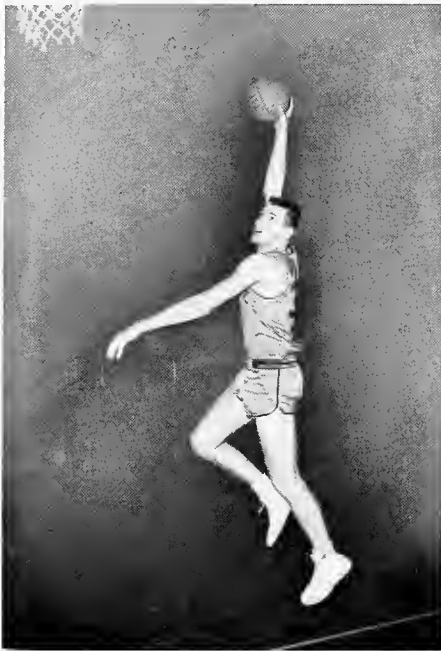

Danzig and Jack Flanagan suffered "off" nights in the shooting department but it was felt that sophomore guard Tommy Thompson had arrived as a regular, whipping in four field goals in the second half surge that fell six points short and returned Cornell a 64-58 winner.

Harley, Danzig and Flanagan loom as the power men in the Bucknell attack. They're the guys who will supply the bulk of the points. Thompson may or may not develop a healthy wallop of his own before the campaign is history. Bob Ericsson, the fifth starter, is due to begin producing points on a large scale but he's been slow to regain his form thus far.

John Strizzi has already demonstrated his value as a backcourt sub. He injects hustle and drive into the club when it's badly needed and he's usually good for a few important points in every tussle. The scrappy senior has also been successful at bottling up a high-scoring foe.

One of the Herd's most improved performers has been Bill Wooster, who has been relieving the big men up front. Bill could always run and leap and now he's learning how to play the game. Possessing a better than fair jump shot, he tallied four points in each of the last two contests.

Co-captain Skip Wieder, who was unanimously elected to the position for the second straight year, has both started and subbed at forward and guard. He still boasts the team's best set shot and is a valuable man to have around.

In the backcourt senior Bob Salankiewicz and sophomore Pete Matz have impressed in short stints. Bob is a dependable defender and playmaker, while Pete, who led the frosh with 314 points last year, is a scrapper who could give the offense a jolt now and then.

Bob Horn, another sophomore, has seen only brief action against F & M and didn't have much of a chance to show what he could do, but he's been toiling diligently in the scrimmage sessions, usually opposing Danzig, and figures to be ready when called upon.

With a murderous schedule ahead the Bucknell basketeers may need all the manpower they can muster. The Bisons should be able to hold their own if the rebounding and defensive play doesn't slacken. It isn't likely that the Herd will blossom into a high-scoring outfit. The Kribbsmen will win by taking only the good shots, making 40% of them count, and playing tough defense. It should be a most interesting winter on the hardwood.

yards. These boys are firebrands and keen competitors and present excellent material to build around. It becomes coach Harry Lawrence's unenviable task to provide his supercharged sophs with some talented playmates.

Other sophomores who could develop next autumn include backs Clint Gilkey and Ray Hetteche; centers Larry Mathias, John Bergfeld and Rodger Mutzel; guards Charlie Negron and Larry Claycomb; tackle Bob Patzwall; and ends John Eachus and Doug Forsyth.

Juniors expected to make the greatest contributions to Bucknell's gridiron cause in 1958 are halfback Charlie Apgar, center Mike Hixson and guard Lew Hart.

Since the season closed in mid-November Lawrence and his able assistants, Bill Wrabley and Rod Oberlin, have been going over plans for next fall. There's no rest for the weary in football and the Bison staff remains almost as busy as it was during the battle days of September, October and November.

Soccermen Post 3-6-1 Mark

Coach Hank Peters' booters lost three of their last four games and finished three games below the .500 mark. On only two occasions were the inexperienced Bisons badly mauled, however, Penn State trouncing the Herd, 10-0, in the opener and Drexel's Middle Atlantic Conference kings applying the whitewash, 6-0, in game number eight.

In between the Bucknellians fared pretty well for a batch of raw recruits, licking Delaware, 4-0, and Hofstra, 2-1, and deadlocking Wilkes, 3-3. The remaining triumph was a 2-1 job on Muhlenberg that followed the Drexel setback.

Defeats were sustained at the hands of Temple, 2-1; Gettysburg, 1-0; Elizabethtown, 3-1; and F & M, 3-2.

Larry O'Hara and Lee Lawver each produced three goals to lead the Bisons' offense, while Roger Mackey and Al Jackson distinguished themselves with some fine defensive work.

Bucknell Swimmers Face Eight Foes

After dropping decisions to Franklin and Marshall, Dickinson and Gettysburg, Bucknell's first tank team in history knocked off Delaware's squad, 52-33, in the Freas-Rooke Pool and closed its season on an encouraging note last February.

As befitting an improving outfit, Bucknell's swim schedule has been expanded from four to eight meets. At the end of February the University will be host to the annual Middle Atlantic Conference tests.

Tabbed by Coach Bob Latour as key men for the Bisons in the water this winter are junior sprinters Bill Schreiber, Arlington, N. J., and co-captain Bill Barrett, Mountain Lakes, N. J.; breaststroker Bruce Hutchinson, a junior and co-captain from Rye, N. Y.; junior backstroker Bob Buys, West Saybille, N. Y.; junior distance specialist Bill Sharkey, White-stone, N. Y.; and sophomore diver Doug Forsyth, North Tonawanda, N. Y.

Hope for Football Future Based On Current Sophs

The hope that has to spring eternally for Bucknell football comes now in the form of a group of spirited, industrious sophomores who believe that they are good enough and tough enough to turn the gridiron tide in the Bisons' favor.

The Herd's last victory of 1957 was notched in the fourth game on the schedule, a 13-7 conquest of Carnegie Tech. After that, the Orange and Blue dropped successive verdicts to Boston University, 28-0; Lafayette, 35-13; Lehigh, 27-0; Colgate, 32-0; and Delaware, 34-13.

Seniors who played their last game against the Blue Hens were backs Bob Fitzsimmons, Bruce Nealy, Terry Fetterman, Jack Brothers and Chuck Wagner, and linemen Gene Meenan, Bob Holmes, Bill Walasek, Rogers Frassenei, Bill Reilly, Jay Citron and Edge Deuel. Fitzsimmons, Meenan and Frassenei rated as three of the team's top performers. Fullback Fitz banged out 598 yards rushing to lead the Bisons on the offense, while Meenan at guard and Frassenei at end were defensive standouts.

The Herd's future progress with the pigskin has been inherited by a band of sophomore hustlers. The main cogs in the resurgence figure to be quarterback Dennis Cox, guard George Salinger and end Jim Brady. An injury forced Cox to miss the Delaware finale, but he still completed 12 of 32 passes for 272 yards and proved a hard nut to crack on defense. Salinger played rugged defensive ball all season but saved his best all-around performance for the Blue Hens. Brady, the converted tackle, hauled in 12 aeri-als to pace the team and gained 116

Baby Bison Gridders Drop Four

After being bowled over by F & M, 14-7, and Gettysburg, 34-0, in their first two starts, coach Bob Latour's frosh footballers showed steady improvement through the remainder of the season. They were unable, however, to check in with a victory, losing to Bloomsburg's Jayvees, 13-6, and Lehigh's yearlings, 13-7.

Fullback Paul Terhes, a Valley Forge Military Academy product, rammed across for Bucknell's first two touchdowns of the fall, while the six-pointer against Lehigh was supplied by halfback Marty Pope, a pint-sized speedster from Sunbury who scampered 75 yards to pay-dirt.

Seven Matches Slated From Wrabley's Wrestlers

Despite the loss of star heavyweight Bill Benton, who was unbeaten in seven tests last winter, Bucknell wrestling coach Bill Wrabley is optimistic about his team's chances this season. It will be meeting the same opponents that captured four of seven matches with the Bisons a year ago.

Senior Larry Dempster, a 157-pounder from St. Charles, who won three of four brawls last season, and junior Rowland Bell, a Lynbrook, N. Y. product, who finished with a 4-2 mark at 147-pounds as a soph, are expected to form the nucleus of the Bucknell squad.

Coach Wrabley and his able assistant, Franny Hatton, have high hopes for a trio of sophomores who displayed good form as freshmen last year. Pete Fritts, Andover, N. J.; John Ayre, Bethlehem; and Dave Murdock, DuBois, are the newcomers who could earn varsity berths. The coaching staff's main task at the moment is to develop capable entries for the 177-pound and heavyweight brackets.

A View Toward Admissions

ginning to recognize that this is an investment in their future for which sacrifices are worthwhile. The 21 year old who buys his first car on time should become equally aware of the economic advantage in borrowing to finance his education. He should not expect society to furnish him with this at no cost to himself or to his family. Statistics show that the college graduate benefits economically from his education. He should expect to pay enough for this service to adequately compensate the teachers who are helping him to improve his earning power.

Our present admissions policy suggests that students file their applications in the summer preceding or the first half of the senior year. Consideration is given to the personal qualities of the applicant as revealed in his application, test scores, school record, school recommendations, and participation in school and community life. A personal interview, though not required, is highly desirable. The major selection is announced late in April or early in May.

Bucknell's admissions program is many-sided. Inquiries by mail result from conversation with enrolled students and their parents, with alumni, school counselors, teachers, and from the listing of Bucknell in various college blue books. Some alumni bring candidates to the campus. Inter-

Davenport '12 Retires

by MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT '12

RALPH F. DAVENPORT

On August 31, 1957, Mr. Ralph F. Davenport, principal of the Ardmore Avenue Elementary School for 33 years, retired. Mr. Davenport left the Lower Merion schools with the best wishes of his colleagues for many happy years of retirement.

Throughout his school career he won the admiration of teachers, parents and pupils for his educational leadership and human understanding.

Ralph began his teaching career in Carlisle where he taught high school mathematics for four years. In 1916 he became supervising principal of Myerstown public schools and served in that position for eight years when he came to Lower Merion as principal of the Ardmore Avenue Elementary School. For one and a half years he was principal of both the Ardmore Avenue and the Merion Square schools. From 1926 to 1930 he served as the administrator of the Wynnewood Road Elementary School while he continued as principal of the Ardmore Avenue school. For six years he was principal of the summer school sponsored by the junior and senior high schools.

Ralph secured all his professional training in Pennsylvania universities. He was granted both his bachelor's and master's degree by Bucknell University. He did graduate work beyond the master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania State University.

The Freedom Foundation Certificate of Merit Award was presented to the Ardmore school in June. The award is in recognition of the citizenship program which has been conducted for many years at the school under Ralph's direction. The presentation was made to Davenport by Joseph R. Fugett, assistant to the president of Freedom's Foundation located at Valley Forge.

Since the Ardmore Avenue school program was started in May, 1944, daily readings about incidents in the lives of 150 of the nation's great figures have been conducted by the pupil historians in each of the fourth, fifth and sixth grade rooms.

As a leader in the community, Ralph has made many contributions to the welfare of Lower Merion citizens. He has been, and still is, a member of the troop committee of Boy Scout Troop No. 5, Ardmore. He is a past president of the Ardmore Rotary Club. At present he is charge-lay reader of the Ardmore Methodist Church. For a number of years he was president of the board of trustees and general superintendent of the Sunday School.

Ralph with his wife, the former Edna Bowers, lives at 136 Drexel Road, Ardmore.

Among the Clubs

Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Bucknell's director of development, was master of ceremonies at the gathering attended by 36 Bucknellians.

ST. PETERSBURG — The Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bailets '09 on December 7, at noon, for a covered dish luncheon. There were 21 present.

We welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenner '10 to our group. Frank has been an educator in the city of Rochester, N. Y., for many years and has many fine ideas in the field of education, gleaned from years of experience. He gave us a very interesting address.

Mrs. Carolyn Shaw Freeman '37, of Boston, Mass., dropped in for a short time. The H. G. Florins '09 have moved to our city, living at 7809 South Causway Blvd.

Dr. and Mrs. Earle Edwards '10 were called north last May to attend the dedication of the "Earle Edwards Fellowship Hall," erected by the Queens Baptist Church, Queens Co., L. I., N. Y. He was pastor there for 27 years. Bucknell can be proud of this honor bestowed upon one of her graduates.

The dinner honoring President Merle M. Odgers will be held January 10, at noon, at the Shawn House. The February dinner will be held on February 15 at the Driftwood Cafeteria, 34th St. and First Ave., South, at noon.

the local chapter of the Eastern Star?" Our clients were also interested in avoiding any and all local ailments. The one I contracted, however, had not the remotest connection with things Mexican.

I woke up with a textbook case of the chicken pox one morning as the rainy season was drawing to a close. For a few days I thought I was also drawing to a close. After the physician stopped rolling on the floor, we got down to business involving calamine lotion (I think he thought it was really Poison Ivy), staying in bed and being patient. I managed to transmit my active germs to one Embassy family which included 5 small children, thereby causing a sort of cog in friendly relations among the American colony; but otherwise it was a rather pleasant two weeks.

No Odyssey of Mexico would be complete without a mention of the bulls. I loved the fights, even at first when I was a little frightened at what was obviously going on down there. There are those who sympathize with the animal, but he has an effective defense mechanism of his own. I attended a good many fights, most of them during the professional season, and I never saw any very serious accidents. A few tossings and tense moments, but the fighters recovered in time to finish off their enemy and return for the tour of the ring.

There were a few parties given to celebrate my departure from ranks diplomatic. Looking back, I find I must question the motives behind all of this festivity; but at any rate, I'm reasonably certain that the train left Mexico City at 8:20 on a Saturday morning along about November, 1956.

It took about a month to unpack and polish up the Mexican silver. Then my family suggested that I seek gainful employ. I purchased a gray flannel suit; walked around Madison Avenue; ended up with the Kudner Agency, Inc., where I am currently selling a superior motor car from afar. Very far at the moment. But I am constantly hopeful. It's pretty busy here. The phone hasn't stopped ringing since I came and there are quantities of people in various stages of distress, usually at 4:55 p. m.

I find, however, that the word "Congressman" no longer causes shivers along the spine, and I can look at travel posters without flinching. Sometimes, when I answer the telephone, the magic words "Protection Office" leap into my mind and have to be suppressed; but otherwise, Mexico seems very far away.

Entry permits are available at all leading airports and on my next vacation, I might just . . .

THE THIRD ANNUAL Susquehanna Valley Science Fair will again be jointly sponsored by the West Branch Manufacturers Association and Bucknell University. The fair will be held in Davis Gymnasium on Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11. Last year there were over 300 individual exhibitors from 26 schools. It is expected that the exhibition will be much larger this year due to the great emphasis being put on science education by our national government.

This year a Handbook for Science Teachers has been prepared in order to provide complete information about the fair. The handbook includes rules for entering exhibits, ideas for projects, and a listing of the awards. The top boy and girl winners will be sent to the National Science Fair at Flint, Michigan.

Dr. Lester Kieft, professor of chemistry, has been named director of the fair. The executive committee includes: Mr. Ralph Cranmer, president, West Branch Manufacturers Association; Mr. Jack Millar, Merck and Co., Inc.; Mr. Marshall Laird, manager, West Branch Manufacturers Association; Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, dean of the University; and Capt. Herbert F. Eckberg, director of engineering at Bucknell.

Calling All Intercollegiate Conference on Government Members

The Intercollegiate Conference on Government would like to contact former members in order to determine which ones of them have followed a governmental or political career.

If you are a former member of I. C. G. will you please send a card or letter to Joseph G. Eidson, Jr., Historian, I. C. G., 2448 Lititz Road, Lancaster, Pa., telling him your present address, what you are now doing, and when you last participated in I. C. G.

In a recent letter to Rev. Charles M. Teufel '04, Rev. James M. Paterson '92, suggests that he may be the oldest living alumnus. Rev. Paterson was born in Glasgow, Scotland, February 16, 1863. Do we have any challengers for the title of oldest alumnus?

Oriana Williams Martin I'93 was married September 17, 1956, to E. Martin White. Oriana is a retired school teacher and is the author of several books of verse. The Whites' address is Box 74, Tempe, Ariz., and Bucknellians are invited to stop in for a chat.

Mrs. Theodore Heysham (Ella May Reese I'94) passed away March 31. She was the widow of Rev. Theodore Heysham '94, one of the widely known Baptist ministers in Pennsylvania and who died in 1935. Their survivors, who form one of our most complete Bucknell families, include the following children: Mrs. Ray W. Schweiker (Anna Heysham '24), Theodore Heysham, Jr. '25, and Mrs. Lewis V. Kost (Sara Heysham '28) and the following grandchildren: Mrs. Henry M. Fagan (Shirley Schweiker '49) and Mrs. Clifford W. Clark (Anna H. Schweiker '51). Our sympathy is extended to this family.

Dr. Harvey F. Smith '94, was presented a plaque by the Harrisburg Trust Company, on whose Board he has served for fifty years as a director. Dr. Smith was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Science degree by Bucknell University in 1942 and has been a member of the University Board of Trustees since 1929.

Dr. Erastus Fox Loucks '81, a long time professor of the classics at Findlay College, Findlay, Ohio, passed away on October 20, at the home of his son-in-law in Danville, Ill. Dr. Loucks was graduated from the University of Rochester with bachelor's and master's degrees and was awarded the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Findlay College in 1948.

Britain Garrett Roth, who attended Bucknell Academy in 1875, got his picture in national publications when he celebrated his 96th birthday anniversary. Brit is still an active columnist on the Allentown Evening Chronicle. Fellow newsmen gave him a "money wheel" of $96.00.

Death came on November 5 to Andrew Albright Leiser, Jr. Esq. following a heart attack at his home in Lewisburg. Mr. Leiser was graduated from Bucknell Academy in 1894 and from the University in 1898. He earned an A.B. degree from Yale University in 1899 and was admitted to the Bar of Union County in 1901. After service as counsel for Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and Fisk Rubber Company until 1930, he returned to Lewisburg and entered private practice with his father Andrew A. Leiser '69. In May, 1944, he was appointed U. S. commissioner by the United States District Court of the Middle District of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Leiser was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, Theta Delta Tau and Theta Nu Epsilon fraternities while attending Bucknell.

His only survivor is his sister, Mrs. Roy G. Bostwick (the former Marie Louise Leiser '99), Pittsburgh to whom heartfelt condolences are extended.

Classmates please take note of my new address listed above.

Although retired, Dr. Lewis E. Theiss is kept busy writing horticultural and historical articles for newspapers and magazines.

Orren R. Barrett, retired Pennsylvania Railroad Company employee, died in Sunbury, October 23, after an illness of three months. Orren is remembered as an outstanding athlete while in college and in pro-football afterward, being one of the players in the first indoor, arc-light contest played in Madison Square Garden. He is survived by his wife and two sons to whom we extend our sympathy.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Greetings to all '03ers—college, institute, academy and music. I know all of the 41 listed members are thinking about this coming June, 1958, when our 55th reunion is scheduled. It would be helpful if you would send to your reporter news of yourself and the possibility of your attendance in June. Please take this as a first notice.

Ida Luchsinger has been helping celebrate the centennial of West Pittston. Her family is one of the few that has been there 100 years. Her brother has compiled a history of the region for the celebration.

Emily Ebling spent the summer along the Maine coast.

Lawrence Kalp has been our most consistent campus visitor.

Charlotte Shields Murphy represented the class at the October meeting and received some interesting data. Charlotte lost her sister in September, and was in quite a serious automobile accident in August. We are happy to report no serious results from the accident. Our warmest sympathy goes to her.

Helen Houghton Zeller I03 has offered her home for an afternoon social hour following the Alumni Luncheon in June.

Dr. John B. Cook is now with the Farm and Trades School, Boston, Mass.

Jane Fowler Bullis and husband, Ray, were born '53, '54 and '55. We hope '58 will see them present.

The sympathy of the class is extended to Mrs. M. F. Forbell whose husband, the Reverend Mansfield F. Forbell, passed away on July 29, 1957, in the Community Hospital in Sunbury. Dr. Forbell retired from the Baptist pulpit in 1949, after 42 years of service, 23 years of which were spent as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sunbury. A graduate of Moody's Bible Institute, Dr. Forbell also held degrees from the American College of Drugless Healing, Chicago, Ill., and Oskaloosa University where he was presented with an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree. Surviving are his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Ray Bartholomew (Marquerite Forbell '36) of Allentown, and five grandchildren.

David W. Robinson of Winter Park, Fla., passed away on August 29, 1957. After retirement from the educational field in 1939, Mr. Robinson pursued the hobby of gentleman farmer. Our sym-

"Moose" McCormick telling Bill Toland '39, sports editor of the SUNBURY DAILY ITEM, about the ceremonies he attended at the Polo Grounds in connection with the final game the Giants played in the historic baseball field. pathy is extended to his survivors—Mrs. Robinson and a sister, Mrs. T. S. Murray of Lewisburg.

Benjamin E. Phillips, well-known Clarion County newspaperman and historian died in New Bethlehem on August 19. He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter to whom our sympathy is extended.

Word received from Sigma Chi Fraternity informs us that Romain C. Hassrick, Esq., is the new president of the Sigma Chi Foundation, an organization granting scholarship loans to members of the fraternity.

Wem Gott will rechte Gunst erweisen
Den schickt er in die weite Welt

Or, for the benefit of the unfortunates who do not know German

To whom God shows the greatest favor
Him He sends into the wide, wide world.

Buck thinks I am a hard man to follow, but I'm not nearly so hard to follow as I should like to be. Vera and I are both victims of the Wanderlust, and since the boys and gals haven't sent me much about themselves (anyway, I get most of my news from Mary Stanton Speicher) let me talk a little about us.

Along about a year ago, your Uncle Samuel began to query us about another stint teaching English as a foreign language. He first proposed Korea, then Cuba, then Morelia, Mexico. But since we wanted to be free for this current year, we turned down the long-term appointments proposed. Then came the offer to go to Guadalajara for six months. Since this coincided with my semester of terminal leave at Colgate, we said OK, Uncle. So from February to July's end we had a wonderful experience, both teaching English in the State University at Guadalajara and making many warm friends, in this beautiful city of 500,000. We felt compelled to decline a proposed continuation of our service there, because the longer we stayed, the farther it seemed from our daughter Frances and husband in eastern Texas, our daughter Carol and family in Western Michigan, and our baby Margie and husband in Lakeland, Florida.

Shortly after we arrived in Gua, came an inquiry from Queens College, based upon a suggestion by George Abernethy, Bucknell '32, former student and close friend, now a member of the Davidson College faculty near here, and as we have learned, highly respected in this region. Since Charlotte is relatively close to our youngsters, and since we were anxious to see what it was like in a good women's college, we said "Youbetchamylife," and here we are for the year. We are enjoying the year immensely. My students show that I am right in believing, along with Ashley Montague, in the "natural superiority of women." The only drawback is that the girls are too respectful of my assumed learning ("a celebrity is an ordinary man away from home"). The college is about the size Bucknell was fifty years ago—the ideal size, I have always thought.

Mary's good account of the fiftieth reunion made us homesick for the old brigade. She has had a wonderful record with the Alumni Fund; I hope you all noticed that 1907 led all the classes since 1900 with its amazing 60% of class members contributing. As usual, the girls did more than their share. Mary sent us some information on the reunion she could not include in the necessarily restricted ALUMNUS report. It was good to hear that Mabel Sill Hubbard, Becky Shove, Mary Brown, Frances Groff, Priscilla Hardesty Thompson, Rachel Kunkel Comstock, Margaret Myers Ulmer and Mary herself represented the pulchritude of the class. Everyone owes George Riggs a vote of thanks for taking such good care of the arrangements. And the boys from Perce Andrews through Buzz Burroughs, Boyd Frymire, Bill Hinman, George Mattis, and George Riggs to Joe Weddle and Zug, looked full of zim and zigor. Mary says good messages were received from Elkanah Hulley, Charley Potter, and that mistress of flower arrangements, Lena Olds. Like this child, they had to send greetings from afar.

Mary Weddle Lyon consented to help Mary with the Alumni Fund campaign; those Weddles are wonderful Bucknellians.

We have all been shocked at the passing of Paul Stolz. I was a close friend of Paul's from our freshman days together on the second floor of East Wing. He made a great contribution to Bucknell. It is good he could have the class at his home during the reunion. Mary says he and Luby did a wonderful job taking care of the '07ites.

Another death in the class is reported. John O. Lummis, who I think was with us only a year, died in Hartford, Conn. I have no details; when I visited Hartford in the early thirties he was associated with one of the insurance companies there.

I have one serious problem on which I should like expert financial advice. The Alumni Office informs me that after all debts for the reunion were paid, there remained a balance of $8.17 in the class treasury. Can any of the financial wizards of the class counsel me as to how best to invest that awesome sum?

See you in '62, D. V.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

1958—This is the year—Begin to plan now for Bucknell in June.

James Lose, who retired recently after a successful career as engineer of construction on the Pennsylvania Railroad, spent two months during the summer on an inspection tour of the Formosa National Railroad on the island of Taiwan. The railroad, 240 miles long, was built nearly a half century ago by the Japanese when they occupied Formosa. The Chinese National Government, now governing the island, sought information on the condition of eight truss bridges on the railroad. Lose went to Formosa for the J. G. White Engineering Corporation, an American firm. He travelled by air by way of San Francisco, Honolulu and Tokyo, leaving New York May 28, and returned late in July. Lose served with the Pennsylvania Railroad for 49½ years prior to his retirement.

A letter from the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Bromley tells of his contemplated retirement as pastor of the First Baptist Church, Oberlin, Ohio, during the summer and he subsequent plans to reside at 131 Reedy Blvd., Frostproof, Fla., in the heart of the citrus country.

Another member of the 1908 class, Dr. George E. Webster, has retired and is making his home at 72 Fairview Ave., Ormond Beach, Fla.

MRS. HOWARD HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., N.
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

During our trip in the North last summer we had a short visit with "Buck" Shott and Bruce Rossiter, editor and assistant editor of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS respectively. In McEwensville we enjoyed for a few days the hospitality of Jane and Marjorie Montgomery.

Up the Susquehanna to Muncy where we met up with a pal of B. U. days—Grace Rossiter Miller '13. Also at Muncy Valley Hospital we saw Louise Felsburg '03. In Lock Haven we talked with Olive Long Haggerty '12, but didn't see Matt's '09 smiling face. We had to hurry along to reach the Klinefelters' home in North Bend in time for dinner. Erma is Institute '09.

While on our way to Pittsburgh we had lunch in Reynoldsville with Amy Bollinger '09. We were much pleased to chat a while too with Anna Stage Hoffman '08, who lives in the same apartment house as Amy.

During our visit with our youngest son and his family in Ypsilanti, I 'phoned to Ansley B. Claypoole '09. He is still carrying on his good work as Chaplain of Beyer Memorial Hospital. Next day he took my Howard to Kiwanis luncheon meeting. He introduced him there as a husband of a Bucknell classmate of his saying she was an attractive young lady but he was already engaged.

A day's jaunt through southern Michigan and from north to south across Indiana brought us to Louisville where Eloise Headland Whitesides '46 and Douglas, Sr., reside with their three children. Our week and a half there was, as always, far too short but after a night with friends in Atlanta and a day with our second son in Cochran, Ga., we reached St. Petersburg safe and sound as we had left it last June.

Hail to the glad New Year—1958! How little we know what it holds for each of us but in closing I quote: "I cannot find a truer word, Nor better to address you; Nor song, nor poem have I heard is sweeter than 'God bless you.'"

Sarah McFarland, retired school teacher, died September 26 after a short illness. Her teaching career was spent in Williamsport, Watsonstown and the Watsonstown area, having retired about 10 years ago. Among her survivors are two sisters and two brothers; two nieces: Mrs. A. F. Madden (Helen McFarland '28), Mrs. C. M. Glisk (Ruth McFarland '29); two nephews, Dr. John Z. McFarland '35, and James M. McFarland '42. Our sympathy is extended to them.

Thus the "left-overs."

Had a nice letter from Pearl Ream. She sent me a new cookie recipe which I'll try to whip in shape for the next event. Will send my recipes to any who wants them; just let me know.

Vacationers: Art and Sarah Waltz spent part of their vacation at the American Baptist Assembly, Green Lake, Wis., enjoying the beautiful scenery, inspirational talks and making new acquaintances.

In May I had received a long letter from "Patsy" Henderson who was living in Long Beach, Calif. He was unable to come back for our 45th but was making great plans to be with us for our 50th. He wanted me to write him all the happenings. So Monday after the reunion I sat down to write to him and to Dave McNeal who had been so very ill. I hadn't finished Patsy's when Leon Crandell, Montgomery, called me to say that Patsy was on his way home from his office Friday evening, June 7, when another motorist entered the intersection against a red light. The car collided with Patsy's machine. He suffered head injuries. Surgery was performed but he died without regaining consciousness Tuesday night, June 11. Patsy was sales desk supervisor for a bolt manufacturing company in Long Beach. His territory covered Northern California, Oregon and Washington. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, two sons and eight grandchildren. Funeral services were held in Long Beach and burial was made at Montgomery, July 27. The day before his brother Joe had passed away in Divine Providence Hospital, Williamsport. Patsy's family knew nothing of his death until they reached Montgomery. Our sincerest sympathy from the Class of 1912 is extended this family.

David A. McNeal, a charter member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at Bucknell, passed away on October 23 at his home in Towanda. Dave had a unique record as an annual visitor to the campus on Commencement Week-end, having missed only one year since his graduation and in that year, he missed only because he arrived on the campus a week before Commencement, due to a mixup in dates.

Dave was born in Burlington Township on June 12, 1887, the son of Hollister McNeal and Anna Strobe McNeal. He attended Susquehanna Collegiate Institute.

After graduation in the jurisprudence course, he served as clerk in an attorney's office, conducted an insurance business and from 1920 until his death acted as justice of the peace in Towanda borough. The job of justice of the peace in the average small town is generally not a very exciting experience, but Dave figured in at least one case of national importance; he issued the complaint and search warrant that resulted in the capture of Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, whose confession and subsequent testimony in court led to the conviction of the eight desperados who committed the famous Brink's million dollar robbery.

Dave was married to the former Alberta M. Allen. There are two children, both Bucknellians. Daughter Donna Marie McNeal '47 is married to Homer O. Pursley '28, whose father, Louis A. Pursley '28, serves in the Pennsylvania legislature. Son David A. McNeal, Jr., who entered Bucknell with the Class of 1946 but was graduated in 1949, married the former Shurlee A. Burgey.

Vera Frost passed away July 15, 1957. Vera had been living with her eldest sister in Erie for eight years. Vera had not been well for several years with leukemia of the blood, a type that affected the veins. She died at the Erie Osteopath Hospital. She was brought back to Brookville and buried in Bethel Cemetery. Had she lived till July 30, she would have been 71 years. The ill sister with whom she lived died the next day, July 16. Sincerest sympathy to the families of Patsy Henderson, David McNeal, Vera Frost and Frank Davis '11.

When you receive this report Santa will have made his rounds. In another year I wish when he is handing out his Mink Stoles, T. V.'s, and Packards that he would drop a little gift of a couple of thousand and "ear mark" it just for the ALUMNUS. Buck and Bruce are ageing before their time because they can't print all the news from the sixty-five classes.

Now a thought not only for the holiday season but for all times—It is not enough to prepare your home and your pantry. "Let every heart prepare Him room."

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

In May, 1954, Rev. George F. Haines became pastor of what was to become the Waring Baptist Church, Rochester, N. Y., transferring there from a pastorate of 14 years at Clarion. From an empty field, during the following three years, blossomed forth a beautiful $125,000 church edifice with a parking lot and lawn, and the house where services were first held was remodeled into a parsonage. It was a challenge nobly and successfully met. Now George has felt the call of retirement and has taken up residence at Olds Hall, 340 S. Ridgewood Ave., Daytona Beach, Fla. Good years are still ahead, George.

To Florida also has gone Rev. George Middleton, to 801 N. E. 16th St., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for his retirement home. A pastorate of 35 years at Calvary Baptist Church, Rochester, N. Y., preceded his seeking more leisure time.

The Florida trek continues. Frank R. H. Richards, Sr. has gone from his Kansas City home to 761 N. W. 101st St., Miami, Fla. Didn't you receive my letter, Frank? No reply—yet.

With George Campuzano in St. Petersburg. Dr. Rebekah Gibbons in Winter Park, Jane Irey Rees in Miami, one might suggest two or three car pools for that trip North to our 45th next June.

Besides all of these Floridians, Walter Edwards and wife are spending the winter months, as they did last year, at The Grenadier Apartments, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

And Benjamin S. (Ben) Harris, Esq., who retired from his labors with the Veterans Administration, headquarters at Wilkes-Barre, a year ago, is now back home almost on the fringe of the campus, at 408 Market St., Lewisburg. But, of course, he is in Florida too, at the Elks Club, St. Petersburg.

At last we stay North. Carlton B. Hooker, having moved from Reiffton following retirement, now lives at R. D. 4, Troy, "two miles from the house where I was born. The hills are just as pretty as they were 60 years ago. However, during the last 25, they have grown steeper each year." If the call to Minnesota to see a son and four grandchildren is not too persistent next June, he hopes to be in Lewisburg. We hope to see you, Carl.

Dr. John D. W. Fetter, no longer actively ministering to Baptist students at Cornell, occasionally fills pulpits as a supply minister in and about his home area, Ithaca, N. Y.

They Say Dept.—Ralph Still in a message to Marwood Glover: "Until next June." Walt Edwards to Clay Sanders wondering about accommodations in Lewisburg. "Prexy Sal" Fisher to Clay: "You can bet your last buck I'll be there for the 45th." Such remarks make good reading as we look ahead. Orwill Hawkins wrote to Reporter Charlie for an up-to-date roster. From across the continent Hazel Galloway Hemphill says via Marwood, our reunion chairman, "I hope to attend the 45th since I elected not to go to Europe this fall to stay a year. I saw George Piersol in 1948 in Pasadena. Good for you, Mrs. H. Perhaps you can induce George to want to see Bucknell in 1958—and enjoy our 45th. Come East, Western '13ers, come East!"

Continuation of European trip made by Harry and Dora Weaver

From Wiesbaden, we took the Rhine steamer to Cologne, viewing castle after castle and many charming towns along the busy shipping route of the Rhine. In addition to some of the beauties of Cologne, we again saw war damage. Some of it, we were told, was the result of the Germans themselves blowing up bridges as they retreated. Our guide, who had been a prisoner of war at Camp Pickett, Virginia, told us that German school children are taught nothing about Hitler, whose only legacy seems to be a network of good highways.

Next, we boarded the Yugoslav Express for Amsterdam. During our several days in Holland we saw the famous cheese market near Vollandam, and here I bought a goose-feather hat. In Amsterdam we watched diamond cutters at work and viewed a regatta from the lawn of our hotel along the Amstel River.

By steamer from Hook of Holland we crossed the North Sea to England. The next week was spent in London and included several days on our own as well as several planned sight-seeing trips. These included trips to Windsor, Hampton Court, Eton, the Shakespeare country, and Stoke-Poges, where Gray's Elegy was written. We enjoyed theatre-going in London, including Sir Laurence Olivier's new production of TITUS ANDRONICUS. On Sunday, we attended the morning and evening services at Westminster Abbey. And, of course, we did not miss the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace. To keep up the royal pace, we shopped at Harrod's, a fabulous store where the Queen is a frequent customer.

Reluctantly we left London for a 380 mile non-stop trip via Elizabethan Express to Edinburgh. Scotland was a fitting climax to our tour: the floral beauty of Edinburgh, the picturesque drive to Sir Walter Scott's home along the Tweed, and an interesting journey through the Trossachs to Ayr, where we saw the home of Robert Burns. From Prestwick Airport we flew by Scandinavian Air Lines to New York. It was a perfect flight across the Atlantic, with a full moon adding a final touch of beauty.

Mrs. Guy H. Morrow (Wilma H. S. Knapp) served as a chairman for the annual conference of the American Occupational Therapy Association held in Cleveland, Ohio, in October. Wilma is director of occupational and recreational therapy at Summit County Receiving Hospital in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

15 MR. THOMAS B. WILLIAMS, President
200 Coventry Road
Fairless Hills, Pa.

Dr. Edward O. Clark, pastor emeritus of the Chevy Chase Baptist Church of Washington, D. C., has written a timely new book Faith Fulfilled, being a story of the early beginnings and the history, during the 32 years of his pastorate, of the Chevy Chase Baptist Church.

On two occasions during the past few months our own Dr. George S. Stevenson has had articles on the "Words to Live By" page of This Week magazine. In both instances, Bucky was writing as a consultant of the National Association for Mental Health. With characteristic modesty, Dr. Stevenson has neglected to answer our letters of inquiry nor has he told us about his new book, Mental Health Planning for Social Action. However, we now have a review copy of the book and hope to publish a brief review of it in a forthcoming issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Harvey E. Evanson passed away on September 21 at Ocean City, N. J. He is survived by his widow the former Helen L. Moore to whom our sympathy is extended.

16 THE REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
114 E. 138th St.
New York, N. Y.

The Hon. Cyrus B. Follmer has made a number of gifts to the Library recently we note in Bibliotheca Bucknellensis. His diary intrigues us. Cy kept this as a small boy. That we would like to read and also the diary he has reserved for himself, evidently of deeds done in the body when on the Hill and its environment.

Bruce Butt is moving into a new house and his address will be 322 Wedgewood Road, Harrisburg. His daughter, Allysanne graduated from Bucknell this June. She expects to teach English in Philadelphia. She has been an honor student. Bruce's boy, Ned, after a stretch of military service is in his second year at Elizabethtown College in an electrical engineering course. Bruce claims some kind of a record for attending Bucknell basketball games. He meets Roller '25, often at the contests.

On the first of October, 1946, Bruce became a "Senior Nylic" which is some kind of a moniker he obtained through 20 consecutive years' qualification for sales made under the New York Life Insurance Company's "Nylic" plan, and on the first day of October, 1956, got another small pension and is now an "S. P. N." That means Senior Post Nylic. That's a real handful from our old "miler." We will give you his "postscript" and wind him up here. "Returning from a Lake George trip in 1956 my wife and I varied our plans a little on the last leg of our trip, Asbury Park, N. J., to Harrisburg to see Kink Sprout." Well knowing Sprout as I do, (reporter's note) that was just time wasted because he is the biggest prevaricator we know on the matter of fish. Sprout was in '17 class if you recall.

Olive Park (Mrs. Russell R. Stout) always comes through with a nice letter when we put on the "rousements." She lives in Lost Creek, W. Va. Amy, her sister is deceased. Sister Martha (Mrs. Whitman) and daughter Jeanne recently took dinner on the "Yorktowne." Jeanne's husband is Lt. Commander on the ship. The captain, she says, is Edward Colestock '29, son of Professor H. T. Colestock '96 our former history professor. Martha used to baby-sit for Edward when he was a kid. The Park family sent seven children to Bucknell, two sons-in-law and two grandchildren, Olive concludes in her nice letter.

Peg Weddell Brandon is quite a figure in the American Association of University Women. She specializes in International Relations. Before moving East she had been president of the Foundation for International Students at the University of Michigan.

As a newly-elected junior general of the Grand Imperial Council of the Red Cross of Constantine, Dr. James E. Nancarrow of Upper Darby soon will be eligible for the top post of the national Masonic body. He will be qualified to be elected grand sovereign in four years. Dr. Nancarrow was a resident of Williamsport for 30 years and was principal of the Williamsport High School. He has been principal of the Upper Darby High School since 1946.

(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.,
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

The Rogers, Feltons and Davises were three of the couples who cut the 40th anniversary wedding cake. I can't remember No. 4 couple so please write and tell me and I'll include it in the next letter. Also will the fellow sitting between Pud Mellinger and Ted Hilty drop me a line. I know the face but not the name. So sorry!

Mandy Whitaker Gray wrote to me in May (in answer to my appeal) and told me about herself and family. Said she enjoyed so much her visit from Lize and Jane. She was looking forward to a trip with Lize this summer to Jamestown, etc. Mandy is bookkeeper for her brother. She started it when, through death, they lost their irreplaceable one of 25 years service. Mandy says her family are all in town and she is so happy and having a wonderful time—"My oldest daughter has a little girl of 10 and a boy of 5. My daughter Barbara has a boy, 6, and a darling little girl of 3. They are so much fun." Mandy is so sorry to have missed the reunion. She'd just love to see you all. She is looking forward to a detailed report of it from "Lize." Wood Glover stops in at the office weekly so she hears quite a bit about Bucknell. We missed you, Mandy, ever so much.

If you are interested, our reunion book was grand and will give you lots more than two dollars worth of pleasure. I think there are a few left. By the way, if you have a tape recorder and would like a recording of the entire class letters, as presented at our dinner, Pedy had a few extra made. They cost between $3 and $4. If you're interested write to him. He doesn't know I'm doing this so I hope he has some if you want them.

Francis J. Beckley, Esq., is a member of the Legal Division of the Veterans Administration in the Wilkes-Barre regional office.

Word has recently reached us of the death of Bruce D. Galbraith on April 5, 1957. Our sympathy is extended to his family.

Tip and I called on Rube Hayes as we were going through Hartleton while in Lewisburg at Homecoming. I was disappointed that he didn't come to our reunion and made up my mind to look him up and see why. We found him at the garage where he keeps the books and sure did surprise him. Seems he wanted and intended to come but couldn't make the dinner Friday night so Saturday morning he said he called three places to see where we were and no one seemed to know so he gave it up—too bad! I know now he's sorry he didn't come and hunt us. He looks wonderful.

By the way, Homecoming scenery was gorgeous. There was a little rain but it didn't spoil anything and only washed the foliage and made it more beautiful. We spent almost a week in Lewisburg and took different trips each day to see the trees. It was an inspiration! We try to do this same thing at Commencement time to see the laurel. It's much nicer than traveling in the heat of the summer. If you are retired or can get the time, why don't you try it?

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Dear Classmates: What is easier to miss than a deadline after a holiday—only hope that I don't break my record and miss it! Still complaining that no one ever sends me news—get lots of comments from others on the little I do have—so, please, fellow classmates, send me some news.

A welcome letter from Helene Diffenderfer Bower tells that she enjoyed a trip to Bucknell for Homecoming with the Lowthers. Enjoyed the trip, noted the many changes and regretted that they saw so few old friends and acquaintances.

After five long and hectic months I am about settled once more—of course, all of those little things that one puts off are to be done, but I have the major operations behind me, and what a relief—that was a project for once in a life time.

Better start planning on attending our 40th Reunion. Plans are in the making, and we hope to have the best reunion of all time. So, start planning now.

Best wishes for a Happy Holiday Season.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. Lester K. Ade started the longest trip of his career in November when he began a round-the-world trip which will take 150 days to complete. His 15-foot-long airplane ticket is the longest one of its type. Among the 60 stops on his route will be one at Bethlehem on Christmas day. He plans to return to Williamsport in April.

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. Second St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Fred A. Foxall is executive vice president and general manager of the Turbo Products, Inc., manufacturers of jet aircraft engines and guided missile components. He loves California after two years there and wishes he would meet more Bucknellians.

Major General Harry W. Johnson is serving as Commanding General of the United States Military District of Alabama. Prior to this assignment, he was Deputy Commanding General of the U. S. Army Communications Zone in Europe. He returns to the states with a distinguished record of achievements earned since his graduation from the U. S. Military Academy in 1926. He has served in Europe from the Normandy Campaign to the end of the war, later serving in the States and again in Europe in various administrative capacities. He wears decorations awarded by the United States and Belgium and the European-African-Middle East Campaign Medal with four battle stars.

William S. Johnson is the recipient of the Distinguished Public Service Award from the Navy for outstanding service to the U. S. Navy in the field of public relations. Bill, executive vice president and general manager of the Jacksonville (Fla.) Area Chamber of Commerce, earned his award in recognition of Jacksonville-Navy relations over a long period of years. Congratulations, Bill!

Raymond H. Wilson has been appointed public relations manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. He will also serve as editor of Greater Pittsburgh, the monthly business magazine of the Chamber. Ray has worked on the Harrisburg Evening News, Minneapolis Star and with the United Press in Pittsburgh, Charleston, W. Va., and Washington, D. C. Later he became editor of Washington Report, a weekly business newspaper of the National Chamber, and most recently served as director of U. S. membership relations.

Myra C. Effinger, former medical technologist at the Altoona Hospital, died October 1, after a lengthy illness. Hospital superintendent Bernard F. Carr wrote of her, "I feel that our community can never fully appreciate the contribution which she has made to the health and welfare of its citizens."

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Dinner! Yes, we are calling you '23ers to come to the Milton Country Club Friday evening, June 6, to start off our reunion by really getting together—all of us—at the same place at the same time. Does this dinner call seem a little early? Well, it is, and it has to be, and we think we are pretty smart to get in on the ground floor with our reservations before all the other reuniting classes try to do the same thing. (That's a pretty nice place to go on a warm evening in June). Foster Wilson has taken care of those arrangements. He was one of a group that met for dinner, with a meeting following, at the University Cafeteria November 21. Others present were our class and reunion president, "Dal" Griffith, "Pinky" Jones, "Les" Horam and Mrs. Horam, Helyn Kerstetter Bechtel, Bruce Rossiter from the Alumni Office, and your reporter. We had a fine meeting with lots of definite plans made, right then and there. One of the best reports "Dal" brought us was that Larry Kimball will be editor of our Reunion L'AGENDA. Now, in order to be an editor, Larry has to have something to edit. And here's where you all come in. Answer the questionnaire that will be sent you, please. Answer it fully, and, above all, promptly. (The committee thanks you!!) Helyn Bechtel consented to be social chairman, and we know she'll be a good one. You will be informed of other plans as they develop.

Willard D. Callender, in charge of the Board of Education and Publication office of the American Baptist Convention in Boston since 1953, has been named Eastern Area Representative of the Ministers and Missionaries Benefit Board of the American Baptist Convention.

24 MRS. PAUL J. CUPP
(Louise Benschoff)
933 Muirfield Road,
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

We note a change of address for Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Livingston (Mildred Good '25): Thompsonville Road, Canonsburg. Milly and Bob had an interesting four weeks trip to the West Coast last summer; high points being visits to Portland and Oregon and a boat trip from Seattle to Victoria, B. C. A business trip for U. S. Steel took Bob to Venezuela in August when he visited their Orinoco ore mines at Puerto Ordaz and Caracas.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas W. Jones (Hannah Metcalf) of Wilkes-Barre announce the arrival of a granddaughter in Rochester, N. Y.; the baby's mother is the former Mary Grace Jones of the Class of '52. Gwen '55, another daughter, is married and teaching music in Plainfield, N. J. Tom is pastor of the Parsons Primitive Methodist Church; secretary-treasurer of the Foreign Mission Board of the denomination, and vice president of the General Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Emory Diffendafer '22 (Marty Watkins) find that visits to son Jack's family in East Aurora, N. Y., are a welcome change from business and Diff's teaching! Marty writes: "Maggie Martin is still teaching in Pittston High School; Mary Llewellyn Davies' son is at Jefferson Medical and was married the day after Thanksgiving."

Mr. and Mrs. R. Paul Mitchell (Mim Stanger) have a charming home at 178 Oak Ridge Ave., Summit, N. J. Their son Dick is a student at Pingry School in Elizabeth, N. J. Mim and Pete send best wishes to their many Bucknell friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Schweiker (Anna Heysham) sent greetings from Phoenix, Ariz., where they vacationed in October.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Rev. R. N. Dutton has accepted a position as director of fund-raising with Marts and Lundy in New York City.

Helen Everitt Foose became the bride of Norman H. Angell on November 11 in the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Rehoboth Beach, Del. The Angells will reside in Towson, Md.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pheller)
Marydel, Md.

Rev. Albert W. Sheckells is serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Bridgeport, Conn., leaving Syracuse, N. Y., to accept this call. He has served pastorates in New York State and Providence, R. I., and has been director of Christian Education for both the New York and Massachusetts Baptist Conventions. He is married to the former Emily Lowther and has three children: Jane, Mina, and Stephen.

Mary Konkle Koopmann and family of 4435 Albermarle St., N. W., Washington, D. C., were campus visitors during the summer and report great delight in the inviting swimming pool!

Shorty (Florence) Parmley was one of the 19,000 to see Billy Graham begin his last week of services in New York City during the summer. By the way, Shorty said she was mighty disappointed to see so few "gals" back to the campus for our 30th reunion.

Ruth Brown Stover of Millheim writes that she and her husband, Albert, are kept busy managing their hardware store, in addition to being organist of their church while he is choirmaster. Both of them are avid horse riding enthusiasts, too.

28 MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

William B. Brown, Jr., is a stock broker and registered representative with Pennington, Colket & Co. of Philadelphia. He is married, has two children and lives at 319 Grove St., Haddonfield, N. J.

John B. Middleton has assumed the duties of Director of Development in the Miami Florida Cancer Institute and is living at 2955 N. E. 7th Ave., in that city. Incidentally, John's grandfather, Charles K. Middleton of the Class of 1870, came from Camden, N. J., to Lewisburg by canal boat, a trip lasting 7 days, when he came to Bucknell. How times have changed!

Capt. D. M. Wisehaupt has become the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics Representative to the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corporation in San Diego. In the Navy since 1929, he has served all over the world and this is his second duty tour in San Diego. He and his wife live at 4627 Campus Ave., San Diego 16, Calif. They have a married daughter and four grandchildren living in Denver.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Deborah Deacon Betz writes that she is kept very busy as a teacher and counselor in the schools of West Orange, N. J.

Although Elizabeth Humphrey Thomas never seems to find time to return to our Alma Mater, she follows Bucknell closely through the girls who come to the University from Leonia, N. J., High School. Betty is Dean of Girls at Leonia.

Our classmates will be delighted to learn that Dr. Frank Storaci was admitted to Fellowship in the American College of Surgeons in October, 1957. He is also a Fellow of the International College of Surgeons and a Diplomate of the American Board of Urology. Frank is the proud father of two sons; Frank, who is a freshman at Stevens Institute of Technology, and Robert, who is in 10th grade at the Judson School, Arizona.

Mildred Mosser Field is living at Glen Mills, where she is very active in volunteer work with the Girl Scouts, "Jimmie's" son, Frederick, is in the Air Force, and Patricia is attending Springfield College in Massachusetts.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

George L. Abernethy, professor of philosophy at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., has compiled a bibliography of Pakistan, published by the American Institute of Pacific Relations. Anyone interested in foreign affairs will find this bibliography very interesting.

At our 25th reunion, Bruce Leibensperger, with his fine growth of whiskers, probably got as much attention as anyone. The Lincoln-look was for the Hazleton Centennial celebration, July 4-13, when Bruce portrayed Abraham Lincoln in the Civil War scene of "Hazleton Echoes." He was given an excellent review by the press and Bruce says he had a lot of fun raising the beard.

Charles E. Hughes is a salesman for a surgical and hospital supply house in Troy, N. Y., and lives at Schoonmaker Lane, Woodstock, N. Y.

Andrew T. Lobel has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Rocky Mountain.

Dr. Stephen W. Roberts was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by Alderson-Broaddus College in May. Dr. Roberts has taught in both high school and college classrooms and in 1951 assumed his present position as headmaster of the Perkiomen School at Pennsburg. He is married to the former Eleanore Weddell and has two children, Margaret and John.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Minnie B. White to Dr. Marvin G. Shipps which took place February 23, in Marshall, Tex. Their home is at 300 Collins Dr., Springfield.

Raymond W. Wolslegel has been promoted to manager of personnel with IBM and is located in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Dr. Gerhard von Glahn's book The Occupation of Enemy Territory was published by the University of Minnesota Press on October 18.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Plans for our 25th reunion were discussed by members of the Class of '33 on October 19, in the Olin Science Building at Bucknell. Louis J. Russo, general chairman and D. Clayton Brouse worked as co-chairmen of the meeting. Lou came all the way from Atlantic City for the meeting. Others attending were: Phil Jones, Leland Vandermark, Mrs. Marie Groff Hester, Martin Lutz, Mrs. Julia Hoffman Beighley, William Buchanan, Hugh Marshall and Cam Rutledge. Joe Bellmeyer was seen at the game.

The group decided to reserve the Milton Country Club, named Otzinachson, as our headquarters for our afternoon meeting on June 7, 1958. We will gather about 2:30 p. m. for a social hour with a cocktail party followed by dinner for those who wish to stay. However, a questionnaire covering this will be sent to each of you soon.

J. Guy Smith, M.D., of Sunbury, writes that he and his wife toured South America (Rio de Janeiro) last year where he delivered a paper on coronary disease at the international cardiologist meeting. His son, Robert Guy, entered Bucknell this year as a pre-medical student. His daughter, Susan Ray, is in junior high—in the band and a majorette. Guy himself is chief of medical service at the Sunbury Community Hospital and is specializing in heart work.

Ira P. Hoffman, who received a B.S. in Education in 1933, lives at R. D. 2, Sinking Spring. He is principal of the Gov. Mifflin Junior High School, enrollment 737, in Shillington. He has had twenty-one years of teaching experience in Pennsylvania, seven in New Jersey, and seven in the West Indies. In 1938 he received his master's degree in education at Duke University. He has one daughter and one granddaughter, aged 3.

Edmund A. Smith, who lives in Keene, N. J., intends to come to our 25th reunion. His 14 year old son is a freshman at the Mount Hermon School at Mount Hermon, Mass. His 16 year old daughter is on the hockey team, in dramatics, on the year book staff, likes dances, and is preparing to make chemistry her major.

Robert H. Smith is with the Aero Service Corp. of Philadelphia, the largest mapping and exploration company in the world. Robert's position is vice president. He has been associated with the company for 17 years. During the past two years he has spent his time mostly visiting their affiliates in Europe, Middle East, and South America. He has one daughter, Joan, a sophomore at Cedar Crest College.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Wendell R. Stevens, with Pan-American World Airways since 1949, has been named to the newly-created position of Cargo Sales Manager. Pan Am, already the world's largest overseas commercial carrier of air cargo, will attempt to increase air freight to the same dollar volume as the air passenger business under Wendell's leadership. He has extensive training and experience in nearly all phases of airline management and operation, having entered the field in 1934. He is married to the former Alice McCabe and has two children, Guy, now a student at Yale University and Wendy, who is in high school. Their home is at 217 W. Washington Ave., Pearl River, N. Y.

Helen Moyer Lewis writes that she and Clunet R. Lewis '35, and their children, Susanne, 17; Linda, 13; and Clunet, 11, are now living at 23307 Middlesex Dr., St. Clair Shores, Mich. Clunet is district sales manager for Eastern Air Lines in Detroit. He has been with them since 1938 so they have lived in Elizabeth, N. J.; New York City; Miami, Fla.; St. Louis, Mo.; and now Detroit. They've loved every minute of it and have met many Bucknellians in their migrations.

Sanford L. Barcus of 602 Foster Ave., Elmira, N. Y., is guidance counselor at the Elmira Reformatory. "Sparks" served six years of active duty with the regular Army, was released in 1946 and is now a Lieutenant Colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve. He and his wife, Nanette, have three children: Steven, Carolyn and Robert. Remember the fine job Sparks did at our 20th reunion—hope we'll see him at our 25th—you too—June, 1959—start planning now.

35 MRS. PAUL L. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

Thanksgiving vacation over and the sight of Bob Cooley's Mop Wringer Corporation on the New York Thruway made me realize this news must get to press. We had an 1100 mile trip in which we attended the Bill LeMon '54 wedding (to lovely Yvonne Goss) in Syracuse; and then spent two heavenly days visiting Mel and Jane Orwig LeMon on Lake Cayuga. We then dashed off for New York and visited the fabulous Clendinen family whom Paul has known ever since he landed in America. Jean Clendinen Smith '48 is also a Bucknellian and we saw her darling young boys and visited with her, too. We finally deposited daughter Diane at Westtown School in Pennsylvania and then made a mad dash for the new Baltimore Harbor Tunnel and home.

We saw Marian Matter Davis '36 not too long ago in College Park and she reports an enjoyable job with the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Greenbelt, Md. Jane Millikin Abbott also reports that Elizabeth Dinsmore Tedder '39 is a broker for Goodbody and Sons in Louisville, Ky. Thanks also to Helen Moyer Lewis '34 who reports that Clunet is now district sales manager for Eastern Airlines in Detroit.

Death came to Frederick Allen Farrington of our class on October 20, 1957. Al, as he was known to hundreds of Bucknellians, carried on bravely for a number of years although seriously handicapped by a spastic ailment. A brilliant student at Bucknell he further distinguished himself in a number of extra-curricular activities and entered Yale to study law. Stricken in law school, he, nevertheless, was not overcome by his misfortune but began a new career in photography. Opening a photographic studio in Lewisburg, he continued his business and conducted classes in creative photography for a number of years in the face of his great physical handicap.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. John D. Plant (Metta E. Allen '31) and his sister Mrs. Frederick A. Straley (Metta Farrington '35). The heartfelt sympathy of his many friends and Bucknell University is extended to the survivors.

On November 14, the TV show "Playhouse 90" featured one of the late Bob Lindner's stories, Donald O'Connor, David Wayne, and Peter Lorre portrayed leading roles in "The Jet Propelled Couch," one of the stories in Bob's last book The Fifty-Minute Hour.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth Street
Lewisburg, Pa.

What a coincidence that both our news items this time come from sunny California!

After spending 17 years in Puerto Rico, Mr. and Mrs. Cesar Clavell (Elizabeth Sindle) have moved back to the States and are living at 700 Coachman Way, Citrus Heights, Calif. Quite by chance, one of the first persons Betty met there was Edwin D. LaRue, Jr. '45, from Fair Oaks, Calif. In the course of conversation, they discovered that they were fellow Bucknellians and that Mrs. LaRue (Lois Bragg '46) and Betty are both Tri Deltas. We were happy Betty could be in Lewisburg for our 20th Reunion last year.

Fred M. Moore is a program consultant for the California Heart Association, Inc., serving eight southern counties excluding Los Angeles.

Due to the flu bug, I was unable to attend Homecoming and missed seeing any '36ers who returned to the campus.

I'm sure we all read with great interest the report of our class contributions to the Alumni Fund. It is good to see that we are improving each year. Let's keep up the good work.

37 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd.
Chester, Pa.

Happy New Year!

That greeting seems premature since I am wondering how big a turkey I should order for Thanksgiving. And do we have time between now and Christmas to make our own Christmas cards? Will Tom Speck really give her a Jaguar (a live one, that is) as he said he would? Watch for the next issue and find out.

Meanwhile, here are some items that have come to hand:

John Howard Robertson has been appointed plant manager for the Caldwell Wright Division, Curtiss-Wright Corporation in North Hollywood, Calif.

Gordon L. Everitt, who hails from Bucknell Junior College, is an industrial engineer with Borg-Warner. He is married to the former Lucille Berkheimer and has three children, Brian, Douglas, and Joyce. Their home is in York.

Reginald P. Merridew has returned to his first love—radio—and is now program director for station WJW in Cleveland, Ohio.

At the 59th annual meeting of the Italian Baptist Association of America held in their "House of Prayer for All People" last May, Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez was elected president of that Convention. Next year they will hold their 60th annual meeting at Buffalo, N. Y. Three more nations, Denmark, Finland, and Ghana, are now represented by flags recently received.

Mrs. Kenneth S. Amish (M. Marie Schaff) has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Syracuse. Sigmund A. Stoler has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sunbury. Willard D. Zimmerman has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sunbury.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Please note on your calendar, right now, the date of June 7, 1958, lest you forget that you have an important engagement at Bucknell for your twentieth reunion. This column will carry news about reunion plans; also you will be contacted by a member of the committee who lives in your vicinity for the purpose of your area roundup.

Marion Ranck Rose (Mrs. Harry V.), of Milton will be taking charge of activities at Lewisburg and Isabelle Clouser of Long Island, N. Y., is editor of the anniversary book. Some of the class will be counted on to help them with their work and those who are contacted should give an immediate response. Bob Streeter is our Alumni Fund Manager for another year. One of our objectives will be to increase the class participation to place us at the top for performance during our reunion year. Bob would like to hear from you in response to his appeal.

A good reunion turnout is assured if you start now to plan and talk up your return to the campus for the Twentieth.

Here is some recent news from classmates:

In August Dr. John H. Bone completed his program of study for his Doctor of Education Degree at Pennsylvania State University and is now director of admissions at Lock Haven State Teachers College in addition to his duties as professor of psychology. He is married to the former Jessie Green and has two daughters, Barbara ("BJ") and Connie. The family resides at 328 S. Main St., Jersey Shore.

Donald E. Druckemiller is vice president in charge of sales of the Long Island Packers, Inc. of Eastport, N. Y. He assumed this position in May, formerly having been personnel director and director of sales with the Long Island Duck Packing Corp.

Stanley C. Thomas has accepted the position of full time guidance-counselor for the Calsar Rodney School District in Camden, Del. He is enjoying the work tremendously. His new address is R. D. 1, Box 422, Dover, Del.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

Fred A. Jupenz is an instructor, counselor, and public relations director at Mansfield State Teachers College. He is active in school, church, civic, and fraternal affairs of the community.

Dr. Carroll C. Nesbit has returned to his dental practice in Lewisburg, following two years of service in the Air Force Dental Corps, both of which were spent in Tokyo, Japan. His wife and two children had been in Tokyo with him and have now returned to Winfield to re-establish their home there.

Capt. Frank H. Noll, 29th Air Division Staff Chaplain, was selected to be one of the commissioners to the 97th General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert M. Savidge (Alice P. Healey '40) are located in Durham, N. H., where Robert is minister to the students at the University of New Hampshire and Alice is assistant reference librarian. Prior to going to New Hampshire, Robert was director of Religious Life at the Woman's College of Colorado. En route from Denver, they spent a week-end with the Arthur Calvins '38, in Wheeling, W. Va., where Arthur is Director of the Council of Social Agencies.

Dr. James R. Frith has been appointed director of the Foreign Service Institute French Language School at Nice, France.

Melvin A. Wein was recently elected Associate Fellow, American College of Chest Physicians.

Robert J. Burke, after a notable career in the advertising profession, has established, and is president of his own advertising agency, known as R. J. Burke, Advertising, Inc., located in Dallas, Tex. Bob is married to the former Phyllis Oakes and has two children, Kelly Virginia, 2½, and Robert John, 1½.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCreln)
1492 Colfax Avenue
Benton Harbor, Mich.

The family at the above address—Millers, that is—didn't quite make it to Bucknell's Homecoming this last fall. We got only as far as Williamsport that weekend, for the funeral of my Dad, who was killed in an automobile accident the Thursday before. Ironically, we had considered tripping off to Lewisburg, but had decided to settle for the Alumni Club-sponsored party after the game and the Michigan-Iowa game. And we did

THE MILLERS—Mary, Jim, Marti

That, too, had a note of sadness. Alan Davis was in charge of the tickets. Dr. Frank G. Davis '11, his father, died very suddenly of a heart attack the week before, and Alan left for Pennsylvania in a hurry. Anyway, as a result, when our tickets didn't come, it led to a renewal of acquaintance by telephone with Bruce Scott '51, our Bucknell Michigan-Toledo Alumni president.

Dr. Richard C. Snyder has been promoted to associate professor in biology at the University of Washington in Seattle. Early in the summer he and his family were East for a family reunion with his dad, E. A. Snyder '11, and his brother, Robert A. Snyder '42.

About the end of September a letter posted from Mary McClelland Lago brought this information: "Record a new address for us, as of a few weeks ago—30 Greenwood Court, Columbia, Mo. We are enjoying the feeling of at last having enough space for ourselves and plenty to spare for traveling friends who would like to stop off in Columbia."

The same week—in fact, I noted at the time that it was exactly the 25th of September that I received it—there was a Christmas card from the Tom Meyers '41. I wasn't sure whether it was for 1957 (early) or 1956 (late) till I read the note from Marion (Marion Phillips '43). I gather that because of their move to the Philadelphia area, our address was lost, as she says, "Couldn't find the ALUMNUS to get your address so saved this. Finally got a new one and now am taking time to mail it.—I'll bet it's the latest one you received." It was. Enclosed was a 1956 picture of the "Meyer Brood," as Marion so colorfully puts it.

THE MEYER BROOD—Kathy, Mary, Peggy, Twins Ruth and Naomi

11 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
695 Becht Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Lewis E. Phillips is a senior design engineer in the Technical Support Group of the Electrical Division at Convair Aircraft in San Diego, Calif. Lewis is living at 3431 Fairway Drive, La Mesa, Calif., and would enjoy hearing from some other Bucknellians.

Frank R. Serrao is starting his fifth year of residence in California where he is head football coach in the Redlands High School. He says it is wonderful country and he will be most happy to welcome any former classmates who may be visiting in the area. His family consists of his wife, Joan, and three children—Bruce, 7; Nancy, 5; and Bonnie, 1.

Happy Holidays to everyone — and please write me some news so I can keep the column going!

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

William W. Bowen has accepted a position as accounting manager with Had-don Craftsmen, Inc., of Scranton. Bill and Donna (Donna J. Ray '46) and their four children have been living in Sunbury where Bill was associated with Joseph L. Ray, Sunbury securities broker.

Mr. and Mrs. F. William Carson (Betty N. Thomas) now have two children, Patricia Jane, 11; and William Gordon, born December 30, 1956.

Rev. Victor K. Meredith, Jr., has been assigned to the Beaver Memorial Methodist Church, Lewisburg. He has been in the ministry for 13 years and has an outstanding record of successful work among the young people as well as general pastoral work. He and his family moved from Gettysburg in June after serving the First Church there for the past five years.

C. Martin Neff has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York. He and Peggy are the proud parents of a new daughter, Susan, born March 31.

Helen E. Barrow has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sunbury. Arthur P. Schalick, Jr., has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey.

Mrs. Alan H. Smith '41 (Ruth Zimmerman) exhibited an oil painting at the 25th Annual New Jersey State Exhibition held in the Montclair Museum. She and Alan have a 12 year old daughter, Jill, and live at 26 South Alward Ave., Basking Ridge, N. J.

Had my first news note from Don L. Hopkins, proudly announcing the birth of Lisa Anne on August 13th (the very good reason why Don and his wife were not at our 15th reunion!). Lisa has an older sister, Paula.

End and Dorion Smith ('43) Vanderbilt moved into their new home August 26th at 236 Evandale Road, Scarsdale, N. Y.

Class president Bud Eisaman's address has been changed from the one listed in the reunion book to 3760 Montour St., Harrisburg.

Homecoming 1957 is over and we had a fairly good turnout. Sold about 60 of the 100 seats reserved for our class in the stadium for the football game and that "ele debil" flu probably kept the attendance down somewhat. What with seeing Bunny Herrmann Newcomb and her husband, Sid, for the first time since graduation and a one-sided football game in progress, my husband is convinced that we paid $3.00 for a ticket for me to talk to Bunny for two hours! Was wonderful seeing her again! The Newcombs live at Primrose Trail, Mt. Kemble Lake, Norristown, N. J., and have three daughters.

One of the best things about being class reporter that I've already discovered is that you hear from persons who might never write to you, otherwise. Had a long letter from Mary Lou Watson Sheldon

(Mrs. Albert), 47 Ardmore Ave., Lansdowne. She spent only one year at Bucknell, going to Moore Institute of Art in Philadelphia after leaving our campus, but has very fond memories of that one year and the friends she made. She and her husband came to Homecoming and sat right behind us and it was quite a conversation we had, too! Mary Lou spent seven years after her graduation as a dress designer and is now the mother of three children, Donald, 7; Barbara, 5; and Linda, 2½.

The biggest surprise of any year was bumping into my former "roomie," Ruth Egee Dinsmore, at the Valley Forge Music Fair. Haven't seen her since she left Bucknell after two years to complete her education at Temple University. She and her husband and three children live at 4028 Huey Ave., Drexel Hill. Even a severe bout of polio hasn't changed her from the way she looked seventeen years ago. Promised ourselves a reunion of our own, but hasn't materialized yet.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Believe it or not our 15th reunion is only six short months away!

Plans are being made by Prexy George Haines, Jr., and Jay Wagner for the biggest and best reunion ever held on the campus. Mrs. John D. Johannesen (Mary Orso) has agreed to edit the first reunion book for the class, and we hope all of you will give her as much help as possible when you receive the first reunion questionnaire later this month.

Circle June 7 on your calendar today and plan to bring the whole family to Bucknell for a week-end of fun and entertainment with 'ye olde classmates of '43."

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Dr. Arthur Straub has been appointed associate professor of civil engineering at Clarkson College. Dr. Straub is a licensed professional engineer in New York State and active in several national professional societies and fraternities. He is married to the former Louise Hill and has three children, Peter, 6; Susan, 3; and William, 2, and lives at 17 Cedar St., Potsdam, N. Y.

The Gerry Reardons' (Dotty Jones) new address is 4844 Barstow, San Diego 17, Calif. Gerry is a senior chemist with Convair Astronautics. En route to the West Coast last summer they camped with the children in State and National Parks and are convinced it's a wonderful way to travel.

It was good to get brought up to date on Squeekie Hood (Mrs. Thomas P. Raulerson). She and Tom have two daughters, Jan, 7, and Jill, 5, she's very active in the local volunteer ambulance group, makes sterling jewelry, and would love to hear from you at 99 Glenwood Ave., Leonia, N. J.

It is with considerable sadness that the following is included. Harry Armand Masquelier, II, husband of Elizabeth McAninch Masquelier, died at the age of 33 in May, 1955, following a heart attack. Betty has two children, Christine, 6; and Harry, III, 3. They live at 318 Third St., McDonald.

The Bill Runkles (Burney Brown) announce the birth of their second child, 20

Barbara Ellen, on October 13. Son Dean is now two.

Best wishes for the New Year from everyone here to all of you.

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Avenue
Basking Ridge, N. J.

Dr. William Mendenhall, III, received his Ph.D. degree from North Carolina State College in June. He and his family sailed for England in July where he will serve as research associate at the University of London.

Mrs. Robert B. Bartow '43 (Anne Gerhard) has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Shapiro (Vera G. Messing) now have three children. The youngest, Michael Bruce, was born January 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wagner (Rachel Arbogast) have two children: Charles, 3½, and Virginia Anne, 1. They recently built a new home at Marlee Acres, R. D. 2, Export.

Arthur H. Malcolm tells us he is coming closer to Lewisburg each time he moves. Starting from Chicago, he moved to Cincinnati and now has become a design engineer with Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Co. in Youngwood.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bacon (Phoebe G. Follmer) welcomed the arrival of their third daughter, Susan Dosh, on August 16. Kim and Debbie are eagerly awaiting their first tea party with their little sister. The family home is at 5915 Woodacres Drive, Washington 16, D. C.

Received a nice little note from Marian Murachanian Lowrie last June reporting their move from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to Orlando, Fla., where Dick will be working with the Glenn L. Martin Company. Their new address is 5945 Mimosa Drive, Azalea Park, Orlando, Fla. Burr and I saw a bit of Florida with the Navy back in '45, and I hope the Lowrie's are enjoying it as much as we did.

Jack and Betsy Doughty Scanlan have welcomed Barry O'Grady, little Scanlon No. 5. Barry arrived ahead of schedule and his parents required a police escort to the hospital. Betsy admits this makes a good story, but she doesn't recommend it for standard procedure. Barry joins sisters Beth and Laurie and brothers Scan and Brian. What a nice family!

The Reverend and Mrs. Gabriel Fackre (Dorothy Jean Thomas Ashman) have joined in writing an important new book published in October by Abington Press of Nashville. The book Under the Steeple reveals a deep awareness of the interests and needs of church laymen, and helps them make the connection between what they are and what they should be—servants of the kingly Christ. The Fackres live in Duquesne where Rev. Fackre is pastor of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church. Both have done graduate study at the University of Chicago and Gabriel received his B.D. degree from the University of Chicago Divinity School.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
954 Caldwell Ave.
Union, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

It's not too early to start contacting your baby sitter for our reunion at B. U. in June. We're hoping for an even bigger number than at our fifth. Can you imagine how much we'll have to talk about after 10 years!

Ellen Levy Bussey, of 1109 Highland Avenue, Falls Church, Va., wrote me of the addition of her third son in February. On top of raising a family and keeping up a home, Ellen is a government worker in Washington, D. C., and would enjoy renewing acquaintances in and around the area.

Rather belatedly we announce the birth of Russell Robert Harrison born to Peggy Rowe Harrison and her husband, Robert W., on November 24, 1956. Peggy sent a note that her address is 225 Upland Drive, Rochester 17, N. Y.

Dr. John W. Whitenight, osteopathic physician, wrote me that he has been in general practice at 218 Erie Street, Dauphin, since September of 1954. On June 2, 1956, he married Mare C. Gardner of Harrisburg and on May 1, 1957, a daughter, Suzanne Elizabeth was born to them. Thanks for bringing us up to date, John.

Received a cute announcement from Betty Kreitzburg Westplate of 7602 33rd Street, Kenosha, Wis. of the arrival of Joanne Arlene, on July 25, weighing 9 lbs., 13½ oz. Joanne joins 2 brothers and a sister.

Dorothy Merritt Marbach and her husband Oscar, 101 Holly Street, Tom's River, N. J., sent me a card that they have just returned from a five weeks business and pleasure trip to Switzerland, visiting Copenhagen, the Riviera, Spain and Portugal and skiing in the Alps.

Mrs. Walter M. Finchum (Marian E. Burkert) is the librarian at the Annandale High School, Annandale, Va.

Charles L. Fritz was recently promoted to gas superintendent for the Philadelphia Electric Company. He is the proud father of a daughter, Polly Louise, who was born on February 8.

Dr. James S. Tresslar has been named director, Bureau of School Buildings with the Department of Public Instruction in Pennsylvania. He and Elizabeth, (D. Elizabeth Boyer '41) have two children, Jon and Jan, and make their home at Pottsgrove.

A son, Mark William, was born to Mr. and Mrs. William B. Thomason of 15501 Piedmont, Detroit, Mich., on May 17. Bill is regional representative, automotive sales, Reynolds Metals Co.

Timothy Howell Brown was born May 24, 1957, to Elizabeth and Richard Brown (Jan Simmons).

Anthony S. Krzywicki is the 1957 winner of the Nathan C. Schaeffer Memorial Scholarship of $500 sponsored by the state council of education. He is working on a doctorate degree at Columbia University. A second son, Robert Anthony, was born to the Krzywickis (Faith VanSise '46) on October 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cindrich (Virginia Malhoit) announce the birth of Toni Ann on April 22. She joins Michael, 7; Stevie, 5½; and Rickey, 3. The family lives at 274 Gorden Drive, Paramus, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hansen (Dorothy Clark) announce the arrival of Jeanne Ellen on July 24, 1957. She joins Robert, 5½, and Carol, 2½. Dot and Bill and their family live at 55 Meadows St., Pearl River, N. Y. Dot wrote me that she and Bill are going back for our 10th anniversary next June—we'll see you there.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Avenue
Williamsport, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Miller (Alice M. Bogdanoff) write us that Roderick Joseph has a sister, Deborah Lynn, born June 1, 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Thomas

(Doris Wilde) have their third child, Charles William, Jr., born February 21. He has two sisters, Jean and Ann, and they all live at 4B Northship Road, Dundalk, Baltimore, Md.

A third son, Andrew Hays, was born July 4, 1956, to Mr. and Mrs. William T. Watkinson, Jr.

Dr. and Mrs. John Purnell '50 (Barbara Jones) have returned from Germany and are now residing at 1634 Sherman St., Williamsport. Jack is a house physician at the Williamsport Hospital.

Dr. Edward T. DeVoe received the degree of Doctor of Education from Pennsylvania State University in June. The title of his dissertation, A Soul in Gaudy Tatters is a critical biography of Maxwell Bodenheim. Ed is professor of English at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College and is active in church, fraternal and civic affairs of that community. He is married to the former Lucille Martz and has one daughter, Louise, aged 11.

On October 1, Rev. George H. Sinclair, Jr., began his duties as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Middletown, Conn. He and Marjorie (Marjorie L. Walter) have two children, Barbara, almost 3; and James, 1.

Belatedly, we learn that Dr. Melvin J. Fregly and Marilyn S. Southwick were married May 30, 1956. Melvin is associated with the College of Medicine, University of Florida, Gainesville, Fla.

A daughter, Nancy Louise, born September 3, has assumed management of the household of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Slack, Jr., at 625 Pennsylvania St., Lewisburg.

Donald D. Rabb is assistant professor of survey science at Bloomsburg State Teachers College. He is married to the former Dottie McHenry and has two children, Dorothy and Robert. Their home is in Benton, and Don is active in school and civic affairs of the area.

Lester C. Becher is now with the Weatherhead Co., as Eastern Sales Representative. He and Jean (Jean M. Zeising) have three children, Tom, 7; Pam, 4; and Cynthia, 1. Their home is at 220 Anthony Wayne Dr., Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther L. Williams (Caryl Schmidt '50) report that they are parents of a second son, Robert Thomas, born on July 27, 1957. Robert's brother, Richard, is now 2½ years old. Luther is the production superintendent of the boron trichloride department of Stauffer Chemical Company in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

50 MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

Walter G. McIver, professor of voice at Lycoming College, informed us that the College Choir sang 20 concerts in England during July.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Walsh, III (Arlene L. Blank '52) have two sons; Charles E., and Jeffery David. Their home is at 206 McKenzie Drive, Muncie, Ind.

Carolyn C. Moore and Richard C. Donkervoet were married May 11.

James P. Pangburn and Gloria Cross were married February 16 in Lynchburg, Va. James was formerly an industrial engineer with U. S. Steel Corp. in New Jersey but since March has been with the General Electric Company at Lynchburg, Va. His address there is 4346 Gorman Dr.

Allan W. Dehts is now the proud father of three daughters: Sue, 6; Carolyn, 3; and Lois, who was born March 23. Their home is at 1490 Fox Trail, Mountainside, N. J.

The Ernest Hammesfahr's have three children: Grace, Gail, and Ernest D. They live at 29 Lexington Drive, Metuchen, N. J.

51 MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis Street

() Year Term Expires.

Is This a Hobby?

HARRY R. WARFEL

A different kind of hobby occupies the free hours of Harry R. Warfel '20, and his wife (Ruth Farquhar '19). For ten years they have conducted a small publishing house, Scholars' Facsimiles and Reprints, which issues five books a year. Their specialty is the reprinting of old, rare books of interest to researchers in the fields of history and literature.

The five books for 1957 include a reproduction of the newly discovered unique complete copy of a translation by John Lydgate as printed by Richard Pynson in 1511; a collection of the prefaces to other writers' books by William Dean Howells; the English sources of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter"; a Jesuit priest's reply to a book by King James I of England on the subject of freedom of religion; and Elizabeth Peabody's transcendentalist magazine, "Aesthetic Papers."

Already in production for 1958 are reprints of the unique surviving copy of a book on the structural principles of art by Horatio Greenough, the sculptor of the half-nude statue of George Washington now in the Smithsonian Institution; the original and a translation of the first historical novel on the American Revolution; and books by John Wise and John Cotton, famous Puritan preachers in New England.

DeWolfe Miller, who taught at Bucknell, is readying for the press Walt Whitman's Drum Taps. Dr. Warfel, who acts as general editor, has written introductions to two books, although he prefers to bring out the work of others. Mrs. Warfel is the business manager of the firm.

Dr. Warfel, who has written a half dozen books and edited a dozen others for trade and textbook publishers, is now at work on a book on Walt Whitman. During his years as a teacher at Bucknell he was known as a "Whitmaniac," and now after being diverted by other tasks for many years he is writing an analysis of the art of the great poet. His basic views were published in College English, January, 1957, in Whitman's Structural Principles in 'Spontaneous Me.' New insights into Whitman's methods and ideas arise from the application of the basic operating mechanics of the English language as set forth by Professor Donald J. Lloyd and Dr. Warfel in their recently published American English in its Cultural Setting. Dr. Warfel is one of the few literary critics who shows that the language system controls the structure of literature.

Besides his teaching at the University of Florida, where he is a professor of English, Dr. Warfel is active in professional organizations and currently is president of the College English Association, a national society of college teachers. He is a member of the advisory committee of the American Humanities Center, the committee on literature for the graduate record examination of the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, and a director in the Guaranty Federal Building and Loan Association of Gainesville. He is also a member of international societies and in 1949 was the U. S. member of UNESCO's international committee on translation problems.

Bucknell Review

Bucknell Review for December, containing five articles of widely varied interests, has come off the press.

Professor Helmut Hatzfeld of the Catholic University of America discusses baroque qualities common to the several arts in The Baroque; Ideology and the Arts, and Art for Society's Sake by Professor Campbell Crockett, University of Cincinnati, points out the social values of art.

History and Sociology by Professor R. A. Nisbet, University of California, considers new views on the relations of these two fields of learning; and Professor Lewis K. Zerby, Michigan State University, has contributed an account of how a philosopher looks at Freud. Two concepts of the nature of time are examined by Professor Margaret Church, Purdue University, in her article Kafka and Proust; a Contrast in Time.

Bucknell Review is a journal of literature, the arts, and the sciences. The comprehensiveness of its interests make Bucknell Review distinctive among scholarly journals, and if it continues to develop the Review should make a significant contribution to the academic reputation of Bucknell University.

The present staff of Bucknell Review is composed of Professor Harry R. Garvin, editor, and Professors K. W. Hooker, J. Richfield, and P. B. Rogers, associate editors.

Copies of the Bucknell Review may be obtained from Mr. Harold W. Hayden, Librarian, at sixty cents each or at two dollars and forty cents for an annual subscription.

member of the Association of Fund-raising Directors, Mrs. Copeland has many other club activities, including the Bucknell University Alumni Association, of which she is the first vice president. The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented the Bronze Medal of Good Citizenship to her for her outstanding contribution to the war effort. She also received a War Production Board citation for her activity in the salvage program. Mrs. Copeland is a member of Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic fraternity, and has been active in little theatre work.

Mrs. Copeland is now living at 46 Pomeroy Road, Madison, N. J., prior to taking up residence on the Florham-Madison campus next spring. She maintains an office for the university and is its official representative in the area.

BUCKNELL-BURMA ANNIVERSARY WEEKEND

SHOTT'S SPOT

EVEN alumni secretaries attend conventions and Bruce and Buck returned from the District Conference of the American Alumni Council filled with suggestions for doing a better job in alumni relations. The conference noted an increasing interest among alumni in "continuing education"—a program of reading, lectures and discussions on almost any subject by college graduates after formal education ends on commencement day. We were interested in the discussion topics for 1958 suggested by the Foreign Policy Association. They include: "Can We Deal With Russia?", "What Security in the Rocket Age?", "United Europe—Partner or Rival?", "Middle East—New U. S. Responsibility?", "Awakening Africa—Promise or Threat?", "What U. S. Economic Policy for Survival?", "Should U. S. Trade With Red China?", "Whose UN Is It?" If any of these "Great Decisions, 1958" topics appeal to you, it might provide an interesting local alumni club meeting topic. If you are interested, why not suggest one or more of these topics to your local alumni club president. We do not want to scare you but we were awakened by this slogan of the Foreign Policy Association: "In a Democracy public opinion counts—even when it is selfish or uninformed."

HOW much mail is sent to the Bucknell alumni body of 17,000 members? To satisfy our curiosity, we kept a careful record of last year's mailings and find that about 200,000 pieces were sent from Alumni Headquarters to Bucknellians. These letters and mailings consisted of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, Trustee Ballots, Club Meeting Invitations, Class Reunion Reservations, and Bucknell Alumni Fund Appeals. Just for the record, it should be noted that Fund appeals reached a total of 46,600. On the average, out of the 10 pieces of mail received by an alumnus, two of the pieces of mail requested a contribution to the Bucknell Alumni Fund. Ideally, there should have been just one Fund appeal to each Bucknellian, but since some folks fail to respond to the first request, follow-ups are necessary. The maximum fund appeals that any one Bucknellian receives in a single year (July 1 to the following June 30) is five.

* * * *

WHAT makes a Bucknellian a good loyal alumni club man or woman is a question pondered over by all of our club presidents. The quick answer undoubtedly is "communications." Bucknell alumni are as loyal and hard working as any other college alumni group but they are busy people and will become active in our alumni clubs only when they are told what they can do. In spite of our many present efforts to keep alumni informed through the pages of this alumni magazine, club letters, class letters, etc., there is much evidence that our folks read too rapidly or not at all. Let's keep telling our alumni through club letters of our individual club aspirations and programs. Not all alumni can or will attend social gatherings but they can be recruited to work on greeting committees, parent welcoming committees, alumni high school interviewing committees and other worthwhile club objectives.

ANENT "communications", we thought the Bucknell Alumni Annual Giving Fund had been pretty well publicized among our alumni but apparently such is not the case. Otherwise, why would an alumnus tell me recently that he didn't know Bucknell needed alumni financial support and had recently made a cash gift to a state-supported school in the south of $2500 and had just written a bequest in his will to the same school for $5000. An alumna who, incidentally, is employed by a company with a liberal alumni gift matching program, recently wrote that she did not realize Bucknell needed money and as a student had always believed that Bucknell was very heavily endowed. Since the Fund was established in 1948, these two folks have received from Bucknell over 60 pieces of literature (letters, booklets, brochures, leaflets) describing Bucknell's desperate need for funds for current operations, faculty salaries and endowments.

THEODORE S. CAPIK '46 of Mexico City, Mexico, has sent the Alumni Office several interesting newspaper articles concerning a survey made in December by the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce and involving two Bucknellians, Dr. Bayard L. England H'53 and Robert K. Bell, Esq. '20. Dr. England, president of the New Jersey organization, headed the 33-member group which spent six days inspecting the progress made during the past few years in Mexican industry, commerce and agriculture.

* * * *

I WISH we could find time to personally acknowledge the hundreds of cards of greeting we receive each year from Bucknellians at Christmas time. Believe me, they are greatly appreciated. We are glad, too, to be on the mailing list of many Bucknellians who write annual family reports. Even though we lack space in the magazine to publish all of these interesting reports, the material adds immeasurably to our biographical material. Keep up the good work.

* * * *

AND speaking of greetings, Trix and I continue to be amazed and pleased by the warm and cordial reception by alumni at club meetings. On our recent trip south we encountered a storm in Richmond, twelve degree weather in Atlanta, a veritable gale in Charlotte and freezing weather in Florida, but everywhere Bucknellians were warm and cordial in their receptions. President Odgers likewise reports good attendance and interesting visits at the club meetings he and Mrs. Odgers attended recently in Miami and St. Petersburg.

* * * *

JUNE, 1958, class reunions might well set a new high record for attendance and enthusiasm. Preliminary plans and activities of class leaders and reunion committees indicate a better than average attendance. If your class year ends in "3" or "8", please be on the look-out for the announcements from your class president and committee members. You will want to be here—it's later than you think.

ON THE COVER

In honor of the tenth anniversary Burma-Bucknell Week End, His Excellency Ambassador U Win presented to Bucknell on behalf of the president of the Union of Burma and his wife, Mrs. Win Maung, the solid silver bowl pictured on the front cover. The bowl, embossed with scenes taken from the history of one of Burma's early kings, is mounted on a teak base and is supported by three classical lions. This trophy will be awarded to an individual or group in the Bucknell family in recognition of a significant contribution to the ideal of brotherhood and good citizenship. The bowl will be housed in a special case in the main foyer of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

The back cover lists the spring sports schedules.

*Tenth Anniversary Week End Molds International Relations
In a Style Unique in American Universities*

BURMA-BUCKNELL WEEK END

By FORREST D. BROWN, General Secretary
The Christian Association

THE BURMA-BUCKNELL Week End, held on the Bucknell campus on February 28, March 1 and 2, observed three anniversaries. This tenth anniversary week end commemorated the tenth year of Burma's independence as a modern nation, and the one hundredth anniversary of the admission to Bucknell of the first foreign student, Maung Shaw Loo '64.

The program this year was financed by grants from the Danforth and Asia Foundations, and was sponsored by the University Christian Association. Two hundred and fifty guests attended. Among these were Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas; His Excellency U Win, Ambassador from the Union of Burma to the United States; His Excellency U Thant, Ambassador to the United Nations; and the Honorable Horace A. Hildreth, former Ambassador to Pakistan. Miss Lizbeth Shaw Loo, only surviving daughter of the famous Dr. Shaw Loo, was flown from Rangoon for the occasion by the Asia Foundation. She presented to the University an oil portrait of her father. Invitations were extended to officials of Burma and Burmese students who are studying on the east coast. Some came from as far away as Chicago, Ill.; Ann Arbor, Mich.; Boston, Mass.; and Durham, N. C. Mr. Harry Pierson '28 came from San Francisco, Calif., to represent the Asia Foundation. The U. S. Department of State and the USIA were also represented. The "Voice of America" broadcasted parts of the program throughout southeast Asia.

Some new features characterized this year's event. His Excellency, Ambassador U Win, in appreciation for the University's hospitality to some 250 Burmese students in recent years, was host to a reception for Bucknellians, Lewisburg residents and guests in the Hunt Hall Living Room on the opening Friday night. The University held a special convocation on Saturday morning, and addresses were given by Justice Douglas and the Ambassador. Both received honorary degrees.

President of Burma Presents Bowl

The President of Burma sent a beautiful embossed silver bowl, mounted on teak lions, as a gift trophy to the University, and had it engraved, "From the President of the Union of Burma and Mrs. Win Maung." In consultation with the local committee, the Ambassador agreed that this trophy be awarded annually for outstanding contribution to campus citizenship, intercultural or international affairs by either an individual or an organization. It is on display in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library. The Embassy also provided a remarkable exhibit of Burmese antiques, pictures, textiles, arts and crafts. In addition some fifty volumes have been added to the library shelves, broadening the available resources for study of south-east Asia.

President Odgers Presided at Banquet

The Burma-Bucknell Banquet was held in the Women's College on Saturday night, with President Odgers presiding. Corbin Wyant '58, served as student chairman. Corbin is a member of the famous Bucknell Wyants in western Pennsylvania. The banquet speakers were His Excellency, Ambassador U Thant, and the former president of Bucknell, Horace A. Hildreth. Ambassador U Win presented the silver bowl at this time, and Miss Shaw Loo presented an oil portrait of her father to the University. The banquet was one of the highlights of the week-end program.

International Party

Following the banquet, the crowd gathered at the Davis Gymnasium Annex for an evening of festivity, highlighted by Burmese dances, a cane ball game, American features and a square dance. By this time the Bucknell and Burmese students had really "mixed it up."

Other features of the program included the Ambassador's Breakfast, when he met with the Burmese students, talking in Burmese; luncheons for guests and student hosts in the homes of members of the faculty, administration and community; field trips in the afternoon, and a morning session on Buddhism. The speaker on Sunday morning was Professor U Pe Maung Tin, professor of oriental studies at Rangoon University, former president of that university, and currently guest professor at the University of Chicago. A Christian, he is recognized by the Burmese as one of their leading scholars on Buddhism and Pali.

Student Hosts Take Over

More than three hundred student hosts and hostesses were in action over the week end.

A central committee of thirty students and faculty members had been busy on plans for months. Corbin Wyant '58 and Dr. Roy C. Tasker served as co-chairmen. Another active student committee participant was Dave Slifer '60, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Slifer '26 (Caryl Dutton '27), who was in charge of the educational program on the campus. He presented the campus information in the form of printed folders, lectures

HERE ARE YOUR ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

THE COMMITTEE for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates presents for your action the names of three Alumni to be balloted upon in April 1958. We present the names, pictures and biographies of the proposed candidates. Early in April ballots will be mailed to all Alumni whose addresses are known to be correct. The return envelope will be a combination mailer, providing for the return of the ballot and a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Program—BUT YOU DO NOT NEED TO CONTRIBUTE TO BE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE. The voter will open the envelope at an indicated place, mark the ballot by voting for ONE candidate, enclose a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Fund—if you have not made a gift since July 1, 1957, and feel inclined to do so—seal and mail it. No postage required. On receipt at the Alumni Office, the secrecy of the ballot will be maintained by separating the name and address of the voter from the ballot after which the ballot will be placed in a locked ballot box. Balloting will end on Thursday, May 15, 1958. During the following week, a committee of Alumni will open the locked ballot box, tally the votes and certify the results to the Board of Trustees.

Trustee Appointments

At the regular semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University held in Philadelphia in December, Dr. William R. White '26, chairman of the Board of Trustees, appointed a number of members to new committee assignments.

Mr. Andrew R. Mathieson '20 accepted the chairmanship of the special committee on athletics, student help, and physical education to replace the late Dr. Joseph D. Dent '20 who had served as chairman of this committee for some years. Mr. Mathieson also continues to serve as chairman of the alumni relations committee along with two new members, Dr. Clair G. Spangler '25 and Miss Thelma Showalter '29 recently elected alumni members of the Board. Miss Showalter also became a member of the committee on public relations.

Dr. William R. White became chairman of the committee on nominations replacing the late Dr. Joseph W. Henderson '08, formerly chairman of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Robert L. Rooke '13 accepted appointment on the important investments committee as chairman replacing Mr. White. Mr. Harry G. Schad also became a member of the investments committee as well as accepting the chairmanship of the finance committee. He also became a member of the executive committee of the Board. Mr. Hugo Riemer '29 was made a member of the committee on instruction.

The full membership of each of the Board committees will be published in the annual catalogue which is now being printed.

EVERYBODY VOTES IN APRIL

Bucknell Alumni have an opportunity to practice real democracy in the selection of Alumni to serve on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University. Our procedure in selecting the candidates and in the actual voting is far more democratic than the practice in most universities.

On page 4 you will find the names, pictures and biographical records of the three candidates chosen to stand for election as Alumni Trustee to the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University. One is to be elected by the general alumni body in April for a term of five years.

The candidates were carefully chosen from a larger group of nominees suggested by local alumni clubs, class presidents, class reporters, fund managers, members of the Board of Directors and the Alumni Fund Committee, as well as former alumni trustees and former presidents of The General Alumni Association. Well over 500 Alumni were canvassed for suggestions. Also, each issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS carried a time-table of the election procedure and in the September issue all alumni were urged to suggest names of persons to be considered for nomination.

After all suggested candidates have been listed, the Alumni Office prepared a biographical record of each candidate and if time permitted, submitted the record to the candidate for corrections and additions. The completed biographies were examined and discussed by the Committee for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates, following which each committee member by secret ballot recorded first, second, third, fourth and fifth choices. By weighting the choices on all ballots the three top candidates emerged. The candidates with their pictures and biographical records appear in this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, and then in April every alumnus with a known address receives a postage free ballot for voting.

Each year a number of alumni do not vote because they "do not know the candidates personally."

Obviously, not all of our 17,000 alumni will know the candidates personally. That's why the biographies are published in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Voters in many federal and municipal elections are unacquainted with their candidates for public office but it seldom deters them from voting. So get acquainted with your candidates through the biographies printed on page 4 and be prepared to vote in April.

Alumni now serving on the Board of Trustees through election of that body, but who were originally nominated for membership by The General Alumni Association, include: Dr. Harvey F. Smith '94, Dr. Robert L. Rooke '13, Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Dr. Mary M. Wolfe '96, William R. White '26, and Andrew R. Mathieson '20.

Alumni now serving on the Board of Trustees, on nomination by The General Alumni Association are: Dr. Roy E. Nicodemus '25 (1958); John C. Decker, Esq. '36 (1959); Dr. Franklin D. Jones '19 (1960); Dr. Clair G. Spangler '25 (1961) and Thelma Showalter '29 (1962). History has supplied ample evidence that the members of the Board of Trustees, from whatever source selected, serve not the Trustees, nor the Alumni Association, but the University, which is as it should be.

You are urged to exercise your prerogative to vote in a democratic election when you receive your ballot in April. The ballot mailing will be a "double-duty" envelope mailer, providing for the return of the voter's ballot and a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Program in one postage-free envelope. Alumni do not need to contribute to be eligible to vote—this combination mailing is planned to save postage and will result in considerable saving in printing and postage.

HIGHLIGHTS

A review of selected quotes from the third annual report of President Merle M. Odgers for the 1956-1957 academic year

Faculty and Administration

THE SALARIES of our professional staff, both teaching and non-teaching, need further revision. Moreover, a rough survey of wages within the community convinces me of the danger of losing our competitive position here. The effort to raise faculty salaries through increase of endowment and otherwise and also the effort to raise the income of the rest of our faithful staff can be easily justified.

We have progressed in our efforts to raise salaries and wages. For example, by the fall of 1957 we had increased the maximum salary for full professors by $2,000 since the beginning of 1955 and the median salary for full professors by $1,425.

Enrollment

WE THINK of Bucknell University as having approximately 2,000 students. This is the same as the total number of students enrolled in all of America's 24 colleges in the year 1800. The 2,000 figure has grown in a century and a half to the approximately three million students of this year enrolled in 1,852 American institutions of higher education of all types. Bucknell is one of the 104 colleges founded prior to the Civil War which have survived. I am told that there were 516 colleges founded before Fort Sumter was fired on and that the other 412 failed. Doubtless each one of the 104 survivors almost failed at least once, but the 104 are sturdy and we are proud to be in the group. In its more than a century of existence Bucknell has conferred over 15,000 degrees. It is estimated that in its work on the campus and in its extension and summer divisions Bucknell has served more than 40,000 students, full-time and part-time, and of all ages.

Student Life

"THOSE WONDERFUL COLLEGE YOUNGSTERS." That was the title of an editorial written by the owner and editor of a newspaper in New York State who is the father of one of our students. During the winter he spent a couple of days on the campus at our News-men's Conference. His editorial reads in part:

"Bucknell has more than its quota of attractive young men and women. The girls are particularly a joy to older eyes—so well scrubbed, so feminine. There may be a dull, drab uniformity in clothes on other campuses. Not at Bucknell where the students are 'sharp,' as the saying goes, and much better mannered and with considerably more social graces than those we remember 30-odd years ago on another campus. It is refreshing to be in contact with alert, young minds. Questions are sharp and to the point, the attitude most friendly. They want to know, not so much as to what older adults are going to do about this crazy world but what they can do and expect when they leave college . . . If this editor could, he'd change places with these college students in a minute—hoping, of course, he could continue to know as much about life as he thinks he knows now."

WE WERE FORTUNATE that no outbreak of intestinal infection resulted from the failure of the public water supply after the flash flood on November 4, 1956.

At the time of the flash flood both town and gown were gratified by the hearty response made by our students, especially our boys, to the needs of the town and its stores and its people. To be sure, some students may have been a little disappointed that we did not ride with the flood and send them home as an emergency measure, but the understanding and good humor of the great majority in meeting the situation was very commendable and fully justified my statement that "since one of the marks of an educated person is his ability to adapt himself to changing circumstances in his environment, I feel that the reaction of Bucknell students is one of which we may well be proud." In this instance as in so many others, the undergraduates gave a good account of themselves.

The Library

ACCESSIONS FOR THE YEAR 1956-57 bring the collection in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library to approximately 157,000 accessioned volumes. In addition, 47 new journal titles were added to the current checking record, bringing this number to approximately 1,200 titles currently received through subscription, gift, and exchange.

ON JANUARY 10, 1957, official announcement was made of the establishment of the Bucknell University Archives. The Archives will have their home in the Bertrand Library. Dr. J. Orin Oliphant, Professor of History, has been appointed University Archivist.

Academic Standards

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY is an institution of higher learning. I should like to think that this phrase "higher learning" refers not merely to the higher level of what is taught and learned, but also to higher aspirations and ambitions on the part of those who learn. I should like to think that, whatever their attitude may have been in secondary schools, real college students are ambitious to justify the faith that their parents and society have in them by cultivating a will to work and a willingness to work up to capacity.

THE DIFFERENT ABILITIES of students make equal achievement impossible, but no young person will have respect for the educational process until he has discovered the satisfaction of doing his work as well as he is able, of achieving to the limit of his capacity. Woodrow Wilson's statement that "character is a by-product of hard work honestly performed" was based on his college experiences. A democracy cannot afford to encourage an individual to do less than his best whether he be a ditch-digger, an assembly-line worker, a junior executive, or a college student.

Development and Public Relations

WE FEEL CERTAIN that the grant from the Olin Foundation to construct Coleman Hall will set off a chain reaction. The need of completing the Vaughan Literature Building opposite the new structure will be self-evident. Three-fifths of Vaughan now stand and the remaining two-fifths will be needed to complete the third side of the quadrangle. The cost will not be prohibitive; approximately $600,000 will permit us to finish Vaughan and round out this westward movement of the academic and administrative affairs of the University.

The establishment of this new quadrangle will not limit its effects to better classroom, laboratory, and office facilities, important as all of these are, for its implications are even wider. They include the possibility for greatly needed improvement in our dormitory facilities for men. Construction of Coleman Hall will enable us to move the Economics Department from the ground floor and the first floor of West College. And completion of the Vaughan Literature Building would make possible the removal to Vaughan of administrative offices from Old Main and from the ground floor of East College.

With the removal of offices and classrooms, the old quadrangle could provide a men's dormitory quadrangle of the type Bucknell has not had in its entire history. In the lounges on the first and second floors of Roberts Hall, we would then be able to create the kind of common rooms which men students at Bucknell have never had the chance to enjoy. Roberts Hall could become the lounge and recreational center for the men's dormitories, with two spacious lounges, together with game rooms and some small offices for the men's student organizations.

NO INSTITUTION IS GREAT enough to be able to forego the cultivation of positive good will. A program of University Relations should convey a sense of institutional mission that will enlist loyalty and devotion. We can win good will primarily by rendering with our resources the best educational service of which we are capable and secondarily by making a positive and constructive effort to bring Bucknell and what it is doing to the attention of many potential friends.

The Bucknell Study

AS OF JUNE 30, 1957, the first phase of the Bucknell Study was successfully completed. This involved much careful thought and planning on the part of the three basic committees: namely, the Committee on Student Body, the Committee on Curriculum, and the Committee on Faculty. Professors James A. Gathings and William I. Miller are co-chairmen of the first, and Professors Harold W. Miller and Manning A. Smith are respectively chairmen of the second and third. During the process much helpful advice and many suggestions were received from the General Advisory Committee and the Executive Committee of the Study.

It was necessary for the three basic committees to meet often in order to become familiar with the task. Each committee finally drew up what might be termed a working plan and a tentative statement of the areas to be covered. There were formed eighteen sub-committees in all, whose members were selected largely on the basis of their preferences. All members of the faculty were involved, and much effort was expended in an attempt to secure for each sub-committee the strongest possible chairman and members who would support his efforts. Each sub-committee met several times, and the sub-committees have agreed upon a tentative and flexible plan of procedure which will be subject to change in view of fact-finding and other considerations.

IT IS ENCOURAGING to find among faculty and students alike a keener awareness of the importance of improving our educational program.

As I indicated in an earlier report, conclusions that will be reached in the Study "will not be forced upon the University since they will come largely from within, that is from the faculty and the administration," though it is unquestionably helpful to obtain outside aid at times and this has already been done during the progress of the Study.

Conclusion

DURING THE YEAR BUCKNELL worked toward what has been called "a sense of institutional mission." That has involved progress on a number of fronts.

BUCKNELL IS AN inspiring place with which to be identified. And we do have dreams for the future. We were blessed with good fortune this year, and we should recall what Woodrow Wilson, whose 100th Anniversary we recently celebrated, once wrote: "We grow great by dreams . . . Some of us let these great dreams die, but others nourish and protect them, nurse them through bad days till they bring them to the sunshine and light which comes always to those who sincerely hope that their dreams will come true."

Bucknell's Summer School will respond to the current furor over the state of education in the United States. One of the nation's serious problems is the shortage of qualified teachers. Because there are plenty of holders of bachelor's degrees who could qualify for temporary secondary school teacher certification if they would take six hours of work in summer school, Bucknell will offer these minimal courses—Introduction to Education and Educational Psychology—this summer.

Another problem is, of course, the quality of the teaching now being done, especially in mathematics and science. Elementary school teachers will have an opportunity to brush up in social studies, science and arithmetic by taking the Practicum which aims at helping elementary teachers to relate these studies to the experiences of children. Dr. Beryl Parker of the Bucknell University Education Department will direct the program. She will be assisted by expert consultants in each area.

Bucknell and the National Science Foundation will hold a second Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics for high school teachers.

Other educational features are a second series of conferences on problems and methods of teaching English; the annual Air-Age Workshop; the fifteenth annual Institute for Foreign Students, and the annual Secondary Curriculum Conference sponsored by Bucknell and the Susquehanna Valley Principals Association.

In addition, a lively cultural program has been planned. Illustrated talks on local architecture will be given by George Hersey, instructor in art, who has unearthed some treasures in his study of Lewisburg and its environs. An exhibition of thirty-four original portraits of Victorian children will come to the campus in early July. Mr. Hersey will also talk about these. Bruce Mitchell, who has recently ventured into educational television at Pittsburgh, will demonstrate simple techniques of drawing and design which the audience can master on the spot. Several distinguished teachers and critics of American Literature will meet with students in seminar and will also present public lectures. At this writing Dr. Oscar Cargill and Dr. Leon Edell, both members of the English Department of New York University, have accepted invitations to appear. Dr. Edell will discuss Henry James and the psychological novel; Dr. Cargill will discuss Whitman, Hemingway, or Faulkner. A first rate program of scientific lectures will be provided by the Institute in Science and Mathematics.

We will also be visited for special programs and institutes by bankers, physiologists, musicians and Sunday school teachers. Bucknell should have a lively summer.

CHILD WELFARE IN SWEDEN

A Sabbatical Exploration of the Democracies of Scandinavia, With Special Reference to Community Child Welfare

By DR. CYRUS H. KARRAKER

DR. CYRUS H. KARRAKER

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—Dr. Cyrus H. Karraker was born February 28, 1896, in Jonesboro, Illinois. He graduated from Union Academy and continued his higher education at Lake Forest College from whence he graduated with the A.B. degree in 1916. He received his M.A. in History from the University of Michigan in 1921 and six years later the University of Pennsylvania granted him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Presently chairman of the Department of History, Dr. Karraker taught at several schools before coming to Bucknell in 1933. Dr. Karraker has published three books and numerous articles, the most renowned being the book entitled "Piracy Was A Business."

Among many honors won by Dr. Karraker, perhaps most significant was his election as a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts of Great Britain in 1954. Recommendations for his election were based upon historical scholarship and upon his humanitarian achievements in behalf of the Negro people of America.

Dr. Karraker was married to the late Flora Additon and has two children, David '50 and Louise '48, both Bucknell alumni. Louise is married to Lloyd W. Furman, Jr. '49.

I AM thankful, indeed, for the sabbatical leave that enabled me to explore the cultures of Sweden, Finland, Norway and Denmark. It was the opportunity I had long desired. When I announced my trip, I was asked by some whether I were returning to the ancestral home? They were thinking, no doubt, of my unusual name, wondering if it were Scandinavian, and that this might be the reason for my visit to an out of the way part of Europe, and not to England, France or Italy, where most tourists go. As for my name, there runs an old tradition that the Karrakers of the 18th Century were simple though honest folk living along the Rhine. I am beginning to doubt this. I hope in time to prove my true forebears to have been rugged Viking chiefs.

The truth is, the Scandinavian countries, whose population at present does not exceed 20 millions, have always fascinated me. For more than a century not one of them has engaged in power politics, and they have avoided wars whenever they could. During this long period each has made significant, though little publicised, contributions to world civilization in the arts, literature, science, and medicine. Each also has aspired to higher standards of human conduct. I visited the peoples of Scandinavia, primarily, for the purpose of gaining insight into their concept of the good life.

A whirlwind tour of ancient castles and churches, of museums and luxury shops, obviously, is not the best way to study a culture. Nor, at the other extreme, could I learn much by living among the people, as pleasant as that experience would be, when I had so little time to learn their language. No, I preferred to move along at a leisurely pace, with no book to write, but observing people and things rather closely, and thinking and dreaming about it all.

My chief interests were child welfare, Viking history, and folk schools. Some lesser interests were Swedish farming and housing, Danish porcelains, the Royal Ballet, and Danish hospitality, Norwegian folk history and art, and Finnish architecture and courage. Most astonishing to me and wholly delightful was the profusion of flowers. The Scandinavians have a great love of flowers, and I think this is the reason I found their dark days not at all dreary. Everywhere I went—in homes, eating places, offices, and shops—were flowers. In Helsinki I saw growing on the grave of each of a thousand soldiers, who had given their lives in the wars with Russia, a bush full of bright red roses. It was a beautiful spectacle and a most touching one.

My first five weeks were spent in Sweden, and mainly in Stockholm, living with a private family who treated me like one of their own. This was a delightful experience which came purely by chance as the hotel rooms were all filled when I arrived. How nice it was, for a change, to rise at eight, or later, have breakfast in my room, converse in Swedo-English and arm-waving with my hostess, write letters, or just meditate, and then later go sightseeing, window shopping, or meet my appointments. On rainy days I preferred to stay in my room and read Victorian fiction, which I had neglected while in college, much to my professor's annoyance. Thus does conscience hound one through the years.

In pursuing my major interest of child welfare, letters of introduction from President Odgers and Quaker friends helped smooth the way. While visiting children's homes, I became acquainted with welfare students from Britain, West Germany, China and India who also were in Stockholm for the purpose of studying child care. After visits to a receiving center, infant homes, day nurseries, play schools, and after-school homes, and with much reading on these subjects, I am convinced of the superiority of Sweden's child welfare program. It possesses a high order of efficiency, and, at the same time, provides the home atmosphere that all children must have.

The child welfare officials of Stockholm and of the Royal Social Welfare Board, who conducted me on these tours, seemed to have an unlimited amount of time for the purpose. It is hard to see how I could have received more courtesy and assistance had I presented credentials direct from Washington.

My title of "Professor" was the magic word that gave me entrée everywhere, for the title in Europe is reserved for distinguished scholars. Whenever I was introduced, or hastily introduced myself as "Professor", I was accorded a full measure of respect. This was a recurring experience enjoyable beyond words.

I concluded my study of child care in Sweden with a visit to its rural day nurseries in the extreme south, near Malmö. This is the sugar beet country where I saw miles of beets being harvested, on the larger farms by machines, and on smaller farms by hand laborers, who were chiefly women. While the mothers work in the fields their children, ages one to seven, are cared for in special nurseries set up by the government to meet the beet harvest emergency.

These nurseries resemble the homes of the neighboring villagers, and have all the comforts and charm of well-kept homes. They are financed mainly by the state and the communities, with the mothers, who are able, paying a small fee. The maximum enrollment of a nursery is twenty-two (all of them terrific blondes) who are cared for by a staff of three. A thorough health program is enforced by the requirement of training in child nursing of the head of the staff, and of periodic visits by the district nurse and doctor. Of course these nurseries constitute only a small area of public health, but their strict regimen testifies to the excellence of Sweden's public health program.

The special nurseries meet the needs of the six weeks beet harvest emergency. However, Sweden operates permanent day nurseries everywhere, and their numbers are being rapidly increased to serve the growing army of working mothers. In the United States we are confronted by a similar pressing problem, according to an official of the U. S. Children's Bureau, who considers the scarcity of day nurseries a serious weakness in our child welfare program. Perhaps in this area we should learn from Sweden.

Has community child welfare any relationship to democracy? The people of Scandinavia are certain that it has. To them democracy is a broad concept that includes not only control by the people over their government, but also over their social and economic life. Citizens of their small communities and municipalities plan and operate welfare and educational programs, and they organize co-operatives and trade unions, as well as elect their governing officials and members of parliament.

Before leaving Stockholm I was pleasantly entertained at nearby Uppsala University by one of its students, Eva Munktell. Eva completed her preparatory schooling in the United States through the medium of a former Bucknell student of mine, Sachiyé Mizuki '48, who was acting for the American Field Service. After graduating she returned to enter Uppsala, and will receive her degree from the University next spring at the age of 19. She then plans to return to an American University to work for a doctorate in political science, and so appears to be following in her father's footsteps, for Professor Munktell is professor of Roman Law at Uppsala and also Conservative Member of Parliament. He is one of Sweden's great men, in spite of the fact that he was crippled by polio at the age of seven and ever since has been forced to get about in a wheel chair.

The other university I visited was that of Oslo as the guest of Dr. Philip Boardman, Director of the Summer School. He is a relative by marriage of Mrs. Lewis E. Theiss of Lewisburg. Dr. Boardman's objective is to bring to his six-weeks summer session students from all over Europe and North America for the purpose of acquainting them with Norwegian life and culture. He also hopes their daily association will promote international understanding. He would be happy to have students from Bucknell, who would find plenty of time during the long week-ends for seeing Norway's magnificent mountains and fjords. The University possesses a beautiful campus overlooking the city and Oslo Fjord.

Why do Scandinavians drink so much coffee? I don't know, but I marveled much at the quantities and at the time consumed. Wherever I visited, I drank gallons of the stuff, as I surrendered willingly to the prevailing mores. For your true Scandinavian there is a pot of coffee to start the day, then comes the coffee break, coffee at lunch, coffee in the middle of the afternoon, at dinner, and so on. I was invited to "tea at four" but only coffee was served. I came to the window to buy a railway ticket and the agent, drinking coffee from a mug in one hand, shoved me the brown trip slip and change with the other. I went into a store to buy picture post cards and spied in a cozy nook a bevy of girls quaffing coffee as they chatted. As one rose reluctantly to wait on me, I impudently inquired of her, "Why are you always drinking coffee?" "What do you drink," she challenged me. "Milk," I replied in a defiant voice though weakly, and there was uproarious laughter from that gang. So it is in England, only a few hundred miles away, with tea. Once the English drank chocolate, later coffee, but since the 18th Century it has been forever tea. I suppose if anyone should start a crusade to change England from tea to coffee he would be outlawed from Land's End to John O'Groat's as disloyal to the Crown and a traitor to the constitution.

Getting back to Oslo, I found the Norwegians greatly interested in folk history. In a suburb of the city their historians and scientists have reconstructed three Viking ships, dated at 850 A. D., which had been excavated in thousands of fragments, together with the many relics buried in them. Nearby is a famous outdoor museum exhibiting farm buildings of the 17th Century which have been assembled from many parts of Norway, and one may also see in their vicinity the raft Kon-Tiki and the explorer Nansen's ship, the Fram.

The leader of the Kon-Tiki expedition, it will be recalled, was Thor Heyerdahl. He is also a writer of note and an esteemed person in Norway. Non-political personages seem to receive the highest honors in the Scandinavian countries. In Denmark it is Niels Bohr, the physicist; in Sweden, Dag Hammarskjöld, the international statesman; and in Finland it was the composer, Jean Sibelius, until his death last September.

During the last days of my exploration, I became acquainted with the folk schools. Folk schools are scattered all over Scandinavia to the number of 300, with some 30,000 students participating. They originated in Denmark more than a century ago with the famous educator, N. F. S. Grundtvig, who insisted upon two aspects of teaching: that of direct contact between teacher and student, and the study of history as basic to the understanding of life. Education, he emphasized, should lead to wisdom in living.

The folk schools have maintained his ideas to the present, as they have played a very important part in the growth of and in the maturing of its democracy. They are supported by trade unions, agricultural organizations, and humanitarian societies, assisted with grants from the state, and are attended by young agricultural and urban workers who know the meaning of working for a living and are eager to learn. The subjects taught are the basic liberal arts, but these are supplemented by courses of a practical nature. Each school also has its speciality, that of Krogerup, near Copenhagen, which I visited, being economics and government. Teachers and students live together and meet on common ground in the discussion rooms. There are no examinations and no credit given; consequently, learning becomes an exhilarating adventure for teachers and students into the limitless world of knowledge.

With a study of folk schools I felt that I had concluded on a high plane my exploration of Scandinavian cultures, for the time being, and I returned to Lewisburg greatly stimulated and enlightened by my experience.

Bison Cagers Break Even In First Half

MINGLING with some of basketball's best during the opening half of their 24-game schedule, Bucknell's dribblers managed to split a dozen contests. The defeats have been administered by Cornell, Temple, Tennessee, Clemson, St. Joseph's and Lafayette. On no occasion have the Bisons been disgraced. Only Tennessee and Temple were able to win with any points to spare and both of those teams are ranked among the nation's top 20. The remainder of the campaign is also laden with rugged opponents and it is extremely unlikely that the Herd will succeed in equalling last year's 16-8 record. It has been a terrific challenge to battle the tougher clubs and despite the setbacks the Bisons have gained a great deal of satisfaction from their experiences.

Coach Ben Kribbs' chief difficulty has been in developing two men to aid his three big guns, Hal Danzig, Ellis Harley and Jack Flanagan. This trio, led by Danzig's 212 points, has accounted for 545 of Bucknell's total of 854 points. Kribbs has tried to plug the two gaps with Bob Ericsson, Skip Wieder, Bill Wooster, Bob Salankiewicz, Tommy Thompson and John Strizzi. Thompson and Strizzi went the distance in the Bisons' last encounter, a tear-jerker 74-71 double overtime loss to Lafayette. Thompson had his hottest night of the winter, pouring in 17 points and hitting with a jump shot in the final 20 seconds of the first overtime to prolong the tilt five more minutes. The six-foot sophomore has been hampered by a pre-season ankle injury but may now be ready to travel at top speed.

Strizzi, the 5-9 senior scrapper, has started each of the last four games, and paced the Herd's attack against St. Joseph's with 19 points. John is valuable even when he's off target, because of his dash, defensive play and timely rebounding. He could have the one guard slot locked up. Thompson will probably be employed when extra height is not a necessity, with the 6-6 Ericsson on call if those added inches are required. Bob hasn't been able to play his best ball thus far but could blossom at any time.

Co-captain Harley and Danzig have been Bucknell's most consistent scorers, with Flanagan only falling from that class in the past two tussles. Danzig has been the team's top pointmaker in six outings, five of them being victories, while Harley has shown the way on three occasions. As long as Danzig, Harley and Flanagan are clicking the Bisons will be hard for any rival to handle. If Thompson, Strizzi or Ericsson can supply that extra punch the Herd could really roll through the wind-up stages of its schedule.

Briefly reviewing the contests since the last issue: Danzig's 25 points sent the Bisons on their way to an 80-58 rout of Gettysburg; Temple, fired by Guy Rodgers' 24 markers and brilliant all-around play, hammered the Herd, 75-59, despite Flanagan's 23-point effort; in the opener of the Carrousel Tournament, Gene Tormohlen cached 25 points for Tennessee and the Vols prevailed, 89-71, as Danzig countered with 17; a stirring second half rally overcame a six-point Davidson lead and gained the Bisons a 68-58 decision, with Danzig notching 23; Bucknell concluded its Carrousel activities by bowing to Clemson, 71-66, as the Tigers bombarded the hoop at a 68% clip in the first half. Harley was high for B. U. with 19 counters.

After the Christmas vacation, Albright was toppled, 100-76, in a skirmish that found six Bisons in double figures, headed by Danzig's 21; the Herd crushed Delaware, 79-55, for its last triumph, with Danzig again providing the big noise with his 30 points; St. Joseph's measured Bucknell in a tight struggle, 75-64, the Hawks drawing away in the final two minutes via the free throw route after the Bisons had fought to within four points of a deadlock, thanks to Strizzi's 19 points; the Herd next succumbed to Lafayette in double overtime, 74-71, after coming from behind on many occasions to knot the count—Harley's 23 points being in vain.

BU Swimmers Creating Loud Splash

After their first three meets of the 1958 season, Bucknell's tankmen had captured three times as many contests as they had while making their debut a year ago.

In rapid succession the Bisons drenched Lycoming, 56-30, at Williamsport; sank F and M, 57-29, in the Freas-Rooke Pool, thus reversing last year's loss to the Diplomats by a similar score; and submerged Delaware, 49-37, at Newark, Del. The meet with the Blue Hens was in doubt until the final event when the Herd's 400-yard freestyle relay unit rocketed to victory in 4:00.4 to clinch the issue.

Thus far, coach Bob Latour's most consistent point-producers have been juniors Bill Barrett, Mountain Lakes, N. J.; Bob Buys, W. Sayville, N. Y.; Bruce Hutchinson, Rye, N. Y.; and Bill Schreiber, Arlington, N. J. Glittering performances have also been turned in by sophomores Doug Forsyth, N. Tonawanda, N. Y., and Bob Erdahl, Washington, D. C. Barrett, a swift freestyler, leads the pack with three individual conquests to his credit.

Although the season is far from over, chances are bright that Bucknell's second campaign in the pool will be a winning one.

Wrabley's Wrestlers Making Foes Groan

Not since the 1951 outfit finished with a 5-3 log has a Bucknell wrestling squad wound up with a winning record. This, however, should be the year.

Working with a wonderfully well-conditioned group, coach Bill Wrabley has thrice sent his battlers into combat, and on each occasion they emerged triumphant. The Bisons settled past scores by whipping Lafayette, 20-6, and Muhlenberg, 19-10, and also dumped Lycoming, 22-6, in getting off to their flashy start.

Four BU matmen have yet to swallow a setback and three of them are sophomores. Captain Larry Dempster, St. Charles senior, has humbled three opponents and limited them to a total of one point. Newcomers John Ayre, Bethlehem, and Dave Murdock, DuBois, also claim 3-0 marks, while another soph, Pete Fritts, Andover, N. J., boasts two victories and a draw. A fourth soph, Ken Wightman, Vineland, N. J., has landed two of three verdicts.

Harry Lawrence Bows Out As BU Grid Coach

"After 24 years as a head coach I believe my change in occupation will be advantageous to my family and myself. I have enjoyed my life and associations in football and will have many happy memories of Bucknell, Lewisburg and Central Pennsylvania. I hope to refresh my contacts in the area from time to time," stated Harry Lawrence after he had resigned as Bucknell's football coach January 25.

This pretty well summed up the feelings of a fellow who was departing from the University's athletic scene after 11 years. The tremendous pressure has been released and the ex-skipper is bound to feel relieved. There will also have to be days when Harry will miss the victories, defeats, cheers and abuse. But in accepting the position of guidance counselor at Baltimore City College High School Harry did the thing that he believed to be best for all concerned. A year still remained on his latest three-year contract.

At Baltimore City College, where he once created a football powerhouse that survived six successive seasons without a setback and compiled a ten-year 69-10-6 record, Harry will still be in constant contact with the boys who have made up much of his life.

Lawrence's teams at Bucknell won 45, lost 51, and tied one, the brightest period coming between 1949 and 1952 when the Bisons captured 27 of 35 contests. They romped through the 1951 campaign with nine straight triumphs and expanded the streak to 17 games the following season. No Herd eleven had ever before won as many as nine games in a fall. This outfit, spearheaded by the dynamic halfback duo of Brad Myers and Burt Tahnage, both of whom churned up better than 1000 yards, established a still-standing eastern intercollegiate record by gaining an average of 463.3 yards per game.

There can be little doubt about the value of Harry Lawrence's contribution to Bucknell football.

As this was written the University was still very much in the dark regarding a successor to the grid post. Spring practice usually gets underway sometime in March.

Hulmes Turns Pro

After serving as Bucknell's athletic publicity director since September, 1956, Harry Hulmes is leaving to fill the position of business manager with the National Football League's Baltimore Colts. He will remain on the job at Bucknell through March 14 and begin his new duties March 17.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Hulmes came to Bucknell after a 30-month hitch as assistant business manager for baseball's Baltimore Orioles.

About his departure the tub-thumper commented, "My stay at Bucknell has been happy and rewarding. It has certainly been a pleasure to work here, with wonderful people and for a fine school. I hope that I will have the opportunity to direct more than a few high school graduates to Bucknell."

Burma-Bucknell Weekend

and movies, the most important of which was Ed Murrow's, "See it Now" film on Burma. On the Friday preceding the weekend, two important authorities gave classroom lectures. In addition to Professor U Pe Maung Tin, Dr. Frank N. Trager, research professor in government at New York University and outstanding authority on Burmese life and history, gave background lectures. Twenty-five members of the central committee attended the Embassy's Independence Day Celebration in Washington on January 4. On February 9, the Ambassador was host to the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Other Colleges Represented

Because of the desire of the Asia Foundation and the Department of State to see this entirely unique program duplicated for several other young nations, by other American colleges, guest observers were present from a number of campuses. Coe College in Iowa was the most distant represented.

Had Early Beginnings

Bucknell's interest in Burma has long historic roots. The present series of week ends was started at the suggestion of Miss Helen Hunt, daughter of Bucknell's former president, Emory W. Hunt, and for many years a teacher and administrator in Burma; and by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Rickard '23 (Ada Thomas '21). Among the Bucknellians who have served in Burma are: E. Carroll Condit '08, David Graham '37, Edwin C. Brush '43, Miss Marian E. Shivers '14, Walter L. Keyser '25, Sam Rickard '49 and John Rickard '50. Mrs. Harriet Mason Stevens, of the Bucknell Institute Class of 1858, was born in Burma. Our own Burmese alumni are Margaret Ohn Bwint '53, Ma Nyein '53, Irene Khin Myint '51, Ma Khin Myint '53 and Maggie Chin Cheng '57. Dr. Roy C. Tasker spent the year 1952-1953 at Mandalay as a Fulbright professor in biology.

Twenty-five years ago, Miss Hunt interested Bucknell students in giving scholarships to Burmese students. These amount now to $500 a year and are raised through the World University Service Fund campaign each January. This sum is enough to enable four students to attend the University each year. Burmese students and officials who have attended previous week ends have supplemented the scholarship fund, named for Bucknell. The chairman of our committee, Dr. Tun Thin, is serving this year as an alternate executive director to the International Monetary Fund in Washington.

Dr. Shaw Loo Colorful Alumnus

Picked up on the streets of Calcutta by a voyaging missionary at the time of the Indian Mutiny in 1857, this Burmese lad who had gone to India "for foreign study", came to Bucknell as our first foreign student. His mother had been baptised by Adinoram Judson. Maung Shaw Loo was the first Burmese student to study in the United States, and the first medical man, trained in the west, to return to his homeland to practice. He was a lively person and an active member of Phi Kappa Psi. The minutes, among other things, record him as chairman of the "grievance committee." Upon completion of his medical work at the Charity Hospital Medical College of Cleveland, he went by invitation to the White House to receive a personal message from President Johnson to King Mindon of Burma. Turning down an offer of the Royal Court, he settled into medical and educational work at Moulmein, Burma. When Dr. William G. Owens '80 made his trip abroad after retirement, he was a guest of Dr. Shaw Loo. Dr. Shaw Loo died at the age of 91 on October 10, 1929.

Eugenio Kincaid and President Buchanan

One of the organizers of the University at Lewisburg was The Reverend Eugenio Kincaid, a graduate of Madison University (now Colgate). While on furlough from Burma, he joined Mr. James Moore, III, and other devoted Baptist laymen in raising the needed funds for the infant University. Later, the King of Burma called him to the palace with the request that he take a personal message to President Buchanan at the White House. A photostat of that message and the President's reply are now displayed in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library. It is a note of interest for Bucknellians, since it was President Buchanan, while serving on the first Board of Curators, who made the motion for the awarding of degrees to the first graduating class.

The joint celebration by Bucknellians and Burmans in this tenth year of independence would seem to be a natural outgrowth of more than a century of friendly intercourse. With the conclusion of this year's program, it is hoped that a brochure may be published by the University, narrating this fascinating history and experience. So far as we know, Bucknell is the only university in the United States which has developed this kind of week end hospitality thrust. Many Bucknell alumni of the past ten years have made this program possible.

In the Next Issue

A special supplement on U. S. higher education in 1958 is coming in the May issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Alumni magazine editors and publishers throughout the country have joined in this first cooperative effort to tell the story of American higher education in a dramatic and panoramic way. In 32 pages of pictures and text, the supplement will present the immense diversity of higher education in its variety of objectives, its problems, its restlessness, and its new approaches. The text has been written by a group of alumni editors who have been at work for more than a year. One of the country's leading photographers, Erich Hartmann of Magnum, has taken the pictures. The supplement will appear in more than 150 college alumni magazines that reach 1,300,000 college alumni.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Editor's note: Certain club reports could not be included in this issue. We hope to include them in a later issue.

ATLANTA—Atlanta experienced "unusual" weather (12 degrees) when the Bucknellians gathered for dinner and a meeting at the Druid Hills Golf Club on December 11. After a delightful dinner, Ray Monahan '37, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Georgia, introduced Buck Shott who spoke briefly on the topic, "The BALD Look." After Buck's talk, a long question and answer period followed and the meeting wound up in the wee hours with a showing of kodachrome slides of campus scenes and activities.

BUCKNELL EDUCATORS—Bucknellians attending the annual P. S. E. A. Convention in Harrisburg met for a special Bucknell luncheon on December 26. Dr. Paul E. Witmeyer, professor of education at Bucknell, presented and evaluated the suggestions for improvement of the Pennsylvania school program that were to be discussed at the annual convention. He pointed out that the law already provides for extension of the school week as well as the school year and reminded us that longer schooling need not necessarily mean better training in school. He suggested that perhaps public schools could revise the curriculum to improve the training of young people and made a plea that educators start now to plan for such improvements rather than wait for the legislature to dictate the changes and procedures to be followed. After the conclusion of Dr. Witmeyer's address, a discussion of college admissions, scholarship aid, teacher placement, and college salary schedules was held.

Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, head of the department of education at Bucknell, also attended the luncheon and John H. Shott, alumni secretary, served as chairman of the meeting.

CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA

—During the third annual Carrousel Basketball Tournament (in which the Bucknell team participated) the Bucknellians in the Charlotte, N. C., area met for dinner at the Dogwood Room of the Douglas Municipal Airport. Mrs. Frank R. Wean (Jeanne Lever '43) made the arrangements. Following the dinner, the group assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard P. Steiger '37 where Buck Shott, alumni secretary, spoke briefly on present and future plans of the University and presented colored pictures of recent University events. Other Bucknellians in attendance included Dr. and Mrs. Leo L. Rockwell '07 (Vera Z. Cober '11) and Dr. George L. Abernethy '32.

HARRISBURG—Our December meeting was, as usual, a grand affair and we had 36 members and friends present. A most unusual and very informative talk, "Christmas in Australia", was given by the assistant minister of the Paxton Presbyterian Church. The Reverend Reynolds Waters. He highlighted his talk by playing Christmas carols typical to Australia.

Also, we had several beautiful Christmas readings given by Miss Kathryn Leisman. Rounding out the evening's entertainment we had a grab bag and the club sang Christmas carols.

Officers elected for the coming year are as follows: Miss Norma Gotwalt '52, president; Walter Roos '20, vice president; Jean E. Slack '39, secretary; and Edwin R. Mighell '52, treasurer.

CLEVELAND—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Cleveland met for dinner and an informal evening of fun Saturday, November 16, at the University Club in downtown Cleveland. Twenty-four of us representing classes 1917 through 1956 enjoyed a turkey dinner prior to a short business meeting presided over by Vice President Reginald Hubley '52, in the absence of President Reg Merridew '37. Slides of the campus sent us by the University afforded the evening's nostalgia and recollection of "days when." Recent visitors to the campus during the summer and Homecoming were Edie and Al Schmidt and Dottie and Frank Grisanti. Dancing, bridge, and general chit-chat rounded out an enjoyable evening that spelled "more" right soon.

DOTTIE STOLZENBERG GRISANTI '45,
Secretary

BALTIMORE—Baltimore's Alumni Club started Bucknell on her 113th year with a pleasant and thoroughly enjoyable evening of eating, listening, and plenty of talking. We were 40 strong on the evening of February 5 with a wonderful representation of parents. Hotel Pennsylvania in Towson was our meeting place and Professor Souders, our charming guest speaker. To cut our birthday cake, one of the highlights of the evening, Del Mellinger '17 and Janet Shreck McKeel and Helen Frazee Ferren, both of the Class of '54, came forth to do the honors.

After our dinner Anne Mussina '32, our president, introduced our special guest from the campus and we settled back to hear of the happenings at school. Prof. Souders brought us up to date on the 300 acres set apart. The property itself, the many new buildings and the personalities, including the many new people who have arrived recently, were discussed in his talk. A few questions and answers followed.

It was so good to see so many "new" faces and of course the faithful regulars. The parents are always welcome and we want to see the Abbotts, Fitzsimmons, Haucks and Louis' again—along with all of you who live in this area. Let's try to make us 113 strong for Bucknell's next celebration.

DORIS WILDE THOMAS '49,
Secretary-Treasurer

PITTSBURGH—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania elected new officers on December 20, 1957, at a pre-Christmas meeting. The new officers are: Robert Waddell, Jr. '50, president; Wayne Harrison '51, vice president; Alexander Foster '48, treasurer; and Henry Pfischner '54, secretary.

Following the basketball game between our Bisons and Carnegie Tech on February 15, the Alumni Club held a coffee-rounder attended by Buck Shott, Coach Kribbs, the team, and many area alumni and their friends. Closely following this event was the special Bucknell Birthday celebration held in connection with the club's regular luncheon meeting at Kaufmann's on Friday, February 28.

Our club was fortunate to have Miss Trennie E. Easley, director of public relations, and Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development, as guests at one of our recent luncheon meetings. Miss Easley spoke to the group about events and activities at Bucknell as well as recent campus news, while Dr. Haines brought us up to date on recent developments in Bucknell's building program.

HENRY E. PFISCHNER '54,
Secretary

LANCASTER—On January 31, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster celebrated Bucknell's 112th birthday by holding a dinner meeting at the Conestoga Country Club. Forty-three alumni, parents, and guests attended.

Mr. William J. Wrabley '51, assistant football coach at Bucknell, was the guest speaker. He gave a review of the school's activities, future development outlook, and discussed the athletic program.

Other entertainment at the dinner meeting included the showing of motion pictures by retiring president Lewis McGlincy '41.

New officers elected at the meeting were Claude Bubb '47, president; Frank Gerlitz '34, vice president; and Benjamin Bastian '48, secretary. Thomas Lewis '51 was re-elected treasurer.

READING—A dinner-dance at the Wyomissing Club was held on February 1, to celebrate Bucknell's 112th anniversary. Approximately 40 couples attended and danced to the music of Bill Levan's Orchestra.

Dr. Clair G. Spangler '25, a trustee of the University was a guest at the party.

UNION COUNTY-MILTON—Bucknell's 112th birthday was celebrated on the campus with a meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lewisburg-Milton at the Lewisburg Club on Wednesday, February 5, 1958.

Professor John S. Gold '18, president of the club, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Arthur L. Brandon AM'27, vice president for University Relations at New York University. Dr. Brandon, speaking on the topic "You Too, Alumni" emphasized the role of the alumnus as ambassador, adviser and donor.

The members in attendance elected the following as officers: Lawrence W. Lawson '22, president; Jere B. Bates '15, vice president. Re-elected were Thelma J. Showalter '29, secretary, and Herbert C. Grice '18, treasurer. The retiring president, John S. Gold, was made a member of the Board of Directors to serve for three years.

ST. PETERSBURG—It was a red-letter day for the Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg when we were privileged to honor the president, Dr. Merle M. Odgers, with a dinner at the Shawn House. He sketched for us the tremendous growth of the college, its new buildings and the plans for further expansion in its facilities. This was the first time that we were honored by a visit of the president.

RUTH STEPHENS PORTER '05,
Secretary

SOUTH FLORIDA—On January 7, 1958, the Bucknellians in the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Florida were extremely fortunate to have as their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Merle M. Odgers. Dr. Odgers was introduced by The Rev. David Davis and presented a most interesting and informative message.

Thirty-three persons were in attendance, including Miss Emma R. Baker '85, who is possibly the oldest living graduate of the University.

THOMAS DAVISON '45,
President

PHILADELPHIA—The Philadelphia Bucknell Alumni birthday dinner was celebrated January 31 at the Union League, Philadelphia. A splendid, zippy talk was

WHY PERSONAL SOLICITATION?

Serving as an agent in the Personal Solicitation Program of the Bucknell Alumni Fund is probably the ultimate in alumni service.

Even though over 500 alumni have already served as agents during the past three years since Personal Solicitation began, there are still many who, when challenged to undertake an assignment of visiting five Bucknell neighbors, ask the question, "Why do we need Personal Solicitation for the Bucknell Alumni Fund?"

The chart below answers that question more eloquently than any words could be written. In summary, it is the most effective and, in many instances, the only method of getting Bucknellians started on the annual giving program. This great discovery is not unique at Bucknell: several hundred other colleges have also learned from experience that the only way to get the Fund program into high gear is through Personal Solicitation.

And the program offers other benefits as well. Many agents have learned that the personal visit is an ideal way to encourage alumni support of local alumni club activities as well as other forms of alumni service. And furthermore, many agents have learned that personal solicitation is more than ringing doorbells for money—Bucknellian meets Bucknellian in these visits and discusses Bucknell to the mutual benefit of visitor and visitee.

given by Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development, on "Our Proud Allegiance." He brought greetings and a resumé of the work of the President, Dean of the University, Dean of Men and other prominent campus executives. Bill Greulich '34, General Alumni Association President and nominating chairman, extended greetings. We were honored in having present at the dinner two of our trustees, Mr. Harry Schad of Philadelphia and Mr. Kenneth W. Slifer and his wife of Woodbury, N. J. Mrs. Joseph W. Henderson, wife of the late chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Mrs. S. Dale Spotts, wife of the late trustee and president of the Philadelphia association, were also present. Dr. and Mrs. Odgers sent their regrets that they were unable to be with us due to a previous commitment at Bucknell. Regrets were also sent by Dr. and Mrs. O. V. W. Hawkins, member of the Board of Trustees from New York. President Dill read a letter from our past president's wife, Louise Tyson, thanking the Alumni for their contributions to the James Tyson Memorial Fund. We regretted that Franklin Jones, alumni trustee, was unable to be with us on account of illness.

Dr. Kenneth L. Cober gave the invocation. Craig Hall, a member of the Philadelphia Alumni Association executive board, led the singing. Entertainment was provided by Daisy Lipsy throughout the dinner. Madeline Wiegand, a prominent Philadelphia singer and friend of the Dills, gave a program of songs accompanying herself on the auto-harp.

Serving as hosts and hostesses were Mr. John Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cleveland Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buek, Dr. and Mrs. John Burlew, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fenstermacher, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cober, Miss Alice Roberts, Dr. Lester Lighton, Miss Jane Gibson, Mr. Robert Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bruce and Mr. Craig Hall. Ray Topham was in charge of reservations. Bob Dill complimented the strong Jersey group present, including Don Glover, General Alumni Association Director. He announced the Bucknell Monday luncheons at the St. James Hotel and the innovation this year of an informal Round Table Talk once a month by an outstanding Philadelphia Alumnus or Trustee. He extended thanks to his officers, board and chairmen and then handed over the gavel to Herb Watson, the new president. The new officers are as follows: P. Herbert Watson '37, president, Norristown; Harry Jenkins, Jr. '35, vice president, Abington; Albert Fenstermacher '33, treasurer, Drexel Hill; Dorothy Heller '44, secretary, Philadelphia; new directors are Alice Roberts '24, Theodore Heysham, Jr. '25, Albert J. Hamlin '15, Robert W. Dill '27, Robert H. Taylor '48, Craig M. Hall '51, Daniel Griffith '36, Louis Mutzel '31. Herb expressed his appreciation for the nomination and his thanks to Ellie and Bob, after which the gathering closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Philadelphia Bucknell Alumni Monday Luncheons held at the St. James Hotel, 13th and Walnut, are now featuring a new plan. Once a month there will be a "Round Table Talk" with an outstanding Alumnus or Trustee carrying the ball. Les Lighton sparked us off at our first session. The engineering program, admissions, the educational factor and election of Alumni Trustees were discussed. Questions pelted back and forth making the hour most stimulating and interesting. We hope that many more Alumni will attend these weekly luncheons for the contacts are enjoyable and the conversation invigorating. This is your opportunity to become acquainted with other Bucknellians.

	Areas Where Personal Solicitation Was Conducted 1957	Areas Where NO Personal Solicitation Was Conducted 1957
Alumni in Areas	7,215	10,314
Number of Contributors ...	2,217	1,803
Percentage Contributing ...	30.7%	17.4%

In summary, you will find that in the 17 alumni areas where Personal Solicitation was carried on last year, 30.7% of the alumni contributed even though many of the alumni in these areas could not be visited because of the shortage of agents.

In the areas where NO personal solicitation was conducted only 17.4% of the alumni contributed last year.

In other words, reminders by mail produce 17% participation while reminders by mail — PLUS PERSONAL VISITS — produce 30% participation. If we ever expect to adequately help in solving Bucknell's financial problems we must each take a part of the job—five visits. It's as simple as this: The more volunteers helping, the greater the interest, the greater the success and the sooner Bucknell stands in the spot she deserves.

Among the 120 alumni, parents and guests who attended the University's 112th birthday party in Philadelphia on January 31 were: (Left to Right) P. Herbert Watson '37, newly elected club president; Robert W. Dill '27, retiring president and newly elected member of the board of directors of the Philadelphia club; Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development, guest speaker of the evening; and Wilmer D. Greulich '34, president of The General Alumni Association.

"DOC" HOSKINS DIES

"DOC" HOSKINS

Alumni who were on the campus at the turn of the century will be saddened to learn of the death of George (Doc) Hoskins, aged 93, former Bucknell football and track coach, in Cincinnati on January 23.

"Doc" came to Bucknell from Penn State in 1899 after coaching the Lions for a number of years. He remained as coach from 1899 to 1906 compiling a gridiron record of forty wins, thirty-five losses, and five ties against many of the leading collegiate teams in the East.

In 1909 "Doc" was recalled to the coaching ranks at Bucknell. In the spring of 1909 he was relieved of his coaching duties and secured the position of trainer with the Cincinnati "Reds" in the National League. He held this position for many years during numerous changes in management. Advanced age and surrounding conditions brought about his retirement some years ago but he continued as caretaker in the visiting teams' clubhouse until 1942.

The sincere sympathy of the University and his many friends is extended to his wife and daughter who survive.

Golightly '14 Honored

A luncheon honoring Joshua R. Golightly '14, was held on October 22, 1957, by the Millburn, N. J., Rotary Club on the occasion of Mr. Golightly's retirement from the Millburn Coal and Oil Company. He had been associated with the company for the past twenty-six years.

Mr. Golightly, a member of the Millburn Rotary Club since 1934, has never missed a meeting of the group. He has served as president, treasurer, director, program chairman, and sergeant-at-arms for the Millburn Club. He was district governor of the 182nd district from 1943 to 1944 and since then has served as district treasurer.

In addition to his activities in the Rotary he is a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Central Presbyterian Church.

A measure of respect for him is reflected in the following quotations of his Rotary friends:

"The name is befitting to Jo, he does everything lightly—a quiet unassuming, efficient manner."

"No one knows more about the district than Jo."

"I feel it is an honor to say I'm a protégé of Jo's. He is a real friend."

"Jo lives Rotary and serves Rotary."

"Jo can be counted on for any Rotary function."

After graduating from Bucknell, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, he served with the Navy during World War I.

Proud of his service to his fellowmen are his wife, Georgia, his two daughters, Mrs. William H. McChesney (Eleanor H. Golightly '46) and Mrs. James A. Brown (JoAnn G. Golightly '48) and his fellow Bucknellians. Congratulations, Jo.

Clarence A. Weymouth 1900 Dies

Bucknell and the Class of 1900 lost one of its most prominent alumni with the death of Clarence A. Weymouth '00 at the age of 79 in New York City on January 29, 1958.

Mr. Weymouth, ill during the past three months, had served as assistant to the president of Associated Transport, Inc., a nationwide trucking firm for the last ten years. Born in 1878 in Lock Haven, he entered Bucknell in 1896, where he joined Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and became a pre-law student and an outstanding athlete. As first string catcher on the baseball team he was a battery mate of the late Christy Mathewson '02, who went on to become a baseball immortal. He also played fullback on the football team on which Christy was a member.

After graduation from Bucknell, he became a law student at Yale where he earned varsity letters in football, basketball and crew. Following college, he combined coaching with an eminent career in the construction and transportation industries. He coached at St. Paul's School, Annapolis, and Swarthmore. His business career included executive positions with Cantrell Construction Company, Philadelphia, Colonial Trust Company of Philadelphia, and the Danville Structural Steel Company, Danville. His activities in the transportation field included posts with the Terminal Cab Company, Guardian Cab Company, Parmalee Company, and Yellow Cab Company prior to his joining Associated Transport ten years ago.

The University extends heartfelt condolences to his family of survivors which include Mrs. Weymouth, the former Margaret S. Tyler, a daughter, Mrs. Charles M. McAllister and five sons, George T., Clarence A. Jr. '29, Philip B., Taylor, Thomas R., and a brother and a sister.

Mr. Weymouth continued his interests in Bucknell alumni and athletic affairs throughout his lifetime and visited the campus for Homecoming Week End in recent years when the old-time football greats of the beginning of the century were honored.

EXHIBIT

On Sunday, March 16, 1958, in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, an exhibit on the Port of Philadelphia will be shown by Mr. J. Welles Henderson, prominent young Philadelphia attorney and son of the late chairman of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Joseph W. Henderson '08. The exhibit includes pictures, lithographs, account books, prints, letters, documents and various memorabilia. This exhibit was shown recently at the Philadelphia Free Library and attracted wide attention.

Mr. J. Welles Henderson will speak at the opening of the exhibit. He will be accompanied on his visit to the campus by his mother (Mrs. Anne Dresbach Henderson '13), and his wife and children.

PHILADELPHIA ALUMNI SPRING DANCE

Circle this date on your calendar now
SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1958

Alumni, parents, students and guests are cordially invited to attend the Annual Spring Dance of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia on May 17. Details for the time, place and cost will be mailed to you at a later date.

Let's make this a repeat of last year's enjoyable party. Door prizes galore, as usual.

Be sure and get your sitters early.

Franke '57 Reaches Mission Field

George S. Franke who graduated in 1957 in electrical engineering and who has accepted a three-year appointment to use his engineering skills in mission work has reached the American Baptist Mission at Sona Bata in the Belgian Congo.

A recent letter to classmates and friends tells of his interesting experiences upon his arrival in the Belgian Congo. He says, "Since September 13th, when I left New York City, many things have happened. I had a very smooth crossing of the Atlantic. It was a bit too uneventful except for the customary visit from King Neptune at Latitude Zero. I had my first view of Congo at 6:00 a. m., September 28, when we docked at Matadi. Since this was a Saturday, I had the opportunity of staying two nights in a Matadi Hotel. I found it very pleasant there, but I was glad, on Monday, when I got the last of my baggage through customs. After a short stay at Banza Manteke, our station nearest Matadi, I went on to Sona Bata, which I shall be calling home while I am here in Congo.

"Sona Bata is a beautiful place. Some of us call it The Campus. There are extensive lawns dotted with shade trees. The things I like most about Sona Bata are the people—the other missionaries and the African leaders who have made Sona Bata such a fine place in which to live. We are five degrees south of the equator. Our time is six hours ahead of eastern standard time.

"Soon I made a trip to Leopoldville. This is THE city in Congo. It is more modern than any city I have seen in the United States. It has all of the convenience of any modern city. I stayed at the Union Mission Hostel. This is a nice and inexpensive place, where Protestant missionaries may stay when they are in the city. The reason for my trip was to talk with the leaders of our Congo mission who have their offices at our mission buildings in Leopoldville. While I was there I had an opportunity to do some shopping in the regular shops and at the ivory market.

"The highlight of my stay in Congo so far has been my trip to our eastern or Kwango stations. It involved six days of actual travel time and covered 1,140 miles. I traveled on all kinds of roads. I started out on a four-lane divided highway and continued to some dirt roads, where it was impossible to go faster than 15 miles per hour. At one point, a hairpin turn was so sharp that it was necessary to back up in order to get around it. The country was beautiful and the people I met could not have been more cordial."

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Elkred, Pa.

Dr. Iden M. Portser '96, died in Greensburg, March 22, 1957. Dr. Portser had been active in the medical profession more than 50 years, established the first clinic for tuberculosis in Westmoreland County and was instrumental in organizing the first nursing school there. He is survived by his wife and two sons to whom our sympathy is extended.

Mrs. Washington Righter (Lena Burke '97) died May 11 in Harrisburg. She is survived only by her husband to whom our sympathy is extended.

We regret to inform you of the death on December 30, 1956, of Mrs. John B. Dumont, Jr. (Louise A. Seiler '00). She is survived by her husband to whom our sympathy is extended.

The career of one of our oldest Bucknellians came to an end with the death in August, 1957, of Ida S. Hammond who spent two years in the Female Institute from 1885 to 1887. Miss Hammond had been a school teacher and lived retired in Philadelphia at the time of her death. A great-nephew, Paul Hammond, is a member of the sophomore class at Bucknell.

Mrs. C. W. Amsler (Mary Rohrer '96) passed away November 23, 1957, from a heart attack. She lacked just one month of being 86 years old. She was the first woman to pass from the Class, all of whose names were "Mary." Though in failing health for several years she had been able to be around until the last few days. She left no immediate relatives but her kindly heart won many friends.

Mrs. Thomas Stradling Fretz (Emma Viola Starick, of the Institute Class of '94) is deceased according to reports from the postmaster at Burton, Washington, her last known address. Mrs. Fretz was the widow of T. S. Fretz who attended Bucknell Academy 1888-90 and graduated from the college in 1894. He died in 1941.

Miss Regina Hoffa '80, lifelong resident of Lewisburg, died December 17, 1957. Two of her survivors are Mrs. Ralph Steans (Carrie L. Hoffa '84) a sister, and Miss Helen R. Hoffa '19, a niece.

Our class, which matriculated 70 years ago, established the Bucknell Emeritus Club with its objectives and constitution, and hopes to meet again at next commencement. The fund chairman wrote to each member recently: "Please help me to celebrate my 90th birthday by 100% class member contributions for our dear Alma Mater's support. 'How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is, To have a thankless child'."

Dr. Lewis E. Theiss continues to bring sound gardening advice to thousands of gardeners and farmers through his magazine writing. Recent articles published include "Black Walnut—Every Home's Tree" in Organic Gardening and Farming for September, 1957; "Nut Trees for Pleasure, Palate, Profit" in Flower Grower for September, 1957; and "Filberts for the Home Grounds" in Pennsylvania Farmer for October 12, 1957.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Again a reminder of our Reunion Year. June is not far away. Please make plans to meet your classmates and friends on the campus. If you cannot be present send some news of yourself and family—your classmates all wish to hear about your children, grandchildren and yourself.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Avenue
Upland, Calif.

Christmas greeting cards were sent to all members of '05 Class—and from the 29 replies I have gleaned a few items of news as follows:

Miss Claire M. Conway, fund manager, continues to present the needs of Bucknell to members of the Class of '05. With 55% of our members contributing to the Alumni Fund, this puts our class near the top of all classes from 1868 to 1957.

Mrs. Blanche Stoner Wood, spent three weeks in Los Angeles, Calif., last fall and saw several old friends, among them our classmate Ruth Shorkley Bliss in Carpenteria at "Canyon Vista Lemon Ranch."

John B. Smiley reports enthusiastically of the attractiveness of the new buildings on the campus. He was able to make two visits there during 1957. He also tells of locating Charles Marsh at Tionesta, and having a visit with him which was very gratifying.

Donald McCain has the distinction of belonging to two Bucknell Alumni Clubs: New York and Philadelphia. He is a busy man and we are proud of what he has been able to do for Bucknell and his deep interest in the development there.

Ralph Elliott has moved from Van Nuys, Calif., to the Palace Hotel, 480 Elm St., San Diego, Calif. He says he likes it there very much.

Rev. John C. Sanders, though retired, is doing quite a bit of supply work in the churches around Chambersburg.

Ruth Stephens Porter, is active in the St. Petersburg, Fla., Alumni Club. She is deeply interested in writing books for children. Be sure to read the report of the St. Petersburg Alumni news in the ALUMNUS.

Edith Kelly Fetherston is a great help in keeping us informed of the wonderful growth and activities of Bucknell, as well as giving news of the members of '05 Class whom she happens to see from time to time.

I am glad to have greetings from our 1905 famous athlete Paul G. Smith. He was not able to attend our 50th anniversary. His recovery is a joy to all of us.

Word from The Rev. A. Pierce Waltz tells of the death of Mrs. Waltz, the former Anna Louise Langhorne, a special student at Bucknell in 1910 and 1911. Mrs. Waltz, 71, suffered a heart attack while teaching a Sunday School class. Our heartfelt condolences go out to Rev. Waltz and his family. Rev. Waltz's address is 3209 Tauroomee Ave., Kansas City 2, Kan.

CHARLES F. POTTER

Impossible to believe. But true. Charles Francis Potter and his good wife Clara celebrate their Golden Wedding in June. What an active life they have had and are still having. The story of CFP's current weekly activities is startling. He is indeed an intellectuals' intellectual, what with speaking at organizations which he founded (e.g. twentieth anniversary of The Euthanasia Society), officiating at the weddings of artists (e.g. Rex Harrison—a midnight Kendall-light service), debating all and sundry on radio and TV (I remember attending his celebrated debates with the late Dr. Stratton), and attending the annual meeting of "World Government Sponsors" of which he was co-founder.

He is certainly one of the most widely read of Bucknell authors. This fall Simon and Schuster will publish a deluxe revised edition of The Story of Religion, which has been in print in many languages for twenty-six years (1959 will see a paperback edition). His British publishers tell him his The Faiths Men Live By is having great success throughout the "Empire" and "making a jolly splash down undah." ((We recently visited the Memorial Chapel dedicated—in the Raleigh Pullen Memorial Baptist Church—to the late Edwin McNeill Potcutt, who published an enthusiastic review of Faiths on its first appearance). CFP has just finished the first of three volumes he is doing on the Dead Sea Scrolls.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Olive Richards Larders, our member with a Texas address, has written enthusiastically of her decision to be here for the big get-together. That is wonderful news and should bring immediate response from all her friends that they will be on hand to greet her.

Soon you will hear from our class president, Charles Nicely. Plans are afoot to have a fine reunion book. Let us make sure that there is a 100% response to the call for information.

Walter L. Noll died in New Smyrna Beach, Fla., on December 31, 1957, of a heart failure. After 35 years of teaching, he retired in 1941. Prior to his death, summers were spent at Lake Wallenpau-pack where Walter and his two sons had built a summer home. Winters were spent in Florida. He is survived by his wife, the former Mary B. Miller and four children. The children, all Bucknellians married to Bucknellians, are as follows: Margaret Ida '35 (married to Raymond Hunt '35), Clyde Miller '37 (married to F. Elizabeth Boyd '40), Charlotte Rose '39 (married to David M. Williams '38) and Walter LeRoy, Jr. '47 (married to Jean M. Taylor '47). Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to this fine family upon the first break in their family circle.

09 MRS. HOWARD HEADLAND

They all come to Florida eventually. At least that's the way the most of us who live here feel. Among 1909's latest arrivals are George Hilbish and wife who are in St. Augustine for the season and Helge (Chick) Florin who with his wife now resides at 7809 S. Causeway Blvd., St. Petersburg, Fla. We heartily welcome the latter to our city.

This brings me to boast here that at our recent alumni club dinner in honor of President and Mrs. Odgers, 1909 rang the bell for having present the most members of any class—George Bailets, "Chick" Florin, Sarah Headland and "Gib" Lyte.

In December a certain dull uneventful and plenty blue Monday morning just as we had finished hanging up the last piece of the family wash, in came to see us none other than John (Buck) and Mrs. Shott. A delightful surprise, indeed! In less time than it takes to tell it we were out of the doldrums. They can come again any time and welcome!

With regret we report that the Grim Reaper has garnered again from our class. Myra Magargle Chaffee died October 25, 1957, at the Memorial Hospital in Towanda. Myra was a member of the First Presbyterian Church there and for years had taught a boys' class in the Sunday school. She was also a member of the Missionary Society of that church, Order of the Eastern Star, American Legion Auxiliary and the Daughters of the American Revolution. We fondly remember Myra who graduated with our class Cum Laude as a sweet, unassuming and gentle person.

A new honor was accorded our classmate Allan G. Ritter, Esq., last October when he was made a 33rd degree Mason in Los Angeles.

For the remainder of 1958 here's this: ". . . Let us build into each wonderful new day so much of love to those about us, of joy for the privilege of service, of peace with God and man, of long-suffering when the trials of life may come, gentleness and goodness to all with whom our paths may cross, faith in God, meekness that we may remain humble . . ."

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

Robert J. Saylor, a teacher in the Harrisburg Schools for more than 40 years, died in December, 1957. He had been active in affairs of the Pine Street Presbyterian Church, Masonic Circles and activities of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg. He is survived by his wife and three children to whom our sympathy is extended.

Rev. William J. Schultz of Picture Rocks died recently.

Winnie V. Hardgrove writes enthusiastically of her trip to Europe last summer. Apparently she visited every available place of interest in London after which she took a fourteen-day bus trip through England, Scotland and Wales. From New Castle, England, she went by boat to Norway with its beautiful scenery and then to Copenhagen, Denmark, which she described as "the most beautiful city I have ever been in." Germany, Ireland, England, and France were visited before she embarked for New York and a stop-over with her son in Connecticut en route to her home in Akron, Ohio. In October Winnie was one of a party on a bus trip to the West Coast. Now she is planning a trip to Alaska for the coming summer and expects to leave June 24.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT

According to parliamentary procedure you take care of old business first. My old business is "The Left-overs." I want news and when folks are so kind and thoughtful to send me a card on vacation or talk to me in some way I think I should let others know of their thoughts and pleasures.

These are the "left-overs" from last fall:

Fred and Katie Iglar were in New Hampshire this summer where they were going to shepherd two churches in the White Mountains. It was their fifth summer at this place.

Had a card from Red and "Lib" Lowther. They are spending several weeks in Arizona visiting a daughter, Ruth '40, and family. They enjoyed several days at the Grand Canyon National Park. At reunion time we had the pleasure of meeting their other daughter, Ann '41, who lives in Harrisburg. She came up to our table and made herself acquainted. A nice gesture for the young people to even think of the "old folks."

Another person who looked me up was Edna Follmer Butt (Mrs. Cameron). Edna was a little girl who lived next door to Alice and Muff Scott in Milton. The girls visit Edna every year. I was delighted to see her again. She was celebrating her 35th reunion.

The Earle Bartholomews were in Hawaii this summer visiting some of their children. I understand that Earle, Pearl Ream, Eva Himmelreich, and Grace Wolfe had a wonderful time talking over old times at Lewisburg High. We saw Earle after 45 years.

Pop and I spent a few days in Harrisburg visiting the children. Saw and dined with the Heans and Mikles. Also attended the dedication of Bruce Butt's new home.

George Edward O'Brien, known to all of us as "Porky" passed away at his home in Vandergrift early in January after an illness of three weeks. "Porky", a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, had distinguished himself in athletics and continued his interest in the Bucknell athletic program after his graduation by maintaining regular membership in the Bison Club of Bucknell. He was a frequent visitor on the campus at the Bison Club breakfasts and was honored by the Club several years ago because of his outstanding athletic record. After graduation he became a general foreman in the Carnegie Steel Corp. at Vandergrift until his retirement when he became office engineer for the Pennsylvania State Highway Department, a position he held for the last nine years of his life. He is survived by his wife, the former Pauline Hamilton, and their two children to whom the heartfelt sympathies of the University are extended.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

That 45th draws nearer, June 6 to 8. Baker Bernhart wrote to Clay Sanders that he expects to be there, also that he may be retiring from active employment about that time. Jack Bogert and Raymond Goehring told Marwood Glover that they will pass the word along in their areas, New York City and Pittsburgh. Other chairmen so engaged are Earl Jackson, Jane Irey Rees, Hazel Galloway Hemphill, John Fetter, Richard Bowling, Ethel Hottenstein Miles, Carlton Hooker.

In Marwood's Christmas letter he warmed our hearts to some of the program for comfort and recreation: Friday evening banquet, living adjacently on the hill, and promise of a complete schedule in a letter to follow.

A grand letter to me from Joletta Arthur Rhoads, Macon, Ga., told of her good health; her husband's retirement from railroad work last summer, and some present activity in construction; her son, Walter, Jr. '39, who spent "two happy years at our Bucknell", of his family of "a lovely blond wife and three equally lovely blond daughters," residence, Isle of Hope, Savannah, Ga. "Macon is beautiful, a wonderful place to live, the camellia season just over, yards full of narcissus." Jo thinks she may not be able to come North in June but her heart will overflow with joy for all who can attend. My generous thanks, Mrs. R., for your letter of December 9. You help to make my chore as reporter tolerable.

Thus writes Marian Fischler to M. G. "I think it would be natural to assume that a woman who graduated from college 45 years ago would by this time have retired. However in my case that is not true. I stopped teaching several years ago because I was ill, and for about five years I was too ill to do any kind of work. At the end of that time chance took me into a newspaper office to substitute for someone else who was ill and who never recovered. Soon after that I found myself involved with two out-of-town newspapers, and that, of course, means attending all the things that happen insofar as two do not happen at once." Says Reporter C. L. S., lay aside that facile pen, Marian, and come to Lewisburg for a few day in June. Marian's town, Wellsboro.

J. Leslie McKeague has retired from his position as superintendent of the ammonia plant of Nitrogen Division, Allied Chemical, in Hopewell, Va. On December 30 more than 150 of his associates attended an affair in his honor for 35 years of service to the company. Brief talks were given by several employees, all emphasizing Leslie's industrial achievements and technical know-how. He was presented with a scroll signed by more than 350 co-workers. Besides, he was given a beautiful black walnut knee-hole desk as a gift from his industrial friends. The entire affair was tape recorded to be a lasting memento of the occasion.

"Highlight of the evening," said a Hope-well news item, "was McKeague's acceptance and words of appreciation." Fellow '13ers rejoice with you in this occasion honoring you as you mark your retirement, Leslie.

And that is the 1913 story as of January 20.

Christmas Greetings were received from Frances McNall, Raymond and Eva (Himmelreich '12) Apgar, George and Betty (Pfeegor I'09) Grove, Jack and Ruth (Hoffa) Rice, Florence Reimensnyder, and Marwood and Edna (Whittam) Glover '13.

Bess and Harry Stahler's card includes the news that Harry has retired after thirty-nine years as principal of Union High School, Union City, N. J. They have remodeled their summer home at Fayson Lakes, N. J., and have planned to make it their permanent home. Their new address is: Laurel Trail, Fayson Lakes, Butler, N. J.

Rabbi and Mrs. S. H. Markowitz spent the summer in Norway, Sweden and Denmark. The following are his comments on their trip.

"As delegates to the World Union of Progressive Judaism, we went to Amsterdam early in July. Since it was an opportunity, we made plans accordingly and spent eight weeks in Scandinavia. Among other reasons for the trip was the desire to express the gratitude every American should feel toward these small countries. We in America complained of rationing while they had the Nazis on their necks. Many of the heroic tales of resistance have yet to be written.

"A natural interest in the Co-operatives of Israel led also to an inquiry into the origin of the institution. Once again it was evident that no agency is immune to human frailty. Every movement very quickly suffers from the moral weaknesses of mankind.

"A summer visit to any part of the world does not justify any conclusion. But tentative assumptions are possible. One among others is worth recording. Americans might discover if they knew other nations more intimately that ours is not the only way in which man can do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with God."

We are saddened to have to report the death of Mrs. Karl W. Rippel (L. "Peg" Margaret Kreisher) at Fritch, Texas, on January 19, 1958, due to a heart attack. Survivors include our classmate, Karl W. Rippel and two grown children to whom sincere sympathy is extended.

15 MR. THOMAS B. WILLIAMS, President

Fairless Hills, Pa.

Lost from our mailing list (by a change of address) since 1946, Joe Logan has been relocated through a reunion with Tip Topham. Joe has retired and developed the interesting (and profitable) hobby of candy making under the name of Mayflower Chocolates. He now lives at 497 Biddle Ave., Pittsburgh 21. Welcome back, Joe!

16 THE REV. ERIC A. OSTERLE, D.D.
114 E. 182th St.
New York, N. Y.

I may catch the devil for this but here goes. I stole it from my wife's Christmas Greetings. Wife Helen's friend and our classmate Cecelia Kitlowski Starzynski, while in Colorado, came in contact with a large colony of Russians and now is studying Russian to be able to engage in conversation with her new friends. She is also tackling Spanish. The gal was a whiz in Greek. She took it with Tilton and me in the old Prep. And yes, with Stan Harris '18 and Russ Sanders. Cecelia's son Ted is still in the Naval Hospital in Philadelphia. In another year he will be out of the service. He is well up on plastic surgery. She promises to visit Dot Schnure and us in the Spring. You see I am going to get the news to you even if I have to steal it.

Other Bucknellians heard from this past Christmas were Dot Schnure, Gurney Sholl '10, Betty Grimm Lewis '42 and Tilton. Dot gave this reporter a nice pat on the back which we can always stand a bit of. We have not see Gurney and the former Ruby Pierson '10 since their wedding. Betty Grimm Lewis, roommate of our Mary Ellen wrote this "I certainly did enjoy the Bucknell reunion and most of all the reunion with 'Meo.' Love, Grimmie." This was the '42 reunion.

And did that mention of Kink Sprout '17 about his piscatorial veracity get a quick rebound. The guy sent me another picture of some big fish surrounded by his wife and son. Says he caught them on a bent hook and with one hand tied behind him.

It looks as if I will have to get another letter out to you in the fond hope that I can extract some news from you. Otherwise you will draw a blank on your column and I know you don't want that. Happy New Year.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Just received a nice note from Mary Maurer and they were the 4th couple who had the pleasure of helping to cut the wedding cake at the reunion. How could I forget them? Mary reports that Dutch is getting along O. K. and that he is following orders and taking things easy. That's good news!

When we were working on our reunion and wanted the Home Economic gals to come back, Frances Hilgert Higgs offered to write to them for me. She did a wonderful job and they surely co-operated. She heard from every one of them. A lot of them couldn't come so I thought you'd like to hear a little about them.

Gladys Morgan Mortimer: "Surely wish that I could come to B. U. on June 8 but doubt very much if I can make it this year. On Sunday night, April 14, our office was completely destroyed by fire along with the drugstore, hardware store and post office. No one knows the cause. We lost everything. Saved only our box of accounts. Earl and I were heartsick as it is tough to start all over from scratch just when we were thinking that in a few years we would be slowing up. There was no place to move in town so we moved the furniture out of the living room of our home and made it an inner office and rearranged the dining room furniture and used that for a reception room. I went to Butler the next day and got some drugs and instruments and that evening he had several patients. Naturally we have been more or less camping. Earl has been quite busy and seems to like it up here. I have been helping him in the office, writing letters, marking drugs, keeping accounts and have been on the road with the pigeons and in between times trying to do a little cooking and cleaning, etc. So sorry I can't come back but remember me to everyone at B. U. and do write and tell be about everyone."

Really I could not do justice to these letters. They were so wonderful and I had to hack them all to pieces to cut them for our report. You can see it's fun to hear from old friends. Why don't you write to a few?

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Dear Classmates: Once again time for news of the members of the Class of 1918, and once again I want to recall to your minds the fact that 1958 is our Reunion Year. Time flies and this is our 40th, if you can still count. And this is the one to attend—unfortunately we are all growing older and our abilities to travel are bound to lessen. In spite of anything any of you may say—we are getting older every day.

News is scarce. Seems I can always find something about some one in another class—and to you of our class who knew Sally (Park '17) Titterington I must report the death of her husband this last fall. Sally has lived in Ontario, Calif., for many years.

Back to Reunion. Plans are progressing and if you have not had a letter concerning them by this time you will receive it shortly. If you are asked to do something, please say yes—remember that this Reunion comes only once in a lifetime. Fortunately we have a number of classmates living in Lewisburg and vicinity and they are very busy getting plans set up for big doings down there. The dates are June 6-8, in case you have forgotten to put them down in your date book, and I certainly hope to be there to meet old friends. See you in June.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Sauers (Ruth E. Kelchner) reside at 553 Hill St., Reynolds-ville, where Mr. Sauers, a retired school administrator, spends his time in study and writing.

24 MRS. PAUL CUPP
(Louise Benschoff)
933 Murfield Rd.
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Word has just reached us of the death, on June 16, 1957, of Harold L. Shafer, Hughesville. We wish to extend our sympathy to the members of his family.

Lillian Greenland Williams and her husband, who is head of the English department at the State College, Superior, Wisc., are on leave of absence this year. Both are teaching English on Fulbright grants in Thailand.

Lois Hamblin Wendell writes "I finally sent stories I had written to the editor of Children's Religion, a Congregational methods magazine, and was asked to write junior worship stories for six months; that is a twenty-six week series." Congratulations, Lois!

The Rev. Malcolm V. Mussina, Ph.D., of 904 Louisa St., was elected president of the Williamsport Board of Education in December.

Jessie Reed Wendell, sister of Rev. Roland Wendell and sister in law of Lois Hamblin Wendell, died December 8, 1957, of a coronary embolism. Jessie led a full rich life and her many friends will miss her. She was employed by the Sonotone Corporation for 20 years, and had been known as "Martha Lane," the pen name she used in sonotone publications. She was known as a translator of Spanish poetry for the Hispanic Society publications; many of her translations have appeared in anthologies of poetry. Our deepest sympathy goes out to members of her family.

Mrs. J. Harry Haines (Miriam Halde-man), 414 Bendermere Ave., Interlaken, N. J., is kept quite busy with church, Sunday school, hospital, A. A. U. W. and social life. When I saw how busy she was, I appreciated all the more the answer I received to my card! They have one son, Don, who attended Bryant College of Business Administration in Rhode Island and who is now with Sears Roebuck Company. Recently, the family took a trip to Glacier Park, Lake Louise and Banff, Canada. Miriam's letter also contained news of six Bucknellians from other classes; news that I immediately sent to the class reporters. Thank you, Miriam!

Bob '25 and Mildred Houseman Shaffer of Ridley Park have a daughter Nancy who is a freshman at Bucknell and a son, Bob, Jr. '56 who is a 2nd Lieut., serving in transportation for Uncle Sam — stationed at Bordeaux, France.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

What a surprise to have a visit from Ruth Mandeville Aydelott from Seattle, Wash. She accompanied her husband east, on a business trip, and spent three days with me. After twenty-seven years, we had much to discuss. I proudly displayed our six months old grandson, son of our elder son Daniel, III, and his wife Pat. I talked up our 1960 Reunion and if she returns, you will find the same entertaining and delightful "Mandy."

Charlotte Bosler Ellis and her husband spent some time this summer in Minnesota and the Lake district. While there, she wrote Sugar in the Dough which she has dramatized and presented to many large audiences. The proceeds are donated to her favorite charities. At the State Music Convention, Charlotte was elected treasurer of that organization.

A letter arrived from Beatrice Mettler who was on a Christmas Carribean Cruise. It was a pleasant interlude from her busy life at Bloomsburg State Teachers College. Her master's degree was earned at the Universities of Pennsylvania and Johns Hopkins.

Greetings from the Whites—Ruth Keebler and Ted. For many years, they have been located at McDonough School for Boys in McDonough, Md., Ted as headmaster and teacher of U. S. history and "Keeb," a teacher of Spanish.

Our younger son, Robert, has received his discharge from the Air Force after four years of service and is once again working toward his degree at Bucknell—one more reason for extra trips to Lewisburg.

Goldina Guilford Jenkins '27 has a son, 13, and a daughter, 11. She has returned to the teaching profession.

Sara Walton Haines has a daughter Debbie in the freshman class at Bucknell.

As you notice, I missed the January issue due to no news received. Classmates, please drop a line to me. I enjoy hearing from you and our Bucknell friends look forward to reading the news.

Clyde George Learn, Jr.

It isn't often that we have a picture to send along to THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Clyde George Learn (Bunny) is the proud papa of a son "C. G.," four years of age. After thirty-one years with duPont, "Bunny" still swears it's the world's best organization. I'm sure the Learn's would like to hear from their many friends at 2016 Beech Rd., Richmond, Va.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Albert O. Dreher who passed away in Mount Holly, N. J., December 16. Albert was a teacher in the Rancocas Valley Regional High School for 26 years. He is sadly missed by all the faculty and students of the school. Albert's son, David Harrison, was graduated from Bucknell in 1953.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

George W. Hart is operations manager of the Research and Development Institute of the General Electric Company at Ossining, N. Y. His engineering career since leaving Bucknell includes commercial engineering management consulting, marketing and advertising, manager development and operations management. With such an outstanding background, he is well prepared for another activity to which he has recently been named, that of president of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association. In October, 1957, George and the former Eleanor Wassman were married and are now living at 22 Emwilton Place, Ossining, N. Y.

Amy Haldeman Roop now lives at 16 Reservoir Rd., West Chester.

"Abe" Sheckells, for the past five years, has been director of the Department of Religious Education for the New York State Baptist Convention, directing youth work in five hundred parishes. However, on June 16, 1957, he returned to the ministry of the First Baptist Church of Bridgeport, Conn., and is anxious to learn the whereabouts of Bucknellians in that area. His address—Washington and West Ave.

Caryl Dutton Slifer and husband, Ken, have recently "adopted" a girl from El Salvador who will enter the Baptist Institute at Bryn Mawr on February 1 to prepare for the missionary field. Among the many activities in which Caryl is occupied is the editing of a column for the Baptist state paper and serving as president of the Women's Baptist Missionary Society for New Jersey. Caryl's address is 177 Briar Hill Lane, Woodbury, N. J.

Pearl Miller Clark at 218 King St., Northumberland, writes that her son, Bill, has enrolled at Pennsylvania State University. Her daughter, Mary Ellen, is a high school student.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Our 30th Reunion is just around the corner. Brown Focht, our reunion chairman, is busy lining up committees to insure a good turnout and a rousing good time when we are on campus June 6, 7 and 8. When you are asked to put your shoulder to the wheel please do so with speed and dispatch.

In the near future you will be receiving a questionnaire prepared by our reunion book editor, Mrs. Robert W. Dill (Eleanor S. Miller). Please help to make the reunion a success by returning your questionnaire early.

More information will be coming to you by mail soon. Just be sure to circle the dates—June 6, 7 and 8—on your calendar now!

In July, 1957, Jason W. White became assistant professor of mathematics at Kutztown State Teachers College. He was a member of the Muhlenberg Township High School faculty for 29 years prior to his new appointment. He is married, has one daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, and lives at 1001 Elizabeth Ave., Laureldale.

29 MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Our president Paul Fink and fund manager Charles Kalp have been as busy as bees on our class project. We hope that you are co-operating in every way possible to put this program across.

Your reporter received a long and interesting letter from Horace ("Hop") Sheppard, who is associate professor of business education at New Jersey State Teachers College, Montclair, N. J. "Hop," his charming wife and three children, lead a most versatile life. They are all active in all phases of community life.

Elizabeth Sale Cox is living in College Park, Md., where her husband is professor of botany at the University of Maryland. In addition to her duties as a housewife, she finds time to write a number of poems, which have been published from time to time.

David Faul is living at Oneonta, N. Y. He is division power engineer with the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation.

Ethel Ream Sweger writes us that her oldest son is now in the Air Force. She is living in Camp Hill.

We are delighted to welcome the daughter of Geddes Simpson to the campus as a freshman. Geddes is head of the department of entomology at the University of Maine. He and his wife, the former Blanche Thomas of the Class of 1930, and their family live in Orono, Maine.

30

MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

George R. Huston passed away on November 24, 1957. Our sincere sympathy to his family.

Debby Roach, daughter of Mrs. Walter T. Roach (Alice Walker), Philadelphia, is a student at Bucknell.

Your reporter is still waiting patiently to hear from you all.

32

MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

We are sorry to inform you so belatedly of the death of Mrs. Howard H. Schure (Elizabeth M. Purdy) who died in her sleep, May 30, 1957. She had not been ill and her death was a great shock to her family and friends. She is survived by her husband and two children, Sally, 14, and James, 11, and her mother, Mrs. T. J. Purdy. Our belated, but deep sympathy is extended to them.

C. Richard Klapp of Watsontown died during October, 1957. He is survived by his wife, the former Loretta Shuman, and one son, to whom our belated sympathy is extended.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Class, please remember to write on your calendars now that our twenty-fifth class reunion is this June, 1958. Plan in advance to come and bring your family. The dates are Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 6, 7 and 8. Clayton Brouse, your president, and I intend to be on hand to shake your hands—and we have many more reliable helpers of our class—Louis Russo, general chairman; Phil Jones, Leland Vandermark, Mrs. Marie (Groff) Hester, Marty Lutz, Mrs. Julia (Hoffman) Beighley, William Buchanan, Hugh Marshall, Cam Rutledge, and many others. Our big meeting is on Saturday, June 7, at 2:00 p. m. at the Milton Country Club, called the Otzinachson Country Club. It will last from 2:00 p. m. until after dinner. This is our biggest reunion besides our 50th—beyond that the size of the class diminishes considerably. If we ever are to have a big reunion, this is the year, our 25th.

Also please answer the mail (sent you so we have a big write-up for our class in the June, 1958, issue).

Fred L. Englerth, M.D., of 306 South 3rd St., Harlingen, Texas, was recently one of two guest speakers at the National Contact Lens Congress held November 3 and 4 in New York City, November 17 and 18 in Chicago, and November 24 and 25 in Los Angeles. The honored guest speaker was Dr. Norman Bier of London, England, a brilliant contact lens specialist. Fred's topics were "Philosophy and Ethics in Fitting Contact Lens" and "Contact Lens in Monocular Aphakia" (one eye without a lens such as often after surgery for cataract). This spring he is to read a paper on contact lens to the eye society in Mexico City.

Jim Davis in August, 1957, had five days of a study-clinic experience at Indiana University at Bloomington, Ind. The clinic presented a new angle on Adult Education called temporarily "The Indiana Plan." Jim received two hours of credit for it which can be applied to a possible Dr. of Education degree.

Karen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred L. Englerth

The picture is Fred's daughter, Karen, at the age of 7 in a formal gown she wore at a surprise birthday party for Allene, Fred's wife. Fred and Allene recently took Karen to Los Angeles to see Disneyland.

MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Road
East Williston, L. I., N. Y.

I hope you classmates noted in the January ALUMNUS that we have two co-eds and four men students in this freshman Class of 1961—these young people are wished by all of us the best in their college careers.

Your reporter trusts you'll all remember the Alumni Fund and that you'll cast your ballots for Alumni Trustee before the May 15 deadline. Am awaiting suggestions from you regarding the use of our accumulated class fund when we reunite in June, 1959. Please let me know as I can notify Eddie Myers, class prexy, what your wishes are. Incidentally, if you'd like to make this a super-reunion let me know that, too, so I can get Sherb Walker and Harry Fithian, reunion chairmen, to put you to work.

HAROLD A. ENDLER

Major Harold A. Endler recently received the Commendation Ribbon at Fort Bragg, N. C., from Major General Robert E. Sink for meritorious service as executive officer to the XVIII Airborne Corps Surgeon. On February 4 Major Endler sailed on the S. S. United States for a three year tour of duty as operations and training officer for the 1st Medical Group at Verdun, France. For the record, Hal is a member of the Century Club with 126 parachute jumps to his credit. Married to the former Elizabeth McGowan the Endlers have two children, Patricia, 4 and Harold, Jr., 2.

35

MRS. PAUL L. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Gambriils, Md.

We are indebted to Forrest Brown for the excellent newsletter on campus life. We feel so much closer to B. U. through his evaluation of Bucknell activities. Thanks also to the Alumni Office for their most competent and thorough work, particularly in their addenda to news that makes deadlines too late for the reporter to do the write-up. Their Christmas gift to the reporters was a letter opener which we hope will be needed for many letters from '35ers.

Speaking of worries, Ed Hartman and I are concerned about the lack of support for the Alumni Fund among members of our class. We are going all out to get our class to improve its standing. Voluntary contributions to all phases of education must prove that this system can work in these critical times. All we ask is that you send some contribution—no matter how small. Our level is only 19 per cent when it should be 90!

Ed writes that he lives at Webster, N. Y., and is manager, Industrial Relations Plans Administration with Eastman Kodak. The Hartmans have three children; the oldest attends the University of Rochester where she is taking nursing education. They regret Bucknell could not offer this course.

I am grateful to those of you who have sent such encouraging letters. Please continue to write, even if it's just a line—I treasure every one!

Ann, Diane, Joe and Paul Deschanel

37

MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd.
Chester, Pa.

Just too late to be included in the last issue came a chatty letter from Frances Rockwell Dentler. Frances and husband Warren are living at 1903 College Drive, Victoria, Texas, where they are busy with choir activities, church work, and their newest hobby, square-dancing. Fact is, they have started a square-dancing club. Frances has had an interesting time of it since graduation. Always a bit of glamour in her pursuits. Her most prosaic job was school teaching, and even that was done for a time in Puerto Rico. Then there was airline hostessing and a radio job. Sounds like a satisfying life, Frances, even though you miss the snows of Pennsylvania. What's a little frozen rain? Now if only some of the rest of you would take pen in hand.

It always comes as a shock to me to discover that some of us have another generation old enough for college. (Already?) Marie Schaff Amish has a son in the freshman class. I remember George Marshall came back to our reunion all by himself because Eloise (Klinetob) was attending their daughter's high school graduation. There are some others, too, who are hoping college expenses will be tax-deductible. Over at the other end of the line, near the diaper and bottle stage, is Hazel Jackson Mielke, whose son James was a year old in January. Hazel, according to the reunion booklet, was holder of the title of PYCBMCN (Parent of the Youngest Child Born to a Member of the Class of '37). Any contenders?

(Editor's note—This is a good spot to add the following note). Mr. and Mrs. Willard H. Leavitt welcomed a son into their home on November 6, 1957. They live on Lake Road, R. D. 2, Ballston Lake, N. Y.

We were sorry to learn of the death of John E. Piatt on last August 9. Our sincere sympathy is extended to members of his family.

Some of you may be interested in knowing that one of Bucknell's adopted sons, Dr. Ivan Murray Rose, has retired as minister of the First Baptist Church in Philadelphia. Dr. Rose has been on the campus as a baccalaureate speaker. Some of you made First Baptist your church while doing graduate work in Philadelphia. Other Bucknellians know Dr. Rose more intimately, having served as his assistants during their seminary days. Among them are Bruce McGraw '39, Clarence Cranford '29 and Paul Humphreys '28.

I do hope I will hear from more of you. Even a new address is news, you know. And so helpful come next Christmas.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Some pleasant news has been received about three of our classmates:

William H. Dauberman has been promoted to the position of senior district engineer with the Westinghouse Corporation. He has been with the company since 1940 and taught at their technical school from 1942 to 1947. He is married to the former Helen Hisdorf, has three children, Susan, 11; Lucinda, 9; David 5; and lives at 4663 W. 226th St., Fairview Park, Cleveland 26, Ohio.

Abraham J. Zager was recently elected national president of his fraternity, Sigma Alpha Mu, at its 48th annual convention in Minneapolis, Minn. His election to the presidency of Sigma Alpha Mu follows many years of service as regional governor, national treasurer and vice president.

W. R. Peebles has been appointed Director of Management Development for International Latex Company, Dover, Del. Bill will be moving with his family from Hamilton Square, N. J., to the new location in the near future.

We are hard at work shaping up plans for the reunion. Don't forget! June 6-8 should be reserved for the trip to Lewisburg. Please mail your questionnaires for the Reunion Book to Isabelle Clouser, if you have not already done this.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

Sidney H. Levine has been appointed to the position of educational assistant at the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary. He has taken work at New York University toward his master's degree, and intends to finish his studies at Bucknell. He has one son, William, 11, and lives at 1731 Walnut St., Shamokin.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

A man we know, asked to give a reference for another acquaintance of ours, wrote this: "I don't know anything good about him—but then, I don't know anything bad about him, either." My dilemma is somewhat different—I don't know ANYTHING about the class to impart.

I take that back—there are some tidings, thanks to Christmas and notes enclosed with cards. Helen Sanders Christian writes that her two daughters keep her embroiled in activities auxiliary to theirs, probably busier than they are.

Les McDowell, his wife Jan, and their two daughters, Heather, 13, and Sheila, 11, are absorbed in their so-called spare time with their pre-Revolutionary house, of which there was a reproduction and short history on their Christmas greeting.

From the Dr. John C. Winters we learn that they are making plans to move back to Williamsport this summer, when Jack expects to be finished at the University of Pittsburgh. He will specialize in internal medicine.

Peregrinations and propinquity (I doubt if that is really a word, but it sounds good) have resulted, too, in encounters with Bucknellians, and such. Again in Ann Arbor this fall it was good to see Leah Decker Porter '28. She is a classmate of Miss Grace Cooley '26, who guided me and several others of us through Latin in the ninth grade. A Bucknell couple, Robert '45 and Leona Ervine Sprague '44, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were also on hand. Bob is the son of Professor F. A. Sprague.

During a trip to the University of Chicago just before Christmas I had a chance to talk with Dr. Robert E. Streeter '38, who is dean of the college there. Bob reports that the Chicago Alumni Club has been inactive lately, but here's hoping we'll be hearing soon of their activities.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Avenue
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Rev. John R. Lepke, near the close of a year's furlough from the mission fields of South Africa, finds he will not be returning there at this time and is settled in the parish ministry in Oconomowoc, Wis., in the beautiful lake region about 35 miles from Milwaukee. Much as they enjoyed the foreign missionary work, the family is enjoying the life there where they have a grand congregation, interesting church and social activities and a busy household. They find here far less social tension, but a much faster tempo of life. The teakettle is kept boiling at 30 Church St., Oconomowoc, Wis., ready for your knock on the door.

Thomas O. Meyer is associated with America's most crucial defense project as an engineer with the Missile and Ordnance Systems Department of the General Electric Company in Philadelphia. He is working on the development of the nose cone for the Atlas ICBM and Thor IRBM. A picture of Tom's and Marion's (Phillips '43) children appeared in the 1940 class column of the January issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Colahan (Gladys Chudomeika) and their two children, Christie, 1, and Laurie, 2, have moved to a new home. Their welcome mat is out for all visitors at 25 Meadow Lark Rd., Stratford, N. J.

A daughter, Marijane Minto, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zeller, III, on February 19, 1957.

Robert A. Stebbins is superintendent of the mill manufacturing rod, wire and wire products for the Bethlehem Steel Company at Johnstown. He is married to the former Donna R. Meaker and has three children: Lloyd, 14; Jane, 11; and Donna Jean, 7. The family home is at 603 Viewmont Ave., Johnstown.

That's all the news for now—how about dropping me a note!

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Must have been the rush of the preparations for Christmas that has prevented my hearing from anyone except my own circle of friends with whom I've always kept in touch. In this case, no news is not good news, so let's get with the writing, guys and gals, or this column will be rather sparse in news hereafter. Incidentally, our big old house with lots of room and plenty of yard space is always open to any Bucknellian. We're only 45 minutes from Philadelphia via the Schuylkill Expressway—6 miles above the Valley Forge Interchange, so if you're ever in this neck of the woods, please come see us, or, at least, give us a phone call.

Christmas cards with pictures of the children or the families are always so much fun to receive and one of the nicest surprises this year was a picture of the whole Bill Carson family (Betty Thomas). Bill and Betty and their two children, Patty, 12, and Kit, the new addition to the family, live at 811 W. Lawrence St., Mishawaka, Ind. In case you're wondering, Betty is still as beautiful as ever! I'm sure if my name were Carson, and I had a son, I couldn't have resisted calling him "Kit," either.

Since quite a bit of news was omitted in our Reunion report because of lack of space, I'd like to remind everyone that the Class of '42 is doing its best to populate future Bucknell classes with the honors for the most children from alums returning to the reunion going to Billy (Poling '43) Roy and Phil with 6! None at the Reunion had five but when it came to 4, you should have seen the hands go up! Didn't even bother to count the alums with 3! Know by the grapevine that there should be several new births reported in this issue, but without official notice, I'm afraid to print them. "All I want are the facts, ma'm," so let's hear from you.

43 MRS. EARLE E. BENTON
(Norene Bond)
231 Ivan Road
Radnor, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

S. Clinton Cowles, Jr., and Catherine T. Peck were married September 7, and are now living at 1653 Dewey Ave., North Bellmore, N. Y.

Dick Christenson is back in Germany for a couple years after a brief visit home last June. His address is: Hofriegel-skreuth Bei Munchen, Wolfratshausen Str. 150, Germany.

Also a new address for Bill Fairclough, although closer to home—Fox Hill Rd., Woodbridge, Conn.

In the new baby department, we have Lyndon Val, born on December 20 to Jeanne Greenig Reddick and her husband; and Ricky Crage, new son of Donna Perry Crage and her husband. It's a first for the Reddicks and a second for the Crages.

MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mrs. John N. Drake (Frances G. Mudd) reports that her husband is now a representative of Hayden, Stone & Co., stock brokers, in New York City. The Drakes live at Rio Vista, Sylvania Blvd., Alpine, N. J.

Nathaniel J. Satin, Jr. is associated with America's most crucial defense project as an engineer with the Missile and Ordnance Systems Department of the General Electric Company in Philadelphia. He is working on the development of the nose cone for the Atlas ICBM and Thor IRBM.

In October Dottie Heller flew to Belgium, Greece and Turkey. She also took a boat trip through the islands of Greece. Dot is working in the Philadelphia office of Sabena Belgian Airlines.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Arthur Adamson (Irene Bardwell) announce the birth of their fourth child, David Arthur, on December 16, 1957. Art is technical manager of the new Butadiene plant of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in Orange, Texas. The family home is at 2140 Yupon Rd., Orange, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McCrow (Betty Bausch) are parents of a fourth child, Leslie Helen, born November 29, 1957.

New addresses: Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Hughes (Gini Cushing), 4821 Belle Glade Dr., Richmond 28, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. G. William Runkle (Burney Brown), 244 Shaw Ave., Lewistown; Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Brennehan (Jeanne Beeler), R. D. 7, Lancaster; Louise Terrett, Tongue River Route, Miles City, Mont.

MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Sirianni (Mary Lou Jenkins) are now living in Titusville at 214 West Main St. They have three children—John, 7; Susan, 3 and James, 6 months. Mary Lou is looking forward to meeting other Bucknellians in the area.

MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Betty Wells)
31260 Westfield
Livonia, Mich.

The Curtis Athertons (Eloise Oram) are starting a new business, The Atherton Mfg. Co., Inc., 11 Edward St., Newburgh, N. Y. Their product is the "Log-Master"—finest fireplace tool ever invented. I'm impressed, and send best wishes in the new venture.

We are all saddened to learn of the passing of Audley Brindley, husband of Velma Boege Brindley. Vel's address is 27 Briar Brae Rd., Darien, Conn.

Jean Cober Crane's children
Laurie, Susan and Stevie

Mrs. Prescott Crane (Jean Cober) writes that Pres is an auditor for National Broadcasting Company in New York City, and that along with Laurie, 9; Susan, 5; and Stevie, 3, they reside at 236 Kensington Rd., Lynnbrook, N. Y.

The Charles Baird family (Norma White) have spent their third Christmas in England. "Princess Phoebe," a Dutch Barge dog, is a new addition to family, and they are all planning to be in the States on home leave next summer.

Another canine addition is announced at the Gene Troutman's (Jeanne Boden) —"Touche," a gray French poodle. Daughters Gayle, 5th grade; Jaynie, 3rd grade, and Paige, still Mama's helper at home, round out the family.

Births: Nancy Jane, born November 10, 1957, to Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Reifsnnyder, Jr. (Betty Wynn), 97 Priscilla Lane, Plymouth Meeting; and Robert Fliinn Grenhart, III, born December 30, 1957, to Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Grenhart (Cathy Casselman). A daughter, Susan Langham, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fitz R. Walling on April 10, 1957. The Wallings recently moved into their new home at R. D. 1, Lewisburg.

ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Hi ho, aloha, and all that. After missing two straight issues of this chronicle, we herewith return. Call it a reason or an excuse—I have a good one. It there is just one post card asking what it is, I'll set forth the same at some length in the next issue. (A safe proposition. The mail volume has been exactly schlock, as, no doubt, are these outpourings obiter made.)

Just for the record, we must add one name of a good and true classmate who was at the tenth reunion last June, but whose name did not appear in the report thereof. She is Mary Frederick Keon, who came all the way from R. D. 2, Lansdale. Freddy, the omission rends our collective soul. Someone messed up, not I.

A. Thomas Wilson, at age 35, has become U. S. Commissioner for the Middle District of Pennsylvania. Tom appears to be one of the youngest men ever to hold the position, which empowers him to sit as a magistrate in cases involving persons charged with violating the federal laws, also to hear cases of petty offenses occurring on the U. S. Penitentiary reservation and prison farm at Lewisburg (not to be confused with alma mater). In addition to practicing law in Lewisburg, Tom also teaches in the Political Science Department at B. U. Tom is married to the former Doris Ranck '43, and lives at 25 South 16th St., Lewisburg. The Wilsons have three children—Michael, 8; Martin, 5, and Kathleen, 1.

Clarence S. Obitz ("Slats"), wife Marie and daughter Judy (3) have returned States-side from an engrossing few years' stay in Brazil, where Slats was employed in work for the U. S. Government. They are now at home in Eugene, Oregon—2124 Floral Hill Drive. Slats has resumed teaching at a vocational school in that city. He got out a Forrest Brown-type Christmas letter that reads something like a domesticated Mickey Spillane job—revolutions, bullet holes, flying over the Andes, hitting Trinidad, the Virgin Islands, etc. Copies on request.

The 1947 Reunion Book has not had the newsstand demand that we envisioned while impaling our efforts on every page. Copies of same may be had by writing to the Alumni Office. If you don't give a hang about those 288 10 year biographies, we can only weep, but silently.

Union, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE, 1958

Jim and I are leaving Jeffrey with his grandparents and will be up in Lewisburg for our reunion—June 6, 7, 8—please come—I'd love to see you—do you remember our cheer?

John H. Mudd, Esq., has been named a partner in the law firm of Semmes, Bowen & Semmes as of January 1, 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon (Charlotte E. Taylor) announce the birth of a son, Roderick Duncan, on November 7, 1957. He joins Bonnie, 13; Lester, 10; Taylor, 4 and Ruth, 2. Mr. Gordon is minister of education at the First Baptist Church at Bloomington, Ind.

On December 14, 1957, William J. Sauers and Grace A. Bogenholm of Middletown, Ohio, were married. Bill is a medical technician at the Middletown Hospital. The newly-weds will make their home at 603 15th St., Middletown, Ohio.

Stanley E. Brush is studying at the Hartford Seminary Foundation during a one-year furlough from his teaching job in West Pakistan. He plans to visit Bucknell next spring, before his return to West Pakistan, so that his two daughters may see his Alma Mater.

BIRTHS:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Cowdrick '49 (Gloria Burkhardt) wrote me at Christmas that a son, Robert, Jr., was born to them on August 28, 1957. Their daughter, Kathy, is 3 now—they're all living at 834 N. 26th St., Allentown.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. List (Bette Hoile) announced on their Christmas card the arrival of Karen on November 22, 1957. She joins a brother, Robbie.

A very cute announcement came from Nita Coleman Schaffer—the arrival of her third son, Kenneth Jay, on December 30, 1957. His brothers' names are Tommie, 4½ and Jimmie, 6½. Nita and her husband, Norman, are going to try to make our reunion.

Ruth Nauf Hucks wrote me that their first born, Jane, arrived on September 17, 1957. She and her family are now living at R. D. 3, Somerville, N. J.

Trudy Vogel Graham, in her yearly Christmas letter, wrote of the arrival of Thomas Henry on May 21, 1957. He has a sister, Trudy Christine, who was two years in December. The family is at home at 1527 Hudson Dr., Tempe, Ariz.

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marlynn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Ray Heckman is now on the West Coast flying for American Airlines. His address is 8514 Rindge Ave., Venice, Calif. He is rapidly becoming acquainted with the other Bucknellians on the West Coast through contact with George Hardie, chairman of our Bucknell Alumni Club of Southern California, who is flying for United Airlines.

Weston H. Jenkins, now with the Corning Glass Works, gave an unusual lecture-demonstration at Bucknell, October 11, 1956, entitled "What's New in Glass?" The program was sponsored by the Bucknell chapter of the Sigma Pi Sigma and held in the new Olin Science Building.

Jean E. Lindenberger is now Mrs. J. Richard Gerberich and is living at Mount Joy.

Robert B. Schey has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

Or, rather, I should say our two sleeping beauties. The furry one is Bridget. The one with the delicious thumb is Jeff.

Dr. Harry C. Fegley and Carol F. Hill were married June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. William Reitz (Bobbie Maurer '53) now own a home located at Nelson and Hazel Avenues, Vineland, N.

We Need A Revival of A Respect For Learning

Time was when "alumnus" was only a status term, a designation of having spent four years on a college campus. Today, "alumnus" should mean a man, (or a woman) with a mission and a function important to survival of the values we prize and to survival of our way of life itself. He is a member of a minority (85% of Americans never went to College—only 6 out of a hundred have college degrees) who should produce and multiply and, above all, improve his kind by encouragement of young people along the path of learning.

The alumnus should of all people in our country appreciate the intellectual heritage—the faith in education—that has enriched our western world. He should reread now and again an early and simple expression of that heritage and faith. In the Dialogues, Socrates says to Meno:

"Some things I have said of which I am not altogether confident. But that we shall be better and braver and less helpless if we think we ought to inquire, than we would have been if we indulged in the idle fancy that there was no knowing and no use in searching after what we know not;—that is a theme upon which I am ready to fight, in word and deed, to the utmost of my power."

And we are today "better and braver and less helpless" because the monastics linked their faith in God with faith in education and preserved those very words of Socrates and preserved learning in general when barbarian hordes brought on the Dark Ages. We are today "better and braver and less helpless" because in the twelfth century men who loved learning established universities at Bologna, Paris, Oxford, Cambridge—because a renaissance of learning occurred in which the da Vincis, the Michelangelos, the Erasmuses, the Copernicuses, the Galileos, the Francis Bacons, the Newtons, the Harveys, descarteses, the Pascals—the list is long—painted and did sculpture and criticized and wrote and philosophized, and started intellectual revolutions, and founded scientific societies, and generally practised the arts that befit free men.

We are today "better and braver and less helpless" because Thomas Jefferson had a higher education (William and Mary Class of 1764) equal to the task of writing the Declaration of Independence; because James Madison (College of New Jersey Class of 1773) mastered the liberal arts well enough to father the Constitution of the United States—because today in colleges and universities around the country and the free world there are men and women (all alumni themselves) who do basic research, build cyclotrons, know the implications of E=MC², and come up with the know-how to enable the free world to defend itself.

Certainly some 17,000 of us are "better and braver and less helpless" because 112 years ago James Moore, III, founder of Bucknell, and his associates resolved that there be at Lewisburg "an institution of the highest order."

"What happens to American education will eventually happen to America" is more than a slogan. It is a sound prediction. And what happens at Bucknell will make a difference in the total outcome. We may not be able to affect materially the future of every institution of higher education in this country, but Bucknell deserves our proud allegiance, and through it we can demonstrate that "Knowledge is power" both to survive and to grow in strength.

ON THE COVER — "American Higher Education 1958" is the title of the special supplement bound into this issue. Bucknell Alumni will be part of 1,350,000 college alumni who will receive this supplement in 152 other alumni magazines.

The back cover lists alumni week end highlights.

ALUMNI WEEK END	3
EDITOR'S NOTES	4
NEWS FROM THE REUNION CLASSES	37-39

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930, at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act, of August 24, 1912.

ALUMNI WEEK END

Program for 108th annual alumni celebration offers a variety of entertainment for the entire family.

REPORTS from distant cities, villages and towns indicate that interest in the annual journey to the 300 acres and Lewisburg is mounting daily. Make plans now to be on the campus June 6-9 and renew your youth, enrich your years, and witness Bucknell's growth.

As usual, week end sleeping accommodations will be available in the dormitories for those who make their reservations early. Reunion classes have already received their reservation forms. All others should return to us the reservation coupon shown on this page.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6

If you plan to arrive on Friday, be sure to relax from your trip with a refreshing dip in the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool. Don't forget to bring along your cotton bathing togs, since wool suits will not be permitted. Following your swim, meet with the gang for a bull session and a cup of coffee at The Bison, next to the old Sigma Chi House, now Seventh Street House. It's the ideal spot to reminisce about those bygone days.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7

A glance at the program for Saturday is conclusive evidence of a busy day. Actually, there will be many opportunities during the day for relaxing, sight-seeing and enjoying the fellowship of classmates.

Beginning with the 8:00 A. M. Bison Club Breakfast (open to all Alumni and guests) at the Lewisburg Club or the Phi Beta Kappa Breakfast (open to those eligible) at St. Andrews Episcopal Church at 8:30 A. M., the day's program is underway.

The Annual Alumni Assembly, to be held in the Olin Science Building at 9:30 A. M., affords every Alumnus an opportunity to share in the growth of The General Alumni Association and the progress of his Alma Mater. A feature of the morning program will be the class reunion meetings at 10:30 A. M. Classes reuniting include the Emeritus Club, 1903, 1908 (Golden Anniversary), 1913, 1918, 1923, 1928, 1933 (Silver Anniversary), 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953 and 1957 (First Anniversary).

A special feature of the Saturday program will be the laying of the cornerstone of the University's largest classroom building, Coleman Hall. Dr. Charles R. Horn, president of the F. W. Olin Foundation, President Merle M. Odgers, members of the Board of Trustees and University officials will be present. A gift of $1,475,000 from the F. W. Olin Foundation has made possible this new academic structure named in honor of Dr. William H. Coleman, vice president of the University.

At the conclusion of the cornerstone laying, reunion classes will assemble and parade by classes to Davis Gymnasium for the Alumni Reunion Luncheon at 12:45 P. M. Over 1,000 Alumni will hear President Odgers' State of the University address and see the presentation of special awards to three outstanding Alumni.

Class socials at 3:00 P. M. bring the afternoon activity to a close. The locations of the class socials will be printed in the programs available at the registration desks in the Carnegie Building.

Fraternity and sorority symposia begin the evening festivity at 6:00 P. M., followed at 8:30 P. M. by the entertaining, modern, French comedy, "Thieves' Carnival," by Jean Anouilh. The play will be presented in the Lewisburg Joint High School Auditorium and will be produced by Cap and Dagger. The Alumni Jamboree, the all-campus get-together, will provide light entertainment and dancing at 9:00 P. M. in Davis Gymnasium. Plan to attend both the Cap and Dagger production and the Alumni Jamboree for an enjoyable evening.

SUNDAY, JUNE 8

Baccalaureate for the graduating seniors on Sunday at 8:00 P. M. will spotlight the Sunday program with The Reverend Doctor Carrol O. Morong, Headmaster of the Peddie School, delivering the sermon.

MONDAY, JUNE 9

Commencement exercises on Monday at 10:00 A. M. in Davis Gymnasium will be the final feature of the week end. Dr. Harold W. Dodds, former president of Princeton University, will deliver the Commencement address and will receive an honorary degree. Honorary degrees will also be given to The Reverend Dr. Morong; Mr. Ralph B. Derr '17, manager of Chemical Products Sales; Dr. Morris D. Hooven '20, chief electrical engineer of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company of Newark, N. J.; Mr. Harry G. Schad, vice president of the Atlantic Refining Company and member of Bucknell University's Board of Trustees; and General Thomas D. White, chief of staff, United States Air Force.

It's going to be a great week end on the Bucknell campus—one you can't afford to miss. Make your reservation today.

BUCKNELL University has joined forces with 152 other institutions of higher education in this country and abroad in a sponsorship of the following special survey of "American Higher Education, 1958." This 32-page supplement is an attempt on the part of a group of alumni editors to tell the story of American higher education in all its national diversity, strength, urgency and opportunity. We hope it provides the perspective that shows Bucknell in its world orientation.

If THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS has done its job, you know what Bucknell is attempting in action and planning, and it is from this information that you, as alumni, must base your responsibility to your Alma Mater.

In the following 32 pages you may look in vain for direct mention of Bucknell University. You will find no illustration specific to our campus or activities. But alongside many paragraphs and many photos you will find an implicit check mark of relevance. Named or not, Bucknell University is there.

AMERICAN HIGHER EDUCATION 1958

ITS PRESSING PROBLEMS AND NEEDS ARE EXCEEDED ONLY BY ITS OPPORTUNITIES

THIS is a special report. It is published because the time has come for colleges and universities—and their alumni—to recognize and act upon some extraordinary challenges and opportunities.

Item: Three million, sixty-eight thousand young men and women are enrolled in America's colleges and universities this year—45 per cent more than were enrolled six years ago, although the number of young people in the eighteen-to-twenty-one age bracket has increased only 2 per cent in the same period. A decade hence, when colleges will feel the effects of the unprecedented birth rates of the mid-1940's, today's already-enormous enrollments will double.

Item: In the midst of planning to serve more students, higher education is faced with the problem of not losing sight of its extraordinary students. "What is going to happen to the genius or two in this crowd?" asked a professor at one big university this term, waving his hand at a seemingly endless line of students waiting to fill out forms at registration desks. "Heaven knows, if the free world ever needed to discover its geniuses, it needs to do so now." President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California puts it this way: "If we fail in our hold upon quality, the cherished American dream of universal education will degenerate into a nightmare."

Item: A college diploma is the sine qua non for almost any white-collar job nowadays, and nearly everybody wants one. In the scramble, a lot of students are going to college who cannot succeed there. At the Ohio State University, for instance, which is required by law to admit every Ohioan who owns a high-school diploma and is able to complete the entrance blanks, two thousand students flunked out last year. Nor is Ohio State's problem unique. The resultant waste of teaching talents, physical facilities, and money is shocking—to say nothing of the damage to young people's self-respect.

Item: The cost of educating a student is soaring. Like many others, Brown University is boosting its fees this spring: Brown students henceforth will pay an annual tuition bill of $1,250. But it costs Brown $2,300 to provide a year's instruction in return. The difference between charges and actual cost, says Brown's President Barnaby C. Keeney, "represents a kind of scholarship from the faculty. They pay for it out of their hides."

Item: The Educational Testing Service reports that lack of money keeps many of America's ablest high-school students from attending college—150,000 last year. The U. S. Office of Education found not long ago that even at public colleges and universities, where tuition rates are still nominal, a student needs around $1,500 a year to get by.

Item: Non-monetary reasons are keeping many promising young people from college, also. The Social Science Research Council offers evidence that fewer than half of the students in the upper tenth of their high-school classes go on to college. In addition to lack of money, a major reason for this defection is "lack of motivation."

Item: At present rates, only one in eight college teachers can ever expect to earn more than $7,500 a year. If colleges are to attract and hold competent teachers, says Devereux C. Josephs, chairman of the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, faculty salaries must be increased by at least 50 per cent during the next five years. Such an increase would cost the colleges and universities around half a billion dollars a year.

Item: Some critics say that too many colleges and universities have been willing to accept—or, perhaps more accurately, have failed firmly to reject—certain tasks which have been offered to or thrust upon them, but which may not properly be the business of higher education at all. “The professor,” said one college administrator recently, “should not be a carhop who answers every demanding horn. Educational institutions must not be hot-dog stands.”

Item: The colleges and universities, some say, are not teaching what they ought to be teaching or are not teaching it effectively. “Where are the creative thinkers?” they ask. Have we, without quite realizing it, grown into a nation of gadgeteers, of tailfin technicians, and lost the art of basic thought? (And from all sides comes the worried reminder that the other side launched their earth satellites first.)

THESE are some of the problems—only some of them—which confront American higher education in 1958. Some of the problems are higher education’s own offspring; some are products of the times.

But some are born of a fact that is the identifying strength of higher education in America: its adaptability to the free world’s needs, and hence its diversity.

Indeed, so diverse is it—in organization, sponsorship, purpose, and philosophy—that perhaps it is fallacious to use the generalization, “American higher education,” at all. It includes 320-year-old Harvard and the University of Southern Florida, which now is only on the drawing boards and will not open until 1960. The humanities research center at the University of Texas and the course in gunsmithing at Lassen Junior College in Susanville, California. Vassar and the U. S. Naval Academy. The University of California, with its forty-two thousand students, and Deep Springs Junior College, on the eastern side of the same state, with only nineteen.

Altogether there are more than 1,800 American institutions which offer “higher education,” and no two of them are alike. Some are liberal-arts colleges, some are

WITH growth have come problems for the colleges and universities. One of the most pressing, today, is swelling enrollments. vast universities, some specialize in such fields as law, agriculture, medicine, and engineering. Some are supported by taxation, some are affiliated with churches, some are independent in both organization and finance. Thus any generalization about American higher education will have its exceptions—including the one that all colleges and universities desperately need more money. (Among the 1,800, there may be one or two which don't.) In higher education's diversity—the result of its restlessness, its freedom, its geography, its competitiveness—lies a good deal of its strength.

AMERICAN higher education in 1958 is hardly what the Puritans envisioned when they founded the country's first college to train their ministers in 1636. For nearly two and a half centuries after that, the aim of America's colleges, most of them founded by churches, was limited: to teach young people the rudiments of philosophy, theology, the classical languages, and mathematics. Anyone who wanted a more extensive education had to go to Europe for it.

One break from tradition came in 1876, with the founding of the Johns Hopkins University. Here, for the first time, was an American institution with European standards of advanced study in the arts and sciences.

Other schools soon followed the Hopkins example. And with the advanced standards came an emphasis on research. No longer did American university scholars simply pass along knowledge gained in Europe; they began to make significant contributions themselves.

Another spectacular change began at about the same time. With the growth of science, agriculture—until then a relatively simple art—became increasingly complex. In the 1850's a number of institutions were founded to train people for it, but most of them failed to survive.

In 1862, however, in the darkest hours of the Civil War, Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Land-Grant Act, offering each state public lands and support for at least one college to teach agriculture and the mechanic arts. Thus was the foundation laid for the U. S. state-university system. "In all the annals of republics," said Andrew D. White, the first president of one institution founded under the act, Cornell University, "there is no more significant utterance of confidence in national destiny, out from the midst of national calamity."

NOW there was no stopping American higher education's growth, or the growth of its diversity. Optimistically America moved into the 1900's, and higher education moved with it. More and more Americans wanted to go to college and were able to do so. Public and private institutions were established and expanded. Tax dollars by the millions were appropriated, and philanthropists like Rockefeller and Carnegie and Stanford vied to support education on a large scale. Able teachers, now being graduated in numbers by America's own universities, joined their staffs.

In the universities' graduate and professional schools, research flourished. It reached outward to explore the universe, the world, and the creatures that inhabit it. Scholars examined the past, enlarged and tended man's cultural heritage, and pressed their great twentieth-century search for the secrets of life and matter.

Participating in the exploration were thousands of young Americans, poor and rich. As students they were acquiring skills and sometimes even wisdom. And, with their professors, they were building a uniquely American tradition of higher education which has continued to this day.

OUR aspirations, as a nation, have never been higher. Our need for educational excellence has never been greater. But never have the challenges been as sharp as they are in 1958.

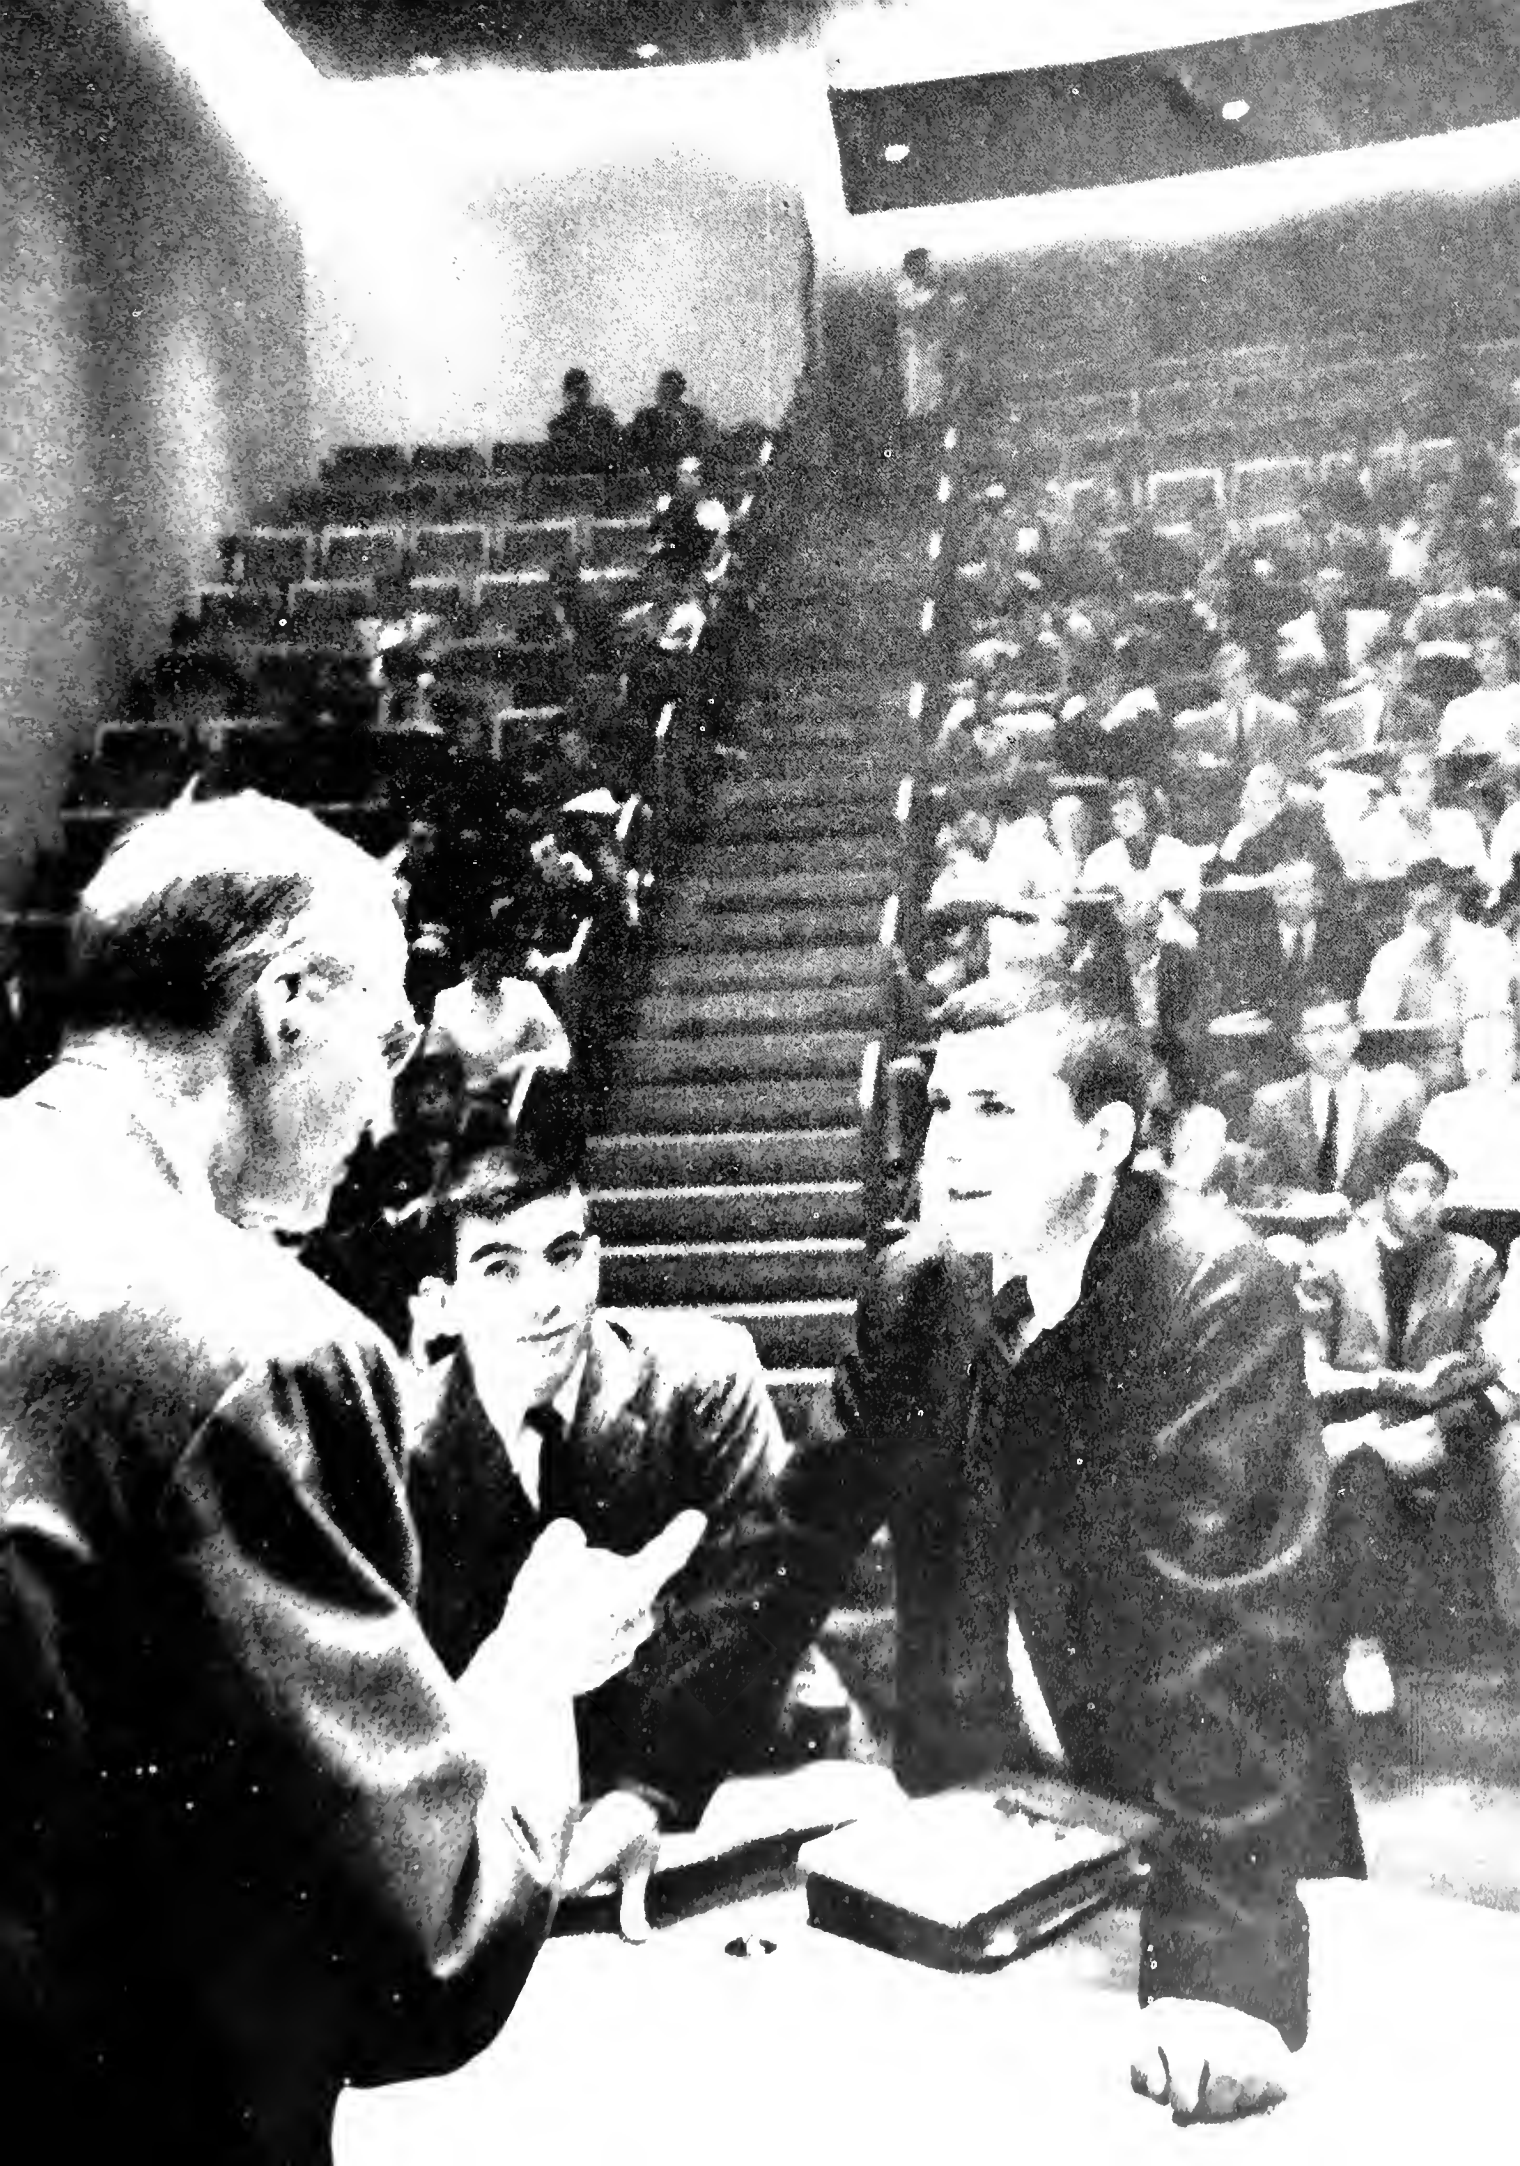

Look at California, for one view of American education's problems and opportunities—and for a view of imaginative and daring action, as well.

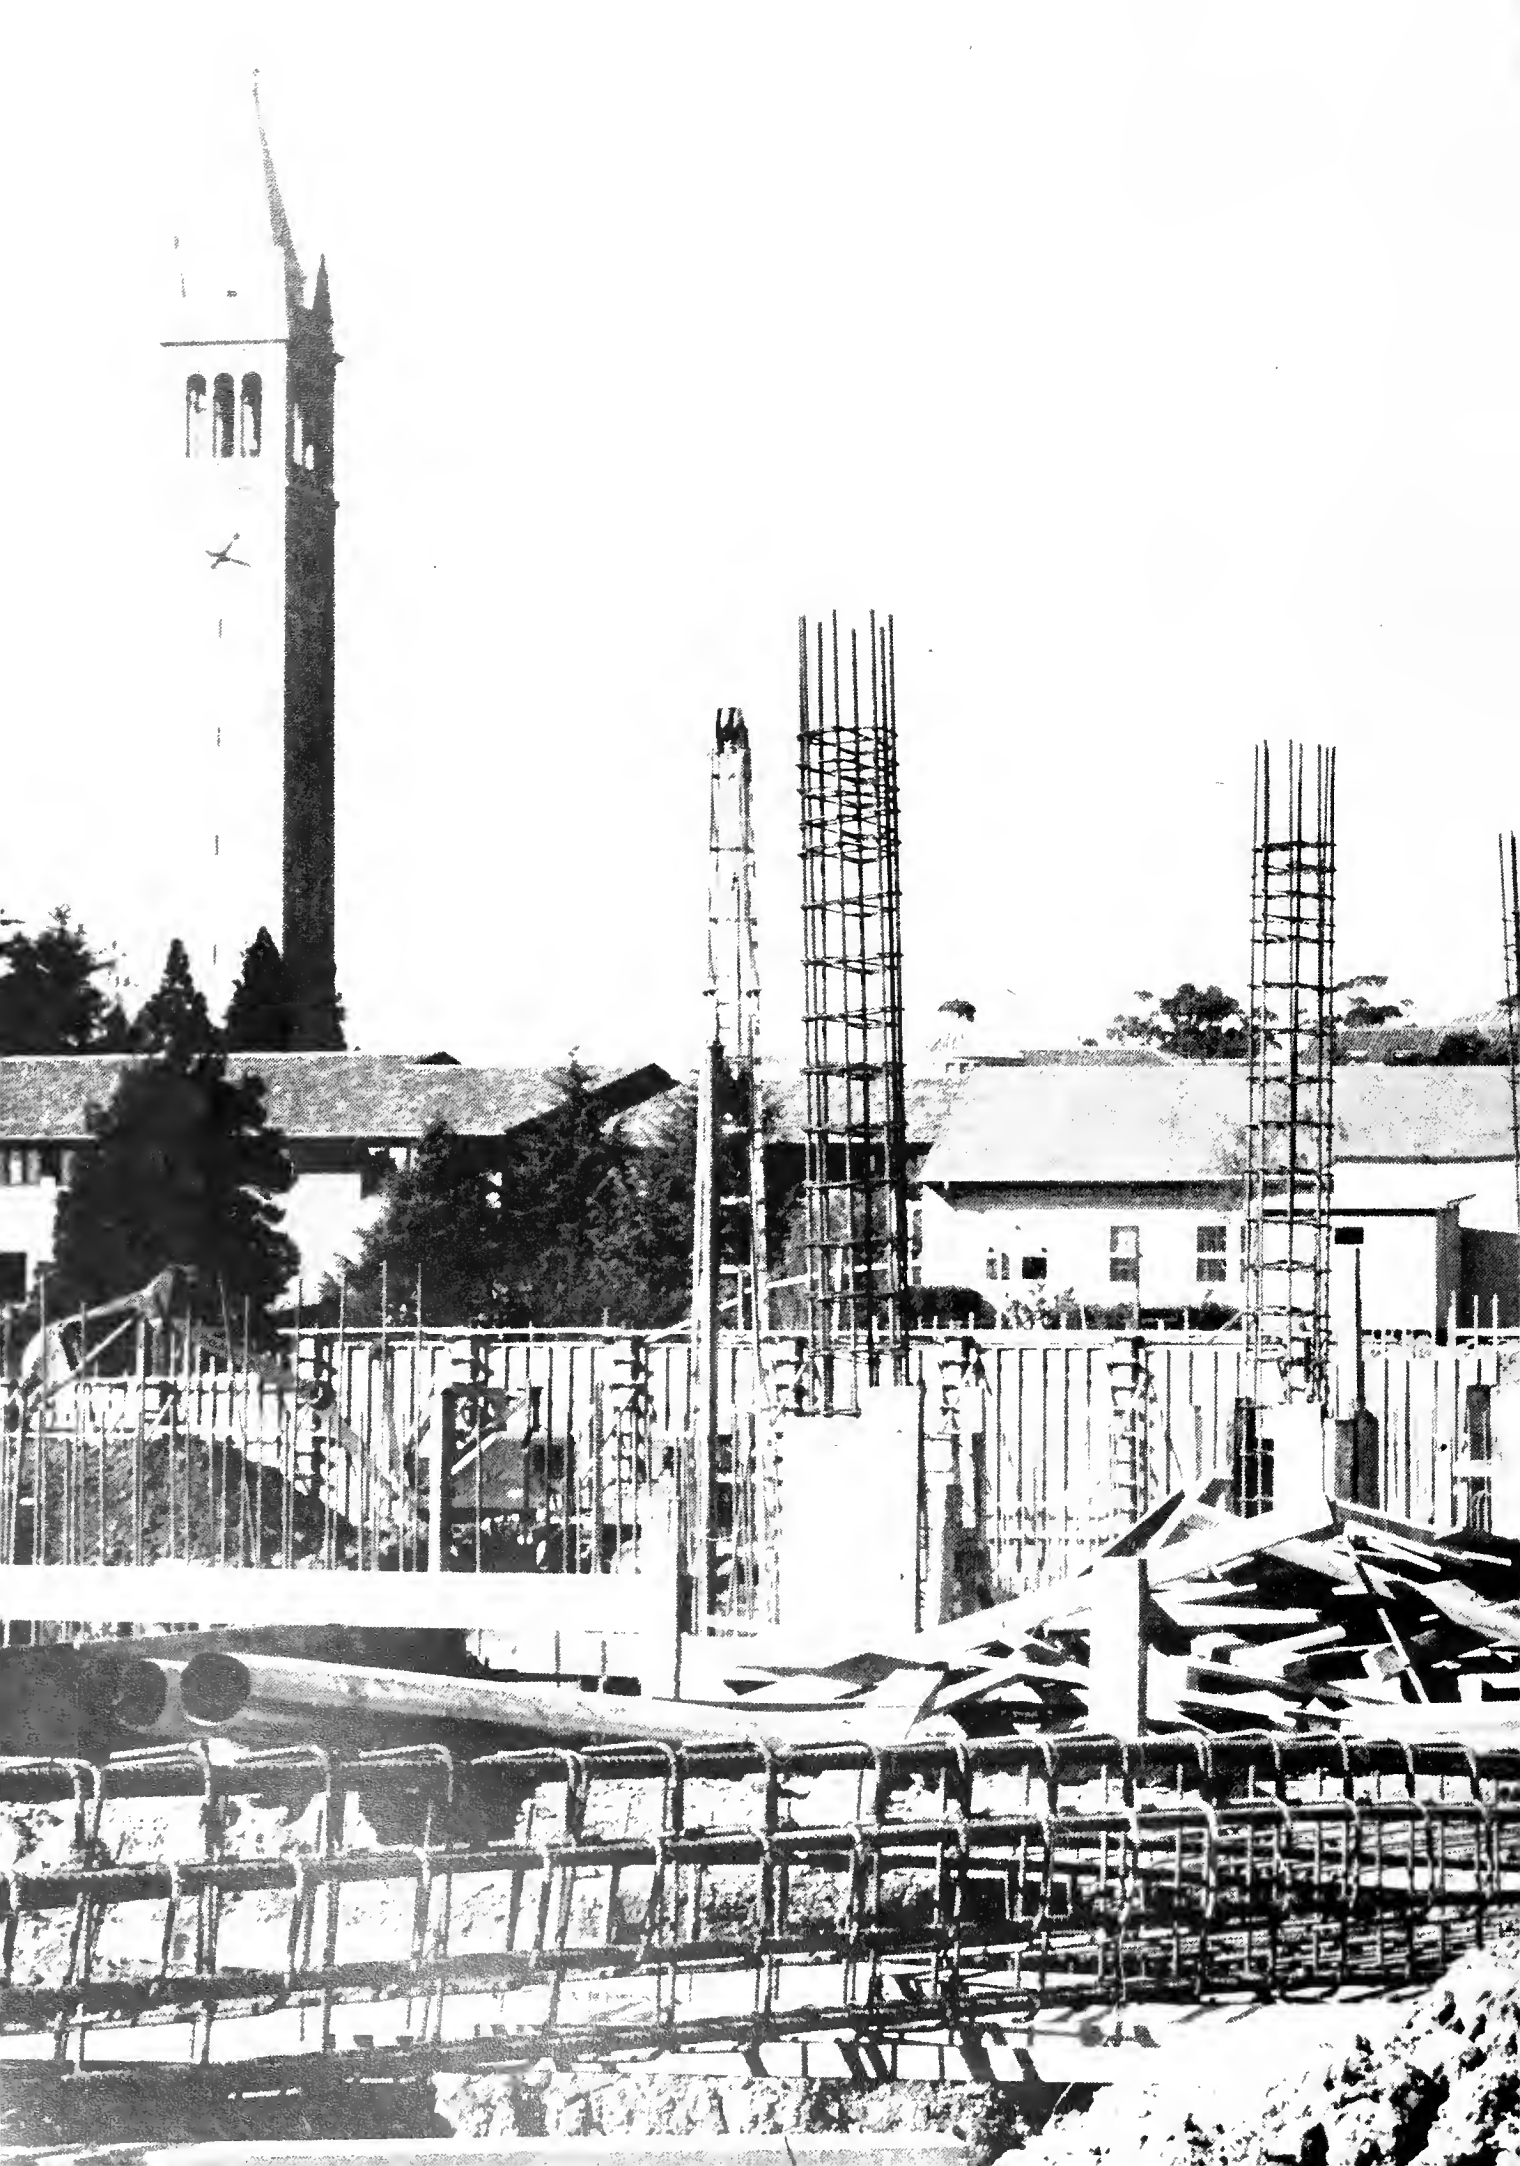

Nowhere is the public appetite for higher education more avid, the need for highly trained men and women more clear, the pressure of population more acute. In a recent four-year period during which the country's population rose 7.5 per cent, California's rose some 17.6 per cent. Californians—with a resoluteness which is, unfortunately, not typical of the nation as a whole—have shown a remarkable determination to face and even to anticipate these facts.

They have decided that the state should build fifteen new junior colleges, thirteen new state colleges, and five new campuses for their university. (Already the state has 135 institutions of higher learning: sixty-three private establishments, sixty-one public junior colleges, ten state colleges, and the University of California with eight campuses. Nearly 40 cents of every tax dollar goes to support education on the state level.)

But California has recognized that providing new facilities is only part of the solution. New philosophies are needed, as well.

The students looking for classrooms, for example, vary tremendously, one from the other, in aptitudes, aims, and abilities. "If higher education is to meet the varied needs of students and also the diverse requirements of an increasingly complex society," a California report says, "there will have to be corresponding diversity among and within educational institutions. . . . It will not be sufficient for California—or any other state, for that matter—simply to provide enough places for the students who will seek college admission in future years. It will also have to supply, with reasonable economy and efficiency, a wide range of educational programs.”

Like all of the country, California and Californians have some big decisions to make.

DR. LEWIS H. CHRISMAN is a professor of English at West Virginia Wesleyan, a Methodist college near the town of Buckhannon. He accepted an appointment there in 1919, when it consisted of just five major buildings and a coeducational student body of 150. One of the main reasons he took the appointment, Dr. Chrisman said later, was that a new library was to be built “right away.”

Thirty years later the student body had jumped to 720. Nearly a hundred other students were taking extension and evening courses. The zooming postwar birth rate was already in the census statistics, in West Virginia as elsewhere.

But Dr. Chrisman was still waiting for that library. West Virginia Wesleyan had been plagued with problems. Not a single major building had gone up in thirty-five years. To catch up with its needs, the college would have to spend $500,000.

For a small college to raise a half million dollars is often as tough as for a state university to obtain perhaps ten times as much, if not tougher. But Wesleyan’s president, trustees, faculty, and alumni decided that if independent colleges, including church-related ones, were to be as significant a force in the times ahead as they had been in the past, they must try.

Now West Virginia Wesleyan has an eighty-thousand-volume library, three other buildings completed, a fifth to be ready this spring, and nine more on the agenda.

A group of people reached a hard decision, and then made it work. Dr. Chrisman’s hopes have been more than fulfilled.

So it goes, all over America. The U. S. Office of Education recently asked the colleges and universities how much they are spending on new construction this year.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

THE most serious shortage that higher education faces is in its teaching staffs. Many are underpaid, and not enough young people are entering the field. Here, left to right, are a Nobel Prizewinning chemist, a Bible historian, a heart surgeon, a physicist, and a poet.

WEST VIRGINIA WESLEYAN COLLEGE

Ninety per cent of them replied. In calendar 1958, they are spending $1.078 billion.

Purdue alone has $37 million worth of construction in process. Penn has embarked on twenty-two projects costing over $31 million. Wake Forest and Goucher and Colby Colleges, among others, have left their old campuses and moved to brand-new ones. Stanford is undergoing the greatest building boom since its founding. Everywhere in higher education, the bulldozer, advance agent of growth, is working to keep up with America's insatiable, irresistible demands.

BUILDING PROJECTS, however, are only the outward and visible signs of higher education's effort to stay geared to the times. And in many ways they are the easiest part of the solution to its problems. Others go deeper.

Not long ago the vice president of a large university was wondering aloud. "Perhaps," he said, "we have been thinking that by adding more schools and institutes as more knowledge seemed necessary to the world, we were serving the cause of learning. Many are now calling for a reconsideration of what the whole of the university is trying to do."

The problem is a very real one. In the course of her 200-year-plus history, the university had picked up so many schools, institutes, colleges, projects, and "centers" that almost no one man could name them all, much less give an accurate description of their functions. Other institutions are in the same quandary.

Why? One reason is suggested by the vice president's comment. Another is the number of demands which we as a nation have placed upon our institutions of higher learning.

We call upon them to give us space-age weapons and polio vaccine. We ask them to provide us with lumbermen and liberally educated PTA presidents, doctors and statesmen, business executives and poets, teachers and housewives. We expect the colleges to give us religious training, better fertilizers, extension courses in music appreciation, fresh ideas on city planning, classes in square dancing, an understanding of medieval literature, and basic research.

The nation does need many services, and higher education has never been shy about offering to provide a great portion of them. Now however, in the face of a multitude of pressures ranging from the population surge to the doubts many people have about the quality of American thought, there are those who are wondering if America is not in danger of over-extending its educational resources; if we haven't demanded, and if under the banner of higher education our colleges and universities haven't taken on, too much.

AMERICA has never been as ready to pay for its educational services as it has been to request them. A single statistic underlines the point. We spend about seven tenths of 1 per cent of our gross national product on higher education. (Not that we should look to the Russians to set our standards for us—but it is worth noting that they spend on higher education more than 2 per cent of their gross.)

As a result, this spring, many colleges and universities find themselves in a tightening vise. It is not only that prices have skyrocketed; the real cost of providing education has risen, too. As knowledge has broadened and deepened, for example, more complicated and costly equipment has become essential.

Feeling the financial squeeze most painfully are the faculty members. The average salary of a college or university teacher in America today is just over $5,000. The average salary of a full professor is just over $7,000.

It is a frequent occurrence on college campuses for a graduating senior, nowadays, to be offered a starting salary in industry that is higher than that paid to most of the faculty men who trained him.

On humane grounds alone, the problem is shocking. But it is not limited to a question of humaneness; there is a serious question of national welfare, also.

"Any institution that fails through inability or delinquency to attract and hold its share of the best academic minds of the nation is accepting one of two consequences," says President Cornelis W. de Kiewiet of the University of Rochester. "The first is a sentence of inferiority and decline, indeed an inferiority so much greater and a decline so much more intractable that trustees, alumni, and friends can only react in distress when they finally see the truth. . . .

"The second . . . is the heavy cost of rehabilitation once the damage has been done. In education as in business there is no economy more foolish than poor maintenance and upkeep. Staffs that have been poorly maintained can be rebuilt only at far greater cost. Since even less-qualified and inferior people are going to be in short supply, institutions content to jog along will be denied even the solace of doing a moderate job at a moderate cost. It is going to be disturbingly expensive to do even a bad job."

The effects of mediocrity in college and university teaching, if the country should permit it to come about, could only amount to a national disaster.

WITH the endless squeezes, economies, and crises it is experiencing, it would not be particularly remarkable if American higher education, this spring, were alternately reproaching its neglecters and struggling feebly against a desperate fate. By and large, it is doing nothing of the sort.

Instead, higher education is moving out to meet its problems and, even more significantly, looking beyond them. Its plans take into account that it may have twice as many students by 1970. It recognizes that it must not, in this struggle to accommodate quantity, lose sight of quality or turn into a molder of "mass minds." It is continuing to search for ways to improve its present teaching. It is charting new services to local communities, the nation, and vast constituencies overseas. It is entering new areas of research, so revolutionary that it must invent new names for them.

CONSIDER the question of maintaining quality amidst quantity. "How," educators ask themselves, "can you educate everyone who is ambitious and has the basic qualifications, and still have time, teachers, and money to spend on the unusual boy or girl? Are we being true to our belief in the individual if we put everyone into the same mold, ignoring human differences? Besides, let's be practical about it: doesn't this country need to develop every genius it has?"

There is one approach to the problem at an institution in eastern California, Deep Springs. The best way to get there is to go to Reno, Nevada, and then drive about five hours through the Sierras to a place called Big Pine. Deep Springs has four faculty members, is well endowed, selects its students carefully, and charges no tuition or fees. It cannot lose sight of its good students: its total enrollment is nineteen.

At another extreme, some institutions have had to devote their time and effort to training as many people as possible. The student with unusual talent has had to find it and develop it without help.

Other institutions are looking for the solution somewhere in between.

The University of Kansas, for example, like many other state universities, is legally bound to accept every graduate of an accredited state high school who applies, without examinations or other entrance requirements. "Until recently," says Dean George Waggoner of Kansas's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, "many of us spent a great deal of our time trying to solve the problem of marginal students."

In the fall of 1955, the university announced a program designed especially for the "gifted student." Its objective: to make sure that exceptional young men and women would not be overlooked or under-exposed in a time of great student population and limited faculty.

Now Kansas uses state-wide examinations to spot these exceptional high-school boys and girls early. It invites high-school principals to nominate candidates for scholarships from the upper 5 per cent of their senior classes. It brings the promising high-school students to its Lawrence campus for further testing, screening, and selection.

When they arrive at the university as freshmen, the students find themselves in touch with a special faculty committee. It has the power to waive many academic rules for them. They are allowed to take as large a bite of education as they can swallow, and the usual course prerequisites do not apply; they may enter junior and senior-level courses if they can handle the work. They use the library with the same status as faculty members and graduate students, and some serve as short-term research associates for professors.

The force of the program has been felt beyond the students and the faculty members who are immediately involved. It has sent a current throughout the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. All students on the dean's honor roll, for example, no longer face a strict limit in the number of courses they may take. Departments have strengthened their honor sections or, in some cases, established them for the first time. The value of the program reaches down into the high schools, too, stimulating teachers and attracting to the university strong students who might otherwise be lost to Kansas.

Across the country, there has been an attack on the problem of the bright student's boredom during his early months in college. (Too often he can do nothing but fidget restlessly as teachers gear their courses to students less talented than he.) Now, significantly large numbers are being admitted to college before they have finished high school; experiments with new curricula and opportunities for small discussion groups, fresh focus, and independent study are found in many schools. Foundations, so influential in many areas of higher education today, are giving their support.

The "quality vs. quantity" issue has other ramifications. "Education's problem of the future," says President Eldon L. Johnson of the University of New Hampshire, "is the relation of mind and mass. . . . The challenge is to reach numbers without mass treatment and the creation of mass men. . . . It is in this setting and this philosophy that the state university finds its place."

And, one might add, the independent institution as well. For the old idea that the public school is concerned with quantity and the private school with quality is a false one. All of American higher education, in its diversity, must meet the twin needs of extraordinary persons and a better educated, more thoughtful citizenry.

WHAT is a better educated, more thoughtful citizenry? And how do we get one? If America's colleges and universities thought they had the perfect answers, a pleasant complacency might spread across the land.

In the offices of those who are responsible for laying out programs of education, however, there is anything but complacency. Ever since they stopped being content with a simple curriculum of theology, philosophy, Latin, Greek, and math, the colleges and universities have been searching for better ways of educating their students in breadth as well as depth. And they are still hunting.

Take the efforts at Amherst, as an example of what many are doing. Since its founding Amherst has developed and refined its curriculum constantly. Once it offered a free elective system: students chose the courses they wanted. Next it tried specialization: students selected a major field of study in their last two years. Next, to make sure that they got at least a taste of many different fields, Amherst worked out a system for balancing the elective courses that its students were permitted to select.

But by World War II, even this last refinement seemed inadequate. Amherst began—again—a re-evaluation.

When the self-testing was over, Amherst's students began taking three sets of required courses in their freshman and sophomore years: one each in science, history, and the humanities. The courses were designed to build the groundwork for responsible lives: they sought to help students form an integrated picture of civilization's issues and processes. (But they were not "surveys"—or what Philosophy Professor Gail Kennedy, chairman of the faculty committee that developed the program, calls "those superficial omnibus affairs.")

How did the student body react? Angrily. When Professor Arnold B. Arons first gave his course in physical science and mathematics, a wave of resentment arose. It culminated at a mid-year dance. The music stopped, conversations ceased, and the students observed a solemn, two-minute silence. They called it a "Hate Arons Silence."

But at the end of the year they gave the professor a standing ovation. He had been rough. He had not provided his students with pat answers. He had forced them to think, and it had been a shock at first. But as they got used to it, the students found that thinking, among all of life's experiences, can sometimes be the most exhilarating.

TO TEACH them to think: that is the problem. It is impossible, today, for any school, undergraduate or professional, to equip its students with all the knowledge they will need to become competent engineers, doctors, farmers, or business men. On the other hand, it can provide its students with a chance to discover something with which, on their own, they can live an extraordinary life: their ability to think.

THUS, in the midst of its planning for swollen enrollments, enlarged campuses, balanced budgets, and faculty-procurement crises, higher education gives deep thought to the effectiveness of its programs. When the swollen enrollments do come and the shortage of teachers does become acute, higher education hopes it can maintain its vitality.

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

TO IMPROVE the effectiveness of their teaching, colleges and universities are experimenting with new techniques like recordings of plays (above) and television, which (left) can bring medical students a closeup view of delicate experiments.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY

To stretch teaching resources without sacrificing (and, perhaps, even improving) their effectiveness, it is exploring such new techniques as microfilms, movies, and television. At Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, in Troy, New York, the exploration is unusually intense.

RPI calls its concerted study "Project Reward." How good, Project Reward asks, are movies, audio-visual aids, closed-circuit television? How can we set up really effective demonstrations in our science courses? How much more effective, if at all, is a small class than a big one? Which is better: lecture or discussion groups? Says Roland H. Trathen, associate head of Rensselaer's department of mechanics and a leader in the Project Reward enterprise, when he is asked about the future, "If creative contributions to teaching are recognized and rewarded in the same manner as creative contributions to research, we have nothing to fear."

The showman in a good professor comes to the fore when he is offered that new but dangerous tool of communication, television. Like many gadgets, television can be used merely to grind out more degree-holders, or—in the hands of imaginative, dedicated teachers—it can be a powerful instrument for improvement.

Experiments with television are going on all over the place. A man at the University of Oregon, this spring, can teach a course simultaneously on his own campus and three others in the state, thanks to an electronic link. Pennsylvania State experimented with the medium for three years and discovered that in some cases the TV students did better than their counterparts who saw their instructors in the flesh.

The dangers in assembly-line education are real. But with new knowledge about how people actually learn—and new devices to help them learn—interesting possibilities appear.

Even so, some institutions may cling to time-worn notions about teaching until they are torn loose by the current of the age. Others may adulterate the quality of their product by rushing into short-cut schemes. The reader can hope that his college, at least, will use the new tools wisely: with courage yet with caution. Most of all, he can hope that it will not be forced into adopting them in desperation, because of poverty or its inability to hold good teachers, but from a position of confidence and strength.

AMERICAN higher education does not limit itself to college campuses or the basic function of educating the young. It has assumed responsibility for direct, active, specific community service, also.

"Democracy's Growing Edge," the Teacher's College of the University of Nebraska calls one such service project. Its sponsors are convinced that one of the basic functions of local schools is to improve their communities, and they are working through the local boards of education in Nebraska towns to demonstrate it.

Consider Mullen (pop. 750), in northwest Nebraska's sandhills area, the only town in its cattle-ranching county. The nearest hospital is ninety miles away. Mullen needs its own clinic; one was started six years ago, only to bog down. Under the university's auspices, with Mullen's school board coordinating the project and the Teacher's College furnishing a full-time associate coordinator, the citizens went to work. Mullen now has its clinical facilities.

Or consider Syracuse, in the southeast corner of the state, a trading center for some three thousand persons. It is concerned about its future because its young people are migrating to neighboring Lincoln and Omaha; to hold them, Syracuse needs new industry and recreational facilities. Again, through the university's program, townspeople have taken action, voting for a power contract that will assure sufficient electricity to attract industry and provide opportunities for youth.

Many other institutions currently are offering a variety of community projects—as many as seventy-eight at one state university this spring. Some samples:

The University of Dayton has tailored its research program to the needs of local industry and offers training programs for management. Ohio State has planted the nation's first poison plant garden to find out why some plants are poisonous to livestock when grown in some soils yet harmless in others. Northwestern's study of traffic problems has grown into a new transportation center. The University of Southern California encourages able high-school students to work in its scientific laboratories in the summer. Regis College runs a series of economics seminars for Boston professional women.

Community service takes the form of late-afternoon and evening colleges, also, which offer courses to school teachers and business men. Television is in the picture, too. Thousands of New Yorkers, for example, rise before dawn to catch New York University's "Sunrise Semester," a stiff and stimulating series of courses on WCBS-TV.

In California, San Bernardino Valley College has gone on radio. One night a week, members of more than seventy-five discussion groups gather in private homes and turn on their sets. For a half hour, they listen to a program such as "Great Men and Great Issues" or "The Ways of Mankind," a study of anthropology.

When the program is over (it is then 8:30), the living-room discussions start. People talk, argue, raise questions—and learn. One thousand of them are hard at it, all over the San Bernardino Valley area.

Then, at ten o'clock, they turn on the radio again. A panel of experts is on. Members of the discussion groups pick up their phones and ask questions about the night's topic. The panel gives its answers over the air.

Says one participant, "I learned that people who once seemed dull, uninteresting, and pedestrian had exciting things to say if I would keep my mouth shut and let them say it."

When it thinks of community services, American higher education does not limit itself to its own back yard.

Behind the new agricultural chemistry building at the University of the Philippines stand bare concrete columns which support nothing. The jungle has grown up around their bases. But you can still see the remains of buildings which once housed one of the most distinguished agricultural schools in the Far East, the university's College of Agriculture. When Filipinos returned to the campus after World War II, they found virtually nothing.

The needs of the Philippines' devastated lands for trained men were clear and immediate. The faculty began to put the broken pieces back together again, but it was plain that the rebuilding would take decades.

In 1952, Cornell University's New York State College of Agriculture formed a partnership with them. The objective: to help the Filipinos rebuild, not in a couple of generations, but in a few years. Twelve top faculty members from Cornell have spent a year or more as regular members of the staff. Filipinos have gone to New York to take part in programs there.

Now, Philippine agriculture has a new lease on life—and Filipinos say that the Cornell partnership should receive much of the credit. Farms are at last big enough to support their tenants. Weeds and insects are being brought under control. Grassland yields are up. And the college enrollment has leaped from little more than a hundred in 1945 to more than four thousand today.

In Peru, the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Engineering is helping to strengthen the country's agricultural research; North Carolina State College is helping to develop Peruvian research in textiles; and the University of North Carolina co-operates in a program of technical assistance in sanitary engineering. In Liberia, Prairie View A. and M. College of Texas (the Negro college of the Texas A. and M. system) is working with the Booker Washington Agricultural and Industrial Institute to expand vocational education. Syracuse University is producing audio-visual aids for the Middle East, particularly Iran. The University of Tennessee is providing home-economics specialists to assist in training similar specialists in India. The University of Oregon is working with Nepal in establishing an educational system where none existed before (only eleven persons in the entire country of 8.5 million had had any professional training in education). Harvard is providing technical advice and assistance to Latin American countries in developing and maintaining nutrition programs.

THUS emerges a picture of American higher education, 1958. Its diversity, its hope that it can handle large numbers of students without losing sight of quality in the process, its willingness to extend its services far beyond its classrooms and even its home towns: all these things are true of America's colleges and universities today. They can be seen.

But not as visible, like a subsurface flaw in the earth's apparently solid crust, lie some facts that may alter the landscape considerably. Not enough young people, for instance, are currently working their way through the long process of preparation to become college and university teachers. Others, who had already embarked on faculty careers, are leaving the profession. Scholars and teachers are becoming one of the American economy's scarcest commodities.

Salary scales, as described earlier in this article, are largely responsible for the scarcity, but not entirely.

Three faculty members at the University of Oklahoma sat around a table not long ago and tried to explain why they are staying where they are. All are young. All are brilliant men who have turned down lucrative jobs in business or industry. All have been offered higher-paying posts at other universities.

EVERYWHERE—in business, government, the professions, the arts—college graduates are in demand. Thus society pays tribute to the college teacher. It relies upon him today as never before.

“It’s the atmosphere, call it the teaching climate, that keeps me here,” said one.

“Teachers want to know they are appreciated, that their ideas have a chance,” said another. “I suppose you might say we like being a part of our institution, not members of a manpower pool.”

“Oklahoma has made a real effort to provide an opportunity for our opinions to count,” said the third. “Our advice may be asked on anything from hiring a new professor to suggesting salary increases.”

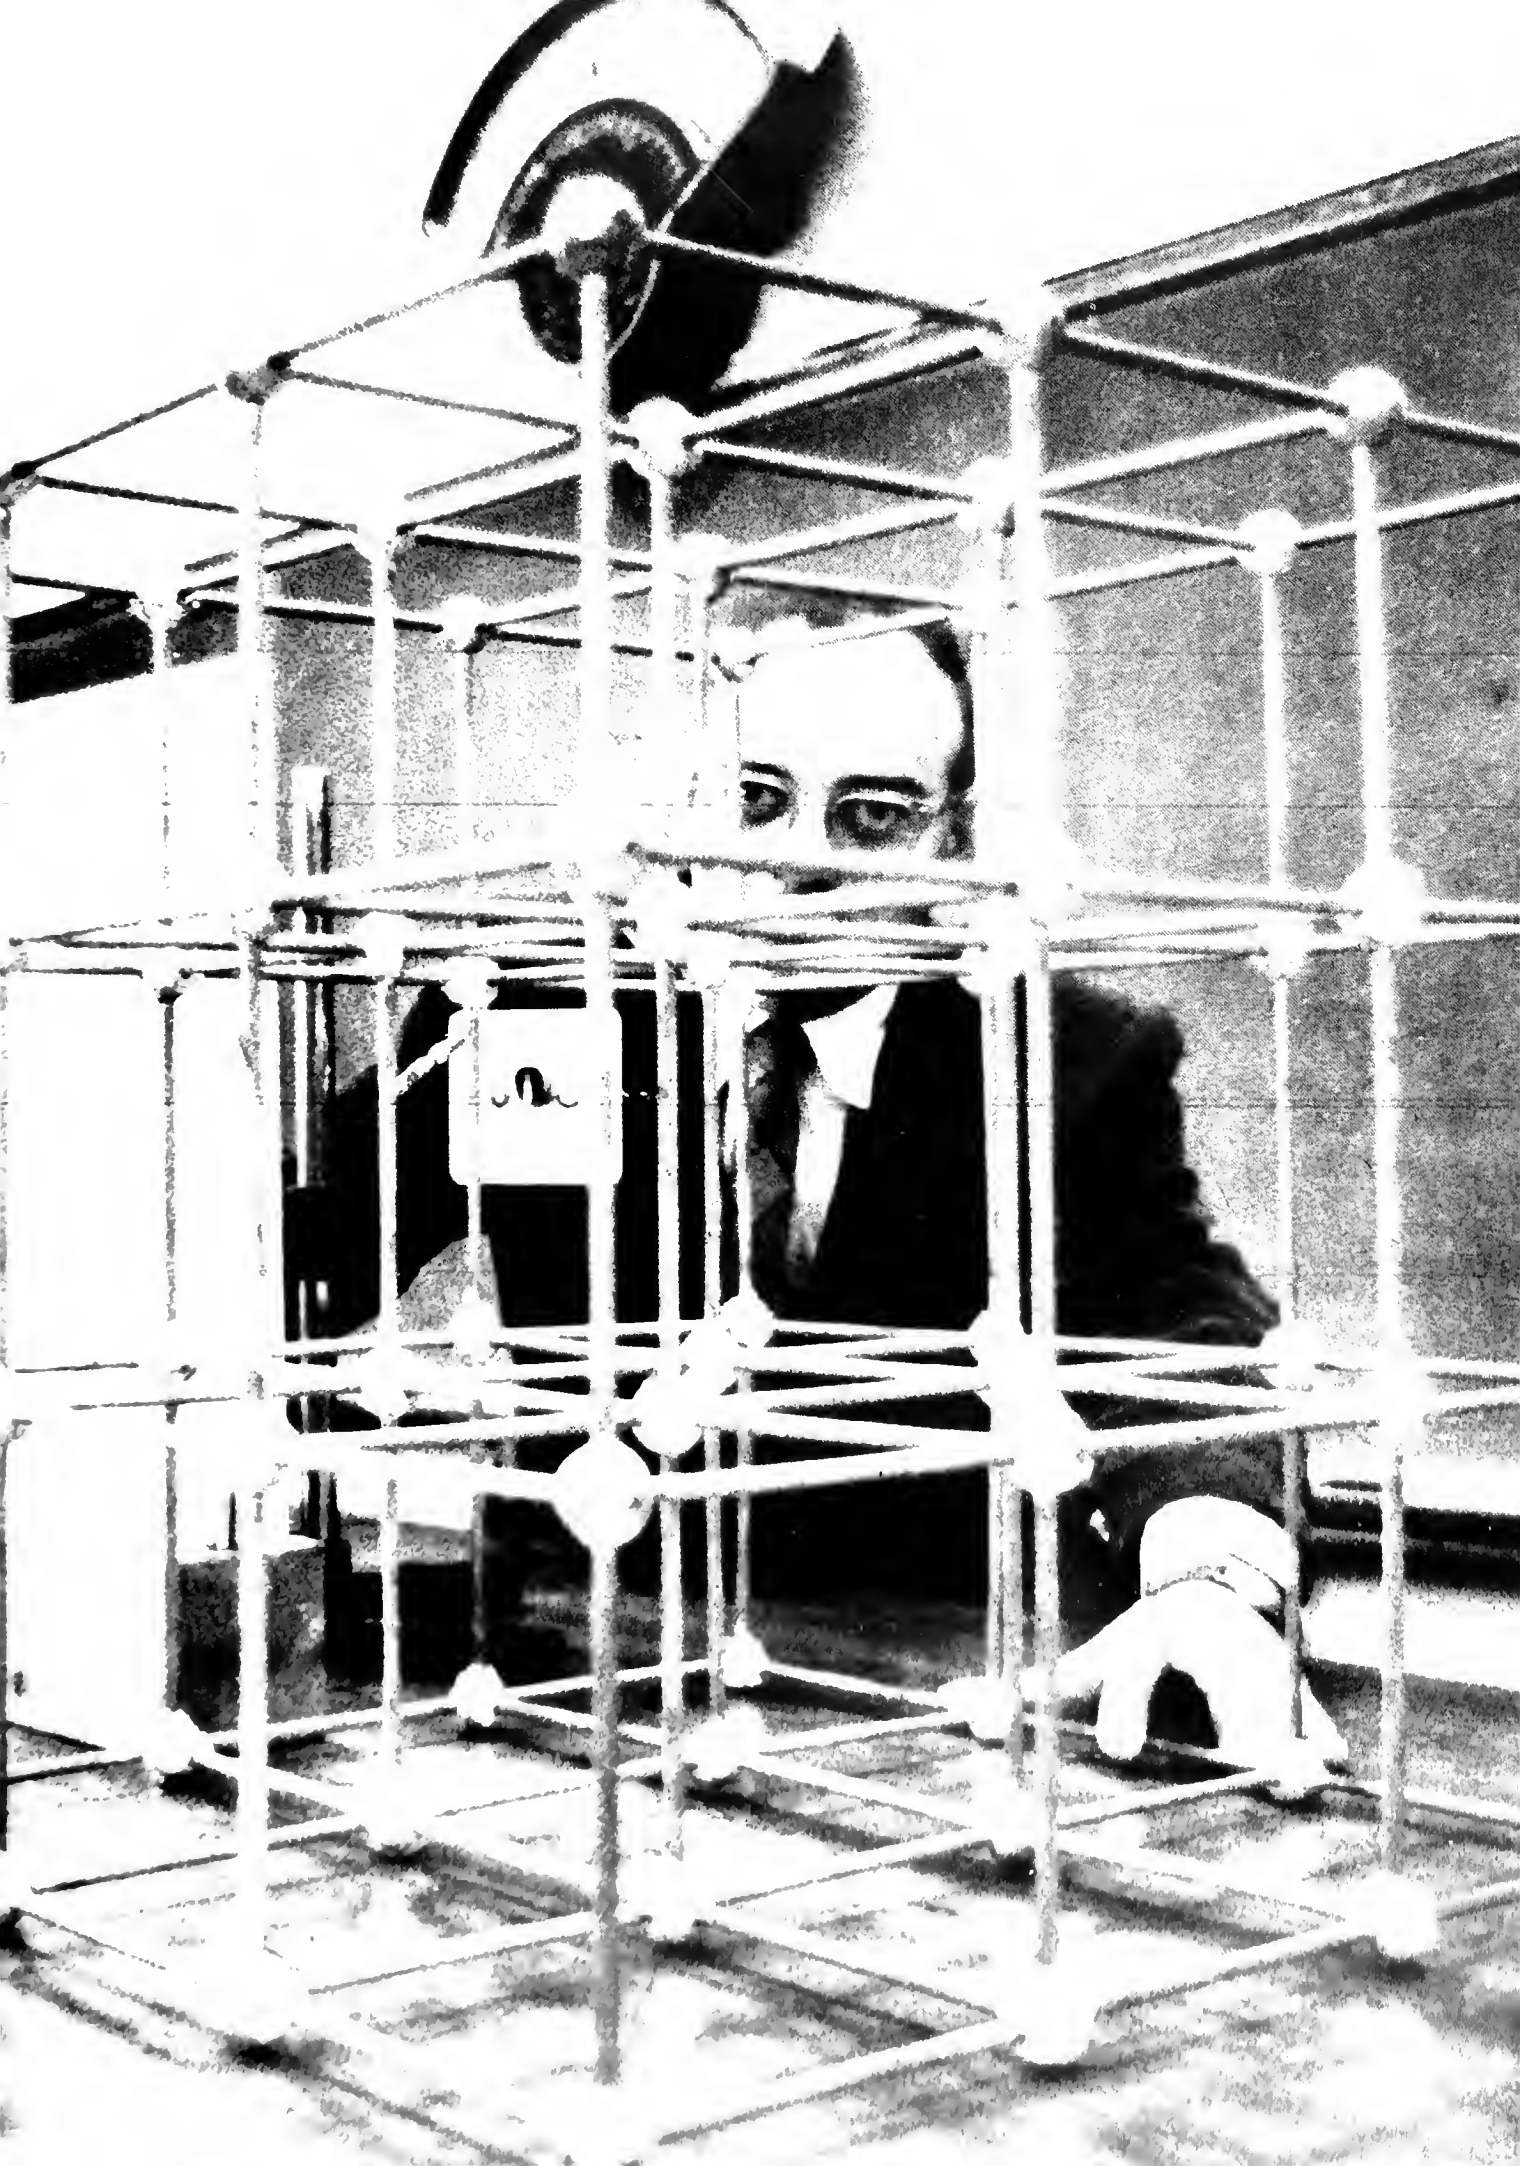

The University of Oklahoma, like many other institutions but unlike many more, has a self-governing faculty. “The by-products of the university government,” says Oklahoma’s Professor Cortez A. M. Ewing, “may prove to be its most important feature. In spite of untoward conditions—heavy teaching loads, low salaries, and marginal physical and laboratory resources, to mention a few—the spirit of co-operation is exceeded only by the dedication of the faculty.”

The professor worth his title must be free. He must be free to explore and probe and investigate. He must be free to pursue the truth, wherever the chase may take him. This, if the bread-and-butter necessities of salary scales can be met, is and will always be the great attraction of college and university teaching. We must take care that nothing be allowed to diminish it.

GONE is the old caricature of the absent-minded, impractical academician. The image of the college professor has changed, just as the image of the college boy and the college alumna has changed. If fifty years ago a college graduate had to apologize for his education and even conceal it as he entered the business world, he does so no longer. Today society demands the educated man. Thus society gives its indirect respect to the man who taught him, and links a new reliance with that respect.

It is more than need which warrants this esteem and reliance. The professor is aware of his world and travels to its coldest, remotest corners to learn more about it. Nor does he overlook the pressing matters at the very edge of his campus. He takes part in the International Geophysical Year’s study of the universe; he attacks the cancer in the human body and the human spirit; he nourishes the art of living more readily than the art of killing; he is the frontiersman everywhere. He builds and masters the most modern of tools from the cyclotron to the mechanical brain. He remembers the artist and the philosopher above the clamor of the machine.

The professor still has the color that his students recall, and he still gets his applause in the spring at the end of an inspiring semester or at the end of a dedicated career. But today there is a difference. It is on him that the nation depends more than ever. On him the free world relies—just as the enslaved world does, too.

DR. SELMAN A. WAKSMAN of Rutgers was not interested in a specific, useful topic. Rather, he was fascinated by the organisms that live in a spadeful of dirt.

A Russian emigrant, born in a thatched house in Priluka, ninety miles from the civilization of Kiev, he came to the United States at the age of seventeen and enrolled in Rutgers. Early in his undergraduate career he became interested in the fundamental aspects of living systems. And, as a student of the College of Agriculture, he looked to the soil. For his senior project he dug a number of trenches on the college farm and took soil samples in order to count the different colonies of bacteria.

But when he examined the samples under his microscope, Waksman saw some strange colonies, different from either bacteria or fungi. One of his professors said they were only "higher bacteria." Another, however, identified them as little-known organisms usually called actinomyces.

Waksman was graduated in 1915. As a research assistant in soil bacteriology, he began working toward a master's degree. But he soon began to devote more and more time to soil fungi and the strange actinomyces. He was forever testing soils, isolating cultures, transferring cultures, examining cultures, weighing, analyzing.

Studying for his Ph.D. at the University of California, he made one finding that interested him particularly. Several groups of microbes appeared to live in harmony, while others fed on their fellows or otherwise inhibited their growth. In 1918 Waksman returned to Rutgers as a microbiologist, to continue his research and teaching.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY

SOME research by faculty members strikes people as "pointless." It was one such pointless project that led Dr. Selman A. Waksman (left) to find streptomycin. Good basic research is a continuing need.

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

In 1923 one of his pupils, Rene Dubos, isolated tyrothricin and demonstrated that chemical substances from microbes found in the soil can kill disease-producing germs. In 1932 Waksman studied the fate of tuberculosis bacteria in the soil. In 1937 he published three papers on antagonistic relations among soil micro-organisms. He needed only a nudge to make him turn all his attention to what he was later to call "antibiotics."

The war provided that nudge. Waksman organized his laboratory staff for the campaign. He soon decided to focus on the organisms he had first met as an undergraduate almost thirty years before, the actinomyces. The first antibiotic substance to be isolated was called actinomycin, but it was so toxic that it could have no clinical application; other antibiotics turned out to be the same. It was not until the summer of 1943 that the breakthrough came.

One day a soil sample from a heavily manured field was brought into the laboratory. The workers processed it as they had processed thousands of others before. But this culture showed remarkable antagonism to disease-producing bacteria. It was a strain—streptomyces griseus—that Waksman had puzzled over as a student. Clinical tests proved its effectiveness against some forms of pneumonia, gonorrhoea, dysentery, whooping cough, syphilis, and, most spectacularly, TB.

Streptomycin went into production quickly. Along with the many other antibiotics that came from the soil, it was labeled a "miracle drug." Waksman received the Nobel Prize and the heartfelt praise of millions throughout the world.

In a sense, discoveries like Dr. Waksman's are accidents; they are unplanned and unprogrammed. They emerge from scholarly activity which, judged by appearances or practical yardsticks, is aimless. But mankind has had enough experience with such accidents to have learned, by now, that "pure research"—the pursuit of knowledge for the sake of knowledge alone—is its best assurance that accidents will continue to happen. When Chicago's still-active Emeritus Professor Herman Schlesinger got curious about the chemical linkage in a rare and explosive gas called diobrane, he took the first steps toward the development of a new kind of jet and rocket fuel—accidentally. When scientists at Harvard worked on the fractionization of blood, they were accidentally making possible the development of a substitute for whole blood which was so desperately needed in World War II.

But what about the University of Texas's Humanities Research Center, set up to integrate experiments in linguistics, criticism, and other fields? Or the Missouri expedition to Cyprus which excavated an Early-Bronze-

TO FIND the most promising young people of America and then provide them with exceptional educational opportunities: that is the challenge. Above, medical school professors vote on a candidate.

Age site at Episkopi three years ago and is planning to go back again this year? Or the research on folk ballads at the University of Arkansas? In an age of ICBM's, what is the value of this work?

If there is more to human destiny than easing our toils or enriching our pocketbooks, then such work is important. Whatever adds to man's knowledge will inevitably add to his stature, as well. To make sure that higher education can keep providing the opportunities for such research is one of 1958 man's best guarantees that human life will not sink to meaninglessness.

ALFRID NORTH WHITEHEAD once said, "In the conditions of modern life, the rule is absolute: the race which does not value trained intelligence is doomed."

In recent months, the American people have begun to re-learn the truth of Whitehead's statement. For years the nation has taken trained intelligence for granted—or, worse, sometimes shown contempt for it, or denied the conditions under which trained intelligence might flourish. That millions are now recognizing the mistake—and recognizing it before it is too late—is fortunate.

Knowing how to solve the problem, however, and knowing how to provide the means for solution, is more difficult.

But again America is fortunate. There is, among us, a group who not only have been ahead of the general public in recognizing the problem but who also have the understanding and the power, now, to solve it. That group is the college alumni and alumnae.

Years ago Dr. Hu Shih, the scholar who was then Chinese ambassador to the United States, said America's greatest contribution to education was its revolutionary concept of the alumnus: its concept of the former student as an understanding, responsible partner and champion.

Today, this partner and champion of American higher education has an opportunity for service unparalleled in our history. He recognizes, better than anyone, the essential truth in the statement to which millions, finally, now subscribe: that upon higher education depends, in large part, our society's physical and intellectual survival. He recognizes, better than anyone else, the truth in the statement that the race can attain even loftier goals ahead, by strengthening our system of higher education in all its parts. As an alumnus—first by understanding, and then by exercising his leadership—he holds within his own grasp the means of doing so.

Rarely has one group in our society—indeed, every member of the group—had the opportunity and the ability for such high service.

EDUICATION of high quality for as many as are qualified for it has been a cherished American dream. Today we are too close to realizing that dream not to intensify our striving for it.

NEWS FROM THE REUNION CLASSES

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

The Emeritus Club will hold its annual reunion on the Bucknell campus June 6-9. Dormitory rooms will be available for sleeping accommodations. From the program, as outlined on page 3, you will note that an interesting week end is planned. Plan now to attend and renew your youth.

Mrs. Edward Flint (Mary Chambers '98) passed away January 17 in Memorial Hospital, West Chester, where she had been confined for three days. Mrs. Flint was a teacher and principal at the Darlington Seminary in West Chester in years past. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Three veteran Baptist pastors were cited for their years of humble, devoted service by the Philadelphia Baptist Association on December 10, 1957. The three who were cited framed scrolls were: Miss Flora M. Clymer '93, missionary founder and pastor for 56 years of the Greenwich Light Church; The Rev. Dr. Howard K. Williams '03, MA '05, H '25, who is in his 52nd year as pastor of the Alpha Church; and The Rev. Dr. Ivan Murray Rose (frequent speaker on the Bucknell campus). The certificates of recognition for their many years of service were presented by The Rev. Dr. Clarence W. Cranford '29, H '42, president of the American Baptist Convention.

This June will mark the 55th reunion year of our Class of 1903. As I write this I hope that procrastination is not a fault of any '03er, and that reservations will be pouring into the Alumni Office before May 28.

If you haven't been on the Bucknell campus for several years, a real treat is in store for you. Plan now to be on the campus June 6 to 9. If you find it impossible to return, please send me news of yourself.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

This is the last call for 1908 alumni to sign up for our big reunion in June. You can't afford to miss our 50th.

Charles Nicely, your president, and I spent an afternoon, March 24, with Carl Sprout in his Harrisburg home. We heard the up-to-the-minute news on questionnaire replies—44 out of 70 and others sure to come. Carl has an able assistant in Olive Richards Landers. We can expect a booklet that we will all treasure.

Let's make this a reunion to top all others. Plan now to come on Friday, June 6, for an evening of good fellowship before the big day begins.

Mrs. Ida Hostetter, wife of Dr. John C. Hostetter, former director of development and research of Corning Glass Works, and at the time of his retirement in 1950, president of Mississippi Glass Co., died on February 11 at her home in Winter Park, Fla. Since moving to Florida Mrs. Hostetter had suffered several heart seizures. Surviving are her husband John C.; one son, John R. '34; a brother, Charles E. Fisher of South Williamsport; and three grandchildren. A graduate of Williamsport Commercial College, Ida Hostetter acted as secretary to her husband during World War I while the latter was engaged in the development of optical glass in this country for the Armed Forces. Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to John in his bereavement.

Mifflinburg, Pa.

Earl Jackson's 1957 Christmas letter to parishioners and other friends, besides other news, told of a grand summer: enjoyed Longwood and Dell concerts; had eight grand days at Chautauqua assembly; toured choice upper New York's region of peaks and lakes; explored historic trails in parts of New England. "Jack" is happy in Prospect Park.

Delinda Potter continues to report news of her area to newspapers in State College and Bellefonte. Interested in D. A. R. activities, and being a member of a garden and flower club she doesn't find spare time too abundant. In June, one day at least she hopes! Stop in Mifflinburg whenever you pass this way. Delinda.

Just in time for this issue came a letter from Boyd Walter, Mason City, Iowa. Too modest, though, he said little about himself, and I'm sure there could be an elaborate story, but he did include: "After some chemistry at Harvard and a stint in the Army, my work has been as a chemist and my relaxation in outdoor sports." Referring to my note to him in which I had mentioned classmates recently heard from, says Boyd: "The beauty and charm of Jolitta Arthur, the poise of Carlton Hooker, and the silver tongue of George Middleton are memories that I cherish along with those of all my watermelon picking pals of those times. Do they still raise those good melons in the valley?" To the query the answer is in capitals YES. And, Boyd, reporter Charlie would like to write that longer story.

Dated January 12, a post card with a Daytona Beach, Fla., scene from Helen Bartol Leonard, said: "We send our greetings from not too sunny Florida. Winifred Naylor, of our class, has been at same hotel." It's good to see your signature again, Nell. Hope you and husband and Winifred profit by and enjoy the palms and pelicans and southern breezes.

A card from Berkeley Hastings, with a scene from Santiago, Chile, dated March 5, gave the following message: "Frances and I enjoying a two-months cruise around South America on the Gripsholm, the new Swedish-American ship. Every place we visit most fascinating, warm, and every day full of sunshine. Looking forward to our 45th in June."

The first four paragraphs of this column, submitted for the March issue, are somewhat outdated now, but, we hope, sufficiently alive to be worth reading. No longer looking back, let's look ahead to June. Who will extend welcoming hands? Well, Howard (Sal) Fisher, our proxy, of course, and Marwood (reunion chairman) Glover will be first in line, but every classmate will be happier to see every other than one can possibly know. May good health abound!

The Class of 1913 extends a hearty invitation to all returnees of '10, '11, '12, '14, '15 to come to '13 reception headquarters on Saturday afternoon and renew college acquaintanceships of those good old days before World War I. Location will be listed on the program leaflet. Look for the gals and pals with the Lucky '13 badges and receive a warm, welcoming hand for old times' sake. We hope to see you.

Dear Members of the Class of 1918: Have you filled out, and returned your questionnaire for the Reunion Book? Many of you will have to say "NO," when it should be a loud "YES." Returns have been very slow in coming to me and the book will be a booklet if some more of you do not get out your old class spirit and send back the blank—filled out, of course. Bart Mackey, Herb Grice and Mal Musser are working like beavers and they, like all committees, need help—so please, classmates, get busy.

Between running a State Conference for AAUW in Williamsport the first week end in May, being elected the local branch president, and trying to do something about our 40th Reunion, I have been a busy person. I think I will find a hole and crawl into it when summer arrives.

You will be getting another Reunion letter—if you have not received it by the time you read this, so please, please help make this the reunion of reunions.

A short letter this time, I am saying all of the news for the reunion book. So, classmates, get that letter off to me.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

Paris in April? I wouldn't know. But Bucknell in June? Ah, mais oui, it's wonderful! Maybe you think you remember how it is, but unless you've visited the "300 Friendly Acres" in the past year or two, you just can't know. A good enough reason for coming—to find all over again that it is the same friendly place. That, plus a great deal more, which can make us increasingly proud to be numbered among its Alumni.

A letter from Dora Keough Lofberg, about to depart for Florida for several months, says she hopes to be on the campus for the reunion. She gave news of herself and family to the effect that they have purchased a home in DelRay Beach where her address is: Maurice Drive, Kingsland, Box 882. Her New Jersey address is 599 S. Forest Drive, West Englewood. Her son Richard, a Cornell graduate, married Phyllis Ellen Denning '52 last summer after which they took a honeymoon trip to South America. Another son Paul is a freshman at Lafayette.

Martha Shafer Brooks' son Bruce will enter Clark next year to major in physics.

Vivian Livingston Ferguson is librarian at Manasquan High School, Manasquan, N. J.

It is difficult to keep up with the Rickard family but according to our last report, here is where they are: Samuel H. Rickard, Jr. and wife (Ada P. Thomas M'21), American Embassy, APO 254, New York, N. Y.; Samuel H. Rickard, III '49, American Embassy, New Delhi, India; John G. Rickard '50 and wife (Marjorie Lawler '51), Bethesda, Md.; Donald C. Rickard '51 and wife (Elaine Grove '50), American Embassy, Karachi, Pakistan; David T. Rickard '57, Larchmont, N. Y.

Our 30th Reunion is just around the corner. Are you planning to return to the Bucknell campus June 6-9 for a relaxing and very entertaining week end? If you aren't, please do so now.

Brown Focht is serving as reunion chairman and Eleanor Miller Dill, with the help of her reunion book committee, is preparing an anniversary booklet of interest to all '28ers.

See you June 6-9!

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Have you completed plans for returning to the campus June 6, 7 and 8?

Registration starts Friday noon. Where? The former library building, you know, the place where many volumes of value filled shelf after shelf. You are right, we could have read considerably more. Be sure to register as soon after arrival as possible. You and your family can enjoy the facilities of the swimming pool from 8:00 until 10:00 p. m.

Saturday we have a full schedule. The Bison Club breakfast is scheduled for 8:00 a. m. The Alumni Association will meet at approximately 9:30 a. m.

Our regalia committee will be on the job near the registration desk. After they dish out identification insignia, your "33" pals will recognize you.

Starting promptly at 10:30 a. m., our class will have a business meeting. Come prepared to elect class officers, class reporter, next reunion chairman, reunion booklet committee, etc.

There will be no space in the fall issue of the ALUMNUS for our class picture. If you'll come to face the camera, we'll do our utmost to deliver your copy.

At approximately 12:00 noon the ceremony for laying of the Coleman Hall cornerstone will be held. The parade usually starts at 12:30 p. m. We are all due at the gymnasium at 12:45 p. m. for lunch.

The social hour, starting at 2:00 p. m. (Milton Country Club) will be an informal get-together where you can meet your friends and reminisce. The dinner scheduled at 6:00 p. m. is for your convenience. You should feel free to come and go as you wish.

Cap and Dagger is scheduled for 8:30 p. m., and the Jamboree at 9:00 p. m.

Be sure to bring your entire family. Early registration with the B. U. Alumni Office for room accommodations will make it possible to have your family bunking as neighbors of other "33" families.

See you June 7.

Samuel Bernstein was recently named with Governor Harriman's approval, as associate counsel on the staff of Commissioner of Investigations to investigate the "Apalachin Gangland Convention" at Toga County, N. Y. He was a former district attorney of Broome County, N. Y.

Hampton Bray's daughter Lois Dorothy is now a freshman at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where she is entered in the nursing course and is her class' choir soloist. Hampton is interested in traveling, aviation, hunting, fishing, trap-shooting, etc.

Iva Harner Blouch's husband is one of the city letter carriers in Lewisburg, and Iva is in her eighth year as a representative of the Stanley Home Products. They have three daughters—Carolyn is a graduate of the University of Kansas and is an occupational therapist in King's Park State Hospital, L. I.; Sara Ann is a freshman in Albright College and Norma Jean is a freshman at Lewisburg High.

Bill Liming is one of the alumni trustee candidates for this year who is counting on us to back him up. In the sales promotion business he was re-named to the Industrial Editors' Advisory Committee of the Savings Bond Division of the Treasury Department for two more years. Bill, a past president of the American Association of Industrial Editors, has written an article, "Secondary Readership, A Primary Concern," in the February, 1958, issue of the organization's magazine, Editor's Notebook.

Rev. Franklin A. Bower, of the First Congregational Church of Madison, Conn., a very lovely old church of classic design, is tending his flock there as a good shepherd. Beginning his service there in 1941, he has improved the physical aspects of the church considerably. He is married and has two children, Martha, 9, and Ellen, 5. In 1957 his church celebrated the 250th anniversary of its founding, at which time they had a number of interesting services. They dressed in costumes of Colonial, Revolutionary and 19th Century periods. He and Mary Lou plan to drive from New England for our anniversary.

Ed Frack plans to be with us this June. This is Ed's fifth year of residence in Baltimore. On two occasions he lived in Arlington, Va., and on two other occasions he lived in Richmond, Va. At present he is manager of Contractors Association; his work mainly concerns labor relations. He has two children—Elizabeth C. Frack graduates from Towson High School this year, while Edward J., Jr., is in his first year of high school at Friend's School, Baltimore, Md.

Charlotte H. Ramsay is in her third year of teaching English and Literature to eighth graders at Beaver Area Junior High School in Beaver. Her oldest son, Keith, 16, goes to high school in Beaver where he is a junior. Jimmy Jr., 12, is in seventh grade in Center Township where he plays trumpet in the school band. Charlotte hopes to come to our reunion and bring Keith along to look over Bucknell.

Constance Barber Olsen (Mrs. Raymond M.) was married in November, 1947, to Raymond who is head of the Investment Research Department of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston. With daughters, Elizabeth in third grade, and Deborah in first grade, they live in Sharon from which Raymond commutes daily to Boston.

While making contacts with class members, Isabelle Clouser, who is hard at work editing the class book, has found some long-lost members. You, too, can help make the coming reunion a success by notifying us of changes of address for those listed in my last questionnaire letter dated March 21, 1958.

It is reported that Alvin Nathanowitz (changed to Nathan) lives at 509 Colfax Ave., Scranton. As we understand it, Al is secretary of the National Pretzel Company. Just had word from Clyde Clemens that he is the new sales manager for Fullman Manufacturing Company, Latrobe. There are numerous other changes which we shall try to include in the class book.

Joseph T. Quick heads a group whose job it will be to make the round-up of the class. You can be of help by offering your assistance to your area contact individual in making a call to someone close by. The following classmates will be working on the round-up: Mrs. William D. Foltz (Mae Weineck), Nanticoke; Mrs. Robert G. Leinroth, II (Alma Bloeker), Wynnewood; William Androski, Pittsburgh; George R. Porter, Silver Spring, Md.; Mrs. Harry B. Massey, Jr. (Ruth Leishman), Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Martin S. Wing (Kathryn Shultz), Pennington, N. J.; Daniel W. Freeman, East Williston, N. Y.; William S. Work, Endicott, N. Y.; Mrs. Donald C. Ward (Anna Shields), North Weymouth, Mass.; and Mrs. Charles S. Jarvis (Marjorie Nichols), Oak Park, Ill.

Don't forget the work our good friend, Bob Streeter, is doing on the Alumni Fund. Get your contribution to the Alumni Office before reunion so that we can report record performance on June 7.

Looking forward to seeing you June 6-9 at Lewisburg.

Dear Classmate: We're rapidly approaching the long awaited time of reunion with its promise of happy memories to be relived and retalked. You'll be pleasantly surprised at the changes which have come about on the beautiful Bucknell campus since the last reunion time.

The various reunion committees have been working hard and rapidly to promote and organize the best reunion we've ever had. You can well reward these committees by setting definite plans now to attend and participate in all the wonderful events which have been planned by Bucknell and our own working committees for this 15th reunion year. At our 10th reunion we had 33 members in attendance—for this our 15th, let's try for a much higher goal; why not set our sights on an attendance of 200. We have a total of 392 members in our class so we certainly should be able to achieve this goal.

You have already received a letter outlining the plans for the week end festivities. However, we'll detail a few of these plans so that you may know a little more about what you will experience the week end of June 7. The usual plans for our class meeting and the enjoyable Alumni Luncheon will be carried out. For this 15th reunion, we have planned an off-campus social gathering which will be followed by a dinner for those who wish to dine with their classmates of '43. This social and dinner will be held at the Milton Country Club which is located in a very picturesque spot and is particularly inviting in the summertime. The Social Committee is working on plans for an informal dinner program which will give an added touch to the occasion and, it is hoped, will make your week end one to remember. Our Saturday dinner will be followed by the Cap and Dagger production, "Thieves' Carnival" and the Annual Alumni Jamboree in Davis Gym. A Reunion Booklet will be available as a remembrance of the week end spent at Bucknell in 1958.

All in all, the program sounds inviting and looks interesting. Don't forget—make a decision now, if you haven't already done so, to attend this bang up reunion. A reunion reservation form is in this issue; send it in today. We'll see you June 7—be prepared for a good time—you'll have it.

Sincerely,

George F. Haines, Jr.
Jay W. Wagner
Reunion Co-Chairmen

Below is a list of our classmates in diverse areas who are helping to make our 10th reunion one to be long remembered. Will you be there? We hope so.

Ray Tyler, co-chairman; John B. Clark, co-chairman and reunion book editor; Robert B. Shimer, local social meeting host; Warren E. Elze, regalia chairman and the following reunion contact chairmen: Mrs. Thomas A. Marino (Doris Strassner), D. Jane Gibson, Robert H. Taylor, Alexander Foster, Mrs. J. R. Skove (Florence Fellows), Ruth C. Hucks, I. Clint Marantz, Mrs. Donald Reichley (Jeanne Grice), Stanley E. Brush and Mrs. Nicholas Sileo (Nida Poteat).

Jeanette Loo (Lindy) Wong wrote me that she and her sons, Dickie and Michael, were leaving in December for a two-month visit with her mother-in-law in Aruba, Dutch West Indies. Sounds wonderful, Lindy.

Received a welcome note from Jeanne Grice Reichley saying that she and her husband, Don, have purchased a new home into which they will move in April—605 Winston Drive, Endwell, N. Y. They plan on seeing us all in June.

A letter addressed to Ray Tyler from Dottie Deibert Shockey revealed that she and Stan will not be able to make our 10th since they are living 2000 miles away—7922 Boxwood St., El Paso, Texas. But they're planning on coming to our 15th in 1963. Wow!

Warren H. Lamon, Jr. and David Laman

The boys pictured above are sons of Ruth Edwards Lamon and Warren H. Lamon, Sr., of 28 LeJune Rd., Palmyra, N. J. Proud grandfather is Walter P. Edwards '21. Ruthie sent along a real long and newsy letter—besides being a mother, she has been quite active in her local Junior Woman's Club, this year being secretary-treasurer of her district. Warren, in addition to his insurance business, is acting as fire chief of his local volunteer fire company and is president of the local Board of Health. Best of all, they hope to make our reunion.

"Who's got the pep?
Who's going to rate?
What's the best class?
'48!"

We hope that you will definitely be among the many who are planning to attend our 5th reunion, June 6-9. Plans are in the making for a get-together at the Hotel Lewisburger on Saturday afternoon, June 7, from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m., in addition to the other scheduled activities. Also, a reunion book containing information on each member of our class will be available. We'll be there . . . will you?

Edgar Danciger, vice president of the Paulsen-Webber-Cordage Corporation will have charge of operation in the Sunbury plant. He is married to the former Evelyn C. Fowler of New York. They have a year-old son, Gary William. The Dancigers expect to move to Sunbury in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Soule '57 (Doris S. McCroddan), are the parents of a son, Bruce Donald, who was born March 30. The Soules are living at 33 Tilton St., New Haven, Conn. Don is a student at Yale University doing work toward his MFA degree.

Marcia B. Williams received the degree of Master of Education from Pennsylvania State University in June. She spent the summer in Europe, touring Germany, Switzerland and Austria, and is now teaching fourth grade in the B. C. I. Joint Schools at Coalport.
